TO MEET THE PRESSING WANTS OF many persons on Puget Sound needing Medical and Surgical aid, and for comfortable rooms, good care and moderate prices, I have fitted up a Hospital, where every convenience and comfort will be provided in connection with experienced and skillful Medical and Surgical attendance.

We aim to make this a permanent Institution, and to give special attention to cases of fracture and injuries of all kinds that are constantly occurring in the saw mills, coal mines and logging camps surrounding us.

Seattle being centrally located, with regard to these interests, and more accessible than any other point, we mean with the aid of these advantages, and by giving personal and thorough attention to its entire management, to build up an Institution indispensable to the sick and disabled who have no homes, and worthy of their confidence and that of the public.

The Hospital is in a pleasant and healthy location, the rooms neatly and cheerfully furnished.

FROM DAILY OF THURSDAY.

BORN.—In Olympia, W. T., May 21, to the wife of Hon. John P. Judson, a daughter.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of Levy Bros. in another column. These gentlemen are now the only manufacturers of Soda water, etc., in the city, and are doing a rushing business. They also deal in Oregon Champagne Cider, London Ale and Porter, and Beer.

JUST ARRIVED.—M. A. Kelly & Co. are just in receipt of the finest line of pure drugs, perfumeries and fancy articles that ever came to this market, direct from J. D. Porks & Son, Cincinnati, Ohio. Give them a call and see for yourselves.

POST OFFICES AND MAIL ROUTES.—The post-offices of Washington Territory in 1868 were 68 in number; in 1870, 77; in 1872, 109; in 1875, 155—an increase in seven years of 135 per cent. The increase in the number of Oregon offices during the same time was from 129 to 267—108 per cent. Our Territorial mail routes aggregated a length of 1,617 miles in 1868; 1,678 in 1870; of 3,020 in 1875. Oregon's routes in 1868 extended over 2,101 miles, and in 1875 to 5,154.

Mrs. Stuart, Chairman of the Board of Immigration, has issued a large edition of a circular, suggesting in small compass the varied attractions of the Territory as a field for enterprise and a home for the homeless. They are to be distributed at Philadelphia during the Exhibition.

THERE are more than one hundred girls in Portland, between the ages of 14 and 24 years, who earn a precarious livelihood by sewing. Their wages are from $4 to $8 per week, and they labor from 7 o'clock in the morning until 11 and 12 o'clock at night.

COMMUNICATION WITH BRITISH COLUMBIA.—Our County Commissioners did a praiseworthy act, at their recent session, in instructing the Auditor to correspond with the Commissioner of Public Works of British Columbia with the view of enlisting that functionary's co-operation with the people of Whatcom County in their efforts to connect Bellingham Bay with the Fraser River Valley. It is proposed to British Columbia to extend the Fort Hope and New Westminster post road to a point on the boundary line, near Sunas Prairie, to intersect the Whatcom and Nootsack road that is now approaching completion to that line. The mutual benefit to both sections from the completion of an enterprise of this character cannot be over-estimated, as it will afford a cheap and convenient route of inter-communication for the travel and traffic that is unmistakably fast developing in this direction.—B. B. Mail.

The steamer City of Panama does not stop at Seattle on her downward trip. She goes to Departure Bay to take in coal.

The McGibeny family gave a concert in Sacramento on the 10th inst. The Record-Union says of them: The six children are interesting in their singing from the excellence of training observable, and from the rather singular fact that all the children of one family should show such aptitude for music, all singing well, and each one playing upon some standard musical instrument. The entertainment they gave, while not of a high order, is very pleasant and entertaining.

A LARGE Potter cylinder press for the Intelligencer office was among the freight of the City of Panama.

On Sunday last a young lad, son of Mr. Sam Smith, who resides near Elma, Chehalis County, was severely hooked by a cow. It appears that while the cow was madly chasing a dog, the latter took refuge behind the boy. As the cow was in close pursuit, the dog had hardly dodged behind the boy when the infuriated beast lowered her head and gored him on the neck, just beneath the jaw, so severely that for a time it was feared he had received a fatal injury. He is now improving, and will probably soon recover.

