OFFICIAL PAPER OF JEFFERSON COUNTY.

EASTERN STATES.

Quarantine Station.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Representative Horace Davis will introduce a bill authorizing a portion of some island in San Francisco bay to be used by the city authorities for quarantine purposes. He has written to the secretary of war on the subject, and it is probable that Angel Island will be designated as the most suitable location for the quarantine purposes.

Pay of the Chinese Commission.

The conference committee of the diplomatic appropriation bill to-day increased one item for salaries and expenses of the Chinese commission to $34,000. This allows $20,000 for the salaries of Commissioners Swift and Prescott, and the balance for a secretary, interpreter and incidental expenses.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Postal changes for the Pacific Coast last week: Established—Helix, Umatilla county, Oregon, Mrs. Mary A. Simpson, Postmaster; Stepl, Marion county, Oregon, William Taylor, Postmaster; Whiteaker, Marion county, Oregon, George W. Hunt, Postmaster. Discontinued—Rye Valley, Baker county, Oregon, Postmasters appointed—Sigmond Siebel, Goldendale, Klamath county, W. T.; Chas. W. Eastman, Tumwater, Thurston county, W. T.

Wells, Fargo & Co. Triumph.

Representative Page and John J. Valentine called on Postmaster General Key to-day, pursuant to appointment, to learn his decision in the Wells, Fargo & Co. matter. They were informed by him that he thoroughly sustained the correctness of their arguments, and that he will decline to interfere with Wells, Fargo & Co's letter carrying business.

Chinese Must Leave Mott Street.

New York, May 10.—The United Christian Brethren have recently purchased all the houses from No. 24 to 28 Mott street, inclusive, and one building around the corner in Pell street, from which the Chinese have been evicted. The new owners have executed new leases, in which a condition is inserted forbidding the subletting of any part of the buildings to Chinamen or negroes. It is not probable that the anti-Chinese feeling will spread among the other property owners in that neighborhood.

Another Installment.

Four thousand six hundred and fifty-seven immigrants are in Castle Garden to-day, 2,189 of whom arrived this morning in three steamships.

Net Earnings of a Railroad.

Chicago, May 10.—William Vanderbilt, President of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, in the annual report for 1879, which will be submitted at the stockholders' meeting to-morrow at Cleveland, shows the gross earnings of the company to be $15,271,322; net earnings, $4,336,968; increase in net earnings, $843,802. The net earnings are the largest in the history of the road.

Fire in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, May 10.—Kegler, Steifel & Co.'s tannery, Wellock's tannery and twenty-eight buildings were burned to-night. Twenty families are rendered homeless; loss, $125,000.

Fire in Oil Tanks.

Bradford, May 10.—This afternoon by a gas explosion in a stove in the house of Justice Chins at Rixford, ten miles southwest of Bradford, the building was set on fire. All the adjoining buildings being light frame structures, the fire spread rapidly, and before its fury was spent eight buildings were laid in ashes. The list embraces the principal hotels, stores and business places, including the Kendall and Eldred Railroad depot. The fire also burned the pump station of the United Pipe lines. One 90,000 barrel iron tank of McLeod & Madison and the 25,000 barrel iron tanks of the United Pipe lines at Rixford are still burning furiously. One tank boiled over and set a second 25,000 barrel tank of the United lines in flames. There are two other tanks of similar dimensions belonging to the Tide Water Pipe Line Company a short distance further down the valley which cannot escape destruction. The heat is so intense that workmen are prevented from digging trenches or building dams.

A Fearful Cyclone.

Chicago, May 11.—A fearful cyclone swept across the eastern part of McLean county last night, damaging at least $100,000 in agricultural ownership. Twelve dwellings were utterly demolished, and a 100-acre orchard eradicated. In Empire township the damage is nearly as widespread. Many persons were injured. A child of Mr. Keitz had its skull fractured, and will die. The track of the cyclone was three-quarters of a mile in width. The town of Guthrie, which is situated on the Springfield division of the Illinois Central Railroad, and which contains only half a dozen houses, was struck by lightning and everything destroyed by fire. No one was hurt. There was a furious wind, and the lightning was brilliant and continuous throughout the whole central part of the State.

New Buildings.

The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds has agreed to report favorably to the House a bill for the erection of public buildings at Boise City, Idaho, $50,000.

America Ahead Again.

Augustus Morrison, of the honorary commissioners representing the United States at the Sydney international exhibition, says that the exhibitors from the United States have been very successful in obtaining awards. In all cases where our leading manufacturers have sent their goods for competition they have either excelled all others or stood in the first rank. The result will be a large sale of American articles of various kinds which have heretofore been unknown in Australia.

Wells, Fargo & Co.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Postmaster General Key informed Representative Page and John J. Valentine when, by appointment, they called yesterday to ascertain his decision in the Wells, Fargo & Co. matter, that after a full consideration of the case he had not found anything in the facts as presented that would justify him in exceeding his discretion under the law to adopt the recommendation of the department commission and that he had therefore made up his mind that he will not interfere with the Express Co.'s letter carrying business as long as they comply with the existing postal laws and regulations. He added to Mr. Valentine, a cautionary remark that the company should be particularly careful to guard against insufficiently stamped letters, and that they should not carry railroad company's letters free beyond lines of railroad.

Pension List.

The revised estimates for pensions are as follows: For army pensions, $8,500,000; navy pensions, $225,000; pay and allowance, $15,000; total $8,740,000, which is an increase of $2,085,000 over the estimates of March 5th.

An Ohio Wind Storm.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—A heavy storm of rain and hail passed over the city at midnight accompanied by much lightning. A special to the Gazette says that the wind storm this P. M. did much damage in various places north of Cincinnati. At Union City, Indiana, something like a tornado prevailed, blowing down buildings. Near Mount Gilread, Ohio, the storm blew down trees and destroyed much fencing. At Ashland, Ohio, the roof of the city hall was carried a distance of 200 yards. Near West Jefferson, Ohio, lightning struck a barn, burning it and its contents, and killing Henry Davis, who was taking shelter there. The day has been very warm and close.

Financial Statement.

New York, May 8.—Bank statement Loans, increase $7,004,000; specie, increase $3,985,000; legal tenders, increase $243,000; deposit, increase $5,750,000; circulation, decrease, $733,000; reserve increase, $27,904,000. Banks now hold $6,067,850 in excess of legal requirements.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Exodus From Faderland.

LONDON, May 5.—A Berlin correspondent says that the discontent in Germany may be judged by the tide of emigration. It is estimated that during the past 30 years 2,500,000 people have emigrated.

Sail Starving.

DUBLIN, May 7.—Alarming distress prevails at Kilreede, county Galway. It is stated that hundreds of persons will perish if food is not sent immediately.

British Commerce.

LONDON, May 7.—The British Board of Trade returns show the value of imports for the four months ending April 30th increased by £26,864,656, and exports by £14,170,518 as compared with the same period of 1879.

Steamboat Foundered at Sea.

LONDON, May 8.—The Union Steamship Company's mail steamer American from the Cape of Good Hope for Southampton, foundered close to the equator, on the 29th of April, after breaking a shaft. The passengers and crew took to the boats. Three, containing 54 persons have been picked up and the passengers landed at Madeira. Five remaining boats when last seen were working for Cape Palermo, Liberia, with fine weather. There was no loss of life when the vessel went down.

DUBLIN, May 10.—A deputation of the Mansion House Committee waited on Foster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, Saturday, to call his attention to the continued distress in Ireland. Lord Mayor Gray said that distress was not likely to be mitigated before the end of July, and as the committee had no reason to hope that their resources would suffice until that time, they left the matter in the hands of the Government.

Germany's Finances.

LONDON, May 11.—A letter from Berlin to the Economist upon the subject of the alleged tendency of the German government to favor the resumption of the double standard: "Not the slightest credit is due to such rumors. Leading financial authorities of all shades of opinion are united in the belief that it is impossible for Germany to resume a double standard without the co-operation of England. Undoubtedly an able and influential bimetallic party is in existence in Germany, and still hopes to secure England's help in remonetizing silver, but they agree with the single-standard party in opposing isolated action."

PACIFIC COAST.

Death of Judge Dangerfield.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—William P. Dangerfield, presiding justice of the superior court, dropped dead on the bench at noon to-day. He was hearing a case when he suddenly threw up his hands, gasped once or twice and expired instantly. He has been in ill health for some months past. Death is attributed to heart disease. Deceased was a native of Virginia, aged 56, and was judge of the 12th district court previous to the reorganization of judiciary under the new constitution. The body was laid out in the court room pending the arrival of the coroner.

Progress of the Southern Pacific.

