Northern Pacific Railroad.

The New York Tribune of Oct. 30, has an article reviewing the progress of the Northern Pacific Railroad, from which we extract the following interesting facts:

When the contracts for this season are completed, the Company will have a permanent business in the great traffic of the Upper Missouri River, with all the Government transportation in the North-West. A few miles beyond the point where the railway strikes the Missouri the river bends to the westward, and is navigable for steamboats for 1,000 miles of water way from the railroad crossing to Fort Benton, at the foot of the Rocky Mountains, in Western Montana.

Nearly forty steamers are employed during the season in the trade of these upper waters.

In April next, at the opening of navigation, there will be a direct communication, east and west, by rail and river, from Lake Superior, in longitude 92 degrees, to the populous districts in Western Montana, in longitude 110 degrees. From this point westward it is about 400 miles through the passes of the Rocky Mountains to that portion of the Columbia River whence it is navigable to the Pacific.

The finished sections of road entitle the Company to about ten million acres of land, granted by the Government, constituting an area about twice the extent of Massachusetts. Ten million contiguous acres belonging to the Government are at the same time rendered habitable and salable. The lands are situated on either side of the line, and principally consist of excellent farming land, with the productive soil characteristic of all the prairie region. Settlers have already applied for more than a quarter of a million of acres. The Company has already begun the cancellation of its seventh-first mortgage bonds by the proceeds of its sales of land, and is accomplishing its great work with success and economy.

There is prospect of a large emigration of the tenant farmer class from England in the coming spring. One colony alone, recently formed there, through its pioneer agents secured a tract in Clay County, Minnesota, of 185,000 acres directly on the line of railway. The intended settlement is to be named Yeovil, after a town in the West of England whence the majority of the colonists will come. The first contingent of this colony numbers about 2,000; the remainder will follow in 1873.

The bureau having in charge the Land Department of the road has built and furnished convenient reception-houses for the free accommodation of intending settlers and their families while engaged in selecting their farms.

One of these is at Duluth, another at Brainerd, where the road crosses the Mississippi, and a third at Glyndon, at the crossing of the Red River. Emigrants used to trundle with their ox-carts over forlorn and desolate prairies, and bivouac where the night found them. It is quite different now. They are carried in comfort to the very sites of their future homes,—and the organization of the system is such that they are protected from imposition or spoliation from the time they leave their old homes across the water till they begin the foundation of their new ones under the sunset. Every able-bodied and industrious man and woman who comes hither makes the nation richer and contributes to the general prosperity, and in this view the condition and prospects of the road are a source of legitimate congratulation. Arrangements are making for pushing construction east and west during 1873.

"THE MAD HOUSE."—We cheerfully give place to the communication of Mr.
Booth, and commend the spirit in which it is written. He, however, mistakes the animus of our previous correspondents on that subject, when he attributes to them any other motive than that expressed by himself. "J. L. B.," "A mother in Seattle," and "M. O. B.," we believe are all alike actuated by an earnest desire for reformation of an acknowledged evil of the first magnitude, and not by any spirit of malice, persecution, or personal spite; their war has been purely defensive, and will cease with the removal of the cause, and none would rejoice more heartily than they should John Pinnell conclude to adopt the sensible advice offered him by Mr. Booth.
So long, however, as he pursues his present lawless and nefarious pursuits, he is a public enemy, a terror to every virtuous family in the community and a material obstacle to the progress of the community in business, religion and good morals. He uses the wages of prostitution, of the most debased character, to construct appliances of management to attract and lure young men and boys to his place, where they are subjected to the most demoralized and depraved associations. He advertises through public prints which are base enough to become his mediums of communication with the public, a restaurant, bar, skating rink, and fancy balls, when every citizen here knows that all these things are but subsidiary to the main business of a snaw brothel; and it is known to many that young boys, as well as fathers of families, are attracted to this place by mere idle curiosity; but can no more escape from it without contamination than they can touch pitch without being defiled. Every consideration of public interest and public decency demands that the thing must stop; "peaceably if we can; forcibly if we must."

REFORM.—Our City Council are taking prompt and energetic measures to redeem this city from the imputation of being the most lawless and dissolute place upon Puget Sound. It has been determined to suppress public gambling, close saloons and business houses on Sunday, and enforce the laws vigorously and impartially. Now, if our police officers do their duty as directed, our citizens will not be ashamed to have strangers to look over our town any day in the week. It will be observed also, that in anticipation of this enforcement of proper police regulations, a large share of our vagabond population have left for other parts, and our city is assuming the aspect of a well regulated and law-abiding community.
We may now reasonably anticipate that by the opening of another spring, public houses of prostitution and dens of vice will not openly flaunt their vocations to the public gaze.

