THE SEATTLE & WALLA WALLA RAILROAD.—A special meeting of the stock-holders of the Seattle & Walla Walla Railroad is called for Wednesday evening, to take steps on a proposition to be submitted by the trustees for the building of the road from here to the Renton mines. The proposition is to issue bonds in the sum of $125,000, secured by a mortgage on all the property of the company and on the road, bearing interest at the rate of 11 per cent. per month, payable semi-annually, the bonds to be payable at the expiration of ten years, and to be issued as soon as $60,000 of the amount is subscribed for. The company reserves the right to redeem the bonds at any time. The total amount is sufficient to build and equip the road from here to the mines in a most substantial manner, and it is believed a large proportion of the amount will be raised right here in town among our own citizens.

For Olympia, J. Brannan, Thos. Morehead, Robt. Sweeney, D. McMillan, H. Flynn.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—The body of the man found near Jewett's logging camp was brought up yesterday on the sloop "Ethels," arriving here at 12 o'clock yesterday. Coroner Weed summoned a jury and proceeded to hold an inquest. Four witnesses identified the body as that of the man Hoyle, and after hearing some medical testimony, the inquest was adjourned until 12 o'clock to-day. Evidence was introduced in the inquest this afternoon to the effect that Hoyle had, on one occasion, taken the contract for loading the City of Panama, and had employed Chinamen to do the work, and that threats had been made against him on that account. Mr. Freeman, agent of the P. M. S. S. Co., gave evidence that he had been told by longshoremen that if Chinamen were employed in loading the steamers, they, the Chinamen, would be killed. Other evidence of like import was introduced, but the inquest was not finished at the hour of going to press.

Feb. 2.—Hughes vs. Wyckoff; Colin Chisholm, et al. vs. John A. Sufferin. Feb. 3.—Frank Burke ordered to appear for sentence. Feb. 5.—S. & W. W. R. R. vs. Ernest Lange. By the Court. Feb. 7.—Joel Ketchum vs. Jeremiah Driggs, et al.

NEW BARGE.—A new barge, the "Bessie," the first one ever built at Renton, was launched last week. She is the best one of the many which the Renton Company now own.

RENTON ITEMS.—The railroad from this place to Steel's (a distance of some four miles) was completed, Saturday, Jan. 22d, notwithstanding the many difficulties which the company had to encounter, in order to accomplish this, the most desired of all other improvements. The engine, which was sent back to Seattle for a few days to replace one of the S. C. & T. Co.'s engines, that had been disabled by an unfortunate accident, would be making regular trips between this place and Steel's. Nevertheless, they now ship, daily, about 100 tons of coal, which capacity will be largely increased as soon as their engine is returned. The completion of this road, places this company in a position second to none in Washington Territory.

THE INQUEST.—The inquest on the body of Hoyle was finished yesterday evening. During the inquest 28 witnesses were examined and the greatest diligence used to ascertain all the circumstances connected with the disappearance, but without eliciting any evidence of importance beyond the identification of the body. The following verdict was rendered: We, M. B. Kelly, J. A. Knolop, W. W. Barker, B. R. Freeland, C. L. Mitchell and Gardner Kellogg, jurors summoned to enquire into the cause of the death of Alfred E. Hoyle, being first duly sworn, subscribe the following verdict: That we find the deceased to have been a native of England, about 38 years of age; that we have examined the body; that the said body was found on the beach about 18 miles north of Seattle and within the county of Snohomish; that the body has been identified as the body of the late Alfred E. Hoyle, beyond a question; that he was last seen on Yester's wharf, about 11 o'clock on the night of Dec. 20th, 1875, and that he came to his death on the night of the 26th of December, 1875, from causes to this jury unknown.

A number of overcoats have been stolen within the past four weeks from halls and offices. People should look well to their door fastenings, it being quite evident that a few of the light fingered gentry have made Victoria their abiding place.

U. S. Customs officer Price detected a Chinaman on board the steamer North Pacific last trip in the act of smuggling a large quantity of opium, which had been shipped in tins from this port for distribution at various places on the Sound. When detected the Celestial commenced to throw the contraband article overboard; he was, however, arrested, but on confiscation of the opium, was released from custody by the authorities at Port Townsend.