Charter engagements are reported to the amount of 97,000 bushels of grain from this market; 11,900 from Philadelphia and 34,000 from Baltimore. The unanticipated activity attributed among grain merchants to the combined influences of two causes, prospects of war in Europe and the rise in the gold premium.

SALONICA, May 28.—Four more Turks who took part in the murder of the Consul have been sentenced to death, and thirteen were sentenced to various terms of penal servitude—some for life.

A SAD INCIDENT AT THE FLOODS.—The floods, which have caused so much havoc among property in New England, fortunately caused but little loss of life compared with the fatal results of similar events. One of the saddest incidents in connection with the late disasters occurred at Taftsville, Conn. It becomes necessary to strengthen the approach to the west side of the dam, and men and material were ferried across the river in a boat at a safe distance above the dam. Two trips had been made, and George Blackman, a young man about twenty-five years old, was returning alone.

While he was crossing, a great mass of beams and timbers from the rains above floated down the river and closed about the boat. He tried desperately to escape from it while it bore him steadily toward the dam, but he was so surrounded that he could not. He struggled terribly till within a hundred feet of the fall, and then dropping his oar, rose to his feet. The helplessness of his situation was plain, but he made no sign, and as the boat yielded to the impetus of the swifter current near the brink, he gave no cry. The boat shot over the dam, he still standing erect, and both were lost in the furious waters beneath. The boat re appeared farther down the stream, but the man who met his death so bravely was never seen again. To add to the horror of the scene, his wife, standing with hundreds of spectators on the shore, was a witness of all the horrible tragedy. Mr. Blackman was a man of fine character and highly esteemed. He had only recently married, his wife being a daughter of Rev. R. P. Stanton, of Greenville.

A NOBLE WOMAN.—A wealthy lady of New York has signalled her name and done her sex a lasting honor by an act of beneficence which can scarcely be overpraised. Tourists ascending the Hudson river have observed on the high banks at West Point a commanding structure, which has been pointed out to them as Cozzen's Hotel; and visitors to this classic region have not failed to sojourn for a period within its walls. A short time since its popular proprietor died, and since that time the hotel has been unoccupied, no suitable successor having been found. Now, however, a change comes over its destinies. It has been purchased by the lady to whom we have referred, to be converted into a hospital, or sanitarium rather, for convalescing patients in the New York hospitals—those who are recovering from fevers or other illness.

PEOPLE WHO ADVERTISE.—The Boston Post says: People who advertise are smarter than those who don't, better looking, too, nice to ten. This is natural if not logical. Advertising is an indication of intelligence and looks. At all events the world believes in those who advertise, and it plants its dollars in their pockets. Such are live people and in these days nobody wants anything to do with any but your live men and women. Our advice to everybody—except in matrimony—is to advertise. It is sure to return largely, increase your reputation as a business man, make hosts of friends, and add to the number of ahrewd and sensible people in the world, of which there has never yet been an overstock.

URBANITIES OF TRAVEL.—As the train stopped for ten minutes, and that individual who goes along tapping the wheels with his hammer was passing rapidly by the smoking car, one of the windows was hoisted and a torrent of tobacco-spit was ejected which completely deluged him. The machinist paused for a moment, and wiping some of the streams from his person, said to the offender: "Mister, what part of the country did you come from?" "Me?" said the spitter, puckering his lips for another expectation. "I came from Kansas."

"I thought so," said the machinist, "for if you had lived in Massachusetts, or Connecticut, they would have had a water-wheel in your mouth long ago.—Boston Bulletin.

A good mother was trying to explain to a young hopeful the other day about fighting against the devil. After telling the little fellow who the devil was and how hard he was to resist successfully, he turned round and said: "Mamma, I'd be scared of the old devil, but if I was to come across one of his little devils I'd knock the stuffing out of him."

