BERIAH BROWN, EDITOR. Seattle, W. T., July 8, 1875.

The Snohomish Celebration.

Every one that was present say that they never enjoyed a Fourth of July so well before.

The oration by the Hon. Judge Jacobs was replete in beauty, and every sentence blended with patriotism.

The Rag Muffins, commanded by the Duke of York, were out in full number, and a more laughable or untangible heterogeneous mass of multifarious incongruity was never witnessed.

The ball was a grand affair and every one that attended was pleased and satisfied fully that Snohomish City could, when they wanted to, have joy and pleasure.

The residents did all in their power to make the affair agreeable and comfortable, and everything was free to all.

The beautiful little steamer Zephyr made good time, and with the usual courtesy of her officers added to the comfort of all on board.

We shall ever feel grateful to the Snohomish people and wish them the prosperity they so well deserve.

SLASHER.

EDITOR DISPATCH:-Perhaps it is not very well known to our citizens that there is an organized "club" in Seattle under the unique sobriquet of "Buckskin Rangers," and that they celebrated the Glorious Fourth in a manner becoming "ye ancient times."

INVELY TO THE DAILY DISPATCH

CHICAGO, June 29.—Officers concerned in the arrest and subsequent shooting of the negro Johnson last week were arrested to-day and gave bail in $2,000 each.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Application was filed in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Shipman to-day, asking such a modification of the order of sale in the foreclosure suit against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company as will give the claims of the first mortgage bond holders precedence over all others.

CHICAGO, June 30.—A San Antonio Texas special says no apprehensions are entertained of serious difficulties on the Rio Grande at present. Cortina is eluding the Mexican authorities who intend to arrest him. Another vessel of war is to be ordered to the Rio Grande to preserve order.

NEW YORK, June 30.—No verdict in the Beecher-Tilton case yet. At 10 o'clock the Court house was locked and the jury retired for the night.

DUBLIN, June 29.—A most enthusiastic ovation was given the American team on their return from Dolly Mount to this city this evening. A grand banquet in their honor is given to-night by the Lord Mayor of Dublin at the Mansion House. The Irish riflemen admit the superiority of the Americans throughout the match and acknowledge their victory was fairly won.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—All money in the Treasury's office is now being counted by about 125 ladies. The count is superintended by a gentleman specially appointed. It is estimated the money aggregates about sixty millions. This money is to be recounted before it is transferred to New York.

LONDON, July 1.—A Berlin dispatch to the Times says the German squadron will probably visit the United States in 1876, in return for the visit of Admiral Worden's fleet.

MADRID, June 30.—It is officially announced that General Martinez Campos has occupied positions on the Ebro to prevent the escape of Carlists from Valencia and Arragon into Catalonia.

PARIS, June 30.—Damage to property by inundation in the cities of Toulouse and Ager alone, exceeds twenty four million.

MADRID, June 30.—A royal ordinance has just been issued, commanding members of the Carlist Juntas and all families of which any member is in the Carlist service to be expelled from Spain and directing property of Carlists to be confiscated and devoted to the indemnification of communities suffering from Carlist requisitions.

PRAGUE, June 30.—Ex-Empress Ferdinand died to-day of lung disease, aged 82 years.

ROME, June 30.—The Senate passed the Public Safety bill, for the prevention of Brigandage in Sicily and elsewhere. The bill has already been adopted by the Chamber of Deputies.

LONDON, June 30.—Mr. Gladstone has an article in the Contemporary Review, "Is the Church of England worth preserving?" After a summary of the arguments on both sides he answered the question strongly in favor of the affirmative.

VICTORIA July 1.—Dominion day is being celebrated here in a very loyal manner. The firemen have a grand picnic at Medano's grove. A boat race between the Standard and Colonist's printers came off this forenoon, and was easily won by the former.

THE dead body of a man named Edw. Butler supposed to be from Puget Sound, was yesterday found in an out house in Market Alley. The inquest elicited nothing concerning his mode of death.

DESMOINES, June 30.—The following are some of the points of the platform adopted by the Republican State Convention here to-day: That the republic is a nation one and indivisible. That the constitutional rights of the States and people to local self-government must be faithfully maintained.

A HUSBAND WORTH HAVING.—Hermann, the celebrated musician, was married recently, and his wife doesn't have to get up at daylight to go to market. When she wants a dozen of eggs she simply hands her husband the empty bag, and he produces them by sleight of hand; then he cooks an omelet in a borrowed hat, and converts a can of sawdust into that much sugar, and similar cups filled with chipped paper into hot coffee; then he takes the same hat, stirs up its empytness with a magic wand, and presto change! out comes a loaf of bread, a fresh shad, two pickles, one pie, a bucket of coal, a dish of hash, with natural hairs in it, and half a dozen knives and forks. This is much cheaper than going to market. But Mrs. Hermann is not happy. When her husband wants a gold dollar he mysteriously picks it off the end of his wife's nose. And she is dissatisfied because she can't perform that trick herself.

ways or other corporations. That the Republican party of Iowa oppose a third term and believe that President Grant's letter to General White removes that issue from our politics. Demand that all railroads and other corporations be held in just and fair subjection to the law-making power, constitutionally expressed.

