Dismal Fire.

CHICAGO, June 6.—This afternoon the large tannery of Eliot Dantzig & Co. on North Branch, burned. A stock of finished leather, valued at $75,000, was destroyed, and the building and machinery were injured to the extent of $75,000. Exact insurance unknown, but it is understood to cover the entire amount.

Fire at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Burlington Hall, on Twenty-second street, occupied as a meat market by Libby, McNeil & Libby, was burned this morning; loss on building, $10,000; insurance, $80,000; loss on machinery and meats, $90,000, half insured.

Personal.

Prince Leopold and Princess Louise and suite arrived from Milwaukee today, and will remain here for several days.

Meeting of Printers.

The International Typographical Union meets here to-day. The representation is unusually large.

North American Turner Band.

New York, June 7.—Western Delegates of the North American Turner Band, the great Turner festival or tournament at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, about 400 in number, arrived here from this city, started on their journey to-day on the Hamburg steamer. The delegation assembled at Turn Hall and was escorted to the steamer by several hundred members and several Turner societies in uniform.

Solemn Services.

Requiem mass for the repose of the soul of the late Empress of Russia, was offered at the Greek Russian chapel to-day.

Row among the Hot Street Chinese.

Quite a riot occurred among the Chinese yesterday at their quarters in Mott street. Over a hundred of them got into a fight at their club room, while celebrating a Chinese holiday. Plates and knives were drawn. Police appearing, the Chinese attacked them, but none were seriously hurt. The Chinese are very reticent about the affair. The street last evening was filled with spectators and special policemen are detailed to keep the streets clear.

Fire.

ASHLAND, Ohio, June 6.—Fire this afternoon destroyed the city hall building. Loss, $38,000; insurance, $23,500. The loss falls upon the city and other occupants of the building.

More Troubles.

SANTA FE, June 7.—Official report from General Hatch, of Fort Craig, states that on the morning of the 5th inst., Major Morrow struck a band of hostile Apaches near Cook's canyon, and fought and drove them out of the canyon. Major Morrow's command, consisting of Indian scouts and Company I, 9th cavalry, is now in pursuit. Two Indians were killed and three wounded, one of the former supposed to be Matinalo, a favorite son of Victoria. A large amount of stock was recaptured. Another band is in the Black range, whose trail leads into Mexico. A battalion of the 9th cavalry has been scouting the country on the east side of the Rio Grande. The commanding officer, Lieutenant Cusack, reports that the hostiles have left the east side of the Rio Grande. One band of hostiles is still strong, probably the main band, have gone to Mexico, and were followed to the line by troops. The Mexican authorities have been notified.

Matters in the Navajo country looks bad, but an outbreak may not occur, as the Navajos are rich in sheep, cattle and horses. However, troops are hurrying forward.

Personal and Diplomatic.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Chinese minister to Washington arrived from Europe last night. He will spend a day or two in New York and then start for Washington. His destination is Peru, where he will negotiate a treaty for the protection of coolies employed on the Guano Islands.

Murders in New York.

Two Sunday murders here; both cases surrounded by mystery; some arrests on suspicion.

Saturday's Skirmish.

SANTA FE, N. M., June 8.—Saturday morning last Captain Harker, with a party of his scouts, jumped upon a band of Indians near Cook's canyon, and killed three, one of whom is, no doubt, Victoria's son, and got five horses and some arms.

Duel.

RICHMOND, Virginia, June 8.—A duel took place yesterday morning between W. E. Elam, editor of the Whig, and Col. Thomas Smith, son of ex-Governor Smith. Elam was severely, but not fatally wounded, at the first fire. The duel grew out of an article in the Whig. All parties will be arrested.

Eph Holland Assassinated.

CINCINNATI, June 8.—Eph Holland, the notorious gambler and Democratic politician of this city, was assassinated last night. Holland was passing the corner of Fourth and Race streets, opposite the Commercial office, and when about fifteen feet distant from Woodrough, the latter leveled his revolver and fired. Holland gave a loud yell, staggered against a confederate stand, sprang upon it twice, turned around, and finally staggered behind the man at the stand, who concealed himself. Woodrough stood quietly under a gas lamp with his revolver in position to fire again, when he was disarmed and seized by the police. He went quietly along with the police to the station house. He has persistently refused to say anything in regard to the shooting to the police.

