Future Railroads.

From the Walla Walla Union.]
During the next two or three years railroad building in Eastern Washington and Oregon promises to be very active. Not only will the O. R. & N. Co. be engaged in the construction of the Baker City branch and the extension of the Colfax road to Farmington, but they have projected several feeders to their main line, one up the Pataha and another to Moscow, with possibly an extension of the Pataha road to Lewiston. The company also has engineers in the field surveying for a railroad route from at or near Baker City to Snake river. The N. P. R. R. Co. may conclude to construct the road over the Cascade mountains to Puget Sound. In addition to the operations of companies with which we are acquainted, three powerful corporations are "heading this way." The Union Pacific R. R. Co. now have over 100 miles of track laid this way from Granger, a station on their road in Wyoming Territory, over another hundred miles of the road are graded, while over 2,000 men and 800 horses are engaged in extending the grade. The intention of the builders of this road, as originally announced, was to connect at or near Baker City with the O. R. & N. Co.'s line. Recently, a gentleman who is connected with the building operations of the Union Pacific, assured us that that company did not intend to stop at Baker City, that the managers wanted and would have a line to the Pacific Ocean. Whether that end will be attained by continuing the road down Snake river to its mouth and thence over the Cascades to Puget Sound; or by way of Canyon City to The Dalles and down the north side of the Columbia; or through the Pengra pass to the Willamette Valley and thence to Yaquina Bay or down to Astoria, was yet to be determined. The Union Pacific owns the Utah Northern narrow gauge road which is in operation from Ogden to near Butte City, Montana, and the practicability of extending the road from Bitter Root Mountains to Lewiston and thence to Puget Sound down Snake river and over the Cascades. The managers of the Central Pacific Company have had their eyes on prolific Eastern Washington for some time and teams engaged in grading. In addition to these operations the Chicago, Northwestern R. R. Co., a very strong corporation, which is now building an extension of their roads through the Black Hills country, is reported as having employing parties in the field examining into the practicability of extending their road to Puget Sound. If Maj. Truax has, as is surmised, been successful in finding a practicable railroad pass through the Bitter Root Mountains by ascending the Clearwater river, our readers may look for the speedy construction of at least one railroad via that pass into the immediate vicinity of Walla Walla. In three years from this fall we expect to see the producers of Eastern Washington offered "competition freight rates" on their wheat and other produce. God speed the day.

The Oregon Short Line.

The following regarding the branch of the Union Pacific from Granger to Baker City and probably to Portland is from the Chicago Tribune:
This road leaves the main line at Granger, 329 miles west of Omaha, and runs in a northwesterly direction, following Ham river to Hodge's pass, thence on Baker City and probably to Portland, Or., on the Columbia river. This line is now graded for a distance of 150 miles to the Bear river basin, and work is going on beyond Hodge's pass. The location is now made from Bear river basin to Snake river, and surveyors are now in the fields all the way to Baker City. A branch is to run from this line following Wood river to the Chalis and Bonanza mining camps in Idaho, where rich deposits of silver and gold ore have recently been discovered. It is the intention to have the line completed to Baker City by January, 1883. The principal object of building this line is to make the Union Pacific a competitor with Villard's company, and the managers of the Union Pacific claim that this will be by long odds the shortest, most available, and best route from Chicago to the Columbia river, and while the Villard route has outlets to the lakes at Duluth, their Oregon line leads directly to Chicago, and can find no other outlet. There were reports that the Union Pacific will not get the line through the fort Hall Indian reservation, but the managers state that there is no truth in the rumors, because a treaty has just been negotiated with the Indians, for the right of way and the depot grounds, and the agreement has been signed by all the Indian chiefs interested.

A Terrible Accident.

