EDITORIAL NOTES.

D. P. BALLARD, a restive citizen east of the mountains, is working hard for notoriety through newspaper correspondence. The "Indian problem" is his theme, and his exploits seem to be principally in the line of denouncing the peace policy. His theories are about as contracted as are his ideas.

BE CAREFUL.—Those among our readers who are dealers in cigars are warned to be very careful in totally destroying the stamps on their empty boxes. A revenue officer will soon be here on one of his periodical visits, and his duties require him to punish all who fail to destroy revenue stamps on empty boxes as required by law.

WE have received several interesting communications this week which will be necessarily crowded out but will appear in our next; among them are a letter from our Fort Leavenworth correspondent, an official account of the Indian election at Neah Bay, and last though not least a very interesting account of a newly discovered process for preserving fish. This last is from the pen of our scientific friend, Judge J. G. Swan, and includes letters from Prof. Baird, of Washington, regarding the specimens which were sent to him.

SENATORS ELECTED.—Senator Conkling is re-elected without opposition in his party, a result which the country fully expected. After an unusually exciting contest General Logan has won the Illinois senatorship, his skill as a politician giving him a triumph over Oglesby, the present senator. Gen. Shields returns to the senate, this time from Missouri. He was senator from Illinois from 1849 to 1855, and from Minnesota from 1858 to 1860. The term for which he is now elected lasts only till March, and he will take his seat immediately. For the full term Missouri elects Col. Vest, who is quite unknown except that he was a confederate officer of no great distinction. He will take the place of Cockrell. Cameron's election in Pennsylvania is taken as a thing of course. Nevada re-elected John P. Jones some days ago. In Indiana Voorhees is elected. The Nationals hold the balance of power in the legislature, and it was anticipated that Voorhees might find difficulty in obtaining their support. But it is probable that since the success of resumption they see their occupation gone as a party, and therefore are disposed to give up organized effort on a separate basis. In Wisconsin there is a lively contest between rival candidates, Carpenter showing more strength than was at first conceded to him. After March 4th the senate will contain 33 Republicans, 42 Democrats and 1 Independent.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—We understand a movement has been originated by Mr. Jas. Seavey, of this place, to start a society under the above caption, composed of all the available old settlers of this vicinity, who are disposed to unite in the work. It will be the special province of the society thus formed to collect and preserve everything of the nature of reminiscences concerning the early settlement and growth of this portion of our Territory. We anticipate a complete success of the society, considering its worthy object. Judge Swan and others are highly interested in the move, and will see that it does not end as many similar matters do—in talk.

A PETITION for the removal of Gen. O. O. Howard has been partially circulated through Eastern Oregon and Washington. The P. C. "Advocate" supposes this "tinkering" may go on AD INFINITUM, and remarks upon the loyalty of those who have an ax to grind. From all accounts it looks as though these meddling folks would find themselves considerably in the minority to say least.

A Card.

The undersigned, master of the schooner H. C. Page, of this port, desires to express his thanks to Capt. Braun and officers of the U. S. Revenue steamer Thomas Corwin, for rendering him assistance on Monday, Jan. 20th, by towing the schooner from a dangerous position near a reef of rocks on Washah Island to her anchorage at the head of Neah Bay.

A WOMAN'S LOGIC.

"It is useless to take medicine. I shall feel better tomorrow. Besides, I used the money to get that lovely new hat. My old one is such a fright, and people will look more at my bonnet than they will at my face. I will wait till I get worse before I spend any money for medicines." The new bonnet is purchased and flits other feminine NECESSITIES in the form of ribbons, laces, brooches, etc. Meanwhile the lady's face becomes every day paler and thinner, and her body weaker, until disease has gained so firm a foothold in her system, that the most thorough, and oftentimes a long and tedious, course of treatment is necessary to restore her to health. Ladies, attend to your health before you ever think of apparel. A fresh, blooming face in a plain bonnet is much handsomer and far more attractive to your gentlemen friends, than a pain-worn, diseased face in the most elaborate and elegant hat your milliner could devise. Dr. Price's Favorite Prescription is everywhere acknowledged to be the standard remedy for female complaints and weakness. It is sold by druggists.

STOP DRINKING VINEGAR.

How many young women who have inherited a pre-disposition to "embopoint" have ruined their health by drinking vinegar to reduce their forms to graceful proportions. Allan's Anti-Fat is absolutely harmless. It promotes digestion, and accomplishes its work simply by preventing an undue assimilation of the fatty ingredients of the food. Excessive fatness is a vexatious burden, and there is no longer any excuse for enduring it, since Allan's Anti-Fat is an effectual remedy for this abnormal condition.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., July 15, 1878.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.:
Gentlemen—I lost three pounds while taking one bottle of Allan's Anti-Fat.
Yours truly,
Mrs. M. B. MYERS.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 30.

MORLEY'S LETTERS FROM NEW YORK.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT]

NEW YORK, January 7, 1879.

If it were true in the musty days of the past that "all roads ran to Rome," it is no less true in the feverish present that all interests in America centre in New York. Boston may indeed be the hub around which all New England revolves; Chicago and St. Louis, Philadelphia and New Orleans may be the suns around which their respective systems roll; but neither sun nor system refuses to traverse in its turn about the great North Star towards which the needle of every interest, political, social or commercial, steadily points—the longest and narrowest, richest and poorest, most Christian and most heathen city West of the Atlantic. Who ever saw, in any country, a city so strangely constituted, so oddly inhabited, so marvelous, and yet so young? Less than 270 years since the quaint craft of Hendrick Hudson dropped anchor in this magnificent Bay, and we have a city seventeen miles long, holds a million and a quarter people, containing more Irishmen than Dublin, more Germans than Bremen, more Jews than Jerusalem and more politicians than any State in the Union—except Ohio.

METROPOLITAN LIFE.