Holland is very seriously wounded in the groin, but it is not known at this hour whether there is a chance of his recovery. He has said several times recently that the ring was determined to assassinate him before the meeting of the Democratic National Convention, but he would stand his ground. There would be men at the Convention who would not like to see him, and he would have something to tell that they would not like to hear. The supposition is to-night that his assassination is directly connected with his political work for Tilden and the Democratic Party in 1870. The affair has caused much excitement about the streets where the news has spread.

Suite of a Japanese Official.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Aglo Gakota, secretary of the Japanese legation of this city, committed suicide this morning. The only clue to the cause was a letter left by deceased in which he stated that he had been concerned in the insurrection of 1877 in Japan, and had forfeited his honor.

Seaside Coast Appropriations.

The sundry civil appropriation bill as reported from the senate committee on appropriations this afternoon, is amended by increasing the item for the Mare Island dry dock from $75,000 to $100,000, and the item for lighthouses and steam fog signals at Tillamook Rock, Oregon, from $50,000 to $75,000.

The senate committee have stricken out the house appropriation of $50,000 for lighthouse and fog signals at Point Point, W. T. All other Pacific Coast items remain unchanged.

The Duty on Harley Malt.

The house, on motion of Morrison of Illinois, passed a bill placing the rate of duty on Harley malt at 5 cents per bushel.

PACIFIC COAST.

The San Francisco Libel Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—In the libel case prepared by Alex. Kydd, ostensibly on behalf of Mayor Kailoch, admits took a curious phase this morning. Davis Londonback appeared, as he alleged, in behalf of Kailoch, who does not figure as a party in the case at all, and moved a dismissal of the case as a put up job to bring a lot of dirty matter into court. Col. Dudley representing real prosecution on complaint of Kydd, objected strenuously as did Tyle, for the defense. The case was finally continued till to-morrow. Kailoch is not yet subpoenaed and is not at court.

Funeral.

YUBA, June 5.—Yesterday evening the residence of M. J. Ensen, of Central Colony, was destroyed by fire and one of his children was burned to death.

He'd for Manslaughter.

The preliminary examination of Jackson, charged with killing Riley on board the ship Tappan, took place yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Seavy, who, after hearing the evidence in the case, decided that the prisoner should be held on the charge of the next few days has bail being fixed at $1000. The prisoner is now in the custody of the U. S. marshal.

Man Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—An unknown man was drowned last night at Berkeley ferry slip. The body was recovered.

The Kailoch Case.

The case of L. M. Kailoch, for the murder of Charles DeYoung, defendant, by consent of all parties, was allowed till Saturday, and will probably be continued to make any motion of disclaimer to inform that his counsel may desire.

California Growing Crops—Tonnage.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Early in the week reports from the country were received of a highly satisfactory crop. It was stated that the crops in many sections were blighted by hot winds, and heavy losses were anticipated. Reports were, without doubt, exaggerated, and the cool weather of the past few days has done much to revive the plant, even where the effects of the winds was most noticeable. While there has been some slight loss from this cause, the extent of which cannot be accurately obtained at present, there are two points that may be settled: The wheat crop will be large and quality good. No reliable estimates of amount for export are obtained; but it will, without doubt, exceed that of any former year.

The tonnage supply is certain to be small for several months to come, the amount on hand being being expected to be below that bound here at this time last season, and over 70,000 tons below total in 1878. The present list shows that little is due here within the next 30 days, and a slight surplus is expected till late in the fall. Attention has already been called to the fact that many of the ships now reported to be on the way here have yet to arrive at ports under the weather, and in many cases the list. This fact makes tonnage to arrive in the early harvest months much less than at first appears to be the case, and renders comparison with former years misleading unless the situation is fully understood. Spot tonnage is less by one-half than at this date last year. The outlook, therefore, even conceding recently current estimates of supply any demand to be extravagant, is by no means a gloomy one.

The week under review has been a gloomy one, unfavorable reports checking business in vessels to arrive and causing holders of spot vessels to show more readiness to meet the market.

The latest charters reported are that the ship Hecla, 1529 tons wheat and merchandise, to Liverpool, 22 1/2.

FOREIGN.

Electon at Lyons.

