Proceedings Probate Court.

TORREY TERRY, W. M. YORK, JUDGE.

In the matter of the guardianship of the person and estate of Osmen Frost, Financial account of C. T. LeBallister, guardian of said person and estate, approved and guardianship closed.

In the matter of the estate of H. P. Lathrop, the report of J. J. McGilvra administrator, filed and allowed.

In the matter of the insanity of Mary Stanton, hearing had in relation to her insanity, found insane and ordered sent to the Insane Asylum.

In the matter of the estate of John T. Hoyt, the first report of J. J. McGilvra, Administrator, filed and allowed. Adjourned until Nov. 27.

Whatum Correspondence.

STEAMER LIBBY, Nov. 12. MR. EDITOR:—The citizens of Bellingham Bay, including Agent Baxter and Supt. Jones of the Coal Company, are favorable to the Seattle & Walla Walla Railroad.

A new large steam saw-mill is talked of by Vance & Co.

About 100 men are now employed on the coal mine, about one third of which are Chinamen.

Several emigrants came down on the Libby to look at the country.

Splendid weather on this end of the Sound, but very dense fogs at times, which detain the steamer.

Swauk River Mines.

Much interest has lately been awakened in this State and Washington Territory by reports of rich discoveries of gold placers on Swauk River. We yesterday received a call from Mr. John Shoudy, a gentleman just down from the new El Dorado, and from him we have received the following interesting information: The mines are located in Washington Territory, on the Swauk River, a branch of the Yakima, about 150 miles from The Dalles. The Swauk River is twenty-five miles in length, and from its source to its mouth, rich indications are found at all points as also on its small tributaries, and in the surrounding hills. A mining company has just been formed, composed of ten members, with Thomas Goodwin as President, and active operations have been inaugurated—many sluices having been put in when our informant left.

Specimens brought to this city by Mr. Shoudy assayed $14 50 to the ounce.—Several of the prospectors have picked up solid lumps weighing from half an ounce to an ounce. Old miners give it as their opinion that the new diggings will "pan out" remarkably well. The company just formed have already taken up eleven claims, and eager prospectors are out in every direction. Mr. Mycock, one of the discoverers, sold out one claim for 27 head of cattle, to provide beef for the settlement.

Living at the new mines is almost as cheap as in Portland, the principal staple, flour, costing only $7 per barrel, and other necessities of life in proportion. Mr. Shoudy is very enthusiastic with regard to the new placers, and thinks the party have certainly "struck it rich." Should subsequent developments verify their expectations, we may look for a regular stampede in the Spring towards the Swauk river from all directions. Great excitement exists in that section of the country. About three hundred persons are already at the mines, in various localities, and hundreds are preparing to go to the diggings. Mining laws are in force, and claims are recorded for the very low sum of one dollar. Three years ago prospectors found very favorable indications at the head of the Yakima River, and the impression has always prevailed that the region was of an auriferous character. The mines are easily accessible from The Dalles—plenty of freighting facilities, at 7 cents per pound.

Everything necessary to make a comfortable winter camp may be found in abundance on the Swauk River and doubtless a thriving settlement will soon spring into existence. The majority of those now at the mines, Mr. Shoudy informs us, are inexperienced as to mining details, and the probabilities are that not much will be accomplished this winter towards the development of these discoveries.—Bulletin

FROM MICHIGAN.—Miss May Thayer, who resigned her position which she has held for seven years as preceptress of the High School of Ionia, Michigan, to accept a position offered her in our Territorial University, has arrived. Her experience, talent and energy will greatly increase the efficiency and reputation of our school.

Classes in the modern languages will be formed which will be open to those not taking the regular course.

Now is the time to send in your pupils, as the school will be newly classified.

DIED.—In this City Nov. 13, 1873, John Robinson, aged 52 years. Funeral services Sunday, 15th, at 11 o'clock a. m.

The streams in Idaho have frozen on up, and mining and mills have been stopped thereby.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Arrived, bark Patmos, from Liverpool, via Bellingham, Bay.

We notice that Mr. Fitzgerald, the new Road Commissioner, has commenced repairing the side walk on Third Street.

BROKE HIS LEG.—Charley Blake, an Friday afternoon, fell down and broke his ankle. He is now in the hospital.—Argos.

A gentleman from Snoqualmie writes us that the Pass is open and almost entirely free from snow, and that miners for Yakima can get there easily.

The new steamer Empire City has finally got her load of lumber in, and is towed out of the bay this noon by the Mastick.

A SLIGHT INACCURACY.—The Courier is mistaken in regard to the death of Mr. D. S. Smith, of this city. That gentleman informs us that he was never in better health.

GOOD SENTENCE.—Judge Blake, City Recorder, to-day fined two men, Doyle and Simmons, $100 and costs for drunkenness and an indecent exposure of their persons on the public streets.

The Governor vetoed the bill exempting the property of the Seattle & Walla Walla Railroad from taxation, and the Legislature passed the bill over his veto.

The late rains have raised White and Duwamish Rivers several feet, much to the delight and advantage of farmers along those rivers dependent upon them for transportation purposes.

Dr. Freeland, the dentist, will be in town on the 20th inst., and remain for two or three weeks. Persons desiring to consult him after that date can find him at his office on Second street, next door to the M. E. Church.

Notice to Teachers.

Notice is hereby given that I will be in Seattle on the third Friday and Saturday of this month, for the purpose of examining teachers. Nov. 8.

GEO. F. WHITWORTH, Supt.

The Tacoma Tribune speaks of the Swauk Creek mines "near Tacoma." If Prosch would examine his map he would find that those mines are much nearer this place by the way of Snoqualmie Pass than they are to Tacoma by the Natchess Pass.

As the time for the adjournment of the Legislature draws near it becomes apparent that there is more business already on the Clerks' tables than can be disposed of with regard to its merits.—Twenty days longer would not more than suffice.—Courier.

A BILE.—A couple of gentlemen just returned from the Yakima mines inform us that the whole thing is a bilk of the first water. On the great Discovery claim, in three pans they just managed to get color. They report that there are not a dozen men on Swauk creek working.

The members of the Board of Directors of the SEATTLE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION are reminded that the regular monthly meeting occurs on next Tuesday evening. A full attendance is requested as business of importance will come before them.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of Mr. John G. Robinson, will take place at the Baptist Church in this city, to-morrow, the 16th, at 11 o'clock, instead of the 15th, as was stated in yesterday's paper. He will be buried by the Masonic fraternity and services conducted by Rev. John F. Damon. Friends of the deceased are invited to attend.

SLOPED.—Thomas H. Farrall committed for robbing Mr. Coulter of Saanich of $85 50, and committed to jail, has been heard from at San Juan Island. He don't intend to return to risk confinement in a British Bastille. Not if he knows himself as intimately as he thinks he does. His bail ($200) will be estreated to-day.—Colonist.

FAST TIME.—The bark Jenny Pitts Captain Blinn, has arrived at this port during the year commencing Nov. 24, 1873, she has made 9 trips between Seattle and Sound ports; 7 to Fort Ludlow, one to Tacoma and returned to Seattle, with 9 days to spare. Number of days per trip. 1st, 22 days; 2d, 31; 3d, 29; 4th, 44; 5th, 28; 6th, 27; 8th, 37; 9th, 29. Landed 8 cargoes at San Francisco between Oct. 25, 1873, and Nov. 15, 1873.

The foregoing facts were kindly furnished us by Capt. Blinn.

