DEATH OF HON. J. M. HANNAN.

SAN JUAN, Aug. 21, 1880.

EDITOR PORT TOWNSEND ARGUS,
SIR:—At request of the deceased
the day prior to his death, I send you notice of his death and how kind
the people were to him.

Mr. James Madison Hannah, a native of Kentucky, U. S. A., died in the city of Victoria, B. C. Aug. 18, 1880.

Mr. Hannah had been ill for several years past, and left San Juan Island in June last for Victoria, B. C., for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment. He was examined by Drs. Hemlekin, Matthews and Davie, and found to have a bleeding cancer in the abdomen, and that it was impossible to remove it without causing instant death. Dr.
Matthews, with the greatest of attention and kindness, allayed the pains of the sufferer as much as he possibly could until death ensued.

Mr. Hannah, knowing too well that he could live but for a very short time, made every preparation for death, and, the day previous, thanked the people of Victoria for their strict attention, benevolence and hospitality. After death, he was sent over to San Juan Island for interment in charge of his wife and an escort from Victoria—and I must say the coffin was the handsomest
that I ever have seen on the Island.
He was very kindly received at the house of Messrs. D. Ross, and Bro., from whose residence the funeral took place yesterday, at 1 p. m. In the procession was a concourse of citizens from all parts of the Island,
very large considering the short time
they had for notification of his arrival,
which was at 5 p. m., the evening previous. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Weekes,
in a most able, elaborate and feeling manner. The Good Templars' service was read—Mr. Hannah and his family being members of that Order.
The Good Templars of Victoria,
were represented by Mr. Thomas Innes, G. W. Counselor, who kindly volunteered as an escort with the remains of the deceased. The service of the Kirk of Scotland was next in order, concluding with a very able and effective lecture. The coffin was uncovered and all those who had any desire to take a farewell glance of the remains of the deceased could do so. The assemblage present was one of the largest ever known on San Juan Island, on an occasion of this kind. Mr. Hannah served in the Legislature of Washington Territory from San Juan county in the fall of 1875. All through his illness he was tenderly nursed by his gentle, untiring and loving wife.

Yours respectfully,
WILLIAM F. TAYLOR.

We learn that Col. Larrabee will stamp Oregon for Hancock.

QUILEUTE ITEMS.

ED. ARGUS:—The road viewers, J.
J. Sutherland, J. S. Maxfield and H.
Dunning, from Clalam Bay to Quileute, completed their work July 29th.
It took 40 days. The road begins
South of the Indian ranch at Clalam Bay, thence Southeast across a flat fir timber country to Pyscht river, where there is rich farming land covered with vine maple and some alder, and occasionally a spruce; also salmon-berry bottom land. It crosses Pyscht river about 1/4 mile above
the upper crossing once for all, instead of twenty-nine times as the old trail does. They found a pass in the mountains with an easy grade and only half as high as the old trail pass. It does not cross any rivers on this side of the mountains, but passes through some fine farming country. Lake and Beaver prairies each contain 3 claims. Also good vine maple and alder bottom land adjoining for many good farms. At Vine Maple Prairie some good farms can be got with some prairie on them, with grass. Ascending the mountains, gold was discovered accidentally at a watering place. Descending, some pieces of coal were seen. The road ends at the East end of the Quileute Prairie, on the South side, on a claim owned by A.
W. Smith. I think the viewers deserve great credit for faithful labor, and should be well paid for their work. It will be a good wagon road when opened, and I think Congress should make an appropriation of $5, 000 for that purpose.

Capt. H. McCrea, Schr. Teazer, arrived in Quileute with lumber for
S. Baxter's store, and 3 tons of goods,
July 31st. Mr. E. W. Ray, of Seattle, is carpenter. The frame is now up and nearly enclosed. A small railway of tunnel make was built from the landing to the foundation of the store, and a car placed thereon to ship the lumber, and in future
the goods, oil, furs and other freight.
An Indian got his foot crushed by the first train; in the future he will gratify his curiosity at a safe distance.
Capt. McCrea has gone down the coast for furs and skins. The new store will be ready for use by September 10th. The Pullen Bros.
will drive some fat cattle to Port Townsend soon. Haying is nearly over. Have had fine weather. The Quileutes are having a grand "pot latch." All the Neah Bay and Ozett
Indians are here.
Yours, &c.,
A. J. SMITH.

THE champions of temperance are justly proud of the record of Edwards county, the great "no license" stronghold of Illinois. The people are sober, orderly and industrious,
and they keep their taxes so well paid up that the "tax list" is not worth a wrangle. The entire list of delinquents for the past year consisted of 111 lines, and the printer's fee was but $16 1/2. Its jail and poor house are empty, and it has no original court—in direct contrast to liquor counties, which must support
large numbers of whiskey's poor,
maintain courts to try whiskey's ruffians, and build expensive jails to confine whiskey's criminals.

THE logic of Major-General Winfield Scott Hancock is: "The Constitution must and shall be preserved, and the proper guardians of it are the southern states which deny its supremacy."

NO CHANGE NEEDED.

York (Pa.) "Republican."
After twenty years of Republican rule, the Democratic party asks the Republicans to step down and out,
in order that they may gain control of the Executive head as they have
of the Legislative branches of the Government. And for what purpose?
Is it because they believe that they will administer the affairs of the Nation with more skill and honesty
than the Republicans have; or is it because they believe that the great resources of the country will be more rapidly developed; or its industrial interests more securely protected under the management of the party of disunion, disloyalty and general political dishonesty, than under the administration of the party representing union, honesty and progress? Do candid honest men of the Democratic party, who recall the mal-administration of the Government while in the hands of Democracy twenty years ago, believe that it will be wise to return it to such bungling hands? Do they not remember that in 1860, after twenty years of Democratic rule, that the credit of the nation had become so poor that its six per cent. bonds sold for eighty nine cents on the dollar, or could only be sold, when placed on the market of the world at a discount of from ten to twenty per cent.; and do they not know that our national securities at four per cent., under the fostering care of successive Republican administrations are now selling at a handsome premium, and eagerly purchased by the capitalists of every nation as a safe investment? Do they not also recall the indisputable fact that in 1860, when the Democracy yet had full control of the government, that a loan of $18,000,000 sold at a discount of twelve per cent., exhausted
the market for six months and at the end of twenty years of Republican rule, a loan of $15,000,000, at four per cent. and a premium of ten, was sold in a single day? Are these not facts of national history; unimpeach-
able and stubborn facts; facts which,
after twenty years of experience on each side, fairly and clearly settles
the financial policy in favor of the Republican party. Then why do the men who claim to have only the interest of the nation at heart, ask for a change at this time? Certainly not because they regard the Republican management of our finances as a failure, for the whole list of uncontrovertible facts prove the contrary.