About 7 o'clock yesterday afternoon as Emerson's mule train was approaching the city, by some unaccountable fatality, the load, which consisted of 6,000 pounds powder, exploded with a terrific noise, which was heard on Rodney street in this city, three miles away from the disaster. Mr. E. L. Shipley, the driver, was riding the rear mule when the explosion occurred, and the concussion threw him about thirty feet forward, utterly stripping him of his clothing and burning him in a horrible manner. He was brought to the hospital in a critical condition, and the doctors are doubtful about being able to save him. Two of the mules were instantly killed and others so maimed as to be unable to move away from the burning wagons. One of our editorial staff was standing on Rodney street in conversation with one of the gentlemen who had just returned from the Geysers Land, and witnessed the sight. First the lurid flash, and then the smoke appeared, and the noise was heard soon after. The dense cloud of black smoke hung in the horizon for at least fifteen minutes, and the whole appearance was as strange and weird as the sights just witnessed in the land of wonders. We learn that the unfortunate Mr. Shipley has a brother residing in White Sulphur Springs.—[Helena Independent.]

New Orleans Times (Dem.):

There is no doubt that the southern people are gradually but surely losing respect and admiration for the doctrine of states rights. In their desire to hasten the development of their material resources, and to secure the advantages of their section entitle them, they do not permit themselves to be embarrassed by state lines. They recognize the fact and accept it, that the functions of the national government are being gradually enlarged, and that the sphere of state government is becoming more and more limited.

A. J. STEVENS,

Superintendent.

The Spokan Times.

Edited by Francis H. Cook. SPOKAN FALLS, TUESDAY, Sept. 13.

A Chicago paper says there is no doubt that there are many men in this country who have inflexibly determined to kill Guitteau if he shall be set at liberty. There is at least one such man in Chicago. He is a cool, resolute, determined fellow. He is not a fanatic, but a man of good sense and sound mind. He has deliberately come to the firm conviction that it is his duty to rid the world of Guitteau whenever the latter shall be turned loose. He says that he does not feel any responsibility in the case so long as Guitteau shall be in the hands of the law, whether he be in jail, in the penitentiary, or the asylum. But the moment Guitteau shall be turned loose, whether temporarily or permanently, this man proposes to follow him, find him, and kill him, if he shall be anywhere within the boundaries of the United States. The avenger swears that Guitteau shall not be safe on the street, in the cars, in a hotel, or in church, or at his home, if he has any, nor in any place where another may reach him. There is not the slightest doubt that this Chicagoan is in fearful earnest about the matter, — as earnest and determined as Guitteau himself was in his purpose to assassinate the president.

GEN. GRANT'S FUTURE HOME. —The New York Sun is responsible for this: General Grant has bought the large double house at 3 East Sixty-sixth street in this city; and it is said that he is to make New York his home in the future. The house is new and has never been occupied. It has a brown stone front, bay windows, and is four stories tall. It is thirty-seven feet wide and eighty feet deep. The house is one door from Fifth avenue and overlooks Central Park. It is in a part of the city that has just been built up. Ten years ago there was not a house to be seen on that part of Manhattan Island, and only six years ago a bear was killed within a stone's throw of Gen. Grant's new house. The bear had escaped from the Central Park menagerie, and was going to take a bath in Beckman's pond. Now the whole region is covered with brown stone houses. The price asked for Gen. Grant's house was $100,000, but it was bought for $93,000. The house is very plain. It stands at the end of a row of dwellings, all alike, with the exception of Gen. Grant's house, which is larger than the rest. It has a spacious reception room on one side of the hall, and the parlors are opposite.

DUTCH FRED KILLED. —Last Thursday night, at Boise City, Fred Hihn, better known as "Dutch Fred," was shot and killed by a fellow named Bedell, from Wood river. The Boise Statesman gives the following account of the affair: "It seems from the testimony of one of the inmates of a certain house in this city that she was in her room with Bedell when Hihn came to the door, which was locked. He tried the knob of the door and was told to keep out or he would be killed. So far from discouraging him, it only seemed to incite him to forcible action. He broke in, and a fight occurred between himself and Bedell, in the course of which Bedell drew a revolver and shot him in the pit of the stomach, the ball ranging upward into the lungs. Hihn lived next door to the house where the shooting took place, was the first man in the house and found Hihn lying on the floor, with his back and shoulders against the wall and his clothes on fire from the flash of powder. Thomas Shovel and others then came and found him apparently conscious, but unable to speak.

