Old Hickory.

Mr. Powers has concluded his sittings, but he spent a couple of hours with me this afternoon, and talked just as variously and interestingly as if he had not been pouring himself out for a week to one person.

When I first went to Washington, said Mr. Powers, I had several letters to General Jackson, and called first upon the President, and asked him, after he had read my letters, if he would sit to me.

"Do you daub anything over the face?" he inquired, looking at me under his spectacles, with a very ominous look of inquiry, "because I recollect that poor Mr. Jefferson got nearly smothered when they tried to get his bust. The plaster hardened before they got to release him, and they pounded it with mallets till they nearly stunned him, and then they nearly tore off a piece of his ear in their haste in pulling off a sticking fragment of the mould. I should not like that."

"O, no," I said, "Mr. President, I don't wish to do anything of that sort. I only wish to look at you for an hour a day, sitting in your chair, and I will engage to produce your likeness." "Ah, then," he replied, "it will give me very great pleasure, Mr. Powers, to oblige you. But when can you come?" "At any time, Mr. President, it suits your convenience. I have perfect leisure, and am wholly at your command." "Could you come as early as seven in the morning?" "Certainly, the earlier after light the better for me." In a few days I was regularly installed in a room in the White House itself. It was a room in which every morning was thrown about a bushel of newspapers from all parts of the country, directed to the President, marked to attract his attention to the favorable editorial notices of his administration which the editors had so disinterestedly written and published.

I am afraid they would have been very much surprised and grieved if they had known that, with the exception of one or two papers from his own district, the President never looked at any of these papers except as they kindled his morning fire. I found the President an excellent, most kind and courteous sifter. He invited me to dine with him, I think, the first day, telling me the names of his own household whom I should meet. We had an excellent dinner, but the General, I observed, ate only a bowl of bread and milk, not touching either meat or wine. In the course of the dinner Major Donaldson, I think, was talking very interestingly upon some recent discoveries in astronomy. After listening while the General raised his somewhat thin voice rather highly, "I tell you, Major, that we don't really know any thing about the weight and size of those distant heavenly bodies. It's all a guess and a pretense.

"It's nonsense, sir, to talk about a little spark, twinkling away up in the sky, as if we knew just how far off it was." "But, General," returned the Major, "if we did not know the place and the size of some of the distant planets and stars, how could eclipses be predicted years ahead with perfect certainty and exactness?" "That's all very easy, sir, very easy," replied the General; "it's done by tradition, sir. The stars move in their very orbits. Their places are observed at certain times, and noted; when they come again to the same places it's observed and handed down and so, sir, we know when they will be in those places again; it may be a hundred years hence. It's all very simple. I don't believe a word of what these astronomers say about the immense distance and size of the fixed stars. I shouldn't wonder if the moon was as big as any of 'em."

It was hardly deemed judicious to press the conversation on astronomy any further.—Dr. Ballou

A Reminiscence by a California Pioneer.

At the recent Pioneer Celebration in San Francisco, Mr. John S. Hitt delivered an oration rich in reminiscence of early life in California. The following is an interesting passage:

Of the army of 20,000 men who in May, 1849, broke camp at various points on the banks of the Missouri River between Council Bluffs and Independence, to march to the land of gold, I was one. A few had pack animals or mule teams, but most had oxen—three yoke and three men to a wagon—in which we had provisions for a year, as there was no stock in the mines, and we knew not when we should find a supply. As for the men, we were the flower of the West; nearly all young, active, healthy, many well educated, all full of hope and enthusiasm. In our ignorance of the nature of auriferous deposits we expected—unless particularly unfortunate—to strike places where we should dig up 200 or 300 pounds of gold in a day without difficulty.

In visions by day and dreams by night we saw ourselves in the possession of treasures more splendid than ## those that dazzled the eyes of Aladdin.

We compared ourselves to the Argonauts, to the army of Alexander starting to conquer Persia, to the Crusaders. Our enthusiasm was maintained by our numbers. The road, as far as we could see by day from the highest mountains, was lined with men and wagons; at night the camp-fires gleamed like the lights of a city set on a hill. Our bright anticipations suffered no diminution as we advanced on our journey; vexatious and tiresome as many of the delays were, we never forgot, we never doubted the reward that was to compensate us. The long march of 2,000 miles (for we were nearly all afoot, and there were no seats in the wagons,) the fording and ferrying of cold and swift rivers, and the repeated preparation for Indian attacks, of which false alarms were spread; the tedious guarding of the cattle at night, the long marches over the deserts, the oppressive heat and the still more oppressive dust of the alkaline plains, the toilsome ascent of the mountain which seemed so steep that we doubted whether our oxen could climb up alone—all these were borne, if not cheerfully, yet without regret that we had ventured upon them. I can mention, but I can not describe, the anxiety of finding that a desert which we expected to cross in forty miles was much longer, and on being told by a man who met us that he had been thirty miles beyond and found no sign of grass or water. Our oxen were already exhausted, and such a distance was impracticable. Nobody that we knew had been over the road, nor had we any guide. We went on however, and found two families, men, women and children, in tears, their oxen all dead, themselves helpless. We still pressed on, and the next morning we and the unfortunate families were in camp at an oasis, and fiddling and dancing followed the suffering. Neither can I describe the delight with which we looked down from the summit of the Sierra Nevada over the distant valley of the Sacramento, dim and golden in the rays of the setting sun.