Winter life in the Metropolis is so full of interest and fascination that one literally "takes no note of time but by"—its Sundays; which, fortunately are not yet constructed here on the "European plan;" otherwise one would find the winter gone and the trees budding before he realized that holiday week was fairly out of sight. The theatres are crowded with the best actors at their best roles, till they fairly jostle each other off the stage in the haste of the managers to give the public something new continually. The churches are open, not only Sabbaths, but largely on week days, and the pulpit of New York, than which an abler or more Godly cannot be found, is sounding its deepest thunders in the people's ears, or holding out the hands of earnest invitation to the unsaved. The galleries are full of the rarest paintings, etchings and engravings. The shops are blazing with "terrible temptations" to the frugal housewife, displayed with a depravity of skill that makes many a husband and father long for a longer purse or a less covetous household. The streets are crowded day and evening, the elevated railroads whirl their thousands over the heads of the throngs below; the hotels are generally full of guests; the busy hum of a reviving trade is heard an every hand, and merchants and buyers, from every section of the Union, exchange daily greetings in the market places.

And here, in the centre of American life, activity and enterprise you propose to have a regular correspondent. Well! If you will let me, I mean to depart occasionally from the beaten track of city gossip, and tell your readers, now and then, about some of the many really great and deservedly famous features and men of New York; in fact, treat them as though they were visiting me in my uptown French flat, and wanted to see what was worth seeing in Gotham.

RAPID TRANSIT.

If the year 1823 deserves to be memorable as that which witnessed the opening of the Erie Canal, the year 1878 promises to be far more memorable in the annals of Gotham by virtue of rapid transit. Already the Third Avenue road is open to Harlem, and you can climb thirty feet into the air at the Battery and be whirled along on a level with the windows, eight and a-half miles to Harlem, all for five cents—provided you go between five and seven in the morning, or the same hours in the evening. At other hours you pay ten cents—and get your money's worth even then. Snades of Jimmy Watt! That all this should have come from your idle watching of a frisky pot lid while you toasted your shins before the fire! Blessed be the youngster that kept you out of doors till your teeth chattered and your nose grew blue! He never dreamed how great service he was doing for humanity, nor how the real estate owners at the upper end of the Island would rise up and call you both blessed. While Rapid Transit is a great boon to the clerk and salesman who can't pay the big rents down town, it is a sweeter blessing to the weary holder of uptown lots covered knee deep with mortgages, ridden by hideous nightmares and pursued by the avenging spirits of savage mortgagees and bloodless tax-gatherers, that freeze his veins as the witches in their "cutty sarks" froze those of Tam O'Shanter. Jimmy Watt saves lot owners when all the horses in New York were leaving them to their fate.

MAKING THE CANALS FREE.

A strong movement is to be made this Winter in favor of making the Erie and other New York State canals absolutely free waterways. This, if accomplished, will be good news to the grain producers of the Great West, and will bring them into closer and more profitable connection with New York City and trans-Atlantic consumers. The scheme for a canal freight railroad will also be pushed during the session of the Legislature, and there is talk of a huge basin for canal boats on the North River side of the city to relieve the East River wharves and slips between Coenties Slip and South Ferry from the pressure of canal boats; a locality that is greatly needed by West India and other shipping.

VANDERBILT'S GREAT GRAIN LINE.

Even more important, if possible, is the new project of Vanderbilt for cheapening terminal facilities here for handling grain. He has built a monster grain elevator at Sixty-fifth street, alongside which he proposes to run his trains laden with grain, which will then be discharged direct into the holds of a line of swift sailing iron steamships bound for various European ports. He has just bought fourteen of these ships and will run them regularly from Sixty-fifth street. They are not expected to carry passengers, but to be devoted exclusively to grain and merchandise. The first ship sails next week and others will follow rapidly. This makes a sure thing of low freights from the West, whether by rail or canal.

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK.

Times are better. There is no mistake about it. Every department of trade feels it more or less. In my next I will tell you how two items of farm produce are looming up till it takes no prophet to predict a vast trade in each; and they are but two in a hundred. Why, look at one single branch of manufacturing—the sewing machine trade. One would suppose the world was already supplied with sewing machines, but the Singer Sewing Manufacturing Company report a sale of some 70,000 machines in the year just closed in excess of the number sold in 1877! The total sales of the Singer machines for the year are some 350,000; in making and selling which no less than 40,000 persons and 8,000 horses are employed. Think of the men digging the ore, felling and dressing the timber, building the wagons, and cars and ships that carry Singer machines to the people, and adding them to the forty thousand, we see how mightily such an enterprise affects the whole community for good. Mr. Edward Clark, the old business partner of the original Singer, is President of the Company. A good story comes from Chicago about the "Singer." After the great fire the Relief Committee undertook to furnish sewing machines for needy women, permitting each applicant to take her choice from among six of the most popular kinds. There were 2,944 machines thus supplied; 2,427 of the girls selected "Singer" machines, and the remaining 517 divided their choice between the five other kinds. The Singer has taken the first prize over all competitors more times.

"Art is long;" but newspaper correspondence mustn't.

MORLEY.

MARRIED POLITENESS.

"Will you?" asked a pleasant voice; and the husband answered: "Yes, my dear, with pleasure."

It was quietly but heartily said; the tone, the manner, the look, were perfectly natural and very affectionate. "I beg your pardon," comes as readily to his lips, when by any little awkwardness he has disconcerted her, as it would in the presence of the most fashionable stickler for etiquette. This is because he is a most thorough gentleman, who thinks his wife in all things entitled to precedence. He loves her best—why should he hesitate to show it? not in sickly, maudlin attentions, but in preferring her pleasure and honoring her in public as well as in private. He knows her worth, why should he hesitate to attest it? "And her husband he praised her," saith Holy Writ; not by fulsome adulation, not by pushing her charms into notice, but by speaking as opportunity occurs in a manly way of her virtues. Though words seem little things, and slight attentions almost valueless, yet depend upon it they keep the flame bright especially as they are natural. The children grow up in better moral atmosphere, and learn to respect their parents as they see them respecting each other. Many a boy takes advantage of a mother he loves, because he sees often the rudeness of his father. Insensibly he gathers to his bosom the same habits and thoughts and feelings they engender, and in his turn becomes the petty tyrant. Only his mother—why should he thank her? Father never does. Thus the home becomes the seat of disorder and unhappiness. Only for strangers are kind words expressed, and hypocrites go out from the hearthstone fully prepared to render justice, benevolence and politeness to anyone and everyone but those who have the justest claims. Ah! give us the kind glance, the happy homestead—the smiling wife and courteous children of the friend who said so pleasantly, "Yes, my dear, with pleasure."