According to the dispatches received by THE TIMES, it seems that Vice-President Arthur is urged to proceed to Washington and assume the discharge of presidential duties during the absence and inability of President Garfield. If the intention is to serve the best interests of this great people, we can see no reason why Mr. Arthur should not be our protege president. While we now have every confidence in the loyalty of Mr. Arthur to his party and the people, should he fail to perform his duties faithfully it will be a useful lesson to nominating conventions in the future. It is a sad day, at best, when our citizens begin to look upon another as a successor to President Garfield, even for a short time; but when the choice of a great majority is physically incapacitated for any considerable length of time he should have a successor during that period.

We are sorry we cannot furnish our readers with a full telegraphic report to-day. The telegraphic instrument in the Western Union office worked so poorly all day that when the operator here was ready to receive it he could not get it. We delayed the paper and telegraphed for an extra, but without the desired effect. Mr. Washburn, who does all he can to get the press report for us, assures us that such delays will not be frequent.

Grant's house was $100,000, but it was bought for $93,000. The house is very plain. It stands at the end of a row of dwellings, all alike, with the exception of Gen. Grant's house, which is larger than the rest. It has a spacious reception room on one side of the hall, and the parlors are opposite.

purchased the stage lines heretofore operated by Davenport and King. The last named firm will continue the livery business in this city, and will probably close out their stock at Colfax.

IMPROVING.—We are pleased to learn that the health of Mrs. A. J. McLellan is improving since her arrival from California. She is now able to walk about the house. Another evidence of the superiority of the Spokan climate over that of California.

THE COUR D'ALENE "SPECTATOR," a small monthly published at Fort Cour d'Alene by the military officers, publishes its valdictory in its August number, just issued. The "Spectator" has been a welcomed visitor, and we are sorry to part company with it.

Capt. Lawson, of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, returned last night from Senecaoteen, somewhat affected with inflammatory rheumatism. He is stopping at the Palace. When fully recovered, the Capt. will start for Lewiston to resume his observations.

IT seems that M. J. Maher stopped at Clifton the night he left this city, and next day proceeded to Westwood, where he was recognized and arrested. According to his books and sworn statements, Maher had received up to the time of his flight $801.50, $91 of which had been paid for dispatches to THE TIMES.

Gen. Robert Patterson, of Philadelphia, the grandfather of Lieut. W. R. Abercrombie 2nd Infantry, died recently in Philadelphia. He was a very prominent citizen and distinguished both in military and civil life. A veteran of the war of 1812, the Mexican war and the war of the Rebellion, he was also one of the largest manufacturers in the country, controlling about eighty factories. His estate is said to be very large, amounting to thirteen millions and upward.

Journalistic Faith.—Fortunately Walla Walla is the possession of a live journalist. Such an one is Col. Frank J. Parker, editor of the "Statesman." He doesn't allow nature to put on too much style without giving a pen picture of the "very latest." On a recent occasion, a volcano was reported away over in Idaho, an account of which was first sent to THE TIMES by telegraph. We hadn't time to run over and investigate the matter, and are very sorry to say that we were compelled to leave our readers to dreadful suspense till Brother Parker had resolved to be "the first to be there." Always ready to go where duty calls, this enterprising journalist tore himself away from the encumbrances of civilization and pushed rapidly toward the frontier. His speed was like that of the wind. Passing Dayton, Lewiston and Piarach's Hill, he made the quickest time to Mt. Ida. From thence he traveled with a pack horse, and wore out the seat of a government pack saddle. No one but an enterprising newspaper man would have suffered thusly. When Col. Parker reached the ragged edge of the greatest labyrinth of tangled forests ever designated on map or chart, and where no white man had ever been, he could learn less about the volcano than while at Walla Walla. Here he left the remnants of his pack train, and crawled into and through the primeval forest, with glory only seventeen miles away. On and on, manfully he climbed the mountain side, springing himself upward with the encouraging word "Excelsior!" He became weary, yet fainted not, lost the soles to his boots, yet halted not; hungry, and ate naught; but still he pressed onward with that peculiar trait of hoping against hope—so common with newspaper men—leading him on.

