OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 23, 1880.
After a very long debate, the Geneva Award bill has been postponed indefinitely. The people who are most seriously disappointed are the Insurance Companies who made money out of large premiums during the war, and now claim still larger profits to come from a division of the balance of the award paid by Great Britain. The whole debate seemed to turn upon this point, Senator Blaine leading against the insurance companies, and Thurman and Carpenter leading on the other side. Senator Blaine received a good many congratulations from men of all parties on his effort to have the ship owners reimbursed for their losses by the rebel cruisers. In fact all conceded that this debate developed his ability more signally than any other since he has been in the Senate.

The Democrats have again shown their weakness in the efforts to check off debate on the deficiency appropriation bill which contained a clause relative to the United States Marshals. But yesterday they backed down and agreed to allow the Republicans one hour and twenty minutes for debate. The bill passed eventually. The Republicans propose to discuss everything that comes before them for action and not be driven to vote upon any subject that is not intelligently understood by the country.

Political matters are getting very exciting now. The Republicans here universally regret the disorderly proceedings in Georgia and other Southern States, but there is no apprehension of trouble beyond the primaries. After the Chicago Convention all will unite to elect the ticket. I can say positively that the action of the Virginia Republican Convention in naming Senator Blaine for Vice President is distasteful to his friends, and some of them regard it as a deliberate insult planned in Washington. They say he is the leading candidate for President now, and that is why the Grant men use his name in this way, hoping to help their own candidate by so doing. The Georgia Convention shows that Senator Blaine and Secretary Sherman as well as General Grant will get many delegates from the South.

The widow Oliver's suit against Simon Cameron will be tried here in a few days unless it shall be settled. She sues for damages of $100,000 for breach of promise of marriage.
LEO.

Rev. Isaac Dillon, who was instrumental in getting up the largest excursion that ever visited the Sound country, is now engaged in working up an excursion from New York to Oregon to visit the State fair, which commences July 1st. He has secured very low rates on the Union & Central Pacific railroads, and arrangements are made for the excursionists to leave New York on June 16th.

The farmers of the Swinomish country are getting along nicely with their seeding. Mr. J. S. Conner has between 300 and 400 acres of oats sown. But little wheat will be sown in consequence of the fine prospects in California for a bountiful yield this season; hence the farmers will look to California markets for the sale of their oats and barley.

PROFESSOR Jordan, of the U. S. Fish Commission, will be here about the end of the month, and will stay on Puget Sound and in British Columbia waters until the 1st of June or later. He will be met by Mr. Swan and accompanied to Neah Bay and other points of interest, and when he goes hence he will probably have in his care more specimens of fish than have yet gone from the Sound at any one time. Professor Jordan has been for several weeks in California, and in the markets of San Francisco has gathered twenty-six varieties of fish entirely unknown to the Atlantic. He has lately been at Monterey, but is now about leaving for Astoria, where he will make a thorough examination of the Columbia river salmon. The visit of Mr. Jordan may result in much benefit to Puget Sound, and everything should be done to further the objects he has in view. Mr. Swan is an Assistant to the Fish Commission, and the two gentlemen, in conjunction with such assistance as they will get at Port Townsend, Victoria and elsewhere, will accomplish a vast amount of work during the short time at their command.—"Intelligencer."

An iron mine of remarkable richness has recently been discovered by Mr. W. R. Brawley and Mr. Chas. E. Norager. Yesterday these gentlemen, in company with Prof. Tiernan, made an assay of the ore, taking a piece weighing 7½ pounds. Their appliances for giving it a fair test, were very imperfect; but they succeeded in getting a piece of metal 1½ pounds in weight—fifty per cent. being iron, 10 per cent. copper and 5 per cent. silver. Prof. Tiernan reports the ore to be equal to the best Lake Superior, or that found in Norway. It is what is called brown hematite, and thinks with a crucible and suitable appliance for making accurate tests, it would assay as high as 75 per cent. The deposit from where the ore was taken, lies in a position of easy access, and one upon which work can be done to advantage. These gentlemen have both had experience in iron mining—Mr. Brawley in Pennsylvania and Mr. Norager in Norway. It is their intention to open out and develop the mine, making their headquarters at Seattle.—Seattle "Post."

RECEIVER Stuart, of the Olympia land office, has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate for another term in his present position. Mr. Stuart has been a most efficient and worthy officer, and his reappointment is but the logical result of his meritorious course.

CAPT. James Carroll in retiring from command of the Duncan, was presented with a gold headed cane by the officers of the steamer, upon which was inscribed, "To Capt. James Carroll, from the officers of the Duncan."

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to be present at the second annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Press Association, to be held at the Baldwin Hotel, San Francisco, the 1st day of June.

THE S. S. Idaho, Capt. Alexander, made the run to Victoria in 71½ hours. This is very good time—beating the Chester's average record and running close to the Dakota.

CAPT. H. G. Morse is now in command of the steamer City of Peking running between San Francisco and Hongkong.

THE Seattle barrel factory is now giving employment to about 75 persons—men and boys.

New Jersey and Delaware Republicans are reported for Blaine.

THE House Postal Committee favors a double postal card.

MAJOR GENERAL Heintzleman is dead.

Total snowfall for January, 1880, 5 feet 3¼ inches. Snowfall for 1878, only 7¼ inches, and for 1878 none at all.

The climate of Western Washington, as will be seen by the above table, is not one of extremes, unless it be said to be extremely mild and even. Its seasons are not as distinguishable as in most climates, in fact they merge into each other so imperceptibly that it is quite proper to say there are but two—Winter and Summer—sometimes called the wet and the dry; but such names we think as "wet" and "dry" tend to mislead; because our winters are not very wet, nor are our summers very dry. In fact the only material difference between the winters and summers here and the winters and summers in the Atlantic States is, that the winters there are cold with snow and but little rain, while here they are mild with but little snow. And the summers there are excessively hot with occasional showers while here they are cool with occasional showers. It is true that in occasional years we do not have much rain in July and August, but there is always some, and we have yet to learn of a single crop, put in due season, which has been materially injured by lack of sufficient moisture. It is common on the high bluffs, like the one on which Port Townsend stands, for a peculiar native grass, that is not considered of much value, to turn yellow in July and remain so until September when rain begins to fall more copiously and it springs up green again, and it is probable that this phenomena, observed by travelers, is what gave rise to the expression "dry." But as a matter of fact when this same grass is within an enclosure and not kept down by grazing it always grows until fully matured and does not turn yellow until dead ripe, the same as grass in any country; and if mown, will spring up again, grow luxuriantly and keep green straight along until mown again one year after.

There is one peculiarity about the storms in this country which may interest people who dread thunder bolts, and that is, that lightning and thunder seldom accompany them. The rain here does not usually fall in short heavy showers and then clear off, but it falls gently and continues all day, yet it would not wet through ordinary clothing in several hours. In fact there are very few rainy days in a whole year in which a man could not work out of doors. And so far as cold is concerned, there is very seldom a day when a man accustomed to out door life, would think of putting on an overcoat. The past winter has been the most severe of any within the memory of the oldest white resident, or Indian. Yet it has not been very cold, but the great depth of snow took everybody by surprise and caused considerable suffering among stock and broke down a few houses and barns.

The following is the average annual rainfall, copied from tables of Precipitation of rain and snow in the United States, being the mean for a series of years. Published by the Smithsonian Institution:

|                              | INCHES. |

NAVY YARD.

The great and growing commercial interests of the Northwest coast imperatively demand the establishment of a Navy Yard somewhere on Puget Sound, and, in all probability, the government will soon select a suitable place and cause one to be erected. The advantages which Puget Sound possesses for a Navy Yard are simply incomparable. The place to locate it would, of course, be a matter requiring a careful survey by competent engineers, but in our humble judgment no spot on the Sound presents greater inducements with fewer obstacles, than the island of 700 acres lying between the bay of Port Townsend and Scow Bay. The water all about the island is deep enough to float the largest vessels, and free from any submarine dangers. There is an immense bed of good building stone on the island, also plenty of fuel and water. An iron furnace about one and one half miles distant, across the bay, is being erected, and it is very probable that a rolling mill will soon follow. The government has a large military reservation and garrison near the island, but across Port Townsend Bay, where are always stationed one or more companies of troops.

HEALTH.

Western Washington is one of the most healthy localities in the United States. It is far more wholesome than the valleys of the western rivers, and the man who comes here with a good constitution, has a fairer prospect of long life than the dweller in the crowded cities of the east or in the fertile but malarious valleys of the center of the American continent; yet it is not a paradise where people may expect to regain youth or live forever. The same violation of the laws of health are followed by the same inevitable consequences here, as elsewhere. The cool nights have a great sanitary effect. While the people of the Atlantic States are rolling in their beds all night and gasping for breath, our expended energies are being restored by a refreshing sleep beneath a pair of woolen blankets. Fever and ague is unknown except in cases of persons who have come from malarious districts (there is but little malaria here) and they soon get well. Cases of Summer complaints of children, as cholera-intantum, dysentery, diarrhea and such other maladies as are developed from a high degree of temperature, also pleurisy, pneumonia are comparatively rare. There are no diseases peculiar to the country. Hydrophobia is unknown. The winters are not cold neither are the summers hot, but the temperature throughout the year is remarkably uniform. Surgical operations here are seldom followed by unfavorable complication such as Erysipelas, gangrene or pyemia. Rheumatism and heart disease as a sequel of rheumatic affection is probably more prevalent here than in places where the atmosphere is less humid.

EASTERN STATES.

Report of the Handwriting Expert.