LYONS, June 6.—The second ballot for member of the chamber of deputies resulted: Ballou, 820; Blanqui, 504.

PARIS, June 7.—The race for the grand prize at Chantilly to-day was won by Robert The Devil, Destrier second, Milan third, Beaumont fourth. There were thirteen starters.

Reception to Parnell.

LONDON, June 7.—The residents here gave an enthusiastic reception to Parnell in St. James Hotel.

Bismarck's Future Policy.

BERLIN, June 7.—Bismarck in an interview said that he would have resigned the Chancellorship after the late defeat but for the personal desire of the Emperor, and that henceforth he would leave the parliamentary fighting to others, and devote himself entirely to the foreign affairs of the Empire.

Another Duel.

PARIS, June 8.—Prince De Saint Severina and De Francis fought a duel on Saturday on the Belgian frontier. The Prince was wounded.

The City as a Domicile.

While the difficulty of getting a place to live in has materially decreased within the past few years, the difficulty continues to exist, and to be very serious. When things are at their worst, they are apt to grow less bad. The difficulty means of living were, until recently, at their very worst in this city. The improvement, however, has been much less than is commonly thought. It is supposed that, with the cessation of apartment-houses, the opening of the elevated railways, and the building of small dwellings in the upper wards, most of the obstacles in their way of securing a comfortable roof for a reasonable price would have overcome. Some of these, perhaps many of them, have been overcome; but such a superabundance has been left as may well intimidate the most hopeful and courageous shelter-seeker on Manhattan island. Where shall we live? is a question not so frequently asked in other cities. When can we live? is the question perpetually and perpetually asked here. As a rule, no New Yorker can guess this year where he may be next year. Whatever his crop, he is far less concerned about the condition in this world than in this city after the next twelvemonth. He may be living in Thirty-fourth street or Two Hundred and Fifth street, at Carmanville or New Brooklyn, at Washington Heights or Gowanus, at Hoboken or Staten Island, anywhere indeed within a radius of fifty miles of Union Square, and yet have changed his atmosphere and surroundings as effectually as if he had crossed the continent.

All the territory is virtually within the municipal limits. The metropolis extends to any and every point that may be reached in two or three hours of one's place of business, and so long as the New Yorker can abide within this circle, he is taught that he should be content. He is on good way hurriedly in office or counting-room, saying that he must be off in time for dinner. You wonder at his haste, since it may not be much after 3 o'clock, forgetting that the spot he calls home is quite likely to be sixty miles off in Hudson, in the remote valleys of New Jersey, or on the eastern shore of Great South Bay. His breakfast and business often lie so far apart that to connect them involves a considerable journey. When he shall be bodily transported as if he had crossed the continent, he will probably slip down to Quito for luncheon, and attend evening parties at the head of Baffin's bay.

Outsiders imagine that the New Yorker relishes this ceaseless traveling hither and yon, this constant shifting of quarters, this perpetual change of animals, and sleeping in Putnam county; that it is his idea of domesticity and repose. But it is not a matter of election with him; it is sheer necessity. He would like to have a habit; but what animals have one, but he is denied because the vicinity of Manhattan does not, or will not, furnish him with any. He occupies any spot he can hold, and so long as he can hold it, with the permission of his landlord. His military fortunes, or misfortunes, are entirely in his control. He abides, not where he would, but where he must. His existence is consumed in following the lead of furniture vans, in moving in and moving out, in playing a grand game of piquet with the corner with a million or so of his neighbors.

Even our rich citizens have no easy time in obtaining residences. Many of them are afraid to buy lest they be taxed to death, lest the neighborhood change, or the locality prove unhealthful. They are often forced from one quarter to another by unmanageable circumstances, by the endless mutations of trade and town. Their great wealth does not afford them protection; they have no guarantee of permanence or peace, go where they may. Millions will not move, in this city, tranquil and pleasant here. They would live here contentedly and comfortably must, as one of our Celtic fellow-citizens might put it, go somewhere else.