SITKA AND CASSIAR.—J. H. Carney, Esq., Partner of the steamship California, sends us the following intelligence concerning that vessel's recent trip North: The weather at Wrangel and Sitka has been very cold. On the arrival of the California at Wrangel the packers were feeding their horses on flour and hard bread and had very nearly used that up, there being but about 80 sacks of flour left when feed arrived. A great many of the horses had died through exposure and lack of feed.

A good many miners came down on the California to Wrangel from Sitka, where they had been wintering, intending to go up the Stickeen River on the ice, but the weather being so cold they will not try it for some time yet.

A. Choquette, familiarly known as "Buck," started for his trading post on the 18th inst., but it is thought he will have to return.

The hospital steward at Sitka, charged with theft and awaiting a trial by court-martial, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a pistol.

The Chilcats and Stickeen Indians have entered into a treaty, and the Sitka and Stickeen Indians and now negotiating for the same. This will be a good thing as the above tribes are very powerful, and have been quarrelling together for a long time.

The California experienced rough weather on her up trip; but reports fair weather on her down trip.

A storm raged at Wrangel on the 14th, blowing down houses and demolishing things generally. The old steamer Hope used by a Chinaman as a hotel, was washed from the beach up on the hill side, going through several houses and making the occupants scatter very quickly; Mrs. Davidson barely escaped with her life, saving herself by backing out through the side of a canvas house. The annual masquerade celebrated by the Russians closed on the 15th, and is said to have been very entertaining. It lasted two weeks.

A western journal has the following: "We have seen in one of the papers an article upon the 'Power of Music,' in which the writer tells us how, when he was playing a flute at his parlor window, a toad would come out from under the front step and appear to drink in the melody with an air of rapturous exultation. This must be the man who lived across the street from us. We noticed that toad the other day. He came out when the playing began, but shortly disappeared. He soon returned, accompanied by another toad. The two then went and got the lid from an old blacking box, fixed a string to it, and packed into it their little store of dead flies and things, and three or four small loads of movables, and all their domestic comforts. Then they hitched on to the string and began to move down the street in search of a new residence.

THE MISSING GIRL.—In our issue of the 25th inst. we spoke of the sudden disappearance of Miss Melissa Dodge, from her home near Lebanon, last Thursday, the 20th inst. Up to last evening no tidings had been received as to her whereabouts. Her father was in the city yesterday making inquiries but could get no trace of her. Various conjectures as to her motives in running off, and where she is at present, are made, but none reliable enough to publish.—Albany Democrat.

The bureau of statistics of the Detroit Free Press estimates that "there have been but 128,300 newspaper slurs at pull back dresses up to date." These figures are large, and it is no wonder they inspired the poet to the utterance of these burning words: Oh, let poor woman's clothes alone They're none of your concern; She never makes no fun of your'n Then, why poke fun at her'n?

A few years ago the State attorney of a northern county in Vermont, although a man of great legal ability, was very fond of the bottle. On one occasion an important criminal case was called on by the clerk, but attorney, with owl like gravity, kept his chair. "Mr. Attorney, is the State ready to proceed?" said the judge. "Yes—hic—no—your honor," stammered the lawyer; "the State is not—in a state to try this case to-day; the State, your honor, is—drunk!"

Creditors of Edwin Booth the actor met yesterday and declared a dividend of 5 1/2 per cent.

Boston, Jan. 27.—Details of the robbery of the Northampton National Bank on Tuesday night by masked men state the result was something appalling. The table of securities taken shows a total of $679,400. The bank officers offer a reward of $25,000 for the return of the property and conviction of the burglars. The loss falls comparatively light on the bank, the greater part of the securities belonging to special depositors. The robbers entered the house of the Cashier Whittlesey, bound, gagged, and guarded him for four hours by seven people. They compelled him to give them the combination of the safe vault and waited until they knew the night watchman had gone home. The Cashier when asked to give the three combinations to the vault for the outer, inner and chest doors, gave them wrong twice and thrice, but the burglars wrote the down, made him repeat, then caught him in it and compelled him to give the right combination. At 4 o'clock A. M. he was taken to a down-stairs bedroom and the whole family were gagged, and four burglars withdrew to operate on the bank.