THE REIGN OF CRIME.—The Territorial Legislature, at the last session, enacted a law legalizing lottery gambling in this county, for the ostensible purpose of "aiding in the construction of a wagon road across the Cascade Mountains." Under this act the County Commissioners of the County assumed the right to license the practice of gambling devices which bear no relations whatever, to the terms of the law. Here gambling has been made a public pursuit under the color of law, and those to whom the enforcement of the law is entrusted acquiesce in it. The natural consequences of such a system have followed: gambling of every kind, is carried on with impunity; the town has become the resort of professional gamblers, sharpers, pick-pockets and burglars, of every grade. Why not? Why not on officials license gambling, who shall say that it is a crime to pursue the same calling on private account. Is it not natural that the desperate characters who live by preying upon the community should regard a place where such practices are legalized and tolerated as the paradise of thieves, and resort to it for the purpose of playing their vocation. The County authorities, by a perversion of a legislative act, license gambling hells; the city authorities in view of this outrage upon public decency, refuse or neglect to enforce the law against gambling hells of a more private and hence a less demoralizing character, which carry on business without the license of the County Commissioners Court, and the thieves who consort in these places, naturally and logically resort to picking-pockets, burglary and highway robbery, without license from the Commissioners; though we are not at all certain that they could not obtain such license by applying for it. Our town is literally overrun by these desperate characters; their characters, their vocations and their identity is publicly recognized. Hardly a night passes that some desperate crime is not committed. On Saturday night no less than three of our citizens in different parts of the city were assaulted by foot-pads, and Mr. J. R. Robbins was knocked down with a deadly weapon, seriously wounded and barely escaped with his life. We have a City Marshal, an organized police and night-watchmen all under pay, but very rarely an arrest of any offender, notwithstanding the frequency of crime. It would be better for the city to make such terms with the thieves and robbers as the County Commissioners have with the lottery gamblers—to license them to pay their vocation for ten per cent. of their accumulations—then to pay a police force for doing nothing.

The remedy for these evils are within the purview of the law, and it requires only faithful officials to make that remedy effective. The same Legislature which passed the lottery act, passed a vagrant act, the first section of which reads as follows:

"That the following persons are vagrants: All persons who tell fortunes, or where lost and stolen goods may be found; all common prostitutes, and keepers of bawdy houses or houses for the resort of prostitutes; all habitual drunkards, gamblers or other disorderly persons; all persons wandering about and having no visible calling or business to maintain themselves; all persons going about as collectors of alms for charitable institutions under any false or fraudulent pretenses; all persons playing or betting in any street or public or open place, at or with, any table or instrument of gaming at any game or pretended game of chance."

Is there a peace officer in this city who could not, at any hour of the day or night, put his hands on scores of persons described in the above section as vagrants? If there is any such, he is certainly not fit for his position. The duty of such peace officer is made imperative by the third section of the same act, as follows:

"All peace-officers shall arrest any vagrant whom they may find at large, and take him before some Justice of the Peace of the county, city or town, in which the arrest is made."

If this law was enforced judiciously—not oppressively—our city would soon be relieved of its greatest pest. But if our police will not or cannot do anything, the law-abiding citizens may be forced to take this matter into their own hands, and organize outside of the law for the protection of their own lives and property, and that dernier resort is almost as much to be dreaded as the evil sought to be remedied. But it is better that a hundred vagabonds should be hung upon our lamp-posts than that one business man like J. R. Robbins should be murdered upon our streets.

DARING ROBBERIES.—Our little city now has the honor of being the headquarters of a gang of foot-pads and highway robbery is getting quite common. Two cases of this kind occurred on Saturday night in one of which Mr. Jas. R. Robbins was the victim, and in the other Mr. Jud. Andrews, a young tyro in the Intelligence office. As Mr. Andrews was returning home about 12 o'clock at night, he was stopped on Third st. by two men one of whom stood over him with a revolver and large knife, while the other one went through his pockets. Their search resulted in the discovery of a broken bladed jack-knife and a printer's rule, which they kindly allowed him to retain.