If it be so with the rich, how much worse is it for men of small means; especially for those who have only what they earn, with no prospect of the smallest surplus. When apartment-houses began building, everybody said: "Now we shall have what has been so long needed. Desirable flats for small families can be rented for $500 or $600 a year." Flats can be had for such a price; but they are far from desirable in interior arrangement or as to situation. Situation in New York must be paid for, and paid for handsomely. There are not here, as there are in other cities, decent, respectable neighborhoods which lay claim neither to elegance nor fashion. Everything in Manhattan is in extremes. A decent neighborhood is generally a fashionable neighborhood, and correspondingly high. We have scores and scores of streets in which no educated American could or would reside. In many of the nicest and pleasantest quarters there are blocks of blocks simply uninhabitable for well-regulated folk, and wholly surrounded, therefore, to noisome elements, groggeries, squalor, rioting and ineffectual visitations from the police.

No other town of any size in civilization which we recall is so ill-provided in this respect. It would hardly be an exaggeration to say that three-quarters of the built-up portion of the metropolis is either unfit for respectable residents or unobtainable for persons of ordinary means. A comfortable house or apartment capable of accommodating from four to six persons cannot be had in a good neighborhood below Sixtieth street for much less than $1,000; and the bulk of our middle-class citizens, do not and cannot earn more than $1,500 a year. The shape of the Island is particularly responsible for this, but other controllable causes are gravely at fault. We are, as has been said, growing less bad, but there is some probability of New York becoming, as a domicile, what it should be, during this century at least.—N. Y. Times.

Railroad Human Nature.

There is something about railroading calculated to stimulate even the most imperturbable characters—a something impressive that adds largely to the pleasure of travel, and tends in great measure to alleviate the annoyances of dirt, heat and delay. The hurry at large stations, the crossing of bridges and trestle-work, the shooting through cuts and tunnels, the changing of scenery and the excitement of speed, all unite to exert a well-defined influence upon those who have not become weary of travel in its manifold protracted journeys. The variety and activity make the mental faculties more susceptible to the impressions of evincing the surroundings.

There are some types of men that bear striking resemblance to railroad trains. We have those among the working classes like freight trains, bearing the traffic of life, doing the work of the busy world, toiling while the more favored sleep, the hours and snow of the material progress of the country. Then, on the other hand, we have the excursion trains, seen in those who devote their time largely to holiday pleasures. They are not on the time-table of life, without a regular place on the road, and have no right of way. A profusion of flags, banners and handkerchiefs, heads and arms out of the windows—fruit, peanuts and endless questions.

Then we have the mail-train type of men, the conductor, cashier, or typist, out with his limited duties and responsibilities; he is intelligent and popular, a man of punctual and active habits. We have, too, the special train—a man for an emergency, a keen, quiet, well-balanced character, put on in case of importance as detective, expert, or receiver. He takes the road for a special purpose, has full right of way; his opinions are respected and his commands promptly obeyed.

ABAB AGOUCHES.—The Bedouins take auguries from birds. A single raven in one's path is a very bad omen, but two are extremely lucky. They say Alkhalid-regn Falan zein—two green (i. e. black) ones—a fair omen. The Bedouins have many other superstitions about animals. The superstition as to the flesh of the rock badger, which Palmer noted in the Peninsula of Sinai, is unknown here; but there is a similar idea about the monkeys which frequent Mount Kara. These, it is said, were the first monkeys to be tamed, and were used by the Bedouins as domestic animals. As they were once tamed, their flesh is not eaten. This legend is closely akin to what one reads in the fabulous history of early Arabia about Namas and the Warbar in the great sandy desert. Both the words are monkey names, quite current in the present day, though not recognized by the lexicons. The latter is an ape, the former a monkey with a tail. Except in this monkey story, I could find no trace of the superstition of the flesh of any animal.

But some kinds of flesh have a magical virtue attached to them. A man who suffers in any member of his body seeks a cure by eating a corresponding part of a hyena. The hyena is also eaten in the neighborhood of Suze, for a friend of mine who shot one near the well of Moses was requested by the Bedouins to give them a leg. A similar virtue attaches to the flesh of the goshawk (Wudhyly), a rare species of antelope, found far in the interior. When eaten, it draws an obstinate bullet from a wound.—[The Scotsman.]