HOW RICH MEN BEGAN LIFE.

Cornelius Vanderbilt began life with an old pirogue, running between Staten Island and New York, carrying garden stuff to market. With two or three thousand dollars raised from this source, he entered upon steadily increasing enterprises until he amassed the enormous sum of $75,000,000.

George Law, forty-five years of age was a day laborer on the docks, and now counts his fortune at something like $10,000,000.

Robert L. and Alexander Stuart, the noted sugar refiners, in their boyhood sold molasses candy which their widowed mother had made, at a cent a stick, and to-day are probably worth $5,000,000 apiece.

Marshall O. Roberts is the possessor of $4,000,000 or $5,000,000; yet until he was twenty-five he did not have $100 he could call his own.

Horace B. Claffin, the eminent dry goods merchant, worth it is estimated, $12,000,000 to $15,000,000, commenced the world with nothing but energy, determination and hope, and see how magnificently he has invested them.—Ex.

A GENTLEMAN is a rarer thing than so one of us think for. Which of us can point out many in his circle—men whose aims are generous, whose truth is constant and elevated, who can look the world honestly in the face with an equal, manly sympathy for the great and the small? We all know a hundred whose coats are well made, and a score who have excellent manners, but of gentlemen, how many? Let us take a little scrap of paper, and each make his list.—Thackeray.

THE MIRAGE OF LIFE.

The child's eyes are enchanted; but it does not know it, and he believes in all he sees. He does not doubt the shimmer and the glory of the scene that lies before him. To him the future is no sandy desert strewn with dead men's bones; it is a widespread savannah, fruitful as the tropics, and delightful as Elysian plains. He gazes down the vista of life, and every phantasm appears to his ardent sight as a real and pleasant thing. There is not a pageant looming in the distance, there is not one of the dissolving views hope creates, and fancy touches to bewildering brightness, that the child does not accept as real, and soon to be proved so. All the prismatic views that appear flash across his forward path he thinks are really lighting it, and that he shall be touched and beautified by their radiance when once he is there. Bright and fair is the apparent prospect before him, no wonder that the child is in haste to get on. There is everything to lure him—freedom, plenty, sweet gardens, flowing fountains, noble forms, smiling faces, and beckoning hands. He sees the waving of palms and the glitter of jewels; he hears the music of trumpet and harp; oh! all is before him; on, on, on. And on he rushes, breathlessly, to the end of childhood, through youth, and often into manhood, before he becomes fully aware that the shape, complexion, and mien of his phantoms have all been rapidly changing, and that what he took for true worth and beauty is in reality no better than a rare show, or a mirage of the desert. At last grown keen-eyed by hard lessons, he pierces through the cheat, and sees the bare and barren sands of life. For him there is afterwards no more enchantment.

TEN GOOD REASONS AGAINST INTOXICATING DRINKS.

- 1st. Stimulating drinks are needed at the table. Tea, coffee, milk, lemonade and cold water are sufficient for a princely entertainment.
- 2d. They hinder the digestive organs in the proper performance of their functions. They overtask the "absorbents," so that the gastric juice is delayed in its important and indispensable work.
- 3d. They are costly luxuries, and do not return an equivalent of enjoyment to those who indulge an appetite for their use.
- 4th. They create an artificial thirst which "grows on that feeds it"—a thirst which water cannot quench.
- 5th. They operate upon those who use them as whips and spurs upon donkeys—excite their force temporarily without imparting strength.
- 5th. They exhaust the energy and life of man, and offer nothing in their place that is worthy of acceptance.
- 7th. They brutalize the body, demoralize the soul, and corrupt the heart.
- 8th. As the companions of Ulysses were transformed into swine, these drinks transform men into beasts.
- 9th. They shorten human life, and make that short life wretched beyond comparison or description.
- 10th. They lead to drunkenness, and "no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of Heaven."

KEEP BUSY.—The man who has nothing to do is the most miserable of beings. If you have no regular work, no chores, as farmers do when it rains too hard to work in the field. In occupation we forget our troubles and get a respite from sorrow. The man whose mind and hands are busy (n is no time to weep and wail. If work is slack, spend the time in reading. No man ever knew too much. The hardest students in the world are the old men who know the most.

OLD, TRIED, AND TRUE.

People are getting acquainted—and those who are not ought to be—with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the MEXICAN Mustang Liniment, FOR MAN AND BEAST.

This liniment very naturally originated in America, where Nature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children. Its fame has been spreading for 35 years, until now it encircles the habitable globe. The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchless remedy for all external ailments of man and beast. To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable. A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, ox, cow, or sheep. It cures foot-rot, hoof-ail, hollow horn, grub, screw-worm, shoulder-rot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and bush life. It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, scratches, gwinny, sprains, founder, wind-gall, ring-bone, etc., etc. The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the quickest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as burns, scalds, sprains, cuts, etc., and for rheumatism, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Particularly valuable to Millers. It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure. Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportionately much the cheapest. Sold everywhere.

HOW'S YOUR LIVER?

If the skin be yellow and muddy, the bowels constipated; if you have ringing in your ears, dull pains in the side, sick headache, sour stomach, hot or dry skin, spots before the eyes, bad taste in the mouth, cold feet, and hands, sleepiness, giddiness, loss of appetite, bad circulation of the blood, swelled limbs, &c., you may safely conclude your liver is out of order. The liver is more apt to become disordered than any other organ of the body, as its duty is to filter the purities from the blood. When it becomes weak, obstructed and diseased it must fail to do its duty, and the whole body suffers. Try White's Purifier for the greatest known liver purifier in the world. Sample bottle 25 cents, large size 75 cents. For sale everywhere.

OUR ROADS.