Abraham Whitson, a young man, was stopping at a hotel in Missoula, Montana, not long since. In the night he got up in his sleep, walked out of the house into Hellgate river, and was drowned.

Two young ladies of Forest Grove went on a visit to Coos Bay recently.—While there both of them became engaged and have got married. Now all the Forest Grove girls are begging their parents to let them go to Coos Bay.

A Memphis jury, having convicted a man of murder, now finds that the supposed murdered man is living. The question is, whether the verdict shall be rescinded, or the man allowed to kill his victim.

Mr. Charles Bristow of Eugene, recently fell from the third story of the State University to the ground, a distance of almost fifty feet. Strange as it may seem no bones were broken, and he is now considered out of danger.—"Jeems," however, says that "going through college" in that manner is not exactly the thing.

Mr. Charles Kimball, of Canyon City, was kicked by a horse on the right hand last Monday evening and received a very painful wound. This is unfortunate for Charlie, as he is engaged in teaming, and it will be necessary for him to employ a man in his place.—Mountaineer.

It is sometimes best not to reply to a general question. "Is there a printer in this car?" inquired an old gentleman in a Third Avenue conveyance the other day. "Yes," said a young two-thirder, proud of his new honors. "I thought so," said the old gentleman, sentimentally, "but it smells like a whole bar-room." The two-thirder foolishly got out.

A letter from Warrens, Idaho, says: "The placer mines throughout the camp have mostly stopped their wheels and pumps, and housed up their tools, and are betaking themselves, some to winter quarters in warmer climates, and others to snugly constructed cabins, or to the quartz ledges hereabout. We had an uncommonly cold snap last week, with several inches of snow, which is not likely to melt away until next Spring.

The schooner Clara Light, built in Stellacoom a few years ago, and owned by Messrs. Pinous & Packahur, has been sold to the Coos Bay Coal Company. This little vessel, while under the command of Capt. S. C. Mitchell has been a successful investment. It is said the firm will build a new and larger vessel for their trade; we hope so and trust that Capt. Mitchell will be placed in charge of the construction, as no man is better fitted for the position.—Echo.

There are more teams engaged in freighting on the Canyon City road than has ever been known before. The impetus given to this branch of industry was caused by the large amount of Government freight for Camp Harney and the liberal price paid, 4 1/2 cents per pound, we are informed, from here to Canyon City. A large number of our farmers who have got through with their fall work, have gone on to the road freighting, and are thus earning a few hundred dollars for winter expenses.—Mountaineer.

A short time since, a colored man entered the office of the clerk of a county court in the West, and advancing to the table where the deputy-clerk was busily engaged, he produced a marriage license, for which he had paid the legal fee a few days before. "Boss," said he, "de lady declines dis document, and I fobch it in to get my money back." It was a little consoling to the darkey to be told that some men went farther and had fared worse; but when assured his money could not be returned, he turned indignantly, and muttered as he made his exit, "Ebery body's gone back on de document!"

Over 9,000,000 of pipes, made from different varieties of wood alone are yearly manufactured in America.—The root of the "brier ivy" is the substance most generally used for pipe-making, it being selected for the purpose on account of its durability, hardness, and the bright polish which it is capable of taking. It is found throughout the Southern States generally—the best quantities growing in Virginia—and is sent to the market in large pieces, which vary in size from that of a man's fist to the dimensions of a good sized keg. It costs the manufacturer from $30 to $40 per ton, the price depending upon the quality of the wood.

ORPHANAGE.

MRS. WADDELL HAS RESOLVED TO open in Seattle, W. T., an Orphanage for the reception of Orphans and Homeless Children and hopes to merit public confidence. The Orphanage will be maintained and conducted on very moderate terms to those who can pay expenses; and to those who can not, the best will be done possible by the assistance of those charitably disposed.

Contributions of Furniture, Provisions, and Money very gratefully received.

The Orphanage is on Seneca street, near the University. REFERENCES.—Revs. D. Bagley and W. C. Cooper, Seattle; Rev. J. Bowersox, Salem, O.; Mrs. Brown, Brown's Hotel, Victoria.

BERIAH BROWN, EDITOR

Seattle, W. T., Nov 20 1873.

SEATTLE, NOV. 19, 1873.

EDITOR DISPATCH: The attention of the City Council should be called to the fact that those birds that visit our harbor during the Fall and Winter months are being shot down by idle loafers. To-day I witnessed the slaughter of several of them. Now they are both useful and ornamental around a harbor, and are protected in all civilized sea port towns. I hope our City Council will put a stop to their destruction at an early day.

Telegraphic

EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE DAILY DISPATCH

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—It is not denied in official circles here that the Pope wrote a second letter to the German Emperor. The fact that it has not been published is ascribed to the circumstance that it treats on matters strictly personal to his Majesty, and in no way to be used on political subjects. It has not been, nor will it be answered by the Emperor. German Government has addressed a remonstrance to the French, on account of a pastoral circular issued by Bishop of Nancy, ordering prayers for the recovery of Metz and Strasbourg. The Federal Council has decided that elections for the German Diet shall be held early in June.

HAVANA, Nov. 17.—The report that 57 more prisoners of the Virginians had been shot is not confirmed. There has been no more executions but trials are proceeding.

BUFFALO, Nov. 17.—Wheat & Bradley's warehouse was burned this morning. Loss, $200,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The heavy decline in stocks to-day, is attributed to the fact that a telegram had been received from Gen. Sherman, saying that he is opposed to war and to inflation.

PANAMA, Nov. 9.—Costa Rica is chiefly taken up with Herr's schemes.

Congress has approved the new contract to enable Harry Meigs to extend his railroad to the Pacific, which the old contract did not provide for. The price of $8,000,000 for construction of the part from Lemon to Alajuela, would be a loss to the contractor, but acceptance of the new contract will enable him to make it up.

The American filibustering steamer General Sherman, entered the harbor of Aspinwall on the 3rd inst., under the name of Gen. Arisa, and was at once seized by Capt. Cushing, of the U. S. steamer Wyoming, for using illegal papers and sailing under flags of Honduras, while it claimed to be a South American vessel.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 17.—It is believed that the U. S. steamer Ada, with forty officers and men were all lost. No particulars.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Thad. Stevens won the great four mile race to-day winning the third and fourth heats. Joe Daniels won the first and True Blue the second heat. In third heat True Blue was distanced.

MADRID, Nov. 18.—Spanish cabinet unanimously favor honorable settlement of the Virginian difficulty, but say the integrity of Spanish territory must be maintained.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—National Trust Company suspended payment to-day on account of the unexplained absence of the cashier. Directors say all liabilities will be speedily paid.

Secretary Robinson, now in New York has summoned the chief clerk of his Department to that city in connection with fitting out vessels for Cuba.

MATAMORAS, Nov. 19.—Mail from Monterey brings news that the Federal troops are occupying Monterey and Saltillo to maintain order. General Zepeda, deposed Governor of the State of Coahuila, is at Saltillo and has organized several hundred State troops, and another conflict between Zepeda and the friends of the State is anticipated. 500 Federals dispatched to escort a large consignment of silver from Leticia to Monterey, to prevent its falling into the hands of either of the contending parties.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Edwin K. Winslow, Government claims broker of this city, is announced a defaulter to the extent of $400,000. He is believed to be out of the country.

Castello, the commander of the Torpedo, says the crew and men on the Virginians were treated with such consideration as their character and necessity of safe keeping would allow. He says the capture made the people of Santiago delirious with enthusiasm.