FIRE.—About 12 o'clock last night the old vacant building on the corner of Main and Third streets known as the Collar & Elbow, and formerly occupied by Tom Osgood's saw dance house, took fire and burned to the ground, together with a couple of old rookeries adjoining it. Bells were rung all over town, and quite a crowd assembled, but no effort was made to put the fire out. Suspensions are very generally entertained that it was of incendiary origin, and was started for the purpose of enabling the gang of thieves now working this town to make a raid on dwellings in the upper part of the city. If this was their object, they were unsuccessful, for we have heard of no such attempt having been made.

Puget Sound Dispatch.

Telegraphic

PHILADELPHIA, May 23—There were 12,400 paying visitors present yesterday, and about the same number to-day.

HAVANA, May 23—The mail steamer has arrived from Vera Cruz. She brings no Mexican news. The papers here and the passengers say that for four days before the steamer sailed no railway trains and no correspondence of any kind had been received from the capital, all communications being interrupted. The rebellion seemed to be assuming alarming proportions. It was reported that the President of the Supreme Court had gone to the United States, and that Lerdo is preparing for the sale of his property in case of disasters.

CONCORD, N. H., May 24—The Republican State Convention to-day passed resolutions leaving delegates uninstrued and untrammelled.

NEW YORK, May 24—Gold closed at 12 1/2 @ 12 3/4.

The defeat of Jay Gould in the Pacific Mail Company war is generally credited to Rufus Hatch, who is freely congratulated by Wall street on his success. The further action of the Pacific Mail Company is still a subject of much solicitude, although the recent events release it from the control of the Union Pacific Railroad.

An engagement is reported near Las Cruces, Cuba, lasting all day, between the Spanish forces and insurgents, the latter being victorious. The Spanish loss is said to be between 1,000 and 1,500.

WASHINGTON, May 24—The President sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of Edward T. Beale to be Minister to Austria.

LONDON, May 24—Cotton mills at Preston have commenced running on short time and it is rumored others will follow. The cause is decline and irregularity in prices, and depression and uncertainty of markets. It is stated that prices are at present lower than for 30 years with two brief exceptions, and the prospects are discouraging.

MADRID, May 24—The Cronista news papers assert that the Spanish administration in Cuba is negotiating with some English houses for a loan of 50,000 pesetas, and guaranteed by custom's revenue of the Island.

Senor Salaverra, minister of finance, has ordered a million of reals to be sent to Cuba to pay troops there.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Dispatches from Panama state that peace has been proclaimed between Guatemala and Salvador. The army of Salvador has surrendered at discretion. Valle, late President of Salvador has embarked for San Francisco. Dollos Rafael Ladivar has been proclaimed President of Salvador.

OTTAWA, May 24.—A boat containing 8 men capsized on Madowaki river yesterday and two were drowned.

RAJAH, May 24.—The latest intelligence of the insurgents' camp indicates that in consequence of the improved position which has resulted from their recent victories the insurgents cannot be satisfied with the concessions which they demanded at the conference with Baron Radich. They now demand absolute independence of Herzegovina and Bosnia, and scout the idea of an armistice. They are actively preparing to proclaim a provisional government.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24—Legal tenders—89 @ 89 1/2 buying, 89 1/2 @ 90 selling.

ROME, Italy, May 24.—A meeting of Cardinals has been held, at which the Pope was present. The position of the Church toward Spain was considered; it was resolved that the relations with the Spanish Government should not be formally suspended on account of the adoption of the toleration clause of the new Constitution, but that the nuncio at Madrid should be granted in place a leave of absence. [Here the line broke. OPERATOR.]