One of the most serious drawbacks with which Jefferson county has to contend is her lack of good roads. With ample mail facilities, and a display of harbors which must prove invaluable to her as an aid to future growth; with a large amount of farming land, both wild and under cultivation; with her two sawmills and eligible sites for several more; with her valuable forests, her stores of iron ore, her mountains of useful stone, and her varied mineral treasures yet unearthened—with all these of which we may justly boast, the roads leading from one point to another across our public domain are so inferior that they form a subject of general remark.

We have enterprise enough to develop every industry; Port Townsend, our chief commercial center, exhibits many evidences of thrift and healthy growth; most of our farms indicate that our agricultural interests are in the hands of a hardy and enterprising class of people; and yet our public highways afford strangers an excuse for turning away in disgust and telling their friends—as was recently said—that “the people of Jefferson county are too parsimonious and short-sighted to make good roads.” A case in point may be alluded to. Not very long ago a couple of gentlemen of means visited Port Townsend with the intention of staying a week or two in the county and looking around for an opening to invest in some profitable enterprise. A day or two after coming here, they hired a wagon to make a tour of Chimacum valley; but their experience with the roads was of such a character that supreme disgust took the place of any desire to see sights and take notes of resources. Returning to town they embarked on the very next steamer leaving for up-Sound ports, saying that they “didn’t want to invest money where people hadn’t enterprise enough to construct better roads than those of Jefferson county.”

The stage road leading to Port Discovery is one of our most important highways, and yet it was constructed by private enterprise and is kept in repair through the same agency. We understand that a few months ago, when an effort was made to secure county assistance in widening and grading this road so as to bring it up to the required standard the proposition was met with the bluff remark that “You Port Discovery people must come to Port Townsend to do your trading, and as long as the road is passable we needn’t lay out county funds on it.” Now, we ask in all candor, what will our public roads come to if the above indicated spirit continues to be the ruling one? Suppose Port Discovery people do have to come over here occasionally to do a little trading, does not Port Townsend reap the benefit of it, and should we not make an effort to secure and retain as much trade as possible from that quarter? But there is no need of discussing or combating such narrow and niggardly ideas. What we need is to feel our mutual dependence, one point upon another, and above all to consider public needs and public welfare.

Our newly elected county commissioners will, in a few days, hold their first meeting and commence their acts as public servants and agents for the county. We hope they will recognize the necessity of “turning over a new leaf” in the matter under discussion herein, and do something during their term of office to redeem the county from that which now constitutes a cause of reproach. We are abundantly able to make all necessary improvements, and why not do so? The counties of Island and Clallam, although behind Jefferson in many respects; and tributary to Port Townsend, in more ways than one, can each make a better showing than we in the matter of roads. The only question is, how long shall such a state of things exist?

TOUCHED IN A SORE PLACE.

The ornamental figure-head of the “Press” has at last been prodded “where it hurts.” A thin place has been discovered in his rhinoceros-like hide. No doubt his “numerous readers” were edified by the rearing and plunging of this festive biped, as evidenced by the last issue of his vituperative sheet. Scientific men tell us that a mule’s cranium does not contain enough brains to render it capable of culture and refined rearing, but it is astonishing to notice the extent to which the other end of such an animal may be “reared”. The subject of this sketch has furnished the world one of these interesting examples.

Figuratively speaking, he has actually shouldered a chip and dared us to knock it off—and we “dassent.” Our very blood is frozen by the defiance of this peculiar specimen of quadrupedal anatomy. Why, it fairly charges and exerts in its mad efforts to kick a few daubs of mud over somebody.

Almost any one can descend to the use of vile epithets—that is, any one whose nature is base enough; and almost any one could retort in kind and bandy such expressions about AD INFINITUM, but no gentleman cares to do so. We do not consider ourselves any worse off, or in any way degraded because the terms “har,” “coward” and “hypocrite” are among the wholesale abusive epithets applied to us by this frothing ignoramus. We have been quite content with the flattering verdict of the public, those who for the past eighteen months have judged between this man and ourselves and decided as to our prespective merits and claims for support. We heard him convicted a willful and malicious liar and slanderer, ON HIS OWN TESTIMONY, before a respectable audience, not long since; so that we need not here refer at length to any of his brazen and libelous assertions about ourselves. His power for evil was broken as soon as the public ascertained his true character. While with a few selfish and revengeful followers (perhaps we should say MASTERS) he has been using every means to keep his dirty sheet, miscalled a newspaper, alive, the ARGUS has quietly accomplished a steady and healthy growth.

There are reasons for all this. The ARGUS has depended on MERIT alone for success, while Blanchard has been slowly driven to realize that CREEK alone (even HIS liberal share which approximates that of a certain notorious government animal in quantity) will never compensate for a lack of brains and true worth. Starting in as an attorney, he soon found himself deserted by those who at first patronized as an encouragement—for they found him merely a smatterer whose innate stupidity presented an insurmountable barrier to even mediocre attainments in the profession. After this, itching for a government position and goaded on by those who wished to use him as a cat’s-paw, he set up in business as the “editor” of a sheet which he fondly hoped would aid in his plans. The paper was not started to supply a public want; no rule of supply and demand, or other business principle, was observed in commencing the publication, hence it must inevitably fail. Its few readers have been from time surfeited with wholesale pen and ink attacks upon better men than any of its writers ever hoped to be, until even the motive of curiosity has failed to attract their support. Not one of its reckless and unproven assertions have ever been retracted, except when grim Justice and prison doors stared its so called editor in the face. Exasperated at its own futile attempts to attract attention, it has grown more reckless and vindictive until a spectacle like that of last week is made of itself, over a temperate statement made by us in the ARGUS.

We have no desire to hunt up and ventilate this fellow’s character. The public cares little about it, the game is not worth the powder, and besides we fear the job would be too sickening. Meanwhile our statement that serious inquiries have been made is still in print and need not be re-affirmed. The dough-head sets himself up as a dictator of what our duties are as a christian. We may say that our charity is not of the kind to smooth over or cover up such a mass of moral corruption and filth as Dr. Blanchard represents. Doing good to all men does not always consist in winking at their imperfections, any more than a failure to speak out boldly when you know you are right is discretion.