WEST POINT, April 30.—Hogen, an expert said: "I am prepared to testify that the handwriting of specimens numbered 8, 9 and 10, is the handwriting of the person who wrote the note and contents addressed to cadet Whiteaker." Replying to questions Hogen stated that he had noticed some attempts to disguise in the handwriting of the anonymous note. He had asked for additional specimens of this hand, and found in it one or two resemblances to the anonymous note, but not sufficient to warrant.

General Key Provided For.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—At a cabinet meeting to-day the President tendered the Postmaster General the United States judgeship for the eastern and middle districts of Tennessee which was accepted.

Unprecedented Immigration.

Six ocean steamships arrived to-day bringing 3,386 immigrants from all parts of Europe. Total arrivals for April, 48,118, the largest number ever landed at Castle Garden in one month.

Public Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The debt statement will show a decrease during April of $12,000 or more. The treasury purchased 422,000 ounces of silver for the Philadelphia and San Francisco mints.

New Postal Routes.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—In the first route bill the following new routes are created in Oregon: From Salem via Liberty school house, Waldo farm, Rock Point, Beaver Glen and Union school house to Silver creek; from Linkville via Tule Lake, Scorpion Point, Dro Lake and Burgood's ranch to Fall river mills, California; from Linkville via Plevna, Klamath ferry, Miller's ranch, Dorsey's ranch, Fairchild's ranch and Ball's ranch to Mount Shasta, California; from Rockville via Olax, Lone Rock, Spring valley, Monument, Long creek and Susanville to Canyon City; from Rockville via The Basin to Alder creek, W. T.; from Drew's valley via Barnes' valley to Langell's valley; from Linkville to Mount Shasta; from Linkville to Fort Klamath; from Camp Hardy by Curry's to Silver creek; from The Dallas via Cellito to Wallula, W. T.; from Baker City via Eldorado to Boise City, Idaho.

Another Invoice of Emigrants.

New York, May 1.—Five steamships arrived from Europe to-day, bringing 4,291 emigrants. French papers state that there are 250,000 persons awaiting means of transportation to this country. Two thousand are waiting for berths in Havre. Three trains were dispatched to-day, and three extra trains of two cars each will be sent out to-morrow over the Erie, Pennsylvania and New York Central.

Financial Statement.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The decrease of the public debt during April is $12,078,070. Cash in the treasury $199,464,393; gold certificates, $8,280,600; silver certificates, $12,043,720; certificates of deposit outstanding, $9,760,000; refunding certificates, $1,524,350; fractional currency outstanding, $15,604,587; legal tenders outstanding, $346,581,046.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Representative Horace Davis to-day presented memorials of the San Francisco chamber of commerce praying that the defenses of that harbor be armed with forty or fifty modern heavy rifled guns, and that at least two turreted ironclads be maintained there, that the size of mail ships to be subsidized by the postmaster general be not presented by law except in regard to vessels plying between the United States and Europe, Asia and Africa, and protesting against the proposed discontinuance of Wells, Fargo & Co's letter carrying service.

Postal Changes.

Postal changes for the Pacific Coast last week: Established—Ill, Columbia county, W. T., E. L. Hemingway, postmaster; Rockford, Spokane county, W. T., Mrs. Ruth Farnsworth, postmaster.

In the Hands of the President.

The Vice-President has signed the immediate deficiency bill which now goes to the President.

Sutter's Biography.

The Post publishes a column and a half biography of Gen. John A. Sutter, embellished with his portrait. The purpose of this publication which narrates in a very interesting style, his great services to the United States authorities, distressed immigrants and early settlers in California, appears to be to promote the passage of the bill pending in Congress for his relief.

Minut Locations.

Geo. R. Davis, of Chicago, and Nebraska senators for Omaha presented to the coinage committee of the House the merits of those cities as mint locations.

Revenue Matters.

The secretary of the treasury, answering a note of Senator Bayard as to the practicability of the pending bill to extinguish $250,000,000 of 6 per cent. bonds outstanding at maturity, shows that the surplus revenue, even if the enormous increase that the revenues have since January should continue, would be insufficient by at least one-half with the present deficiency bills and prospects of more. It would be impossible, without decreasing largely the sum in the treasury, to pay off the amount required unless Congress decides on increased taxation in other respects. He concludes the bill is an advance in the right direction.

The Chinese Convention.

Minister Angell writes to Commissioner John F. Smith that the Michigan engagement will not start at its meeting on to Washington before the middle of May. He has therefore invited Mr. Swift to make him a visit at Ann Arbor for the purpose of exchanging views as to their prospective work together, and Swift will do so en route to California, leaving Washington probably next Tuesday and arriving at San Francisco on or about the 20th inst. Minister Angell and Commissioner and Minister Treseott expect to reach San Francisco together between the 1st and 5th of June.

Robbing a Kentucky Bank.

PARIS, Ky., May 4.—Cracksmen took from the National Bank a box containing $439 and a package containing $19,500 in bonds. Ten thousand dollars of the bonds are of the Cincinnati Southern and belong to Mrs. C. S. Brent, of this city; $9,500 are Carlisle, Kentucky bonds, the property of Mrs. John Marshall, of Covington, Kentucky. Payment on the latter can be stopped, but bank officials say that the Southern bonds can only be regained by compromise with the burglars. Parties are suspected.

Doings of the M. E. Conference.

CINCINNATI, May 4.—The address of the bishops was read in the M. E. conference. ### FOREIGN NEWS.

Mark Lane Report.

LONDON, April 27.—The Mark Lane Express in its review of the situation of the crops and markets of Europe for the week ending April 26th says:

The weather the past two months has been the most reasonable known for five years. Spring sowing has been satisfactorily finished, and agricultural prospects are generally favorable. In consequence of the prospect of good crops farmers have ceased to attach importance to the retention of the remaining stock of home grown wheat, and country markets consequently have been more liberal. Although the condition of samples has been fair, sales were only effected with difficulty at a decline of two shillings per quarter. Actual imports of foreign at Liverpool and London have not been sufficient to cause the depression, but numerous arrivals at ports of call and liberal shipments from and a marked decline in America have reduced business to a state of panic. Operations of holders have been utterly disorganized by the release of the immense accumulation on the Atlantic seaboard. The instructions given to factors have been simply, "Take the price you can get—but sell." In such a demoralized state of affairs, when millers can scarcely be induced to look at wheat, it is not easy to chronicle the exact decline, especially as the lowest price does not appear to have yet been reached, but it may be stated that since the acknowledged failure of the ring, white American has declined 5s and red 4s per quarter. As far as can be gathered at present, exports from Russia will not be very large. In consequence of this fact the decline in Russian has not exceeded 2s 6d per quarter. Business has been entirely of a retail character. The demand so far is not at all stimulated by the decline, as prices in the future are uncertain, but so sharp a relapse may be followed by a sharper reaction. Arrivals at ports of call large. The recent heavy decline in wheat has brought forward buyers. There has been a large demand throughout the week and prices recovered 6d to 1s on red and 1s to 1s 6d on white. Maize is quiet. It has declined 1s per quarter. Offers of wheat for shipment from America continued restricted. Some little business was done in red winter on passage at 48s 6d@49s 3d, but buyers are generally indisposed to operate. Maize and barley slightly lower. Imports into the United Kingdom for the week ending April 17th, were 861,353 cwt. wheat, 111,442 cwt. flour.

Fire and Destruction.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 1.—Seventy houses have been burned at Radonyski in the government of Tchernigoff, and 130 at Nemereff in Podolia. Upwards of 200 families are homeless.

Serious Situation.

LONDON, May 1.—The situation in Northern Albania is most serious. Combined Albanian clans, numbering 15,000 men, are advancing to attack the Montenegrins' positions in Movatcha valley, and if possible recover Podgoritzac.

Newspaper Suspended.

LONDON, May 3.—A Constantinople dispatch says that the Levant Herald has been suspended, for stating that the government had better begin reforming before the English cabinet recognizes the necessity of executing the "bag and baggage" policy.

Sane Enough to be Executed.

Bismarck Will Not Retire.

The North German Gazette denies the rumors recently circulated by progressist newspapers of Bismarck's approaching retirement from office, and says that the chancellor, in consequence of abstention from parliamentary attendance imposed upon him by the state of his health, has enjoyed an opportunity for devoting his attention more continuously to ministerial duties in foreign and home affairs, and had himself stated that he daily acquires greater love for those duties.

The rural population is in a very disorderly state, and the population of Cabul, comprising partisans of different Sirdars is always ready for excitement. The rebellion is now practically ended. Very few rebels remain in arms and villagers are helping to hunt them out.

Iron Workers Strike in England.

LONDON, May 4.—Upwards of 7,000 iron workers are on a strike in the north of England against a 5 per cent. reduction of wages awarded by arbitrators. Burnley masters, in order to support the Blackburn masters in their notice to spinners and card room hands of a reduction of wages, have decided to suspend the rule requiring notice before discharging hands.

A ballot was taken by iron workers at Consett to-day, and a majority of about four to one favored the continuance of the strike.