The track of the Southern Pacific railroad is laid thirty-four miles east of Tucson. On and after to-day trains leaves Tucson for Pantano with stages to and from Tombstone, Empire City and Patagonia. A train leaves Pantano at 4:30 P. M. and arrives at Tucson at 6:30 P. M.

Kallock's Impeachment.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—At the new City Hall all officials are in profound ignorance of what is being done with reference to the impeachment of Mayor Kallock. There has been no meeting either of the finance or judiciary committees, to whom the question of drawing the necessary articles of impeachment was submitted at the meeting of the Board last Monday evening.

FUNERAL OF JUDGE DANGERFIELD.

An immense concourse attended the funeral of Judge Dangerfield this afternoon. The remains were conveyed from his late residence shortly before 2 o'clock to Trinity Church, where services were held. The pall bearers were: On the part of the Superior Court, Judges Halsey and Evans; Odd Fellows, Washington Bartlett and J. E. Cowdry; Vestry of Trinity Church, C. V. Gillispie and William Booth; Bar Association, T. B. Bishop and S. M. Wilson; United Bar, H. J. Tilden and David McClure. So crowded was the church that it was with difficulty that ingress and egress could be had.

Victoria on the War Path.

Tucson, May 8.—Victoria in a fight yesterday killed George H. Stevens and about twenty families of Indians who were living on his ranch. Victoria is trying to reach San Carlos Reservation to get the wives of his warriors, and, if possible, reinforcements.

The Regular Sateites.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Edward Johnson, aged 60, suicided at the Adams House, Sacramento street, this morning by shooting himself. He had been employed at the San Jose flour mills, but of late was out of work.

Dispatches from Shasta, Downsville and other places in the mountains and foothills, report another heavy rain storm prevailing.

Hotel Burned.

COLTON, May 9.—The Transcontinental Hotel, owned jointly by the Western Development Company and the Colton Land and Water Company, was burned this morning. Loss, about $10,000; partly insured. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Indian Murders.

Tucson, May 11.—Advices just from Silver City up to Friday last state that the excitement in that section over Indian troubles is great. The numbers of the Apaches have joined Victoria from the New Mexico reservation. It is thought that he also is reinforced from the San Carlos reservation in Arizona, and that his band are deprelating through the eastern portion of Grant county. A number of citizens and settlers have been killed, and in many instances horribly mutilated. The citizens have taken up arms and are scouring the country vigorously in search of the murderers. Capt. Madden and his command were in the vicinity of Hillsboro at last accounts, directly upon the trail of some 200 Indians. A fight is momentarily expected. The whole country about Shakespearo, Camp Bowie and Enal Springs is in a condition of great excitement, and active preparations are being made by miners and all residents for a strong resistance.

A White Boy Turning Into a Negro.

For over 16 months a Philadelphia physician has been attending a case of disease that is so rare that the like of it has never been known, or, at least, recorded in medical works. It is a case of real Melanosis, or pigmentation, where the pigment, or melanin, as it is technically called, which gives color to the hair and eyes, covers the whole body. A boy born of white parents, and perfectly natural in color at his birth, turned under the disease as black as a full-blooded negro. The parents live at No. 1,307 Lemon street, the father, John Salter, being a mechanic. Ten months after their marriage, there was born to the couple a fine and apparently healthy boy. The infant thrived and promised to develop into a robust man. He was a beautiful child, with fair complexion, dark eyes and silky, dark brown hair, which grew in profusion. But in a few days the parents were alarmed at a remarkable change that was coming over the child. He gradually grew dark. At first his skin became a pale yellow, then deepened into a saffron hue, and then, to the terror of the parents, grew darker yet. The color was uniform all over the body, except at the joints, where it was a little darker, and in the palms of the hands where it was a little lighter. The once brown hair grew stiff and jet black, and the eyes also grew darker, so that the line between the pupils and the iris could not be distinguished. In spite of medical treatment the boy became worse and grew very weak, all the time the color deepening. At last he became as black as a full-blooded negro. The he was attacked by convulsions, which grew more frequent and violent until they threatened the child's life. It was in one of those that Dr. Reynolds was called in. He succeeded in curing the spasms, and then devoted his attention to the strange disease which afflicted the child. He at once recognized it as melanosis or pigmentation, which is mentioned in the books in a general way, but there is no case given where it had developed all through the body. This was over 16 months ago, the child being then 13 months old. Since then the boy has greatly improved by degrees becoming lighter, until now he is of a light chestnut brown color. Since Dr. Reynolds has had the case in charge the child has been visited by over 200 physicians.

State and Territorial.

There was a heavy frost at Roseburg last Wednesday night.

There are between 50 and 60 cases of measles in the vicinity of Lookingglass, Douglas county.

Sheep shearing is progressing in Southern Oregon, though with considerable interruption.

Robert Drew, a respected citizen of Douglas county, died at his residence near Roseburg last week.

A man named J. L. Horner tried to extract the cap of a cartridge at Grave Creek last Sunday. He thought it wouldn't go, but it did, and took his finger with it.

Messrs. Wimer & Simmons, of Waldo, have cleaned up after thirteen days run in their hydraulic claim, realizing $2,560. Nearly $200 per day for one pipe is quite flattering, but when fairly opened, the claim will pay still better, as it has been worked at a disadvantage.

Miss Lenia Ambrose of Applegate has just completed a quilt which contains 6220 pieces.

Farmers have commenced shearing sheep, although the weather has caused considerable interruption.

The public school at Cleveland has been closed on account of measles prevailing among the pupils, several are sick.

The May term of the Circuit Court of Douglas county, convened the 10th at Roseburg, with thirty-five cases on the docket.

Drain should be a money order office; not only to accommodate Drain, but also Elkton, Scottsburg and Gardiner. A petition is being circulated for the same.

Drain needs a tin shop, harness and saddle shop, a drug store, also some local industries, such as a tannery, carding machine, or, what would be better still, a small woolen mill. Elk and Pass creeks furnish plenty of water power.

East of the Mountains.

Apples and potatoes sell at a cent a pound in Walla Walla.

The cattle men of Grant county are busy gathering up their herds.

The price of common lumber at the Palouse mills is $13 per thousand.

An Odd Fellows' lodge has been organized at Spokane Falls with six charter members.

Ridenour Bros., of Cold Spring, have 420 acres in wheat this Spring, all of which is looking well.

The large fields of Summer fallowed grain in the Walla Walla valley are gorgeous to look upon, and promise abundantly.

The last issue of the Walla Walla Watchman was printed on the new steam power press recently purchased by that office.

The water spout that burst upon the farm of R. S. Thompson, of Fyve Mile one day last week, filled his garden with sediment two feet in depth.

Prairie City has broken out with the measles, or the measles have broken out in Prairie City; at all events the people thereabouts have "got 'em."

The new court house at Walla Walla will cost $44,240. J. R. Addison has the contract, Allen & Simpson will superintend the work, and it will be completed by November 1st, 1880.

Mining is being carried on near Palouse City. Much ground sluicing has been done, and it is confidently expected that many times more gold will be taken out this season than ever before.

Everybody is out of flour in the Fort Harney region, and as the roads between there and John Day Valley, are impassable for teams or pack animals it has to be brought from Fort McDermitt, a distance of 160 miles.

A petition for a new road between Canyon City and Harney Valley has been presented to the County Court of Grant county. No section needs a good road more, and the people there certainly pay enough taxes to have a good road.

The East Oregonian says: The crop of wool is now being harvested, and the lucky wool men have put on a smiling phiz. Loads of wool are passing through town every day for the Portland and San Francisco markets. Ten years ago the wool crop of Umatilla county was counted by the thousand pounds, but now by the millions. The grades of wool are equal to any in the world, and the interest is one of the greatest money interests in this country to-day.

Jessie Dixon, a young man 16 years of age, died at the residence of his father in Lafayette last Thursday after a lingering illness of consumption.

The delinquent tax list, of 1879 for Yamhill county foots up $1,785 86; total tax levied, $44,687. A remarkably close collection, considering the rough Winter and the last Summer's rust in wheat.

A Bold Swindling Operation.