A Starter.

The scientific men of Europe are collecting arguments to prove that Americans are rapidly assuming the physical characteristics of Indians. Henri Berthoud, in an article printed in Paris recently, says that the French gloves all make gloves for the American market with much longer fingers than those intended for European consumption, and quotes as follows from a letter said to have been written by a scientific man of Philadelphia to Premier Bix: "The Anglo-American presents from the second generation characteristics of the type which is not unlike that of the Lenni Lenape, the Iroquois and the Cherokee Indians. The skin becomes dry as leather, it loses the warmth of color and the redness of cheeks, and in their stead the color of mud tinctures it in men and an insipid paleness in women. The head decreases in size and becomes round or pointed. It is covered with smooth hair of a dark color. The neck lengthens. The eyes are sunken in deep cavities, which are quite near each other. The iris becomes dark; the eye's expression piercing and wild. The long bones lengthen chiefly in the upper extremities." The author also quotes from "another American author": "The language of Americans tends more and more in its standard phrases to become like the red men's—Indians. There is, too, a growing tendency to exclude light from houses, and a growing fondness for gayish colors in clothes—tastes which are common in all savages. Let us add further, the proverbial phlegmatic character of the English gradually disappears in Yankees, and in its stead there is found an uneasy, feverish and incessant activity, which shows itself by a constant craving to occupy the hands and by the universal habit of whitening wood. To avoid the destruction of furniture in American hotels, all their proprietors take care to provide each traveller with sticks for them to whittle at pleasure. Such is the force of the mania that the Federal Government actually votes an appropriation of money to provide the members of Congress at Washington with sticks to whittle, in order to prevent the destruction of the seats and desks at the Capitol.

New York has commenced the construction of a State Capitol at an estimated cost of $4,000,000, but it is quite safe to say its cost will double that figure when completed. The new court house in New York city was only to have cost $3,000,000, but over $7,000,000 has been expended. There is no such plan for municipal rings as a costly public building.

Vaderbilt has summed up the late flurry in gold, in one brief sentence—"I suppose that it is a combination of d—d thieves to put money into their pockets."

A Strange Story.

The Loudon Herald tells the following story: Not many years since certain miners, working far under ground, came upon the body of a poor fellow who had perished in the suffocating pit forty years before. Some chemical agent to which the body had been subjected—an agent prepared in the laboratory of nature—had effectually arrested the progress of decay. They brought it up to the surface, and for a while till it crumbled through exposure to the atmosphere, it lay the image of a fine sturdy young man. No conclusion had passed over the face in death—the features were tranquil the hair was as black as jet.

No one had recognized the face—a generation had grown since the miner went down into his shaft for the last time. But a tottering old woman who had hurried from her cottage at hearing the news, came up, and she knew again the face which she had not forgotten.

The poor miner was to be her husband on the day after that on which he died.

They were rough people, of course who were looking on; a liberal education and refined feelings are not deemed essential to the man whose work is to get up coal or even tin; but there were no dry eyes when the gray-headed old pilgrim cast herself upon the youthful corpse, and poured into its deaf ear many words of endearment unused for forty six years. It was a touching contrast, the one so old, the other so young. They had both been young those long years, but time had gone on with the living and stood still with the dead.

A watch presented to General Washington during the revolution, and stolen from the latter at Nashville, during his visit to this country in 1825, has been recently discovered at a pawnbroker's shop, where it was seen by an old gentleman who recognized it from a description published at the time of the theft.

Originality is desirable; but when it finds vent in such a shape as bestowing the title of "Lean Wolf" upon a newspaper, it is not commendable. People will be apt to keep that "Wolf from the door." This ravenous animal hails from Wisconsin, while Missouri has a sheet called the "Sedalia Bazaar." Nevada is happy with "The Sage Brush" and the "Old Pi-Ute," while Texas contents herself with the "Jimple-uck." Such titles are simply abominable, and are of course the only things noticeable in the sheets which foolishly assume them.

The economy of old ladies who have never tasted of the sweets of matrimony is proverbial. One of this class, a resident of a down-east village, was seen on several occasions to carefully gather up and put away for safe-keeping all the Republican papers which she could lay her hands on. Upon being asked the reason for this species of frugality and her apparent affection for this kind of publications, she replied that she used them for making soap, assuring her listener that they were superior to wood ashes for that purpose, inasmuch as they were all pure and unadulterated lye.

A domestic romance comes from New York. Twenty-two years ago a couple were married, had one son, lived together ten years, and then, after losing all their property, procured a divorce. The woman married again, and got a fortune; the husband didn't, and remained poor. And now that the woman has become a rich widow, she has remarried her first husband, and they are going to Boston for a revised honeymoon.

A Helena, Montana, dispatch says the mutilated bodies of two men, murdered by the Indians, were found yesterday within thirty miles of this city. Miners from Elk creek and other streams flowing into Sashitch, 150 miles north of Fort Benton, report that rich placer mines have been discovered, but they were driven out by the Indians.