The Washington Appeal says orders have been issued for the opening of recruiting offices throughout the country and the Navy is to be recruited to its utmost capacity.

U. S. Steamer Worcester, the Flagship North Atlantic Squadron, sailed from Fort Monroe to-day for Santiago de Cuba.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Cotton mill near Manchester burned to-day. Loss, half a million dollars.

The Daily Telegraph says England ought to view with favor the plan of annexing Cuba to the U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Grant says the Government has acted on such information as has come to it and is collecting more from available sources. Upon the meeting of Congress all these facts will be presented.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Meeting attended by about 3000 Americans was held at Steinway Hall this evening. M. M. Ewerts presiding. He made a strong speech which was received with great applause and cries of "war!" "war!" S. S. Cox also addressed the meeting. Resolutions were adopted calling on the President to use any prompt and decisive action consistent with the dignity and precedents of our Government.

The Junia is ready for sea. 250 more men added to the force of the Brooklyn navy-yard. 100 added to the Philadelphia yard.

Steamship Cleopatra arrived to-day with the American newspapers which she took to Havana, but which the Spanish authorities would not permit to be landed.

President Grant in his annual message will recommend further legislation for Utah, to relieve Judiciary matters from present embarrassments.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—McMahon sent a message to the Assembly to-day in which he says it has been decided to ask a prolongation of the President's term 7 years.

VIVACIOUS CRITICISM.—The following is a specimen of independent criticism taken from the Peoria Review. It deserves to be called a vivacious criticism: "Mlle. Liebart didn't leave a dry eye in the wigwam when she sang, 'There's no plash in kome,' and it was the general impression among her German auditors that she sang 'Lawbing Awdah.' 'Lawbing Awdah,' in English, while the English speaking inhabitants were equally positive that 'Robin Adair' was a German lullaby. Mlle. Ormeby had, and we suppose still retains, a magnificent voice for a fog-whistle. Its compass was perfectly surprising. She would shake the chandelier with a wild whoop that made every man instinctively feel for his scalp, and followed it up with a roar that would shame a bassoon."

SPECULATION DON'T PAY.—The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, commenting on the financial crash, says: "The truth is made manifest by the most startling illustrations, that speculators are not to be trusted, and that speculation does not pay. Nothing pays but business conducted on the settled rules of experience, with integrity and industry as the watch words of action. All else is a cheat and mockery. A man has more chance of making money by buying lottery tickets or playing faro than at the game of speculation in the street. If the distressing events of the past week have shaken the nonsense out of the heads of the rising generation, and taught them a lesson of sobriety and moderation in business, they will have done good far outweighing the resulting calamities."

"LET ME KISS YOU?"—From Worcester, Mass., we got the story of a wife who killed her husband while kissing him. There have been treacherous kisses in romance before but this was in real life and literal. Enoch Hill and his wife lived unhappy together on account of disposition to jealousy. Meeting her the other night, by agreement, after she had been visiting her father, they disputed as usual. Suddenly Mrs. Hill asked her husband to hold her sun-shade, and, having given it to him, she put her hand in her pocket, took out a pistol, and, reaching her arm around him, fired a ball into his left side. He may recover, and if he should he will be likely to remember against both jealousy and kisses.

SINGULAR FATALITY.—A young man named Moses Polton, living near Hillsboro (Ohio) was on his way to be married, when he was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Two years ago his brother was thrown from a horse and killed while going to marry the same lady.

INDIAN PRISONER.—Sheriff Lewis of Yakima county arrived in town this week, having brought over an Indian (Dish) who was convicted of murder in Yakima county, having killed another Indian last summer, in the Kittitas Valley.—Transcript.

A POINT MADE BY THE "UNSTOFFED SAVAGE."—We are informed that a few days ago Inspector Kimball made all speech to a squad of Indians at the end of Long Bridge, in which he took occasion to enlodge President Grant as a man of Christian virtue and benevolence. At the close, one of the Indians arose and said: "Yes; me know Gen' Grant; ankoti mitlight okoke illike. Hyas close tumtum copa conaway Siwamby; hyn yaka muckmuck lun, hyn Gamble. Close Gen' Grant." It is said that the interpretation of the speech elicited no reply from the zealous Inspector.—Standard

GOLD TOUCHES ITS LOWEST POINT.—A New York dispatch of November 5th says: The advances in Bank of England rates and reported railroad defalcations here have demoralized foreign exchange. The prominent feature of the day arises out of the scarcity of money among merchants and some fear about the situation at London. The price of gold fell to the lowest point since the early part of 1862, when the issue of paper money by Government commenced. The result of the November elections is interpreted as meaning no further issue of paper and an effort to return to specie payments. The day closed with little recovery from extreme depression.

NEW WAY OF RADICAL RECKONING.—Salary-Grabber Robinson, of the Twelfth Illinois District, defends his back salary steal on the ground that his district being composed of six counties, his salary apportioned among them would only be $1,250 each, or less than the officers of these several counties for their services. Applying the same theory, says the Chicago Times, to the other Federal salary-grabbers, and it would appear that the President at $50,000 a year and nearly all expenses paid besides, is a much less than half-paid office-holder. Are not the services of a President of a Republic of thirty-seven States as valuable as those of thirty-seven Governors? Probably the average salary of the Governor is $3,000 a year, which would make the salary which Mr. Grant might fairly claim $111,000 a year, according to the Robinsonian way of reckoning. There is reasonable ground for supposing that Mr. Grant believes in the Robinsonian way of reckoning and that at last the two conspicuous salary-grabbers have got together, with Matt Carpenter and Ben Butler on the same platform.

A correspondent, referring to the Cabinet meeting, makes President Grant say that he had read that 80 Cuban insurgents, captured as prisoners of war, had been shot on the field, and that while the report lacked confirmation, he was prepared to hear of its confirmation after what had already occurred in Cuba. He was satisfied that the Spanish Government did not and would not approve such butchery. It was a matter which an enlightened nation could not overlook. If, indeed, this method of warfare was necessary to support the Spanish Republic, as an individual he could not wish such a Government prosper. If the Spanish people in their effort to establish a Republican form of Government could not control their authorities in Cuba, then in the interests of humanity he thought it time to interfere, not to encourage struggling Cubans nor to embarrass the Spanish Republic in any way, but wholly in the interest of civilization and humanity.

THE VALUE OF A NEWSPAPER.—The following is the experience of a mechanic concerning the benefit of a newspaper: "Ten years ago I lived in a town in Indiana. On returning home one night for I'm a carpenter by trade, I saw a little girl leave my door, and I asked my wife who she was. She said Mrs. Harris had sent after her newspaper, which my wife had borrowed. As we set down to tea my wife said to me, by name: 'I wish you would subscribe for the newspaper; it is so much comfort to me when you are away from home.' 'I would like to do so,' said I 'but you know I owe a payment on the house and lot. It will be all I can do to meet it.' She replied: 'If you will take this paper I will sew for the tailor to pay for it.' I subscribed for the paper; it came in due time to the shop. While resting one noon and looking over it, I saw an advertisement of the County Commissioners to let a bridge that was to be built. I put in a bid for the bridge, and the job was awarded to me, on which I cleared $300, which enabled me to pay for my house and lot easily, and for the newspaper. If I had not subscribed for the newspaper I should not have known anything about the contract, and could not have met my payment on my house and lot. A mechanic never loses anything by taking a newspaper."