A singular story of wholesale swindling and inconceivable credulity comes from Rome. About a year ago a young and beautiful woman, believed to be an American, and credited with the possession of an enormous fortune, arrived at the Italian capital, accompanied by a young man belonging to one of the oldest and most distinguished Roman families and by a donkey. Shortly after her arrival she was married to the young aristocrat, whose name the Italian papers conceal under the title of Signor X. The couple went upon a wedding tour, and spent money with lavish hands. They selected the city of Portidi for their home, saying that they wished to live in retirement while awaiting the completion of Madame's twenty-fifth year, when she would come into full possession of her fortune, and would receive six millions of dollars. Every one was ready to give credit to such a great heiress. A Roman gentleman, in whose villa the couple lodged, loaned them 50,000 francs, and guaranteed payment for 150,000 francs worth of jewelry which they had bought in Naples. They made debts among the Neapolitan merchants and bankers to the amount of $700,000 francs. In Rome they victimized the shopkeepers heavily for diamonds, corals, costly furs and other portable articles of high price. Nothing seemed too costly, provided they could get credit for it. They even had the handles of parasols and umbrellas set with precious stones. They contracted to buy the Villa Mirafiori for 700,000 francs, bought seven carriages and forty horses, and ordered a private railway car and a yacht. Within a year they managed to make debts to the extent of over half a million of dollars. The date fixed for payment was in all cases the first of March. In February the couple went to Paris and then to London, a movement which seemed to excite no suspicion among their creditors; but on the first of March news came from Rome that they had gone to America, taking with them an immense quantity of baggage. A few days later a banker in Rome received a letter from the husband, saying that the will making his wife a rich heiress had been set aside, and that they had gone to America, hoping with perseverance and indefatigable effort to regain the position they had occupied in the world.—N. Y. Tribune.

Eugenie's Crown.

The ex-Empress Eugenie before starting to Zululand presented her imperial crown to the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires, Paris. It is of great value on account of its artistic composition and the number of precious stones it contains. After the Empress' flight from France the new government ordered that all the valuables of the Imperial family, including the crown, the regalia, and the sword of state, should be deposited with the Bank of France. But a rumor soon got abroad that the Empress' crown, together with the celebrated Regent diamond, had been secretly forwarded to London to the care of the Rothschilds. A little later the gossips affirmed that it had been sold by Dr. Evans, the American dentist, and that the proceeds had been applied to the support of the Empress at Chislehurst. The true account of her flight and of the valuables she took with her, has recently been published. It appears that when Prince Metternich appeared at the Tuileries and bade the Empress hasten her departure she went hurriedly into her bedroom, put on a brown waterproof cloak, a round traveling hat, took a green parasol, began to collect together in great haste all the miniatures of the Emperor, of her son, of her sister, the Duchess d'Albe, and of her niece, and put them into a lapislazuli box, which, however, in the haste of her flight she was destined to leave behind. "Make haste, Madame, I hear cries; they are mounting the stairs; they are coming!" cried M. Nizra. Prince Metternich went boldly into the bedroom and took the Empress by the arm. Every one had, more or less, lost their presence of mind. The Empress left without taking any money with her, although there were about 40,000 francs in the drawers, and Marshal Vaillant, who had had a thought of this, and bringing some rouleaux of gold with him, had with the greatest difficulty succeeded in entering the Palace by the gate in the Rue de Rivoli, arrived too late to give them to the Empress. She was driven to the hotel of Dr. Evans, who supplied her with money. She was then put into the hands of Sir John Burgoyne, who conveyed her across the Channel; and when she set foot on British shores she was almost penniless. In the subsequent arrangement of her affairs, after the Commune, many of her valuables, and among them the crown, were restored to her.—New York Herald.

Resuscitation.

People at Pesh are reported to be in a state of amazement at the recovery of a criminal who had been hanged. It is an unusual event, yet not by any means unprecedented. While the famous Sir William Petty, on of those rare rolling stones who gathered moss everywhere, was giving anatomical lectures at Oxford, he acquired great celebrity by bringing to life a girl who had been hanged for a crime of which it was eventually proved that she was innocent. This feat probably largely assisted in gaining for him, the following year, the appointment of Professor of Anatomy at the college founded by Thomas Gresham in London. The year 1736 was especially notable for this sort of cases in England. In Hertfordshire riots had arisen in connection with turnpike tolls, and several persons were sentenced to be executed. Among them was one Reynolds. He was cut down, after hanging, by the executioner, and placed in a coffin; but as it was being thrust down, put his head up and endeavored to force up the lid. The executioner, probably intent on concealing his own bad execution, would have thrust him in and forced down the lid, but the mob saw what he was about and prevented it, nearly killing the executioner. Reynolds was taken to his house, where he threw up a great deal of blood. A glass of wine was given to him, and it was at first thought he would recover, but he died within a few hours. The sheriff, believing the man dead, had left immediately after the hanging. In the following September, Joshua Harding and John Vernham were condemned for house breaking, and hanged at Bristol. When cut down, both revived, but the latter died the same night. Harding was placed in the city prison. He said he remembered being at the gallows, but had no recollection of Vernham's being with him. He was pardoned, and placed in a charitable institution, chiefly, it appears, out of consideration of a weak intellect. The most elaborate preparations were made for saving the Rev. Dr. Dodd, executed for forging the name of the Earl of Chesterfield—not the Lord Chesterfield, be it observed, who wrote the famous letters.) It is recorded on excellent authority that the doctor's life was not extinct when he was removed from the gallows, and that he might have been saved had the room to which he had been taken been nearer to the place of execution. We believe that arrangements made many years ago, with similar intent, failed through a blunder as to time, which caused the medical men to arrive too late. It is a strong point, among many in favor of the guillotine, that it makes no failures, but is an absolutely certain and rapid agent of death.—N. Y. Times.

Tornadoes and Emigration.

The destruction of more than a hundred lives and of about $1,000,000 of property at Marshfield, recently, by a tornado which swept through the central part of Missouri, is not a cheerful event for the contemplation of people who are thinking of a home in the West. The frequent cyclones and tornadoes which terrify the inhabitants of several States, are undoubtedly a serious objection in the estimation of many, to choosing a residence within their limits. Even if the probability of wreck by tornado is remote, there are comparatively few neighborhoods in certain parts of the West, which wholly escape injury each year from the prevalence of violent wind storms. The immigrants from Germany, Ireland, Norway and Sweden may not be frightened from the West by the stories of its terrific storms, but many inhabitants of Eastern States unquestionably consider the terror of the tornado one serious objection to migration westward. Women especially, dread removal to a region where such visitations as that which afflicted Missouri Sunday evening as a possible occurrence. However, the ills which mortals suffer are for the most part those of imagination, and were accurate statistics to show the exact proportion of residents of the West who have suffered injury to person or property from the fury of the elements, the apprehensions of the timid would be rapidly diminished. It is said that it would be absolutely safer to travel by rail than to walk the streets of Boston, and as the security of life in that staid city is notable, the horror of an occasional railway disaster need beget no reluctance of the traveler to embark on the railway train. A similar array of statistics as to the probability of injury by wind storms would unquestionably remove much of the alarm which makes many regard the West as an undesirable place of residence. Like a fatal stroke of lightning, the tornado is fearful when it does break forth, but not one death in a million, and perhaps in many millions, is caused either by lightning or tornado.

Summer Visiting.

"Suppose I went with you to this lady's house"—Ford touched with the stem of his pipe a letter which lay open on the table pulled it near him—"and visited among your friends, the nobility and gentry, I should be reminded by a thousand things every day that I was a sham and a pretender. That kind of people always take it for granted that you feel and think with them, and I don't. You can't help telling them so, however. And suppose I tried to conform, I should be an amateur among professionals. They have the habit of breeding and elegance, as they understand it. I may have a loftier ideal, but I haven't discipline; I can't realize my ideal, and they do realize theirs—poor souls! That makes me the inferior; that makes me hate them." Ford took up his pipe.

"Oh," said Phillips, "you can put an ironical face on, but I suspect what you say is really your mind."

"Of course it is. At heart I am a prince in disguise; but your friends won't know it if I sit with my coat off. That would vex me." He took up the letter from the table, and holding it at arm's length, admired it. "Such a hand alone is enough, the smallest letters half an inch high, and all of them shrugging their shoulders. I can't come up to that. If I went to this lady's house, to be like her other friends and acquaintances I should have to be just arrived from Europe, or just going; my talk should be of London and Paris and Rome, of the Saturday Review and the Revue des Deux Mondes, of English politics and society; my own country should exist for me on sufferance through a compassionate curiosity, half repulsion; I ought to have recently dined at Newport with poor Lord and Lady Scamperton, who are fading the climate so terrible; and I should be expected to speak of persons of the highest social distinction by their first names, or the first syllable of their first names. You see, that's quite beyond me. 'An do bring your friend, Mr. Ford,' he read from the letter mincingly, and laughed. "I leave it to your fertile invention to excuse me, Phillips."