A. T. Stewart claims that he does business "to establish the principles of truth." His hard-worked employees aver that his principal object seems to be to get as much work out of them for as little money as possible.

The Philadelphia Star reports that "Dr. Mary Walker's pants are getting thread-bare." The Boston News pronounces the statement "a barefaced lie." These comments upon the lady's apparel must be very embarrassing to her.

Mysterious.

A correspondent of the French Journal Official, writes as follows:

About forty years ago, when a large house in Constantinople had sunk beneath the level of the soil, an immense series of subterranean vaults were discovered, supported by magnificent marble pillars, which judging by their rich decorations, were the work of Greek artists. Underneath the vaults is a lake of unknown extent and of considerable depth. This mysterious construction, of which history makes no mention, is supposed to extend under a considerable part of the city. The principal entrance, being the only one accessible to visitors, is situated in the courtyard of a private palace, the proprietor of which has a boat in which he amuses himself sailing about within a hundred yards of the entrance.

Last month an Englishman, accompanied by a sailor, desired to explore the lake thoroughly. Having obtained the necessary permission, he set forth on his adventurous journey, but never returned, and the sailor having been apphixiated beyond the reach of help. Another Englishman volunteered to go alone in search of them in another boat with six torches attached to it; for a long time the reflection of the torches upon the waters was visible to the onlookers at the entrance, until it was lost in the gloom and darkness. After an absence of two hours, he returned from his unsuccessful search completely exhausted, and nearly choked with the foul air he had inhaled, having in his whole course seen the ranges of vaults and pillars uniformly continued. The Turkish authorities have ordered the boat to be lifted, and prohibited parties from sailing on the lake, but still permit the curious to inspect this singular construction at the entrance, which reminds the beholder of the architectural wonders of ancient Egypt.

A YOUNG MAN NEARLY WHIPPED TO DEATH BY WOMEN—A case of unusual interest lately transpired in the Police Court at Baltimore. Alice, Lena and Deborah Jones, the latter the mother of the two first named, and Catharine Helen, were arrested on a charge of assaulting and attempting to kill Samuel F. Lee. The outrage was committed at the residence of Mrs. Jones. The victim to the assault, who was so badly beaten as to be almost entirely unrecognizable, stated that he had been a visitor at Mrs. Jones' house for some time, and on Saturday was requested to call and see them. He did so, and while seated in the parlor in conversation with Mrs. Jones, she approached him and threw a handful of snuff into his eyes, completely blinding him. He was then seized and taken behind the door, his legs and arms tied, and cowed by the women in an unmerciful manner; his screams for assistance being suppressed by having his mouth smothered in a pillow. He was attacked three times successively, and terribly beaten, a piece of his left arm was bitten out, and the bones of his left hand were mashed. The assault was continued unmercifully for about half an hour, and was assisted in by the two daughters and two men, and when Lee had well nigh fainted from pain, they ceased, and bathed his body in cologne. During the beating, one of the daughters, Alice, removed a pistol from Lee's pocket. Lee further stated that the attack had been planned for some two weeks, and two rings were fastened to the floor, with a chain passing between them, which they endeavored to secure him to, but failed. The cause assigned by Mrs. Jones for the assault was that Lee had engaged in insulting remarks in her daughters' presence. She admitted the assault and stated that the snuff cost ten cents, and the cowhide the same sum, and that she never invested the same amount to better advantage. Lee is so badly beaten that he will be confined to his bed for several days.

In a recent address at a fair, Governor Hoffman, of New York, narrated his agricultural experience as follows: "Once, when in early life, health seemed failing, a learned doctor advised me to leave my books and go upon a farm and follow the plow. It was much easier to follow his advice to go upon a farm than to follow the plow after getting there. I tried it, however. My agricultural labor continued for half an hour. Having put my hand to the plow I did not look or turn back, but pushed forward to the shade of the nearest tree and rested quite content. What grew in the furrows plowed that day I never knew or cared to ask. Satisfied that my doctor would never have taken his own prescription if his physical power was as wasted as mine was, I converted my plow-share into a fishing-rod, changed my physician, and regained my health.

Editorial Correspondence.

POSTLAND, Nov. 1, 1869.

DEAR STATESMAN: At the request and in obedience to the wishes of friends who thought that my post of duty was at Olympia, and not in the sanctum, I left Walla Walla on Thursday night, about 10 o'clock, and behind a spanking pair of bays, the ribbons held by my good friend, Thomas Tierney, the best whip in the land, I was rapidly whisked over the road to Walla, and reached there in time to hear the steamer blow her first whistle. The night was dark, and occasionally we lost the road, but with Tierney for a driver there was no such word as "upset," and I felt just as safe as though I were in my own comfortable quarters at home. Summoned to make the trip at a late hour and with scarce a moment's notice, friend Tom tore out of his best team and put us through in gallant style. We may live long and pass through many adventures, but never shall we forget the midnight ride with Tom Tierney to Walla, and can best acquit our obligation by recommending him to all those who may want a gallant team and skillful driver.

THE TRIP DOWN.