Young Killoch Publishes a Card.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—The Post this afternoon publishes the following card from young Killoch:

EDITOR POST: I have not a word to say about the facts or merits of my case. I wish it to be tried in the ordinary way. Fair play, especially toward a man charged with murder is supposed to be characteristic of American communities, but I expect to have no fair play on or before my trial, if the fact men and corrupt detectives who surround the Chronicle office and assume to run this city can prevent it. It is infamous that public officers, who are paid by the community should work illegitimately for private individuals, and convert what ought to be honorable prosecution into malignant persecution. The detail published in the Chronicle of last Sunday shows how some of our detectives will invade private houses and try to frighten ignorant people. As for the arrest of Clement Shaw, I have this to say: I do not know the man and I make no statement as to my version of what transpired. I do not say whether his testimony was correct or incorrect, but I do declare he had no motive so far as I can see to conceal or pervert the truth, and that there is nothing in his evidence to indicate perjury. It looks to me as if his arrest is intended by the Chronicle and detectives to warn citizens of San Francisco that they must not testify to any facts that would even tend towards my exculpation. Yours truly,

I. M. KALLOCH.

The Post in another column says: However improbable it may appear in the face of testimony given at the inquest on the body of the late Charles De Young, it is confidently asserted by friends of I. M. Killoch that at least a dozen witnesses will support the testimony of Clement Shaw, to the effect that De Young did fire the first shot. The rumor is given for what it is worth, but there is no possible doubt that such evidence will be offered and form part of the defense.

Held Without Bail.

In the police court this afternoon, I. M. Killoch had a preliminary examination on a charge of killing Chas. DeYoung. The prosecution offered the testimony of eye witnesses of the shooting, medical men who were in attendance and performed the autopsy, and the arresting officer. The defense offered no testimony and the prisoner was held without bail.

M. H. DeYoung Arrested For Libel.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—M. H. DeYoung the surviving proprietor of the Chronicle, was arrested at noon to-day on complaint of Mayor Killoch, charging him with libel. An editorial which appeared in the New York World, which accused Mayor Killoch of subornation of perjury in connection with the testimony given by Clement Shaw at the inquest on the body of Charles DeYoung, is the ground of complaint. The prisoner was released on bail.

Indian Affairs in Arizona.

TUCSON, May 1.—A special to the Star from Yuma says the reports that Indians on the Colorado river above Ehrenberg have broken out and are defiant lacks confirmation. Gen. Wilcox, commanding the department, was at Fort Mojave on the 16th inst. directing the movements of his troops in person. Rumors of a general outbreak in the vicinity of Fort Mojave are not credited here.

Progress of the Southern Pacific.

The track of the Southern Pacific railroad is laid thirty-four miles east of Tucson. On and after to-day a train leaves Tucson for Pantano with stages to and from Tombston, Empire City and Patagonia. A train leaves Pantano at 4:30 P. M. and arrives at Tucson at 6:30 P. M.

Commission Revision.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—To-day the commission rates of brokers connected with the San Francisco Board were $1 each for each transaction under $200 and one half of one per cent for all transactions over $200. This will be the rule in future.

Hotel Burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The Long Branch Hotel at Alameda was burned this morning about 5 o'clock. The hotel was a new three story building. The fire is believed to have been incendiary. One woman perished in the flames.

LATER—John W. Pearson, owner of the Long Branch Hotel at Alameda, estimates his loss at about $30,000; no insurance. The fire is now believed to have originated from the use of coal oil in kindling a fire. The woman who was burned to death was Mary Spaulding, an employe of the hotel, and the one who first gave the alarm.

Clemenshaw Held for Perjury.

Clemenshaw, the witness who swore at the coroner's inquest that DeYoung fired the first shot at Killoch, to-day in the Police Court waived an examination on a charge of perjury, and was held to answer in bail of $3,000.

Death of ex-Auditor Monroe Ashbury. Ex-Auditor Monroe Ashbury died to-day, aged sixty-two.

Movements of American Vessels.

Collector Shannon has received orders from Washington to fit out the revenue cutter Thomas Corwin for the relief of the exploring yacht Jeannette and ice bound whalers in the Arctic. She was put on the dry dock to-day and will be ready for sea in about two weeks. The United States steamer Lackawanna has left to look after American interests at Callao.

The O'Brien Estate.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The superior court to-day ordered a distribution of the estate of the late W. S. O'Brien, to which objection had been made by John H. Burke, with the exception of bequests to Maria Coleman and Kate McDonough, aggregating a million and a half. The value of the estate undistributed is about seven millions.

Mayor Killoch Impenched.

At a meeting of the board of supervisors last evening the judiciary committee, who had been instructed to take into consideration the utterances and addresses of Mayor Killoch and to report what, if any, incendiary language he has used publicly, and to report proper action to be taken by the board in the premises, filed a long report reviewing the history of the labor agitation and the part borne in it by Killoch, finding that he has encouraged a lawless and discontented element, advised them to parade the streets and endeavor to keep them in such disposition and temperament as to commit an outbreak whenever it should suit his purposes; that he has impeached the honesty of the whole community, accused various branches of the city government of corruption and dereliction of duty, and under pretense of counseling a mob against violence insidiously advised them to be in readiness for bloodshed and overthrow of the authorities. They expressed the opinion that Killoch is unscrupulous and unprincipled and devoid of integrity and fidelity to public interests, and that the time has arrived for the board to express their condemnation of his acts and recommend that prompt action be taken to vindicate the fair fame of the municipality by a judicial inquiry into Killoch's case.

A motion to adopt the report was put by Mayor Killoch, who announced on viva voce vote that it was carried. The roll was called, resulting in an unanimous vote for adoption.

A resolution was then adopted which authorized the finance committee to cause judicial proceedings to be instituted against the mayor for his removal from office and empowering them to employ counsel and prosecute the matter to a speedy termination. Throughout the reading of the report and the resolution, Killoch appeared cool and unmoved, appearing only to consider the dignity of his position as presiding officer of the board.

When you write a letter to your friend write as badly as possible. If you write a clear, legible hand the letter will almost read itself, and therefore fail to properly impress the reader; but if he has to peer and puzzle over every word and every letter, its every line, its every blot will become so interwoven with the gray matter of his devoted brain that that letter shall be forever part and parcel of his mentality.

Palestine is going to have a railroad

Whaling Outside the Heads.

The fact that whales abound in sufficient numbers immediately outside this harbor—between the Farallones and Golden Gate—to warrant the establishment of a whaling industry of some importance is not generally known, the idea generally being entertained that our waters are too far south to become the resort of schools of whales, and that only an occasional fish, separated from his companions in the north, strays into a latitude so far from his supposed habitat—the Northern ocean. Considerable numbers of whales can be found at all seasons of the year in the ocean adjacent to this port, and within a distance that can be easily traversed in a day. Between the first of May and the first of October is the most favorable season for fishing, on account of the calm weather generally prevailing. When fishing in rough weather, there is always some liability of losing the fish by breaking the line or by cutting loose when the vessel is endangered. The abundance of whales on this coast is accounted for by the fact that whales migrate southward along the coast in Winter, returning northward during the Summer and are constantly in motion. The varieties of whales which may be caught in this vicinity are the sulphur bottom, which is about 130 feet long, the largest in the world, and weighs in the neighborhood of 200 tons, yielding a small quantity of valuable bone, but being rich in oil; the humpback, weighing 120 tons; the California grays, 80 tons, and finbacks and blackfish form the remainder. Sperm whales, which are valuable on account of the large quantity of spermaceti which they yield, are but rarely found in our waters, and prove a valuable addition to a vessel's catch. Captain Thomas Whitelaw is now constructing a little screw steamer, 65 feet long, 16 wide and 9 deep, with which he intends to inaugurate the business of whaling outside the Heads. She will be completely decked over, so that a sea can go completely over her without doing any damage. She is built very strongly, and is deeper than ordinary, so that she can be drawn some distance into the water by a whale, to which she may be made fast without danger. She will be fitted with two compound engines—four cylinders. She can carry coal enough for a run of thirty days, which will be stored in the after part, and with the weight of her machinery is expected to keep her propeller submerged, to avoid the "beating" caused by the blades when the vessel pitches, which can be heard by a whale a considerable distance, and frightens him off. The cabin will be in the forward part, and will be occupied by the crew of five men. The vessel will be launched in about two weeks, and is expected to have a speed of nine knots an hour. Her large coal capacity is to enable her to take an Arctic trip if required. The mode of killing whales adopted is by the whaling rocket, or bomb lance, which can be discharged from the vessel, which method possesses considerable advantages over the old style of hunting whales in a boat and with the hand lance. The expectations are that an average of ten fish will be caught each month. When a whale is dispatched, the steamer will tow him into port, and land him at the reduction works, where the carcass will be treated to an improved process, by which every portion will be utilized. When a whale is caught at sea, the blubber is stripped off, and the bones removed, after which the carcass is set adrift, and floats around until completely devoured by sharks and birds. Under the process to be tried by Captain Whitelaw, the fish will be cut into sections, and without discriminating between blubber, flesh or bones, will be placed in large steam-tight tanks made of boiler plates, in which steam at a high pressure and temperature will be introduced, which will have the effect of completely digesting the mass and separating the oil, which will then be drawn off. The process will be completed in about eight hours, when the residue of flesh and bones will be taken out, dried, and afterwards ground together to produce a fertilizer. The bones are valuable for this purpose on account of the phosphate of lime they will yield. Three "trys" can be made in a day, and as three digesters have been constructed—each capable of containing a ten-foot section of a whale—a large fish can be reduced in about two days. An Arctic whale yields from 1,700 to 3,500 pounds of bone, worth $2 75 a pound by the cargo at New Bedford. Each whale also yields from 100 to 250 barrels of oil, worth $10 per barrel.—S. F. Chronicle.

The men engaged in grain elevators are found to succumb very quickly to pulmonary diseases. The life of a "scooper" is variously estimated at an average of three to five years. A movement is now on foot to amend the conditions under which the work is carried on.

The Beauties of Polygamy.