He kindled his pipe, and Phillips presently went away. It was part of his routine not to fix himself in any Summer resort, but to keep accessible to the invitations which did not fail him. He found his account in this socially, and it did not remain unsaid that he also gratified a passion for economy in it; but the people who said this continued among his hosts. Late in the Summer, or almost when the leaves began to turn, he went away to the hills for a fortnight or three weeks, providing himself with quarters in some small hotel, and making a point of returning to the simplicity of nature. In the performance of his rite he wore a straw hat with a wide brim and a flannel shirt, and he took walks in the woods with the youngest young ladies among the boarders.

A Convicted Murderer's Eloquence.

A colored man pleaded his own case with marked success in Dallas, Texas, a week ago. He was accused of a crime as grave as murder, and had been convicted. The judge denied the motion for a new trial, and asked the customary question: "Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced?" The prisoner responded that he knew nothing he could say would influence the court, as all the forms of law had been complied with, but he would like to say a few words to his colored friends. He started off slowly and deliberately, reviewing the testimony, showing the inconsistencies of witnesses' statements, and then, carried away with the idea of the wrong done him, he burst forth in a strain of eloquence seldom heard. When he sat down the judge said: "Sam, I thought you guilty; I don't believe you so now, and will set aside the judgment overruling your motion for a new trial and give you a another chance." The county attorney dismissed the case and the prisoner walked out of the court room a free man. He was a "common field hand," the local paper says, "and uneducated."—New York Tribune.

Somebody writes to the Woman's Journal protesting against hats that are turned up so as to look jaunty, and says that he went to a funeral the other day and found his attention distracted from the services by the jaunty millinery worn by the ladies present. There is no occasion too solemn to divert a man's mind from staring at bonnets, is there?—Boston Transcript.

THE COMING NAVY YARD.

Now that congressional action fore-shadows the establishment of a U. S. Navy yard either in Oregon or Washington Territory, we deem the opportunity a fitting one for saying a few merited words in favor of Puget Sound. In view of our many superior advantages as compared with any eligible point along the ocean front, it would seem unnecessary to use any lengthy argument to demonstrate the facts in the premises.

However, as the Oregon journals will doubtless make a vigorous effort to secure the prize for their state, even to the detriment of national interests, it is perhaps well enough to be ready both in season and out of season to stand up for our rights. A congressional commission will undoubtedly be sent out to this coast for the purpose of selecting a location for the proposed navy yard, and it would hardly be right to allow them to become prejudiced through an EX PARTE showing.

We regard it as a most hopeful sign for the growth and development of the Pacific coast that our interests and importance are attracting increased attention at the hands of the national government. The time was when the whole Pacific slope was looked upon as being "out of the world almost, by eastern people. But we are being gradually recognized, as we grow in numbers and influence, and one public work follows another until we may justly pride ourselves in our favorable prospects. The future commercial greatness of Puget Sound is no longer a matter of idle speculation, but a fixed fact that will certainly be developed into actual experience. That we will be in the direct line of a vast transcontinental and oceanic trade in the near future, is no longer disputed by men of experience and sound judgment. Therefore, that Puget Sound should contain a national navy yard seems to be a matter of justice rather than a favor.

As to the particular point on the Sound, containing the greatest advantages, we will leave future investigations to decide. A number of different localities have already been suggested, prominent among which are, Port Townsend Bay and Penn's Cove on Whidby Island. At the upper or inland end of the former body of water, there are perhaps all of the necessary requisites, coupled with the absence of any disadvantages, while the same may be said with but slight modification in regard to the latter. There are, without doubt, a dozen different locations or more on the Sound for that matter, any one of which might be designated without leaving any reason to doubt the wisdom of those making the selection. We earnestly trust that there will at least be a full and impartial canvass of the whole situation and of the issues involved, previous to any definite action being taken. If this is done, there is little cause to doubt the probability of a favorable result.

A fierce struggle is going on in Illinois, between the Grant men and the Blaine men. That state is regarded as the pivot upon which will turn the presidential prospects of these two prominent candidates. It looks now as though there would probably be a divided delegation.

CANDIDATES for Delegate to Congress in the coming campaign are multiplying in a way that leads us to think the office will hardly go begging. We may probably prognosticate soon.

DURING the first seventeen days in this month 31,346 immigrants arrived in New York city.

In our last we had not room to mention a trip recently taken through eastern Washington, by Mr. L. H. Cays, of Dungeness. Mr. C. returns disgusted with the east, and says there are about as many removing from that section as are going into it. He thinks that highly colored pamphlet descriptions issued by railroad and steamboat men and real estate speculators, who are trying to "bamboozle" innocent people out of their money have done much harm. If all the pamphlets issued from the territory contained only such truthful descriptions as are found in the one recently published by the immigration aid society of this place, there would be no cause for complaint. The explanation of the case is in the fact that many of the pamphlets heretofore issued emanated from selfish speculators who had an object in view, while that published here was gotten up by those who could not possibly gain anything by deception. A plain, unvarnished description is sent out that can be relied upon.

SINCE publishing the schedule of the steamer Dispatch, for her two routes, a new schedule has arrived from the P. O. department at Washington, for the Port Townsend-Semiamoo route. It is now stipulated that the steamer shall "Leave Port Townsend on FRIDAYS, at 8, A. M., arrive at Semiamoo by 10, A. M., on Saturdays; leave Semiamoo at 2, P. M., Saturdays, and arrive in Port Townsend on SUNDAYS at 4, P. M. By this it will be seen that the new schedule makes it one day later all round on the route to Semiamoo. If the schedule for the Neah Bay could only be changed now, so as to make the time for leaving Port Townsend 12, M., or 1, P. M., on Mondays, instead of 6, A. M., of those days as at present, the people along that route would receive Monday's mail from up-Sound speedily, instead of having to wait a week for it as will otherwise be the case.

ONE of the Virginia City (Nev.) papers says that stock gambling is rapidly declining there. Probably some of the victims have learned lessons similar to those paid for so dearly by a few ex Puget-Sounders who have been "backing the tiger" in "Frisco" for a year or two back. There are persons who seem to imbibe the idea that if they can make money on Puget Sound they can easily run the world. After going out to try the experiment, however, they usually cut eye teeth about a foot long—while being relieved of their cash.

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING AND RESTRAINING CERTAIN KINDS OF BUSINESS WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF PORT TOWNSEND.

The city of Port Townsend does ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. If any person shall sell or dispose of any spiritous, malt, or fermented liquors or wines, either in quantities less than 1 gallon or greater than 1 gallon, or keep a bowling alley or alleys, or billiard, pigeon hole, Jenny Lind or other gaming table or tables, for hire within the City of Port Townsend, without first taking out a license therefor, as hereinafter provided, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for each offense in any sum not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, and costs of prosecution, and shall be committed to the City jail, and placed at hard labor, until such fine and costs be paid, or they may otherwise be discharged by the course of law; and any person or persons who shall keep any billiard table or tables, pigeon hole or Jenny Lind, or other gaming table or tables, in a drinking saloon or house, or in a room or building or attached thereto, and shall allow the same to be used by two or more persons to determine by playing thereon which of the persons so playing shall pay for drinks, cigars, or other articles for sale in such saloon or drinking house, shall, within the meaning of this ordinance, be deemed to be keeping the same for hire. Provided the sale by apothecaries or druggists of spiritous, malt or fermented liquors or wine for medicinal purposes upon the prescription of a practicing physician, shall not be restricted, and no license shall be required therefor.

SEC. 2. The City Council shall have power to grant a license, and by order direct the City clerk to issue a license to any person or persons to keep a drinking house or saloon within said city, at which spiritous, malt or fermented liquors and wines may be sold in less quantities than one gallon, and such license shall be called a retail license, upon the payment by the person applying for such license of the sum of three hundred dollars a year into the City treasury, and the execution of a good and sufficient bond with surety, executed to the City of Port Townsend, in the sum of one thousand dollars, and approved by the City Council conditioned that he will keep such drinking saloon or house in a quiet, peaceable, and orderly manner, and thereafter upon the payment to the City clerk of a fee of one dollar, such license shall be issued by said clerk. Provided, that no license shall be used in more than one place at the same time, and no retail license shall be granted to any person until he shall furnish the City Council with satisfactory proof that he is a man of good moral character.

SEC. 3. The said City Council shall also have power to grant licenses to sell spiritous liquors and wines within said city in greater quantities than one gallon; to be called a wholesale license, upon the payment of fifty dollars per annum into the city treasury by the person so desiring a license, also upon paying one hundred dollars into the city treasury by any person desiring a grocery license to sell lager beer, to grant such person such license to sell for the period of one year, also upon the payment into the city treasury of the sum of fifteen dollars per annum for the first and ten dollars per annum for each additional billiard table, pigeon hole, Jenny Lind, or other gaming table or bowling alley, kept in the same room, grant a license to any person applying for the same. Provided, before any such license is granted, except to those applying for a wholesale liquor license the person applying shall first execute and file with the clerk his bond with sufficient sureties in the sum of two hundred dollars, payable to the City of Port Townsend, and conditioned that he will keep such place in a quiet, peaceable, and orderly manner, which bond shall be approved by said city council, and thereafter, upon payment to the city clerk of a fee of one dollar, such license shall be issued by said clerk.

