DR. JAS. M. GASSAWAY, who has been for some months located in Port Townsend, modestly calls attention to his business through the columns of the Argus. The Doctor is an estimable gentleman, socially, and has the strongest testimonials of skill and proficiency in his profession. We wish him success.

By the Nanaimo "Free Press" we notice that Capt. McIntyre, of the bark Revere, has been tried and fined $50 and costs on a charge of discharging ballast in Departure Bay not in the place set apart by the harbor-master for that purpose. An appeal has been taken on what we deem sufficient grounds, it appearing that the Captain was merely appropriating privileges which were granted to another vessel. We are sorry that limited space forbids extensive comments this week.

A MELANCHOLY AFFAIR.—One of the saddest events that has taken place in Port Townsend for many a day occurred on or about the 31st ult. This incident was none less than the suicide of Mary Ann Bridges, by hanging. Deceased was about fifteen years old, was a half-breed Indian girl and had been for some time employed in the family of Mr. W. H. H. Learned, of this place.
On Thursday morning last she was found to be missing, but no especial anxiety was felt about her, as it was supposed she had simply run away.
Very few knew of the occurrence until, on Sunday morning, two men from the revenue cutter Wolcott went to examine a vacant house belonging to Capt. McIntyre, just out of the edge of town. To their infinite surprise a corpse was found hanging in one of the upper rooms, which proved to be that of the unfortunate girl. Coroner Hoxsie summoned a jury consisting of B. S.
Pettygrove, F. Bowers, J. LeMaister,
B. F. Hammond, R. McDonnell and W. H. Llewellyn, all of this place, who examined the case and returned a verdict of "suicide by hanging." Various and conflicting theories have been advanced concerning the cause of the death, many alleging a firm belief that there had been foul play, but it now seems generally accepted that the case was a plain one of suicide. It is supposed that pure despondency caused the act. Deceased was a member of the M. E. Church, and was buried on Monday afternoon, with appropriate ceremonies conducted by Allen Weir.

The scarcity of Diamonds, Gold and Silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value.

This it is with a valuable medicine: Dr.
Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the Sun, sweep back the Ocean with a broom or put out a prairie fire with a tear.

For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections, it is unequalled.
Its cures are truly magical. Ask your Druggist for it. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the familiar signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown in every 75 cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents.

prepared from the original receipt of Professor Montalbert, the celebrated chemist of Paris, and from chemical extracts of rare medicinal plants found only on the North-west coast of America, a most elegant addition to the usual toilette articles in the shape of an invigorator and reju-vinator of the hair. This delightful preparation cleanses the hair from all impurities; prevents dandruff, heals all skin disease of the head, imparts a gloss and softness and beautiful color to the hair; restores its growth by its healthy and tonic action, and prevents its falling off. In a sort sider her toilette table incomplete gant cosmetic. Prepared and for sale by

OFFICIAL PAPER OF JEFFERSON CO.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1879

A RECENT DISCOVERY.

A new solution for preserving specimens of Fish and Molluscs.

By JAMES G. SWAN.

EDITOR ARGUS:—

About a year ago I wrote an article about "Eulachon" or candle fish, which was published in the "ARGUS". In that article I mentioned a solution which was first suggested to me by Mr. Jones, the celebrated chemist, who is a partner in the House of Langley & Co., Druggists, Victoria, B. C. This solution consists of alcohol, glycerine, and water, in equal parts. For molluscs such as jelly fish and other soft and gelatinous marine animals, a very small proportion of picric acid, or carbarotic acid is first used in a solution of sea water, but for ordinary use of students the glycerine, alcohol and water is all that is required.

Last summer I preserved some bass and other fish which were so very natural, after being taken out of the fluid, that most persons who saw them thought they were freshly caught. Among the gentlemen who saw the specimens before I sent them to Washington, I may mention Capt. James S. Lawson, Dr. Minor, Dr. Willison, Messrs. Hunt, Wyckoff, Gerrish, Van Bokkelen and several others, and several ladies, all of whom may remember how fresh and bright the fish were—even their eyes having retained their natural color.

Last fall I put up some specimens at Neeah Bay, two of which, called Black Cod—the "Beshowe" of the Makah—weight 30 and 35 pounds. These were the largest specimens I had attempted to preserve, and the result may be seen in the following letters from Professor Baird, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 8, 1879.

DEAR MR. SWAN:— You will doubtless be interested and gratified to hear that your second consignment of specimens came in most admirable condition; better than the average of those put up in the ordinary way. I enclose a list of the fishes identified, one or two of them being new to our collections.

Yours truly,
SPENCER F. BAIRD.

JAS. G. SWAN,
Neeah Bay, Wash'g Ter'y.

