THE SEATTLE
Hospital!

CONDUCTED BY G. A. WEED, M. D.

COMMERCIAL ST., BETWEEN
MAIN AND JACKSON,
SEATTLE, W. T.

TO MEET THE PRESSING WANTS OF
many persons on Puget Sound needing Medical and Surgical aid, and for comfortable rooms, good care and Moderate Prices, I have fitted up a Hospital, where every convenience and comfort will be provided in connection with experienced and skillful Medical and Surgical attendance.

We aim to make this a permanent Institution,
and to give special attention to cases of fracture
and injuries of all kinds that are constantly occurring in the saw mills, coal mines and logging camps surrounding it.

Seattle being centrally located, with regard to these interests, and more accessible than any other point, we mean with the aid of those allotted to its entire management, to build up an institution indispensable to the sick and distressed, and who have no homes, and worthy of their confidence and that of the public.

The Hospital is in a pleasant and healthy location, the rooms neatly and cheerfully furnished.

or by letter to G. A. WEED, M. D.,

FROM DAILY OF THURSDAY.

CHRISTMAS TREE AND DANCE AT RENTON.—Never before in the history of Renton has there been such a gathering. Delegations from Dumawish, White and Cedar Rivers lent their "Youth and Beauty" to make this oc-casian pleasant and enjoyable.

The Committee of arrangements were: Mrs. T. B. Morris,
Mrs. E. M. Smithers, Mrs. J.
Jackson, Miss Bessie Terry, Miss
Addie Smithers, Miss Nellie Terry, Thos. Quealy, Chas. Wells, T. B. Morris, O. Byrd, A. Wilson, J. Brown, and R. Thorne, and have won honors upon this occasion for the manner in which everything was carried out.

The gifts from the "Christmas Tree," took place in the new School House, and long before the hour for distribution came,
the house was filled with old and young, anxiously awaiting for the gifts to take place. The Committee appointed to distribute the presents were: Miss Bessie Terry, Miss Addie Smithers and Miss Nellie Terry. They conducted their pleasant labors in a manner which cannot be too highly commended. At 9 o'clock, the "Christmas Tree,"
having been disposed of its precious fruits, was removed, and all who felt so disposed, joined in the merry dance, and not until the morning was far advanced did they think of their homeward return. The supper was had at the Renton Boarding House, where 75 couple sat down to the table groaning under the weight of turkey, chicken, cake,
&c., and many were the thanks
that greeted Mrs. E. M. Smithers, for the manner in which she had performed her part, on the most difficult of all the programmes.

This was, in fact, a "Merry Christmas" to all, and will long be remembered as the most pleasant affair of the kind that has ever taken place in Renton.

There will be preaching at the Baptist Church at 11, A. M. and 7, P. M., next Sunday. Sunday School at 12 1/2 o'clock. The annual business meeting of the Church will be held Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

NO PAPER.—No paper will be issued from this office to-morrow, as it is New Year's Day.

RETURNED.—Among other passengers on the City of Panama was Dr. G. A. Weed, who has been on a visit to California for his health. He resumes charge of the Seattle hospital, left during his absence under the direction of Dr. Sparling.

AHEAD OF TIME.—The North
Pacific only went as far as Port Townsend and returned yesterday evening, being about 18 hours ahead of time. This being without any previous official notice, greatly discommoded a number of our citizens.

The bark Harvest Home arrived here this morning. She belongs to the Seattle coal fleet.

REMOVING.—Mr. W. G. Jamieson has commenced removing his stock of goods into his new quarters in the Seattle bank building.

The steamer Libby returned from Whatcom at 7 oclock yesterday afternoon with a large load of farm produce.

chants.

The bark Menshikov has finished loading with Seattle coal and sailed. The ship Eldorado has commenced loading.

The steamer Alida went up to Olympia this morning.

The city flag was placed at half mast to-day, out of respect to the memory of the late Capt. Hyde.

SAILED.—The bark Windward
loaded with 425,000 feet of lumber from Colman's mill, sailed to-day.

DIED.—On Whidby Island, on the 27th inst., Capt. Thos. Coupe, aged 57 years, of dropsy.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—The Baptist Sunday School will have a Christmas tree at 7 P. M. this evening at the Congregational Church. There will be singing and other interesting exercises.

FROM DAILY OF FRIDAY
WEEK OF PRAYER.—The Week
of Prayer appointed by the Evangelical Alliance for the first week in January, will be observed in this city by holding Union Services in the Brown Church
on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week, and in the M. E. Church on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. The Methodist, Baptist, Congregational and Presbyterian Churches will unite in these services.

The grand ball of the Sing Verein Germania comes off
this evening at Yesler's Hall.
Be sure and attend. Tickets, including supper, $4.

Mr. A. L. Francis returned from San Francisco on the City of Panama, with a large stock of goods for the new music store which Messrs. Hurford & Francis propose to open in Reinig's new building.

Another free men's restaurant in the Grotto to-morrow.
The big steward has been sharp-ening his knives up on the stove and will be on hand, as large as life, to dish out the edibles.

MR. BOUCAULT OF THE LIFE-INSUR-ANCE MAN.—We are indebted to Mr.
Boucault for the best and best anecdote about "the life-insurance man."
In alluding to certain comments on the originality of his plays, he says: "Another reproach is that I have deserted the field of legitimate comedy (in which I contributed such works as London Assurance and Arrak-na-Pogue; that I owed it to my fame to maintain the standard of my reputation. I write to the taste of the times, I don't care a button for posterity, nor write to amuse unborn generations. Posterity is a bad audience. It reminds me of what an old Californian replied when a life-insurance company was first introduced into San Francisco, and he was asked to support it: 'Well,' said he, 'I've no opinion of a speculation whar a man has got to die to realize.' So it is with poets who write for posterity."—Harper's Magazine.

