THE STORY TELLER

A PRINCESS.

She was a royal Princess, And the blood of a kingly race And the blood of a kingly race And its haire in her face.

THE STORY OF A MORTAR-BED.

I see a great many things from my window. It overlooks a very quiet street, but ever since I have been kept from going about by this wretched sprain in my ankle, I have found much to interest me in the street in front.

Dogs and Their Masters.

At the meeting which has just taken place at Dantolo of the two Emperors who between them sway half Europe, there is mention of the fact that Prince Bismarck arrived to attend the interview accompanied by his short hand writer and his famous dog.

A Husband's Love.

It is easy enough to win a husband. Most attractive little dumplings with a bright eye and comely voice can gather in a noble husband, but it is pretty difficult to retain him.

Tag but a little brief authority and a knit under-shirt.

We cannot exactly describe this magic power of a devoted wife over her husband, and we do not intend to try it.

Determined to Get an Education.

Last evening an officer of the Brown Street Station picked up a small boy ten years of age, who was wandering along the bank of the canal in search of a boat to take him to Dayton Ohio.

Save Something.

Children who have a little money ought to practice saving something. Many boys and girls of to-day hardly know a higher use for any money that comes into their hands than spending it for some foolish thing as quickly as possible.

Trunks of Belinquished Goods.

Nearly one hundred old trunks of all sorts and sizes and covered with labels, moldy valves in all degrees of corruption or collapse, old tin boxes filled with rusted nails, and apparently long neglected parcels were carried from the store room of the Continental Hotel the other day and piled on the floor of the auction rooms of Van Tassel & Kearney in East Thirteenth Street.

A Trying Age.

Young people who are passing from childhood into young man or womanhood grow with surprising rapidity, and the amount of awkwardness, conceit, of shiftness and irresponsibility that they develop is astonishing to those who do not know its cause.

LOCAL NEWS AND COMMENTS.

THE MAIL AND CHRONICLE.

THE MAIL has entered into arrangements with the San Francisco Chronicle whereby subscribers may obtain both papers for one year for $4.50.

PROFESSIONAL.—Messrs. Elwood Evans, C. K. Jenner and A. W. Engle of the legal fraternity were in town this week on professional business.

MR. ALLEN WEIR, editor and proprietor of the Port Townsend Argosy, was in town a few days this week for purpose of organizing a Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which he is District Deputy Grand Master.

THE MASQUERADE BALL given here last Thursday evening was a very sociable and pleasant affair, though not quite so numerously attended as usual. The music by the Graham Band and supper by Mr. Cook were in every respect first-class throughout. Lack of time and space preclude the usual review of the fantastic costumes of the evening, which were as a whole unique and creditable.

ATTENTION is invited to the card of the law firm of Messrs. Jacobs & Jenner, Seattle, which appears for the first time in the Mail this week. Judge Jacobs is well known to our people as an able lawyer and it only remains to be added that his partner, Mr. Jenner, is one of the ablest Land-Office lawyers on the Coast.

REAPPOINTED.—We are gratified to note the reappointment of Surveyor General W. McMillen. This is Mr. McMillen's third term which fact speaks for itself as the best evidence of faithful service in the performance of the duties of this responsible office. We congratulate him on his success, for he is in every respect worthy of it.

A MASONIC LODGE was organized at Skagit City on the 16th inst., by Mr. Thomas P. Hastie under dispensation from the Grand Lodge. The officers are as follows: Thos. P. Hastie, Master; Hugh Ross, Senior Warden; Peter Perry, Junior Warden; E. G. English, Secretary; Edward McAlpine, Treasurer; D. G. VanLewer, Senior Deacon; E. S. Tingley, Junior Deacon; Levi H. Ford, Tyler. The Lodge is entitled Mount Baker, and its stated meetings or communications are fixed for the Saturday of each month following the full moon.

A. O. U. W.—A Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen was organized here on last Monday by Mr. Allen Weir, Deputy Grand Master. This lodge was to have been organized a week ago, but Mr. Weir was unable to reach here in time. Having come unannounced on Monday, there were only fifteen applicants who put in appearance. The organization was proceeded with, however, and the following officers were elected to serve until July 1, 1882: M. W., L. L. Andrews; Foreman, J. F. Dwyer; P. M., J. S. Church; Recorder, J. A. Gilliland; Receiver, B. L. Martin; Financier, S. Jorgensen; Guide, A. Carlson; I. W., C. E. Bowden; O. W., J. W. Seigrist; Examining Physician, Dr. G. V. Calhoun. The lodge will be known as "Swinomish Lodge," and ten or twelve more members will join at the next meeting.

Quite a number from Whatcom, the Nooksack, and the Skagit were in town this week, among whom we noticed Messrs. Roeder, Reinhardt, Caldwell, Hogue, Fountain, Sebert, of the "North End"; and Mr. E. G. English, of the firm of Clothier & English, of Mount Vernon, and Messrs. Charles LeBallister, D. Forrester, Dinsmore, Gilligan and others of that and other points of the Skagit River.