THE FASHIONABLE SCANT EFFECT.—The extreme phase of the fashionable scant effect was reached Sunday by a lady who walked up Fifth Avenue in a navy blue camel's hair dress. Not a pucker or a visible seam, or a particle of trimming, broke up the beautiful surface of that woman. She was one unending level, and how she got into that straight-jacket of a dress, I could not imagine till I took a rear view of her, and found she was buttoned up behind from neck to hem. Two unobtrusive box-plats lurked in a shy way each side the opening; otherwise that garment looked like a bloated pantalon leg.—And walk—well she couldn't walk very well, and in case of fire that woman would be fried in her own fat.—Mrs. Barnham's Letter.

A CHILD BORN WITH A CHIGNON.—A respectable lady living in the western portion of the county has given birth to a child, which lived four days, the most extraordinary of any of which I ever heard. It was born with a well developed chin on the top of its head. Indeed, it was so plain no person could fail to see the perfect resemblance to that piece of head gear. The peculiar appendage was composed of a muscular or fleshy substance exactly resembling a chignon. It was the wonder of the neighborhood, and large numbers called to see this remarkable natural curiosity. Some time before the birth of the child, quite a number of ladies, including the mother, were talking and jesting about chignons. The above in vouched for by one of our most respectable citizens.—Lebanon, Ky., Standard.

A TREMENDOUS ECHO.—Lake Awosting on the Shawangunk mountain, has a most remarkable echo. Eight distinct words rapidly uttered are repeated plainly eleven times in succession, and when the innumerable repetitions that follow have seemingly died away in the distance, the whole sentence comes back from a central focus of sound with a terrific shout, followed by a dead silence. The firing of a gun is succeeded by a perfect fusillade of musketry among the hills, ending in a clap of thunder.

RECENT GUNNERY TRIALS.—The special board appointed to make comparative trials of howitzers, field guns, and mitrailleuses, assembled at Fort Monroe on the 1st of October and closed their labors on the 6th. The trials were made under direction of General Gilmore, President of the Board, assisted by Colonel Treadwell of the Ordnance Department, and Captain Lorraine of the Artillery. The trials were made on the seashore near the Fort, the largest being 9 feet high and 40 feet long.

The guns tried consisted of the ordinary Napoleon 9 pounder field gun, carrying 12 lbs. canisters; weight of gun about 900 lbs.; worked by 8 men; range of firing 800 yards; the small Gatling gun, caliber 42, weight of gun 200 lbs., worked by two men, range of firing 800 and 1,500 yards; the one inch Gatling gun, 900 lbs., worked by four men using canister cartridges each containing 21 half inch balls, range of firing 800 and 1,200 yards.

The remarkable advantages of the Gatling gun were never more thoroughly established than on this trial. At 800 yards the small gun threw 600 shots in 20 seconds, of which 515 hit the target, being from 8 to 10 times more than the hits made by the howitzer and the field guns.

At 1,200 yards range the latter guns, owing to some defect in the ammunition, were not so effective.

EIGHT YEARS WITHOUT EATING.—There is a young woman named Mary Pincher, residing at the corner of Gates avenue and Downing street, Brooklyn, who has, it is asserted by her physician, Dr. S. F. Spear, taken no food for eight years.—She is twenty-five years of age, bright and intelligent. As a girl she was a close applicant to her studies, and was wont to abandon her meals to ponder over her books until the strain upon her intellectual and physical strength overcame her. She also sustained injuries by being thrown from a horse. Subsequently she fell off a Fulton avenue car, and was dragged along the street for a distance of forty feet by her crinoline catching in the car. She was then afflicted by absolute nervous prostration and has since been confined to her bed. Her legs are twisted and her hands are drawn up behind her head. She sleeps but little, and is said to be endowed with clairvoyant faculties. She works embroidery in colors with great facility, and has made slippers and smoking caps with initials worked in them. The doctor is positive that there is no deception in the case, and has used every effort possible to detect any sign of imposture, but to no purpose. The case has baffled the skill of hundreds of physicians who have examined it.—N. Y. Herald, Oct. 23d.

FROM FORT GARRY.—Among the passengers from the Mainland last night were Mr. C. Roberts and Mr. P. Beresford Hope, two English gentlemen who have just crossed the continent through British Territory. Starting from Toronto in June last, they proceeded to Fort Garry via the Dawson route, and starting out from Fort Garry on the 25 of July, they came through Yellowhead Pass, following the course travelled by Lord Milton, descending the Thompson to Kamloops, and arrived here in good health and spirits without any mishap. About a foot of snow was met with in the mountains. We understand that these gentlemen, who are travelling partly for pleasure and partly for the purpose of reporting upon the colonies as a field for emigration, will take the next steamer to San Francisco, and proceed thence to China and Japan, "doing 't Australasia on their way home.—Colonist.

News has just been received of the murder of Wallace Goodwin of this place on Snake river, below Fort Hall on the 17th ult. He was traveling with a white man and a half breed. He was shot and robbed and thrown into the river. Goodwin had in his possession about $400 in currency. Citizens of that vicinity are on the track of the murderers, and are confident of capturing them. Goodwin left here in August last in company with two men who had bought a band of Indian horses to drive to Fort Hall, and was on his return when he was murdered.—La Grande Sentinel.

USEFUL BOY.—There is a twelve-year-old boy at Farmington, Me., who for five or six weeks last year did all the house work for his helpless mother and three children all under three years of age. The Chronicle says he made butter, pies, biscuit, etc., and didn't shrink from the task of preparing meals for a party of thrashers at work in the barn. Willie Radcliffe is his name, and he has made it a name to be proud of.

A VALUABLE OPINION.—An exchange quotes the remark of an eminent Eastern lawyer to the effect that at the age of three score a man should take for his three roles of life "employment without labor, exercise without weariness, and temperance without abstinence." Many a client has paid his attorney a thousand dollar fee for an opinion not worth half so much as this.

Five distinct belts of veins or deposits of a character hitherto unmet with in Colorado, have been the result of prospecting during the past two years—the tellurium mines upon Gold Hill, the bismuth lodes of Sugar Loaf, the gray copper and bismuth veins of Genevieve district, the rich cupreous lime stone deposits of Mounts Lincoln and Brose, and the gold lodes of San Juan.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Seattle, W. T. Nov 20 1873.

The editor of this paper returns from Olympia this evening on the Zephyr.

The steamer Polikofsky arrived here Tuesday afternoon. She is to be inspected.

There was an exhibition by the scholars of the Territorial University last evening. Several pieces were very well rendered.

MARRIED.—In Seattle, Nov. 18, 1873, by Rev. W. I. Cosper, Mr. A. W. Malson and Miss Sarah E. Long, all of Seattle.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. S. S. Balkely, an old resident of Port Townsend, was found dead in his room at that place on Monday morning.

POSTPONED.—The Lecture by Rev. Norman McLeod which was to have been delivered on Thursday evening has been postponed to Tuesday.

ACCIDENT.—A drunken squaw fell backwards off Crawford & Harrington's wharf into the Bay and had it not been for the assistance of some men near by she would have drowned.

Dr. Freeland, the dentist, will be in town on the 20th inst., and remain for two or three weeks. Persons desiring to consult him after that date can find him at his office on Second street, next door to M. E. Church.

There will be a social dance at Lyceum Hall, Thursday evening, on the conclusion of the first term of dancing school. We are sorry to learn that Mr. Starr, the popular dancing teacher, will not give any more lessons for the present.

