

PUGET SOUND MAIL.

SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1881.

Home Manufactures.

Less than twenty years ago all the barrels and packing boxes used in the transportation of the products of the West Indies, South America and the Sandwich Islands were manufactured in New England, from second-growth timber cultivated for that purpose. In 1862, a representative of a large manufacturing house in Lowell, Massachusetts, engaged in that trade, came to this coast on an exploring expedition, to ascertain if suitable timber could be found in sufficient quantities to supply the constantly increasing demand upon the Pacific and the corresponding exhaustion upon the Atlantic. The explorer, greatly to his surprise, found the largest supply and the best quality of timber suitable to his purpose to be found upon the continent. The people of the East at that time had heard of the California plains and the Willamette valley, and knew nothing beyond that of this vast country with two thousand miles of coast line. Now we have a barrel factory at Seattle, with a manufacturing capacity of 2,000 barrels a day, which would give remunerative employment to 150 white men, sufficient for the generous support of a thrifty community of 600 souls, with an inexhaustible supply of the best material in convenient proximity and a ready market upon the Pacific.

A large proportion of the household furniture, including all of the buckets, tubs, wash-boards, and other domestic utensils of wooden ware, now in use upon Puget Sound, were manufactured in Michigan or Wisconsin, a thousand miles from a sea-port, from which they were shipped to San Francisco and from thence to their final destination, paying tribute to the innumerable shippers, transporters, transferers and middle men in their passage, all of which was added to the original cost and profit and added to the price to the final purchaser. At the same time the staple of all these manufactured articles exist all around us in the most profuse abundance immediately upon the highway of the world's commerce, with all the advantages of production instead of consumption in our favor. Thousands of acres covered with giant cedars for hollow-ware, cotton wood for barrel staves, and bird's-eye maple, ash and alder, of different shades and variety of color, adapted to the most substantial as well as the most elegant household furniture. The cost of living here is less than at the East, and estimate the price of labor at the same rates, we can produce these articles at less cost than any manufactory at the East and save over 50 per cent. upon their cost heretofore, which, in the aggregate, would save many thousands of dollars annually, a lesser benefit when compared with its results in stimulating and encouraging other branches of industry for which there are abundant opportunities and unemployed material. Two young mechanics—Messrs. Hill & Paulson—a few years ago, with little resources beyond their own labor, commenced the manufacture of furniture, and from the start there was a demand beyond their utmost efforts and means of supply, and this continues after their business has assumed mammoth proportions, embracing a saw-mill, wharves, warehouses, a large out-fit of costly machinery, and the employment of many hands. There are yet abundant opportunities and unappropriated material for many such enterprises upon Puget Sound.

With black-smith's forge a mechanic may commence work in wrought iron with an abundant supply of the raw material—both iron and coal—upon the Skagit or in many other places in this region. The production of pig iron has just been successfully inaugurated at Port Townsend, the first products of which have been shipped to San Francisco, there to be manufactured into stoves and other articles of domestic use, to be returned to us at a large profit, the lion's share of which goes to the manufacturer and is drawn from the pockets of the community which produces the staple. Thousands of tons of barley and oats are a usually shipped from Puget Sound, from which the producer does not realize an average of one cent per pound, and the proceeds are returned to us in bacon, lard and oatmeal—now of general consumption—at prices averaging 12½ cents per pound, with the balance of trade in these articles against us; a state of affairs fatal to the prosperity of any community.

Ten years ago, with a shipping tonnage employed in the commerce of Puget Sound more than double that of the Columbia river, all the machinery used in steamers or mills was brought from Portland or San Francisco, and the most of the engines from the East. If a shaft was broken or a boiler burst, the repairs could not be made nearer than Portland, involving enormous cost and vexatious delay. Then many intelligent business men argued that the country was not sufficiently advanced to warrant the investment of capital in the manufacture of machinery. Now that is one of the most prosperous industries in Seattle, and yet all their raw material is imported while it exists in abundance near their doors.

As yet there has been no manufacturing enterprise engaged in upon Puget Sound which has not succeeded beyond the most sanguine anticipations of its projectors. The field is vast and thus far has only just been skirted.