When Col. Parker had reached the summit of the mountains, where the volcano was supposed to be, imagine his great astonishment to find right before his eyes the very spot which might be the one he was looking for, and yet it might not. The mountain was charred and torn, was steaming a little, and sent up a peculiar and unpleasant odor. "Bravo! bravo!" about Stanley: "Whoop! it is the Devil's Hole!" and as such it is known to this day.

From Friday's Daily.—Dance at Flinter's Hotel next week. Mr. Burton, the painter, has his men at work on the depot building. J. S. Gray's 1400 B safe was hauled down on Glover's trucks, of course.

We have information to the effect that an Indian was killed by a fellow red, last night, across the river from this place.

The theatrical troupe, on its return from Colville, will give a benefit to the free bridge fund, on which occasion will be produced "Camille, or the Fate of a Coquette."

The Seattle "Intelligencer" says: "It cannot be possible that one or more lines of railroad will not be scaling the Cascade mountains ere another twelve months has passed."

T. E. Jennings of Spangle, and John U. Hoffstetter of Colville, who arrived last night, paid this office a friendly visit to-day, and reported their neighbors happy with abundant harvests.

Mr. Lockland, for some months in charge of the U. S. Military telegraph office in Colfax has taken the office at Spangle. H. R. Beckwith, formerly of Dayton, is now stationed at Colfax.

The King county Industrial Fair will begin September 26 and continue till October 1. Efforts are making to induce a large number to be come exhibitors and it is hoped to make the exhibition very successful.

Helena and Butte, M. T., each are striving to secure the route of the Northern Pacific. There are said to be only two practicable routes, one by the Little Pinecone pass and Butte, and the other by the Mullen pass and Helena. The contest between the rival cities promises to be a vigorous one.

Another paper in Eastern Oregon has died in consequence of that curse of the country press—the credit system. If every paper adopting this pernicious system were to speedily follow the fate of our late Oregon contemporary, it would be better for the publishers, better for the business and better for the country generally.

LONG TIME OUT.—The sailing ship Dakota, a new vessel on her way from New York to Puget Sound with railroad iron, is now out about 170 days, or over a month longer than she should ordinarily, and nothing has yet been heard of her. No particular fears are entertained, but interested parties are beginning to get a little anxious about her.—[Intelligencer.]

The law requires the county superintendent to apportion the school money in the county on the 1st Monday in September. Such has not been done in this county. Superintendent Stevens thinks the treasurer should report the amount of school money on hand to him in Cheney. Mr. Cannon says he has already made his official report to the county commissioners. But this does not satisfy the teachers to whom money is already due.

A NEW COUNTY.—Several hundred persons in the northwestern precincts of Yakima county have signed a petition asking the incoming Legislature to create the county of Kittitas, the lines of which will be: The Cascade mountains on the west, the Columbia river on the east, the Wenatchee river on the north, and the Naches and the survey line between townships 14 and 15 on the south. These lines include an area of about 4,000 square miles, the center of which is the beautiful valley of Kittitas, other precincts being Swauk, Peshastin, Wenatchee, Wenas, Upper Naches and Upper Yakima. Ellensburg aspires to the honors and emoluments of county seat, and in case of the petition's granting will undoubtedly receive them. In fact the petition asks the location of the seat at that place. The interests of the new county will be quite diverse, consisting at present almost equally of agriculture, quartz mining, lumbering and miscellaneous pursuits, nearly one-fourth of the population being engaged in each.

VERY LOW.—We are sorry to hear that the son of the Hon. Daniel Stewart is still very low with typhoid fever and hardly expected to recover.—[Statesman.]

Gov. Newell addressed the citizens of Lewiston, while there, giving a description of Alaska, and favoring the annexation of Northeastern Idaho to this territory and the forming of a new state.

At a meeting of the bridge committee, Saturday evening, Mr. Miller was paid out of the bridge fund $2,041.75. $1,638.75 must yet be raised by the 1st of October. The bridge is now open to the traveling public.