TAMMANY Democrats will put a full State ticket for New York in the field. The recent "union" of the Tildenites and John Kelly's followers is no more. The broken bonds of the party had not sufficient time to thoroughly unite before a second fracture ensued. The "Sage of Cipher Alley" made himself too conspicuous by presiding in New York City at a Hancock campaign meeting recently, and the Tammanyites
could not stand the sudden strain, and broke short off. This breach is making the Republicans jubilant and they hope to secure New York's electoral vote for Garfield.

HARD Money English is the metallic candidate. His heart is stone, his soul is gold, his hands are silver,
his cheek is brass, and he is a copper head.

FINE OPPORTUNITY.—We have a stocked farm for sale, not far from a good local market, in Jefferson county. To those who may be seeking investments of this kind, we deem the opportunity a rare one. The farm is situated on the salt water front, in a safe and commodious bay; it comprises 133 acres of land, about 40 acres of which is fine bottom and marsh. About 33 acres are clear and under fence. Good house, barn, outbuildings, fences, &c., &c., that cost upwards of a thousand dollars.
There are about 175 fruit trees of various kinds, carefully and well selected, and including apple, plum, pear, cherry, prune and other trees
—some 7 years old and all in excellent condition. A fine lot of stock and tools are also for sale with the land and improvement, including 10 cows, 1 yoke of oxen, 1 horse,
8 head of young stock (half Jersey) also bees, fowls, boat, etc. The place has a cash income of $50 per year from a logging camp, besides being near a good market for butter, eggs, beef, vegetables, hay or other produce. The whole property is offered very cheap—could be bought for less than $2,000—and possession
will be given immediately if desired.
The owner, on account of failing health, desires to engage in some lighter occupation. For particulars, enquire at the ARGUS office.

Who Did Take Him.

A few days ago, says the Detroit Free Press, a boy of about ten years of age, lame and sickly, who had been living with his mother in rooms in the city, found himself alone in the world. The lad was too ill to ride in the one poor carriage which followed the body to the grave, yet no one thought his condition serious. After the funeral a number of persons gathered in the poverty-stricken room to see what disposition could be made of him. "If he wasn't lame I'd take him into my family," observed one of the men, in a tone that seemed to show that he blamed the boy for his misfortune. "Well, it's awful hard," sighed one of the women, "but I know he couldn't get along with my children."

"Nor with mine," added a second. "If I should take him he'd run up a big doctor's bill on me," said a man as he filled his pipe. Everybody had some excuse. The boy heard them all without a word, but with quivering chin and eyes full of tears. Under one pretext or another all slipped out and left him alone, promising to have another talk in the morning. Perhaps, that night before they closed their eyes in sleep, some of them thought of the poor lad lying in the dreary room, alone and almost helpless, but, if so, none of them near him. Late in the morning a woman living on the same floor went in to see if he might not want a bite to eat, and the question of who should take care of him was settled. God had taken him. Hugged close to the wall, as if he feared the midnight shadows, and with eyelashes yet wet, he was dead and cold, no longer a burden to any one. The boy too lame to be taken care of on earth—too feeble to earn the crusts that some one would have given him—had a home better than the best. When they knew that he had alone women bent over him and wept. When they lifted his wasted body from the bed men's consciousness smote them for their harsh words, but it was too late. He had gone from earth, feeling that there was no mercy in the human heart.

DOUBLE UP.—It is told of Rev. Joseph Cook that when he was a theological student at Andover, he occupied rooms in the seminary dormitories, but always insisted upon being allowed the privilege of rooming alone. The rapid increase in the number of students at the seminary, however, necessitated "doubling up," and a chum was assigned to Mr. Cook, who endured the inconvenience for a time with equanimity. Finally he resolved to relieve himself, so far as possible, of the incubus, and procuring some chalk, he drew a chalk-line across the middle of their room, continuing the line up the walls and across the ceiling. Then, summoning his chum, he pointed out the chalk mark, and in stentorian tones inquired: "Which side of that chalk-line will you prefer, sir?"

The chum chose the side that best suited him, and was requested to keep on that side of the line at all times. And Joseph and his chum thereafter lived together, but apart from each other, in blessed contentment.

Dirt and Bodily Heat.

The part which the skin plays in the regulation of bodily heat is not adequately estimated. The envelope of complicated structure and vital function which covers the body, and which nature has destined to perform a large share of the labor of health-preserving, is practically thrown out of use by our habit of loading it with clothes. It is needless to complicate matters by allowing it to be choked and encumbered with dirt. If the skin of an animal be coated with an impervious varnish, death must ensue. A covering of dirt is only less inimical to life. We are not now speaking of dirt such as offends the sense of decency, but of those accumulations of exuded matter with which the skin must become loaded if it is habitually covered and not thoroughly cleansed. The cold bath is not a cleansing agent. A man may bathe daily, and use his bath-towel even roughly, but remain as dirty to all practical intents as though he eschewed cleanliness; indeed the physical evil of dirt is more likely to ensue because, if wholly neglected, the skin would cast off its excrementitious matter by periodic perspirations with desquamation of the cuticle. Nothing but a frequent washing in water of, at least, equal temperature with the skin and soap can insure a free and healthy surface. The feet require special care, and it is too much the practice to neglect them. The omission of daily washings with soap, and the wearing of foot coverings so tight as to compress the bloodvessels and retard the circulation of the blood through the extremities, are the most common causes of cold feet. The remedy is obvious; dress loosely and wash frequently.

A Newark man, on his way to jail for assaulting his wife, thanked God it was for no disgraceful offense like stealing.

It Was Hot.