The following was related by the wife of a noted United States explorer to a Gentle lady of this city, who will vouch for its genuineness: while traveling in Southern Utah, we came to a small settlement where we were detained a day or two by inclement weather. We found shelter in the humble, but neat and hospitable home of a monogamist saint, whose family hated polygamy, and through whose influence we were permitted a glance at some of the beastliness that characterizes the peculiar institution. Only a short distance from the dwelling of my friendly entertainers there stood a miserable adobe hut, I could not conscientiously call it a house, where lived a saint with three wives, all of whom had families. My hostess made some neighborly errand an excuse for paying them a visit and permitted me to accompany her, but before going she made me acquainted with the relationship existing between the three women who were living with and had borne children to the same man.

The first and second women were sisters, the latter had been a widow with one child when she married her sister's husband. When this child had grown to be about 16 years old her stepfather had also married her, but after a few months she left and was sealed to another man as plural wife, by whom she had two children. Then he died and she returned to her first husband, bringing her children with her, the eldest of whom at the time I am speaking of, was a girl about 15 years old, and my informant stated for a fact, that the old wretch had thoughts of marrying her too.

When we entered the hut the scene that met our eyes totally beggars description. Imagine one low, smoky, filthy room serving as living room and sleeping apartment for three women and their offspring, some of the latter almost grown up, the majority of the latter being little children. I could never have dreamed of such dirt, squalor and rags existing in a Christian country. I had seen nothing equal to it even among the Digger Indians, in fact the latter were quite civilized in comparison. But the worst of my story is yet to come.

The young girl of whom my hostess had spoken as a probable bride of her grandfather, was sitting in a corner sobbing and crying. Upon inquiring the cause of her distress we were told quite frankly that her grandfather had given her a severe castigation for speaking disrespectfully of polygamy, and declaring that she would never become the wife of her mother's and grandmother's husband. When we left I could not restrain my indignation and I said, "what a lovely religion this is to make such beasts out of human creatures."

"It is not religion, but the lack of it, that makes them beasts," quietly rejoined my hostess, "and you will find many cases as bad as this one if you travel far in Utah." But the sequel is still more horrible. About a year afterward we had occasion to pass through that particular settlement again, and for a day we were the guests of our former hostess. She told me that the young girl was really sealed to her grandfather, being literally forced into it by her own mother and grandmother, under circumstances so revolting that delicacy forbids me from repeating them even to one of my own sex. Even in that polygamic community the excitement was so great that talk was had of lynching the degraded trio, the man and the two elder women, but the feeling soon passed over and was eventually forgotten or only remembered as an episode of this peculiar religion.—From the Salt Lake Anti-Polygamy Standard.

Rest for Headaches.

Dr. Day says in a late lecture: "Whatever be the plan of treatment decided upon, rest is the first principle to inculcate in very severe headache. Rest, which the busy man and anxious mother cannot obtain so long as they can manage to keep about, is one of the first remedies for every headache, and we should never cease to enforce it. The brain, when excited, as much needs quiet and repose as a fractured limb or an inflamed eye; it is obvious that the chances of shortening the seizure and arresting the pain will depend on our power to have this carried out actually. It is a practical lesson to keep steadily in view, in that there may lurk behind a simple headache some lesion of unknown magnitude, which may remain stationary if quietude can be maintained. There is a point worth attending to in the treatment of all headaches. See that the head is elevated at night, and the pillow hard, for, if it be soft, the head sinks into it and becomes hot, which, with some people is enough to provoke an attack in the morning if sleep has been long and heavy."

Two pounds two ounces was the weight of a perfectly-formed child born in Auburn, Me., a few days ago.

Marriage in High Life.

A friend handed us a copy of the Cherokee Advocate, published at Tallapoosa, Indian Territory, by the Cherokee Nation. It contains several columns of hieroglyphics supposed to convey to the nation matters of interest and moment to their tribe, the remainder being filled with editorials, advertisements, etc., in English, the whole being the work of the Cherokee Indians. We clip the following marriage announcement from its columns:

"At Fort Gibson, I. T., Tuesday evening March 23d, a large and select gathering of friends assembled in the Presbyterian church to witness the nuptials of Mr. M. D. Lafayette Dowell, a well known young man possessing many virtues, late of Sherman, Texas, to Miss Cordelia Campbell, a handsome and accomplished young lady of the Cherokee Nation. The bride wore a beautiful dress of white Swiss, demi-train of Duchesa lalale, full sleeve, being most elaborately and artfully trimmed with lace de Leon, her veil adorned with orange blossoms. Rev. Young Ewing, M. E. joined the young couple together in an impressive code. Mrs. S. A. Stoddard has the heartfelt thanks of the bridal party for excellent music rendered during the evening. No cards."

Behold, now the march of civilization. Had the marriage announcement of the bride's great grandmother been made in type instead of being commented upon in guttural tones by members of the tribe as they sat upon braided mats about the lodge fire, where

"In the smoke the scalp locks swung grimly to and fro."

It would probably have read something in this wise:

"Unkee, big brave, who has taken more scalps in the past year than any other warrior of the tribe, and whose latest and most brilliant exploit consisted in surprising and burning a village and dispatching its inmates with the tomahawk and fire brand, entered the lodge of Tahlequah this morning, and taking forcible possession of his younger daughter, bore her off to his wigwam. She was not dressed, to speak of, her chief articles of apparel being a short buckskin skirt and moccasins. The latter, however, were saintly beaded, and in the hurry of the seizure she managed to grasp a piece of blanket in which she enveloped her head and shoulders. Arriving at the lodge of Unkee, she was ordered at once to get wood, build a fire, fetch water and broil some bear steaks while her lord rested. The bride made music for the occasion, being incited thereto by sundry stripes across her naked shoulders by the conjugal whip because of the lateness of the meal. She will probably have breakfast on time hereafter, and with proper discipline will no doubt make a faithful and obedient wife."

French Non-Catholic Interments.

A letter addressed to the Dix-neuvieme Siecle, and having every appearance of being trustworthy, throws a strange light on the habits and customs of the peasantry in some parts of France. The letter bears the signature of Dr. Lortet, the doyan of the Lyons Faculty of Medicine, and narrates the results of observations made among the peasants in the Department of the Gard during a journey there for medical purposes. I cannot give a more clear impression of the extraordinary statements than by quoting the writer's own words: "While passing through the neighboring parishes I frequently found on the farms small private cemeteries, where Protestant farmers bury the members of their families, the Catholic parishes refusing to receive the bodies of the heretics even in the far-off corner set apart for suicides and felons. When a Protestant family has no field in which to bury its dead, it asks for a place in the cemetery of a friendly family; but when this favor is unobtainable, as is pretty frequently the case, the mortal remains are interred in the ground under the cottage itself, usually before the fire. The man said to me, 'Under that stone are my wife, my child, and my mother.' And he said many tears are shed at the thought of having one day perhaps to leave these tombs containing the remains of beloved relatives." The writer asks whether it is creditable that such a state of things should be permitted in the France of 1880, and exhorts the public, if in reality intolerant laws exist to forbid the use of the parish cemetery to non-Catholics, to use every effort to obtain their abrogation, so that all may enjoy equal peace in their last resting place.—Paris letter to London Telegram.

It is getting easier and easier to get up a row in a church. Samuel J. Horton, steward, has sued Rev. William W. Maguire, pastor of the Methodist Church of Lawrence, L. I., for $1,000 damages for slander, the minister having asserted there was a deficiency of $4 in Horton's accounts. The woman in this case has not presented herself yet.

COLLISION—On Friday last a collision occurred a few miles outside of Cape Flattery, between the bark Rainier and bktn. C. L. Taylor. Both vessels were lumber laden, and both bound down—the former to San Pedro and the latter to San Francisco. A serious dispute has arisen as to wherein the fault lies. The issue will be settled at law. The Taylor was towed to Seattle for repairs and the Rainier was taken to Port Gamble. The damages will reach into thousands.

VERY KIND (?)—The New Tacoma "Ledger" recently spoke of the work of the immigration aid society as the "effort of a few Port Townsend gentlemen to induce immigration to Jefferson county." Last week it reproduced the description of San Juan County in full, without a line of credit. Parties abroad, who read the "Ledger," previous to seeing the the immigration pamphlet, will naturally throw the latter to one side with the remark: "Pshaw, I've read that before. It's a cheap, copying dodge."

Mrs. Margaret Downie, of Dugeness, died on the night of the 6th inst., of heart disease. Her decease must have occurred very suddenly and very easily, Miss Christiana Downie was sleeping in the bed with her and did not know when she died, so we are informed. Deceased was about 63 years old, and was known and respected by a large number of admiring friends. She leaves one married son, Mr. Jas. Williamson of La Conner; one married daughter, Mrs. Robt. White, also of La Conner, and three sons at Dugeness, viz.: Mr. John Williamson and Messrs. Thos. and Sebastian Downie, besides the daughter referred to before. They have the sympathies of all.

Upon complaint being made, the P. O. department has issued a schedule for the mail carrier between this place and Neah Bay and way ports. It requires the steamer to leave here on Mondays at 6, A. M., arrive at Neah Bay at 6, P. M. of the same day; leave there on Tuesdays, at 6, A. M., and arrive here at 6, P. M., the same day. The old schedule of time between this place and Semiahmoo and way ports, requires the vessel to leave here on Thursdays at 8, A. M., and arrive here again on her return on Saturdays, at 4, P. M. Parties hereafter desiring to send letters or freight on either of these routes will bear the above in mind. Both these schedules are in force. We expect a reasonable compliance with the contract stipulations.