LEGITIMATE JOURNALISM.

When public journals, especially those that aspire to foremost and representative positions, descend to doing duty as vehicles for venting personal enmity, their legitimate functions are so basely perverted that corrective strictures may be properly applied. We deplore the necessity of making comments of this nature, especially when the erring object occupies so conspicuous a position as does the “Oregonian,” of Portland.

Senator J. H. Mitchell has long been justly regarded as a leader in the better element of Oregon’s Republican politicians. His many noble qualities of character, besides his shining ability, gave him a prestige which he still holds, although defeated in the last senatorial contest in our neighboring state. Some years ago Mr. Thos. Scott, the present editor of the “Oregonian,” occupied a position of trust in the Portland Custom House. We know but little of the circumstances of his removal from office, except that he attributed his political downfall to the influence of Senator Mitchell. He soon afterward obtained editorial control of the “Oregonian,” the leading journal of the state, since which time he has labored with diligence worthy of a better cause to injure the personal and political fortunes of the one whom he regards as a bitter enemy. Often when the voice of Oregon’s able senator sounded at the national capital in eloquent and stirring advocacy of some measure upon the success of which the welfare of his state and of the Pacific coast depended, when the encouragement and cordial support of just such a home journal as the “Oregonian” could be was an actual necessity, the editor of that paper subordinated public needs to private malice and ridiculed instead of assisted.

Not long since charges were preferred against the postmaster at Portland, for the alleged burning of a lot of copies of Senator Mitchell’s famous and telling speech against the monopoly of trade on the Columbia river. These charges were forwarded to Washington and presented to the Department when an investigation of the case was requested. The “Oregonian” again comes to the fore and endeavors to forestall and manufacture public opinion in favor of the postmaster and against Senator Mitchell. The Copies of the speech alleged to have been burned were sent to Portland through the mails, directed to different individuals, and should have been properly delivered. The “Oregonian” does not attempt to assert or prove that they were so delivered, but simply says that many of them were sent out which were not read, charges that Senator Mitchell hired a man to make affidavit to the charge &c. There is so much of personal feeling and malice patent upon the face of its lengthy comments in this case that due notice should be taken of the MOTIVE before crediting the statements. If the postmaster failed to do his duty, the offense was an infamous one and the “Oregonian” has no right to excuse him. It makes no difference whether the mail matter was considered worthless by Mr. Scott or not, the duty of the postmaster remained unchanged. On the other hand, if no wrong or injustice was done, an impartial investigation can harm no one.

The gist of the whole matter, when simmered down, is just this: Had the voters of Oregon been allowed to inform themselves regarding the unselfish labors of Senator Mitchell, in their behalf and in opposition to monopoly, he would have been re-elected to his position as state Senator. The election was a close one as it was, and the speech in question was the ablest effort ever made to liberate Oregon from the bonds of corporate power.

THE U. S. SIGNAL SERVICE.

Gradually, the wild and unmanageable forces of nature are, through science, made of use to man. Following in the wake of the ingenious inventions for the use of steam and electricity, comes the organization of the U. S. Signal Service. Is it not wonderful that a system could be originated and perfected whereby an operator can accurately predict the weather of a distant locality? And yet experience proves our “storm signals” to be reliable. Equally great are the advances made in the science of medicine. Step by step, uncertainties and doubts have yielded to absolute certainty. The discoveries of Harvey and Lister have been succeeded by the Golden Medical Discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce. No longer need despair because some physician has pronounced the lungs unsound. Hundreds of testimonials are on file in the office of Dr. Pierce from those who had abandoned all hope, and had been given up to die by physicians and friends. Incontinent consumption, bronchitis, scrofulous tumors, speedily, surely, and permanently, yield to the healing influence of the Discovery. If the bowels be constipated, use Dr. Pierce’s Pleasant Purgative Pellets. For full particulars see Pierce’s Memorandum Book, given away by all druggists.

PUGET SOUND ARGUS.

LOCAL NEWS.

A STEP IN ADVANCE.—Judge Swan informs us that the Indians of Neah Bay held a municipal election on Thursday last—a la "Boston." Capt. Willoughby, the Agent, is encouraging them toward self-reliance and self-government. Some time ago he called a meeting at which he informed the Indians of a number of proposed improvements to be made upon the reservation, in the buildings, roads, fences &c., and asked for their co-operation; at the same time he explained to them the necessity of having an organized system of government among themselves, proposing that they elect four chiefs for each village, and that the duties of these chiefs should be similar to those of a city council or board of town trustees. After due deliberation and many earnest wa- was upon the subject, they assented to the proposed step, and an election was accordingly called. One board of chiefs were elected, and they are now duly installed. In addition to their duties as councilmen, they are constituted a court of inquiry and adjudication in all petty grievances among the Indians in their jurisdiction, the latter of course having the privilege of appeal to the Agent. One of the chiefs thus elected was chosen by the board as its presiding officer, or head chief; and, there being Indian boys on the reservation who could read and write in English, one of them was chosen as clerk of the court. On the evening after the election the newly constituted board had occasion, to hold a business meeting to settle some trivial disputes among their red brethren; and, upon an appeal being taken to agent Willoughby, the action of the lower court was sustained. Thus we have a speedy practical demonstration of the results of this move. Looking at it from all sides, the change may be justly regarded as a long stride in advance for the Indians whom our Eastern friends have been led to look upon as being extremely barbarous.

CLOSED OUT.—Mr. Chas. C. Bartlett, of this place, has about completed the closing out of his store at Dungeness. His son, Mr. Frank Bartlett, went down about a week ago and auctioned off nearly all the goods. Mr. Bartlett's business here is so large and varied that it quite requires all his time and attention. His brother, Mr. F. A. Bartlett, who has been twice elected Auditor of Clallam county, has been conducting the business at Dungeness. We are not advised as to the future occupation of the latter.