A good-natured Griswold-street lawyer left his office unoccupied for an hour about 2 o'clock one afternoon, and some of the jokers went in and built up a rousing hot fire in his coal stove. He came back with his hat in his hand and almost dead with the heat, and was met on the stairs by a lawyer, who said: "This is the hottest yet. The thermometer in my room makes 120 degrees."

"Don't seem possible, though it's a scorcher," replied the other, as he went to his room.

He threw down his hat, took off his coat and began fanning himself; but the harder he fanned the hotter he grew. Two or three lawyers came in, and spoke about how cool his room was compared to theirs, and were greatly puzzled to account for it. Several offers were made him to change rooms, and pretty soon he grew ashamed of appearing so overheated, and sat down to his table. In five minutes his shirt collar fell flat, and in ten he hadn't any starch in his shirt. The perspiration ran about in every direction, and he seemed to be boiling, when one of his friends looked in and remarked: "Ah! old boy, I envy you. You've got the coolest room in the block."

"Say," said the lawyer, as he staggered over to the door, "I'm going home. I never felt so queer in all my life. While I know that the room is cool and airy, I'm so baked and boiled that I can't lift a hand. One drink of brandy wouldn't act that way on a man, would it?"

"That's just it, whispered the other. "Brandy always acts that way, especially if you drink alone. You ought to have known better."

"So I had—so I had. Don't say a word to the boys—I'll make it all right. I thought something must ail me, and I was a little afraid I was going to be sent for. I'm glad it's nothing serious—I'll be back in about two hours."

A Question of Piscatory Fashion.

Anglers know that trout are attracted by bright colors, that they can distinguish the different flies upon which they feed, and that artificial flies must accordingly be made into a rough semblance of the original insects. Some scientific fishermen even insist that it is no use offering them a brown drake at the time of year or hour of day when they are naturally expecting a red spinner. Of course their sight is by no means as perfect as our own, but it probably includes a fair idea of form, and an acute perception of color, while there is every reason to believe that all the trout family have a decided love of metallic glitter, such as that of silver or of the salmon scales. Mr. Darwin has shown that the little stickleback goes through an elaborate courtship, and I myself have watched trout which seemed to me as obviously love making as any pair of turtle doves I ever saw.

In their early life salmon fry and young trout are almost quite indistinguishable, being both marked with blue patches (known as "finger marks") on their sides, which are remnants of the ancestral coloring once common to the whole race. But as they grow their later acquired tastes begin to produce a divergence, due originally to this selective preference of certain beautiful mates; and the adult salmon clothes himself from head to tail in shaggy silver, while the trout decks his sides with the beautiful speckles which have earned him his popular name. Countless generations of slight differences, selected from time to time by the strongest and handsomest fish, have sufficed at length to bring about these conspicuous variations from the primitive type, which the young of both races still preserve.

Flowers that Grow in the Shade.

This question is asked every Spring by scores of city people, whose little patch, which they wish to devote to flowers, is so walled up by neighboring houses that the direct rays of the sun never touch it. But few plans will develop their flowers there, and none will do it as well as if it were lighted up by sunshine a part of the day. Fuchsias, pansies, forget-me-nots, violets, lobelias, lilies of the valley, phloxes, and other herbaceous plants, whose native habitat is shady wood, will do best, but even these languish, if denied all direct sunlight. The best effect in such situations is produced by ornamental leaved plants, the beauty of which is not dependent upon their flowers. Among these may be ranked the gold and silver variegated leaved geraniums, achryanthus, alternantheras, begonias, caladiums, cantareuas, celosias, etc., which, if planted so as to bring the various shades in contrast, produce a pleasing effect, which continues during the entire Summer months and is not surpassed by any display of bowers.

A farmer's life cannot be monotonous; he labors in so many different fields.

A Rich Hat Story.

Probably the meanest trick that was ever played on a white man was played last week in this city, and the fact that there is no Vigilance Committee here, is the only reason the perpetrators of the trick are alive. A business man had purchased a new stiff hat, and he went into a saloon with half a dozen friends to fit the hat on his head. They took beer and passed the hat around so all could see it. One of the meanest men that ever held a country office went to the bar-tender and had a thin slice of Limburg cheese cut off, and when the owner was looking at the frescoed ceiling through a beer glass, this wicked person slipped the cheese under the sweat-leather of the hat, and the man put it on and walked out. The man who owned the hat is one of your nervous people, who is always complaining of being sick, and who feels as though some dreadful disease was going to take possession of him and carry him off. He went back to his place of business, took off his hat and laid it on the table, and proceeded to answer some letters. He thought he detected a smell, and when his partner asked him if he didn't feel sick, he said he believed he did. A clerk said it was evident that somebody's feet needed washing. The man turned pale, and he guessed he would go home.

He met a man on the sidewalk who said the air was full of miasma, and in the street car, a man sat next to him moved away to the end of the car, and asked him if he had just come from Chicago. The man with the hat said he had not; when the stranger said they were having a great deal of small-pox there, and he guessed he would get out and walk, and he pulled the bell and jumped off. The cold perspiration broke out on the forehead of the man with the new hat, and he took it off to wipe his forehead, when the whole piece of cheese seemed to roll over and breathe, and the man got the full benefit of it, and he came near fainting away. He got home and his wife met him and asked him what was the matter. He said he believed mortification had set in, and she took one whiff, as he took off his hat, and said she should think it had. "Where did you get into it?" said she. "Get into it!" said the man, "I have not got into anything, but some deadly disease has got hold on me, and I shall not live." She told him if any disease that smelled like that had got hold of him, and was to be chronic, she felt as though he would be a burden to himself if he lived very long. She got his clothes off, soaked his feet in mustard-water, and he slept. The hat was lying on the centre-table, and the children would come in and get a smell of it and look at each other with reproachful glances, and go out and play again. The man slept and dreamed that a small-pox flag was hung in front of his house, and that he was riding in a butcher's wagon to the pest house. The woman sent for a doctor, and when the man of pills arrived she told him all about the case. The doctor picked up the patient's new hat, tried it on, and got a sniff. He said the hat was picked before it was ripe. The doctor and the wife held a post-mortem examination of the hat, and found the slice of Limberger. "Few and short were the prayers they said." They woke the patient, and to prepare his mind for the revelation that was about to be made, the doctor asked him if he had made his will. He said he had not, but that he wanted a lawyer sent for at once. The doctor asked him if he felt as though he was prepared to shuffle off. The man said he had always tried to lead a different life, and had tried to be done by the same as he would do it himself, but that he might have made a mistake some way, and that he would like to have a minister sent for to take an account of stock.