Arrived at Walla, we immediately repaired on board the steamer Tenino, and cold and wearied after our long ride, were most kindly received by Capt. Stump and Purser Grey, the gentlemanly officers of the boat. In 1861 we made our first trip up the Columbia to Lewiston on the Tenino, and now, on her trip down, we found her just as good as when we first made her acquaintance. The O. S. N. Company is abused for many things, but those who pass over the line must admit that the boats are good and the accommodations most excellent.

UMATILLA LANDING.

With the first dawn of day, the steamer cast off her lines, and after a run of less than two hours made Umatilla Landing. The going was too short to admit of going ashore, but as seen from the water the town presents the appearance of having gone into the "scare and yellow leaf." All along the front street we could see vacant houses, and everywhere the eye turned was presented the evidences of premature decay. At one time Umatilla was the liveliest town in the upper country, but now she sits gloomy and desolate, with her glory departed, and her streets deserted. Like the superannuated player she "lags superfluous on the stage," and seems to be waiting for the undertaker's hearse and the funeral rites that are to consign her to oblivion. Vale Umatilla.

THE DALLES.

Continuing our journey on down the river, we reached the Dalles at an early hour in the afternoon. Like Umatilla, the Dalles has passed under the rod of affliction, but having more of vitality, still survives, and gives promise of a prosperous future; the halting place for all the travel on the Columbia River, it is impossible to stuff the place entirely out; but outside this advantage, the Dalles is the natural depot of supplies for the John Day country, as also the magnificent valley of the Yakima, and as these districts are settled up, the town must resume at least a portion of her former prosperity. Inhabited by an enterprising and energetic people, we are of those who believe that the Dalles is yet destined to witness a revival of her fortunes. And here by way of concluding this part of my sketch, let me say that the Dalles has always boasted excellent hotels, and chief of these is the Umatilla House, kept by Handley & Simont, who always extend a cordial welcome to the weary traveler, who under their roof enjoys all the comforts of home.

TO THE CASCADES.

Leaving the Dalles on Saturday morning, at 5 o'clock, we went on board that magnificent river craft, the steamer Onocota, commanded by our old friend, Capt. John McNulty, aided by Purser George Knages, the two combined forming a whole team, and justly universal favorites with the traveling public. The Onocota has recently been overhauled and refitted throughout, and placed in every respect in as good condition as when first she "walked the waters, a thing of life." The scenery of the Columbia River has so often been described, and withal is familiar to the readers of the Statesman, that we shall not stop to repeat a "thrice told tale." Less than four hours steaming brought us to the Cascades, where at one time the pioneer Johnson had a land claim which he valued at $2,000,000, on paper, as a town site. Ten years ago, the Cascades was a lively, bustling place, with stores, and all the signs of business activity. Now, it is dreary and desolate, and with the exception of a score or two of persons in the employ of the O. S. N. Company, is deserted. During the Indian war of 1855-56, a military post was established at the Cascades and it is for that occupancy that a claim for $2,000,000 is now before the Department at Washington. This claim is being engineered by Ben. Butler—he of spoon-baited notoriety—and being one of the "trooly loil," it is not unlikely that Ben will make the swindle stick.

TO PORTLAND.

After a detention of possibly an hour at the Cascades, the steamer Cascades hove in sight, and soon the passengers were on board, many of them for the first time to feast their eyes on the magnificent scenery, which no where is grander than for the first few miles below the gap in the mountains through which the Columbia pours its mighty flood. We found our old friend, Capt. John Wolf, in command of the Cascades, and from him and Purser Engles, we received many kind and courteous attentions. After leaving the Cascades, the first place we touched at was Vancouver, one of the most beautiful locations for a town-site on the Pacific coast, but sorely retarded in its growth by conflicting land titles. Despite this drawback, Vancouver is a growing town, and has a large and constantly increasing trade. Since being down here, I learn that Senator Williams intends having the military post at Vancouver broken up, and the army and all the munitions of war transferred to Portland. This he thinks will appease the anger of the Portlanders who are terribly down on him for favoring the East Side Railroad, at the expense of Portland's pet project the West Side Road. Ben Holliday, the owner of the East Side Road, is understood to have paid the Senator a handsome consideration for his influence, and now he aims to pacify his constituents at the expense of Vancouver. The radical party boasts many mean men within its folds, but for grovelling meanness Senator Williams can discount the pack. But a trace to this digression. After leaving Vancouver, the boat soon headed up the Willamette, but on getting off at Swan Island Bar, we found a vessel bound for Liverpool ground, and the Cascades was brought into requisition to tow her out to deep water. This involved a detention of several hours, and so we did not reach the "emporium" until long after dark.

THE COMMERCIAL EMPORIUM.