The stupidity that may charac-terize a jury is illustrated by a ludicrous scene which recently took place in an English court. A lady having been injured in a railway accident was taken to a hotel, where she laid up for several weeks. When the bill was presented to her she refused to pay, and referred the landlord to the railroad company for settlement. Thereupon the landlord brought an action against his guest to recover. The question whether she was liable for the claim was submitted to her "peers" in the persons of twelve substantial, rural jurymen. After solemn conclave, they returned to court with the verdict that the railway company was liable. The judge, informed thereof sharply that the liability of the defendant, and not of the railway company, that was in question.
Another solemn delay resulted in a verdict for the defendant for 100 pounds.
The judge, waxing impatient, told them that the defendant did not and could not claim anything, and sent them out again.
A third verdict was to the effect that the railway company was responsible for everything except the luxury items.
Once more they were marched out to come back at last with a verdict of a few pounds in the landlord's favor.

AN IGNORANT MAN.—"After all," says
a quaint writer, "George Washington was a very ignorant man. He never traveled on a steamboat, never saw a railroad or locomotive engine; was perfectly ignorant of the principle of the magnetic telegraph, never had a daguer-type, Colt's pistol, Sharp's rifle, or used a friction match. He ate his meals with an iron

MORE DISREPUTABLE JOURNALISM.

The Victoria Colonist, in gross violation of journalistic proprieties, publishes in its advertising columns, a narrative occupying over four columns, in fine print, pretending to give revelations of crimes committed several years ago, embracing robbery and murder, implicating several of the most highly respected and reputable citizens upon Puget Sound. The story is like a...

A CAPE COD VILLAGE.

As nearly as one can ascertain in a residence of a few hours, there are but two streets in Provincetown which in any other New England town would be dignified with that title. They appear to run parallel to each other, but a careful investigation is necessary to a verification of that supposition. Indeed, the peculiarity which strikes a stranger most forcibly is the absence of streets such as one is used to. The two to which allusion has been made are narrow and crooked, indeed; but the cross streets are in most cases wide enough only for the passage of one wagon, and in many cases they are open at but one end. The main street, narrow and winding, the houses irregular and low in most cases, and the plank sidewalk of a different grade every foot or so. But, after all, it is a pleasant old street to stroll through, especially at night, when there is a clear view of the moonlit harbor, with its fleet of fishing vessels. On a pleasant evening the shops are all open and lighted, and their keepers stand at the old-fashioned half-doors and gossip with their customers in just such a way as to remind one of the descriptions he has read of old French and Dutch fishing towns. Above the main street, and not far distant, is the second street in importance and is occupied almost entirely by dwellings. It is between these two thoroughfares that the strange passages that serve as streets run.

AMONG THE FLORIDA PINES.

The eastern portion of Florida is still largely a wilderness and the people are as poor as pioneers are apt to be, though the growth of orange business is steadily improving their condition and bringing in new settlers. The small farmers still cling largely to old customs, but the old folks are beginning to wear paniers and things, and so are getting enlightened. The men have an immense amount of pride, born of the slavery system, and think it degrading to lift the hat to any person, deeming all sorts of courtesy of that kind very proper for the negro, and Confederate regiments raised here in the war would not salute superiors so. Freedom and education, however, are proving greater blessings to the whites than to the negroes. Before the war, the planter who sold only his cotton was a gentleman, while his neighbor who sold potatoes and corn was only a "cracker." Now the so-called "upper" class is gone, and the people are coming to a higher plan of civilization. Farmers are largely planting orange groves, and it is said that many settlers will go out this fall. Given the energy and enterprise that has built up the west, and the future of Florida is assured. The climate is delightful, and for all those who love horticulture, no pleasanter work can be engaged in than helping to make of the peninsula a succession of orange groves.

The reputation of generosity is to be purchased very cheap; it does not depend so much upon a man's general expense as it does upon his giving handsomely where it is proper to give at all. A man, for instance, who should give a servant four shillings would pass for covetous, while he who gave a crown would be reckoned generous; so that the difference of those two opposite characters turns upon one shilling.

THE GREAT CAVERN.

The Wilkesbarre (Pa.) Times says: "One of our reporters visited the scene of the recent mine disaster near Plymouth, on Monday morning. Proceeding through the tunnel and slope about 900 feet into the mountain, he found a couple of miners loading a car with coal, and was informed that they were removing the remains of a large pillar which had been crushed by the recent convulsion. What was singular in regard to the demolition of this column of solid coal, seventy-five to one hundred feet, was that it was rent asunder by some extreme pressure from below. The railroad track had been crowded up to the top of the slope, a height of some eight feet, and was packed as closely as it is possible to conceive. The coal was rendered as fine as if it had passed through a breaker, and some of it was fairly pulverized. The whole fall of rock at the Chauncy and Grand Tunnel mines is estimated at about one hundred acres, forty over the Chauncy and sixty to seventy at the Grand Tunnel. Mr. Albrighton, who has a mining experience of sixty years, and Mr. Roberts, who has been actively engaged in mines for nearly fifty years, pronounced this to be the most extensive cave of a mine ever before heard of in the world. The cause of the unexplained fall must remain a mystery, and it is possible that it will never be satisfactorily accounted for, except upon the theory that an earthquake was the moving power."