Then the doctor brought to the bedside the hat, opened up the sweat-leather and showed the dying man what it was that smelled so, and told him that he was as well as any man in the city. The patient pinched himself to see if he was alive, and jumped out of bed and called for his revolver, and the doctor couldn't keep up with him on the way down town. The last we saw of the odoriferous citizen he was trying to bribe the bar-tender to tell him which one of those pelicans it was that put that slice of cheese in his hat-lining.—Little Rock Gazette.

At dinner she had a doctor at either hand, one of whom remarked that they were well served, since they had a duck between them. "Yes," she broke in—her wit is of the sort that comes in flashes—"and I am between two quacks."

Some clocks do not strike. You must look at them if you would know the time. Some men do not talk their Christianity; you must look at their lives if you would know what the gospel can do for human nature. But a clock need not be incorrect because it strikes; a man need not be inconsistent because he speaks as well as acts.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—Last Saturday evening, at about 8 o'clock, a sailor named Wm. Lawrence, of St. Johns, N. B., was so horribly and brutally stabbed that he died before reaching the hospital. The affray took place on the street, near the Cosmopolitan Hotel, and the perpetrator of the deed was a Russian Finn named George Matzon, who has been detained here for some time as a witness in a case of larceny. The act seemed to be almost entirely without provocation, as near as we could learn, as it originated in a quarrel between the Russian and a sailor who came out unhurt. The wounds were inflicted with a small knife, though Dr. Meade, one of the examining surgeons who testified before the coroner's jury, said that of the eleven cuts two would have necessarily proved fatal—one penetrating the heart and the other the lungs. The jury brought in a verdict charging Matzon with the murder. Deceased was a young man—about twenty-eight—and is reported as having been a quiet, orderly fellow. The indignation against Matzon was very strong, and, had he not been hurried off to jail, it is probable that he would have been lynched.

COUNTY CONVENTION.—The Republican convention for Jefferson county was held in this place yesterday. It was organized by the election of Judge A. Briggs as chairman, and Mr. Jas. Seavey as secretary. The following delegates were elected to attend the Vancouver convention: Dr. T. T. Minor, C. M. Bradshaw and R. D. Attridge. The alternates elected were C. C. Bartlett, Wm. Delanty and R. E. Ryan. The delegates were instructed to vote for Dr. Minor for candidate for Delegate to Congress. As to candidates for Joint Councilman and Joint Representative, the delegates go uninstructed, except that they are to confer with the delegates from other portions of the council and representative districts and use their best judgment. The county convention adjourned to meet in this place again on Saturday, Sept. 18th, at 7 p. m., when candidates for county and precinct officers will be nominated.

The contest for the Republican nomination for Delegate to Congress is rapidly narrowing down to a trial of popularity between H. n. T. H. Brents, the present incumbent, and Dr. T. T. Minor, of this place. At present, the indications are that Mr. Brents is slightly ahead, though neither is likely to have a majority on the first ballot. Hon. J. B. Allen will go into the convention with a few votes, but his strength will be insignificant compared with that of the others—though he may possibly hold the balance of power. One gratifying point is that either of the three candidates would make a creditable Delegate.

Things are fairly booming up at the iron mines.

THE NEWELL COLONY.

The following letter to D. W. Smith, Esq., of this place, Vice President of the Immigration Aid Society, will explain itself:

Your favor of Aug. 10th duly received. In the name of my fellow colonists I thank you heartily for the information you volunteer in pamphlets, map and letter. We are now prospecting as hard and fast as we can, not merely for ourselves (for we are but pioneers of a larger movement East), but for hundreds and in all probability thousands who will come to the Territory upon our report. They cannot all be located where we handful of pioneers may settle, but arrangements are now being perfected with our parent-society to prepare for small detachments of colonists conformably to various larger or smaller and the smallest portions of land available in Western Washington. Eventually, of course we shall be beholden to you for further information when we reach your locality for purposes of prospecting. How soon I cannot yet determine, but rest assured we shall be thankful to consult you personally.

Yours truly,
FREDERICK NITSCHKE,
Secretary Newell Colony, B. C. C. A.

PORT GAMBLE ITEMS.

PORT GAMBLE, W. T., Aug. 25.—The Republican primary caucus for Kitsap county was held last evening, J. M. Frink acting as Chairman. A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Hovey, Dodson, Smith, Scott and Stevens was appointed to nominate eleven delegates to the county convention. The following named delegates were elected unanimously: S. W. Hovey, C. A. Stevens, N. Harmon, J. M. Frink, J. W. White, W. D. Scott, H. McKay, N. W. Lane, D. B. Jackson, James Thompson, Wm. Walker. The following nominations for precinct officers were then made: For Justice of the Peace, Mr. Setear; Constable, N. Harmon, Messrs. Hovey and Stevens were made the choice of the meeting as delegates to Vancouver.

BOOKS FOR EVERYBODY.—Miss B. P. Chandler, of San Francisco, is canvassing the lower Sound, selling copies of some of the latest, most useful, most amusing and desirable books now before the public. Among her collection may be found that crowning effort of Mark Twain, the "Tramp Abroad," which is much sought after by the fun-loving public; also "Josiah Allen's wife as a P. A. and P. I., or Samantha at the Centennial"—this last being also brim full of fun, coupled with sound logic and good sense. We also notice McCabe's "National Encyclopedia of Social and Business Forms," the "Household and Farmer's Cyclopaedia," the "Folio," a musical journal, and the "Domestic Monthly," a journal of fashion. Miss Chandler will visit Port Discovery, and perhaps go to Dungeness. We bespeak for her a profitable journey among the towns and settlements of this section. Her books are all of them meritorious, and those who desire to invest a few dollars for the improvement of their minds cannot do better than to patronize her as a reliable agent.