WOMEN AS "SEUTERS" ON RAILROADS.—Women, it seems, are employed as "seuters" on the New York Central Railroad, and are provided with notebooks and ingenious little mirrors by which, with their backs turned to the conductor, they can see just how many passengers on a coach give up money or board for the interior. When eaten, they wear by them readily conceal their movements and disarm suspicion. A few days ago one of these spies got on a train going out of Utica. She took one of the front seats in a coach, and was seen to keep her hand to her face and peer into the little box which contained two mirrors set at angles, so as to reflect all the movements made behind her. The honest conductor passed through the coach, collected tickets and received money, giving, as he always does, a punched ticket as a receipt for the fare. After he had left the coach the woman responded to the flirtations of a drummer who had noted her performances and wished to have some fun. The woman responded to his attentions cheerfully, and made room for him to divide her seat with him. The drummer was persistent in his attentions, and succeeded in inducing her to leave the train with him at one of the stations. Before he did this, he managed to turn her jacket pocket so that the little mirror, notebook, her instructions in her trade, schedule of fares and other articles of her trade, fell on the coach seat. The train passed on, and the spotter did not discover the "kit" until it was too late. The train boys captured the articles.

"My dearest uncle," says a humorous writer, "was the most polite man in the world. He was making a voyage on a Dutch steamer, and the best man, my uncle was just upon the point of drowning. He got his head just above the water for once, took off his hat and said: 'Ladies and gentlemen, if you please excuse me? and down he went.'"

GEORGE ELIOT'S MARRIAGE.

The countless thousands of Americans who have read and enjoy the novels of George Eliot, the greatest of living writers of English fiction, will feel a thrill of interest upon reading the brief cable dispatch announcing her second marriage, at the age of sixty. Little more than a year ago her first husband, George Henry Lewes, a well known writer on philosophical topics and the biographer of Goethe, died. There was something at once pleasing and shocking in the affection which bound these two children of genius together, pleasing because it was mutual and true, so far as the world can judge, and shocking because it caused them to live together for some years in apparent defiance of the rules which religion and out forms of civilization have prescribed for the government of one-family relations. Long before Miss Evans was known to the literary world Mr. Lewes had established a large reputation as a man of letters. He was a student who lived among his books and cared little for the social pleasures which are so alluring to the vast majority of mankind. His first matrimonial venture was not a happy one. His wife was a student who lived among his books and cared little for the social pleasures which are so alluring to the vast majority of mankind. His first matrimonial venture was not a happy one. His wife was a student who lived among his books and cared little for the social pleasures which are so alluring to the vast majority of mankind.

But she lapsed again and left him to return no more. In the meantime Miss Evans, the daughter of an obscure yeoman in one of the country parishes of Warwickshire, had started the literary world by her achievements in the domain of fiction, and Mr. Lewes, discovering in her earlier writings the evidences of the genius which has since given her a foremost place among the novelists of modern times, took every occasion to commend her work. The acquaintance thus formed soon ripened into intimacy, and if both were free, would undoubtedly have led to a marriage. But under the English law, Mr. Lewes, having once condoned his wife's offense, could not obtain a divorce, and it is said that an agreement was formed between him and Miss Evans to the effect that they should live together as man and wife until such time as their union could be sanctioned by the law. However this may be, they did live most happily together for many years, though, owing to their peculiar relations, society was not disposed to grant them that recognition which under different circumstances would have been won by the great literary achievements. It does not appear that either cared much for the pleasures of life. They were contented by congenial friends, and their home became a center of enjoyment for artists and literati.

The critics complain that the later writings of George Eliot have been vitally affected by the materialistic philosophy of her husband. This is especially noticeable in her two great works, "Middlemarch" and "The Mill on the Floss." But a careful study of her earlier writings will hardly fail to convince any candid mind that in this regard her mental bias was very similar to that of her husband's. His opinions have been gratefully adopted by congenial friends, and their home became a center of enjoyment for artists and literati.

PUGET SOUND MAIL.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1880.

Now is the Olympia Transcript seriously desires the renomination and election of Delegate Brents the most effectual way of accomplishing that end is to stop its senseless abuse of those who are friendly disposed toward him. In this connection we may add that the writer has recently been to some extent over the political field and as the result of very diligent investigation is prepared to assert that there is no ring, clique, or cabal in opposition to Mr. Brents among the persons or parties referred to by our contemporary. There is, however, some opposition to Mr. Brents, but not from the quarter indicated by the Transcript.