We again call the attention of our readers to the Concert which will take place at the Pavilion this evening. The Concert will be one of the best that has been given in this place for a long time. The admission price being only 50 cents to all parts of the house, is within the means of all and all should attend.

Some Milwaukee inventors have perfected an ingenious attachment to be applied to the ordinary telegraphing instrument, whereby the operator not only receives but prints his report in fair Gothic type, all at one operation. From sixty to eighty words can be transcribed per minute—every letter im- pressed clearly and distinctly.

W. G. Jamieson, the well known jeweler, has this day opened another large assortment of novelties for the Holidays. Among other things he has an assortment of oxidized silver jewelry. This style of jewelry is now the sensation in the East and San Francisco. He has also a very fine assortment of Gold and silver jewelry of the latest styles. Call and see him.

Notice to Teachers.

Notice is hereby given that I will be in Seattle on the third Friday and Saturday of this month, for the purpose of examining teachers. Nov. 8.

PORT MADISON, Nov. 18.—Sailed, bark Tidal Wave, San Francisco.

VICTORIA, Nov. 17.—Arrived, ship Eldorado.

PORT TOWNSEND, Nov. 16.—Arrived, brig Perpetua, San Francisco.

FOR SITA.—The steamship California will sail for Sitka and way ports this morning, at 7 o'clock, with 350 tons of assorted merchandise, and a number of passengers. Among the large amount of freight we notice a quantity of flour, etc., for Sitka and the mining districts of Alaska.—Portland News, Nov. 14.

SMALL-POX.—In an item published yesterday, concerning the quarantine of the schooner Eliza Haake, from San Francisco, the malady on board was unknown. We have since received a letter from Dr. S. W. Dodd, Medical Inspector of the port at Astoria, informing us that she had been ordered into quarantine on account of having a case of small-pox on board. No new cases had appeared up to the time of writing, and all precautions are being taken to prevent the spread of the loathsome disease.—News.

SHIPMENT OF HOPS TO NEW YORK. Mr. E. Meeker, of Puyallup Valley, arrived here on Saturday last, en route from San Francisco, where he had been to dispose of a portion of his crop of hops. At his yards there were cured thirty-one thousand pounds of hops this season. Of these some were sold on the Sound, some at Portland and the balance taken to San Francisco. Mr. Meeker finding the latter market low, shipped a carload of twelve thousand seven hundred pounds direct to New York. A sample sent to New York were pronounced an extra quality, and worth a sufficient price to warrant the shipment of all Mr. Meeker had on hand.—Transcript.

WELL UP IN MYTHOLOGY.—The Erie Observer is responsible for this: "In the early days of Pithole, the pious old men thought it necessary to have a Sabbath school. One of the leading young men was chosen for Superintendent. The position was new to him, but he determined not to shrink from the responsibility. Thinking it would be proper for him to make a little opening speech, he cleared his throat and started in as follows: 'Children, you are very fortunate in being born in a Christian land. There are thousands in the world not so fortunate. It is peculiarly gratifying to know that you live in that portion of the earth where the rocks pour forth rivers of oil. Now, my dear children, there's the Mormons, they worship old Morn; there's the Mohammedans, they worship old Mahom; the Heathens, they worship old Heath; there's the Hindoos, they worship old Hind; and there's the Pagans, they worship old Pag; while we are here worshipping whom we please. Teachers will now hear their classes recite.'"

TWO ANECDOTES.—There are two anecdotes of Landseer which I have not seen reproduced. In one of his early visits to Scotland he stopped at a village, and took a great deal of notice to the dogs, jotting down rapid sketches of them on a bit of paper. Next day, remembering his journey he was horrified to find dogs suspended in all directions from the trees, crowning in the rivers, with stones round their necks. He stopped a weeping urchin who was hurrying off, with a pet pup in his arms, and learned, to his dismay, that he was supposed to be an excise officer who was taking notes of all the dogs he saw in order to prosecute the owners for unpaid taxes; so the people were all anxious to get rid of their dogs. Another time he went to Portugal, and the King sent for him to express his admiration. "Ah, Sir Edwin," said the King, "I am so glad to see you; I'm so fond of beasts."

A LORD MAYOR'S WIFE.—In 1559 Sir William Hewet (cloth-worker) was Mayor, whose income is estimated at £6,000 per annum. Hewet lived on London bridge, and one day a nurse playing with his little daughter Annie, at one of the broad lattice windows overlooking the Thames, by accident let the child fall. A young apprentice, named Osborne, seeing the accident, leaped from a window into a fierce current below the arches and saved the infant. Years after, many great courtiers, including the Earl of Shrewsbury, came courting fair Mistress Annie, the rich citizen's heiress. Sir William, her father, said to one and all, "No; Osborne saved her, and Osborne shall have her." And so Osborne did, and became a rich citizen and Lord Mayor in 1583. He is the direct ancestor of the first Duke of Leeds. There is a portrait of the brave apprentice at Riveton House in Yorkshire. He dwelt in Philpot lane in his father-in-law's house and was buried at St. Dionis-Back church Fenchurch street.—Walter Thornbury.

Washington dispatch states that the question of recognizing the independence of Cuba will be presented to the coming Congress, and urged upon its attention by ardent friends. A gentleman whose relations with the President are very intimate, says the President is greatly interested in Cuba, and will endeavor to ascertain the sentiment of the country with reference to the recognition of its independence. The gentleman also affects to know that the recognition by Congress will be unequivocally urged in the President's next message, notwithstanding the violent opposition of General Sickles and Secretary Fish. It is stated that an expedition of great strength is fitting out in this country for the insurgents, and that there is an unusual activity on the part of their friends, and, finally, that there is less bluster and display and more work going on now than ever before. In addition, those who believe in a solid recognition of the movement will be materially assisted by a powerful lobby based on the old Cuban bonds, which it is surmised may be of value if the island becomes independent.

A TREE BEAR STORY.—A correspondent in Southern Oregon relates the following: A settler, his wife and two sons, living near Canyonville, Douglas county, lately went to the neighboring mountains on a hunting trip. On their way home, they fell in with two black bears. One of them was soon brought to grief; the second was badly wounded, but was still able to climb a tree. The amputation was exhausted, the hour was late, the party exhausted and still a number of miles from home. The wife—Mrs. Mary Bland—volunteered to stop and watch the bear while Henry, the husband, would go home for a fresh supply of cartridges. This was agreed to at once. The lady immediately kindled a large fire under the tree where the bear had taken refuge; that kept him a prisoner. At 9 o'clock the two sons, John and William arrived with arms and ammunition; they kept watch in turn all night. In the morning master bruin's account was soon settled. The party got home safe, having the two bears as a triumph of woman's courage, forethought and watchfulness, and the father and sons' skill in the use of firearms. Long life to Mr. and Mrs. Bland and their brave sons!

KILLED A DEER.—Miss Addie Jenning residing about a mile below town, shot and killed a large deer last week. She went at it as deliberately and with as much coolness as an old hunter.—Oregon City Enterprise.

The Boy who grabs is the name of the Montana Indian recently on a visit to Washington. He must be Butler's "long lost brother."

The Laraine Independent says there isn't a female in the Wyoming Legislature, unless the people of Wyoming have been grossly deceived, and have unawares, chosen a female in disguise.

Rev. A. E. Garrison, of Salem, thrown from a wagon last week and lay for several hours by the roadside in a helpless condition. His injuries are of a very serious nature. His breast and thighs were found to frightfully bruised.