The following is the list: Anoploma fimbria, Salmo, Acanthias Ammodigter, Muraenoides, Anoplarchus, Uranidea.

Professor Baird, to show his appreciation of the value of this solution, again wrote me as follows:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10, 1879.

DEAR MR. SWAN:—I have already advised you of the arrival of your last lot of specimens in admirable condition. You could not improve on the solution in which these articles were prepared.

The better plan is to have two receptacles, one for larger specimens and the other for smaller so that the latter cannot be crushed. A stone jar with large mouth and closed by a bit of rubber cloth kept tied tightly at the top, we find answers every purpose as receptacle for transmissions. For shipment the article can be transferred to a tin case to be soldered up. It is always best to keep specimens long enough on hand to permit them to be saturated with the first solution, and transferred to a second, especially as there is no certainty that they will not be delayed at San Francisco—a condition which will try them to their utmost.

Yours truly,
SPENCER F. BAIRD.

JAS. G. SWAN, Neeah Bay, W. T.

The use of glycerine and alcohol in equal parts has been recommended for a preservative solution for delicate specimens, but was quite expensive. The proportion I have used, being one-third alcohol, one-third glycerine and one-third water, reduces the cost; and the result as shown above proves that it is the very best of preservatives for large specimens of all kinds.

There is also a very cheap solution called "Mueller's Fluid," used for anatomical specimens, which, from its cheapness, can be used in schools by students interested in the study of natural history. It is composed 2 parts bicromate of potash, 1 part sulphate of soda and 100 parts rain water. Common, wide-mouthed jars or pickle bottles which can be stopped up tight can contain the fluid, and the young student will find it of interest to collect small specimens of fish and preserve them by this method. But for large and more valuable specimens, the first named solution is best.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

A new amendment, ranking as No. XVI, has been proposed, to the constitution of the United States. In deciding upon adopting or rejecting it, the Northern Democrats will be placed in a dilemma; if they vote for it, then it will pass, and forever cut off all Southern claims, and if they vote against it they will be placed on record as in favor of making the government pay the losses and expenses incurred by those who rebelled against it. The amendment reads as follows:

"No claims against the United States shall ever hereafter be sustained or allowed by Congress or any department, or officer or court of the United States, or money paid by the United States or from their funds, whether as damage, compensation or otherwise from or on account of any property, real, personal or mixed, taken, used, injured or destroyed by United States troops, or by or through any officer, civil or military, or other person acting or professing to act under authority of the United States, or of their enemies, or taken, used, injured or destroyed from any other cause whatever, during the existence of the late insurrection or rebellion against the government of the United States, unless the owner thereof (and in case any corporation, its governing authority and management) was during all the time of such insurrection or rebellion, loyal in fact to the government of the United States, and gave neither aid nor encouragement to the enemy.

No pension, bounty, grant, pecuniary indemnity or pecuniary benefit shall ever be given, or provided for by or under authority of Congress or any State for or on account of any military or other service performed, or any injury suffered in hostility to the government of the United States.

No pardon or amnesty, past or future, shall have any effect to take any person, case or claim out of the purview of this article.

CHRISTMAS AT FORT LEAVENWORTH.

From our Lady Correspondent.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan.,
December 30, 1878.

EDITOR ARGUS:—

As many of your readers may imagine that a life in a garrison surrounded by soldiers is a very gloomy and disagreeable manner of passing one's existence, I will give you a description of how one family passed Christmas at this post, which I am sure is but the sweet echo of similar scenes in thousands of happy homes throughout the land. Such a gay time as we had, and how I wish that all my friends both great and small could have passed as merry and as social a day as we did here in Fort Leavenworth.

Christmas we all assembled at the breakfast table as usual, the children however having scarcely any appetites, their minds being so taken up with Santa Claus and the presents he had brought them whilst they were away in Noddles Land. After the morning meal was over, we all assembled in the parlor where, the previous evening, five little stockings had been hung up on the chimney piece, and how quickly the little ones scattered upon a signal from mamma, each to his or her stocking, which was filled up to the top with various presents, whilst underneath the larger gifts were filed. Maude rejoiced in a bedstead, bureau dining table, little trunk, just suitable for holding her doll. Daisy's clothes, a set of beautiful china dishes, &c. Richard received a carpenter's bench made by a man named Riley, in the Captain's company, and designed by the Captain himself, a sled called the "Lively", a game of nine-pins, and some candy. Virginia and Oliver, both got appropriate toys, whilst Mary Peyton, the baby, was made a happy one by a brand new tin rattle and a pretty white hood. Mamma received some quaint looking mat made by the Haida Indians of Queen Charlotte's Island, which old Chris. Krinkle must have hunted far and wide for ere he discovered them, and a rose-colored "fascinator" for her head. Papa had an arm chair and two of us ladies received a handsome purse each, in which to keep our "little alls." Thus we were all made happy.