A BAD MAN.

As Si was coming up town from the Atlanta and Richmond Air Line depot on yesterday, he indulged in a little song all to himself. Two other negroes passed by, and one of them shouted back: "Pia up yer oder lip, ole man, an' stop that racket!" "Who yer talkin' ter?" said Si, stopping short and turning round. "Talkin' to yer, who yer tink I'm talkin' to, you ole Guinea rooster, you?" "Yer don't know me, do yer?" said Si. "I don't know who you is; you ain't no grand army ob de 'public, no how!" "Look har, I am de mos' discouraging nigger in dis Atlanta city, and I'd jist take dis har head, but lett yer inter de fore part ob Christmas week, I will!" "Yer no a da—"

REPORTERS SHOULD ALWAYS BE EVEN TEMPERED MEN.

When one rushes wildly ten squares to get a vivid account of a man breaking his leg, he may be excused if he can't find any words in the dictionary to suit the occasion when he discovers it is a wooden leg.—Easton Free Press.

FOR WHO—OUCH—BLAZES AND BRIMSTONE!

He admits that the campaign has opened red hot. A lady called upon a milliner the other day to get the character of her servant. The respectable appearance of the latter was beyond questioning. "But is she honest?" asked the lady. "I am not so certain about that," replied the milliner. "I have sent her to you with my bill a dozen times, and she has never yet given me the money."

QUININE SHOULD NOT BE EATEN AFTER A HEAVY MEAL OF INDIA RUBBER.

The spermaceti contained in the former will unite with the osalic acid of the latter and wagon grease will be evolved with disastrous results. Before taking a bath the entire body should be carefully washed. Then lay on a coat of tar and get into the water. It can't touch you anywhere. It is not so fashionable as it was to chop a cord of wood before breakfast; none but very old men, who cling to traditions of youth like a lean leech to a stuffed frog, ever do it, and they commonly perish at it. Getting out of bed in a perspiration is to be avoided—always lie in bed as long as you can find any excuse for it. Nothing is more injurious than the ordinary method of going up stairs; it causes the alkali in the blood to settle in the corns, producing arism and strangulation. The proper way is to lie on your stomach and go up feet first. Never sleep with your eyes shut: it is a degenerate habit. Bathing, as intimated above, is conducted on a wrong principle. It is, probably the custom might be advantageously abolished altogether. Bath-houses and bathing-rooms in dwellings are a thing of recent growth. Our grandfathers seldom or never bathed; and it is conceded that they lived to be several hundred years old. Potatoes should always be eaten with the skins on; skins contain bicarbonate of ammonia, which is just what the liver requires. When the custom of giving the skins to the poor originated, science was wholly unknown. There are more things it would be well to know, but a strict compliance with the rules already given will enable you to live as long as you will wish to. Further instructions would not prolong your misery.

A CITIZEN OF HIGH STREET LEFT TOWN WITH HIS FAMILY 4 OR 5 DAYS AGO FOR A SHORT COUNTRY TRIP.

And the oldest boy, a youth of 13, was instructed to hail some farmer and contract for a Winter's supply of potatoes. When the father returned the boy met him at the gate, saying: "I've got them 'aters, pa!" "How many?" "Ninety bushels in the cellar now and forty more co'ing to-morrow!" replied the exultant boy.

The man who does nothing don't amount to much. It makes but little difference whether he is a millionaire or a pauper. He is only a stagnant pool without even energy enough to start a ripple. He diffuses a moral miasma over everything around him. Do something; don't stand on the corners sipping with your hands in your pockets like an idiot. The world was made to work in, and if you fill your hearts with good angels, the bad spirits will keep out because there is no room for them.

HOW MAHOAGNY WAS INTRODUCED.

It is not a little remarkable that until the present century the word "mahogany" though now in common use, was not to be found in any dictionary. Not the reason of its absence is plainly accounted for by the fact that up to the end of the last century the word was not known in England. The story of its first introduction is but another instance of art and chance meeting together.

DANGER FROM COPPER SAUCEPANS.

The precise danger from the use of copper saucepans, or stewpans, imperfectly tinned, is far from rightly understood. It appears that the acid contained in stews and other made dishes, as lemon juice, though it does not dissolve copper by being merely boiled in it a few minutes, nevertheless, if allowed to cool and stand in it for some time, will acquire poisonous matter, as verdigris, in the form of a green band, or crust, inside the vessel. It has likewise been proved that weak solutions of common salt, such as are daily made by adding a little salt to boiling vegetables, fish or meat, act powerfully on copper vessels, although strong solutions, or brine would not affect them.

RENEWED INTEREST IN LIFE.

A wife in Vicksburg informed her husband the other morning that she was working herself into the grave for the want of a hired girl, and as he went out, she leaned back and fell to weeping. The children were making a noise in the hall, and he cried out: "You want to stop this racket. Your mother won't live a week, and when you get a step-mother here next Spring, she won't put up with any such fooling." When he came home to dinner, his wife met him with a smile, and said: "Isn't ours a cozy home, Richard, with only our own little family to look after?"

A CORRESPONDENT OF THE CHICAGO INTER-OCEAN WRITES FROM NEW ORLEANS.