Arrived at Portland, we took quarters at the "Cosmopolitan," where under the care of the gentlemanly landlord, Mr. J. B. Spencer, we have fared excellently well. Our Walla Walla friends when visiting the "emporium," will do well to patronize the Cosmopolitan. Tired and wearied with our journey, we soon sought repose, but at an early hour on Sunday morning, we were up, and under the pilotage of our friend, O. S. Savage, Esq., formerly of the Dalles, but now a resident of Portland, we started out to see the sights. Our attention was naturally directed to the improvements, and here we may say that few cities in the United States boasts finer edifices than Portland. In this regard the progress of the town is wonderful, and it is in the splendor of these buildings that the business men of Portland give evidence of the wealth they have so rapidly accumulated. Possibly the most attractive building in the town used for business purposes, is the new Banking House of Ladd & Tilton, which is a marvel of beauty, and fully equal to buildings of the same kind on Broadway or Wall street, New York. The founder of this institution, W. S. Ladd, came to Portland in early days a poor young man, and at first, if we are correctly informed, was employed as a laborer to clear the very land on which his bank now stands. His wealth is now computed by millions, and this whilst he is still in the prime of life and enjoyment of all his faculties. So much for untiring industry and enterprise. Continuing our tour of observation, we next came in sight of the new Court House, a building to which every Portlander points with pride, and which fronting on the Public Square, has more the appearance of a State Capital than a temple of justice. This building cost so much that I am afraid to give the figures lest my readers may think I am testing their credulity. It was built in the days when the radicals ruled Multnomah county, and the knowing ones say that the "stealings" formed a large item in the bill, the county was called to foot.

PRIVATE RESIDENCES.

In Portland a great deal of taste has been displayed in the erection of private residences, and in all our travels we fail to recall a town that boasts more pleasant homes. Of the residences that more particularly attract attention, I may mention those of Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, W. S. Ladd, R. K. Thomson, and others whose names I fail to recollect, but the most beautiful residence of all, and pronounced one of the finest on the coast, is that of S. G. Reed, Esq. Vice President of the O. S. N. Company, and one of the earliest and most successful of Portland's merchants. This residence, with the outbuildings and ornamented grounds occupies an entire block at the upper end of town, and is one of the finest objects to attract the attention of visitors. The main building is in the French style, two stories and attic, and has on the first floor a sitting room and library, next the billiard room, furnished with one of Phelan's best. Crossing the wide memorial hall, we came to the parlor, a very large room, handsomely furnished and gorgeous with upholstery and paintings of rare merit; adjoining is the dining room, and also connected with the parlor, is the conservatory, in which the rarest flowers are in full bloom; the whole forming one of the most charming residences it has ever been our pleasure to enter. In this house, Mr. Reed, in company with his estimable lady, dispenses a princely hospitality; passing from the house, we visited Mr. R.'s stables, in which we found his horses better housed than nine out of ten of the population of Oregon. Yours truly, W. H. N.

DECEASE OF AN OLD CITIZEN.

Isaac Davis, a citizen universally esteemed and respected, died at his residence, Ninth and D. streets, at seven o'clock last evening, of congestion of the liver, at the age of 27 years. Deceased came to California from Ohio although a native of Maryland, in 1850 and has been identified with the interests of this section of the State ever since. He was at one time County Judge of Yolo county, and the present town of Davisville, in that county, is named after him. At the time of his death he was one of the highest officers in the Masonic fraternity, being a Past Grand Officer of all the Masonic bodies in the State; also, a teacher of Masonry, and Worthy Master of Tabern Lodge. He likewise was a Past Grand of Sacramento Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., and a member of Pacific Encampment. It is as yet uncertain when the funeral will take place. His son Jerome, now in New York, has been telegraphed to, and the last solemn tribute of respect will probably not be paid to him until his arrival.—Sacramento Union.

Another Great Railway Project. The New York Commercial Advertiser, in an extended article on the contemplated scheme of uniting Western Europe with Bombay by a direct line of railroad, says the difficulties of such an undertaking extending over two continents, would have been considered insurmountable and the projectors deemed lunatics, a few years back. But the grand triumph of man over apparently unconquerable natural barriers have been so great—especially as displayed in the gigantic railroad undertakings of America—that no scheme is now considered too difficult for science and skill to carry out.

THE FUTURE.

Notwithstanding the jubilation of the Republican press over the result of the late elections in the Eastern States, the Democracy have every reason to rejoice over their immense gains, as compared with the returns of last year, and to feel hopeful that the time is drawing near when they can wrest the government from the grasp of a party in whose hands it is fast approaching a state of bankruptcy, and once more bring the country to the condition of unsurpassed peace, prosperity, happiness and grandeur in which it was at the time of its transfer to the political worms that for the last ten years have been boring at its heart, until now there remains little else than the mere shell of its former liberties and greatness.

The intelligent masses of the nation seem at length to have partially awakened to a sense of their present and prospective condition should the Republican party continue in power, and are fast returning and swelling the ranks of the Democracy, as fully demonstrated by the recent vote in the States of New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Indiana, in which the Republican majorities have been reduced to at least one-third since the last elections,—in the former State the entire Democratic ticket having been elected. Intelligent men, of the Republican party now concede the fact that the dissolution of their party and resumption of the government by the democracy is simply a question of time—that time not far distant. In view of this fact, then, let us bury party jealousies, and move together in a solid body against the common enemy to the end that peace, good will and prosperity may again bless the people of this now over-taxed, badly governed country, and the present horde of government pilferers, relatives and carpet-baggers be washed away forever.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

We have received the first number of the Oregon Medical and Surgical Reporter, published under the auspices of the Willamette University, and edited by E. R. Fiske, A. M., M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice in that institution. The magazine is replete with valuable medical information, and will undoubtedly receive the patronage of the medical profession on this coast.