NEW YORK, June 30.—At an adjourned meeting of the Northern Pacific bondholders to-day, about $20,000,000 of bonds were represented, representing all parts of the United States. Objections that had been urged to a provision in the decree of foreclosure were obtained by an agreement of all parties which will be accepted by the Court. The different objections to the line of foreclosure and sale, known as the Livingston plan, were harmonized by the adoption of a series of amendments and resolutions, and the meeting closed in a spirit of unanimity, and with the general feeling that investments in the road would be safe and the road completed.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Counting the money in the Treasury's office commences to-night.

Francis M. Sargent is appointed Internal Revenue gauger for Washington Territory.

The Treasury Department was re-organized to-day under the Kellogg bill. The salaries of all Bureau officers and chiefs and assistant chiefs have been increased and the general force will, by this bill, be reduced to the extent of 384 employees, at a saving, it is claimed, of half of a million dollars.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—All money in the Treasury's office is now being counted by about 125 ladies. The count is superintended by a gentleman specially appointed. It is estimated the money aggregates about sixty millions. This money is to be recounted before it is transferred to New York.

Friends of Gen. Spinner took leave of him this morning.

The bond of Mr. New is for $150,000. The debt statement issued to-day shows a reduction during June, of $1,431,249.

Secretary Delane has not abandoned his desire to retire from the Cabinet, but the period at which this may take place is uncertain.

LONDON, July 1.—A Berlin dispatch to the Times says the German squadron will probably visit the United States in 1876, in return for the visit of Admiral Worden's fleet.

The failures are announced of Daesta, Roatter & Co. for $250,000, and Kilburn, Koshaw & Co., East India and silk brokers, for two and a half millions.

MADRID, June 30.—It is officially announced that General Martinez Campos has occupied positions on the Ebro to prevent the escape of Carlists from Valencia and Arragon into Catalonia.

General Jovellar, commander of the army of center with 28,000 troops, is advancing by different routes on the Carlist leader Don Carlos, who commands 12,000 men.

LONDON, June 30.—It is reported that the latest news from Burmah is satisfactory. The King refuses to allow the passage of British troops through his territory. It is thought this will be insisted upon by Her Majesty's Government.

PARIS, July 1.—The Journal official publishes a decree appointing a special committee for the purpose of encouraging Frenchmen to participate in the Philadelphia centennial exhibition and facilitating the efforts of those who intend doing so. The committee is composed of members of the Assembly, merchants and other persons, a number of whom hold relations with the United States.

TORONTO, June 30.—Coates & Co., auctioneers, have failed; liabilities, $150,000.

There is a whole agricultural sermon in the following: Pure, sweet milk and butter, fresh and perfectly ripened fruit, horses and carriages, roomy door-yards, the lovely society of birds, pure air, and the quiet retirement of country life, are looked upon as luxuries by every class of people except farmers, who accept them as a matter of course, and forgot to feel thankful for them.

A gentleman drove a sorrowful looking horse into town last Saturday, and, stopping in front of Bank Block, he requested a small boy to hold him a moment. "Hold him!" exclaimed the boy; "just lean him up against the post—that'll hold 'im."

A HUSBAND WORTH HAVING.—Hermann, the celebrated musician, was married recently, and his wife doesn't have to get up at daylight to go to market. When she wants a dozen of eggs she simply hands her husband the empty bag, and he produces them by sleight of hand; then he cooks an omelet in a borrowed hat, and converts a can of sawdust into that much sugar, and similar cups filled with chipped paper into hot coffee; then he takes the same hat, stirs up its empytness with a magic wand, and presto change! out comes a loaf of bread, a fresh shad, two pickles, one pie, a bucket of coal, a dish of hash, with natural hairs in it, and half a dozen knives and forks. And she is dissatisfied because she can't perform that trick herself.

A man left a bony steed in the street, and on coming back discovered that a wag had placed a card against the fleshless ribs bearing the notice, "Oats wanted. Inquire within."

THE FARRAGUT PRIZE MONEY.—It is stated that the Secretary of the Treasury will soon order the final payment of the Farragut prize money, amounting to $300,000, which will be distributed among some 4,000 claimants. The total sum awarded as prize money was $900,000. Council fees, amounting to $75,000, have been paid to General Butler and Attorney Wilson of Washington, who represented the Claimants, their fees being deducted for them by the court. In accordance with a decree of the United States District Court of Washington the sum of $268,000 was awarded as bounty money. Ninety-three thousand dollars of this sum has already been paid, and the balance will be distributed as soon as Congress makes the appropriation therefor. In reference to the distribution of the final installment of the prize money, it will not be necessary for the claimants who have been paid out of former installments to make further application. They will be paid on the same claim without being put to further trouble or securing the intervention of agents. It is thought that it will take about eight months to complete the payment.