Failures in the tea trade at New York are attributed rather to the competition which is growing in the West than to the panic. The great Western marts, it is said, are receiving their tea mainly by way of San Francisco, and many smaller firms have been wound up owing to this withdrawal of trade.

In Hot Springs those who are not prosperous express it this wise: "I'm J. Cooked; I'm Tuckered; I'm City Script; I'm Graphiceised; I'm jammamed, bursted, suspended, played out, financially the worst treated and most unfortunate cuss of the can't pay class in the country."

A London photographer advertises as follows: "In consequence of the daily increase of accidents by railway, the public are earnestly requested to call at the studio of the Blank School of Photography, to have their portraits taken, that they may have some memento of departed friends."

A Springfield (Mass.) paper says the windy beard of Bolus himself, and all his succeeding tags of atmosphere, swept out our segment of earth from long ere dawn of yesterday through a bitter twenty four hours of extreme winteriness and physical and spiritual shiverings.

An immediate contrast in the English Probate Office: John Stuart Mill, philosopher, died worth £14,000; Benjamin Grigsby, potato merchant of Shorefield, died worth £320,000. The philosopher was perhaps surprised at having so much to leave; the potato man probably regretted having so little.

A company of immigrants arrived at the Dalles on Wednesday of last week from Iowa, en route for Walla Walla. They numbered near forty men, women and children. The gentlemen connected with this company, report that there are many families in the section of Iowa they came from, who contemplate coming to this portion of the Pacific coast.

A Detroit business man found a counterfeit fifty-cent scrip among his currency the other day, and he put it into his pocket and that afternoon gave it to a little girl begging on the streets. When he came back from tea he found the same piece of scrip in the drawer again, and questioning his clerk he learned that a little girl had brought it in, bought a stick of gum, and gone away with forty-nine cents good money. That bank has suspended payment to beggars.

Mrs. Howell of Marion county, Oregon, last week cleaned a chicken preparatory to cooking it for dinner, and placed it a pan which rested on the cooking stove. After being in the pan for a few minutes, she took hold of it to move it to the cooking vessel when she received a severe electrical shock. She called in the neighbors and they too experienced the same shock when touching the chicken. Let them explain this who can.

The Jacksonville Sentinel of last Saturday says: "James C. Parker, the man who was stabbed at Ashland on Thursday evening of last week, by August Walters, died on Monday morning last. Walters is in jail here in default of $5,000 bail. He was somewhat roughly handled by the circus men, who threatened to hang him, but were restrained from so doing by John Wilson, proprietor of the circus. None of Walters' injuries were very serious, however."

The Fourth Biennial Session of the Legislature adjourned sine die last night about 9 1/2 o'clock, and some 60 persons were thrown out of lucrative positions just as the rigors of the approaching winter are beginning to be manifest. For the benefit of our readers we would say that this was not occasioned by the panic in the Eastern States. They immediately made a run upon the Secretary's bank, but at last accounts it had ample funds to meet the demand.—Courier.

An immense stone, twenty-one feet long, seventeen feet wide and three feet thick, and weighing 119 tons, has recently arrived at Washington, by schooner, from the Cape Ann quarries, and is to be followed by three others, weighing respectively eighty-four, forty-eight and thirty-seven tons, to be used in the construction of the Scott monument. The price paid for the blocks is $40,000, and special machinery will have to be devised for hauling them through the streets, in order that the pavements may not be crushed.

Another Post Office robbery occurred at Pittsburg, Pa., to the amount of $30,000. As this is a pitiful sum not worth looking after by Post Master General Cresswell, the resignation of the thief will in all probability be accepted. Complaints at the non receipt of the moneyed letters from this office, have gone to the Department for a long time, but the gentleman had not feathered his nest quite sufficiently, until he commenced meddling with the money order and stamp department. He is now at liberty on bail of $60,000.

TREE OF LIFE.

Patented June, 1866, to Peter Poncin.

THIS VALUABLE MEDICINE, IN USE for several years past in the Eastern States with successful results, has just been introduced in this place by the patentee. The first person who tried it here, offers the following testimony to its merits:

SEATTLE, August 19, 1873. I have been a sufferer for several years from chronic bilious affections from which no medicine tried by me afforded any relief. As an ex- cepter, I tried Dr. Poncin's Egyptian Bitters from the effects of which I have exper- ienced the most gratifying results. I can un- hesitatingly recommend it to others similarly afflicted. EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE DAILY DISPATCH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The Malaspina and Manhattan are ordered to be put in commission and their officers are already assigned to join the North Atlantic Squadron. The vessels of the Navy have been so much reduced in number that it has been found somewhat difficult to promptly reinforce our squadrons in cases of emergency, but in course of a few days all that can be available will be sent to Cuban waters, in accordance with the determination of the Cabinet at their meeting yesterday. Stated that the President and Cabinet fully agree that the Madrid Government is unable to enforce its authority in Cuba, and that of the U. S. will be compelled to assert its powers in all cases where the interests of citizens of this country and its own honor require decisive action.

J. W. Knowlton, correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, died here to-night.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—W. A. Scatton, chairman Cuban Anti-slavery Committee, Rev. Henry Hight, and Garnett, the Sec'y, will leave to-morrow to present to President Grant a petition signed by 600,000 colored men, embracing every State in the Union, praying that belligerent rights be accorded the Cubans.

Orders have been received at Brooklyn Navy-yard to get the sloops-of-war Kearsarge and Juniata ready for sea. At noon to-day, under equally pressing orders, the torpedo boat Admiral Porter was launched and will be ready for active operations in a few days. All the officers about the yard are greatly excited at the news from Havana.

The principal discussion to-day at places where merchants congregate was the slaughter of the crew of the Virginia, and the feeling of indignation was universal, all asserting that the killing of the crew was unjustifiable and demanded prompt action on the part of the U. S. Government.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—News of the massacre of the captain and crew of the Virginia creates great excitement here. Captain Joshua Fry, her commander, was a native of Florida, aged 46. He entered the Naval Academy in 1841 and remained in the Navy until 1862, when he resigned and entered the Confederate service. He leaves a wife and several children, the youngest of whom is aged 4 years.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 12.—To-day, for the first time since the 3rd of Sept. there has not been a single case of death from yellow fever.

Paul Cyolla, acting-mayor during Mayor Johnson's illness, was to-day expelled from the Council by unanimous vote, for drawing relief supplies in the name of poor widows and using them himself.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 12.—S. P. Woodwell, cashier of Commercial National Bank, confesses the defalcation of about $45,000, and that the money was lost some years since in speculations.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Cuban press defends the action of the Government in executing the people captured on the Virginia.

Twelve insurgents shot at Havana yesterday.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—In the Assembly to-day a motion was offered by the Government, postponing debate upon Leonsay's interpretation regarding the failure of the order of elections to fill vacancies in the Assembly, until the fall following that upon which vote was taken upon prolongation of President McMahon's power. After a heated debate the motion was adopted.

The Committee on prolongation, headed by M. De Remusat, to-day had an interview with McMahon, and the latter stated he had nothing to say modifying in any way his language to the Assembly. He instructed them to hasten their labors in the best interests of the country. The Committee on prolongation have adopted the proposal of M. Cassimer Periere, viz: That President McMahon for five years beyond the duration of the present Assembly, become a part of the Constitution after the Constitutional bills have been voted upon.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A special dispatch from Paris to the Daily Telegraph says that Col. Stoffel will be tried by a Civil Court at Versailles, charged with using contemptuous language towards the Government prosecutors in Bazaine's Court martial.