What a peaceful, happy scene we presented. The children seated on the floor surrounded by their Christmas gifts. We older folks listening with pleased faces to their exclamations of happiness and contentment. The open wood fire piled up with huge logs blazed cheerily away, presenting the only true picture of the fireside and hearthstone, which modern furnaces with holes in the floor would usurp, for the family shrine about which poets have sung for centuries; and the windows filled with green plants, through which the sunlight penetrated, casting fantastic shadows upon the floor. Yes; I am sure St. Nicholas felt amply repaid for all his labor in our behalf when he glanced down upon us and beheld this cheerful interim.

In the midst of our bliss, the bugle sounded the church call, and away we scampered to dress for the Christmas service. "What a beautiful Christmas morning," we exclaim as we trip along the broad walk. The sun shines upon the white snow and dazzles us with its brilliancy. "I wish I had a sun-shade," says Mrs. E., and a fan say I, for I am positively hot with hurrying so.

The new stone chapel, of which I made mention in a former letter looks beautifully—decked out with long chains of evergreens, with the scarlet, bitter-sweet berries intermixed. How picturesque the chancel appears, also profusely decorated with vines and berries, and the two immense flags of the United States gracefully draped upon the wall, and forming a rich background for the venerable form of Chaplain Weart, arrayed in his ministerial robes. The service begins with a joyful strain of harmony from the choir, all soldiers of the 23d, followed by the Episcopal form of service; and then the venerable Chaplain discourses eloquently for an hour upon the never worn out theme of the birth of Christ. At last the benediction is pronounced, and we are free to go out again in the sweet, cool air, and in the sunshine.

From the Chapel, we follow Captain E. to his company's barracks, where, proceeding to the dining room, a large apartment 20 by 35 feet, we see a great table extending the entire length of the room, and fairly groaning beneath the weight of good things which are heaped upon it. Think of it: six different kinds of cake all frosted, not to mention turkey cooked in various ways, vegetables, pies, sauces, and coffee, tea and beer. "You see, ladies," says the captain with pardonable vanity, "we have a fancy cook in our company." We are by this time in the kitchen near a huge stove, on the top of which a large pan filled with dissected turkey is sizzling away. "Indeed we should say so," we exclaim "I must have some of that turkey, my son, where is there a fork?" says the Captain's mother. No sooner are the words out of her mouth, than the first sergeant, a fine military looking man, presents with a silver-plated fork with as much manner, as if "he was to the manor born."

"My! that does delightfully, don't you want some Miss Eva," murmurs Mrs. E. her mouth full of the tempting bird or fowl. "Of course I do; give me some of that dressing please." Whilst we are thus absorbed in the contents of the pan, the Captain, who had been looking on with a very much amused expression, says, "Come, young ladies remember we also are to have dinner to day," whereupon we took our departure for No. 46 West End.

Major R—and Mrs. B—dined with us at five o'clock P. M. We had a fine repast to which we all did ample justice. During the meal the wind whistled in an uncommonly vigorous manner through the sashes of the windows, under and over the doors, and down the stove pipes. "I think from the various noises," Major R—looking as he speaks, very wise and knowing, "that St. Nicholas is making a second round, now children if you are very good I believe he will stop here again." "Yes, there he is, don't you hear him whistling to his reindeer," says little Richard, his dark eyes dilating with wonder, "how does he get down the chimney I wonder when they are so narrow?" "Why don't you know," say I "that Santa Claus can make himself as big or as little as he wishes to?" This satisfied the children's curiosity. Dinner over we march upstairs and into the parlor for the second time. "But where is Santa Claus, Papa?" cry the children. "Santa Claus! he left whilst we were at dinner, but he left this behind him" answers papa pulling into the centre of the room a pretty sled with a big box upon it. This sled and box which had been expected to arrive from Boston the day previous, had not arrived until Christmas day at noon, which recounts for Santa Claus' second visit. We all crowd round this box with exclamations of glee. Captain E—takes out package after package and gives them to those whose names are written upon them.