FOR THE SOUND.—H. Thielson Esq., has left Walla Walla for the Sound. In view of the fact that Mr. Thielson is in turn out fortunate for the places he visits we have great hopes that something stirring will transpire thereabouts before long.

Gen. Wheaton of Fort Coeur d'Alene, and Major Jordan 3d Inf., from Missoula, were passengers today on their way to Portland, taking their daughters to St. Helen's Hall to attend school. Major Jordan and his daughter came overland from Missoula.

NEW SCHEDULE.—According to the new schedule, the regular passenger train on the Northern Pacific railroad will leave Ainsworth at 7 A. M., and arrive at Spokane Falls at 4 P. M. and at Dry Lake at 6:45 P. M. Going west, it will leave Dry Lake at 5:39 A. M.; arrive at Spokane Falls at 8:15 and at Ainsworth at 5:15 P. M.

M. Smythe Esq. started for Sandy Point on the 4th inst. At the mouth of Clarke's Fork he met the Ewart family, the members of which are doing nicely. He continued along the line of the N. P. to Bull's creek, and still further on to Jillet's camp of surveyors. He reports easy grades but dense timber up Clarke's Fork. Returning Mr. Smythe reached this city last Saturday. Our old friend is a rustler.

LEONI, KING OF THE AIR; Sept. 17.

GENERAL CHANGE.—Mr. N. I. Johnson, who has filled the position as freight and passenger agent in this city for some months past so acceptably to the N. P. Co., has been promoted. He will hereafter act as commissary to Chief Engineer McCartney's surveying corps, with headquarters at the mouth of Clarke's Fork. Mr. H. Bennett, who has been temporarily in charge of the Western Union Telegraph office in this city for a few days past, was this morning succeeded by Mr. A. Z. Washburn, formerly of Ainsworth. Mr. Bennett will depart for Portland to-morrow, where he will again be employed by the O. C. R. R. Co. Mr. Washburn, who is an expert at his profession, will also have charge of the passenger and freight business of the N. P. railroad here. Although the work assigned him is undoubtedly too much for any one man, he will probably come as near performing it as any one can.

benefit but rheumatism, catarrh, weakness of the kidneys, ear aches and many other aches, too numerous to mention, are reduced if not totally expelled from the system. We say this not for sugar, but for truth's sake. This summer there are far less visitors than expected, hence the town looks deserted. The chief complaint we find in our mail facilities here; a sack of potatoes or a box of fruit will come here far quicker than a letter. It takes a mislusive full eight days to come from Walla Walla, if it comes at all, hence visitors coming here might as well be out of the world as at Medical Lake. Postmasters throughout this upper country, with but few exceptions, are usually narrow-minded and have neither judgment nor brains. Those of Cheney and Spokan Falls enjoy the same reputation for utter worthlessness. Communities in new countries have to endure many deprivations, but an incompetent postmaster effects it worse than diphtheria or cholera and fever, yet what will the people do about it?"

From Monday's Daily.—No better place for a foundry than at Spokan Falls. Captain Mills of Coeur d'Alene, and Capt. Cook of Camp Spokan, are in the city.

Some large buildings are soon to be erected at Sandy Point by the N. P. company.

Frankie Sharpshoot shot 70 odd ducks while at Medical Lake. Not bad for 12-year-old boy.

Hon. John A. Simms is receiving freight in this city for Chewelah, to be hauled over by the new road.

Reserved seats $1, giving any one a chance to hear Cantille, can be secured at Biven's store, for to-morrow night.

Surveyor Gen. McMillen, having returned from Colville, starts for the Big Bend of the Columbia this afternoon.

Col. Merriam and family, of Fort Colville, accompanied Miss McPherson-McNeal to this city yesterday, on her way to the East.

We notice that Colville teams which are hired to haul freight from Sprague come by way of Spokan Falls, because, they say, the new road is the easier route to travel.

NEW TELEGRAPH LINE.—Two companies of soldiers have been ordered to proceed from Fort Coeur d'Alene to Spokan Falls and there commence the construction of a Military telegraph line which is to extend to Camp Spokan, distant about fifty-five miles.