RETURNED.—Judge Kuhn arrived here last Saturday, after a somewhat protracted trip to the Eastern States, having been absent from home about five months. He came overland, by way of Boise City and Walla Walla. Mr. Kuhn says he passed at least five hundred emigrant wagons enroute for Washington Territory—all of which he thinks indicates that our population is increasing as rapidly as ought to be wished for. He is better satisfied than ever with his chosen home, and says he saw no place during his absence that seemed more prosperous than does Washington Territory.

Those who indulge the hallucination that live stock in this section of country is not being improved in size and quality may be enlightened by the fact that a span of young gelding horses were recently brought to this place from Dungeness (one of them from the farm of Mr. Merchant, the other from Mr. Evans') that cost the sum of $225 apiece. They are the property of B. S. Miller, Esq., of this city, and are to be used as draught horses at the iron mines near here. They would weigh, we should judge, about 1400 each.

We are indebted to Mr. Fields, of Chimacum, for a sample of his excellent cheese. Mr. F. is running a small factory on the farm of S. M. Nolan, Esq., in the Chimacum Valley, and the excellence of the article he turns out is attested by the fact that he disposes of about all the cheese made, in the local markets. He is a cheese-maker of large experience, and we expect to see the industry grow rapidly under his management.

In our extracts published last week, from a letter reflecting somewhat upon sheriff Foresman, of Clallam Co., for not trying to collect the taxes at Neah Bay, we should have appended the expressed belief on our part that Mr. Foresman would doubtless have attempted to collect the taxes in question if he had supposed that he could have done so.

We are pleased to notice that the indications favor the nomination of Hon. S. W. Hovey, of Port Gamble, as the republican candidate for Joint Councilman from this district. Mr. Hovey has had considerable legislative experience, is a man of good judgment, and, if elected, would serve acceptably. Nominate him, by all means.

The "Press" editor had to hunt awful hard this week for an excuse to play the "persecuted dodge." We simply said that he had suspended publication indefinitely, which was a fact amply sustained by his own notification of suspension. No, we don't tread on helpless things.

DIED.—In this city, August 20th, Eliza, beloved wife of J. E. Fuge, aged 38 years. Deceased had just given birth to a child. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn her loss. The bereaved relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

BORN.—On Lopez Island, Aug. 12th, to the wife of Mr. J. L. Davis, a daughter.

CAPTS. John Morris and Frank Tucker, of Dungeness, are in town.

The "Press" has resumed publication.

The Oregon Kidney Tea!

Read the following testimonials, not from persons 3,000 miles away, whom no one knows, but from well-known and trustworthy citizens of Oregon, whose names, written in their own hands, can be seen at our office: Portland, Oregon, July 31, 1879. The Oregon Kidney Tea has cured my back and kidneys and I am at a loss to express my gratitude. I shall always remember the Oregon Kidney Tea with pleasure and esteem, and highly recommend it to all my friends and acquaintances. J. H. P. DOWNING, (at P. Selling's). Portland, Oregon, July 31, 1879. While I was in Tillamook last winter, I was afflicted in my back and kidneys so that it was almost impossible for me to reach Portland. When I got here I was induced to try the Oregon Kidney Tea. I drank a few meals, the tea made from it, and it has effected a radical cure. I can highly recommend it to all who are afflicted as I was. E. COHN.

Mr. Korter has made a nice improvement in his barber shop. We venture to say that he has a shop as neatly fitted up as any on the Sound. He has also fitted up a bathroom for salt and fresh water baths. He has done his best to have one of the finest shops, and is master of his profession.

BRIEF LOCAL ITEMS.

No one killed in town this week, so far.

The smoky atmosphere makes everything appear gloomy.

A new barn is being erected on Kuhn's farm in the edge of town.

Mr. C. C. Bartlett, of this place, has a fine lot of fresh California fruit on hand.

The schooner Champion, Capt. McAlmond, arrived from Dungeness on Monday.

A number of strangers were in town yesterday, attending the Republican county convention.

Last Sunday afternoon, at about half past one o'clock, a slight earthquake shock was felt at this place.

The lower story of the Good Templars' Hall is receiving a new floor. Mr. Clinger is the contractor.

Mr. J. G. Clinger has put up a neat and attractive sign at his auction store, next door to Sheehan's tin shop.

We are pleased to learn that Rev. W. I. Cosper, of the M. E. Church of this place, will be returned to the charge for another year.

The public school in this city will open next Monday. Prof. Kerr arrived last Monday, and Miss Eva Bigelow is expected to arrive tomorrow.

Mr. F. W. James, of this place, received a fine piano this week on the Dakota. The instrument is pronounced to be one of the finest on Puget Sound.

Mr. J. R. Hayden, U. S. Internal Revenue Collector at Olympia, paid Port Townsend a visit this week, after having spent a short time on Whidby Island.

In another column will be found a card of thanks from Mr. Fuge, to the people of this place, for courtesies and kindnesses extended in his present sore bereavement.

Our item last week about Mrs. Bishop was made to appear awkwardly by the inadvertent omission of the word "treatment." Mistakes will occur in spite of the utmost care.

Mr. Wm. Katz, of the firm of Waterman & Katz, of this place, will leave tomorrow for San Francisco, on the Dakota. He will bring up another stock of new goods for the trade here.

As will be seen by the call, inserted elsewhere, the Democrats of Jefferson county will hold their primary meetings next Saturday night, and their county convention on Saturday, September 11th.

Mr. Holcomb received a lot of splendid California fruit on the Dakota this week. The varieties include grapes pears, apples, plums, watermelons, muskmelons, &c. He also has fine looking sweet potatoes.

Two tame bears, one a black and the other a ferocious looking cinnamon, were paraded through our streets last Saturday. They had been educated to dance, turn somersaults and perform various amusing tricks. The managers obtained compensation by taking up a collection among the bystanders.

The steamship Dakota, Capt. H. G. Morse, arrived in this place on Wednesday, from San Francisco. She brought a large number of passengers for the Sound, and freight as follows: For Port Townsend, 45 1/2 tons; for Seattle, 196 1/2 tons; for Tacoma, 85 tons; for Olympia, 23 tons. Her consignees at this place are as follows: A. A. Qr. Master, C. C. Bartlett, C. Eisenbeis, F. W. James, J. M. Power, O. H. Holcomb, R. W. deLion, W. Anderson, C. R. Bill, J. G. Brady, N. D. Hill and Son, P. S. Iron Co., W. Bishop, W. F. & Co.