On Tuesday morning the steamer Dispatch arrived from Neah Bay and way ports, bringing U. S. mails, freight and passengers. Among the last named were Capt. Chas. Willoughby, of the Neah Bay Indian Agency, Judge J. G. Swan, U. S. Inspector of Customs at Neah Bay, Mr. F. Roberts of Dungeness, and Mr. Frank Bartlett, of this place, the last named just returning from a business trip to Dungeness.

The P. M. S. S. Co.'s chartered "City of Chester," 1100 tons, Peter Mackie Esq., commanding, sailed from San Francisco January 20, 1879, at noon, having on board 40 passengers, 31 pkgs mails, 1 pkg treasure value $300, and 1798 pkgs mdse., 200 tons. Mds. for Port Townsend, 11 tons; Seattle, 43 tons; Tacoma, 13 tons; Olympia, 17 tons.

SOME little merriment was caused on Tuesday morning by the steamer Saranac hauling alongside of the Central Hotel, of this place, and taking in a supply of water from the tank kept by the proprietors of that institution. The "magnificent steamship" mentioned above was formerly a steam launch belonging to the vessel whose name she bears.

We acknowledge a call a few days since, from Mr. Thaddeus Hanford, of the "Intelligence" editorial staff. Mr. Hanford is a young man of rare business qualities, as is evidenced by his management of the enterprise in which he is engaged.

Our readers will notice by the change in the P. M. S. S. Co.'s advertisement that the steamship City of Chester will leave Port Townsend on arrival.

Our New York letters are from the pen of a most distinguished and experienced writer. We expect to make them an important feature of the ARGUS.

If the ARGUS is not a fair specimen of itself this week, its readers must attribute the fact to the worry and bother incident to our recent move.

NEW STOCK.—Mr. J. F. Sheehan informs us that he expects a stock of stoves and tinware about the 5th of next month.

His honor, Judge Norris, has a case in progress before him.

OUR CHANGES.—Yes, the ARGUS has been moved, bag and baggage, to comfortable rooms in a more desirable locality. The building which forms its present shelter has been made almost new by the recent repairs which it has undergone. There are other things pleasant to tell in connection with the rise and progress of this paper; many of our subscribers are renewing and forwarding cash in a style that causes an invocation of blessings upon their heads by the editor heretofore, and new subscribers are coming forward rapidly enough, without personal solicitations, to insure the increased prosperity and growth of the business. Listen again: We have just received a quantity of new jobbing material, consisting of fancy type, rule, flourishes, word ornaments, regist. leads, cuts, border, &c.—enough for a small office of itself—and our readers can readily judge of the increased facilities of this office to perform "way up" work in the line of job printing. The form of the paper will perhaps be changed soon, a Temperance department will be started, and—but this is enough to tell at one time. Congratulate us.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—On the 23rd inst. the house and barn of Mr. W. C. Webster of Sequim Prairie, Clallam Co., were destroyed by fire, together with all their contents. His work oxen, a cow and calf, pigs, chickens, &c., besides his last year's grain crop, were all consumed with the barn. We are not advised as to the extent of the loss in value, but presume it was not far from a thousand dollars. Mr. Webster is an old gentleman, a widower, and had lived alone for years, upon the farm thus devastated. He had gone from home into the woods to cut some timber, on the day of the fire, and did not return until his home, the accumulations of years of toil, was merely a heap of smoldering ruins. The house and barn were built adjoining, and consequently both went at the same time. The fire is supposed to have originated in the chimney, and was undoubtedly purely accidental. The unfortunate victim has the sympathy of all.

INCREASED SERVICE.—The P. O. Department at Washington has authorized the carrying of U. S. mails three times per week hereafter instead of but once, on the route between Port Townsend and Port Discovery. The privilege is also granted to Postmaster Learned to send the mail every day provided it can be done without increasing the pay above that set for tri-weekly service. We understand that the Port Discovery Mill Co. will make arrangements to have a daily mail on the route. This will be a change which all affected by it will appreciate. Delegate Jacobs is continually adding to the already numerous testimonials that he is the most efficient and useful representative that Washington has ever had in Congress. We congratulate our friends of Port Discovery upon their good fortune this time.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY.—We saw a few days since at Fort Townsend a remarkable case of recovery. The subject was a stout man some 35 years of age. The injury was caused by a bayonet, which passed completely through the right side of the chest, entering just inside the shoulder blade ranging between the fifth and sixth ribs in front, thereby passing entirely through the substance of the right lung. Some important blood vessels were severed which caused copious bleeding. Dr. Spencer, the surgeon in charge, fortunately being near at hand secured the bleeding vessels. Under his care the patient is now making a good recovery.

On Sunday, the 19th inst.; R. v. P. C. Hetzler, agent of the American Bible Society for Oregon and Washington, preached twice in the M. E. Church, of this place. The attendance was liberal and the interest gratifying. Through the agency of the above named society, printed copies of the Bible are being placed in every household in the land whether people are able to purchase or not. Mr. Hetzler is very earnest and untiring in his efforts, and no doubt his reward for the good work will be correspondingly great.

An appointment has been made for the editor of this paper to lecture on San Juan Island Feb. 28th, on the subject of Temperance. The school house in district No. 1, has been selected as the place of meeting.

REV. S. A. Starr, of this place, returned from Dungeness last week, having preached there on the two Sabbaths just previous.

On Sunday last Rev. D. N. Uffer, of Olympia, preached in Fowler's Hall to a fair-sized audience.

We hear that the "Press" will soon slow down to a "patent inside."

Our thanks are due to Mr. Tibbals for favors.

FROM PORT DISCOVERY.

JAN. 27, 1879

EDITOR ARGUS:—Last Wednesday evening, about 8 o'clock, during a heavy snow fall, there sprung up a regular "sou-easter." A siwash, known as "Seabeck Sam," was returning from a duck hunt when the squall caught him, capsizing his canoe and throwing him and all of his "ictas" into the rough waters; the last named were all lost, whilst the Indian struck out to swim, hoping to save himself, and calling out lustily for help. His yells attracted the attention of parties near by who, judging by the outcry that some one was in distress, soon found a boat and succeeded in rescuing the unfortunate fellow. On being asked the next morning what he (Sam) thought of the adventure, he simply replied, as a faint smile illuminated his swarthy features, "Hyas cultus chuck."

