Terrible Disaster—Appalling Loss of Life.

Brief particulars of a terrible disaster in the bay of Seattle came from that town. As nearly as we can learn the Fanny Morgan Phelps-Dramatic Troupe, which had been playing in Seattle, had an engagement in Port Madison for Wednesday evening, and chartered the steamer Ruby to carry thither them and their effects. About two o'clock that afternoon they started, running nearly over to Freeport before attempting to cross the Sound to Port Madison. The storm of that day was the severest of the season, and at that hour in the afternoon was most fearful in its violence. Persons on shore, anticipating danger, were watching the Ruby, and they report that while opposite Seattle and two or three miles distant, surrounded by a sea of awful roughness, three toots of the steamer's whistle were given and that, a moment after, she sank beneath the wave. No help was possible, and all must have perished. Of the crew, the dramatic company and passengers there were seventeen persons on board at the time. The Ruby was a propeller of 25 tons measurement, and hitherto supposed to be staunch and seaworthy. Some accident may have occurred to her machinery, but of that we shall probably never know.

To those acquainted in this section it is not necessary to say that the above startling news is the invention of the enterprising editor of the Tacoma Tribune. In fact, no casualty of any description, from wind or storm, ever occurred in the harbor of Seattle, except in the imagination of the same inventive genius. It is true that on the day mentioned the most fearful storm ever witnessed in these parts was raging; that in the midst of the storm the little steamer Ruby left its wharf in this city with the Phelps Troupe on board, bound for Port Madison; that the steamer crossed over the bay to near Freeport before attempting the open channel leading to Tacoma; that when outside of the bay, and near Eagle harbor, about eight miles from Seattle, the steamer blew its whistle twice and disappeared around the point into Port Madison, where boat, passengers and crew were all safely landed. Four truths to one lie is far better than an average with the Tribune in mentioning any matter connected with Seattle and its harbor. Most of its articles in that connection have not even one redeeming fact. It is incomprehensible how so amiable a man as Bro. Prosch could allow his spite to warp Seattle to lead him, even in imagination, to the destruction of a steamboat and the slaughter of seventeen innocent souls. But then, we have the charity to remember, that the humiliation which Tacoma has suffered in view of its utter and hopeless failure and the success of Seattle, has been an awful strain upon the patience of those who had built their hopes upon Tacoma as a rival town.

THE RAILROAD.—The grading of 12 miles of the Seattle and Walla Walla is nearly completed. When the road is put in running order that section, it will connect with the Renton coal mine and the Talbot coal mine. These two mines will guarantee to furnish coal freight to the amount of 300 tons a day, at 50 cents a ton. From this source alone the Railroad would derive a net income of not less than one hundred dollars a day, or $30,000 a year, which would be 25 per cent. upon the cost of the road. To aid in finishing and furnishing this section of the road, the two coal companies named offer to advance $10,000 each. This will leave, as we understand, but about $35,000 to be raised by the railroad company, and as a basis for this, the assets of the company are estimated at about $120,000. It will be very strange, and most conclusive evidence of bad management in this section of the railroad is not completed in the shortest practicable time. When this is done it will be demonstrated beyond peradventure that the road will pay, and thereafter there will be little difficulty in obtaining means to push it forward to final completion. The first successful effort in all enterprises has always been attended with the greatest difficulty. But, without reference to further progress, the completion of this section of the road will be of incalculable advantage to this town, in adding to its material prosperity. The mining and transporting of 90,000 tons of coal a year, worth in the San Francisco market not less than $1,080,000 is in itself no inconsiderable item to be counted in the trade of the town. And in this connection, we may say that the old Seattle Coal Company will furnish for shipment during the next year not less than 60,000 tons, which, at $12 a ton in San Francisco, will amount to $720,000 more making our coal in the San Francisco market aggregate for the year $1,800,000; which is equal in amount to one-half of the entire lumber trade of the Sound. In view of the profit of the investment and the immense public ad-

Puget Sound Dispatch.

Advantages to be gained thereby, we believe there is sufficient enterprise, and we know there is no lack of ability, to complete this short section of railroad speedily.