SEC. 4. The licenses authorized to be granted herein, shall, at the option of the person applying for the same, be granted for six, or twelve months, and the person holding such license may transact the business thereby authorized at any place in said city. Provided, that such business shall not be transacted in but one place at the same time; and no license shall be construed to mean more than the house or saloon kept by the same party or parties.

SEC. 5. Any person desiring a license to do any business provided for by this ordinance that a license shall be taken out for doing, shall first pay into the city treasury the minimum sum fixed by this ordinance, and execute such bond as is hereinbefore provided, and file said bond, together with a receipt from the city treasurer, and an application in writing stating the name of the place, the name of the applicant, and the time for which license is required, and the City Council, at their next meeting thereafter, shall act upon said application, and if the same is allowed, direct a license to issue; but if the same is denied, direct the clerk to draw a warrant upon the city treasurer to return to said applicant the amount so paid into the city treasury.

SEC. 6. This ordinance to be published for two weeks in the Puget Sound Weekly ARGUS, and to take effect, and be in force five days after the first publication thereof.

Passed the Council May 10th 1880.
G. MORRIS HALLER, City Clerk.
Approved by the Mayor May 10th, 1880.
C. EISENBEIS, Mayor.

Mr. Korter has made a nice improvement in his barber shop. We venture to say that he has a shop as neatly fitted up as any on the Sound. He has also fitted up a bathroom for salt and fresh water baths. He has done his best to have one of the finest shops, and is master of his profession.

BRIEF LOCAL ITEMS.

THE Chinese in this city held a meeting, on Monday night, of a lodge of their nation. The meeting was held in the lower part of Fowler's Hall (the new county court house) and lasted all night.

OUR local readers will understand this week, by reference to the city ordinance in regard to saloons and gambling licenses, that an error occurred in our last issue, whereby the amount of license money was fixed at $4,000 instead of $1,000.

THE frogs in one of the ponds in town have been suffering from an apparently terrible malady, inasmuch that many of them were recently found dead along the street and side walk. It is thought their complaint is, "too much small boy."

OUR friend, Mr. C. Louis Schur, has removed his grocery store to the post office building, next door to the ARGUS office where he will in future serve the public. We bespeak for him a livelier trade than heretofore, as the location is a good one in a business point of view.

MR. G. M. Haller left on Monday for a short trip to La Conner. Mr. H. has just received another addition to his already valuable law library, the same being a box containing about twenty large volumes. Most of these books are from the library of Judge S. J. Field, of California.

NEW WHARF.—Mr. Eisenbels is having a new foundation placed under his large building, opposite the Cosmopolitan hotel. Stone pillars are being placed under the building, and large substantial piles are being driven in front, from where a wharf is to be erected. We understand that the building is to be used as a ware house. It is roomy and the location is certainly a desirable one.

THE literary society held its regular debate this week and decided that the "signs of the times" do not indicate the downfall of the American government. Next week the programme will consist entirely of readings, recitations, music, etc. It is likely that this society will make arrangements for a series of lectures by prominent and competent speakers during the next few months. Should such steps be taken we predict that it will be profitable and edifying to all.

GROWING TRADE.—Mr. Henry Landes received within the past few days a large lot of wool and hides, bought up from the surrounding counties. We are pleased to notice that this trade is growing. It should receive encouragement by all means especially as it disburses a large amount of money in Port Townsend; that hitherto went to Seattle and other up-Sound ports. Persons having cash to pay for their goods can always get better bargains than when they are trading off produce of any kind. Mr. Landes pays the highest market price in COIN, for what he buys, and, when people fully understand this fact, they certainly will know that it is to their interest to patronize him in preference to either trading their wares to local dealers for goods or freighting to and from ports more distant. Agala we say, let the goods work go on.

THE Portland "Bee" is on its legs again with Mr. Stearns still at its head. We are pleased to learn that it gives evidence of a promising future. The "Bee" is a live, progressive news paper; and not by any means the "organ" it was maliciously said to be by a local defamer last week.

THE iron mine company at the head of Port Townsend bay, have suspended operations. We learn that the cause of this suspension is trouble, or at least delay, in obtaining title to an important fourteen-acre lot of land. We sincerely trust that they may be able to adjust matters very soon and resume work.

THE covetous nature of some of our Americans is indicated by the following request in a letter from an intending immigrant to Washington Territory, addressed to Prof. Roberts, secretary of the Immigration aid society of this place: "Please send me the resources of your territory at once." We are not yet advised whether the Prof. has undertaken the job or not.

MARRIED.—By Rev. J. F. Ellis, at the Congregational parsonage, Seattle, W. T., May 15th, 1880, Prof. A. T. Burnell, of Fidalgo, W. T., and Miss Mary A. Frayer, of Carson, Ohio. The happy twain thus made one have our hearty congratulations. Prof. Burnell was for some time one of the faculty in the Territorial University at Seattle, but is now employed in the A. Den Academy on Fidalgo Island. Miss Frayer was a former college mate of her present liege lord, and is a most estimable lady.

ON Sunday and Monday next the fourth quarterly meeting and conference, of the M. E. church, on the Port Townsend charge, for the present conference year will be held—Elder A. Atwood officiating. On Sunday morning at nine a love feast meeting will be held at the church; at the regular 11 o'clock service the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered, and, on Monday, the quarterly conference will be held at the parsonage. The reason for holding this quarterly meeting so early is, preparing for the summer's campaign among the camp meetings.

WE are indebted to Mr. Irving Ballard, Prosecuting Attorney of this district, for a copy of a pamphlet edited by him, containing "Forms and instructions for establishing, relocating, altering or vacating county roads." It is prepared for the use of county officers and others interested in public roads, and is designed to obviate a large amount of needless litigation over such matters, caused by the bungling and incompetent manner in which action is frequently taken. The pamphlet is published by authority of the commissioners of King county. Mr. Ballard appears to have performed his service in a creditable manner, and the work will doubtless prove very useful and be appreciated.

SAD ACCIDENT.—The telegraph announces that Mr. J. Korter, of Nainaimo, B. C., brother of our townsman, Mr. Wm. Korter, had one of his legs blown off in a most shocking manner a few days since by the explosion of an old shell that had been picked up on an island near Nainaimo. It seems that Mr. Korter had pulled the plug out of the shell, and had burned some of the loose powder that fell out. By some means or other the fire was communicated to the interior of the shell, causing the explosion. Mr. Korter was insensible for some time, but finally revived. His leg was promptly amputated by attending surgeons, and he is reported to be doing well. Several other persons were slightly injured by the explosion, and the papers report about $300 damages being done to buildings and goods.

ERRATUM.—In our item last week, concerning the proposed excursion to Victoria, we did Capt. Starr unintentional injustice by referring to him as being responsible for the unfair discrimination in favor of Seattle and against Port Townsend in the matter of fares. Capt. Clancy, Superintendent of the Starr line of steamers hastened to explain that Seattle parties had chartered the steamer for a fixed price, and were alone responsible for the arrangement. Subsequently we received a letter from Mr. J. Levy, of Seattle, also setting forth the facts in the case. We are glad to know that we can truthfully excuse Capt. Starr from all blame whatever, by making this timely correction. In justice to ourselves, however, we may state that our information of last week was from what we regarded as a reliable source. Now, although the objections to the arrangement itself still exist, of course the Seattle managers of the excursion have a right to adjust it to suit themselves, they bearing the consequences. It is quite likely that a large number will go from Portland and up-Sound ports, although, as indicated before, there is serious objection raised at this place.

REV. Daniel Bagley, of Olympia, has gone East to attend a session of the general conference of the protestant Methodist Church.

The Oregon Kidney Tea has done my wife as much if not more good than any of the many remedies she has used for pains in the back, and I believe it to be a good remedy for the disease which it is recommended for. A. M. COX.

HARRISBURG, Oregon, December 31, 1879. Some three months ago I was attacked with a severe pain in my back. I bought a package of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and by the time I had used one-half of it was entirely relieved and have not been troubled since. I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be suffering from a lame or weak back, as a pleasant, safe and good remedy. B. J. GRIGSBY.

Shipwrecked.

It was one of those bright and yet beautiful days in the golden month of October, when old Summer, with his fervid heat, seems loath to leave us, and lingers yet for a few days, until his forces are gradually lessened by the cooling winds of Autumn.