MARRIED.—At La Conner, W. T., on Feb. 20, 1882, by Mr. Joseph F. Dwyer, J. P., Mr. J. L. Wallace and Mrs. Lottie White, both of this town.

BORN.—At Semiahmoo, W. T., Feb. 2, 1882, to the wife of Mr. M. H. Upton, a son.

J. & G. GACHES have just received from San Francisco (purchased by Mr. George Gaches) the largest stock of merchandise ever brought to this county, consisting of harness, boots and shoes, hardware, wagons, seed drills, cultivators, hay cutters, groceries and dry goods. They are selling at low prices. So give them a call.

DELEGATE BRENTS has introduced the following bill, for the building of a wagon road across the Cascades: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the sum of $75,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended under the direction of a commissioner, resident within said Territory, to be appointed by the President of the United States, in the construction of a wagon road across the Cascade Mountains, between Renton, in King County, and Ellensburg, in Yakima County, via Snoqualmie Pass, in Washington Territory."

The Seattle barrel factory is being put into first class order for operations. The heavy machinery for making barrels from a single piece of staves—coming from the east by rail. It will be the only one of the kind on the coast. Upon its arrival the machinery will be placed in position for speedy work. The factory will not wait for the receipt of full two thousand cords of bolts. Two hundred cords will do to begin with, as there will be some difficulty in getting all the timber needed.

MR. KINCAID TAKES THE FLOOR.

And Makes a Brief Statement of his Legislative Experience—Didn't Use a Free Pass, and Doesn't Think that Those who Did were Influenced Thereby.

MOUNT VERNON, W. T., Feb. 15, 1882.

EDITOR OF THE MAIL.—When I came back from Olympia I thought the best thing for me to do would be to take to the woods and keep quiet until spring, as by that time the people would have the new statutes and be able to see for themselves what kind of laws we have given them. They have now the Road, Revenue and School Laws to examine, and those with the Sunday Law may keep them quiet till they get the General Laws and then they will be able to give their verdict for or against the Legislature, and I for one am willing to abide by their judgment. I have been reading the criticisms of the newspapers, and it seems to me that many of the charges brought against us are rather thin. For instance, that the members begged the Post-Intelligencer to send them papers for nothing. I believe the statement to be false. I took the paper and paid for it, and I know of others that did the same; and I presume that all that wanted it did the same. It was quite natural that the members East of the Mountains should prefer to take their own local papers instead of the Sound papers and as we were in favor of economy we thought it best for each member to pay for those he wanted and there is where we made a mistake. If we had taken all the papers in the Territory and paid for them out of the people's money we would not have heard such a cry about extravagance. Our poor clerks, who seem to have been begging for newspapers, got more pay than the members, and were able to pay for their own papers. The great crime, though, seems to have been in receiving a pass from the Railroad Company; although there is no charge brought against any member that he was influenced by it in any vote that he cast. Two Memorials by almost a unanimous vote passed the House asking Congress to compel the North Pacific to build the road over the mountains or let the land revert to the people. Both of them failed to pass the Council, but the large vote for them seems to show that the free passes did not buy the members of the House. There has been so much said on this subject that it may be best to inquire who cast them instead of asking who sent them back. I have mine and it has not been used, and I think I will have it put in a glass case and send it to my grand children to let them know what an honest old man their grandfather is. I know of many who did not use them and of none who did; but presume that some of them did, and that they are as honest as those that did not use them.

In conclusion I will say that we had a long session. We worked day and night. We have done a great work. That many of the laws are a compromise between the two Houses, and that no member got everything just as he wanted it but took the best he could get according to his judgment, there is no doubt. I have no complaint to make against the members East of the Mountains. They are good fellows and worked well for their constituents, and from the experience I had with them I think them perfectly able to take care of themselves without any defense from me. The people know that it costs more for a session of sixty-five days and to revise all the laws of the Territory than a session of forty days. Consequently I am not afraid of the charge of extravagance.

ORIN KINCAID.

A MONTH'S RETROSPECT.—The Seattle Post-Intelligencer takes the following retrospective view of the recent tragic events which agitated Seattle: "It has now been about a month since the triple hanging in this city by the Committee of Safety. Our people have cooled off, and they can now regard the tragic act dispassionately, and can begin to think of its effects on themselves and their town. So far as we have been enabled to judge, these effects have been all good. The town never was more quiet and orderly. During the four weeks since the memorable 18th of January there has not been a single authenticated criminal act within our corporate limits. And this is a live, bustling, growing seaport town of 5,000 inhabitants. There has been no cutting or shooting, no fighting or disorder whatever, no arson, no burglary, no stealing, no wrong doing of any kind of which we have heard. People now travel our streets at night without fear of molestation, and they go to bed feeling a security more profound than at any time for many years past. Conscious of the entire rectitude and propriety of their course, and now enjoying its full benefits, our townsmen regard the unfriendly criticisms of strangers, and they are confident that in comparing the record of their town with that of Victoria, of Portland, or of any other order-loving, law-abiding place, it will shine undimmed throughout the trial."