Richard is charmed with a game of sliced animals, Maude beams when a beautiful little box filled with tiny vials containing perfumes is disclosed to her eager gaze. An elegant wax doll also falls to Miss Maud. Little Virginia is perfectly delighted with her wax baby which she immediately names Fanny and insists upon taking to bed with her, to the great detriment of Dolly's blonde wig. But whilst we are all taken up with our presents, where is master Oliver, the irrepressible, aged two years. "O mamma," says Maude, "Olly is at my dishes again I wish you would keep him away." "Oliver is like a bull in a China shop," his papa declares. Ah! here is something for baby bunting; a lovely worsted ball arrangement with tinkling bells upon it is held up before Mary who clutches hold of it with her soft baby fingers, and is evidently quite carried away with the general excitement. "And here is something for you, ma," says Jack, giving his mother a bundle, which on being opened, proves to contain some lovely ruches for the throat. "How kind of them to remember me, they are so pretty and exactly what I wished for," says mamma. The box is nearly emptied. "For Miss Eva, here Richard, take this to your auntie," and I am presented with a flat square box in which is a delicate white lace scarf, and the most exquisite silver comb for the hair which matches my silver necklace to a charm.

At this juncture in comes Maggie and carries off the first edition in the shape of young Oliver, who poor little man has been yawning for the last half hour notwithstanding Santa Claus' budget. Then Rosie, as Virginia wishes to be called, retires, keeping fast hold of her little doll-Fannie, whose pink cheeks are no rosier than her little mamma's. Next comes baby bunting's turn. "Richard and Maud go to bed," commands mamma. "Let me put Daisy to bed first," says Maud, undressing her as slowly as slowly as possible.

At last the children are all gone and it is so quiet comparatively speaking, that I declare I feel lonely. The day's amusements are wound up by a pas-seul by grandmamma, and when when we are in the privacy of our own apartment, my lively friend produces a work upon phrenology, from out of which she reads me various extracts. Soon, under the influence of her soothing tones I fall gently asleep in the arms of Morpheus.

The day after Christmas a lady calls and sends up word by one of the children that she wishes to see the ladies immediately. We hasten down all eagerness to hear what she has to tell us, and are startled by the information that the 23d infantry are ordered away from Fort Leavenworth to Indian Territory, at the instance of Governor Anthony, of Kansas, who, in behalf of the people of this State, wishes to have the boundaries and Western portions of Kansas protected against future depredations of Indians. "How soon does the order take effect," we inquire. "As soon as the regiment can get ready; in a week or two." "What! turn all the ladies and children out of their comfortable quarters in the dead of winter? Why, that is simply barbarous!" Capt. E. come in at this time and confirms the news, but states that the families of the officers are to remain at this post until milder weather sets in, when they will follow their husbands and fathers. We all look and feel very sober, the idea of parting from so many warm, kind friends, some of whom I shall probably never meet again fills me with unutterable sadness. The happy year I have spent in beautiful Fort Leavenworth, rushes over my mind. The many pleasant times I have had with the officers and ladies of the 23d recurs to me, and I feel as if the last good-bye will be melancholy indeed. When, again shall I hear the sweet young voices of my five little nieces and nephews; when shall I again be awakened in the morning by Richard saying, "auntie the first bell has rung, it is time to get up." I must return to cold, intellectual cultivated Boston whilst my dear sister and her family wander from pillar to post, in the words of the venerable Bishop Heber, "From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand." But enough of these melancholy forebodings, two weeks are yet before us in which to enjoy each other's society, and as "It is better to laugh than be sighing, they are wise who resolve to be gay," we must all endeavor to be as happy and as merry as circumstances will permit.

This is the last epistle I shall write for the ARGUS from Fort Leavenworth, although not the last one I trust that you will receive from OLYMPIA.

OLD, TRIED, AND TRUE.

People are getting acquainted—and those who are not ought to be—with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the MEXICAN Mustang Liniment, FOR MAN AND BEAST.

This Liniment very naturally originated in America, where Nature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children. Its fame has been spreading for 20 years, until now it encircles the habitable globe. The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchless remedy for all external ailments of man and beast. To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable. A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, cow, or sheep. It cures footrot, hoof ail, hollow horn, grub, sore-worms, shoulderrot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and farm life. It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, swellings, sprains, strains, foundering, wind-gill, ring-bone, etc., etc. The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the greatest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as burns, scalds, sprains, cuts, etc., and for rheumatism, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Particularly valuable to Miners. It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure. Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportionately much the cheapest. Sold everywhere.

HOW'S YOUR LIVER?
If the skin be yellow and muddy, the bowels constipated; if you have ringing in your ears, dull pains in the side, sick headache, sour stomach, hot or dry skin, spots before the eyes, bad taste in the mouth, cold feet and hands, sleepiness, giddiness, loss of appetite, bad circulation of the blood, swollen limbs, &c., you may safely conclude your liver is out of order. The liver is more apt to become disordered than any other organ of the body, as its duty is to filter the poisons from the blood. When it becomes weak, obstructed and diseased it must fail to do its duty, and the whole body suffers. Try White's Prairie Flower, the greatest known liver purifier in the world. Stamp a bottle 25 cents, large size 75 cents. For sale everywhere.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF JEFFERSON CO.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1879

VICTORIA PILOTS.