Prof. Jordan and Gilbert, of the U. S. Fish and Fisheries Commission service, are in town. These gentlemen are both graduates from the university of Indiana, and are amply qualified for the discharge of their duties in their present mission. Judge Swan, of Neah Bay, also an assistant in the fishery investigation, came up on the Dispatch yesterday and met the other gentlemen here. They will go to Victoria to-day, where Prof. Jordan and Gilbert will remain about three weeks. Afterwards the party will make their headquarters at Neah Bay for a time from which place they will make a large and varied collection of rare specimens—principally food fishes. The report of the present commission investigating the subject will doubtless lead the U. S. government to turn more particular attention to our vast fisheries, and, perhaps, to utilize many food fishes hitherto almost unknown.

In getting up the excursion to Victoria, to take place on the 24th inst., Capt. Starr utterly ignored Port Townsend. The rates are arranged at $4 for the round trip between Seattle and Victoria. Port Townsend people, living about half way between the two points mentioned, are to pay $4 each for the round trip if they desire to go—so we are informed. Besides this, the "Intelligencer" learns that 40 persons will go from this place. We do not believe the half of that number will go from here unless justice is done in the matter of fares. We certainly protest against having the place treated in such a shabby manner and enjoin the people of this place to take a little pride in seeing that their rights are respected.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF JEFFERSON CO

THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1880.

The president has vetoed the deficiency bill on the ground that general and permanent legislation was tacked on to an appropriation bill, thereby depriving the executive of that equal and independent exercise of discretion and judgement which the constitution contemplates. Republicans will approve this action of the president, and by it he has manifested his determination to maintain his own views of law and right at all hazards. The confederate congress will make a show of resistance, but will yield the point, at last as gracefully as they can.

The following dispatch from Washington appears in the New York "Tribune" of April 17th: A stock company has been organized in New York to purchase large tracts of land in New Mexico, and to sell it again in small parcels to negroes from the south, who are anxious to escape from the oppression of their present homes. Ex-Governor Newell, of New Jersey, is president of the company, and it is said by those interested that 100,000 colored men in various parts of the south are already organized and are ready to start at once. Each one of these men is said to have $100 to invest in land, and the company propose to make the terms of sale such that the colored people with very little capital will be able to make a start.

The "Tennessee Minstrels" played in Port Townsend, to appreciative audiences, on Saturday evening last, also again on Monday. Mr. R. M. McCrohan, formerly of this place, is manager of the troupe, and proves himself quite proficient for an amateur. The other members of the troupe are "old hands at the biz" and acquit themselves accordingly. "Johnny" Carter is a host within himself, while "Tommy" Da'ey's step dancing is simply immense. The troupe went from here to Whidby Island, and will visit us again soon.

There is trouble between the Canadian government and the Province of British Columbia, over the proposed Canadian Pacific railway, on account of the discovery that the grant of land—225 miles on either side of the line—includes the Skagit mines and a generous strip within the northern border of the United States. Just how the matter will be settled we are not yet advised, but it will probably result in the U. S. being annexed to British Columbia—so as to allow them room for a land grant.

The Canada-Pacific Railroad has already cost $20,000,000 and it will take an additional $120,000,000 to finish it. After it is completed it is doubtful if it can be made to pay in twenty years.

Mr. Stevens still "holds the fort" in the photographers' line, and the earnest hope is expressed by many of our citizens that he may find it profitable to locate here permanently.

The City Fathers have ordained "muchly" on the whisky and gambling business. Read their dictum elsewhere.

Among the most remarkable productions of this age and country is Hall's Hair Renewer. Its success is unparalleled. It is sought after by rich and poor, high and low, young and old. Inhabitants of foreign lands—the people of Australia, of Europe, and of South America find means to get it at whatever cost. It is because it works like magic. It restores the hair to its youthful color and beauty, and robs approaching age of one of its disagreeable accompaniments. If you are getting bald, try it. Try it if you are getting gray, or if you have any disease of the scalp. Try it if you wish a good hair dressing. It will not disappoint you.—Muncie (Ind.) "News."

CITY ORINANCE NO. 44.

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING AND RESTRAINING CERTAIN KINDS OF BUSINESS WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF PORT TOWNSEND.

The city of Port Townsend does ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. If any person shall sell or dispose of any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, either in quantities less than 1 gallon or greater than 1 gallon, or keep a bowling alley or alleys, or billiard, pigeon hole, Jenny Lind or other gaming table or tables, for hire within the City of Port Townsend, without first taking out a license therefor, as hereinafter provided, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for each offense in any sum not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, and costs of prosecution, and shall be committed to the City Jail, and be placed at hard labor, until such fine and costs be paid, or they may otherwise be discharged by the course of law; and any person or persons who shall keep any billiard table or tables, pigeon hole or Jenny Lind, or other gaming table or tables, in a drinking saloon or house, or in a room or building or attached thereto, and shall allow the same to be used by two or more persons to determine by playing thereon which of the persons so playing shall pay for drinks, cigars, or other articles for sale in such saloon or drinking house, shall, within the meaning of this ordinance, be deemed to be keeping the same for hire. Provided the sale by apothecaries or druggists of spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine for medicinal purposes upon the prescription of a practicing physician, shall not be restricted, and no license shall be required therefor.

SEC. 2. The City Council shall have power to grant a license, and by order direct the City clerk to issue a license to any person or persons to keep a drinking house or saloon within said city, at which spirituous, malt or fermented liquors and wines may be sold in less quantities than one gallon, and such license shall be called a retail license, upon the payment by the person applying for such license of the sum of three hundred dollars a year into the City treasury, and the execution of a good and sufficient bond with surety, executed to the City of Port Townsend, in the sum of four thousand dollars, and approved by the City Council conditioned that he will keep such drinking saloon or house in a quiet, peaceable, and orderly manner, and thereafter upon the payment to the City clerk of a fee of one dollar, such license shall be issued by said clerk. Provided, that no license shall be used in more than one place at the same time, and no retail license shall be granted to any person until he shall furnish the City Council with satisfactory proof that he is a man of good moral character.

SEC. 3. The said City Council shall also have power to grant licenses to sell spirituous liquors and wines within said city in greater quantities than one gallon; to be called a wholesale license, upon the payment of fifty dollars per annum into the city treasury by the person so desiring a license, also upon paying one hundred dollars into the city treasury by any person desiring a grocery license to sell lager beer, to grant such person such license to sell for the period of one year, also upon the payment into the city treasury of the sum of fifteen dollars per annum for the first and ten dollars per annum for each additional billiard table, pigeon hole Jenny Lind, or other gaming table or bowling alley, kept in the same room, grant a license to any person applying for the same. Provided, before any such license is granted, except to those applying for a wholesale liquor license the person applying shall first execute and file with the clerk his bond with sufficient sureties in the sum of two hundred dollars, payable to the City of Port Townsend, and conditioned that he will keep such place in a quiet, peaceable, and orderly manner, which bond shall be approved by said city council, and thereafter, upon payment to the city clerk of a fee of one dollar, such license shall be issued by said clerk.

SEC. 4. The licenses authorized to be granted herein, shall, at the option of the person applying for the same, be granted for six, or twelve months, and the person holding such license may transact the business thereby authorized at any place in said city. Provided, that such business shall not be transacted in but one place at the same time; and no license shall be construed to mean more than the house or saloon kept by the same party or parties.

SEC. 5. Any person desiring a license to do any business provided for by this ordinance that a license shall be taken out for doing, shall first pay into the city treasury the minimum sum fixed by this ordinance, and execute such bond as is hereinbefore provided, and file said bond, together with a receipt from the city treasurer, and an application in writing stating the name of the place, the name of the applicant, and the time for which license is required, and the City Council at their next meeting thereafter, shall act upon said application, and if the same is allowed, direct a license to issue; but if the same is denied, direct the clerk to draw a warrant upon the city treasurer to return to said applicant the amount so paid into the city treasury.

SEC. 6. This ordinance to be published for two weeks in the Puget Sound Weekly ARGUS, and to take effect, and be in force five days after the first publication thereof.

Passed the Council May 10th 1880. G. MORRIS HALLER, City Clerk. Approved by the Mayor May 10th, 1880. C. EISENBEIS, Mayor.

ROCKING THE BABY.

I hear her rocking the baby—
Her room is next to mine—
And I feel I fancy the dimpled arms
That round her neck entwined,
As she rocks, and rocks the baby,
In the room just next to mine.

I hear her rocking the baby
Each day when the twilight comes,
And I know there's a word of blessing and love
In the "baby bye" she hums.

I can see the restless fingers
Playing with "mamma's rings,"
The sweet, little, smiling, pouting mouth
That to hers in kissing clings,
As she rocks and sings to the baby,
And dreams as she rocks and sings.

I hear her rocking the baby,
Slower and slower now,
And I hear that she is leaving her good-night
kiss
On its eyes and cheek and brow.

From her rocking, rocking, rocking,
I wonder would she start,
Could she know, through the wall between us
She is rocking on a heart?
While my empty arms are aching
For a form they may not press,
And my empty heart is breaking
In its desolate loneliness.

I list to the rocking, rocking,
In the room just next to mine,
And breathe a prayer in silence,
At a mother's broken shrine,
For the woman who rocks the baby
In the room just next to mine.

Paying Off a Church Debt.

The first church of Atodia was in debt. It was a case of too much steeple, too much frescoing, and too much organ; a case partly of necessity, since being the first church it could not be second, hence the steeple and the organ, and the much frescoing; a case of pulling down barns and building greater when there were no crops to bestow in them, hence the debt.

Matters had gone from bad to worse, until at last it was whispered at the sewing society that there was actually a mortgage on the church, and every woman stood aghast with horror. They could comprehend debts.