JUDGE LEWIS IN WALLA WALLA.—In view of the assaults upon the character of our new Chief Justice, soon to become our fellow townsman, it is gratifying to give place to such home endorsements as the following, which we copy from the Spirit of the West:

We cheerfully give space to the resolutions adopted by the Legal Fraternity, upon the occasion of Judge Lewis' promotion to the Chief Justiceship. During our residence in this Judicial District we have carefully watched the course of Judge Lewis, both on and off the bench, and the general result is very flattering to him as a jurist and as a citizen. His decisions, so far as we are capable of judging, have been made with impartial promptness and, we believe, they have all safely passed the ordeal of the Supreme Court, thus practically demonstrating their firm legal foundation. In all public enterprises he has always been among the foremost, lending to them the full measure of his vim and ability. His fearless, outspoken manner has brought him the enmity of some but upon the whole he has earned from the majority of our people the meed of praise. "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Now on this, the 15th day of March, A. D. 1875, the business of the term being disposed of, Hon. James D. Mix, on behalf of the Bar, presented to the Court the proceedings of a meeting of the Bar, held on March 12th, 1875, and asked that the same be entered upon the Journal of this Court, and it was so ordered, which proceedings and resolutions are as follows, to wit:

At a meeting of the members of the Walla Walla Bar, held at the city of Walla Walla, Washington Territory, on Friday, March 12th, 1875, W. A. George Esq., was called to the chair and N. T. Caron was chosen Secretary, whereupon the following Preamble and Resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Hon. Joseph R. Lewis has been promoted to the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory; and

WHEREAS, This promotion necessitates his removal from the First Judicial District to another field of labor; therefore Resolved—

1. That we regard the appointment of the Hon. Joseph R. Lewis to the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory a just reward of merit;
2. That in parting with Judge Lewis we hereby express our appreciation of his many good qualities, both as a jurist and as a citizen.
3. That he carries with him our kindest wishes for his future prosperity in life, whether on the bench or in the walks of private life.
4. That these resolutions be presented to the Judge in open Court, with the request that they be spread upon the Journal.

W. A. GEORGE, Chairman.
N. T. CARON, Sec'y.

GRAND CONCERT.—At the Pavilion, April 1st, for the benefit of the Congregational Church. Tickets 50 cents; children half price.

THE STEAMER POLITKOFKY, Capt. John Libby, arrived from Port Madison on the 25th with 10,000 feet of lumber for John J. McGilvra, and sailed on the 26th towing the Meyer.

FOR THE LADIES.—Just received a fine assortment of Ladies' Furnishing Goods and Fancy Articles. Call and see them at Mrs. Javieson's, Cherry street.

HON. A. A. DENNY arrived at home from Washington on Thursday morning. Though unsuccessful in procuring the Congressional aid asked for our railroad, Mr. Denny is more hopeful than ever of the future of Seattle.

KANSAS SUFFERERS.—In acknowledgment of the contribution of the Baptist Church, of this city, for the aid of the Kansas sufferers, Mr. Coombs has received the following:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15, 1875.
Dear Sir:—Your remittance ($30 cy.) acct. Kansas and Nebraska sufferers, at hand. Please convey to the Pastor of the Baptist Church our sincere thanks for his considerate efforts in behalf of the cause, and accept the same for yourself.

Yours truly,
AARON STEIN,

"LOOK OUT FOR PICKPOCKETS."—Considerable numbers of emigrants are arriving in this city by every steamer connecting with the San Francisco steamers, and it is well known that our town is infested by a gang of petty gamblers, who are on the constant lookout for such customers, to swindle them out of their money by various subtle gambling devices. As soon as a stranger of rural appearance lands upon the wharf he is beset by these gamblers or their capers and by various pretences inveigled, if possible, into some den where he can be robbed of his money by some gambling device. It is disgraceful to our town and not complimentary to our city authorities that measures are not taken to suppress these practices or at least warn strangers of their danger.

REAL ESTATE.—John Leary, Esq., for himself and others, has purchased from H. L. Yealer, the lot on the corner of Commercial and Mill streets, occupied by the Alhambra Saloon, 30 x 60 feet, for $8,000, gold coin. It is understood that the site is intended for a new banking house, but of this we are not credibly informed. We may say, however, that money is now profitably employed by parties paying 18 and 24 per cent. annual interest, and that an increase of banking facilities which would reduce the present rates of interest, would greatly tend to develop the natural resources of the country, which offer splendid inducements to capital and enterprise.