We hear a deal of complaint from masters of American vessels bound to the ports of British Columbia of the incompetency and extortion of the Victoria pilots. The recent accident to the steamer Empire by the gross carelessness of pilot Ramsey brings the subject to the surface in a series of vigorous remonstrances.

Captain James Foster, of the bark Don Nicholas, now loading at Nanaimo, and Captain McIntyre of bark Revere, are among other who complain. Captain McIntyre states that vessels with a fair wind are obliged to go to Victoria for a pilot to Burrard Inlet in Nanaimo, and on one occasion recently after making signals for a pilot on the pilot ground at Royal Roads, no pilot came off to seek him, and he sailed his vessel to Departure Bay, and then was forced to pay for a pilot whose services had never been offered.

Captain Foster says that the British ship Canon Harrison, while in tow of a tug steamer bound to Burrard Inlet was boarded by a Victoria pilot who took charge of her. After the tug had cast off, and while the ship was under way, the captain asked the pilot where he should anchor to discharge ballast and how much water there was. The pilot replied he didn't know as he had never been there before. The tug had to return and take the ship to her proper anchorage, and the pilot claimed his fee.

Captain Foster was coming from Nanaimo to Victoria on the steamer Empire, and while talking with Captain McAllap and the pilot, the Captain remarked that from the position of Fraser river light he ought to see the entrance to Active pass, but could see none, although the night was perfectly clear. The pilot by his answer showed that he knew nothing of either the course, bearings, or distance, and finally admitted that the land looked strange, and before the Captain could ring the second bell the steamer struck the rock.

It is a fact that is susceptible of proof that from the time Captain Cooper ran the U. S. steamer Suwanee on the reef where she was totally wrecked, to the present stranding of steamer Empire, scarcely an accident or wreck has occurred to either steamer or sailing vessel in the waters of British Columbia but has been in charge of a pilot. Where pilots' services are compulsory, as in British Columbia, it would seem as though the Pilot Commissioners should select careful and thoroughly competent men or else turn over the service to the Puget Sound Pilots; who not only have to pass a thorough examination in seamanship as well as in a knowledge of the channels and dangers of the waters they navigate but are required to give bonds in the sum of two thousand dollars each, while the Victoria pilots give no bonds and are not held responsible for loss occasioned by their ignorance or neglect. There are some good men among the Victoria pilots it is true, but the whole of the system seems to need an overhauling to give better satisfaction and security to vessels trading in their waters.

Prof. C. B. Plummer, the inimitable elocutionist, is in town and will remain a few days. He will perhaps favor our citizens with one of his pleasant entertainments. He will be appreciated, as he always has been, by our fun-loving people.

CREDITABLE INSTITUTION.—A few days ago we had the pleasure of going through and examining the Port Townsend Hospital. Its neatness and generally creditable appearance, as well as its extensive and deserved popularity merit more than passing mention. Over 300 patients were treated in this institution in 1878, among which there were but 9 deaths. At present it contains 42 patients, 27 of which are marine and 15 from other sources. The largest building is 100x30 feet on the ground floor and two stories high. A hall runs through the lower story, on either side of which are spacious and comfortable rooms. In front is a dispensary and a store room on one side, and a pleasant office on the other. The upper story is reached by stairs running up outside, and is divided into two roomy and neatly furnished wards. The county ward, 32x44 feet, is an older building but is kept in good repair and is rendered quite comfortable for its occupants. The dining-room, wash-room and other apartments are kept scrupulously neat and clean and furnish all the accommodations of a first-class hotel. In the centre of the square, three sides of which are enclosed by the buildings, is a water tank with a capacity of 15,000 gallons; this is kept supplied by means of a force pump worked by a wind mill, and from the roofs. The whole property stands upon a prominent, airy and commanding eminence, and everything has been done to render its sanitary conditions most desirable. The drainage is perfect, and a liberal use of disinfectants keeps the whole premises as sweet and healthy as possible. Upon the whole, the institution is one of which Port Townsend may justly boast.

VINDICATED.—The telegraph says that Mr. S. W. Hall, who was recently arrested in Olympia on a charge of forgery and embezzlement is not the man, Halliday, who is wanted in Illinois. If this be true, we are gratified to announce his vindication, as we would on no account desire to see any one punished for a crime of which he is innocent. Mr. Hall, since his arrest, has been pounced upon, figuratively speaking, and shaken as a rat would be in the jaws of a terrier. Even the "Press" of this place, turned its back upon him and told about suspicion long ago "quietly pointing to him," &c. Such episodes as his experience sometimes bring out a funny co-incidental worthy of passing remark. On the morning that the "Oregonian" announced Hall's vindication, Blanchard of this place, rushed along the street at a break-neck rate, paper in hand, his finger upon the important paragraph, en route for the office of Dr. Willison to break the news to him; about midway between the offices of the two gentlemen named they ran "ker chug" against each other, each having a copy of the daily, each keeping his place—a la schoolboy—by the use of his index finger, and each so intent upon the perusal of the news that the collision was well nigh serious. Evidently they were both surprised at the seeming evidence of Hall's innocence.