Some of our contemporaries appear to make unnecessary ado about that $15 suit brought by Delegate Brents against his clothier, one Katzenstein by name, in one of the justice courts of Washington City. It is undoubtedly the inalienable right of every American citizen to sue and be sued, and if Mr. Brents believed that he had been imposed upon he had a perfect right to innocently sue the said Katzenstein. It does not reduce Mr. B. in the estimation of his constituents to defend his rights, no matter the amount in controversy, in a civil action at law. This is really a matter of no consequence to the people of Washington Territory, and we cannot see why George C. Gorham telegraphed it across the continent to the San Francisco Chronicle except to gratify some petty spite against our Delegate who was secretary of the Blaine club. Gorham, being an active supporter of Grant, doubtless conceived this idea to belittle Brents who was equally active for Blaine. Of course we cannot, at this distance and writing accurately judge of the merits of this case, either as to the texture of the suit or the legal equities involved in the action; but the presumption is that Mr. Brents had just cause for his action, and was doubtless seized with something of the ardor of the Revolutionary fathers who pledged "millions for defense but not one cent for tribute."

The Oregon State election on Monday of last week resulted in the greatest Republican triumph ever achieved in that community. Every Republican on the State ticket was elected, including Congressman and supreme judges, and now John Whiteaker will need not to take another fast ride to Washington. In Multnomah county the Republicans elected every man on their county ticket, by majorities ranging from 400 to 1800. The Republican majority on the State ticket is about 1000. This is the first gun for 1880.

THE SALMON FISHERIES THREATENED.
—It has been proposed at New Westminster to buoy the channel of Fraser River to New Westminster port, for the convenience of the steamship Victoria. Steps were about to be taken to put the proposition into practice when the fishermen discovered that if buoys are put down the mainstay of New Westminster's support—the fisheries—will be destroyed. Nets cannot be used and the canneries, whose trade has contributed to build up the Royal City, must close. In the face of this serious dilemma "halt" has been called on the buoy question. It is worthy of remark that Columbia river, out of regard for her salmon fisheries, is not buoyed.—Victoria Colonist.

In 1848, when gold was discovered at Coloma, California, there were not between the Missouri river and the Pacific ocean, Sonora and the British boundaries, 5,000 English speaking people. Now within the same area there are 3,000,000 souls, 10,000 miles of railroad, 20,000 miles of telegraph lines, six prosperous States and nine Territories, with property valued at $3,000,000,000.—Ledger.

On the 12th ult. there was passed at Ottawa an order which especially exempts British Columbia from payment of duties on freights, which have found to press heavily and unreasonably on the province as compared with other provinces. The order in council applies also to freight on goods from China and Japan. This is the best piece of news Victoria merchants have received for a long time.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has commenced suit against 110 settler on lands on Mussel Blough claimed by the company, each action being to recover $5,000 accrued rents and profits, and $5,000 damages for unlawful holding over.

Tax real and personal property of the town of Walla Walla is assessed at $1,725,410.

Republican Territorial Convention.

Pursuant to call, the Republican Territorial Central Committee met in New Tacoma on the 9th day of June, 1880. The members present were: Francis Tarbell, chairman; Byron Barlow, secretary; R. D. Attridge, J. M. Walsh, by P. B. Johnson, proxy; W. Byron Daniels, by F. W. Bier, proxy; Geo. D. Hill.

By order of the Territorial Central Committee, duly assembled pursuant to notice, this 9th day of June, A. D. 1880 at New Tacoma, W. T., notice is hereby given that a Republican convention is called to assemble at Vancouver, Clarke county, on Wednesday, the 8th day of September, 1880, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Delegate to Congress and for the transaction of other business as may properly come before it.

The committee has fixed the apportionment of delegates to said convention as follows: One delegate at large for every county in the Territory, and one additional delegate for every one hundred votes, and for every fraction of fifty or more votes cast in each county, at the general election of 1878, for the Republican candidate for Delegate to Congress. Upon this basis the various counties of the Territory will be entitled to representation in said convention as follows: Chehalis, 2; Clallam, 2; Clarke, 6; Columbia, 7; Cowlitz, 3; Island, 2; Jefferson, 3; King, 10; Kitsap, 4; Klickitat, 5; Lewis, 3; Mason, 1; Pacific, 3; Pierce, 5; Skamania, 1; San Juan, 2; Snohomish, 3; Stevens, 3; Spokane, 1; Thurston, 5; Wahkiakum, 1; Walla, Walla, 8; Whatcom, 5; Whitman, 6; Yakima, 3; Total, 94.