An insurgent reinforcement of 1,000 arriving on the ground at this time. The Turks were cut off and compelled to retreat to Dyna.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Lieutenant General Henry William Stisted, C. B., is dead. He was the first Lieutenant Governor of Ontario under the Dominion.

New York, Jan. 27.—The trial of Joseph Burroughs, in Brooklyn, for the murder of his wife, in progress during the week, was to-day brought to a close. The jury under direction of the court, found him not guilty of the crime because of insanity. He was sent to the lunatic asylum.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 28.—The agent of the Border City Mills just returned from England, reports finding a better market there than in this country, and 25,000 pieces per week will be exported by his mills; 30,000 pieces have already been shipped.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—On opening the defense in the McKee trial this morning, Voorhees, for McKee, announced that no argument would be offered until the evidence was all closed.

Megren was recalled and testified that McKee never paid him money for any purpose whatever. This was intended to nullify Fitzroy's testimony that McKee told him that he paid Megren $2,500 last summer to keep him quiet.

Barnard Engler, a refiner, was presented in direct contradiction of the ex-Deputy Collector Concannon. One of the Government witnesses swore that he and Concannon burned the stub books and notices in the office of the collector of internal revenue on Sunday, when nobody was there but the negro porter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Samson Rosenblatt, was again brought up in the police court to-day, but as the New York officer had been detained by the snow blockade, the examination of the case was continued until Saturday.

It is now believed, in naval circles, since the arrival of the Pensacola, that the Spalding court martial will be called before many days. While no orders have yet been received from Washington, announcing the names of the officers, who shall pass judgment in Spalding's case, a general opinion prevails that Rear Admiral John J. Almy will be president of the court martial. The court martial will convene at Mare Island, but will be asked to hold its sessions in San Francisco, for the convenience of the merchants, who would be called as witnesses.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The President was visited to-day by a delegation from Utah, consisting of O. A. Patton, register of the land office, Gen. Maxwell, U. S. Marshal for Utah, and other prominent gentlemen from that Territory. They particularly desired to arrive at some means by which the crime of polygamy may be reached in the courts, and to this end proposed a revision of the jury law, by which a polygamist shall be excluded as a juror. Under the present system, with Mormon polygamists in the jury box, it is an impossibility to obtain convictions. The church leaders entirely control the ballot among the Mormons, many of whom would vote with the Gentiles, if they would be allowed. The President expressed his sympathy for any movements tending to alleviate the present condition of matters in Utah.

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 28.—It is now believed that the whole amount of losses by the Northampton bank robbery is over $1,000,000, nearly half of which is negotiable.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 28.—A secret meeting of the members of the Legislature opposed to the repeal of the Potter law was held at Madison last evening. Senator Potter and others addressed the meeting. It is stated that there were a sufficient number present to defeat the bill to repeal the law.

A SHAWL-PIN COUGHED FROM THE LUNGE.—About a year ago, Miss Annie Merkel, aged 14 years, a daughter of Mr. John Merkel, then residing at Leesport, Pa., while crocheting, accidentally swallowed a shawl pin, 1 1/2 inches long, which she had in her mouth. A physician was sent for, but the pin could not be recovered. It had lodged in one of the lungs, and eventually much inflammation ensued, which was followed by a chronic cough, attended with considerable expectoration. On Wednesday night last she was attacked with a severe coughing spell, which nearly suffocated her, when suddenly a hard substance was ejected from her mouth which fell on the floor. This was picked up and found to be a piece of the shawl pin, with the head, swallowed a year ago. Shortly after she was seized with another coughing spell, and the rest of the pin was thrown from the lung. The pin had been divided by corrosion.

A wax bit of a boy having been slightly chastised by his mother, sat very quietly in his chair for some time afterwards, no doubt thinking very profoundly. At last he spoke out thus: "Muzzer, I wish pa'd get annuzer housekeeper—I've got tired of seein' you round."

NATURAL PHILOSOPHY.—Yesterday, when a red-faced man, waiting at one of the depots for a train, blew his nose ten or fifteen times with a great echo, a newsboy ran out on the street and yelled: "Come yere, Jim—here's General Grant!"

