THE THIRD AUDITOR'S REPORT. We regret that our limited time and space will not permit us to copy from the Pioneer and Democrat the replies of Miller, Weed and Armstrong to the Auditor's Report; but we earnestly commend the perusal of these replies as published in the Pioneer to our readers.

CLARE COUNTY ALL RIGHTS. To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: I have never noticed in your columns a communication from this part of the Territory, and am therefore impelled to the hope that a short letter might not prove altogether unacceptable to your many readers.

THE CANVASS. From all parts of the Territory we are now in receipt of intelligence, written and oral, concerning the canvass. All accounts tell the same story, with little or no variation.

QUESTIONS OF EVIDENCE. To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: There are three strong, powerful and irresistible evidences of the faithfulness of Hon. I. I. Stevens while in Congress:

1st. I. I. Stevens says, while there, he was faithful to the trust.

2d. Gen. Lane says he was, and directs the people of Washington Territory to re-elect him, under pain of his displeasure.

3d. John R. Scranton says so, too; says his praise is on every lip; his diligence sleepless, and his influence irresistible.

THE CANDIDATES. To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: STEUCE, June 20th, 1859.

As the present political campaign is fraught with more interest to the independent voters of Washington Territory than any previous campaign, it is high time every man who has the interest of his country at heart should consider well, before casting his vote for the next Delegate, which of the two candidates now before the people, asking their suffrages, advocates principles best calculated to promote their interests.

It is my opinion, and I believe I do not exaggerate when I say it is the opinion of three-fourths of all who heard Col. Wallace and Gov. Stevens speak here, that the principles enunciated by Col. Wallace are principles that will conduce most to the welfare of the country.

tion and used to further the purposes of such men as Miller and Stevens.

The above remarks have reference to a communication, said to have been furnished for publication in the Pioneer and Democrat by an individual in Steilacoom. Printed slips of it were brought down from Olympia last evening, and placed in the hands of two or three of the well-known friends of Stevens here, to be used among strangers to injure Col. Wallace.

Just at this juncture, political topics, in connection with the next Delegateship, are attracting, and, I may say, absorbing the attention of our citizens, and it is to this, therefore, that I shall briefly advert.

Col. Wallace followed in a long speech, which was listened to with interest, not to say eagerness. The eloquent gentleman was frequently interrupted by outbreaks of applause, which showed that the people were with him.

It is frequently urged that this county will go largely for Stevens, and it might have done so if it had not been for the absurd endorsement of the present elite and corrupt Administration, made at the late Olympia convention.

This county will go for Wallace; and, in view of the fact that this is the residence of those most devoted to the fortunes of Gov. Stevens, is more than any one could have hoped before the advent of that gentleman among us.

AN UNSWATERING DEMOCRAT. To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: STEUCE, June 20th, 1859.

EFFECT. To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: In the Pioneer of June 10th I see no less than three notices warranting and boasting of Stevens' success in the northern counties of this Territory, besides a very wordy letter from W. M. Morrow, in which he sets forth the many virtues of Stevens, and really induces us to think that he believes the sun to rise and set in the light of that gentleman's countenance.

This course necessarily displeased the Governor and Mr. Hartnett, who desired to be supported by the Valley Tan, through evil and good report, regardless of the facts or results.

The Governor and Secretary of Utah seem determined to push their support of Brigham Young to the extreme limit. Their last movement in the Mormon interest, of which we have intelligence, relates to the silencing of the Gentile press at Great Salt Lake City.

The two oldest boys told me that after they had been fighting for eight days, during four of which they were in the corral, from whence the water had been cut off, Bishop Hight, of Cedar City, came into the corral, and told the emigrants that the Indians did not want anything but their cattle, and if they would lay down their arms, their lives would be spared.

PUGET SOUND HERALD.

STELLACOOM, W. T., FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1899.

THIRD AUDITOR'S REPORT.

WASHINGTON CLAIMS.

Accounts of W. W. Miller, quartermaster-general at Olympia. In service from Jan. 29, 1856, to Sept. 30, 1857.

He charges to have expended or contracted liabilities in the year 1859, for purchases and expenditures and contingencies the sum of $107,461 55

And to have paid in public property to employees $3,994 41

Sales of public property to employees, $712 08.

Script issued in 1857 per account current 43,876 01

Total scrip 230,953 38

Amount reported by the commissioners 194,161 66

Difference 36,891 92

Purchases and expenditures per abstracts and vouchers received December, 1858 7,836 41

Purchases and expenditures brought forward 247,121 12

Total $254,957 53

Script brought forward 230,953 38

Script received December, 1858 7,836 41

Total scrip $247,789 79

Excess over amount reported by commissioner $14,638 32

Upon one of the last vouchers rendered the commissioners disallowed $176, but scrip is issued for the whole amount of the voucher, notwithstanding.