FAIR PLAY.—We know nothing of the merits of the question discussed by our correspondent over the above title; but if there is any favoritism or nepotism in the school department of our local government, it is a proper matter for public censure, for there is no more common abuse of official power, or any to be more deprecated.

Ordinance No. 33.

IN RELATION TO GAMING.
The City of Seattle does ordain as follows:

1. Every person who shall deal at the game of cards called Faro, or Monte, or other banking games; or shall set up, keep or exhibit an E. O., or Roulette table, Shuffle Board, Bagatelle, Playing Cards, or any other instrument for the purpose of gaming; or shall have in his possession, to be used for such purposes, any gaming device whatever, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

2. Every person who shall suffer any gaming table or gambling device prohibited in this ordinance, to be kept, or exhibited, or used for the purpose of gaming in any house, building, steamboat, raft, or other water craft, lot, yard, or garden to him belonging, or by him occupied, or over which he has control, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

3. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal, or City Policemen, to enter any gambling house or room with force, out a warrant, all suspicious persons therein; or arrest any person or persons who shall violate any the provisions of this Ordinance.

be collected and enforced as prescribed

IN RELATION TO DUTIES OF CITY MAR-SHALL.
The City of Seattle does Ordain as follows:

1. That it shall be the duty of the City Marshal to enforce all City Ordi-

2. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal to take notice of all violations of the several City Ordinances, and bring parties offending before the proper tribunal to be dealt with according to law.

This Ordinance to take effect from and after its passage.
Passed Nov. 14, 1872.
C. P. STONE, Mayor.
G. N. McCONAHA, Clerk.

THE WEATHER.—A gentleman from Kalama, says the snow is from eight to ten inches deep in the valley of the Columbia, and the weather unusually cold for the season in that section. We had a small flurry of snow here a few days ago, but it melted nearly as fast as it fell, and the weather is now as mild, clear and beautiful as could be wished.

SUNDAY ORDINANCE.—I am directed by the City Council to give notice that the Ordinance requiring Saloons and business places to be closed on Sunday, will be strictly enforced.
G. N. McCONAHA, Clerk.

Common Council Proceedings.

Council met pursuant to adjournment.
Roll called. Present, C. P. Stone, Mayor; Councilmen, F. Matthias, J. T.
Jordan, B. Gatzert, S. F. Coombs and J. M. Lyon.

The Mayor stated that this was a special meeting for the purpose of passing an Ordinance in reference to Gaming, and to perform such other business as might be deemed necessary.

Ordinance No. 33, In Relation to Gaming, was read and passed.

Ordinance No. 34, In Relation to the Duties of City Marshal, was read and passed.

Council then adjourned till the next regular meeting.
G. N. McCONAHA, Clerk.

DIED.—In Seattle, Nov. 14th, 1873 of consumption, Mrs. Lucy A. Denny, wife of Samuel Denny, Esq., aged 54 years, 4 months, and 14 days.

Mr. Frank S. Chapin, Corresponding Agent of the "Mining and Scientific Press" and the "Pacific Rural Press," is now in this city collecting information and soliciting subscriptions.
The papers which he represents are such as we can honestly commend to public support.

Messrs. Pamphrey and Jamieson returned from San Francisco by the last trip of the Prince Alfred, each with a fine stock of goods for their respective houses.

L. P. Smith & Son received by the same steamer a fine stock of jewelry.

EDITOR SEATTLE DISPATCH.—Notwithstanding my "chronic" propensity for "grumbling," several highly respectable citizens of Seattle (among them ladies) have personally expressed to me their approbation of the stand which I have taken in regard to the "races." They have said to me, "if you will thus hazard yourself to expose a deep laid scheme to swindle for a few paltry dollars—why will you not 'clasp hands' with 'J. L. B.' and 'A Mother in Seattle,' and take an equally open stand against an evil that is sapping the very life blood of our fair city? If dollars and cents in a Jockey Club placed there by yourself and other business men of Seattle, are worth contending for because swindled away under the garb of honesty, why are not the morals and best interests of Seattle, in which you are rearing your children, worthy of your energy and support?" or words to this effect.