The good we oft might do we fail to accomplish, in being too anxious.

Apropos to the above is the drenching some of the "leading lights" received on being wrapped in a "wet blanket."

NOW AND THEN.

VICK'S "FLORAL GUIDE."—This work is before us, and those who send five cents to JAMES VICK, Rochester, N. Y., for it will be disappointed. Instead of getting a cheap thing, as the price would seem to indicate, they will receive a very handsome work of 100 pages, and perhaps 500 illustrations—not cheap but elegant illustrations, on the very best of calendered paper, and as a set-off to the whole, an elegant Colored Plate, that we would judge cost twice the price of the book. There is nothing elsewhere like this beautiful little pamphlet that will begin to compare with it. In fact it demonstrates to a nicety the degree of perfection which may be attained by careful study and long training. Its projector and editor is a man of ripe experience in his calling and has not a superior in his business anywhere. Vick's "Floral Guide," besides being very useful, is handsome enough to ornament any parlor table.

A PROTRACTED meeting is in progress at Coupeville, Whidby Island, under the auspices of the M. E. Church and conducted by Messrs. Hurlbut and Rev. S. A. Starr, of this place. The latter will not return to Port Townsend this week, consequently there will be no morning service in the M. E. church. Evening service at the usual hour, conducted by Allen Weir. Prayer meeting this evening at 7 o'clock.

BRIEF HOLIDAY.—Our young and genial friend, A. A. Plummer, Jr., left yesterday for Portland, to be away about a week.

PHRENOLOGY.

The prosperity of the "Phrenological Journal" would indicate an increasing interest in this subject, and many people have proper appreciation of its practical value. In the prospectus of the "Phrenological Journal" for 1879 the publishers make liberal propositions to subscribers. The price has been reduced to $2 (from $3) and to each subscriber is offered a choice of two premiums. First, a Phrenological Busta model head, made nearly life-size, of plaster of Paris, so lettered as to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, center table, library or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles published in the "Phrenological Journal" on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different Phrenological Organs. The second is a new book, the "Temperaments"; or Varieties of Physical Constitution in Man, considered in their relation to Mental Character and Practical Affairs of life. By D. H. Jacques, M. D. Price, $1.50. This work discusses a very important subject and one which is of interest to every student of Human Nature, and who is not one? It shows the relation of Temperament to marriage, education and training of children, occupation, health and disease, etc. The work contains 350 pages, and over 150 portraits, handsomely printed and bound, and can not be obtained except as a premium at less than retail price, $1.50. When either of the premiums are sent, 25 cents extra must be received to pay for boxing But or for postage on Book and "Journal." Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus for the "Phrenological Journal," should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half-price—for a sample number of the "Journal," to S. R. WELLS & CO., Publishers, 737 Broadway, N. Y.

GIVE YOUR GIRLS A CHANCE.

Experience is a valuable part of an education. Girls should early learn to purchase goods for their own clothing. Parents can advise them at the start, but it will be a good plan for girls to learn to rely upon their own judgment. The purchases can be talked over after they are made. Let your daughter, with a little advice, cut up a few yards of calico and make aprons, dresses and bedquits, even if there is a little waste and some poor fits. She will be likely to see her own mistakes and profit by them. Let her make some cakes and bread, and broil some meat and pop some corn, no matter if she does have to throw some into the swill pail. It is better to make a few small mistakes while young, in acquiring an education, than to grow up without experience. They must learn some time, or make great blunders during a good portion of their lives, when left to rely on themselves. In many respects, children are not trusted enough. They are "bossed" too much.

A gentleman being threatened with an infectious fever, said to his little son, who in an affectionate mood wished to embrace him, "You mustn't hug me, you'll catch the fever." Willie, standing back, looked in amazement upon his papa, who by the way, is a pattern of propriety, and quietly asked, "Why, papa, who did you hug?"

CHICKEN LIVERS.—Fry a little onion in butter, then put in the livers with a slice of salt pork, cover the frying pan and cook until nicely done and brown. When done take out the livers, (having seasoned them with pepper and salt,) and arrange on some slices of buttered toast. Make a gravy by adding thickening and water to the drippings in the pan, let boil up, season and pour through a gravy strainer over the livers. Serve with with a border of boiled rice.

When ink has once been dried into a carpet it is next to impossible to entirely efface the stain. Skim-milk will take it out if applied within a short time after the spilling; of course, the sooner the better. Use a sponge or a piece of cotton-batting; soak up the ink carefully that it may not spread; wash thoroughly with milk, changing it often until it is no longer colored, then wash with cold water, afterwards with warm, and use a little sapollo if necessary. Lemon juice and salt, or oxalic acid will take dry spots out of cloth but can be used only on white goods as it would injure the color. If the stain on a carpet happens to be on a white spot they might be used with safety.

To take stains from the furniture, put a few drops of spirits of nitre in a tablespoonful of water and touch the spots, using a small paint-brush or a feather, then wash off instantly with a little cold water and rub dry. Do not make the mixture too strong at first, but if the ink does not entirely disappear add a drop or two of the nitre and apply again, always being sure to wash with cold water to prevent the nitre from leaving a white spot.

The scarcity of Diamonds, Gold and Silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value.

Thus it is with a valuable medicine: Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the Sun, sweep back the Ocean with a broom or put out a prairie fire with a tear.

For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections, it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your Druggist for it. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the facsimile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown in every 75 cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents.

"What are you going to do about it?"