Baron Lyveden died yesterday aged 73. There was a serious riot last night at a meeting in favor of home rule. The Kilkenny mob stoned the Police who charged upon them and made several arrests.

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Count Von Roon has been relieved from the Ministry of Prussia. His successor will probably be Lieut. Gen. Von Kunske.

The Prussian Diet opened to-day. Herr Kamphauser, Vice-President of the Ministry, read the Royal speech. It is moderate in tone and mainly devoted to local subjects.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 12.—The Ohio Falls Manufacturing Co., which suspended some weeks ago, have arranged with its creditors and will resume work in a few days.

OMAHA, Nov. 12.—An officer has arrived here with instructions to provide for removal of that portion of the Modoc tribe now at Fort McPherson, Indian Territory, without delay.

Active preparations are being made for a fight between Allen and Hogan, which is to take place on the 18th.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Capt. Dineen, U. S. Shipping Commissioner, is accused of monopolizing the whole business of shipping seamen, and having thirty-two agents for that purpose whom he pays out of money received instead of paying the same into the Treasury.

Irving, the confessed Nathan murderer, has promised to make other revelations about the murder if authorities will dismiss prosecution against him for burglary.

A special from Havana gives a full account of the capture of the Virginia by the Spanish gun-boat Tornado. It says that the capture, the Virginia was flying the American flag, which was pulled down by a Spanish officer, and a Spanish ensign hoisted instead. A Court Martial was held on the Tornado and all persons tried as pirates. The Virginia had papers for Colon, and all passengers appeared as laborers for the railroad. Accounts differ as to the position of the Virginia.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 13.—A train from Brownsville, was thrown off the track yesterday by a bar of iron laid on the rails. The engine and one car filled with passengers were wrecked, but only one person, a lady, seriously hurt.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Whiteman C. Bester, a partner in the banking house of Riggs & Co., shot himself this morning.

Boston, Nov. 13.—W. F. Whipple's cashmere mills at Cavendish, Vermont, were burned to-day. Loss, $100,000.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—Insurgent forces at Cartagena, have opened a heavy fire on land on the Naval forces of the Government.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Foreign financial news continues to improve, and the feeling is growing here that the crisis at London has passed.

THAT TUNNEL AGAIN.—The project of a railroad tunnel between France and England has lain dormant for several years, but a company of French and English capitalists has now been formed, abandoning the thought of Government subsidy, and relying on its own resources for completion of the work. But it demands several important concessions one of which is a perpetual guarantee from both countries that no other parties shall ever obtain leave to make a railroad tunnel between them. The British Government persistently refuses to grant permanent monopoly. It is favorable to the scheme, but cannot consent to divest itself of all sovereignty over the Territory to a private corporation. The French Government seems to hold similar views, but is compelled by the laws of France to submit the project to certain investigations usual for all public works before it adopts any definite policy. As the subject is so great a work of international communications, consultation will not only, as required by the regulations, be held with the Chamber of Commerce in the department of the Pas de Calais, but extending to those in all the large towns of France. There is little doubt that it will meet with their approval, nor is it expected that a refusal to grant the monopoly will delay the work.

A HOUSEHOLD BLOTTED OUT.—As a part of the history of the ravages of the scourge in North Memphis, we place on record the fate of the inmates of the boarding-house known as the Mississippi House, corner of Market and Front streets. The landlord is Joe Sanford, whose family consisted of a wife and two children. In his house were eighteen boarders. Of all these there were only Sanford and one boarder who survived; all the rest, twenty, died.—[Lancet]

MARK TWAIN'S TRIBUTE TO WOMEN.—At an annual banquet of the Washington Correspondents' Club, the following toast was read:

"Women: The pride of the profession and the jewel of our hearts."

To which Mark Twain responded as follows:

"Human intelligence cannot estimate what we owe to woman, sir. She sews on buttons, she ropes us in at the church fairs, she confides in us, tells whatever she can find out about the little private affairs of her neighbors, she gives us a piece of her mind and sometimes all of it. In all relations of life, sir, it is a just and grateful tribute to say of her she is a 'brake'."

"Whatever place she occupies, she is a treasure to the world. Look at Desdemona! Look at Lucretia Borgia! Look at mother Eve! I repeat, sir, look at the illustrious names of history! Look at Elizabeth Cady Stanton! Look at George Francis Train! And, sir, I say with bowed head and deepest veneration, look at the mother of Washington! She raised a boy that couldn't lie; but he never had a chance. It might have been different if he had belonged to a Newspaper Correspondents' Club."

Mark looked around placidly upon his excited audience, and resumed:

"I repeat, sir, that in whatever position you put the woman, she is an ornament to society, and a treasure to the world. As a sweet-heart she has few equals, and no superior. As a wealthy grandmother with an incurable distemper she is gorgeous. What, sir, would the people of earth be without women? They would be scarce, sir, mighty scarce! Then let us give her support, our sympathy—ourselves if we get a chance. But throwing jesting aside, Mr. President, woman is lovable, gracious, kind of heart, beautiful, worthy of respect, of all esteem, of all deference. No one here will refuse to drink her health right cordially, for each and every one of us has personally known, loved and honored the best of them all—his own mother."

JOHN G. SAXE.—The San Francisco Bulletin in noticing the diamond edition of John G. Saxe's poems, writes the following deserved words of praise of that distinguished man:

Saxe himself, artistically considered, has something of the brightness and preciousness of the diamond. He still holds his own—still occupies that proud eminence of being America's wittiest poet. Others have written more brilliant things, but who has written so uniformly well? Who has written so much that is pleasant to remember and repeat, so little that one cares to forget? It is at least thirty-five years since "The Proud Miss McBride" was given to the world, and it still holds its place as one of the most perfect poems in the language. Had Saxe written nothing else his position in literature would have been fixed.

HUMBOLDT RAMPAUT.—The Right Rev. Inmaculate Brzen-faced Dr. Cheeky Chaney, Q. U. A. C. K. and A. S. S., has come from New York to upset hell and give us back paradise. This sodasaint doctor and lecturer brings with him a magic lantern and a few hieroglyphical slides, remembers two or three signs of the Zodiac, and posts up huge bills of a series of lectures, in which he is going to upset hell, and prove all biblical character and prophecies to have an astronomical origin or reference, or some blatant jargon as that. What an insult to San Francisco.—[News Letter]

EIGHTH VOLUME.—That excellent Democratic paper, the Oregon City Enterprise has commenced its eighth volume under the most favorable auspices. Bro. Noltes is one of the most energetic journalists in Oregon and deserves the fullest measure of success.

A LAUGHABLE INCIDENT.—During the fire at the Chemeketa Hotel at Salem, Nov. 9, a very laughable incident occurred in which one of the chief men of the Department played a prominent part. One line of hose was taken through the parlor window, so as to get at the fire in the second story. At last a cry came to "light up on the hose," when the aforesaid chief man laid to, and began to heave for dear life. The room was pretty full of smoke and not very light, and abutting the window frame, from the floor to the ceiling, stood an immense mirror. As he tugged faithfully at the hose, he raised his eyes and beheld his reflection yelling in the opposite direction. He yelled at the fellow to let go, but he paid no attention. At last forbearance ceased to be a virtue, when he rushed at him with uplifted trumpet and came in contact with the mirror. His feelings can better be imagined than described. The joke is on him, and he is able to stand it.