"Before I came to this city I had an idea that a Creole was a half breed of some race, Cuban, or Spanish, or French, I didn't exactly know which, and I think the Northern people have the same notion, and will be grateful if I correct them before they come down here and show their ignorance, as I did. A Creole is a native Louisiana. Any one who is born here is a Creole, just as any one who is born in Indiana is a Hoosier, and in Ohio, a Buckeye. They don't have dark, pensive eyes and romantic hair. They don't sit on verandas, with their fists against their cheek and a shapely arm bare to the elbow, resting on the balustrade and they don't look off into the gardens of orange trees and bananas, and drooping palms, with alligators crawling over their walks. It is a false misrepresentation, this idea; but I was sorry to have my romance shattered when I found it out."

COUNTRY BOOK PEDDLER TO FOURTH STREET WOMAN.

"Yes, but the work is both instructive and humorous." Woman—"That ain't the point. You see my husband has crippled so many agents, and you're a nice looking young man, and I hate to see you hurt, That's him comin' in the back way." The young man said there was nothing compulsory about it, and was gone.—[Terre Haute Express.

AFTER "UNCLE DANIEL DREW" HAD SUBSCRIBED $200,000 TOWARD FUNDING A NEW METHODIST COLLEGE HE REMARKED TO A FRIEND ONE DAY.

"Well, sir, I didn't know where the money was coming from. I was worried over it, and so made it a subject of prayer. After fasting and praying over the matter for one day I went down on Wall street, and in less than 24 hours I skinned those fellows out of $300,000."

AN AUSTIN MAN WHO WAS FINED $20 FOR SLEEPING ON THE SIDEWALK.

He strolled into a shoe-maker's where an advertisement, "Wanted, a first class bootmaker," appeared on the window, and accosted the proprietor: "Do you want a first class boot-maker, here?" "Yes."

"What do you pay?" "That depends on your capacity. Have you worked on custom work?" "I reckon. You jest try me, Captain; I ain't skored a bit at tryin'?" The proprietor gave him his new hand bench and materials and bade him make a pair of ladies' gaiters. Soon after he left the store on business.

Jonathan made a shoe, but such a horrible affair that, ashamed to show it he hid it in the shavings. Just as he completed the second shoe the proprietor returned. He flew into a passion at beholding the botched shoe. "You confounded rascal, so had a shoe as that has never been made in this establishment!" he exclaimed. "Would you like to bet on that, stranger?"

"Bet. Yes, I bet $10 no such work as that was ever done in this store." Jonathan walked to the shavings, dragged forth his first shoe, and, coolly pocketing his $10, walked off.—[Inland Monthly.

COCONUT CRACKERS.

To one pint "A" oatmeal add one gill fresh grated coconut and one gill and two spoonfuls of water. Roll out to one-eighth of an inch thick, cut into fancy shapes with a cake cutter, and put them into a very slow oven, so that they shall dry rather than bake. Or if the oven cannot be spared so long, let them stand warm elsewhere to dry, and at last put them into the oven a very few minutes, not enough to brown them.

A SCIENTIFIC JOB.

Some time since a stranger arrived in Detroit in order to consult from one to a dozen surgeons about his tongue, that useful member being hampered with a cancer. The doctors took a look at the tongue, shook their heads and said: "Hum—hum—Gathered in solemn council, they agreed that the tongue must come off, or at least about a third of it. They assured the man that they could make a very neat and scientific job of it, and once his tongue got well they could splice it, as sailors splice a rope, and give him as much tongue and as much talk as ever. The patient consented, and the new tongue was in operation yesterday for the first time. The surgeons were jubilant, and they invited our reporter to call round and see the job. He went, he found the patient sitting up, looking pretty fair and willing to give all the information he had about him.

"What is your name?" asked the reporter. "Wholl loll roll loll," was the prompt reply. "Where do you belong?" "Illy lolly bloll, rolly doll," he replied.

One of the surgeons stood by, and he clapped his hands and shouted: "See there! Why that man talks as plainly as you or I! I tell you, it was the nearest scientific job of surgery ever done in this town!"

After a brief discussion with the surgeon on the antiquity and uses and abuses of tongues, the reporter turned to the man and asked: "Did it hurt you much?" "Whilly Twoll lol lol!" he answered. "And how do you like this splicing business?" "Whol flol bil lol!" he said.

"He feels all right, of 'course," chuckled the surgeon. "Why, man, he works that moral principals would prevent him from attending a juggler's performance unless he advertised to give $5 worth of jewelry to every ticket-holder."

The reporter asked him if women's tongues were ever afflicted with cancer, and the surgeon replied that he never heard of a case—they were never at rest long enough for any affliction to take root.

"And you think you can in time manage your artificial tongue, do you?" asked the reporter. "Thl lol lol al whol," answered the man.

"In time!" echoed the surgeon. "Why, you blockhead, isn't he using his tongue now? Can't you understand every word he says?"

The reporter didn't answer, but leaned back and wondered how the splicing was effected. He had a dim idea of boiler rivets, shoe-patch cement water-line and so-forth, and finally asked to see the job. The patient opened his mouth in response to the request, and the surgeon grabbed the

THE GHOST BUSINESS EXPOSED.