At some distance from the business haunts of the thriving city of San Francisco, which borders upon the bay of the same name, with her thousands of struggling humanity, may be seen the beautiful grounds and green parks of Captain William Woodwane, a rich and retired sea captain.

After spending many years upon the briny deep, he determined to give up his calling, as he was now rich, dispose of his vessels, and enjoy these hard-earned pleasures in his mellow old age. Having lost his wife, a beautiful and accomplished woman, some eight years before, he was now left with only one daughter to comfort him in his declining years.

Maud was the only living child, and was a perfect image of her mother, now passed from earthly view, with eyes of a dark brown that one could forever look into and never be able to sound their depths; hair of dark chestnut, that flowed in sunny ringlets about a fair and classic brow, and a form and face that might well be envied by many a fair one.

Captain Frederick Goodwin was a young and accomplished seaman, having not yet reached the age of twenty-five; but from the serious brow and streaks of gray in those dark locks, you would suppose him to be fully ten years older. With eyes of that peculiar gray that at once show strength and determination of character, dark and curly hair shading a broad and expansive forehead, giving evidence of intellect, combine with these a firm and expressive mouth and chin, broad shoulders, well developed form, and standing full six feet in height, he was indeed fit to be the guardian of the human freight placed under his charge.

Such were the young couple of whom I shall write.

During Captain Goodwin's short visit in this city, having seen Miss Woodwane at a private reception, he was pleased and at once captivated. It was plainly a case of love at first sight. And the object of this passion? How was it with her? She saw this noble looking stranger and was at once pleased with his bearing. After an introduction, given by their kind host, they were left to chat together until the evening had finally worn away and it was time to depart. By this time these two young people had become the best of friends, and a cordial invitation was extended to the captain, from both the young lady and her father to call on the following Wednesday afternoon. It was of course accepted.

He continued his calls for some time, until at last it was whispered through society's circles, that Miss Maud Woodwane and Captain Fred. Goodwin were engaged.

It was a cool and yet pleasant day in October. The birds in the groves were singing their farewell songs to Summer, but in the beautiful parks of Captain Woodwane they seemed to carol their sweetest songs for a great event was about to happen.

One of the most brilliant marriages that had ever been heard of this side of the continent was to take place ere many hours had passed. Everyone seemed to be astir with renewed energy in the mansion on the hill. The invitations to this grand event were beautifully gotten up, and all who were fortunate enough to receive one were expressing something grand. In this they were not disappointed, for the rich and generous gentleman had prepared sumptuously for this occasion, and he was noted for the grand dinners and other pleasant entertainments that took place under his hospitable roof.

The guests at last arrived, and at four o'clock the bride and groom, with many friends, that were filled with many friends. They were a handsome couple. The ceremony over, they set the paternal roof, and with many friends went aboard the tiny steam yacht "Victor," the private property of Capt. Woodbane. All paid a short visit to the large and elegant steamship of Capt. Goodwin, which for a time was to be the home of the bride.

Gayly decked with streamers and bunting, and amid a salute from her guns, they passed upon her decks, where after a pleasant hour of enjoyment, all departed for the shore, and night settled down quietly and calmly over the bay and city.

It was a bright and beautiful morning on which the "Ocean Bird" was to spread her white wings and sail for the far distant port of Liverpool. Now could be heard the merry "heave-ho" of the seamen mingled with the noise of the rattling chains, and the anchor slowly ascended from its muddy bed to its accustomed place. Flugs were floating to the breeze, the smoke poured out black clouds, the water foamed and boiled as she slowly and majestically swung about, setting her prow for the head of the bay. She was a floating palace—without, probably, dark and gloomy to the eye; but within, all was brightness and gaiety. She was manned by as good and bold a crew as ever trod a plank, with a generous and noble-hearted captain.

How bright and beautiful were the waters as her sharp prow cut through them, and they were hurled aside by the graceful lines of her huge hull! First they were of a bright green; gradually this deepened into a darker hue; then they changed altogether and became a dark hue.

Happy and light of heart were the passengers. They had caught some inspiration from this beautiful day, and were engaged in merry song laughter. The city gradually faded from sight, and at last was lost. As they floated smoothly along, the scene grew brighter and more beautiful along the banks. Here was a farmhouse, with its several outbuildings, all surrounded by large and shady trees, and the cattle peacefully grazing in the fields beyond, while overhead could be seen a flock of crows cawing continually as they wheeled in circles over the corn fields. A forest in the distance covering the sides of a mountain, and extending away at last into the blue and empty air, while dotting the whole of the rippling surface of the bay could be seen crafts of all nations.

Now a fishing smack passed under her bow, bowling merrily along upon its course. A large schooner was moving slowly up the bay, towed by a tiny tug. They were passing through the "Golden Gate," one of Nature's greatest and grandest freaks. Anon they were beyond the head of the bay, and were passing the lighthouse. The land gradually faded away into long banks of blue clouds.

At last they were in the calm Pacific, with her mild and balmy breezes, her cloudless skies above and blue waters below. On the morrow they expected to weather the stormy cape. And night settled down upon them, leaving all in peace and happiness, with nothing to disturb their calm slumbers.

The morning broke clear and beautiful, with not a cloud to obscure the blue heavens. It was a warm and lovely day; even the most feeble had ventured from their berths to behold this beautiful scene. But, as the day wore on, a cloud was seen in the offing. At first it was only a small, white spot; then another rose, to be followed by still another; they seemed to be hurrying together until they had combined into one large and widely extended mass, which rolled along, blackening and enlarging until it covered the whole heavens.

A breeze sprang up, lashing the waves into frothy foam; the white caps were rising, now sinking; few remained on deck to see the storm which threatened.

The waves were tossing and tumbling, driving the sleet and rain with great violence against the deck and rigging. The sea grew more boisterous as the night advanced. At eight bells the wind was blowing a hurricane. The ship plunged to and fro, as she bravely braved the angry waters. Now, as she rode upon the crest of an angry wave, her stern sank, and she seemed slipping backward, down—but as the wave broke under her, she rushed madly forward into the trough of the sea.

She trembled and quivered like some dumb creature in agony, as the waves broke over her, deluging her decks, and seeming about to engulf her. But she still rode upon the crest of another.

What was that? A bell? Yes, it sounded again! By some chance the tongue of her watch bell had become unfastened, and it struck her resounding sides with a dull and hollow sound, startling everyone with its weird and awful clang as the ship rolled in the trough of the sea. Dolefully and sadly it repeated upon the waters, with the chilling and almost human words, "Your Knell! Your Knell!" filling the minds of the passengers with horror and dis-

What was that dull roar? Was it not the beat of the surf? The man up on the lookout shouted: "Port your helm! For your life, or you are lost! The breakers! The breakers!"

Too late! In another instant her keel grated the rocks, and with a fierce lunge she struck. She quivered and trembled from bow to stern.

Then the panic was fierce and wild; frightened men, women and children rushing madly here and there in their fear, while above all could be heard the wild roar and beat of the surf upon a rock-bound shore.

Above the roar and din could be heard the noble shouts of command.

"Keep the guns booming! Men, stand to the boats! Let no one of us enter until the women and children are safe!"

Then did they show their true and noble hearts. The boats were lowered, but the sea was so wild that they were, one after the other, instantly swamped, and with shrieks and groans the poor wretches sank to their watery grave.

The ship was sinking slowly. Her fires were out—she had passed the last water line.

The remaining passengers, affrighted, were huddled together upon the upper deck. The waters had reached them. Some, braver than the others, were trusting themselves upon spars and doors—with anything so as to reach the wished for shore. They felt the chilling waves gradually creeping under their feet, hungrily reaching up with their horrid jaws to grasp them, determined not to be cheated out of their pray. There were only five left—the sea had claimed the rest. These clung to the rigging with the tenacity of despair, and as a large and mighty billow came rolling toward them, as it reached them and swept them from their hold upon its crest, with a last despairing shriek two were swept away and lost.

Out of two hundred souls upon this noble ship, only the mate, lashed to a gun, the captain and his wife at the wheel, were left. The wind, whistling through the broken masts and cordage, seemed to play the prelude to their "Wedding March" to heaven. With a last dull boom, the ship sank to its final resting-place.

What was that upon the beach yonder, half buried in the sand? A spar and a human figure! Yes, it was that of a man. A woman clung closely to him. 'Twas the brave commander and his beautiful bride. Her arms were about his neck, and a sad, sweet smile upon those pale cold lips. One of his hands still grasped the spar. With the other he held her close. Together, hand in hand, their spirits had ascended to the bridal feast.