MORE RAILROAD NEWS.—News comes from Seattle that the people of that city are in a state of uproarious jollity over the positive orders recently issued by the Northern Pacific railroad Company to extend the railroad from Tacoma to Seattle. They may well rejoice, for this means not only through and direct communication with the Eastern States upon the completion of the main line, but also with San Francisco by the way of Portland upon completion of the unfinished line southward. This news, now promulgated authoritatively, was predicted in last week's Mail, as the next move on the deck, which proves that the Mail is a prophet.

The New York Mail truthfully remarks: "The spectacle of the Vice President of the United States openly endorsing attacks upon the integrity and honor of the President, and descending to all the devices of a ward politician to secure the re-election of the authors of those attacks, whose avowed purpose is to continually antagonize the Administration, is one that men of all parties consider utterly disgraceful, inexcusable and indefensible. Mr. Arthur is making the mistake of his life."

The U. S. steamer Rodgers left San Francisco for the Arctic Ocean on the 16th inst. in search of the missing steamer Jeannette. She was escorted to the heads by several tugs and yachts. As she passed along the water front every vessel saluted, and thousands of persons witnessed her departure. The officers and crew of the Rodgers left in the best of health and spirits.

The news from the Tanou mines, in Alaska, is encouraging. Placer diggings near the town of Harrisburg are reported to yield from 20 to 28 ounces per week. Joe Juneau, the discoverer of the Pit quartz lode, in company with J. Treadwell and W. W. Murray, mining experts, brought down on the last trip of the California two tons of very rich rock for assay.

There has been a sharp advance in the price of lumber in San Francisco. The increased demand from Mexico, South America, China and Japan, has accelerated trade in building material. Lumber which last year sold for $18 per thousand is now quoted at $25, and that which sold for $27, now rates at $33 and $35.

Some of the Dominion papers think it all nonsense for the Queen to create Canadian knights. They say it only exposes the distinguished gentlemen to public ridicule.

The value of the export of wheat for the ten months ending April 1, 1881, was $17,852,711 less than the corresponding months ending April 1, 1880. The export of corn, however, made up the difference in the value of the exports of breadstuffs.

Four thousand wax candles are instantaneously lighted by a single match in the Royal Palace, Berlin. The wicks are previously connected with a thread spun from gun cotton, on igniting one end of which all the candles in the seven hundred apartments are lighted simultaneously.

The State of New York has 6,056 miles of railroad and Ohio 6,021. Within six months Ohio will get beyond New York with more than 100 miles of road.

A STEAMER starting at Pittsburg, Pa., can carry a cargo to Fort Benton, Mont., 4,333 miles distant, without breaking bulk or passing out from under the American flag.

It appears that there are twenty-five distinct Methodist denominations in the world, with a total of 2,630,780 members.

The first copy of the revised New Testament was presented to Queen Victoria May 17.

CALIFORNIA'S wheat crop for this year is estimated at 40,000,000 bushels, against 53,000,000 bushels last year.

SUMMONS.

In the District Court of Washington Territory, holding terms at La Conner. PAUL POLSON, plaintiff, vs. PETER M. JOHNSON, defendant.

Action brought in the District Court of Washington Territory, holding terms at La Conner, Whatcom County, Washington Territory, and complaint filed in said County of Whatcom, in the office of the Clerk of the said District Court.

The United States of America send greeting to Peter M. Johnson, defendant: You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the above entitled court, and to answer the complaint filed therein within sixty days after the date of this summons or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of the complaint.

This action is brought to obtain a decree of this court for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage, described in said complaint, and executed by the said Peter M. Johnson, on the 10th day of June, 1880, to secure the payment of a certain promissory note, dated the 10th day of June, 1880, made by said Peter M. Johnson for the sum of one thousand, one hundred and seventy dollars, gold coin payable on the 1st day of February, 1881, bearing interest from date until paid at the rate of one and one-half per cent. per month, to Paul Polson, or order; that the premises conveyed by the said mortgage may be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of said promissory note, interest and costs, and that plaintiff have execution issued for the balance due the said defendant and all persons claiming by, through or under him be barred and foreclosed of all equity of redemption, right and title, what-so-ever, in and to said mortgaged premises, and for other and further relief, as will more fully appear by reference to the complaint on file herein.

You are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Witness the Hon. ROGER S. GREENE, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, this 26th day of May, A. D. 1881.