The "King Laugh Makers," under Mr. Edwards, of Victoria, drew large and appreciative audiences on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Their entertainment on Monday evening was especially worthy of favorable notice. Altogether, the troupe far exceeds the average of such organizations. They have good actors, good singers and good musicians. They are now performing at up-Sound ports where they will doubtless meet with success.

The result of the recent conference of railroad magnates and proposed union of Pacific Coast lines will consolidate 6,000 miles of railway which gridirons all the Southwest and Colorado and Kansas. These roads will make the wheat field of Kansas as near New Orleans as Chicago, and will make the former, which increased foreign shipments from two to ten millions recently, one of the largest grain shipping ports in the country.

On Monday last an adjourned term of the Probate Court was held, at which all the business on hand was attended to. Mrs. Murphy, of this place, widow of the late J. B. Murphy, dec., was appointed administratrix of the estate. The hearing of the proceedings in estate of Alfred Waite, dec., was set for tomorrow.

A party of government engineers went down the Sound on Monday to examine Snohomish, the Steilagumish, the Skagit and the Nooksack rivers, with a view of ascertaining their needs for freer navigation, their commercial importance and their adaptability to improvement.—Transcript.

The Clalam county Republican convention elected Capt. Jno. Morris and B. F. Dean, Esq., as delegates to represent the county in the Vancouver Convention. They will support Dr. Minor for Delegate to Congress.

Rev. J. R. Thompson, of Olympia has had a call offering him a salary of $1,200 a year, but prefers to remain in Olympia on a salary of less than half that amount.

Prof. L. P. Venen, of Olympia, for a long time a regular contributor to the "West Shore," of Portland, has accepted a position on the editorial staff of that paper.

The proclamation of Governor Ferry, inserted in this issue, reminds one that Time in its ceaseless round brings ever recurring political changes.

Rev. T. B. Goodpasture has been appointed to the Whidby Island charge by the M. E. Conference. Rev. S. A. Starr is appointed to Corvallis, Ogn.

The vessels now loading at Port Discovery are as follows: Ship War Hawk, bark Harvest Home, schooners Frithiof and Letitia.

Sensible Advice.

You are asked every day through the columns of newspapers and by your druggist to use something for your dyspepsia and liver complaint that you know nothing about and you get discouraged spending money with but little success. Now to give you a satisfactory proof that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you of dyspepsia and liver complaint with all its effects such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual constiveness, palpitation of the heart, heartburn, waterbrash, fullness at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue, indigestion, swimming of the head, low spirits, etc., we ask you to go to your druggist and get a sample bottle GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you.

A Tramp's Romance.

Yesterday Robert Preston and wife, a young couple who had just arrived in this city en route for Texas. The story of their marriage is rather a romantic one. Not that it abounds in hairbreadth escapes, or of blood in large or small quantities, but that—well, that it is romantic.

A Reminiscence.

We learn from the East that Mr. Joseph McArdle (famously known to the profession as "Joe") is dead. He was Edwin Forrest's business agent when the great actor visited this coast some ten or twelve years ago. And thereby hangs the tale. Joe had a hard time with his principal, who came to us in a condition of physical—we may as well say, mental—decadence. He suffered martyrdom from scatology, and his stage action only went so far as this nerve demon permitted it.

Dr. Ewer and Edwin Booth.

At the time of the recent farewell breakfast to Edwin Booth it was good breakfast commented on privately that the Rev. Dr. Ewer should have been a member of the committee of arrangements. A correspondent of the Springfield Republican writes: He is regarded as the special exemplar of high church Episcopalianism, the attitude of which toward the stage has not been one of extreme cordiality.

The Emperor's Little Joke.

It is reported in the Kleine Journal that the German Emperor, after inspecting the new barracks of the Second Guard Dragoons in the Pionierstrasse a few days ago, contrived while chatting with the officers in the mess room to write a few words with a chalk pencil upon the tunic of the senior regimental captain unperceived by that officer.

High Play Among the Russians.

Play has run so high of late at the St. Petersburg Yacht Club that the most august personages in Russia have felt themselves called upon to check the gambling propensities of the reckless Boyars whose recent inordinate gains and losses have been brought under their cognizance.

Port Townsend HOSPITAL!

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T.

The above institution having been placed on a permanent footing, as the United States Hospital for Marine Patients on Puget Sound, the proprietor takes pleasure in announcing that no pauper expense will be spent in maintaining the comfort and convenience of private patients.

This is the largest General Hospital north of San Francisco, and by far the most complete in equipment. It has been thoroughly refitted and refurnished. Its general wards have accommodations for about one hundred patients and are particularly adapted for cases requiring the most careful treatment and constant supervision at limited expense. Those who desire them will be furnished with private rooms, entirely separate and distinct, at a slight additional cost.

The attention of Mill owners, and those interested in shipping, is called to the fact that women suffering from contagious diseases will be treated outside the Hospital without expense to the vessel.

It Will Never Be Played.

"By gum!"
Mr. and Mrs. Defoe sat before a cheerful fire in their house the other evening. There had been a long period of silence, when Mr. Defoe suddenly exclaimed as above.

"What is it, dear?" she exclaimed.
"Say, we've got tired of playing games; now what do you say to theatricals?"

"How?"
"Why, we'll get three or four of the neighbors to join in, and we'll meet at each other's houses and have regular plays."

"That will be splendid!" she gasped.
"Hanged if it won't wonder we never thought of it before. Twenty dollars will get us the scenery we want, and each one can furnish his own wardrobe. By gum! we've got the idea now."

"What sort of a play could we play?" she asked, as he marched up and down with a tragic utop.

"I have it—aha!" he exclaimed as he stopped short. "Don't you remember I started to write a play about five years ago? I'll finish it and we'll bring it out. Now, let's see how the characters run. There is the Count Dumdoff, who is in love with Geraldine the Fair. He kills four men, rescues Geraldine from several dangers, and there is a great deal of kissing and love-making, and a happy marriage."

"And I'll be Geraldine."
"You! Oh, you could not play the part. I think I'll cast you for Hannah, who keeps a bakery near a park in Paris."