From the Victoria Colonist, 25th. An Equinoctial Hurricane.

FAST DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY!
BUILDINGS UNROOFED AND BLOWN DOWN—VESSELS SUNK OR DISMASTED—RUIN AND DEVASTATION EVERYWHERE!

Yesterday dawned brightly and calmly. The wind, which had raged for several days from every point of the compass had died away during the preceding night, and was replaced with light zephyrs from the south. The sun came out warmly and people as yet met each other on the thoroughfares exchanged congratulations upon the prospect thus afforded of better weather ahead. A few invalids who had been closely confined during all the long hard winter ventured out of door and their well known forms and faces—though shrunken and pinched by the keen suffering they had undergone—were accepted as a bright augury of a near-at-hand Spring. These favorable indications continued until about 11 o'clock, when the barometer quickly showed signs of falling and within an hour sunk to 28.85, an exceptionally low stage. Soon great masses of wind-laden clouds were observed to scurry across the sky, the bright sun and the poor invalids retired from observation and the wind veered from the southwest and gradually freshened until 2 o'clock, when it became what would be called a stiff blow. Gathering renewed vigor at 15 minutes to 3 o'clock it attained the proportions of a gale, and by 3 o'clock a fierce, relentless hurricane, that shook the strongest buildings and caused the destruction of a vast amount of property, broke over the city and vicinity. The mighty wind bore on its pinions heavy rain-charged clouds, which torn into shreds, reached the earth in great sheets of water that drenched the few persons who remained out of doors to the skin in a moment. The wind came in great long gusts, that roared and shrieked, and then swept on to continue their madcap career elsewhere, to be followed in quick succession by other gusts equally strong and vicious. Soon the effects of the pitiless pelting upon buildings, fences, &c., became apparent. Among the first structures on Government street to succumb was the verandah in front of the old Postoffice, which came down with a crash, crushing in part of the front of the next building, and creating a panic in the glass market. Next followed the tin roof of Carswell's Block on Fort street, owned by Mr. Lowenberg, which was rolled up like a scroll and deposited in the next lot, breaking the telegraph line and exposing a stock of valuable goods belonging to Oppenheimer Bros. to damage from the rain. Next the glass doors of the present Custom House were driven in and the Collector and his clerks driven out. About the same time the lumber piled in Sayward's and Moody & Nelson's yard became instinct with motion and about 20,000 feet waltzed away in company with Old Boreas. In some cases inch planks were caught up, whirled in the air and broken like pipe stems, and the lots for several blocks are covered with them. The schooner, Industry, Capt. Jones, which arrived the day before from Nannaimo with a cargo of coal for Capt. Clarke, was lying at Rhodes' wharf alongside the bark Clifton. The schooner sunk at her moorings at 3 1/2 o'clock, Capt. Jones narrowly escaping with his life. The Clifton was chafed against the wharf, but sustained no damage. The Otter and other steamers escaped injury. About this time the sea rolled into and across the harbor in great waves and broke with a thundering roar upon the beach, threatening destruction to any small craft that might venture upon its bosom. The roof of the Occidental Building and a part of the fire-wall were carried away at 4 o'clock, and a tremendous crash in the vicinity of the new Postoffice revealed the fact that Heathorn's verandah and fire-wall had gone by the board, crushing in part of Nuttall's building. A chimney from Schli's furniture warehouse next fell, crashing through into Fawcett & Co.'s workshop.

Puget Sound Dispatch.

A man passing Heathorn's was struck on the back by a flying brick and severely but not dangerously bruised. Denny & Spencer's, Rickman's and several other shop fronts on Government street were driven in. A large frame building on Langley street, rear of the Colonist office, was leveled with the ground. A whitehall boat lying on Davies' wharf was carried clear across the slip to Brodick's wharf, crushed and then sent overboard to bob helplessly up and down among yeasty waves. An historical oak tree, a last remnant of the old Fort yard and the only relic of a dense forest which once occupied the site of the city, beneath the friendly shade of which the Hudson Bay Company's officials were wont to recline in the pristine days of the Province, was uprooted and broken into kindling wood. Near Rhodes & Co.'s warehouse on Store street, a frame building had been occupied by a man who made quite a lucrative living by collecting sawdust, drying and selling it to saloon-keepers for their floors. The wind seized this frame building in its arms, toyed with it a few minutes and then tore it into fragments. The imprisoned sawdust made its escape in a great cloud, and was scattered in every direction. Persons walking up town and observing the dense cloud of sawdust approaching imagined that Walkem & Co. were engaged in their favorite game of throwing dust in people's eyes. The chimneys of Reid's Block toppled over like Linepins, and Mulhead & Mann's shop front was only saved by the timely application of strong braces.