The first number of the Capital Times, published tri-weekly at Virginia City, Montana, by Messrs. McGee, Bassett and Morrison, has been received. The paper is democratic in principle, lively in tone, and altogether an improvement on the papers heretofore published in that city.

SAD ACCIDENT.

The Portland Oregonian, of the 8th inst., contains an account of the accidental shooting and death of Mr. Henry Coulson, one of the proprietors of the Cosmopolitan Hotel in that city. The deceased was widely known and respected, and his sudden and untimely death has cast a general gloom throughout the city.

CHINESE LABOR.

Several of the Southern States—represented in the late commercial convention at Louisville, declared their hostility to the introduction of Chinese laborers, preferring to pay the nigger a fair consideration for his services, rather than patronize the Celestial Republicans at any price.

DANGEROUS SWINDLE IN TEAS.

The San Francisco Alta of October 22d has the following: A gentleman has left at this office a sample of an article which he purchased within a few days as a superior quality of tea. Being an old tea drinker, and compelled to use the article medicinally, his attention was attracted a few days since by the appearance of some tea at a store in the city, put up in neat packages and marked with a well-known brand. He purchased a small quantity, but after drinking one cup prepared from the so-called fancy tea, was taken violently ill. Upon a close examination of the leaves which had been steeped, he found them to be simply the leaves of the ordinary California chaparral. Further inquiry developed the fact that the leaves of this and other shrubs are gathered in great quantities upon this coast, and packed in bales and shipped to China, whence, after being dried and prepared by some process unknown, it is returned to San Francisco properly put up in packages, and branded and sold as a superior quality of tea. The sample shown resembles the best quality of black tea, both in appearance and smell, and is calculated to deceive an ordinary purchaser. While there is nothing absolutely poisonous about the leaves of the chaparral, its effects upon the system are very disagreeable, and decidedly prejudicial to health. The discovery of such an outrage and dangerous swindle in use is calculated to startle all tea drinkers and put them on their guard.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER IN SAN LUIS OBISPO COUNTY.

The San Luis Obispo Tribune of October 18th says: On Thursday last, information was sent to Justice Simmler, acting Coroner, that the body of a person was found near the stage road, close to the Arroyo Grande, by Brand and Price. There were marks of two blows on the head, one on the left side, which fractured the skull. The body was found partially covered up with earth and rotten poles. The flesh of one of the arms was entirely eaten off by some animal, and the face was so disfigured that it could not be identified. On searching the body, there was found in a new bookskin belt the sum of three hundred dollars in gold coin, of which four were ten dollar pieces, and the balance in twenties. He had on salt and pepper colored cotton pants, a new check shirt and a new cotton under shirt. The description and particular marks of the body are as near as ascertained as follows: Brown hair, light chin whiskers and mustache; about five feet eight inches high; first lower molar left side gone; first cuspid, first left cuspid and first upper molar on left side gone; third molar lower right side and third molar upper right side slightly decayed. The deceased was apparently a young man. Wagon tracks were found leading from the main road into the canyon to where the body was found. The supposition is that he was a traveler killed by his companion or companions on the road and hauled away into this secluded spot to hide the crime.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A horrible accident occurred to-day at the Ohio river bridge, which swells the already large number of lives sacrificed in its construction. At 4:30 this afternoon the temporary trestle work being erected between piers 16 and 17, for the purpose of swinging a span, gave way by a jerk of the locomotive used in raising the timbers, and six men were precipitated a distance of ninety-five feet. John B. Payne, a carpenter, was instantly killed. James Kirby, carpenter, was cut in two and flung over the reefs; body not recovered. Oscar Gallagher and William Irvine, laborers, were mortally wounded. Robert Genesly, laborer, and Matthew McGuire, carpenter, slightly wounded. Payne leaves a wife and child. He was formerly of Cincinnati.

THE NATIONAL PEACE JUBILEE.

The Executive Committee of the National Peace Jubilee Association, having closed its accounts, make the following statement of the result of the enterprise: Total receipts from the sale of tickets, rent of stalls, and other sources, $290,270; expended, $233,588, including a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $56,682. The Committee, in closing the report say, contrary to the general apprehension the receipts of the Jubilee are sufficient to pay all expenses without calling on the guaranteed fund, and the balance remaining in the treasury is absolutely at the disposal of the Committee, to be used for the reimbursement of their own expenses, compensation of their services, or any other purpose to which it may please them to appropriate.

THEY HAVE UNANIMOUSLY DECIDED.

They have unanimously decided to add this amount to the proceeds of the concert given for the benefit of Gilmore. The proceeds of the concert amount to $32,146; the balance in the treasury, $6,892, making a total testimonial for Gilmore of $39,038.

"MARK TWAIN" GETS OFF.