The committee also recommends, subject to any change to be made by the respective county committees, that the various county conventions be held at the county-seat, on Thursday the 26th day of August, 1880, at 1 o'clock P. M., and that the primary meetings, to elect delegates to the county conventions, be held at 1 o'clock P. M., of Thursday the 5th day of August, 1880, at the voting places in each precinct. This recommendation is intended only for those counties which have no county central committee, or when they fail to act.

The committee also recommends that the county conventions in counties having portions of joint council and representative district, instruct their delegates to the Territorial convention, who they desire nominated for joint representatives and councilmen—the nomination to be made by the delegates from the council districts at the time of the meeting of the Territorial convention.

Resolved, That the Republican Territorial Central Committee heartily endorse the nomination of Hon. James A. Garfield for President, and Hon. Chester A. Arthur for Vice President.

The attention of the committee was also called to the fact that a change had been made in the boundaries of Pacific and Wahkiakum counties, whereby it was claimed that the Republican vote of the former had been decreased and the vote of the latter increased. While the convention desire to recognize the fact in making the apportionment, it was unable to do so, for the reason that it could obtain no official knowledge of the extent of the change in voters. The fact of the creation out of Stevens, of the county of Spokane was brought up and one delegate was allowed Spokane county; but, owing to the fact that it was impossible to determine what should be the reduction of representation in Stevens county, it was given the benefit of the vote of 1878.

A vote of thanks was tendered the North Pacific R. R. company, for granting half fare rates to members of the convention.

By order of the Republican Territorial Central Committee.
FRANCIS TARRELL, Chairman.
BYRON BARLOW, Secretary.

St. Joseph, Florida, twenty years ago, was an important seaport city, shipped many thousand bales of cotton annually, and was the entrepot of supplies for Western Florida, Southwestern Georgia and Northeastern Alabama. Railroad lines from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Ocean deprived St. Joseph of its commerce, and rendered a railroad from that point to Iola, on the Apalachicola River, entirely worthless, causing the track to be taken up. With the decline of trade came shrinkage in population; then came the scourge of yellow fever, with terribly fatal results. Those who escaped the epidemic fled, not leaving a soul in the once flourishing and populous city to claim property or home. Soon after a tornado completed the ruin, and to-day there is not a vestige of the city of St. Joseph.

The Oregon Pioneers held their annual re-union in Portland, on the 16th inst. Hon. J. W. Nesmith delivered the annual and Rev. Geo. A. Atkinson the occasional address.

LOCAL NEWS AND COMMENTS.

THE FOURTH AT LA CONNER.—Quite a large sum of money has been subscribed by the people of this town and vicinity with which to celebrate the anniversary of American Independence in a becoming manner.

ADMIRAL RODGERS' FLAG SHIP, the Pensacola, carrying a large retinue of commissioned officers and some three hundred men, will visit the Sound in a week or two, en route for a cruise in Alaskan waters.

FOR MEMBER OF THE TERRITORIAL BOARD OF EQUALIZATION we respectfully place in nomination Mr. J. S. Conner for the Puget Sound District. He is a man of excellent judgment in the valuation of all classes of property within this judicial district; and hence the Republican party, with which he affiliates, could do no better than make him their nominee for that responsible position.

WHATCOM COUNTY sends all her prisoners to the Port Townsend jail. While in that city, the other day, Sheriff B. S. Miller invited us to take a look through this establishment. The building is substantial and commodious and all its arrangements, under the immediate management of Mr. J. A. Chapman, formerly of this county, are of the most neat and orderly character.

AND NOW comes the steamer Josephine which has, ahead of all competitors, proved the practicable navigation of the Skagit River clear to the Portage, hitherto the head of canoe navigation. This is as high as it is possible for any steamer to go, and proves incontrovertibly the navigation of the Skagit River a distance of some eighty miles, clear to the trail leading to the mines. Good for the Josephine.

ANOTHER case of drowning is reported from the Portage on the Upper Skagit. While two men were working their way in a small boat over the riffles above the Portage the boat was wrecked, one man whose name is yet unknown to us, was drowned and the other barely escaped with his life.