The roof of the H. B. Co.'s tin-shop was lifted off and deposited on Wharf street. The side of California Saloon was torn down and Waddington alley is filled with debris. But it is useless to attempt to describe in this issue all the damage inflicted in the city by this hurricane, of which no parallel has been known since 1856, when men and animals were carried off their feet and great trees were snapped like sticks of macaroni. Chimneys, fences and firewalls are down in every direction; but we are happy to say that no loss of life has resulted, so far as we can hear. We fear that the country has suffered great damage.

Mr. Teirney reports his new barn at Oakland farm, worth $400, a wreck, and farm fences are down in all directions. The timber has suffered severely.

From Esquimalt we hear of the destruction of Mr. S. Nesbitt's building, valued at $1,000, which was occupied by Mr. Tugwell, and of damage to several other buildings. The bark Stella, which went ashore in Esquimalt harbor on Sunday and was got off on Monday, dragged her anchors yesterday and the masts had to be cut away to save the ship. The S. S. Moberg was exposed to the full fury of the gale, and did not arrive last night.

ADDITIONAL.
When Heathorn's front fell, Messrs. Courtney and Trague were conversing together near it and were struck by the falling brick and slightly hurt. Mr. Chas. Hayward's new house on Fort street was knocked out of position. The Cathedral suffered the loss of two chimneys and a window, the Reformed Episcopal Church lost much plaster, and the Synagogue is minus part of its roof. The damage done in town cannot be estimated at present.

THE NEW CURRENCY BILL.—The bill for the resumption of specie payment, which passed both Houses of Congress, provides:

First—A redemption of legal tenders, and a resumption of specie payments, four years hence, on the first of January, 1879.

Second—Free banking, in the widest sense of an unlimited issue of National Bank currency.

Third—A withdrawal of 80 per cent. of the amount issued in new bank currency from the volume of greenbacks, until the amount of $300,000,000 for United States notes is reached.

Fourth—A substitution of small silver coin for fractional currency.

Fifth—An abolition of the mint charge.

BERNARD BROWN: EDITOR. Seattle, W. T., April 1, 1875.

THE WEATHER.—The present month of March has been the roughest and most disagreeable month we have experienced upon the upper Pacific Coast during a residence of eight years.

JASPER JOHNSON HEARD FROM.—Among the recent Senatorial confirmations we find the name of Jasper W. Johnson, Internal Storekeeper for the Third District of Ohio.

A lady once consulted Dr. Johnson on the degree of turpitude to be attached to her son's robbing an orchard. "Madam," said Johnson, "it all depends upon the weight of the boy."

SAVINGS END IN WEALTH.—Everybody knows the correctness of the views given here below, yet in a thousand years from now the same remarks will be equally applicable.

Let clerk and tradesman, laborer and artisan, make now and at once a beginning. Store up some of your youthful force and vigor for future contingency.

A HARD DRINKER.—During the trial of a case before Judge Lindley, of Circuit Court No. 4, recently, the following colloquy occurred between counsel and witness, so says the St. Louis Republican:

Question—You are a drinking man I suppose? Answer—Well, I take a drink sometimes. Q.—How often? A.—Sometimes twice a day, sometimes five or six times and sometimes twenty-five or even fifty times a day; but no man ever saw me drunk.

Q.—Did you ever take more than fifty drinks in a day? A.—I have taken as high as seventy-five drinks a day, but I never got drunk. Q.—When you were taking seventy-five drinks a day was that the time you were employed at this stable? A.—Yes, sir.

AFFECTING SCENE IN A PHILADELPHIA COURT.—Yesterday, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, there was an affecting scene. Sarah Huhn, a delicate looking woman and her young daughter, who gave the name of Fayette Bowen, were arraigned for the larceny of four yards of cloth from the store of Isaac Shivers.