Professor Baldwin has told all about all the spiritual mysteries, including that of Katie King. At an exhibition he turned water into wine by simply turning it from a pitcher into a glass.—This was done with chemicals. Then the pillory was brought forward, and Mrs. Baldwin was firmly secured therein. The lock was sealed and the doors were closed. In a few seconds the doors were re-opened, and the lady walked forth free. The explanation is simple. The lady has a small wire with which she picks the lock after first removing the wax, and then liberates herself. There is enough room allowed her arms to reach the lock, though it is seemingly impossible to do so. The seal is easily put over the keyhole of the lock without being broken. The "spirit tie" was then exposed. Mediums profess that the spirits tie and untie them, but the professor explained how by a clever manipulation of the ropes these apostles tie and untie themselves. The professor also said that the "spirit tie" was much more secure than any "committee tie" he ever knew. He then related a little incident of the humbuggery practiced by the Eddy brothers. He was walking in a garden with William Eddy, and his attention was attracted towards a piece of white paper, which was being tossed around by the wind. William said that by simply waving his hand he could get enough electricity from the clouds to set the paper on fire. He then turned to Horatio and told him to place a stone on the paper. Horatio did so, and he turned his eye on the paper and in a moment it was burnt up. The brother Horatio, explained the professor, when he placed the stone upon the paper, poured a drop or so of a mixture of phosphorus and carbon upon the said paper. This, as soon as it became dry, ignited, and the medium called upon Baldwin to view the wonderful spiritual manifestation.

MADE A SAVING.

A man about fifty years of age called at Justice Potter's office yesterday and said that a woman was to be there at ten o'clock to marry him. He sat down and waited until noon without having seen or heard of her, and then said he guessed she had backed out. "Well, I'm sorry for you," replied the Justice. "Yes, I'm kinder sorry, too," said the old man, "but I s'pose I've saved two dollars by her backing out, and maybe I'd have to buy her $15 worth of clothes afore spring!"—[Detroit Free Press.

AB JIM, WHO WAS EXECUTED BY A SHOT IN THE BACK DURING ONE OF THE RECENT BATTLES IN VIRGINIA CITY, HAS BEEN FITTED OUT FOR HIS VOYAGE TO CHINA.

The body was inclosed in a $150 casket, a fan was placed in one hand and a silk handkerchief in the other. In his mouth his mourning relatives inserted a ten cent piece, and placed convenient for his hands some Chinese money. In order that means for amusement might not be wanting, three packs of cards were placed in the coffin, and then the whole was inclosed in a stout pine case. If a corpse cannot make a 6,000-mile journey with such an outfit it is very hard to please.

HEAVY VIII, SO RUNS THE STORY, HAVING QUARRELED WITH FRANCIS I, RESOLVED TO SEND AN AMBASSADOR TO DELIVER A MESSAGE TO THAT MONARCH IN THE MOST MENACING TERMS, AND APPOINTED BISHOP BONNER TO EXECUTE THE COMMISSION.

The Bishop told the king that the embassy would cost him his life. Henry replied that if any harm befell his representative he would instantly cut off the heads of all the Frenchmen in his dominions. "So you may, sire," objected the bishop; "but I fear there is not one of them that will fit my shoulders."

Puget Sound Dispatch.

Seattle, W. T., Jan. 6, 1876. From Daily of Monday.

LOSS OF THE WINDWARD.—The Captain of the bark Windward arrived here on Saturday in a canoe and reported that his vessel had gone ashore in Useless Bay, on Whidby Island and was a total loss.

PRESENTATIONS.—Mr. Otis Freeman, agent of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. was presented on New Year's Day, by some gentlemen, with a handsome ring, as a slight token of the esteem in which he was held by them.

DROWNED AT OLYMPIA.—At an early hour on New Year's morning, while returning on board the North Pacific, Mr. Wm. Patterson, bartender on the steamer named, fell into the bay and was drowned.

BALL.—The ball of the Sing Verein Germania was attended by 85 couples and was a thoroughly enjoyable affair.

RAFFLE.—The first raffle of Mr. W. G. Jamieson, on New Year's, resulted in a tie between Mr. Benson and Mr. Anderson for the choice between the large music box and a $150 gold watch.

LAND SLIDES.—A number of land slides have occurred along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad in the last day or so, preventing the passage of the train and delaying all the mails.

Messrs. Horton & Co. have moved their bank into their new building.

The bark Enoch Talbot arrived here during the night.

- Advertised Letter List. The following is the list of letters remaining in the Seattle Post Office, King Co., Washington Territory, for the week ending Jan. 1, 1876.

MOVED IN.—Kellogg & Thorn-dike and W. G. Jamieson have taken up their quarters in the new Seattle bank, the former gentlemen in the stand fronting on Mill St., and the latter gentleman in the one fronting on Commercial St.

A Trip to Tacoma.

Accepting the kind invitation of Mr. Otis Freeman, the resident agent of the P. M. S. Co., for a trip to Tacoma on board the City of Panama, we went aboard the staunch craft, and during a heavy squall the lines were cast off and we steamed up the bay.

The engines are compound high and low pressure, of 1400 horse power, with super-heating boilers attached. They use the steam twice, thus saving 50 per cent of fuel and are able to make 11 knots with an average consumption of 13 tons of coal per day.

A beautiful New Year's morn greeted our return and helped to enlighten our minds in relation to building a city in no place in particular.

NEW FOUNDRY.

Mr. John Nation has commenced work already on the building for his new foundry, on a lot which he recently purchased near Jones' machine shop.

PROF. HERRMANN.—Prof. Herrmann, the celebrated prestidigitator, telegraphed to this place this morning and chartered the steamer Success to bring himself and troupe down from Tacoma in time for this evening's performance.