Death of the Mother of John G. Saxe.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jewett, widow of Peter Saxe, died yesterday afternoon at the residence of her son, James Saxe, in the ninety-first year of her age. Mrs. Saxe was born in Weybridge, this State, Jan. 8, 1790, and was married May 17, 1813, to Peter, son of John Saxe, who came from Saxony to this country in 1733. Mr. Saxe resided in Highgate for many years, but removed to Cambria, N. Y., where he died and was buried in 1839. Mrs. Saxe had four sons—Charles Jewett, formerly in business here, but more recently of Troy, N. Y.; John Godfrey, the poet; Peter, who now resides in California, and James, our townsman. The deceased had lived in St. Albans only about four years, having since the death of her husband, resided here and there among her children. Mrs. Saxe came as a bride to this country in 1839, in the first covered carriage ever owned in the county. She was a remarkable woman, retaining her freshness and vigor to an advanced age, and possessing excellent common sense. Even at the time of her death her hair had not turned gray. Two of her three sons now living will not be able to attend the funeral—Peter, on account of his being so far away in California; and John, the poet, on account of illness which confines him to the house. Mrs. Saxe's death was the result of no disease, but a quiet, peaceful passing away from a life-work which she considered as completed, and which all who knew consider as well and faithfully done. St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger, April 14th.

A little five-year-old friend, who was always allowed to choose the prettiest kitten for his pet and his playmate, before the other children were drowned, was taken to his mother's sick room the other morning to see two tiny new twin babies. He looked reflectively from one to the other for a minute, then, poking his chubby finger into the cheek of the plumpiest baby, he said, "Save this one, please, for me." "Is your wife married?" asked the farmer; "Marjy's short for Thomas gene, and I call her that 'cause I don't love any but her."

Gould's Winnings.

Gould's winnings during the last year are variously estimated, but on any reckoning his capital has been rolling up like a snow-ball. The New York Public says that a year ago he sold 100,000 shares of Union Pacific for about $7,500,000. Then he bought a controlling interest in Kansas Pacific, which was at 12, for about $600,000, and in the next six months the stock rose to 22, netting $4,000,000. Wabash was at 18 when Gould bought, men say, two-thirds of the stock, and it rose later to 62. His profits on the consolidation of the St. Louis Northern (which he bought at 7, and saw rise to 47) and Wabash are put at $4,850,000. In all, by spending about $3,500,000 for stocks, Gould has netted $11,000,000, if, an important if, he were to sell out. Meanwhile he can borrow on his holdings two or three times the amount of his original capital. The question in Wall street now is how much Gould expects to make on his Central stock, of which he has at least 83,000 shares.

Lady Charlotte Bacon died at her residence in London the other day at the age of 78. She was the second daughter of Edward Harley, fifth Earl of Oxford, and though of late years only known to her own circle of private friends, was one of the famous beauties of the first quarter of this century, and is the Lady Charlotte Harley whom Lord Byron has immortalized in his poem to "Ianthe," which forms the prologue to "Child Harold." She was the wife of the late General Bacon.

I am tired of being bilsted, leached cupped and besmeared with croton oil by eminent practitioners, who try to cure that cold of mine by such proceedings. This tale is frequently told by the sufferer to his druggist, who, not knowing any better, makes up any number of cough mixtures without giving any relief. All you sufferers, do you know you cannot be cured by such means as stated above? Here is the cause: It is an established fact that almost all coughs have their origin in a deranged stomach, whence gases press upon the different parts of the chest, etc., and thus cause coughing, which upon too much straining, even produces ear ache and finally deafness. One bottle of Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier will give immediate relief; it has been tried over and over again, and found to answer the purpose in every case.

YOUNG, BUT THRIVING.

WM. PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER will positively be found a valuable remedy for chronic constipation, affected kidneys, dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, scrofula, and all other diseases having their origin in impure blood.

(One of Many.) Rosasco, Oregon, January 23, 1869. A few bottles of your indeed valuable medicine, called PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER have entirely cured my Rheumatism of 12 years standing, and other acquaintances speak very highly about it, performing a cure in every instance. Such a blessing should be made known to all sufferers, hence I make the above statement.

Lyman Page, Esq., Contractor, 25 years a resident of Portland, says: For 12 years I suffered from liver complaint—tried everything. Cured with 6 bottles of PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER.

I read about it, tried it, and am still using it when occasion requires. What! The OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER! Such are the words of one of our July lecturers. All ladies will understand what is meant.

For shame young man! Get a bottle of PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER. Use it; those pimples will leave your otherwise finely shaped forehead. And you, too, young lady; you also try a bottle of this really invigorating remedy, and again that natural bloom on your sweet face, which no paint or powder can impart.

The cause of general debility removed in a short time, rapid gaining of flesh, improved complexion and good health. I sold my last bottle of Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier to Doctor Angus of this place, whose wife has been suffering from general debility for over one year, although the Doctor tried his best to cure her. After using your remedy the patient felt better, so much so that the doctor wants one dozen of this truly good medicine, which please send in my care at once. This is an extract received from Mr. Boos, Forest Grove, Oregon.

I, Frederick Ruegg, of Multnomah county, State of Oregon, certify here with that Wm. Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier has entirely cured me of a skin disease, produced by poison oak. Although I had applied to several physicians for relief, none of these agents could do me any good, and I herewith recommend the Oregon Blood Purifier to all suffering with such skin diseases. Signed: F. RUEGG.

Sea Sickness—I used to dread it—a sea voyage; but now, since I take Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier I do not feel the least inconvenience. Use a dose or so before going on board and same after leaving vessel.

Look at him—that sallow sole leather face—that dull red rimmed eye—that slouching walk—yes, look at him well. He is a dyspeptic. Now look at this one: Elastic step, bright eye, healthy complexion—how is this? Well, he uses Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier and nothing else.

Mountain fever of years standing cured without the use of Quinine in a short time. Read and admire: I have been suffering from mountain fever for years. My physicians told me the only chance of my getting better would be a change of climate. Accidentally I came across a bottle of Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier, used it, and following directions by using a bottle of the S. S. S. Fever and Ague Mixture in addition, I am perfectly healthy now, and thus expelled the theory of my physicians. GEORGE GAZAR, Mail Carrier, U. S.

Ladies in that delicate state—ever to be reversed—but ever creating nausea, will find speedy relief by using Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier.

I suffered some time with what I was told, malarial fever, accompanied with pains in my head, back, in fact, felt pains all over. The idea of giving our working population such trash, and magnifying that trash by calling it ferrated (or iron containing) medicine; here, where nature's products are abundant, and very nutritious, eat our Columbia River salmon, that splendid beef derived from cattle feeding on such grass; those vegetables at once healthy and within the reach of everybody, and then laugh at those purple efforts of ignorant, inconsequent parties trying to force iron into your system. All you want—you, who constitute the mass of the people, is to get your liver into working order, and there is no other or better remedy than PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER. WALTER A. WOOD'S ENCLOSED-GEAR MOWER.

This Mower was brought out in 1878, and is already in use by more than 10,000 farmers. Its popularity is so great and the demand for it so active that we have, for the past two seasons, fallen largely short of filling orders.

Enclosed Gearing, insuring exclusion of all dust and dirt, and freedom from noise and jarring.

No Gearing in Drive-Wheels, the Gearing being perfectly enclosed in the frame.

Width of Tread, 3 feet 7 inches—from three to six inches wider than that of other Mowers.

Height of Driving Wheels, 31 inches—from two to four inches higher than other Mower Drive-Wheels.

Lightness of Draft.—It is the lightest-draft Mower in the world. The reduction in weight, the improvements made in the gearing and the cutting apparatus, and the increase in the height of driving wheels have concluded to this result.

Lock-Nuts.—All the nuts on this machine, liable to get loose, are lock-nuts provided with keys.

Farmers, see this Mower before buying.

THE WALTER A. WOOD CHAIN-RAKE REAPER.

This Machine is so well and widely known throughout the entire West as to render unnecessary a detailed description of its numerous excellent points. For many years it has stood securely pre-eminent among the Reaping Reapers, and remains unrivaled as a Table-Rake Reaper in the esteem of the many thousand farmers who have so long and severely tested it. Testimonial letters, attesting its unrivaled popularity, are constantly pouring in upon us. Its simplicity, wonderful durability and splendid execution are so familiar as to have become proverbial.

While we have been careful at all times to retain in it the perfection of a Reaping Machine which has given Walter A. Wood's Chain-Rake Reaper its great prominence, we have from time to time made such changes in construction as practical experience and rigid tests in the field have shown to be desirable; and all these improvements have proved to be all that we claimed for them, and have kept the machine in the front line of the "march of progress."