Something must be done, something should be done; and with this determination burning in her heart, every woman went home. From that hour a noticeable solemnity brooded over the hearts and homes of Acadia. Meetings were called, papers were seen to circulate, committees met and separated; there were consultations in the synagogues and the market places; and as the faces of the woman changed from a look of anxiety to one of confidence, the faces of men began to brighten also. When a woman would she would, and already the brethren were in prospect that the mortgage lifted and the reproach rolled away from Zion.

"If they'll only persevere; great gains come of small savings," said Deacon Doubtful, but repented of his wisdom the next moment when his wife decided against the plum pudding she was contemplating, concluding she might as well put the money into her mite box, and gave the deacon a wholesome, plain dinner.

Nobody could say they did not persevere. They laid everybody under contribution, from the lord high mayor who paid taxes to the Jones' baby that was brought up on a bottle. They saved in unheard-of ways. Servant girls were put on short allowance of waste paper for lighting fires; ancient bones were scrutinized with an eye to possible soups; and the man who ventured to return his cup of coffee with "a little more sugar, my dear," was met with a look of reproach that withered his heart strings. More sugar, when the church was mortgaged! The man who could have asked for it could have danced when Rome was burning. It was strongly suspected that Mrs. Greatheart herself took no sugar at all, and there were hints of cooking clubs that were secretly experimenting on sawdust puddings without eggs.

The savings, however, were nothing to the earnings. Every contrivance for enticing the coveted dollar from the pocket of the unwary and the wary was resorted to. Nothing was too hard or too high. Fairs, festivals, lunches, bazaars, concerts, sociables, lawn parties, pound parties, tea parties, parties where you paid for the privilege of talking; oyster suppers, strawberry suppers, ice cream suppers, everything in season and out of season was made to minister to their gains. The brethren smiled upon them, sometimes with the far-off smile of lofty condescension and amiable toleration for feminine weakness, but still they smiled and bought tickets and paid fees, and ate and drank heroically, and winked at any addition to the grocer's bill, which might have been supposed to balance the gain to the church fund.

The results were marvelous and astonished even the women themselves, who shook hands over the figures, laughed and cried and went home brave for another year of work.

Next morning Mrs. Greatheart sat at her breakfast table pale and exhausted; there were three little wrinkles between her eyes and a dozen about her temples.

Greatheart, stirring his coffee in vain hope of extracting a little more sweetness from the bottom of his cup, watching her compassionately.

"My dear," he asked gently, "how long is this thing to last?"

Mrs. Greatheart would have scorned to ask, "what this?" There was for her but one object of thought, and she answered promptly, "as long as the debt lasts."

Greatheart sighed, "did it ever occur to you, my dear, that you might not last? You are growing perceptibly smaller; there are wrinkles in your forehead; you eat less than a hearty canary; you talk in your sleep of interests and mortgages and weekly payments. I believe another year will kill you."

Mrs. Greatheart smiled compassionately, as martyrs have smiled when adjured to give up their faith to escape torment.

"Greatheart," she said absently, "will you call at the office of the Trumpet and leave this notice for our meeting of managers? I have a new plan that will eclipse all our undertakings."

The meeting of the managers was not very enthusiastic. Mrs. Jones had the rheumatism, Mrs. Smith's baby was threatened with croup, Mrs. Smart had left a house full of visitors and Miss Sally Vclatile was going East for the Winter. The few who were present listened to Mrs. Greatheart's new plan in ominous silence, and Mrs. Timovus fussed and fidgeted and at last spoke:

"The fact is, ladies, I sometimes wonder if all this pays. My husband says it doesn't, and he hasn't a particle of patience with the whole thing, so that I dread to let him know of a fair or festival. He says it comes out of the men anyhow, either in grocery bills or doctor bills, or buying things, after we half kill ourselves to make them; and that any man would sooner pay $5 out of his pocket than have his wife earn it, when she has all she can do already. And he says a woman who wouldn't think she could afford to give 50 cents will bake a cake worth 75 cents and make her sick in doing it, and then expect her husband to pay 50 cents more for a little piece of it and a dish of ice cream that some other woman donated, and out of it all the church gets 25 cents, and he can't see where the profit comes in."

Mrs. Greatheart laughed.

"We have all heard that sort of talk. It sounds reasonable, but the trouble is when you come to test them, the men will not take the $5 out of their pockets; they always mean some other man's pocket. Of course, the money comes out of somebody; so do the profits in a grocery store or a bank. As for its simply being an exchange from one hand into another, that is nonsense. The gain is a per centage on the skill and ingenuity and self-denying labor of the ladies, and I call it a shame for anybody to deny them the full credit of actual earnings. The men give it, indeed! I should like to see them earning an extra dollar in the way their wives do."

"Wouldn't it be funny?" laughed Miss Sally. "Now I crocheted those mats while I was rocking Jenny's baby to sleep, and I wanted desperately to read George Elliot. And I took my lunch to school for two weeks to save time at noon to embroider those lambrequins. Yes, and begged the pieces besides."

"I made every stitch of that toilet set after the children were in bed," said Mrs. Dimple. "My eyes used to get so tired that I saw cross-stitches all night, but it was lovely."

"Just fancy your husband running over of an evening to saw wood for a neighbor, or Mr. Jones working an hour every night at shoemaking, or Squire Buncombe take orders for the grocery before he went to his office, or Colonel Wise shoveling paths on his way to lunch, and all for the sake of earning a little money for the church, without trespassing on any other fund. They'd see the church turned into a junk-shop first. I declare I have a great mind to propose to them to try it."

Mrs. Greatheart's eyes flashed ominously, and the meeting went into secret conclave, from which all reporters were excluded by dropping the curtains, closing the chimney, filling the key-hole with cotton and stationing a savage dog upon the steps.

The next number of the Trumpet announced the fact that the ladies had retired from the field and called a meeting of the brethren to consider the emergency. The brethren were present in force and commenced operations by appointing five committees; one to consult with the pastor, one to interview the architect, one to canvass the membership, one to prepare a statement for the official board and one to correspond with Rev. Mr. Stunning in reference to securing his aid for some Sabbath. There was some talk about taking the $5 out of their pockets, but most of them were painfully conscious that the $5 was not there, and for their lives they could hit upon no expedient save the very one whose fallacy they had so clearly demonstrated to their wives, and Greatheart—moved, it is feared, by malice aforethought—actually proposed it.

"I do not see that it would be any harder for us than for them. You, Brother Mead, could make your own fires and sweep your own office, and save your janitor's fees; Brother Hill could do copying at home in the evening; brother Dale could attend to jobs of varnishing and repairing and painting in his odd minutes; brother Frost could raise vegetables in his back yard, and brother Ward could use an hour earlier and work at his old trade of type setting."

The brethren looked at each other and laughed feebly.

At last old Matthew Steadfast rose and from his corner and said:

"Brethren, I didn't come here to talk, but while I kept silence the fire burned. It never seemed to me like sound economy to split wood with a razor when you had a good ax ready to your hand; it's a hard, slow way, and spiles the razor. And it don't look to me like good common sense to sweep up the crumbs as if they were so much gold dust, and throw away the whole loaf. Now, if I had my way in this church, I'd agree to pay off the debt in two years and have a good round sum to send to the heathen, and not a soul of you would be worried or overworked, or even know you had made any sacrifice. I've calculated that there are at least 20 men in this church who smoke, who could get along just as comfortably with one less cigar a day; in fact, not know the difference—and there's a clear income of over $1,000 a year just from those twenty men. Then there are at least twenty more who smoke cheaper cigars, who might do the same thing at a saving of $700 more. No hard work, you see, brethren, nobody's comforts taken away so far. Then I'm sure there are 30 families in this church who could save $1 a week from their table expenses and never miss it. Why, it is only a matter of a loaf or cake and a couple of pies less, and a plainer sauce for a pudding, or even no desert at all for a few days. There are plenty of families that could cut off five times as much and be all the better for it; but I'll only ask for $1 a week, and there you are $1,500 more from just those 30 families. Now, it does 'pear to me, brethren, it wouldn't be so hard on the women folks as wearing out their souls and bodies making fo-do-rolls and trying to sell 'em to folks that don't want 'em. Then there are 50 people who save $5 every year from their own and from their children's garments, just by putting a little less cloth or a little less trimming, or saving a few cents a yard on the goods, and nobody on earth be the wiser, unless they happened to think that they looked less like French dolls and more as if they might be related to the little one the Lord Jesus took up in his arms. Why, brethren, I hope it isn't sacrilegious, but I've sometimes thought the Lord wouldn't have dared to touch one of the little creatur'es they call children now-a-days, with their jewels and flounces and furbelows."

On the following Sabbath the pastor presented the subject in such a plain, forcible manner, that every one present was convinced of its reasonableness, and Father Steadfast followed up the work by a few lay sermons in every family where he established his mite-box. When people really turned their attention to it they found a multitude of things that were not in any way essential to their comfort, and day by day the enthusiasm to increase the fund grew stronger.

"We have no dessert or cake except on Sunday," said Mrs. Smart, "and really we do not miss it. I lay aside $1 a week on account of it, but I am sure it saves us much more. Then, since my husband has become accustomed to one cigar less a day, he finds he can spare two about as well, and we devote the cost of the second one to books. Just think of a new book every week or two, and we scarcely ever felt able to buy one before."

"I made my baby's dress with plain hem and tucks," said Mrs. Dimple, "and he really looks sweeter than ever. I got two dresses for the price of one, and so I felt that I could afford to hire them made, and that gave my poor neighbor a lift. I had my heart on a couple of lovely sashes for him, but dear me! what is the use? Sashes are only a bother to a baby, so I put that $5 into the box with a clear conscience."