WOMEN IN COLLEGE.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes to the journal in regard to the effect of co-education of the sexes, and the result of study upon the health of women, as seen in the experience of the college at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

A gentleman owned a farm in New Jersey. It had been long in the family. Embarrassments had compelled him to sell and the farm was put up at auction.

When Caleb Cushing wishes to be particularly agreeable to the King of Spain, he puts the little fellow on the head and gives him his watch to play with.

An exchange gives this enlorg pronounced over the body of a deceased Tennesseean. "That lays a man who'd give his last char to a starving stranger, and then pay him for spitting." A great and good man certainly.

The Observer gives the following scene on the cars not many miles from Utica: Enter a lady, who addresses a well-known railroad official—"Mr.—do you think Mr. Beecher is guilty?" "Guilty of what, madam?" Exit lady, suffused with blushes.

A SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT.—The Brooklyn Argus says: Girls hearts now-a-days get tough early, and the young man who breaks one feels as proud as if he were born to occupy a glass show case in the Patent Office.

The Augusta, Ga., Constitutionalist relates the following incident of the Zachary Taylor campaign: Gov. Wise and a friend were canvassing Virginia, the friend for, and Governor against, Taylor. The Governor contemptuously alluded to old Zach, and frequently called him "Old Ignorance," whose speeches were written by his son-in-law Bliss.

A peculiar libel case is to be tried before the Chester County (Pa.) Courts. A William Benner posted a notice on his property forbidding a neighbor named Lewis H. Hammond, or his family, from trespassing on his grounds.

THAD STEVENS AS A POKER PLAYER.—I wonder if Schenck didn't learn poker from Thad? Thad was a famous player and many a "night session" has been held in his modest little house near the Capitol over that charming game, only interrupted when the players were sent for to give their votes.

They got up a surprise party on Thursday night last on a young married couple, at whose house on Sheldon at a similar affair was one of the successes last season. The conspirators were met calmly but cordially at the gate by the husband, who rested on his shot gun, while his beautiful and accomplished wife, whose face and form were visible inside the porch, said she was glad to see them, but she didn't think she could hold the bulldog back more than a minute longer! Chicago Tribune.

How IS THIS FOR PEDIGREE.—A very searching investigation was carried on a few years ago, in the north of England, by two families who were searching up their respective ancestry. The strife was great between them, each one determined to look back to antiquities rather than the other.

On the gang-plant leading to the deck of the ark two men were seen rolling up a large box, on one side of which was painted in large letters: "Belias, insignia, and papers belonging to the Spencer family."

GRASSHOPPER STEFFERS.—A letter from Dakota relates the following: On Monday of this week a woman about forty years old came to me and asked whether I had any seed wheat to give away.

A MODEL LAWYER.—Squire Johnson was a model lawyer, as the following anecdote will show: Mr. Jones once rushed into the Squire's office in a great passion.

All over the continent of Europe the water is bad, and it would seem as if nature had provided a special wine for every district to make up the deficiency; and yet, strange to say, while everybody drinks it, I have not seen an intoxicated man in France.—Porney's Letter to the Philadelphia Press.

There is probably but one woman connected with Plymouth Church that Beecher hasn't kissed—that is Mrs. Beecher. It was a narrow escape, for she, too, might have fallen, had she yielded to one of those proxymal kisses.

A young man wrote to a paper asking whether it would be advisable for him to marry a "young and tender angel who had never done her own washing and darning." In reply, the editor advised him to do so by all means, and mentioned a similar case in his own experience, where the bride had never done her own washing, but after marriage she became so fond of the wash-tub as not only to work for her own family, but for several families among her acquaintances.

General Burnside receives a cordial welcome to the United States Senate from the Xenian Torchlight. It says: "We feel proud of him as a former Xenian. He once sat upon the bench in this city—sat cross-legged, and stitched, and stitched. The General did his work well then as he always has since."

AN INDIAN IN LOVE WITH VINNIE REAM.—There is a certain Colonel here who represents the Cherokee nation in the lobby. He is certainly enamored of the fair Vinnie. Miss Sculp allow me to present Mr. Sculp—child of art—child of art—child of nature! I don't know whether we are to have another Parker affair; but certain it is, Vinnie cannot go into her milliners to purchase a whalebone for her corsets, but the red man is on her trail. The day I saw the fair pale face patching up Farragut, the dusky brave was there. I tell you Cooper should have lived to see the "Indian of the falcon glance and lion bearing" gazing with eagle eye on the child of his white brother. As she straightened out the Admiral's nose and took a reef in his nether garments, a pure prayer went up from the dark bosom of the Cherokee to the Great Spirit that he might incline the heart of the white fawn towards him. It was too much for me. I went out and indulged in some fire-water.