HANDSOME CAKE.—On New Year's Day, Mr. L. Reinig presented us with a very handsome frosted fruit cake.

A PRESENT.—Mr. Wm. Meydenbauer, of the Eureka bakery, has presented us with a fine specimen of his choicest fruit cake, for which he has our thanks.

REPLEVIN SUITS.—The case of Gellerson Bros. vs. A. R. Johnson, Thos. Taylor, Charles Stedman and B. Nickerson, suit for repl Levin of logs, is on trial before Justice Smith.

Mr. Abrams is building a very neat story and a half cottage on his lots adjoining the Brown Church.

Among other freight on the barkentine Discovery was a donkey-engine and another lot of railroad iron for the Renton Coal Co.

The schooner Planter, loaded with a quantity of grain and farm produce from Swinomish, arrived here and is discharging her cargo at Busby's mill.

BROOM FACTORY.—The machinery of the broom factory of Mr. Chilberg, arrived here yesterday morning on the North Pacific. Mr. Chilberg has rented one of the small buildings adjoining Hunt's blacksmith shop and will be able to commence work to-morrow.

BEING REMOVED.—The small building adjoining the Intelligence office, formerly occupied as a fish-market, is being removed to make room for another two-story building which Mr. Yessler is going to put up.

From Daily of Wednesday

PROF. HERRMANN.—The steamer Success was unfortunately detained so that Prof. Herrmann and troupe could not get down in time for his advertised performance last night, but he will give an entertainment in Yessler's Hall this evening.

MARINE REPORT.—The Port Townsend Argus publishes the statistics of the commerce of Puget Sound for the year 1875, from which we extract the following figures: The total value of exports to foreign countries was $806,080.

SHIPMENT PER ST. CALIFORNIA.

Ten tons of freight from Port Townsend, brought around on the California, came up last night on the North Pacific.

The delayed mail, the first that arrived since Thursday, came down to Tacoma to-day, on the Alida.

NEW HOUSE.—Mr. J. Crist has commenced building another dwelling house, adjoining the one he put up last Spring, on his lot on Mill St.

BEFORE JUSTICE SCOTT.—The repl Levin suit of Fitzner vs. Crawford & Harrington, a jury trial, resulted in a verdict for defendants.

GRAIN.—The schooner Juanita, loaded with 60 tons of barley and oats from the Stillaguamish, arrived here this morning.

Twelve vessels were built on Puget Sound during the year 1875, with an aggregate of 3,000 tons burthen.

BROWN BREAD.—Hot Boston Brown Bread at the Eureka Bakery every Sunday morning. Leave your orders on Saturday for delivery.

WET FEET.—The rainy season is coming on and George I. Lambert says he has waterproof boots and rubbers of all sizes; also, the celebrated Hersome Gaiter. Call and examine goods before purchasing elsewhere.

British Columbia Items.

From the Colonist. The steamer Maude brought down from Nanaimo yesterday a pole 140 feet long x 14 inches at the butt, which will be forwarded for exhibition at the Centennial.

With the amount of gold dust mentioned as shipped in 1875 include $81,443 additional shipped by F. Garesche in October, and $8,583 additional shipped by the Bank of British North America in October, and we have a total of $2,490,026 as the gold yield of 1875.

The house of a settler at Sooko named West was burned on the night of the 26th ult. West was severely burned about the face, being asleep at the time the fire broke out.

A man named Cain, a sailor of the Valparaiso, was brought before Mr. Fisher, J. P., yesterday, charged with beating and robbing another sailor of the ship Nation's Hope on the Esquimalt road a few days ago.

Mr. E. A. Booth, a successful Cassiar miner, has offered through Mr. W. F. Jones, Principal of the Grammar School, View street, two nuggets as prizes to be given at the next Christmas holidays to the two scholars who may then be most proficient in English.

The City of Panama brought back the mails that left this port by the Dakota on the 11th inst. The bags were delivered at the San Francisco Postoffice where, through the blunder of a clerk, they were placed in a corner with the mails for Victoria, and came home again.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Co. have in their possession at San Francisco a trunk which belonged to D. Wigmore, a passenger on the company's steamship Dakota, on the trip of that vessel on Oct. 31st from this port, and who is supposed to have committed suicide by jumping overboard.

Mrs. C. Garesche, widow of our late esteemed fellow-townsmen, F. Garesche, who was lost on the Pacific, returned yesterday from England, whence she was summoned by telegraph as soon as the fate of her husband had been determined.

THE WAY THEY BACK UP A SHOWMAN IN SAN FRANCISCO.—Last night the wonderful Herrmann introduced a little pugilistic novelty into his performance not supposed to be incorporated in the bill. When the time came to perform the last trick the prestidigitator stepped down into the audience and politely negotiated the loan of a hat. A German sitting in the orchestra circle politely handed the professor of magic his new beaver tile. No sooner had the slight-of-hand performer secured the beaver than he fell down upon it, as if by accident, and apparently smashed it all up until it looked as if Uncle James Ladley had sat upon it.