Jim took a long look at the man and replied: "He's not General Grant."

"He ain't eh?" shouted the first; "well, you just wait and hear him blow his nose again and see if he isn't some big gun or other!"—Detroit Free Press.

FORTY-NINE YEARS IN BED.—An artist fond of subjects for still-life pictures could find all he wanted in the case of William Sharpe, who, according to the Doncaster Gazette, went to bed in 1807, and never got up till he died there in 1856—a still life of forty-nine years passed in a chamber nine feet square, the window of which had not been raised for thirty-eight years. When he was 30 he went one fine morning to church to be married, but his affianced came not, her father, having an invincible repugnance to Mr. Wm. Sharpe as a son-in-law. The mortified bridegroom went home, undressed, got into bed, pulled the blankets over his head, and for forty-nine years obstinately refused to get up and clothe himself, or to do any work, passing the time uninterruptedly in bed. He never was seriously ill during this time. His body was perfectly sound in spite of its great age and abuse, and he was only sick one week before his death.

AN IMMENSE WASH-OUT.—There must have been a terrible freshet in New York in 1873 which the public have heard nothing of. At least such would be the inference from one of the bills allowed by the Canal Commissioners for damages done a man's farm from a break in the canal, in which the State was charged for twelve acres of land washed away and likewise six tons of iron spikes. The bill was allowed. It did not appear what a farmer was doing with so many spikes. He would have been wise had he used them to spike down those twelve acres.—Detroit Free Press.

A man had better have a mill stone or two tied to his neck and be cast into the sea, than to promise to marry a Sweet Home Valley girl and then crawfish.

A youngster in Dixie recently sold a litter of 8 pups for 3 bits. Dog cheap.

HOW A HORSE CAPTURED A WOLF.—Mr. John Davis, a farmer in Sullivan Township, County Grey, owns a horse which has a habit of getting out of its pasture-field. The other night the farmer, as an experiment, tied the horse's fore-feet together, and left him, hoping that his scheme would cure the horse of, or, at least prevent him, indulging in his bad habits.

That night a pack of wolves visited the neighborhood, their howls being plainly heard by the occupants of Mr. Davis' house. In the morning, however, they had disappeared, and the farmer leaving business some distance away, left to transact it. The children, going to school, had occasion to pass by the pasture-field in which was the breachy horse, and remembering the visit of the wolves during the night, they went in to look after the horse's safety. There was the animal, right enough apparently, but standing in a singular position away off in the field. The children approached nearer, and the horse's appearance seemed more strange. At last they boldly came up close, and discovered the cause of the animal's strange condition. A large grey wolf was under his fore-foot, pinned down to the ground, so to speak, by the chain fettering the horse's limbs, and secured in such a way that escape was impossible.

The plucky horse had evidently been attacked by the savage brute, and after a gallant fight he had not only routed his assailant, but managed in this singular way to capture one. No one being around to relieve the horse, he had to hold his captive till Mr. Davis returned—five hours—when the wolf was dispatched, his scalp taken to a magistrate the bonus got for it, and the brave horse treated to an extra feed of oats. With the exception of a few bites on the neck "the horse that captured a wolf" came out of the battle comparatively uninjured.

An Irish doctor lately sent his bill to a lady as follows: "To curing your husband till he died."

Don't tell a married man any joke upon the boys for he'll tell his wife, his wife will tell her sister, and the sister will tell all the rest of the girls.

DISPROPORTION OF THE SEXES.—The proportion of males to females in the population of the German Empire appears to be steadily declining. In 1855 the excess of females over males, in what is now the German Empire, was 348,631, which declined in the following nine years to 313,383, in 1864. At the end of 1866, that is, after the Schleswig-Holstein and Austrian wars, the excess was 471,885. In December, 1871, the effects of the war with France were shown in an ascertained surplus-female population of 755,875. Thus in the 7 years, from 1864 to 1871, the excess of females over males in the German population had increased by no less than fourteen per cent. Although no inconsiderable portion of this loss to the German male population is due to actual slaughter on the battle field, it is undoubtedly caused principally by emigration. Even if emigration could not be checked, it would take more than one generation to restore the proportion between the two sexes in Germany to what it was ten years ago.—Popular Science Monthly.