COOL.—The Denver News records this incident: A man was about dying in that city, and an acquaintance sent the following dispatch to his wife, who was in Chicago: "Your husband is dying, come quick." She coolly replied: "Can't go now. If he dies, hand him over to the Masons; he's one of them." The man died. The woman has not been heard from since.

YOU ARE HEREBY REQUIRED TO APPEAR in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding Terms at the City of Seattle, in and for the County of King, Kitapo and Snohomish.

THE TREASURER OF KING COUNTY IS prepared to pay all outstanding County Orders (interest included) issued between May 1st, 1874, and the 1st day of March, 1875. All orders within the above dates, which are not presented within four weeks from the date of this notice, will cause to draw the same.

WHEREAS THE COMMISSIONER OF General Land Office, in letter dated July 8, 1874, ordered that the lands in township 23 North, range 6 East, in the district of lands subject to sale in Olympia, W. BY AN ORDER OF THE PROBATE COURT OF KING COUNTY, W. T., made on the 12th day of February, A. D. 1875, I was appointed administrator of the estate of James C. McKay, late of said county, deceased.

Brasser's Son Claudius.

Mr. Brasser, who lives on Ninth avenue, has a son about twelve years old, named Claudius, and the other evening this boy received permission to allow a neighbor's boy to stay all night with him. The old people step down stairs in the sitting room, and the boys were put into a room directly above. When they went up to bed Claudius had the clothes-line under his coat, and the neighbor's boy had a mask in his pocket. They didn't kneel down and say their prayers like good boys and then jump into bed and tell their stories, but as soon as the door was locked the Brasser boy remarked: "You'll see more fun around here to-night than would lie on a ten-acre lot!"

A bride in Indiana, after the conclusion of the marriage ceremony stepped gracefully forward and requested the clergyman to give out the hymn: "This is the way I long have sought." There are young men who cannot hold a skein of yarn for their mothers without wincing but will hold 125 pounds of a neighboring family for the best part of the night, with a patience and docility that are certainly phenomenal.

A MATRIMONIAL AGREEMENT. - The following copy of an agreement, prepared in 1846, by a woman who wanted to live happily with her troublesome husband, is published in the Knoxville Press and Herald: You do solemnly swear that you never will beat or abuse me without greater provocation than I have given you; that you will not debar me from going to see my connection and neighbors when opportunity permits nor them from coming to my amusement or assistance in sickness nor health; that you will not be against going with me to meeting or for me to go on the same terms; that you will never throw up what has been passed in anger; that you will provide house room handy to winter, and stay there; that you will not move me out of the settlement without my consent; that you will not provide things to work on an with; that you will not treat me with the hard hip, flout or wound my feelings as you have done, but perform the duties of husband and try for a living in peace on all sides. I do most solemnly swear I will not throw up what has been passed in anger; that I will not flout nor wound your feelings without cause, that will perform the duty of a wife as far as health and reason will admit. I will treat you with kindness while you do me, and try for a living in peace on all sides.

Massachusetts, 1820. He was chosen President, but declined to serve on account of his advanced age. Ex-Presidents Madison and Monroe were members of the Virginia Constitutional Convention, 1820. It is said that Mr. Monroe officiated as Justice of the Peace in the locality where he resided. Ex-President John Q. Adams was seventeen years a member of the House of Representatives at Washington after he retired from the Presidential chair. President John Tyler was a member of the celebrated Peace Conference which met at Washington in February, 1861, to see if some measure could not be adopted which would avert a civil war. These are the only precedents for the re-appearance of Ex-President Johnson in the political field.

It is said that kerosene and rats have no affection for each other. The kerosene is not particularly sensitive, but rats are, and refuse to live, so it is said, in the same cellar or shed where kerosene is kept. A great quantity of kerosene is not necessary, as they only require a steady odor of it for a brief season to be looking up another boarding house.