ENTERPRISING.—Frank J. Woolfenden just sent us word that he is meeting with excellent success among those people east of this city who are anxious to have their names enrolled on the subscription lists of the Daily and Weekly TIMES. Advertisements are coming with a rush, and job work too.

Daily mail service between Spokan Falls and Wallula, on the N. P. railroad, will be begun on the 20th inst. This is in accordance with the general rule where railroad trains run daily, and the telegram sent to the Postoffice Department some time ago by Gen. Sprague, stating that the company was ready to carry the mails.

For good breakfast and genuine French Coffee, go to the Western Hotel.

A wonderful scene was observable in the western heavens from this city on last Sabbath at about 9 o'clock. A star or great ball of fire seemed to be floating about fifty miles away, which would move about with remarkable rapidity, sometimes bordering on the horizon and again ascending into the heavens. At times the light seemed to be diminished, and again it would be very bright.

WOODEN SNAKE.—D. Morgan White, who is representing Leslie & Co., publishers, paid this office a friendly visit to-day. Mr. White has come into possession of a rare specimen of wood grown in this vicinity, representing the exact position of a snake when ready to spring at its victim. It is one and one-half feet long. Mr. White represents several valuable publications issued by the younger Leslie.

For Dessert, you get Nuts, Raisins and other Delicacies at the Western.

CUTTING SCRAPE AT COEUR D'ALENE.—An argument occurred in the quarters Sunday evening last after taps, between a soldier named Brigham and another, name not known. It became rather warm, when 1st Sergeant McGovern ordered Brigham to dress and go to the guard house. This he refused to do, except on condition that he could see his captain first. The 1st Sergeant consented, and took him out, and was taking him to the guard house, when Brigham refused to go any further. The Sergeant then struck Brigham, on which he (Brigham) drew a knife and struck the Sergeant three times, once in the neck and twice on the head. He is not expected to recover.

BOOSEWINE NEW.—Fresh Oysters just received, and on trial at the Bon Ton Restaurant. A rare treat for lovers of that dish which is a favorite with so many persons.

HALF, DOWN YOUR SIGN.

We must very respectfully request the "Tribune" to haul down its sign "Official Paper of Spokane County," which it persists in printing at the head of its local columns. At the last session of the Board of Commissioners the Spokan DAILY and WEEKLY TIMES was made the official paper of Spokane county, according to law; and in such official paper the officers of the county are required to publish all official notices. New subscribers to local papers often take this question into account; therefore, the false statement at the head of the "Tribune's" columns is liable to mislead its readers. Let us hope that Brother Kellogg has left this heading in his paper by mistake, rather than by intent to mislead.

CANVASSING AGENT.

Owing to the great demand throughout the various towns and settlements of this Northeastern Washington for the newspaper which furnishes the very latest and most reliable news, Mr. Frank J. Woolfenden will be prepared to wait upon the people and receive their subscriptions on and after the 7th inst.

Our Territorial Legislature will soon convene at Olympia, and the most important events of that body will be transmitted to THE TIMES by telegraph. Now is the time to subscribe for such a newspaper as has never before been published north of Snake river.

Judicious Advertising.

A millionaire who has made every dollar of his fortune by advertising, offers on retiring from business this bit of advice gratis to those he leaves struggle behind, while he departs to Europe to enjoy life: "The fault of the ordinary advertiser is this—he goes in a spurt, and while the fit is on him he will pay money to any journal he may fall across. By-and-by the bills come in; the advertiser finds he has spent three times as many dollars as he meant to, and as there are no replies to his advertising he thinks the specialty he has been trying has failed flat, and the public taste or business has become dull, and he fancies buyers are few and little likely to pay attention to his announcements. He stops short accordingly, and loses nearly all the benefit of his previous expenditure. The success reached by those whose advertisements appear every year, should teach men of business first to be careful in the selection of the medium they choose, and next, when satisfied on this point, to persevere, disregarding apparent failure, and re-renewing until when business is dull, as that is the time when advertising is most necessary.