NOX ALL LOST.—A bankrupt merchant, returning home one night said to his noble wife:

"My dear, I am ruined; everything we have is in the hands of the Sheriff?" After a few moments of silence the wife looked into his face and said: "Will the Sheriff sell you?" "Oh no." "Will the Sheriff sell me?" "Oh no." "Will the Sheriff sell the children?" "Oh no." "Then do not say we have lost everything. All that is most valuable remains to us—manhood, womanhood, childhood. We have lost but the results of our skill and industry. We can make another fortune if our hands and hearts are left us."

THE REFORMED CROWS.—Colonel B had one of the best farms near the Illinois River. About a hundred acres of it were covered with waving corn. When it came up in the Spring, the crows seemed determined on its entire destruction. When one was killed, it seemed as though a dozen came to its funeral; and through the sharp crack of the rifle often drove them away, they always returned with its echo. The colonel at length became weary of throwing grass, and resolved on trying the virtue of stones. He sent to the druggist's for a barrel of alcohol, in which he soaked a few quarts of corn, and scattered it over his field. The black-legs came and partook with their usual relish, and as usual they were pretty well corned; and there followed a strange cawing, and cackling, and stuttering, and swagging. When the boys attempted to catch them, they were not a little amused at their staggering and their zigzag way through the air. At length they gained the edge of the woods, and there, being joined by a new recruit which happened to be sober, they united at the top of their voices in hawking and shouting either praises or curses of alcohol—it was difficult to tell which—as they rattled away without rhyme or reason. But the colonel saved his corn; as soon as they became sober, they set their faces steadfastly against alcohol, and no another kernel would they touch in his field.

Modern farming demands energetic work. We cannot plod along in the old beaten track. We must have our wits about us; all our faculties must be bright and active. We must work hard; but our work need not be for any great length of time of the back-breaking, muscle-straining order. This kind of work should be left to those who cannot do anything better. A farmer should study himself. He should know his own strength. He can only do a certain amount of work. He should be very careful not to waste his power. The coming farmer will require more sleep and better food than some of the school philosophers recommended. He will eat more meat, and use more coffee and less tobacco and whiskey. Energy is what a farmer needs. He must put more force, spirit and pluck into his work. He must be wide awake, and wake up those who work for him.

ARTEMUS WARD.—James Parton, the noted author, in an article on Charles Brown (Artemus Ward) closes thus, and he gives good advice to young men: "I thought I ought not to conclude this article without letting the reader know why this bright and genial spirit is no longer here to add to the world amusement. Well, this was the reason. Where he lectured, whether in New England, California or London, there was sure to be a knot of young fellows to gather around him, go to supper with him, and spend half the night in telling stories or singing songs. To any man this will be fatal in time; but when the nightly carouse follows an evening performance before an audience, and is succeeded by a railway journey the next day, the waste of vitality is fearfully rapid. Five years of such a life finished poor Charles Brown. He died in London in 1867, aged thirty-three years, and now he lies buried at the home of his childhood, in Maine. He was not a man of strong appetites. It was the nights spent in conviviality which his system needed for sleep, that sent him to his grave forty years before his time. For men in his profession and character, for all editors, literary men and artists, there is only one safety—teetotalism. He should have taken the advice of the stage driver on the plains, to whom he offered some whiskey; and I commend it strongly to the countless hosts who see this paper every week: 'I don't drink; I won't drink. I'm of the opinion of those mountains—keep your top cool. They've got snow, and I've got brain—that's all the difference.'"

We learn that on the 4th instant a sad accident occurred on the race track at La Grande. A young man named Dorris was training a horse, which flew the track and ran under a pole at one side. Dorris' head struck the pole, and his brains were knocked out, causing his death instantly.

A short time ago, the milkmen of London were very indignant because the physicians had accused them of bringing typhoid fever in the city by adulterating milk with impure water; nevertheless the fact was very clearly proved. Since this exposure the vendors of lactical fluid have been rather honest in their dealings with the public, and making a virtue of necessity, have held a mass meeting and unanimously decided to advance the price of milk to 5d per quart.

Says the Rochester Democrat: "A gentleman who has been unfortunate of late was met in a lonely place by a ruffian the other evening, and told to stand and deliver. 'I never was so pleased in my life,' he tells us. 'The idea that I had anything to deliver was exceedingly gratifying, and I thanked the fellow for the compliment with all my heart. It showed that all confidence in me was not lost, notwithstanding that little affair in stocks, and I felt once more, with Mr. Micawber, that I could look my fellow-man in the face. It may not be exactly the thing to officiate as a town-pump, at which any or every sounder may be accommodated; but it was very pleasing to know that this fellow thought I had money, and to enjoy the sweet thought that he might even have taken me for the entire water commission.'"

SAVING THE FAT AND FLESH.—The fat and flesh of all kinds of domestic animals are made of grass and grain, which costs money. In autumn when feed begins to fail, the weather becomes cold and stormy, animals will lose flesh, unless they are well fed and properly protected from cold and wet storms. Every pound of flesh and fat is worth, at a low figure, twelve and a half cents. Flesh or fat is actually worth much more than that sum, in most localities, as there is no bone, no hair, no hoofs, no horns nor other waste in those parts of animals. The fat is always wasted first. The flesh next. Now then, every pound of flesh and fat that is wasted is a dead loss of twenty-five cents to the owner of the stock. When an animal consumes a pound of fat in maintaining respiration and animal heat, the waste is added loss, because it can never be retrieved. The substance that composed that fat and flesh is gone. The grass and grain consumed in making it might just as well, in one sense, have been pitched into the Atlantic Ocean. In another sense it would have been better to cast the grass and grain on the land as a renovator of the soil. Now to reproduce the number of pounds of fat and flesh lost will cost not less than another twelve and a half cents worth of grain. There you have twenty five cents in cash for every pound of flesh produced.

Every person who has half an eye cannot fail to see and appreciate the fact. It needs no further elucidation. The person therefore, who has ten heads of cattle and allows each one to fall away ten pounds each, loses ten hundred quarters of dollars, or $250! A hundred pounds of fat and flesh would scarcely be missed in the appearance of some animals. And the same rule holds good with horses, sheep or swine, and all kinds of domestic animals. Every pound of flesh lost is equivalent to so much money thrown away. There is the loss. No one can deny it. And there is the error in the management, and the grand practical question is, how to save that which has heretofore been lost?—N. Y. Herald.

HOW HE LOST THE OPPORTUNITY.—A useful hint to many young men may be derived from this little story which the Springfield, (Mass.) Union prints: "Not long ago a young man of this city had a most favorable opportunity to enter a business house in this State, at a large increase over his present salary, with a prospect of soon getting a place in the firm. His recommendations were first-class, and the officers of the institution were decidedly pleased with his appearance. They, however made him no proposals, nor did they state their favorable impressions. A gentleman of this city was requested to ascertain where the young man spent his evenings, and what class of young men were his associates. It was found that he spent several nights of the week in a billiard-room on Main street and Sunday afternoon drove a hired span into the country with three other young men. He is wondering why he don't hear from the house concerning that coveted position.

SOMETHING FOR HIS TROUBLE.—John Smith, the celebrated forger, who was arrested a short time since for signing the name of Mr. J. B. Montgomery to a check and attempting to pass the same on the First National Bank of Portland, has been convicted and sent to penitentiary for two years.