WANTED IT STRAINED.—A tall, grunting individual, who at first and last glance would be taken to belong to the noble brotherhood of bull-punchers, walked up to the bar in a Main street saloon and, laying down a smooth quarter, called for whiskey. The bartender set out the bottle, and the customer, crossing his legs, placing the fore-finger of his left hand firmly on his coin and grasping the neck of the bottle with his right hand, asked: "Is this here stuff strained?" "Strained!" said the barkeep, with an astonished look, "strained of what?" "Look a' here, mister," returned the ox-manager, "I've got an agid mother back in Missouri; I cum out here to make a stake for the old gal, and I hain't got it yet. Besides, I was brought up relijus, and my old marm told me never to die till I was prepared to face the music; I ain't prepared to die; and what I want to know is, if the snakes is strained out of them air whiskey."

A TEXAS CATTLE MAN.—An old Texas cattle man named Seibert proved a very rough customer for a pair of hungry thieves to deal with. He had sold his drove in Chicago and pocketed $7,000 as the proceeds. A couple of railroad thieves found out he had a large amount of money, and resolved to get it at any risk. The prize was worth their daring. They tried all their usual tricks on the old fellow before he left Chicago, but failed to catch him in any trap. When he gathered up his valise and took a Western bound train, they followed him. They took seats behind him in the car, to watch their opportunity. Just after the Burlington and Missouri train left Burlington, the rate of speed was slow, and the old man was dozing in his seat. Now was their opportunity, if ever. One of the thieves reached over and seized the old man's pocket-book from his side pocket, knowing just where to put his hand on it, and the other grabbed the valise and ran—ones toward the front door, and the other for the rear platform. But the old man was too wide awake. He drew his pistol and fired, first at one and then at the other. One fell in the door of the car fatally wounded, and the other on the platform, dead. The old man had a good eye for such birds on the wing. They had his money and all his effects, and it was evidently their intention to jump the train. It was a bold risk, but it was a big sum. The train was stopped—the dead and dying were carried off, and the Texas cattle drover gave himself up for examination. Both of the thieves were well known on the road, and train men are glad they are out of the way.

CHICAGO Times:—"The most conspicuous idiots in the East at present are young men whose collars are buttoned on at the waist and end at the eyebrow."

CHOKED INTO A CONFESSION.—Charles Robinson, a farmer in Genesee Valley, was fortunate enough to be possessed of $500 in twenties—a nice little sum, by way, these hard times. For safe-keeping he hid it inside the cushion of a lounge in his bedroom, and the hiding-place was known only to himself and wife. On Wednesday of last week he occasion to use some money, and it was discovered that it was missing. No one had been about the place except the family and a China cook, and of course suspicion pointed at the theft on the Celestial. He denied the theft emphatically. He was a good man; an honest man, and, in every sense of the word, one of "the noblest works of God." Search was continued with no success. Robinson's stock of patience was exhausted, and he thought he would string the Chinaman, and with the assistance of a man, he was taken to the barn and a rope placed around his neck, after which he raised six feet and let down again. He declared innocent, and knew nothing. The dose was repeated, and still he avowed himself innocent. The dose was increased gradually, and after he had been hauled up the fifth time he confessed he had stolen it, and promised to tell Mrs. Robeson where it was hidden. This he did, and the money was recovered. He had wrapped the coin in paper, placed it in a buckskin purse, and, after rolling it up in a rag, buried it under the milk-house.

A WOMAN who lived 58 days without eating or drinking, has just died at Mexico, N. Y. She was about 50 years old, and for ten years had been bed-ridden, as the result of a nervous disease. One day in February she was taken with a severe toothache, and, having had her teeth drawn, the pain went to her throat and chest, making it very difficult for her to swallow. She tried a little cream for a while, but it threw her into convulsions, and finally the sight or odor of food would produce the same effect. From time to time, too, she became deaf, dumb and blind. Medications were introduced into her arms and she was bathed in milk, but when efforts were made to induce her to eat pieces of food placed in her hands she refused, even after all trouble with her throat and chest had passed away. Yet when asked why she would not eat she could give no reason. The most striking fact of all was that, after death, no evidence of disease could be found in her body.