"I'd like to see myself playing Hannah in a bakery. I would!" she defiantly answered. "If you can play Dumdoff I know I can play Geraldine."

"Oh, no, you can't, my love. You are a littlest in the knees, and how do you look throwing yourself into my arm as the villains pursue?—I shall cast that little widow D for Geraldine."

"Then there'll be two Geraldines of us! If you can play Dumdoff with your lame back and catarrh, I know I can play Geraldine with this little lameness in my left knee."

"Now you listen to reason, Mrs. Defoe. You aren't built for a Geraldine; you are too fat, your feet are too large; you haven't got the voice for it."

"And you'd make a pretty Count Dumdoff, you would!" she fired back. "You'll want to get that crooked out of your back, that bald head shined over, your mouth repaired, and your eyes touched up with a paint brush. I think I see you killing four villains—aha! ha!"

"Woman, do not anger me!" he said, in a desperate voice as he rose up.

"And don't you anger your Geraldine, either!"

"Geraldine! Why, you don't know a sky border from a flat!"

"Dumdoff! And you don't know a Skye terrier from a big fiddle in the orchestra!"

"This well! We'll have no playing here!"

"Then you needn't. When I play Hannah in a bakery to let you hug and kiss the widow D, or any other woman, all over the stage, you'll be three or four Count Dumdoffs!"

"I'll burn the play, jealous woman!"

"If you don't I will, vain man!"

They then sat down and resumed their former occupation of looking into the fire, and the disturbed cat went back to her rug and her dreams.

A Progressive Age.

The present generation is certainly an actively progressive one in projects of material improvement. In addition to the great enterprises that have been made facts accomplished, we may note the progress on this continent of the suspension bridge which is to connect New York and Brooklyn, and of the tunnel which is to unite New York and New Jersey, and the inception of not one alone, but of two canal projects across the Isthmus of Panama. On the other side of the ocean, the present vast undertaking is a tunnel under the Straits of Dover, which shall do away with the Calais packet passage so famous for sea-sickness, and put England in new and immediate railroad connection with the Continent. The preliminary workings have had the most satisfactory results, the constructors have sunk their shaft to the stratum in which they propose to bore, and promise that in three or four years they will complete the task. Probably ten years would be nearer right, but what an accomplishment it will be if even in that period the Londoner shall be enabled to take a through palace car for Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg or Constantinople. What would an Englishman of the reign of good Queen Bess or even of George III. have said to a prophecy like that? Truly the world moves.

Oriental Beverages.

The Chinese have made beer from a peculiar kind of rice for over four thousand years. Its inventor is said to have brought some of the new beverage to the Emperor, who, on tasting it, remarked: "This liquor will cause great trouble in the Empire." To prevent, if possible, the fulfillment of his own prophecy, he banished the inventor and forbade the manufacture, but this early attempt to nip the liquor traffic in the bud failed; the secret of the manufacture was preserved, and the Chinese are still in enjoyment of their venerable rice beer. The ruler of the Celestial Empire would seem to have had more success in the suppression of wine-drinking, several Emperors having gone to the root of the matter by ordering the extermination of the vines. The strong drink of the Japanese, known as sake, is also prepared from rice, and so is the brom of the Japanese, which is not considered ripe until it has been buried in an earthen vessel for several months in the ground. The numerous tribes of Central Africa prepare malt liquors from maize and millet, while the Kamshatkans have succeeded in extracting a spirit from one of their native grasses. Among the agricultural races, cereals were not the only materials from which alcoholic liquors were prepared; the fruits of various trees were pressed into the service. Thus, in vine-growing countries, "dull draughts of barley wine" gave place, at least among the well-to-do classes, to the more generous juice of the grape, while palm wine or tury, from which our word toddy is said to be derived, became the favorite liquor wherever the palm-tree flourished. In countries too cold for vine culture, but where honey abounded, the latter seems to have been preferred to cereals for fermenting purposes. Mead, the liquor thus produced, was the favorite drink of our Anglo-Saxon forefathers, and of the people of Northern Europe generally, and is still much used in Russia. It is possibly owing to the abundance of honey in South Africa that the drink reappears among the Hottentots, the Kafirs and the natives of Madagascar. Honey is not, however, the only natural substance from which a fermented beverage is obtained. Among the purely pastoral races, whose wealth consists wholly of their flocks and herds, milk has been turned to account for this purpose. The Mongols and the Tartars have from time immemorial prepared an alcohol drink known as koumiss from mare's milk. This is placed in bottle-necked vessels made of skins, and sour milk of the cow is added as a ferment. As fermentation sets in the contents of the skin are violently stirred, and in a few days the liquor is ready. Koumiss has long enjoyed the reputation of being a remedy for consumption, the tribes using it being, it is said, remarkably free from pulmonary diseases, and, with a view to its application medicinally for this purpose, the manufacture of the Scythian beverage has recently been started in England.

A Glass Mountain.

Another marvel recently brought to light in the Yellowstone Park of North America is nothing less than a mountain of obsidian or volcanic glass. Near the foot of the Beaver lake a band of explorers came upon this remarkable mountain, which rises in columnar cliffs and round bosses to many hundreds of feet in altitude from hissing hot springs at the margin of the lake. As it was desirable to pass that way, the party had to cut a road through the steep glassy barricade. This they effected by making huge fires on the glass to thoroughly heat and expand it, and then dashing cold water of the lake against the heated surface, so as to suddenly cool and break it up by shrinkage. Large fragments were in this way detached from the solid side of the mountain, then broke up small by sledge hammers and picks, not however, without severe lacerations of the hands and faces of the men from flying splinters. —St. Louis Journal of Commerce.

Wanted to Live in the Stars.

Very near us sat two young people. He wore the face of a man who shaved three times a day, and that white necktie had never seen the starlight before. There was pearl powder on the shoulder of his coat, and a tender, dreamy look in her lovely eyes. They sat and looked up at the stars, and they didn't care for any solitary thing any nearer to the earth. "Mortimer," she murmured softly—"Mortimer," his name appeared to be Mortimer, though I couldn't learn whether it was his front name or his after name—"Mortimer, dear," she said, "if we could only live apart from this busy and sordid, unsympathetic world, in one of yon glittering orbs of golden radiance, living apart from all else, only for each other, forgetting the base things of earthly life, the coarse greed of the world and its animal instincts, that would be our heaven, would it not, dear?"