The following in the Buffalo Express: "John Wagner, the oldest man in Buffalo—104 years—recently walked a mile and a half in two weeks. He is as cheerful and bright as any of these old men, who charge around so in the newspapers. Last November he walked five blocks in a rain storm without any shelter but an umbrella, and cast his vote for Seymour, remarking that he had voted for forty-seven Presidents—which was a lie. His second crop of rice, brown hair arrived from New York yesterday, and he has a new set of teeth coming—had Philadelphia. He is to be married next week to a girl 102 years old, who still takes in washing. They have been engaged eight years, but their parents refused their consent until three days ago."

DEATH OF A BENEFACTOR OF MANKIND.

The fame of George Peabody's disinterested benefactions has filled the world. And the whole world will mourn the death of one who has conferred such large benefits on his fellow men.

George Peabody was borne at Danvers, Massachusetts, in February 1795. His parents were poor and his education was limited. At eleven years of age he became a grocer's clerk in his native town, where he continued until he was fifteen. After this he spent a year with his grandfather in Vermont, and then went to Newburyport, (Mass.) where he acted as clerk in a dry goods store for an elder brother. He next went with an uncle to Georgetown (D. C.), where he engaged in a similar business. In the year 1814 he became a partner of Elisha Riggs in the wholesale dry goods trade, he doing the business and his partner furnishing the capital for it. The next year the house removed to Baltimore where it soon attracted a large business. Mr. Peabody here laid the foundation of his fortune. In 1822 branch houses were established in New York and Philadelphia, and the whole affairs were conducted by Mr. Peabody with great skill and success. His first visit to Europe was made in the year 1827, when he went over to buy goods. After this he frequently crossed the Atlantic and in 1837 took up his residence permanently in England. Having withdrawn from the firm of Peabody, Riggs & Co., in 1843 he established himself in London as a banker, where he remained in business for many years. During the last twenty years he has been greatly noted for his munificent liberality in endowing and supporting various institutions for the benefit of his fellow men. Both hemispheres attest his beneficence. Peabody Square, London is a magnificent donation to the poor of that metropolis, exceeding any similar charity ever bestowed. Baltimore, where Mr. Peabody resided for many years, was always kindly remembered, and his gifts to that city were numerous and large. Among his latest donations were large sums for the establishment of educational institutions in the Southern States. His native town, Danvers has not been forgotten in his benefactions, and his ashes are now to be brought back for interment at the place of his birth. In George Peabody the world has seen the rare example of a successful business man and a great philanthropist united in one person. To appreciate the man it is only necessary to compare him with Vanderbilt, who is building a monument to himself at a cost of a million dollars. Peabody's monument is the great and permanent institutions he has founded for the benefit of his fellow men.—Daily Oregonian.

MORE THAN 100,000 PERSONS.

Bear testimony to the Wonderful Curative Effects Of Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS.

A CURE FOR EVERY DISEASE. DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. Manufactured from the Native Herbs and Roots of California, is THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND Life-Giving Principal.

PURIFY THE BLOOD and the health of the whole system will follow. Nothing has been offered which out compares with these BITTERS.

The Life of all Flesh is the Blood Thereof. Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well.

Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters. Are a true medicine, placed in the hands of the people for their relief, and no person can take them, according to directions, and remain long unwell.

For Female Complaints. Whether in the young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or in the decline of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible in the health of the patient.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout. These Bitters have been most successful. They are caused by vitiated blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the digestive organs.

It is a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic. Possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. In this respect, these Bitters have no equal.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms. Working in the systems of so many thousands on this Coast are effectually destroyed and removed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. This disease, in a measure, is occasioned by the irregularity and want of action in the Liver, biliary ducts, gall bladder, etc. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Constipation, Flatulency, Distention, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Cough, and all the other ailments of the system, are the result of this Dyspepsia.

Morbid Condition of the Blood. This is the fruitful source of many diseases, such as Tetter or Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, Ulcers, Pimples, and Eruptions of all kinds. For the cure of these various affections, which are merely symptoms of a morbid condition of the blood, medical science and skill have not, as yet, discovered a Blood Purifier equal to Walker's Vinegar Bitters.

Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder. It thoroughly eradicates every kind of humor and bad taste, and restores the system to a healthy condition. It is perfectly harmless, never producing the slightest injury.

Let it be distinctly borne in mind that Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters is not a gilded pill, to delectate the eye or please the palate. It is a medicine, and not a beverage; it is composed of the best vegetable ingredients the dispensary of nature affords, and its effects are permanent and lasting. It may be considered incredible that so many cases, considered hopelessly incurable, have been frequently cured in a few days or weeks, and we cheerfully invite the investigation of the liberal minded and scientific to the cure it has made.

JOSEPH WALKER, Proprietor. H. McDONALD & CO. Druggists. General Agents, Cor. Pine and Sansome Streets, S. F. Sacramento, Cal., and 31 Platt St. New York.

Many years ago, the writer of these lines and an invalid physician, while visiting the Island of St. Croix for their health, experienced and witnessed many surprising and beneficial effects of the Balm there produced upon many of the invalids who were (like ourselves) seeking health; and, upon inquiry and investigation, obtained a full history of its medicinal virtues. He was delighted and surprised, and after his own recovery, which soon occurred, determined, if possible, to procure the sole right to manufacture and sell it in the United States.