Quartermaster Miller's purchases, as indicated by his accounts, were very large, and at prices which seem in some instances to be very high.

Horses, from $125 to $100; oxen, from $800 to $200 per yoke; ox-wagons from $137 to $250 each; rifles, $30; pistols, $100; powder, from $1 to $1 50 per lb; blankets, from $5 to $6 each; coats, $25; pants, from $5 to $8; boots, from $7 50 to $10; shoes, from $3 to $4; shirts, $3 each; saddles, from $30 to $40 each; tents, $5 each; pork, $10 per barrel; fresh pork, from 12 1/2 to 30 cents per lb; beef, 20 cents; bacon, 35 cents; flour, $11 95 to $16 66 per barrel; sugar, from 18 to 25 cents per lb; coffee, from 25 to 30 cents per lb; beef cattle, from $7 to $150 each; oats, from $1 50 to $2 per dozen sheaves; wheat $3 per bushel.

Gen. Miller's accounts show large amounts for meals and lodging furnished various persons, at generally $1 per meal, without designating the persons, so as to ascertain whether they were entitled to them at the public expense.

He also reported for pay, in addition to their military pay, the members of Capt. Shinn's company, for services as wagon masters, &c., before notified. His abstracts show, also, quite a number of persons reported for pay for their services as "enlisted recruits," at $1 per day, and no doubt subsistence beside, not out of any of the pay-rolls, but in addition to the men borne thereon. It is not understood what this means, unless it be that these are men who had agreed to serve as volunteers, but were never received into service, or belonged to any military organization.

He reports bills for the lodging of wives of the soldiers, at $10 per month. With respect to the property purchased and received, it is not properly accounted for, being turned over to employees, to Gov. Stevens, &c., &c., with few exceptions. Clothing, flour, &c., is credited upon many of the bills of employees in part payment of their accounts, whether in all cases at the same rates as purchased, it is impossible to say in the time allowed for this examination, but the contrary is believed generally to be the fact.

Most of the receipts for property turned over are copies, and none of them are signed at all, being mere memorandums. Some of the property he reports as still on hand.

The prices which his vouchers represent him to have agreed to pay for his purchases are about the two preceding quartermasters at Olympia; pork and bacon rather higher, horse-shoeing 6 instead of 8 dollars each, and labor generally if anything a trifle lower and better done.

His accounts, however, have about them just as strong evidence of confusion and irregularity as the others, his purchases and disbursements being all mixed up together. His property returns are exceedingly unsatisfactory. They are very voluminous, showing scarcely anything but an unnecessary waste of clerical labor and stationery in their preparation, and do not show a proper application of the property which came into his hands to the public service. He admits to have received a large quantity of subsistence stores, of the two articles of coffee and salt more than sufficient to have rationed all the volunteers of the Territory during their whole period of service, and he disposes of by far the greatest portion of all he received, like Quartermaster Weel, by issues to employees, to "families of persons ordered in from their claims by Gov. Stevens," to "families of men in the service of the government," by sales at auction, and by issues to the quartermaster and to individuals not quartermasters or commissaries, and particularly to one William P. Wells, who styles himself in one place as "quartermaster's clerk, and in another, as commissary at Camp Montgomery. To this individual he claims to have issued, in bulk, of leading articles: 45 barrels of pork, 8 barrels of beef, 160 barrels of flour, 15,729 pounds of bacon, 296 pounds of coffee, 6,600 pounds of sugar, 232 pounds of rice, and 2,475 pounds of soap; of clothing, 261 pair of blankets, at 9 dollars; 410 coats, at from 12 to 25 dollars; 516 pair pants, at 7 dollars; 335 shirts, $3; 275 pair boots at $5, and 343 pair shoes, at $2 50—which cannot be discovered were properly accounted for, as this Mr. Wells has rendered no account or returns whatever, nor is he borne on any roll as an officer of an expedition.

Quartermaster Gove, by his own admission, appears to have received a very large amount of clothing as will be seen by the following leading articles, to wit: 343 pair blankets, 700 coats, 993 pair pants, 471 shirts, 854 pair boots, and 764 pair shoes; all of which he disposes of as hereinbefore indicated. Of his vouchers, accompanying his property account, there is scarcely a single original; all, or nearly all, being copies and memorandums, apparently very recently made out. His operations are represented to have extended from February until towards the last of September, 1856, during which time he appears to have contracted liabilities to the amount of $13,680 31, of which $4,520 22 is credited as having been cancelled by payments in clothing and other public property, and only $839 95 disallowed by the commissioners, on the ground, it is presumed, of extravagant charges, as they express no reasons for their deduction, leaving $8,659 24 for which scrip was issued.

His return of "hospital stores," is something of a curiosity, for with two bottles of oil, one