AN OLD GIRL.—Minerva Isidore Manchester was pretty nearly all the name belonging to a woman with gray hair, cracked voice and shuffling gait, who sidled out at the tolling of the bell.

"This is a case of drunkenness," remarked the Court, as he held up the warrant.

"Oh, well, don't be too hard on us girls," she replied, giggling like a parrot, and trying to look attractive.

"How old are you?" quietly asked His Honor.

"I'll be twenty-seven next week!" she replied promptly.

"Twenty-seven—yes—um. You'll never see fifty-five again."

"Oh, now, darling!" she giggled, pushing back her hair.

"Don't fool around this Court, Mrs. Manchester, but tell how you plead to this charge."

WHAT PROFESSOR MARSH SAYS.—Professor Marsh holds a Chair of Learning in Yale College. He is noted if not renowned as a Scientist. He visited Oregon in charge of a party of students two or three years ago, in his scientific explorations.

He is one of the best and truest gentlemen in the land, and his word is worth that of all the mere politicians under the Government. During his explorations last year he happened in the Black Hills country, and there visited the Reservation of the Sioux, where Red Cloud and Spotted Tail and their tribes are located. There he heard the Indians complain of the provisions and supplies that were furnished to them under contract by the Commissioners and by collusion of the local agent. Everything was of the poorest, meanest, most worthless; everything was in itself a swindle. The hungry ponies even preferred starvation to the meal or flour supplied to the Indians; it would have spoiled the teeth of a corn mill to have passed through it the black beans dealt out for coffee; and the tobacco was the refuse scraps and the sweeping of the factories; and equal to the "filthy dovlans" of fat Jack Falstaff's shirts by Hostess Quickly given him were the robes which were fed that they were compelled to eat dogs, wolves and ponies, to keep themselves from starving on the Government rations. All this Professor Marsh took close and faithful note of, and he has told it, like an honest gentleman who witnesses the defrauding of the defendant by the wanton rascality of the dishonest officials and feels that he is in duty bound to tell of the wrongs he has seen. His word is received by the mass of the people, and even high officials and partisans at Washington, who would like to disbelieve or offset or overcome what he says, cannot but admit he is not the man to falsely or unfairly represent whatever he personally knows to be true. Asked if Red Cloud might not have told him things which were not facts, Prof. Marsh answered: "Red Cloud occasionally draws a long bow, nevertheless, in a question between Red Cloud and the Indian King, where both were interested, I should decidedly prefer the testimony of Red Cloud."

And to show that his ideas are sound on the Indian question, and that he had no mawkish or absurdly philanthropic regard for the red man, he stated that: "What Indians need is not so much kindness as justice and firmness—qualities which are apparently wanting at the Red Cloud Agency." He hit the nail exactly—only he might have carried his instance higher and much broader in area and application.—Commercial Reporter.

THE New York Sun, whose editor, Dana, is one of the most scholarly gentlemen in the country, has an article on the "Decadence of Literature," in which it is stated that only one or two of the great publishing houses are prospering on standard works, and that only light and frivolous reading seems to be in demand or can find ready sale. The decadence of sound literature in a nation is the forerunner to its decadence in nearly everything else which can constitute greatness and grandeur, virtue and highest intelligence.

A Delaware woman married a woman because she was deaf, and he thought she would keep her mouth still. So she did, but when he fell into a well and yelled himself hoarse trying to make her hear, he wished she had ears a foot long and could hear a whisper a mile away.

Tom Harrison was looking for an event in his family, and he made a solemn vow that, if it was a boy, he would quit drinking, chewing and smoking. It came—three girls—and he drank himself into delirium tremens in a week, and jumped out a fourth story window.

This story is told of a certain man who had been rendered almost blind by drinking to excess in the hot Summer months. "I tell you," said the physician, "you must either leave liquor alone or lose your eyes entirely." "Well responded the patient after a few moments of reflection, "good-bye, eyes!"

"I have," says A. T. Stewart, "made it the rule of my life to give a man the value of his money. I know of no man who has succeeded for thirty years on any other principle."

A man left a bony steed in the street, and on coming back discovered that a wag had placed a card against the fleshless ribs bearing the notice, "Oats wanted. Inquire within."

Mr. Lincoln, before he moved to Springfield, Illinois, was postmaster in a small Western town. This office was poor, and Lincoln was poorer than the office. It was known he was very hard up, and it was also known that the Washington agent was in town to collect the little sum due the general post-office. A friend, thinking Lincoln might be embarrassed, came down to his office to loan him the sum necessary to meet the demand. Mr. Lincoln thanked him, and said he did not need any loan. While the two were talking the agent came in. The sum due was less than one hundred dollars. Lincoln sent his desk and took out the old stock-in, and turned the coin on the table. It was counted out and met the demand exactly. Well it might, for it was not only the exact amount due, but the identical money itself that Lincoln had taken in. Old fashioned six dollars, pasted, sixpences, old-fashioned cents and all were there. "I never use money that belongs to other people," and that resolution did much towards making him President of the United States.