Feeling that their ground is well taken and their argument good, I have consented to give publicity to my views upon this important subject, through the columns of the DISPATCH, with your permission, Mr. Editor. In reviewing the communications of "J. L. B." and a "Mother in Seattle," I find those deep heart felt impulses of a true woman's thoughts and feelings, ushering both in almost every word they have uttered.
As the steam gushes from its fountain, so do those thoughts and feelings flow out from the deep throbbing of their hearts, such as none but a mother can know and feel for her child when surrounded by peril and danger. They result in every true and noble minded woman; and when excited to action, the public receive the ground work upon which are built the fairest and noblest structures of Society, in every land.
Whatever may be the upheavings of a community when stirred by the deep impulses of a noble woman, the final result is always for the best interests of society. They may not always advise as to the best means of attaining the desired end, but their words and actions lead out into that realm of thought where are found the cure for all evils, when properly applied. Therefore, should I, Mr. Editor, chance to differ with "J. L. B." and others, in regard to some of the means suggested by them to eradicate the social evil as related to John Pinnell, it is hoped that my language will not be so construed as to make me an apologist for any of his crimes against the laws of common decency.
Were the mother of this man—that fond mother, who cradled him in his infancy, and it is hoped, taught him in the paths of virtue and honor, in his young manhood—were that mother in Seattle today, who doubts but that her mother's heart would feel the sting and raise the cry that other mothers in Seattle are feeling and raising in behalf of their children and the best interests of the society in which they are endeavoring to rear them? But would that mother advise as a first resort, the same means to effect a reformation in her son (and of course a cessation of the pollution complained of) that "J. L. B." and others have proposed for John Pinnell?
Let us bring this matter home to our own hearthstones for a few moments and reflect upon the course which we would pursue. It is said that "we are all members of one great family." If this be true, let us take counsel together.
Let us remember too, that we are not speaking against one man but many.
John Pinnell is not the only man in Seattle or on Puget Sound, who has sin### ned against the laws of common decency.

Puget Sound Dispatch.

Vol. 1. No. 51. BERTH BROWN, EDITOR. Seattle, Thursday, Nov. 21, 1872.

An Organ of Licentiousness.

The Intelligence, which has heretofore professed to be neutral upon all questions of public concernment, including politics, religion, morals, education, and social progress, comes out in its last Sunday issue as the apologist and defender of social evils in our midst, which had become so open, defiant and aggressive as to alarm the fears and arouse the indignation of ever law-abiding citizen of the town, and to excite the disgust and contempt of all visitors, driving away from us many valuable immigrants who were seeking homes for themselves and families, and keeping from our University many scholars whose parents were unwilling to trust their sons within the surrounding influences. For protesting against this open lawlessness and profligacy, which was within the sound and sight of every citizen, and drawing within its deluding influence the youth of the city, thus corrupting the fountains and foundations of society, for faithfully and fearlessly doing our duty as a journalist in arousing and concentrating the moral sentiment of community against these manifest evils which all good citizens deplored, with a view only of pointing out a remedy; we are assailed as a "malicious journalist," uttering "calumnies upon the fair fame of this community, by a recourse to falsehood and misrepresentation." It will be remembered that we are implicated in these charges with a majority of the clergymen in this city, who have publicly endorsed our statements and our denunciations from their several pulpits, and with nine-tenths of the respectable fathers and mothers of this city, who have openly commended our course and bid us God-speed in the work we have undertaken. And it will be remembered also, that these denunciations of us and our course are written in the interest and under the pay of keepers of squaw brothels and other dens of infamy, and command the sympathies only of the lawless, dissolute and depraved portion of society. The issue between us and our contemporary is clear, distinct and well defined.

We take no issue with this organ of licentiousness in its compliment to the religious sentiment of the town, and its general observance of the Christian Sabbath; a sentiment which the publishers of that paper show their contempt for by selecting Sunday as the only day of the seven in which to print and circulate their weekly paper in this city.

We shall not condescend to apologize for, or defend against, the charge of assailing vice and immorality, for we should have been faithful to our public obligations as a journalist, and our duty as a citizen, had we done less. We will only cite the facts, to which every citizen will bear witness: When we assumed the control of the DISPATCH a little over one year ago—the two papers in this city were both printed, published, and circulated on Sunday. We immediately changed our own publication to a week day, as a decent respect for the laws and usages of all well regulated society demanded. We found even this change in advance of public sentiment, and unrecognized by even the Christian portion of community, who had become accustomed to their Sunday paper regardless of its moral character. Warned by this apparent indifference to public morals, and wearied of public or personal conflicts which promised no other results than to involve ourselves in difficulty, we hesitated long before attacking open and flagrant lawlessness and licentiousness which apparently dominated the town and defied public sentiment. We found a public place of resort, licensed by the County Commissioners, and tolerated by the public authorities, notorious throughout the country as a squaw brothel and dance house, occupying one of the most attractive portions of the town site and driving from its vicinity all improvement for decent purposes; its periodical orgies advertised through the same paper which comes to the defence of public prostitution; its proprietor recognized for his ill-gotten wealth among business men, and its dusky denizens displaying their tawdry finery as the badges of their vocation upon our business thoroughfares.