ABOUT ALASKA.—The cheering news comes that Special Agent Morris' report on Alaska has been favorably received in Washington, and that agreeable to a summons he is now at headquarters to appear before a Congressional committee. It is confidently expected that steps will be taken to extend civil government over Alaska, and thus leave its vast and varied resources capable of more speedy development.

In our comments on the "Oregonian," last week, a typographical error made Harvey W. Scott's name read "Thos." Scott.

PILOT COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

The pilot commissioners of Puget Sound held their regular quarterly meeting at their office in Van Bokkelin's building, on Monday the 3d. Present—Commissioners H. E. Morgan, chairman; J. H. Swift and C. C. Bartlett; James G. Swan, Secretary. Pilots Peter Thompson, N. T. Oliver and James Dalgarno, who are the only branch pilots at the present time were also before the Board and made their quarterly report of the earnings of the pilot schooner Lottie, and a report from the log of the schooner, showing the work performed during the quarter, which reports were accepted.

The pilots stated they had in view the purchase of a vessel more suitable to their business than the present one, and a leave was granted by the commissioners to the pilots for one of their number to proceed to Portland or San Francisco for the purpose.

Capt. E. H. McAlmond presented a petition for a license as pilot, and stated to the board that he has a new vessel on the stocks nearly ready to launch, which he proposed to use as a pilot boat. After a full discussion of the question, in which Capt. McAlmond and the pilots exposed their views, it was decided by the board that it is inexpedient to increase the pilot service at present, while business continues in such a depressed state; and the petition of Capt. McAlmond was laid on the table.

A certificate from Capt. Boulton of the British clipper ship Lothan, to pilot James Dalgarno, for his care and skill in piloting the Lothan from Cape Flattery to Esquimault, was read to the board and ordered to be filed.

No other business being presented the board adjourned.

SOLID MERIT WILL TELL.

For all the bitter opposition of jealous rivals, no better illustration could be had of this fact than the immense sale already attained by the great Throat and Lung Remedy, Dr. Aug. Kaiser's German Elixir. For the cure of Coughs and Bronchial Affections it is truly wonderful, even those suffering from Consumption in advanced stages find great relief, and numbers of patients have found, to their delight, not only relief but cure. It being perfectly harmless, makes it at once popular with mothers, who of all others have felt the necessity of such medicine. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the assiduous signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 75 cent bottle. A trial size may be had at the Drug Store of for 25 cents.

THE U. S. SIGNAL SERVICE.

Gradually, the wild and ungovernable forces of nature are, through science, made of use to man. Following in the wake of the ingenious inventions for the use of steam and electricity, comes the organization of the U. S. Signal Service. Is it not wonderful that a system could be originated and perfected whereby an operator can accurately predict the weather of a different locality? And yet experience proves our "storm signals" to be reliable. Equally great are the advances made in the science of medicine. Step by step, uncertainties and doubts have yielded to absolute certainty. The discoveries of Harvey and Jenner have been succeeded by the Golden Medical Discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce. No longer need despair because some physician has pronounced the lungs unsound. Hundreds of testimonials are on file in the office of Dr. Pierce from those who had abandoned all hope, and had been given up to die by physicians and friends. Incipient consumption, bronchitis, serofulous tumors, speedily, surely, and permanently, yield to the healing influence of the Discovery. If the bowels be constipated, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. For full particulars see Pierce's Memorandum Book, given away by all druggists.

ELECTION AT NEEAH BAY.

A Step Towards Civilization.

Last November, just before Thanksgiving, Capt. Chas. Willoughby, U. S. Indian Agent for the Makah tribe at Cape Flattery, called a meeting of the chiefs and head men to explain to them what he proposed doing for their improvement the coming season, in the way of general repairs of buildings, new fences, new roads, clearing and cultivating land etc., in all of which he asked their hearty co-operation, and in order to have the matters better understood, he proposed that in each village they should select a chief who should hold office for one year, and act as the select-men or trustees do for towns among white men. He told them to take time to talk the matter over and thoroughly understand it before they acted, and suggested that they elect four chiefs for the village at Neah Bay, three for Waaton village, three for Tsoves village, and four for Hosett village at Flattery Rocks. The matter was thoroughly discussed by the Indians, and on the 16th inst a delegation called on the agent and informed him that they were ready to proceed with the election on any day he might designate. Capt. Willoughby thereupon appointed Thursday, the 23d, for an election of four chiefs, to be held at Neah village. On the day appointed, the large room, 30 by 50 feet, was well filled by men and women, the agent recognizing their usual custom of allowing their women to have a voice in public matters, and the meeting was called to order by the agent who had invited Judge Swan, U. S. Inspector of Customs to be present, in his capacity of Notary Public, to see that the election was properly conducted.