DIED.—Doctor John James Barrow, for many years a resident of this county, departed this life at his farm home five miles beyond Whatcom on last Monday, the 14th inst. The Doctor retired from the practice of his profession some years ago and became a hard-working and industrious farmer. He was some fifty years of age and died of heart-disease.

"CAMPMEETING."—A very successful campmeeting was held at the Fernalde crossing of the Nooksack river last week. The clergy in attendance were Revs. Atwood, Starr, Cosper, Tade, Goodpasture, Stewart and others. The annual campmeetings at Fernalde are always well attended and create considerable religious fervor.

MR. GEORGE GACHES, of the popular mercantile firm of J. & G. Gaches of this town, has departed on another trip to the Golden Gate metropolis. It is rumored that George will return with a bride, which we trust may prove true.

SEATTLE is going to have a big Fourth of July demonstration on Monday the 5th. A large fund has been subscribed by its citizens for that purpose.

THE people of Port Townsend are already making active preparations for the celebration of the 4th of July and have drawn up a programme of athletic and aquatic sports.

MR. ALLEN WEBB, of the Port Townsend Argus, has been elected Grand Worthy Chief of the Good Templar organization of this Territory. This is a deserving recognition of the great zeal which Mr. W. has manifested in behalf of the order.

ATTENTION is invited to the advertisement of Mr. Samuel Kenney, the popular merchant tailor of Seattle, in this paper.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—The county Auditor suggests that we call the attention of taxpayers to the fact that pursuant to the statute of '79, pages 22-3, the Board of County Commissioners will sit as a Board of Equalization during the first week of the next August term to examine and revise the assessment roll, and that all persons desiring a change or amendment of their assessment should present their grievances at that time.

Our attention has been called to a case wherein a community of settlers are greatly inconvenienced by the Commissioners' refusal to authorize the establishment of a road necessary for an outlet, owing to the remonstrance of one or two others through whose land the viewers located the road. The report was rejected for the alleged reason that the viewers made a material deviation from the route prayed for, while the viewers claim that they located the road on the most practicable route.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO SETTLERS WHO WANT TO MAKE MONEY. 3,750 Acres of most fertile and easily cultivated land to lease in quantities to suit for a term of years without rental. These valuable lands are situated on Fraser River, a few miles north of the main line. They are similar in formation to the Swinomish Flats, far more extensive, less cut up with sloughs, and not so much subject to overflow. The land is nearly all wild grass prairie with fine timber along the river bank sufficient for domestic purposes. The water is excellent. The land is most advantageously situated, as steamboats run regularly and frequently pass it, carrying freight at extremely low rates to the following points: New Westminster, Burrard Inlet, Nanaimo, Victoria and Esquimalt—all progressive places, the most important being Victoria, now a city with ten thousand inhabitants and growing very rapidly. The Dominion tariff of 10 cents per bushel on oats and potatoes, and 15 cents on barley and wheat, &c., affords substantial protection to the farmer of British Columbia against those of Oregon and Washington Territory and is equal to an extra profit for British Columbia farmers of about 50 per cent. This is an additional inducement for farmers to go to the most profitable locations to go to in British Columbia and settle on the fertile and easily cultivated lands on the delta of the Fraser. Farmers located there now sell readily for cash at a price far above a higher price than can be obtained in any part of Oregon or Washington Territory, the demand must continue greater than the supply and rapidly increase for many years to come in consequence of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. A contract for over nine millions of dollars has been let by the Dominion Government and the contractor is now on the ground preparing to put 4000 men at work upon it, commencing on Fraser River. The undersigned have a few hundred acres diked which will be let upon favorable terms, but the greater portion of the 3,750 acres requires a dike about 24 feet high to protect it from high water in exceptional years. No part is subject to overflow by salt water. This land is offered free for 6 years in consideration of those leasing diking, fencing, improving and cultivating and leaving a certain portion of it seeded in timothy at the termination of the lease. This is a chance for live, industrious men to make money rapidly. Capt. Lloyd, of the schooner General Harney, has kindly allowed us to refer any parties inquiring on the Sound to him, and for any further particulars apply to W. & J. WILSON, Victoria, B. C.