A skating rink was added to this hell-hole of moral depravity, and boys of tender age were lured to the den to mingle with thieves, cut-throats and drunken squaws in scenes of debauchery that would cover as with a pall of darkness and death every virtuous instinct or moral sentiment of youth. This moral pestilence was spreading its baleful influence into the very bosoms and to the fireplaces of our most reputable families; every boy in our community was exposed to the damning contagion, both moral and physical. Yet it had by long tolerance and accumulation become such a power that politicians courted its influence, merchants tolerated and profited by it, clergymen were dumb, and all feared to attack it single-handed; the immunity with which this great institution of profligacy was openly carried on invited lawlessness and licentiousness of every form and degree and made our city a haven for the depraved of every class; professional gamblers openly placed their vocation in the most public places, drunken squaws were allowed to wander upon our streets, war-derous conflicts were unnoticed by the police, and nights and Sundays were made hideous by sounds of beastly revelry. Strangers came in search of homes; admired the beauty and thrift of our town, but were driven away by its moral debasement.

Then "J. L. B." came to us with words of burning eloquence, wrung from a sensitive nature alive to human suffering, and we felt that our duty to our kind could no longer be avoided or evaded, let the consequences to ourselves be what they might. We published those noble sentences, and they struck a sympathetic chord in every virtuous and noble heart. It was a bomb-shell in the camps of the vicious and licentious, and it aroused the virtuous portion of the community to a sense of duty long neglected, and nobly have they responded to the appeal to their better manhood. It was a surprise to the lawless; they first raved, threatened and denounced; then attempted to show their power in the control of our elections; but failing in all this, they have fallen back upon their subsidized newspaper to save them from utter rout. But the fiat has gone forth; their doom is sealed; the laws will be enforced; no more licenses will be given to squaw brothels; many reckless characters have already fled to more congenial fields; gambling is no longer practiced in public places, and quiet reigns in our streets on Sunday. Seattle is in a fair way of redemption from open vice and licentiousness, which has heretofore characterized it, and we thank God for his small instrumentality we have had in producing this result, and for the brave and noble backing we have had from our fellow citizens, particularly the women of Seattle.

Mothers, Wives, Daughters and Sisters of Seattle.