A PRIZE BROUGHT DEATH.—A letter to the Cincinnati Commercial from Munich says: "A mechanic, out of work and reduced to his last lecher (6 cents), instead of investing it in bread, staked it on a lottery ticket. As he did not return home on Saturday night, his wife was in a fever of anxiety lest, in his desperation, he had destroyed himself. However, bright and early Sunday morning he returned, radiant in a new suit of clothes, with hand and arms full of redeemed household articles, he exclaimed: 'We are saved; I have won a prize.' The poor woman gazed at him speechless, unable to realize the 'glad tidings'; but the reaction was too great. She sank on the floor dead, and widower and four little orphans were plunged into greater misery than that from which they had been rescued."

NEVER TOO OLD TO MARRY.—A correspondent of the Mayfield (Ky.) Monitor says: Old Uncle Ben Greer, aged 113 years, was married about two weeks ago in Marshall County to Mary Harrison, aged 57 years. Uncle Ben was born according to the sale bill found among the property of his old master, James Greer, deceased, in 1763. He was a servant in the war of 1812 under General Jackson. The old man can cut and split 100 rails a day.

A LADY correspondent of the Sacramento Record-Union writes this: The statue of Senator Baker, carved by Horatio Stone and contributed by Oregon to the National Hall of Statuary, has been recently set up. It stands between Washington and Jefferson, in an excellent light. It is a little larger than life, and the head and shoulders are fine, although the face has less action in it than was natural to Colonel Baker's expression. He has a Roman mantle wrapped about him, his fold resting carelessly on his military hat and sword. The feet are open to the severest criticism, too short for good proportion and quite destitute of the arch at the instep that marks blood and beauty. The boot has the cut of a two-dollar-and-a-half stogy one sees at the cheap stores. Have our web-footed friends forgotten the natural slope of the human pedal and furnished a distorted model to the sculptor? Everyone criticises it in passing, but adds a kindly word for Oregon, who has sent us from afar this tribute to the great chief.

It is stated that the graves of Capt. Jack and his Modoc companions caved in recently, and resulted in the surprising discovery that neither the lamented Capt. Jack nor his companions, Shack Nasty Jim and the rest, were there at all. There were the holes in the ground and some wooden boxes, but Capt. Jack and Shack Nasty Jim has risen up and gone, and are now, like John Brown's soul, on their travels. It is not at all improbable that the ghastly patriot who wanted to take what little there is left of Washington and Lincoln to Philadelphia, but couldn't get permission, has stolen Capt. Jack and Shack Nasty and is going to turn a few nickles by exhibiting them at our nation show as fruits of the gallow's tree or agricultural products from Oregon.

An illustration of the value of timber on waste land, is offered by the sale of wood which took place on the estate of the Earl of Cowdor, in Nairnshire, the other day. In 1820, two hills, about three thousand acres in extent, were planted with fir and other trees, and after successive thinnings, the sale of which realized large sums, the remainder of the wood has just been sold off for the sum of £16,000. The sum realized for the wood on this waste land during the fifty years is stated to be equal per acre to the return for the best arable land in the country.

"Mrs' brace up," said Sozzle, as he stood on the doorstep at 1 A. M.: "I'll never do let of 'lady 'spect anythin';" and, as Mrs. S. descended the stairs, clad in her robe de nuit, Sozzle braced up, knocked the ashes off his cigar, and as the door opened, said, cheerily, "Hullo, M'ria, (hic) up yet? Got a match in yer pocket?" Of course, she did not suspect anything.

WHEN Mark Antony threw himself upon the "dear remains" of his loved Caesar in a Pittsburg theatre the other evening, he struck the "corpse" fair in the stomach, which had the effect of doubling it up with a grunt, that rather detracted from the solemnity of the occasion.

THE Rev. Grant Powers, of Haverhill, N. H., rebuked an ignorant preacher for exercising the office of priest. He replied: "We are commanded to preach the gospel to every creature." "But," said Powers, "every creature is not commanded to preach the gospel."