The First Church of Acadia is out of debt, and has adopted the savings plan as the best and easiest method for meeting its regular benevolences. The women are radiant with satisfaction, the brethren congratulate themselves that we did it, and Father Steadfast rises above all clouds of care on the wings of his rejoicing soul.

Things are not exactly right. A careful political economist closely calculates that women in this country might annually save $14,000,000 in ribbons which the men might spend in cigars.

The Corner in Sea Lions.

Captain J. Mullet, who quitted New York for O'aha on Friday says that he has captured every sea lion now exhibited anywhere in the world. He was for many years master of an English vessel in the guano trade, and it was while laying off the Chincha Islands of South America that he studied and became interested in the sea lion. Being told that this animal would be a valuable addition to the zoological gardens and traveling menageries, he gave up his occupation and engaged in the new venture, capturing the animals on the coast of California, the only other place where they are to be found, and the best place in point of proximity to the routes of travel. He has several vessels employed in the trade. Finding what is called a rookery of sea lions on the rocks along the coast, his men approach stealthily, lasso the beasts, cage them, fasten lines to the cages, throw them into the surf, and float them to the vessels lying beyond the surf. Captain Mullet has captured two hundred sea lions. Their average price to showmen is $1,000. He has provided the showmen, dealers and gardens of San Francisco, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, New York, England and Germany with specimens of this race of aquatic beasts. At first the sea lion was transported in a special car containing a tank of water. When the water grew foul the animal died. Now it is not found necessary to use a tank if the animal's body is occasionally moistened. The sea lion is ferocious at first, but is easily tamed, and becomes obedient. The captain says that no other animal, except the elephant, is so intelligent. Four sea lions that were captured by Captain Mullet are now in the Central Park. It is said that wherever there is a sea lion more people congregate around its tank than around the other animals in the exhibition. The sea lion is of the seal species, having coarser fur and attaining a larger size. While Captain Mullet was in New York he received a telegram from California notifying him of the capture by his men of two sea elephants, and of the fact that they were both feeding and in good condition. He says that the sea elephant has never before been seen by any living man. Wise men have discussed the existence of the animal, many of them declaring it fabulous, although what purport to be portions of the sea elephant's skeleton are exhibited in Europe. Therefore Captain Mullet telegraphed every possible purchaser in the world, notifying them of the acquisition of the curiosity and opening bids for them. A firm in St. Louis made the highest offer and obtained the animals. They are mates, weigh 600 or 700 pounds, and are possessed of the proboscis and tusks that give them their nickname. Captain Mullet thinks of turning his attention to the walrus next. He says this beast has never been exhibited. It attains a weight of three tons.—N. Y. Sun.

The following is recommended as a cure for sleeplessness: "Wet half a towel, apply it to the back of the neck, pressing it upward toward the basis of the brain, and fasten the dry half of the towel over so as to prevent the too rapid exhalation. The effect is prompt charming cooling the brain and inducing calmer, sweeter sleep than any narcotic. Warm water may be used, though most persons prefer cold. To those who suffer from over excitement of the brain, whether the result of brain work or pressing anxiety, this simple remedy has proved an especial boon."

WALTER A. WOOD'S ENCLOSED-GEAR MOWER, 4 ft. 3 in. cut, 1 ft. 6 in. cut.

This Mower was brought out in 1878, and is already in use by more than 100,000 farmers. Its popularity is so great and the demand for it so active that we have, for the past two seasons, fallen largely short of filling orders. Enclose 1 Gearing, insuring exclusion of all dust and dirt, and freedom from noise and jarring. No Gearing in Drive-Wheels, the Gearing being perfectly enclosed in the frame. Width of Tread, 4 feet 7 inches—from three to six inches wider than that of other Mowers. Height of Driving Wheels, 31 inches—from two to four inches higher than other Mower Drive-Wheels. Lightness of Draft.—It is the lightest-draft Mower in the world. The reduced in weight, the improvements made in the gearing and the cutting apparatus, and the increase in the height of driving wheels have conducted to this result. Lock-Nuts.—All the nuts on this machine, liable to get loose, are lock-nuts provided with keys. Farmers, see this Mower before buying.

THE WALTER A. WOOD CHAIN-RAKE REAPER.

This Machine is so well and widely known throughout the entire West as to render unnecessary a detailed description of its numerous excellent points. For many years it has stood securely pre-eminent among Self-Raking Reapers, and remains unrivaled as a Table-Rake Reaper in the esteem of the many thousand farmers who have no long and severely tested it. Testimonial letters, attesting its unrivaled popularity, are constantly pouring in upon us. Its simplicity, wonderful durability and splendid execution are so familiar as to have become proverbial. While we have been careful at all times to retain in it the perfection of "riscine" which has given Walter A. Wood's Chain-Rake Reaper its great prominence, we have from time to time made such changes in construction as practical experience and rigid tests in the field have shown to be desirable; and all these improvements have proved to be all that we claimed for them, and have kept this machine in the front line of "the march of progress."

WALTER A. WOOD'S SWEEP-RAKE REAPER.

The Model Reaper of the Period. The Only Five-Rake Reaper Manufactured. Experience has demonstrated the superiority of five rakes over four for reeling all kinds and conditions of grain. It is the lightest-draft, stiffest running, strongest, most durable and economical Reel-Rake Reaper now made. Walter A. Wood's Sweep-Rake Reapers have no equal in saving badly-conditioned crops. They are also very successful in cutting flax and seed clover. Walter A. Wood's Sweep-Rake Reaper is so constructed that the raking and cutting apparatus can be instantly lowered to secure tangled and down grain.

The Original Oregon Botanical Remedies.

Prepared Only by Wm. Pfunder, Operative Chemist.

Why we, the people of the Pacific Coast should no longer be contented with worthless nostrums, made fifty years ago out of the Rocky Mountains, and that too, by persons who were even less chemistry by its name, is a question which we can answer by the wonderful workings. This question was first brought up to Wm. Pfunder, the only operative chemist in Oregon, by the earnest request of the people, and he has since made a most successful and successful research of the different expressions, growing in our earth. His tedious researches, scientific applications and greater investigations, all the while from year to year to another, have resulted in the OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER, Progress, nature of scientific, constructive concentration, scientific Pfunder's Druggist's Formulas.

Experience makes the master. Having had experience with very difficult medicines, medicine, etc., for over 20 years, and having mastered them all through hard study, both here and in Europe, we can confidently recommend our Botanical Remedies, because we have extracted, they "concentrated" from the very best sources of healthy nature, all that is good and beneficial to suffering humanity, and leaving the Empty Shells and Worthless Residues in solution, green and liver-pestiferous.

My physicians told me the only chance of my getting better would be a change of climate. Accidentally I came across a bottle of Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier, used it, and following directions by using a bottle of the S. S. S. Fever and Ague Mixture in addition, I am perfectly healthy now, and thus expound the theory of my physicians. GEORGE GREEN, Mail Carrier, U. S.

Ladies in that delicate state—ever to be reversed—but ever creating nausea, will find speedy relief by using Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier. Pfunder's S. S. S. (safe, sure, speedy) Fever and Ague Mixture Certificate. I suffered some time with what I was told, malarial fever, accompanied with pains in my head, back, in fact, felt pains all over. Not getting any better after using all kinds of medicines, I tried PFUNDER'S FEVER AND AGUE MIXTURE, and since gained rapidly in health. MARIE WEISER, Seventh and C streets, Portland.

The different Constitutions. The Constitution of the United States, that master piece of human brain. How is your constitution? If bilious, use Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier, the triumph of modern science. THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE.—Tonic—Bitters, sugar-sarsaparilla, watered bad whistles and pills made B. C.—hard as rock, are the cause, the reason, that to-day our people suffer more from liver complaint, poor digestion, etc., than any other nation. The idea of giving our working population such trash, and magnifying that trash by calling it "medicines" for iron containing, those vegetables at once healthy and within the reach of everybody, and then laugh at those people that so readily believe in the efficacy of such trash, is a disgrace to the efforts of ignorant, ineffectual parties trying to force iron into your system. All you want—you, who constitute the mass of the people is, to get your liver into working order, and there is no other or better remedy than PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER. Price, per bottle, one dollar. Five dollars for half a dozen.

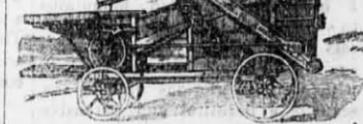

Your Druggist has it or will get it for you. "The Original." Insist upon having it!

HOTEL LIFE IN BOSTON.

LETTER FROM "OLYMPIA," OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.

BOSTON, Mass., April 8, 1880.

Miss Kate Field, in her amusing sketch of London life, says that many of the English people have an idea that the Americans live in hotels, altogether, and that the word home has become, with them, an almost obsolete term, so little do they know of the pleasures and comforts of "home, sweet home."

At first we are inclined to say: "What an absurd idea!" yet, when we come to look closer into the subject, we are really surprised to find how many people in the large cities do live in hotels.

Here in Boston, new hotels are continually being erected, and at the present date of this letter, there are at least forty first class hotels, which, together with those of an inferior grade scattered throughout the city, brings the number up to one hundred and fifty.

In my daily walks I often come across some hotel of whose existence I have heretofore been in blissful ignorance, and many a time I have felt inclined to smile as I have passed through some shabby neighborhood, to read over a battered looking door the pretentious word: "Hotel."