[SEAL] JAMES SEAVEY, Clerk, By JAS. A. GILLESPIE, Deputy.

HALLER & ENOLE, Atty's for plaintiff, May 28-7c.

SUMMONS.

About Apples and Peaches.

For the following items relative to the first introduction and sale of fruits in California we are indebted to Mr. John Piper, the well-known theatrical manager of this city, who was the first fruit dealer in San Francisco, and who came to this city from New York in the steamer Oregon in the month of April, 1853.

Mr. Piper says that the first box of apples & Pacific coast production which reached San Francisco came in the same year, from the ranch of Lewis Allen and Mr. Meade, of Portland, Oregon, the owners of the same having crossed the plains in 1846, and having brought fruit trees with them.

Mr. Piper purchased the first lot from the agent, Mr. King, for $2.50 per pound, and retailed the same from $1 to $4 and even $5 apiece.

During the winter of 1853-54 Mr. Piper and Mr. Andrews, who were then engaged in the hardware business on Davis street, ordered four or five thousand pounds of apples shipped from New York City to San Francisco by steamer, paying 50 cents per pound for freight.

The apples were packed in saw-dust in closed tin cans. Says our informant: "The apples when first opened had a delicious flavor, but turned black in half an hour afterward from the effect of the heat during the twenty days voyage.

Mr. Piper adopted a suggestion from one to preserve the apples by pickling them in salt water, and sold them pickled at 50 cents apiece, at which price they were readily disposed of. The fruit dealer noticed, however, that customers, after taking one bite, would generally throw away the apple in the piazza (Portsmouth Square). He was afterward advised to bake the pickled apples, by way of variety, and actually sold several hundred dollars' worth baked, for 50 cents apiece.

The first lot of peaches which reached San Francisco, 1854, came from Mr. Hill's ranch, at Napa, and sold as high as $2.50 per dozen, retailed at New York, Oregon, growth, were introduced in the same year. Mr. Piper purchased the first lot for $2.25 per pound. Putting them in a clothes-basket, he retailed them on the street for 25 cents apiece, and afterward sold them in his store for 50 per pound.

Strawberries arrived from Alameda in 1854-5, and cost $4 a pound wholesale, and heaped up in soup bowls, holding a half pound each, were retailed for 50 per bowl. Pears, which came into market about the same time, retailed at a high figure. Mr. Piper remembers getting $11 for a single pear. The first lot of grapes which came from Los Angeles sold at wholesale as high as 25 cents per pound. In 1856 Mr. Piper brought 5000 pounds of the premier Senator, just arrived in San Francisco, and took them to Sacramento and Marysville, where he was compelled to dispose of them for less than the freight charges, the hot weather having nearly ruined the entire lot.

On the return trip a cargo of watermelons, obtained from a rancher in Sacramento, for 25 cents apiece, were sold in San Francisco at prices ranging as high as $1.

Oranges, which were first brought by steamer from San Juan, the terminus of the route of the Nicaragua steamer in 1854, brought $90 per 1000 wholesale; limes brought up from Acapulco were worth $60 per 1000; pineapples, $40 per 1000; bananas, $25 a bunch. Mr. Piper continued in the fruit trade from 1855 to 1858. Among the retail dealers during that period were Marco Medin and Undertaker Wilson, of this city.

Mr. Piper, after continuing two years longer in the grocery business in San Francisco, took up his permanent residence in this city. Among his best customers while in the fruit business were Michael Reese, Capt. Folsom and W. H. Rhodes ("Caxton"), and a host of others whose names we have not space to enumerate.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—The steamer Naples brings 10,000 bags of rice, 1443 has not oil and other cargo. The amount of rice is not large and will have no effect on the market. Receipts of sugar and molasses in the past few hours have been about 50,000 lbs. The cargo of the German bark Alaska was of 4000 lbs. of large and small coffee from the islands, consisting of 2883 bags and 17,210 lbs. of coffee. The market for sugar is quiet. The price of sugar is 12 1/2 cents per lb. for choice, 11 1/2 cents for fair, and 10 1/2 cents for low. The market for molasses is also quiet. The price of molasses is 10 cents per gallon for choice, 9 cents for fair, and 8 cents for low.