The detestable, soul and body-destroying thing has been stirred up and its infectious and devastating influence among our citizens is becoming so apparent that we can no longer shut our eyes to its ravages, nor our ears to the cry of those who are calling with voice and pen, "O, friends of morality and virtue, of religion, of all that is pure, and true, and noble, in the family, in society, and in the church; come to the rescue of your loved ones; come up and help us to rid our community of the foul thing." Shall the appeal be in vain, with J. L. B. I ask, what are you going to do with it. Are you, mothers, willing to let the thing settle, and fester, and pollute the whole moral atmosphere of Seattle, until your sons are ruined, soul and body with its foul contagion, and you raise neither hand nor voice to save them? No mother among you, no wife, sister, nor daughter, can shrink her responsibility by saying: "My son is in no danger;" "my husband is a virtuous man;" "my father, my mother is honorable and upright;" my household can never be entered by the fell destroyer. Ah, wives! Ah, mothers, sister, daughter! the enemy may already have sapped the foundation of your citadel. Mother, that son on whom you look with so much pride, that son, on whom you hope to lean for support in your declining years, may have already become a victim to that most loathsome of all diseases; may have entered the gates that lead down to hell. He will keep you in ignorance of his true condition as long as he can, but when the crushing truth at last breaks with its full force upon you, you will cry out in the agony of your soul: "Not my son! O, tell me not that my son has fallen a victim to ———. Oh, my God! language is too tame to express its deep and damning significance!" And you, sister, who look upon that brother with all a sister's affection and trust; know you not, that when you praise his manly virtues, his cheeks blush, not with honest pride, but with the conscious shame that he is being slowly consumed by an infection contracted at the brothel? But to you, wives, what shall I say to you, to arouse you to a realizing sense of your duty to yourselves, to your husbands, and to your children yet unborn, as well as to the feeble, pining, nervous, depraved ones already taxing your strength and love to the utmost. Do you know where your husbands are when evening calls them down town to attend to special business? Are you aware that in many cases, were you to follow them, you would find them in places where they would blush to have you know they resort? Yes, wives, your husbands, "the respectable men of Seattle; who do not visit John W. Pinnell's establishment as much as formerly," are nevertheless contracting the same moral degradation and physical infection in that "other establishment" which is so much more conveniently situated, carrying pollution, feebleness and premature death to their wives, and moral and physical disease to their offspring. Are you willing to endure all this? Will not the love you bear your husband and children prompt you to action? Mothers, can you sit idly by while your sons are being slain before your eyes? Sisters, daughters, do you not feel your responsibility? The work is to be done. Seattle must be purified; and all that can contaminate the morals of the people expelled from among us. "How will you do it," do you ask? With J. L. B., I answer, first demand that the thing be broken up by the proper authorities, and if your demand is not heeded, THEN BREAK IT UP, if you have to burn it to the ground. You are not as helpless as you think. Once let the women of Seattle become aroused to a sense of their duty regarding this thing, and it would not stand there three days polluting the place with its vile influences. This true, that Pinnell boasts that he rules Seattle, and I do not deny that he does. One politician was honest enough to tell me that he was afraid to take a stand against him, by signing the petition, for fear of being defeated, as he was running for a small office. Pinnell having whipped him into the traces, by defeating his election, in a former contest for the same office. A clerk in a large dry goods store, was afraid he would lose his place if he signed the petition, as the firm was doing a large business with Pinnell. J. L. B. says one lawyer is retained, by a large fee, to watch the grand jury. And perhaps most of the others fawn to him, hoping to catch a crumb; while the doctors are living their coffers and living in style, with the money they make off his miserable victims; while the small fry truckle to him in order to catch a little custom to their different trades. Women of Seattle, with this state of things among all classes of men in our city, can you hope that they will act in this matter and crush out this mighty evil. It is to be hoped they may. But know you not that self-indulgence, and the love of the "Almighty Dollar" are powerful engines to keep us on the downward road to destruction, and blind them to the best interests of themselves, and their families; and that it lies with you to endeavor if possible to arouse them from their lethargy. But if you cannot, then take the matter in your own hands. If John W. Pinnell rules the men of Seattle he does not rule the women. The rise in the love you bear your fathers your husbands, sons and brothers, and put this thing from your midst, if you have to put it out of existence. M. O. B.

The following paragraph appeared in the New York Tribune of November 2: "Mr. Clark Davis, now of Seattle, Washington Territory, was born a slave of George McLean of Logan county, Ky., and, after his marriage he and his wife became the property of Becher Davis of the same county. In 1852, by permission of his master, Clark Davis went to California, since which time he has not seen his family. He has succeeded in finding his wife and one son, but three other sons are missing, and he is very anxious to find them. He has ascertained that one, William Hannibal, ran away before the war, and he hopes he may be found in the North. Silas was sent south before the war, and Peter left home at the time of the battle of Fort Donelson. Any one who can give any information respecting either of these men is requested to write to the distressed father, who will pay any expense incurred in finding them. Other papers are requested to copy."

It was through the friendly efforts of W. H. White of the firm of Larabee & White of this city that Mr. Davis was able to find a portion of his family. The younger boy, Levi, is now on his way to the Pacific coast, to see his father. Mrs. Davis, supposing her husband was dead, re-married, and is now living near Elkton Ky.

MR. GREELY'S CARD.—The telegraph furnished us, the other day, it seems, only a part of Mr. Greeley's card. The public will be curious to see the whole of it, and we annex it as follows: A CARD.

The undersigned resumes the editorship of the Tribune, which he relinquished on embarking in another line of business six months ago. Henceforth it shall be his endeavor to make this a thoroughly independent journal, treating all parties and political movements with judicious fairness and candor, but countering the favor and depreciating the wrath of no one. If he can hereafter say anything which will tend to heartily unite the whole American people on the broad platform of universal amnesty and impartial suffrage he will gladly do so. For the present, however, he can best command that consummation by silence and forbearance. The victors in our late struggle can hardly fail to take the whole subject of Southern rights and wrongs into an early and earnest consideration, and to them for the present he commits the subject. Since he will never again be a candidate for any office, and is not in full accord with either of the great parties which have hitherto divided the country, he will be able and will endeavor to give a wider and steadier regard to the progress of science, industry, and the useful arts, than a partisan journal can do. He will not be provoked to an indulgence in those bitter personalities which are recognized as the bane of journalism. Sustained by a generous people he will do his best to make the Tribune a power in the broader field; now contemplates, as, when human freedom was in peril, it was in the arena of political partisanship.

Puget Sound Dispatch.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Seattle, Thursday, Nov. 21, 1872.

Financial and Commercial.

SEATTLE, Nov. 20, 1872.