Immediately the owner of the hat sprang up, terribly excited, and began to expostulate. Herrmann kept up the delusion by tearing the hat all to pieces and throwing it about the stage. Here the rage of the excitable Teuton knew no bounds, and springing angrily to his feet, he began to cane the ledgerman professor in a very lively style. Herrmann, considerably excited, sprang upon the stage, demanding that the man who couldn't appreciate a joke should be ejected. Cries of "Put him out!" rose from all sides, and the audience was terribly excited. Suddenly Herrmann, drawing a pistol, aimed it at his opponent. Here the wildest confusion prevailed, everybody in the vicinity starting up from their seats and rushing to get out of the way. There was a flash and report, and the next instant the startled audience saw the German's hat fall upon the stage as good as ever. Herrmann took the hat, presented it to the man who had laid the cane on his shoulder, and it was received with considerable astonishment, which was perhaps, materially increased by a couple of smarting blows delivered rapidly in the German's face. The confusion now arose again, and the shouts of applause drowned everything. Herrmann put in his blows steadily, and knocked his man over into the next row, from whence he scrambled over the railing into the dress-circle, and made his way toward the door. An usher passed him along the aisle with a kick, the door-keeper whipped him as he went out, the man at the box office gave him a lift, and some of Herrmann's admirers thrashed him on the sidewalk. When he reached Kearney street his hat was indeed a wreck, and the man went home perfectly disgusted with Herrmann's diabolical performance. The performance was brought to a summary close by the unexpected event.—San Francisco Ledger.

RAPID CURE FOR CATARRH.—We find in the last "Annual Record of Science and Industry," a remedy for catarrhal cold which, from its constituents, should prove more or less efficacious. It is given on the authority of Hamilton, who says it will remove the severest affection of the kind in about ten hours. The recipe is as follows: Ten drops of carbolic acid, 7.5 drops of iodine, and the same of chloroform. A few drops of this mixture are to be heated over a spirit lamp, in a test tube, the mouth of which is to be applied to the nostrils as soon as that liquid vaporizes. The operation is to be repeated after an interval of two minutes when the patient will deliver a number of vigorous sneezes, and then his troublesome symptoms will quickly disappear.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE.—One of the most remarkable escapes on record was that of a passenger on the fast express Monday. Soon after the train passed Clariton he attempted to go from one car to another, and the terrible wind actually blew him clean from the platform. The horrified brakeman, who saw the man go overboard, like a leaf in the gale, immediately pulled the signal cord, and the train was stopped, after running about the eighth of a mile. The brakeman sprang from the rear car, and ran down the track with a red flag, when, wonderful to tell, he met the man running to overtake the train, and apparently chiefly troubled lest the passengers should be inconvenienced by the detention. He got on at the rear of the train and made his way quickly to the seat where he had left, and sat quietly down. His wife turned to him and remarked, "Why, they say a man was blown from the train just now?" "Is that so," said he. Presently a number of interested passengers, who had followed him to his place, asked so earnestly after his welfare that the true state of the case dawned upon his wife, and she exclaimed, "Why, was it for you the train stopped?" And he had to tell.—Worcester Spy.

Anecdotes of the late Vice-President are multiplying on every hand. One illustrative of his well-known kindness to soldiers comes from Michigan. A correspondent of the Detroit News writes that in the winter of 1862-3 there was great suffering in a camp of 13,000 convalescents near Alexandria, Va. In response to a petition to President Lincoln, a "quiet-faced" man visited the camp and examined its condition, bringing with him two ambulances, loaded with blankets and provisions. The writer adds: "The quiet-faced man had been making a memorandum of some of the worst cases, and was just departing when a weak voice inquired for postage stamps. 'God bless you, yes,' said our quiet gentleman, 'here's a few, and money to buy more.' A thought seemed to strike him. Producing his wallet he placed in the hands of the sergeant in charge of each division a crisp new $50 bill, for postage stamps, remember, he added, in his cherry way. 'Will be here again, boys, Monday, and will have a different state of things.' Monday came, and with it the quiet-faced man, and a board of surgeons with orders to discharge or furlough every man who was not ready for immediate active duty. New barracks were built, and camp 'Misery Hill' ceased to exist. The quiet-faced man was Henry Wilson."

CLIMATE AND APPETITE.—In Russia, Sweden, and Norway, where prolonged and biting winters necessitate action and large supplies of animal heat, meals are frequent and of great duration. Five hearty repasts per diem, among which dinner is the chief one, are the common allowance in those Northern localities. The principal meal is heralded by a cold collation partaken of en route for the dining-room. In a small anteroom the guests pause before a small table spread with articles creative of appetite and thirst, such as red-herring, sardines, caviare, sharp pickles and arrack, the native whisky. Thus stimulated, a much larger repast is made than would otherwise be possible. When this custom, however, is introduced regardless of climatic requirements, it is prone to conduce to sluggishness as in some parts of Germany. Again, the glowing mother earth and ardent skies of Italy furnish her children with their best preservatives against their combined intensity of heat. Fruits and salads, succulent, refreshing, cooling, form the national breakfast and the chief staple of other meals, being freely partaken of with results which might be much less favorable under a cooler sky. Nature amidst these wondrous adaptations is not neglectful of the needs of animals, as may be briefly instanced by a Norwegian custom. Within the arctic circle, where the winters are a long twilight, and the highlands so barren that people subsist upon bread made from the tender bark of the birch-tree, the cattle are fed upon dried fish caught in those storied fiords, whose waters, the Fortunate purse of Norway, stretch far inland by dusky forests of pine.—Harper's Magazine.