As many of those present had witnessed the manner of election adopted in Victoria, by a show of hands, it was easy for them to understand that this was the method to be adopted. They were then told that they must name the four men and elect them one at a time, by holding up hands until counted.

After a few minutes' pause, Russian Jim got up and said that at the first meeting his name had been talked of as a candidate but he did not wish to serve, and he would name "Youaiti" or old Doctor. He then spoke a few minutes in the old Doctor's praise and sat down. A show of hands was called, and old Doctor received 54 votes, and as no one voted against him he was declared elected. Then Tsovs ha ya or Young Liae, nominated Willut, or Billy Balch, son of old Flattery Jack. He received 66 votes and was elected. Then Peter named Cap. John, who also received 66 votes. Then Tadahia George named David, who received 74 votes and was elected.

The next day the four select-men presented themselves at the agent's office where they received certificates of election from the agent, to each of which was attached the certificate and Notarial seal of Judge Swan, certifying that the election had been conducted fairly and in accordance with the customs of white men.

The agent then told them that they should choose one of their number as chairmann or head man of the tour which they did by choosing Capt. John. The agent then told them that all their proceedings should be regularly reported to him in writing, and as there are several of the young men who can read and write, he wished them to select one as their clerk, and they accordingly appointed Charlie Williams, son of Billy Balch, as clerk. After the board of chiefs was properly organized agent Willoughby told them he should refer all causes of complaint arising in Neah village to them to try, and that Charlie Williams must report to him in English and in writing, and such report would be considered official, that he wanted to do away with the use of jargon entirely, and all communications to him must be in English. He then referred to them the following complaints: Charlie Hazlehead against his wife for desertion. Peter against A'Mabush for threatening to shoot him. "Mr. Parker," Hosett chief, against Albert, charging him with turning an old man out of doors to die.

The chiefs then went home, and that evening called a meeting in Capt. John's house, where they held a court. Their proceedings were taken down on paper by Charlie Williams and brought to the agent the next day. The following is a verbatim copy of the record:

THE FIRST MEETING OF THE CHIEFS OF NEEAH BAY VILLAGE.

Friday, January 24, 1879.

The four chiefs who have been chosen by the people of Neah Bay, met this evening at the house of Capt. John. There were Capt. John, head chief, Willut, Doctor, and David. Peter was there as chief of police. They first heard what Charlie Hazlehead had to say about his wife. Charlie Hazlehead said: "The chiefs want to know why I don't live with my wife now, her father, Chekotl, took her away. I was very kind-hearted but that man make me disobey the chiefs. That girl told me she will not leave me, and I told her I will not leave her. I say this time that I am afraid if I leave her, for I told Huntington that I will not leave her for I was married by him."

Alice said: "Well, I don't want to live with him any more, I think he will always be angry with me for he was whipping me after I washed all his clothes, and I don't want him to touch me any more after I leave him. I don't want to live with him any more, not one bit."

Charlie Hazlehead said: "I didn't mean if I punish her, I was play with her and I ask her if she have washed my clothes, and she said "no, I have not washed yet," so I punished her by striking her four times with a little stick and I not hurt her."

The four chiefs said: "We don't want you to leave your husband, we want you to live with him. If one of you do something wrong, or have some fighting then you must talk to us, now we don't want you to talk any more with us."

When the four chiefs done talking to Charlie Hazlehead and wife, then Albert speaks:

"You are the chiefs, four of you, I am going to have a talk with you. I hear Parker talk bad about me to the agent, I think Parker wants to make me trouble, so I want you four chiefs to tell Parker to come up for I want to talk to Parker when he comes up here."

The four chiefs said: "We don't want Paker to come up soon for our agent is going away, and we will not have a talk until all the Hosett Indians come up."

The four chiefs did not speak about Peter and Allabush, they will talk to them another time.

CHARLIE WILLIAMS, Clerk.