The Puget Sound Banking Company report gold in New York 114 1/2 currency buying, 86 1/2; Sight Exchange on Portland and San Francisco, 1/2 per cent. premium, on New York 1 per cent. premium for Currency, 1 1/2 per cent. premium for Gold. Sterling Sight Drafts on Jay Cooke, McCullough & Co., London, England, $5 10 per £. These drafts are cashed by special agreement all over Ireland, Scotland and the Continent free of charge.

In our local money market there has been no material change during the week. Money is in fair supply on short time @ 2 per cent. per month; there has been some time loans on Real Estate @ 1 1/2 per month, this being only on City property.

Trade during the past week has been quite active. Our merchants, without exception, are doing well. New stores are being started almost weekly and the increased trade of Seattle more than keeps pace with its increase of business houses. Our people are prosperous and are making money and our merchants can not help but do well here as long as they "stick" to their legitimate trade and manage their business prudently.

We hear of some speculators who want to make a quick turn with large profits, going to Victoria and purchasing large quantities of brandies, opium, etc., and taking it to San Juan Island, a free port both to England and the United States, which will probably, within two months, come under the U. S. flag. The goods being then in the United States, will not be subject to custom duties, and will show a profit of one hundred per cent. It is looked on just now as a better speculation than terminus property and a rush of our speculators may be expected for "it is a good thing."

We understand that there is marked improvement in the rate for County Script. The rout of the old ring and a healthy change in our County Commissioners has raised the confidence of our business men, under the new management of our County finances. The people now, have every reason to look forward to prudent and honest management, and the keeping of our County records in such shape that the indebtedness of the County can be ascertained at once; and that a business man asking for information will not be treated as a person asking insulting questions, and meddling with that which is considered none of his business. We venture the prediction that our County Script within one year will be worth 90 cents instead of 60 cents, as now, for there is a growing feeling of confidence, and an immediate prospect of steady reduction of our County debt.

MARRIED.—On the 14th inst., at the residence of M. S. Booth, Esq., by Rev. Daniel Bagley, Jacob Wahl and Mary Havelock, all of Seattle.

FOUND DEAD.—The steamer Zephyr brought the news that Nick Code, an old and well known citizen, was found dead at his camp on Whidby Island, on the 18th inst., supposed to have been dead two days, when found. No marks of violence were found upon him.

Jack Wheeler, an old logger on Puget Sound died at Snohomish on the 18th inst.

REMOVED.—Mr. W. M. House has removed his Barber-shop next door to the Bank Exchange, on Commercial street, with Mr. S. Rey.

The steamer Japan, on her way here, met with severe gales, and on one occasion a heavy sea struck the vessel staving her bulwarks and damaging her deck-house.

LAWRENCE, (Kan.) Nov. 15.—The furniture store of Bailey & Smith was destroyed last night by fire. Loss, $30,000.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—A fire at Missouri Valley Junction, yesterday, destroyed nearly the whole business portion of the city. Loss, $350,000. No insurance.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Disston's extensive saw works were burned to-day. Loss, $80,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil can. Three buildings were destroyed, with their contents, valued at $150,000; insured for $150,000. The buildings covered nearly all the square bounded by Front, Haydock, Carral and Lowell streets, and gave employment to 1,000 hands. The business amounted to $2,000,000 a year.

CHARLESTON, (West Va.) Nov. 15.—The Journal buildings, printing material and presses were burned this morning.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Comptroller of the Currency Knox, has returned from Boston, and reports that in the banks of the city there are $87,000,000, with a surplus of $2,000,000, and the losses are only one million and a half. He says the financial prospects, in view of these facts, are cheerful, and that business is fast resuming its usual channel.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A Washington special says the President made the following speech to the Philadelphia delegation who desired the appointment of a postmaster for that place: "Gentlemen, I do not well see how it would be proper for me to set aside the rules and regulations of the civil service commission. I some time ago determined to enforce those regulations on every proper occasion. Who have we here? Two candidates presented—both Republicans. One of them, Mr. Freeman, has been an employee of the Philadelphia post-office for some time. I am satisfied that he is fully competent to discharge the duties of post-master. If I was disposed to set aside the civil service rules, and go outside, I might appoint Mr. Freeman, but I cannot consistently do this."

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 16.—The storm which raged in the north of Europe on last Wednesday and Thursday, was very disastrous on the coast of Denmark. The wind blew a hurricane, rain and snow fell, and the streams inundated the country for miles. Great damage has been done to seaport towns, and numerous marine disasters occurred.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A Washington special says the city is filling rapidly with politicians who comment severely upon the course of the President in relation to civil service rules, as manifested in his remarks to the Pennsylvania delegation in regard to the appointment of Postmaster at Philadelphia. They allege that a strict enforcement of civil service will exclude many men from holding office who have just claims on the Republican party, and who can creditably fill offices for which they apply, but nevertheless cannot pass civil service examination.