Because the penalties of physiological laws are not executed speedily, some fancy they are void. But when the system breaks down, and almost hopeless complications arise, which the family physician, by reason of his limited experience, fails to relieve, the pertinency of the above inquiry is apparent. Many remedies have been specially prepared for these cases, and many physicians are bidding for their patronage. As before making a purchase of land, a "search" is required, and the title carefully examined, so invalids should carefully investigate the claims of any physician offering to treat chronic diseases. Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are well known, and have effected many cures where eminent physicians have failed, yet to accommodate surgical and complicated cases, and those desirous of being cured speedily, Dr. Pierce has erected an elegant sanitarium, at a cost of nearly half a million dollars. No institution in the world offers advantages superior to those found in this establishment. Half a score of physicians are in attendance, several of whom have been prominently connected with leading American and European Hospitals. Every improved facility for hastening a cure that a liberal expenditure of money could secure can here be found. Before fully deciding where to go, address Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, for circular.

URANINE.

This is the most recently discovered, and perhaps the most remarkable of all the coal tar or aniline group of coloring substances, now so extensively used for the adornment of the finest fabrics. Uranine is said, by chemists, to be the most highly fluorescent body known to science. Its coloring power is astonishing; a single grain will impart a marked color to nearly five hundred gallons of water.

A most interesting experiment, which anybody may try, consists in sprinkling a few atoms of Uranine upon the surface of water in a glass tumbler. Each atom immediately sends down through the water what appears to be a bright green rootlet; and the tumbler soon looks as if it were crowded full of beautiful plants. The rootlets now begin to enlarge, spread and combine, until we have a mass of soft green-colored liquid. Viewed by transmitted light, the color changes to a bright golden or amber hue; while a combination of green and gold will be realized, according to the position in which the glass is held. For day or evening experiment nothing can be prettier than the trials of Uranine, which are especially entertaining for the young folks. We are indebted for samples of the color to the editors of the "Scientific American," who are sending out specimens, free of charge, to all their readers. The subscription to the paper is $3.20 for a year, or $1.60 half year; and a better investment for the money could hardly be named.

Reliable Life Insurance Policy.

We take pleasure in commending to our readers a thoroughly safe and reliable life insurance agency, whose funds or assets are inexhaustible. It is a stock company operating under the joint title—HEALTH LIFE policies are issued in the form of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets (which it takes as directed, insure the system against disease) upon payment of a very small fee. All the principal druggists are constituted agents.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next at our feet, pale with death, dead to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seventy per cent of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.

"The Farmers' Review."

The latest addition to our exchange list is the "Farmer's Review," Chicago, Ill., and a most welcome addition it proves. It is as full of departments as the government at Washington, and they all bear evidence of unusual skill and industry in their management. It is emphatically a model firm and family monthly. It is, withal, THE NEATEST AND CHEAPEST JOURNAL OF THE KIND IN THE WORLD. Fifty cents secures a copy for one year. We will furnish the "Review" and the ARGUS, each one year, for $3.25. This is a rare opportunity for our friends in the rural districts. Send along your orders.

A Living Witness.

Do not despair of ever finding relief from that dreadful disease dyspepsia, or its mate liver complaint. A single trial of White's Prairie Flower will make you a witness to its infallibility. Druggists say they never sold a medicine they can more heartily recommend. It cures chronic rheumatism, cutaneous and ulcerous scrofula, organic debility, nervousness, etc. etc. For female complaint it has no equal. Prairie Flower is gathered from the prairie of the far west, and then carefully prepared in the form of a liquid medicine by an experienced physician. Is positively purely vegetable and harmless in any reasonable amount, yet a powerful purgative if taken in over doses. Directions in full are with each bottle. For sale by all druggists. Trial size, 25 cts. Large size, 75 cts.

Valuable Land for Sale

THE undersigned has about 40 acres of improved land, situated near Dungeness, W. T., which will be sold reasonable. Apply at the ARGUS office, or to
GEORGE COOPER,
483m Dungeness, W. T.

What are you going to do about it?

Because the penalties of physiological laws are not executed speedily, some fancy they are void. But when the system breaks down, and almost hopeless complications arise, which the family physician, by reason of his limited experience, fails to relieve, the pertinency of the above inquiry is apparent. Many remedies have been specially prepared for these cases, and many physicians are bidding for their patronage. As before making a purchase of land, a "search" is required, and the title carefully examined, so invalids should carefully investigate the claims of any physician offering to treat chronic diseases. Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are well known, and have effected many cures where eminent physicians have failed, yet to accommodate surgical and complicated cases, and those desirous of being cured speedily, Dr. Pierce has erected an elegant sanitarium, at a cost of nearly half a million dollars. No institution in the world offers advantages superior to those found in this establishment. Half a score of physicians are in attendance, several of whom have been prominently connected with leading American and European Hospitals. Every improved facility for hastening a cure that a liberal expenditure of money could secure can here be found. Before fully deciding where to go, address Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, for circular.

URANINE.

This is the most recently discovered, and perhaps the most remarkable of all the coal tar or aniline group of coloring substances, now so extensively used for the adornment of the finest fabrics. Uranine is said, by chemists, to be the most highly fluorescent body known to science. Its coloring power is astonishing; a single grain will impart a marked color to nearly five hundred gallons of water.

A most interesting experiment, which anybody may try, consists in sprinkling a few atoms of Uranine upon the surface of water in a glass tumbler. Each atom immediately sends down through the water what appears to be a bright green rootlet; and the tumbler soon looks as if it were crowded full of beautiful plants. The rootlets now begin to enlarge, spread and combine, until we have a mass of soft green-colored liquid. Viewed by transmitted light, the color changes to a bright golden or amber hue; while a combination of green and gold will be realized, according to the position in which the glass is held. For day or evening experiment nothing can be prettier than the trials of Uranine, which are especially entertaining for the young folks. We are indebted for samples of the color to the editors of the "Scientific American, who are sending out specimens, free of charge, to all their readers. The subscription to the paper is $3.20 for a year, or $1.60 half year; and a better investment for the money could hardly be named.

Reliable Life Insurance Policy.

We take pleasure in commending to our readers a thoroughly safe and reliable life insurance agency, whose funds or assets are inexhaustible. It is a stock company operating under the joint title—HEALTH. Life policies are issued in the form of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets (which it takes as directed, insure the system against disease) upon payment of a very small fee. All the principal druggists are constituted agents.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next at our feet, pale with death, dead to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seventy-tenths of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.