The report of the clerk was received at the agent's office and placed on file, and Charlie was complimented by the agent for his success on his first attempt at performing clerical duties, which is quite as good as the average of our school boys would do in a like situation. The Indians seem well pleased with the idea of governing themselves. Hitherto, Peter, the chief of police has done all the talking, and was inclined to be arbitrary and shows favoritism. Capt. Willoughby is determined to do away with one man-power, and teach them that by adopting the ways of civilization, they can govern themselves as white men do. He has succeeded thus far in gaining the confidence of the Indians and they see while the school is progressing harmoniously and conducted on the same principle and by the same teacher who has had charge for several years, (Mr. A. W. Smith), that the agent is giving more attention to the improvement of the government property, to the personal appearance and cleanliness of the Indians, and to the sanitary condition of their houses than has been done since the agency was first started, and if he is permitted to remain and have the means furnished him to carry out and perfect his plans, he will effect great and marked changes for the benefit of the Indians under his charge.

The scarcity of Diamonds, Gold and Silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value.

THIS is with a valuable medicine, Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way.

For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections, it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your Druggist for it.

BATTISTE'S HAIR INVIGORATOR.

M. Battiste Delaitang, Tonsorial artist of Port Townsend, Washington Territory, begs to inform his numerous patrons and the public generally, that he has prepared from the original receipt of Professor Montalantier, the celebrated chemist of Paris, and from chemical extracts of rare medicinal plants found only on the North-west coast of America, a most elegant addition to the usual toilette articles in the shape of an invigorator and rejuvenator of the hair.

Battiste's Hair Invigorator is the "sine qua non" of all the inventions for the improvement, beautifying and growth of the hair.

A Living Witness.

Do not despair of ever finding relief from that dreadful disease dyspepsia, or its mother complaint. A single trial of White's Prairie Flower will make you a witness to its infallibility. Druggists say they never sold a medicine they can more heartily recommend. It cures chronic rheumatism, cutaneous and ulcerous scrofula, organic debility, nervousness, etc., etc. For female complaint it has no equal. Prairie Flower is gathered from the prairie of the far west, and then carefully prepared in the form of a liquid medicine by an experienced physician. Is positively purely vegetable and harmless in any reasonable amount, yet a powerful purgative if taken in over doses. Directions in full are with each bottle. For sale by all druggists. Trial size, 25 cts. Large size 75 cts.

PARTICULAR

ATTENTION PAID TO SHIPPERS 23 Water St., Port Townsend.

What are you going to do about it?

Because the penalties of physiological laws are not executed speedily, some fancy they are void. But when the system breaks down, and almost hopeless complications arise, which the family physician, by reason of his limited experience, fails to relieve, the pertinency of the above inquiry is apparent. Many remedies have been specially prepared for these cases, and many physicians are bidding for their patronage. As before making a purchase of such a "search" is required, and the title carefully examined, so invalids should carefully investigate the claims of any physician offering to treat chronic diseases. Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are well known, and have effected many cures where eminent physicians have failed, yet to accommodate surgical and complicated cases, and those desirous of being cured speedily, Dr. Pierce has erected an elegant sanitarium, at a cost of nearly half a million dollars. No institution in the world offers advantages superior to those found in this establishment. Half a score of physicians are in attendance, several of whom have been prominently connected with leading American and European Hospitals. Every improved facility for hastening a cure that a liberal expenditure of money could secure can here be found. Before fully deciding where to go, address Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, for circular.

URANINE.

This is the most recently discovered, and perhaps the most remarkable of all the coal tar or aniline group of coloring substances, now so extensively used for the adornment of the finest fabrics. Uranine is said, by chemists, to be the most highly fluorescent body known to science. Its coloring power is astonishing; a single grain will impart a marked color to nearly five hundred gallons of water.

A most interesting experiment, which anybody may try, consists in sprinkling a few atoms of Uranine upon the surface of water in a glass tumbler. Each atom immediately sends down through the water what appears to be a bright green rootlet; and the tumbler soon looks as if it were crowded full of beautiful plants. The rootlets now begin to enlarge, spread and combine, until we have a mass of soft green-colored liquid. Viewed by transmitted light, the color changes to a bright golden or amber hue; while a combination of green and gold will be realized, according to the position in which the glass is held. For day or evening experiment nothing can be prettier than the trials of Uranine, which are especially entertaining for the young folks. We are indebted for samples of the color to the editors of the "Scientific American, who are sending out specimens, free of charge, to all their readers. The subscription to the paper is $3.20 for a year, or $1.60 half year; and a better investment for the money could hardly be named.

Reliable Life Insurance Policy.

We take pleasure in commending to our readers a thoroughly safe and reliable life insurance agency, whose funds or assets are inexhaustible. It is a stock company operating under the joint title—HEALTH. Life policies are issued in the form of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets (which it takes as directed, insure the system against disease) upon payment of a very small fee. All the principal druggists are constituted agents.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next at our feet, pale with death, deal to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seventy per cent of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.