The result of his labors was a glorious success for himself and suffering humanity, for the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS was thus made known to the world. PLANTATION BITTERS being an article of real merit, founded upon new principles, and relying wholly upon the vegetable world for its medicinal effects, worked a rapid revolution in the history of medicine, and became as a household word all over the civilized world. The cabalistic S. T.—1860—X was a talker of health, and the demand for the PLANTATION BITTERS soon far exceeded the abilities of the proprietors to supply.

Notwithstanding the large importation of St. Croix Balm, made expressly for the compounding of these Bitters, the quantity was inadequate. It therefore became necessary that arrangements upon an extensive scale should at once be made, and an agent was dispatched to St. Thomas for that purpose. He was fortunate in securing and leasing several plantations on some of the largest and most productive estates on the island. Houses, stills and presses were erected as if by magic, which utterly "astonished the natives." The services of experienced men and natives of the island were procured, and very soon the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS were in a position to supply their laboratory with all the perfectly pure St. Croix Balm needed in manufacturing the GREAT DYSPEPTIC TONIC AND INVIGORATOR. The above cut represents the natives crushing the sugar-cane and otherwise preparing it for the stills and presses.

As an antidote to Fever and Ague, Intermittent and Malarious Fevers, Dyspepsia, and other kindred diseases, the use of the PLANTATION BITTERS is unsurpassed in the history of the world. Over five million bottles are disposed of annually. They are adapted to old and young, male and female. They are agreeable in taste, and always produce an immediate beneficial result.

The Appetite for Tobacco Destroyed

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed, Tobacco. ORTON'S PREPARATION. ESTABLISHED, 1866.

One box of Orton's Preparation is warranted to destroy the appetite for Tobacco, in any person, no matter how long the habit may be. If it fails in any case, the money will be refunded, and no law suit will be brought. It is almost impossible to break the use of Tobacco, by the mere exertion of the will. Some nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted.

With the help of the Preparation, there is not a shadow of a doubt as to the fact that it completely destroys the appetite for Tobacco, and restores the person as free as before he commenced it. It is not affected by Tobacco, and it does not affect the system, and it does not destroy the appetite for Tobacco, and it does not destroy the appetite for Tobacco, and it does not destroy the appetite for Tobacco.

For about twenty years I had used tobacco in its various forms, and for the past eight years had been an inveterate smoker. Becoming satisfied that the extensive use of this narcotic seriously impaired my health, I determined to break myself of the habit. Hearing of Orton's Preparation for destroying the appetite for tobacco, I sent to Portland, Maine, for a box of your Preparation, which I resolved through the mail on the first of November. A month has not elapsed, and yet the medicine has effectually relieved me from my craving desire to use tobacco in any form. The Preparation is not more difficult or unpleasant to take than common chewing gum, and I conscientiously believe the Preparation will have the promised effect in every instance where it is given a fair trial. Upon that belief, and from an earnest desire to assist others who wish to break away from the slavish appetite for Tobacco, I offer this testimonial.

SAMUEL CASSIDAY. Beware of counterfeiters and all articles purporting to be like this, of the same name or otherwise. The price of Orton's Preparation is $2.00 per box, or six boxes for $10.00 sent by mail to any part of the country, securely sealed from observation, with postage paid on receipt of price.

DR. JULIEN PERRAULT, Doctor of Medicine of the Faculty of Paris, Graduate of the University of Queen's College, and Physician of the St. John Baptist Society of San Francisco.

Dr. Perrault has pleasure in informing patients and others seeking confidential medical advice, that he can be consulted daily at his office, Armory Hall building, North-East corner Montgomery and Sacramento streets, San Francisco. Rooms No. 9, 10, 11, first floor, up stairs, entrance on either Montgomery or Sacramento streets.

Dr. Perrault's studies have been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of the various forms of Nervous and Physical Debility, the results of injurious habits acquired in youth, which usually terminate in Impotence and sterility, and permanently reduce all the concomitants of old age. Where a secret infirmity exists involving the happiness of a life and that of others, reason and morality dictate the necessity of its removal, for it is a fact that premature decline of the vigor of manhood, matrimonial unhappiness, compulsory single life, etc., have their source in pain, the germ of which is planted in early life, and the bitter fruit tasted long afterward: patients laboring under this complaint will complain of one or more of the following symptoms: Nerve Debility, Pains in the Back and Head, Weakness of Memory and Sight, Discharge from the Uterus on going to stool or making water, the Intellectual Faculties are weakened, Loss of Memory, and the various symptoms of the system.

Dr. Perrault's diploma are in his office, where patients can see for themselves that they are under the care of a regularly educated practitioner. Patients suffering under chronic diseases can call and examine for themselves. We invite investigation; claim not to know everything, nor to cure everybody, but we do claim that in all cases taken under treatment we fulfill our promise. We particularly request those who have tried this boasted doctor, and that advertised physician, still worn out and discouraged, to call upon us.

Low charges and quick cures. Ladies suffering with any complaint incidental to the sex, can consult the doctor with the assurance of relief.

Female Monthly Pills. Dr. Perrault is the only agent in California for Dr. Bro's Female Monthly Pills.