THE EGG DANCE IN INDIA.—A much more pleasing performance, and one which might perhaps better have been mentioned in connection with the exploits of the jugglers, is the "egg dance." This is not, as one might expect from the name given it, a dance upon these fragile objects. It is executed in this wise: The dancer, dressed in a corsege and very short skirt, carries a willow wheel of moderate diameter fastened horizontally upon the top of her head. Around this wheel threads are fastened, equally distant from each other, and at the end of each of these threads is a slip noose, which is kept open by a glass bead. Thus equipped, the young girl comes toward the spectators with a basket full of eggs, which she passes around for inspection to prove that they are real, and not imitations. The music strikes up a jerky, monotonous strain, and the dancer begins to whirl around with great rapidity. Then, seizing an egg, she puts it in one of the slip nooses, and with a quick motion, throws it from her in such a way as to draw the knot tight. The swift turning of the dancer produces a centrifugal force which stretches the thread out straight like a ray shooting out from the circumference of the circle. One after another the eggs are thrown out in these slip nooses until they make a horizontal aureole or halo about the dancer's head. Then the dance becomes still more rapid, so rapid in fact that it is difficult to distinguish the features of the girl; the moment is critical; the least false step, the least irregularity in time, and the eggs dash against each other. But how can the dance be stopped? There is but one way—that is, to remove the eggs in the way in which they have been put in place. This operation is by far the more delicate of the two. It is necessary that the dancer, by a single motion, exact and unerring, should take hold of the egg, and remove it from the noose. A single false motion of the hand, the least interference with one of the threads, and the general arrangement is suddenly broken, and the whole performance disastrously ended. At last all the eggs are successfully removed, and the dancer suddenly stops, and without seeming in the least dizzied by this dance of 25 or 30 minutes, she advances to the spectators with a firm step and presents them the eggs, which are immediately broken in a flat dish to prove that there is no trick about the performance.

Boston, says one of the papers has another new thing. Some "manager" has arranged a series of Wednesday evening sermons, in one of the halls of that city, by eminent preachers from different parts of the country; tickets for the six, one dollar and a half! An organ concert, and congregational choir, and solo singing, the latter by "eminent talent," are among the attractions announced for each evening.

The announcement is made that Geo. Bancroft will write four more volumes of American history. The phraseology of the announcement, however, is rather obscure. The first volume, which is soon to be issued, will comprehend the period between the peace of Paris, 1782, to the inauguration of Washington, 1789. The epochs with which Mr. Bancroft will deal after the first volume are: First, from the inauguration of Washington to the acquisition of Louisiana—1789-1803; second, vindication of the place of the United States among the powers of the world—1803-1815; third, the States and the United States—1815-1837; fourth, the annexation of Texas and California—1837-1849; fifth, secession and Union from 1849.—N. Y. Herald.

An office-holder never gets tired of being pointed out as an honest man. He will stand shivering in the cold, outside a church door, until all the congregation have passed in, sooner than deprive people of the privilege of looking at him.

A newly-married young lady, anxious to conceal her inexperience in culinary matters from her cook, persisted in ordering a leg of mutton for dinner every day. The cook growing weary of the same cooking and the same fare, at last ventured to suggest, "Should you not like some other thing to-day, ma'am?" "Yes, let us have a leg of beef for a change."

The Brooklyn Argus: "Five Dead Men I Have Known," is what Bradlaugh is talking to the American people about. A more intelligible title would be "Five Men I Talked to Death."

Mount Holyoke Seminary is principally devoted to the furnishing of wives for foreign missionaries. It has already furnished 115 of these wives, and the cry is still to the effect that they come. Foreign missionaries will please step forward. Who comes; next under the Holyoke?

THE LOST GARDEN OF EDEN.—Take the Garden of Eden for instance. If Adam had been left alone, ten to one he'd have stayed there till now. All he had to do was to walk up and down the flower paths of Eden, smooch his mild cheroot, and count the animals. Happy man. Blessed existence. And what happened? Why, Eve happened—and that ended it.

I often think of the jolly times those old fools might have had, if they had been contented. No work. Everything handy. Private menagerie in the back yard. All the fruits in their season. No clothes. No weekly bills. No tailors. No patent-bustles. No servants. No crowded cars. No high hats before 'em at the opera. No trade-unions—but, hold on, I guess there was a trade-union, for Cain and Abel were on a strike at a very early period. Come to think of it, however, there was no Cain and there was no Abel till after the fall. The children came in after the desert.—N. Y. Star.

WHAT IS IN THE BED-ROOM.—If two persons are to occupy a bed-room during the night, says Science of Health, let them step on the weighing-scales as they retire, and then again in the morning, and they will find that their actual weight is at least a pound less in the morning. Frequently there will be a loss of two or more pounds, and the average less throughout the year will be a pound of matter, which has gone off their bodies, partly from the lungs and partly through the pores of the skin. The escaped matter is carbonic acid and decayed animal matter or poisonous exhalation. This is diffused through the air in part, and part absorbed by the bed-clothes. If a single ounce of wood-cotton be burned in a room, it will so completely saturate the air with smoke that one can hardly breathe, though there can hardly be one ounce of foreign matter in the air. If an ounce of cotton be burned every half an hour during the night, the air will be kept continually saturated with smoke, unless there be an open door or window for it to escape. Now, the sixteen ounces of smoke thus formed is far less poisonous than the sixteen of exhalations from the lungs and bodies of two persons who have lost a pound in weight during the eight hours of sleeping; for, while the dry smoke is mainly taken into the lungs, the damp odors from the body are absorbed both into the lungs and into the pores of the whole body. Need more be said to show the importance of having bed-rooms well ventilated, and of thoroughly airing the sheets, coverlets, and mattresses in the morning, before packing them up in the form of a neatly-made bed.