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The remains of two bodies taken from the ruins of the fire are in charge of an undertaker. There is no way of identifying them except by patches of clothing. The body of the mother of Miss Martha Hutchinson has been found among the ruins of Sherve, Compton & Co.'s store. Miss Hutchinson saved herself by jumping from a window. Search continues for other bodies. A contribution of $5,000 was received to-day from Chicago police for Boston police.

Anthony and her friends: The examination of Mrs. Anthony is postponed by agreement until the 29th. She says she is pleased to have her case brought properly before the Courts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The President has recently been arranging points for his message, but has not yet commenced writing. Its contents of document can only be inferred from his recent private utterances. It is safe to say, however, that it will be more liberal in tone especially towards the South, than his former message, the recent vote in that section being indicative of better feeling than heretofore towards General Grant, while the press is more moderate, not taking into account the popular majority of the entire country. The hardening of Oakes Smith is regarded by Southern gentlemen as a foreshadowing of further friendly policy of Executive action relative to some Kluklux prisoners now serving out sentences in Albany penitentiary.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A fiendish attempt was made last night by depositing three heavy crosses across Harlem track at Winchester Bridge, to throw off Boston express train. Fortunately they were not securely fastened, and were readily displaced by the locomotive. A reward of a thousand dollars is offered for the apprehension of the guilty parties.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Crowded churches to-day were in remarkable contrast to the thin attendance of previous Sabbath, when audiences were composed of a few women and children. The great conflagration was the subject of the sermons to-day in all the pulpits. Washington street is now open for travel and other streets in burnt district will probably be clear of their debris during the week. A small military guard is still on duty. Thousands of people visited the ruins to-day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A terrible tragedy was enacted to-day at 4 1/2 street just outside the office of Judge Sutherland, on third floor. The testimony in a suit for divorce of Mrs. King from her husband was being taken before Judge Sutherland. A. O'Neil and his wife were witnesses. Said that the evidence of both showed very brutal conduct on the part of King towards his wife. After the case adjourned O'Neil left the office and started down stairs followed by King. When O'Neil had reached the second floor of the landing King drew a pistol and fired 3 shots in quick succession. The first struck his victim in the small of the back and must have caused him to turn around facing the murderer, as the fatal bullet entered his right breast below the collar bone. O'Neil walked steadily into the office of Wm. Quick, on the second floor, sat down in a chair and in about half an hour breathed his last.

As soon as the third shot was fired King ran back to Judge Sutherland's office, and handed his pistol to the judge. He then ran into the inner office and locked himself in. An officer arrived in a few minutes and broke in the door of King's retreat. He made no attempt to resist and was removed to New Street Station.

The dying man was unable to give any account of the shooting. The wound in his lung preventing utterance. It is alleged that King killed a man in the Sandwich Islands some time ago and attempted the life of respectable citizens of San Francisco at a later date.

Senor Galindo, the other Commissioner, is temporarily detained at Monterey.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 18.—The epizootic is spreading slowly in the city. The street railroads have withdrawn their cars to-day, more as a precautionary measure than as a necessity. The disease prevails in a number of the counties in this State, believed to have been brought in by Baraun's menagerie, which came in from the infested district.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Times correspondent says there are indications of a sharp attack in Congress on the new civil service appointment machinery, and adds that the election has rendered the friends of the measure stronger than ever, and they have the advantage of an appeal to the platform on which the party triumphed. Peter Cooper has addressed a congratulatory letter to Pres't Grant and wants the enforcement of the civil service rules. A Tribune special says the Administration has twenty-five majority on joint ballot in the Alabama Legislature, and that Senator Spencer will be re-elected.

EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE DAILY DISPATCH.

LISBON, Nov. 12.—The Royal mail steamship Berne, from Rio Janeiro, Oct. 22, has arrived. Gen. Mitre, Argentine Envoy, was rapidly bringing his negotiations with the Brazilian Government to a satisfactory termination. All obstacles to an amicable settlement have been removed. The Argentine Confederation was to make a separation with Paraguay.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—All the theatres tender benefits in aid of sufferers. The police stations are filled with property recovered from thieves. Sixteen thousand dollars have been restored to the owners and thirty thousand dollars worth await claimants. Gas was turned on today. Among the ruins on the site of Hixon & Co., on Washington street, this morning a small bundle of charred human remains was found. It was impossible to identify remains, but it is known that two men perished in the fire at that place.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—It is estimated that fully 150,000 hides of leather were destroyed at Boston's fire. Prices have advanced considerably. Unfinished leather has advanced 10 per cent, sole leather 3 to 6 per cent, and further advances anticipated in the course of the month. Sheep skins are high in price. It is estimated that 30,000 pounds of wool, including manufactured wools, were destroyed in the fire. The price has advanced 10 per cent, and is expected to go higher.