WALTER A. WOOD'S SWEEP-RAKE REAPER.

The Only Five-Rake Reaper Manufactured.

Experience has demonstrated the superiority of five rakes over four for reeling all kinds and conditions of grain.

It is the lightest-draft, stiffest running, strongest, most durable and economical Reel-Rake Reaper now made.

Walter A. Wood's Reapers have no equal in saving badly-conditioned crops. They are also very successful in cutting flax and small clover.

Walter A. Wood's Sweep-Rake Reaper is so constructed that the Reaping and Cutting Apparatus can be instantly lowered to secure tangled and down grain.

"OMNES PROSINT"—HEALTH FOR ALL

The Original Oregon Botanical Remedies.

Prepared Only by Wm. Pfunder, Operative Chemist.

Why we, the people of the Pacific Coast should any longer be pestered with worthless nostrums, made fifty years ago out of the Rocky Mountains, and that too, by persons who never even knew chemistry by its name proper, much less its wonderful workings. This question suggested itself years ago to Wm. Pfunder, the only operative chemist in Oregon. The result was that this gentleman applied himself to a great and tedious research of the different vegetation, growing in immense quantities, especially in Oregon, but shuddering—until his discoveries—all their virtues from year to year to realize the OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER, Progressive, labors of scrofula, extractum concentratum, nominis Pfunderii Oregonenses.

Experience makes the master. Having had experience with very difficult medicines, chemicals, etc., for over 25 years, and having mastered them all through hard study, both here and in the East and in Europe, we can confidently recommend our Botanical Remedies, because we have extracted, may "distill" from the very heart-strings of hidden nature, all that is good and beneficial to suffering humanity, and leaving the Empty Shells and Worthless Leaves to rot in nature, green and inexperienced.

WM. PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER will positively be found a valuable remedy for chronic constipation, affected kidneys, dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, scrofula, and all other diseases having their origin in impure blood.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 30, 1880.

Now that Congress has passed the immediate deficiency bill, there are many here who believe Mr. Hayes will veto it, and are using their influence with him to that end. But such interference and such influence is to be deprecated. A veto of this bill would cause a quarrel between the president and democrats, which, while it would do the republican party no harm, would seriously damage the public service, and perhaps cause a dangerous delay in the other important appropriations yet to be acted on.

The senate has also passed, loaded down with amendments, the Indian appropriation bill. It is expected that the house will concur in these senate amendments, and that the president will have the bill on Monday.

Senator Davis, of West Virginia, is in his dotage. For the last two years he has been investigating the treasury department, and for several before, he had tried in vain to secure the support of his party associates in such investigations. Having finally been made chairman of a special committee he has succeeded, after a long examination, in demonstrating the fact that he don't understand or cannot comprehend, treasury accounts. He does not allege any actual frauds on the part of any treasury official, but is of the opinion, as many others are, that the system of book-keeping employed in the department is very defective, and, if frauds should be attempted would make accomplishment easy and detection almost impossible.

Governor Shepherd, the first governor of this district in Grant's time, soon leaves the city for a home in Mexico. Washington has much to thank him for; more, perhaps, than it will ever recognize.

BARREL FACTORY. — The barrel factory in North Seattle is now in full tide of successful operation, giving employment to eighty men and boys in the factory, and many others in getting out and transporting bolts. Hon. L. Sohn, Mayor of Vancouver, is resident agent; Mr. Root, superintendent, and L. Sohn, jr. Bookkeeper. This is but a beginning. It is the intention of the company to increase its capacity, from time to time until it becomes the largest barrel factory in the world.

A Berlin correspondent says that the discontent in Germany may be judged by tide of emigration. It is estimated that during the past thirty years two million, five hundred thousand people have emigrated.

PENNSYLVANIA

Reports forty-four lodges organized since June 1, 1879.

VIRGINIA

Geo. W. Hawkhurst, G. W. S., reports that since the G. L. session there has been instituted in that state nine lodges; re-organized two. Also the organization of county lodges in Madison and Culpepper counties.

MICHIGAN.

Brent Harding, G. W. S. of the grand lodge, in a report published in the "Michigan Truthteller," says: "It is with pleasure I report the fact that at no time for years has the outlook for our order in this state been so encouraging as at the present time. During the past quarter thirty-six new lodges have been organized and eight re-organized, and the work is just commencing. We expect an increasing activity from our deputies in the direction of organizing new lodges, re-organizing and strengthening old ones."

CALIFORNIA.

Geo. B. Katzenstein, G. W. S. of grand lodge of California, in a report published in "The Weekly Rescue," official organ, says: "New lodges have been fairly raining in upon us, completely flooding our office with work since the commencement of the new year. From January 1 to date (March 25) twenty two new lodges have been reported organized, with a total membership of 700. Of the above number of lodges organized, Mrs. P. E. Stevens G. S. of J. T. and grand lodge lecturer instituted ten, Levi Leland, G. L. lecturer, 6. San Leandro lodge, San Leandro, instituted by Mrs. E. P. Stevens on January 5, had the largest charter membership—ninety in all. Jackson Lodge, instituted Feb. 27, takes second place, with sixty charter members, and, third, Lone valley lodge, instituted March 1, with 56 charter members—all instituted by Mrs. Stevens. Such is the noble work of woman."

GOOD TEMPLARS should not allow their personal feelings to influence them while in the lodge room. Their likes and dislikes should be left in the ante room when they enter the hall. All who gather around the Good Templar's altar must meet on equal terms, as friends, brothers and sisters, laboring to accomplish the same grand object. The Good Templar who speaks disparagingly of another; who makes remarks which stir up strife and discord, is guilty of a flagrant violation of his or her obligation. Good Templars should rise above all petty jealousies and personal matters, and keep in view the object for which the lodge was instituted—to save the falling and prevent others from falling.—"Gem."

THE temperance and Church-going people of Olympia recently held a grand temperance rally. It is reported as having been a very enthusiastic meeting. Gen. R. H. Milroy presided, stirring speeches were made by prominent ones and strong resolutions favoring the cause were adopted.

A petition, one hundred and eighty-eight yards long, was on Tuesday, March 30, presented to the House of Representatives by Mr. Brewster, of Michigan. It was signed by 34,000 women, who want Congress to prohibit the making and selling of ardent spirits in this country.

REMEMBER that the grand lodge, I. O. G. T., will convene in Olympia on the 11th of June. It is important that all subordinate lodges be represented. We expect to obtain the usual half fare rates on steamboats and railroads, for delegates and will notify the lodges in due time.

HOW TO ENTERTAIN THE LODGE'S GUESTS.

An exchange contains the following sensible advice to Good Templar lodges, applicable to all:

Don't allow a visitor to sit in the corner and entertain himself. Don't wait for an introduction. He is in your home, within your family circle, and your guest. Introduce yourself, find out from what lodge he hails; have a pleasant chat; take him by the arm and see that he is made welcome by the membership. Ask him to participate in the good of the order, and when he comes again, he will bring another.

Don't form a party by yourself in some corner, and compel visitors to take care of their own comfort. A visitor has a right to expect to be courteously and considerately treated. He has, perhaps, gone out of his way to derive the expected pleasure of a visit to your lodge, and if you allow him to sit by himself, in a deserted part of the room, the chances are that you will never have him with you again. If this evil exists in your lodge, endeavor to remedy it. If it does not, use every precaution necessary to avoid it.

LIGHTNING SEWER

THE NEW WILSON Oscillating Shuttle SEWING MACHINE

Is wonderful in its conception, unprecedented for doing a large range of sewing in textile fabrics and leather. Its motions are continuous, admitting of an extraordinary rate of speed, either by steam or foot power. Every motion of the treadle makes six stitches, thus producing about one-third more work in a day than other Sewing Machines. It has no stop motions, and tightens the stitch with the needle out of the fabric. It uses the well-known Wilson Compound Feed on both sides of the needle. It has two-thirds less parts than any other first-class Sewing Machine. Its arm is fully eight and one-half inches long and five and one-half inches high, and the whole Machine is very compactly and scientifically constructed in proportions, elegance, design and appearance. Its simple, powerful and perfect mechanism places it as far in advance of all other Sewing Machines as the telephone is superior to the tin speaking tube. The WILSON MENDING ATTACHMENT, for repairing all kinds of textile fabrics WITHOUT PATCHING, furnished FREE with all WILSON SEWING MACHINES, together with a Tucker, Ruffler, Corder, Set of Hemmers, Binder, etc. Prices furnished with freight charges prepaid, and machines furnished on trial to responsible parties, to be used with steam-power, in places where we have no agents. Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are especially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.