These houses are run in a variety of styles. Some, such as the Brunswick, the most elegant hotel in Boston, are conducted on the American plan; others, as Parker's and Young's, in the European manner. The greater number are arranged more especially for families, and of the latter kind of hotel, the most popular are the French flat, or Continental system of dwellings, in which one family, instead of living in a private house by itself, rents a suite occupying the whole or part of a floor. To this class of family hotels belongs the Elliot, which I would like to introduce particularly to you. It is situated in the Boston highlands, and stands upon one of the finest sites of any hotel in the city. It was named like many other places in this vicinity, after the apostle Elliot, and in front of the hotel is that very Elliot square where the unfortunate heroine of the Scarlet Letter underwent her degrading punishment, which reminds me that the minister in that same pathetic tale is said to have lived in that little house next to the hotel, and which same house is, by the way, one of the quaintest, prettiest little old houses in New England.

But you will begin to think that I am rather wandering away from the common place subject of hotels into the magic realm of fiction, so if you will pardon this little digression, I will continue my sketch.

Hotel Elliot, which was erected four years ago next June, is a handsome brick edifice with brown sandstone trimmings. It is of irregular shape, is five stories in height, and contains fifteen suites, those facing the principal street having eight rooms each, and the five suites in the rear containing six rooms.

Each suite is provided with a nice kitchen and servant's apartment adjoining it, so that one can live as privately and much more comfortably and conveniently than in the average city dwelling. The ten front suites have two handsome parlors connected by folding doors. These rooms are finished in black walnut as are also the hall and bathroom. The walls and ceiling are tastefully frescoed and the proprietor of the hotel makes the head of each household sign an agreement that no one in his family shall drive any nails, tacks or pins into the walls of his suite.

The hotel is heated by steam; in there is a steam radiator and by turn a little wheel connected with it, one can regulate the temperature to his mind. Two men set as janitors, one attends to the elevator; his name is William and he spends most of his time in the lower hall in reading the newspapers and trying to see if he cannot come across some better position in the world for himself. However, in spite of his somewhat monotonous life, William, who is not very strong, his "back being bad and his legs queer," is rather a cheery little man and always responds smilingly to our greetings, and with some remark about the weather for William is quite weather wise. The other janitor, Sprague by name, does a great deal about the hotel. He it is who brings up the thirty beds of coal a day for the ranges in the various kitchens and deposits them at the back doors. As there is a rear elevator as well as a front one this is not such hard work as one would at first imagine. Besides this Sprague attends to the steam furnace. He takes away all the refuse which the servants place at the back doors. Then, when anything is out of order in the house Sprague repairs it, so you see he is a very important individual at the Elliot. I forgot to mention that he also keeps sidewalks free from snow. Yet Sprague, notwithstanding his responsibilities, perhaps it is on account of them, wears a very melancholy aspect. He too had a weak back, I am told. The landlord and his wife have both weak backs, which is rather odd, is it not—so many people in one hotel being afflicted in the same manner? I think the name should be changed from Elliot to the hotel des Invalids.

From the little I have told you can be seen what an easy, comfortable, agreeable way of living this is for a family wishing to keep house and yet not requiring as much room as there would be in a city house. And I am sure should you find your self wafted into one of these suits on a cold, winter's day you would imagine yourself somewhere in the sunny south, for with the windows filled with fresh green plants, gilded cages of canary birds chanting melodiously to one another and the tropical atmosphere generated by the steam heat diffused around, it is almost the tropics reproduced on a small scale. This hotel is three miles distant from the centre of the city, where are situated the principal places of public amusement but a fine line of horse cars runs by it and to all the principal theaters, churches and musical halls, so all that one has to do is to step from the hotel into a comfortable car and in half an hour are at your place of destination. But before you bid good-bye to the hotel Elliot, come with me to the house-top and let us examine and admire together the fine view we have of the great metropolis of New England. It is very true that I have no snow-clad mountains to show to you nor any majestic forests whose "slender tops seem close against the sky," but nevertheless, without these glorious objects the scene is a beautiful and extensive one.

The time we select for our sight seeing is sunset—I would say sunrise, but I know only too well that neither the guide nor the visitors would be up in time to see Aurora usher in the day. And now having ascended the rather steep stairway which conducts to the roof we stop an instant to take breath, and then you exclaim (as I knew you would for everybody does who sees the view for the first time.) "Oh! what a magnificent prospect! I should think you would spend half of your time up here!" Immediately to the north, and three miles distant is seen the gilded dome of the State house, which almost rivals the sun itself in gorgeousness. Between it and us are the innumerable tops of buildings, with tall church spires arising above them here and there. Cambridge, Longwood, Brookline, Dorchester, and other towns which cluster around the city proper, spread their network of buildings as far as the eye can reach. In the north-west the Charles river flows languidly down towards the sea, and this, in the glorious light of the dying day, looks a clear, brilliant blue, forming a beautiful contrast to the varied shades of crimson and gold of the sky above it. From every dwelling smoke, like incense, is curling upward and we feel impressed by the grandeur of the universe.

Perhaps, as is so often the case in this world, where the great and little are so mysteriously, yet so harmoniously blended together, our somewhat sober thoughts are dispersed by the sound of a hand organ playing some air from "Pinafore." Drawing near to the edge of the hotel we peep cautiously down into the narrow street below. There we see some seven or eight children, who are surrounding the organ player, and are watching, with the utmost interest, a monkey, who is performing all sorts of antics. He is dressed up as a soldier, and struts around with a gun over his shoulder.

But the sun has bid us good-night and in his place grey evening has come, so with a little shiver we descend into the hotel thus shutting out from before our eyes but not, I trust our memories, the picture of the "Hub" as seen from the Hotel Elliot.

MAYOR Killoch has been impeached by the San Francisco board of supervisors, and judicial proceedings will at once be instituted for his removal from office.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

ALBION "AD PUGET"

A number of Oregon business men, among them Mr. F. M. Vanderbilt, late of Wrangel, have organized under the name of the "Northwestern Trading Company" for carrying on business in Alaska, especially in the Chilkas country. They have purchased and fitted out a small steamer, the Favorite, a craft well adapted to navigate the intricate channels of that neighborhood. Upon the representation of special agent Morris, the treasury department will appoint a deputy inspector for this vessel, in the hope of checking, if possible, the contraband trade now carried on by the Indians in their canoes with points in the British possessions. A large amount of revenue has been lost to the U. S. government annually in this way, and as the Favorite will ply in these waters throughout the season, we may hope for at least a diminution of the illegal traffic.

The Chicago "Tribune" receives $35,000 a column one year; the New York "Herald" and "Sun" each receives $39,723 a year for their cheapest column, and the price for a preferred position is three times that; the New York Tribune receives, for its lowest column, $87,794, and for its highest, $45,948; and these papers are never at a loss for advertisements to fill the columns. Their patronage comes not from any desire to assist their respective papers, but from business men who find it profitable to advertise.

OWING to the fact that the past Winter was a very open one in the Eastern States, an ice famine will doubtless prevail there this Summer. Arrangements are being made to partially supply the demand for ice in St. Louis and Chicago, by the shipment of a large quantity of the article from Truckee, California, where the People's Ice Company has a surplus stock of about 10,000 tons. The peculiarity of the season, east and west, has created this anomalous condition of affairs.

DE Lesseps is reported saying that he has $300,000,000 awaiting him in New York to aid him in his Panama canal scheme, and that all impediments have been removed by the will of the American people, unanimously expressed in public meeting, and also of the United States Government. The Count is thick headed; he failed to comprehend the difference between a cordial reception of the man and an endorsement of the man's schemes.

The total receipts of lumber at Chicago during 1879 were 1,467,720,000 feet, only a trifling amount coming from Canada. The increase for the year was twenty-five per cent., or about 300,000,000 feet at satisfactory prices.

WHITEAKER's bill for the appointment of a commission to select a site for the navy yard on the Pacific coast north of the forty-second parallel, received the approval of the naval committee and will be reported to the House at the earliest opportunity.

The emigration from Europe to the United States is increasing. French newspapers say 250,000 persons are waiting means of transportation to America. On Saturday, 4,391 persons arrived at New York from Europe.

California instructed her delegates to the Republican National Convention to vote for Blaine first, last and all the time. Senator Booth was endorsed for the Vice-Presidency.

YOUNG Killoch, for the murder of Chas. DeYoung, has been held for trial without bail.

It is said that Port Orford has been selected for the Harbor of Refuge.

THE NEW WILSON Oscillating Shuttle SEWING MACHINE

is wonderful in its conception, unprecedented for doing a large range of sewing in textile fabrics and leather. Its motions are continuous, admitting of an extraordinary rate of speed, either by steam or foot power. Every motion of the treadle makes six stitches, thus producing about one-third more work in a day than other Sewing Machines. It has no stop motions, and tightens the stitch with the needle out of the fabric. It uses the well-known Wilson Compound Feed on both sides of the needle. It has two-thirds less parts than any other first-class Sewing Machine. Its arm is fully eight and one-half inches long and five and one-half inches high, and the whole Machine is very compactly and scientifically constructed in proportions, elegance, design and appearance. Its simple, powerful and perfect mechanism places it as far in advance of all other Sewing Machines as the telephone is superior to the tin speaking tube. The WILSON MENDING ATTACHMENT, for repairing all kinds of textile fabrics WITHOUT PATCHING, furnished FREE with all WILSON SEWING MACHINES, together with a Tucker, Ruffler, Corder, Set of Hemmers, Binder, etc. Prices furnished with freight charges prepaid, and machines furnished on trial to responsible parties, to be used with steam-power, in places where we have no agents. ### Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effective alternative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples, Boils, Face-grubs, Pustules, Blisters, Bolls, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercerial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruption which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.