A meeting of citizens to confer upon present emergencies and future contingencies resulting from fire, was held at Tremont Hall to-day, Mayor Gaston presiding. In opening the meeting Mayor Gaston said: "While I regret days so full of disaster and destruction, which have led to the necessity for this meeting, I rejoice to believe you will have come here with resolute hearts and determined wills, not to find fault with the spirit of sympathy and generous manhood, but to meet the wants of the hour. (Applause.) We met to relieve distress and adopt means to restore to more than its original beauty, to more than its original security, the burnt Boston city. If any had come for other purpose, they had mistaken the spirit of the meeting. He had received offers of sympathy and aid from all parts of the country, and he would be false to the city if he failed thus publicly to acknowledge with gratitude such expressions. From our own citizens have come manifestations of the same spirit, which made him rejoice that God had given to them large hearts and large means." Other addresses were made and resolutions adopted in favor of reconstruction of street lines of the burned district on better plans, prohibiting mansard roofs; also in favor of erecting merchants exchange in some central locality; favoring an extra session of the Legislature to authorize issuance of building bonds by city, and for an application to the General Government for an extension of New Post Office buildings upon burnt lot adjoining, and for an act of Congress allowing draw backs on building material.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 13.—William C. Moreau, editor of the Logansport Sun, was shot to-day and seriously if not fatally wounded, by Judge Dykeman, a prominent citizen. Cause of shooting was an article in last week's Sun denouncing Dykeman. A mob of thirty men, employed by Dykeman, sought to tar and feather Moreau last night, but were prevented by the police and six arrested. Later—Major Moreau is not so seriously wounded as at first supposed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—William Jones, a seaman on the ill-fated steamer Missouri, and who was among the few who escaped, arrived here a day or two since in company with survivors. His story of the disaster and his escape contains an item of painful interest to the friends of Col. Albert Evans, inasmuch as it undoubtedly furnishes the only certain clue to his fate. Jones says, after telling of the launching of the boats—"There was a passenger, a Col. somebody I don't know his name, jumped overboard from the ship after we had been out a drift, and tried to get into our boat, but he sank again and never rose.

WESTCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 13.—George Grant, convicted of the murder of Amanda Spruce, a year ago was hanged here at 11 o'clock this morning. MADRID, Nov. 14.—King Amadeus is confined to his palace by illness.

MADRID, Nov. 15.—The Physician in attendance on King Amadeus has issued a bulletin stating that his majesty is suffering from paralytic rheumatism.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A dispatch from Rev. Robert Lloyd Collier, chairman of the Relief Committee who went from this city to Boston, says no estimate has yet been made of the number of families burnt out; probably there are not more than 300. ED. DAILY DISPATCH.—I see some growler has been attacking the Directors of our Public Schools in this place, and I having the misfortune to be one of them, I deem it my duty to answer it. In the first place, what is our school money raised for? Is it for the support of the poor, or for the payment of teachers wages? Every one will say, for teachers wages. Now, a school Director is sworn to do a certain duty to the best of his ability, and to promote the best interests of education. Now, ought we to select a teacher that we consider incapable, (or after trial find them so to be), because they are poor? I think all generous-minded people who have the interest of education at heart, will answer very readily, No! Now I know the Directors have selected the teachers in this district regardless of favoritism, after due consultation between themselves and the County Superintendent without solicitation on the part of those selected by us. We have a large school and I believe a hard school to govern; therefore, we think we have selected the very best teachers we could, to govern such a school. There are a great many teachers who will teach a school of 10 or 15 scholars first rate, but put them into a school of from 40 to 50, as our school is, and they will utterly fail; therefore we selected the one we did because we knew she had taught as large schools as ours with the very best success. But "Fair Play" does not complain of their incompetency, but complains because some of them happen to be some distant connection to some of the Directors.

PROCLAIMED
By the Governor of Washington Territory.

WHEREAS, THE PRESIDENT OF THE United States has appointed THOMAS J. MURPHY, Esq., of the County of King, in the State of Washington, to be the United States Marshal for the County of King, in the State of Washington, and he has taken the oath of office and