And Mortimer, he said that it would. "There, heart of my own," he said, and his voice trembled with earnestness, "my own darling Ethel, through all the softened radiance of the day and all the shimmering tenderness of night, our lives would pass away in an exalted atmosphere, above the base-born wants of earthly mortals; and far beyond the chattering crowd that lives but for today, our lives, refined beyond the common ken."

And just then the man with the gong came out. Mortimer, he made a grab at Ethel's hand and a plunge for the cabin door. Ethel just gathered her skirts with her other hand, jumped clear over the back of her chair and after him, and away they went clattering down the cabin, upset a chair, ran into a good, sweet old Quaker lady, and banged a bad word out of her before she had time to stop it; and down the stairs they rushed, collared a couple of chairs at the nearest table, feed a waiter, and opened the action without skirring. I am a man of coarse mold and an earth-born appetite myself and I wouldn't live in a star so long as I could find a good hotel in America; but long, long before I could get seas at the table for my family, Mortimer and Ethel had eaten two bluefish, a little rare beefsteak, some corn bread, a plate of hot-cakes, two boiled eggs, and a bunch of onions, and the waiter had gone out to toast them some cheese.

Moral:—I have, during my wanderings, met several people who wanted to live in a star, where earth-born people with animal appetites couldn't trouble them, and I always found the safest place for an earth-born man, when the star-born soul started for the dinner table, was behind a large rock. Distrust the aspiring mortal who lives in a plane so elevated that he requires the use of a telescope when he wants to look down at the rest of us. And if he ever wants board at your humble table, charge him fifteen dollars a week, and feed him lots of soup or you'll lose money on him.—Burdick.

"Bress de Lord!" fervently exclaimed an old Florida woman, raising her hands in amazement, as she saw a handsomely dressed lady driving in a drag, with a colored boy on the footman's seat behind, in a Jacksonville street. "Bress de Lord! I never 'spected to see dat. Wonder what dat young cullud gemman pays dat young white 'oman for driving his keeridge? I know'd it'd come, but neber 'spected to lib to see it. Dis nigga's ready to go way now."

Chronic Constipation cured.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 4, 1879.
H. H. WARNER & Co.—Gents: For the past ten years I have suffered the evil effects of what may be termed chronic constipation; my skin became yellow and my liver out of order; I tried all the remedies that could be obtained, and that was all I could do, after finding no permanent relief from regular medicine treatment, and finally commenced using your remedies. I first tried the Pills, and at the end of one week my bowels had attained a regularity and healthy action unknown for years. I was so pleased with the effect that I concluded to try a bottle of your Bitters, and although I have not entirely used the first bottle, I am so perceptibly improved and toned up that I write you giving this voluntary testimonial to the excellence of your remedies. Yours truly, E. J. CAMPBELL.

H. H. WARNER & Co., ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Gentlemen: A lady of over 70 years of age, in failing health for over a year, has been using Warner's Safe Bitter's on my recommendation. She feels very grateful for the benefit she has derived therefrom, and says that until she used it her stomach could bear no vegetable food for over three years. I believe it to be a certain specific for dyspepsia. Warner's Safe Pills are also meeting with very good success, in all forms of Liver Complaints, Malarial Troubles, Dumb Ague, and wherever a safe and efficient cathartic is required. I cannot speak too highly of them.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. August 20, 1880. It is said, and with evident truth, that "the North must be solid for self-preservation." Perhaps a large number of Northern people don't rightly understand the full meaning of this sentence. But it expresses in few words volumes of truths and arguments why the Republican party should remain in power, and why the Southern Democracy should be held at arms length by all loyal men who have interests, commercial or industrial at stake. What interests have the South to preserve, what sympathy have they with Northern industries, Northern railroads, and Northern internal commerce; their hostility to them is well known. Can this notion of planters at the South, who manufacture nothing, who own not even the ships or railroads that transport their cotton to markets, be depended upon to foster, encourage and protect the new industries, the new sources of wealth that have grown up in the North and West during the reign of the Republican party. It is like calling up the dead to legislate for the living, a step backward in the march of progress.

The South by slavery, paralyzed the nation for 80 years, and the Republican party is the only one that dared say slavery was a blot upon the record page of history, and a stain upon our flag, and that it should not exist. And since the advent of the Republican party to power in spite of the opposite tendencies of the "solid South," the nation has advanced in material prosperity, in the arts and sciences with a speed never before witnessed in the history of the world. In the overthrow of the Democratic party and slavery, a load was removed from the nation's back, the shackles fell from the ankles of national progress and we became a new nation, a nation of freemen, and the Republican party at once became the emblem of loyalty and liberty. The North has too much at stake, and must be solid for the preservation of her interests.

It is now rumored here that there have been immense frauds committed in the taking of the census in the South, that the population in many of these States has been overcounted, and that it is but the consummation of a deep laid plot to bolster up the waning influence of that section in Congress, and in the Electoral College. Of the truth of these grave charges I am unable to judge. But it is enough that they have been made. A rigid investigation will doubtless be had, and if the people of the South are guilty of a deliberate breach of confidence with the nation the parties guilty of the crime will receive speedy and severe punishment.

The New York Herald, in speaking of the canvass, truly says: "The Republicans appear to be shaping and managing their canvass with more skill than their adversaries. Movements are executed with the precision of veterans, while the Democrats resemble an undisciplined militia." The truth of the remarks will be apparent to all between now and November.

It is ascertained that during the hard times in 1873-4 Mr. English foreclosed mortgages on over 800 pieces of real estate in Indiana. Of course it was strictly in accordance with law and nothing can be said on that point. But the Democratic party with its loud professions of friendship for the poor man, is guilty of an act of gross insincerity in placing upon its ticket an avowed enemy of the poor man, a hated aristocrat and President of a National Bank.

The trotting horse, St. Julien, and the trotting mare, Maud S., both trotted against time at Rochester on the 19th inst. Each made the extraordinary time of 2:11 1/2.

FINE OPPORTUNITY.—We have a stocked farm for sale, not far from a good local market, in Jefferson county. To those who may be seeking investments of this kind, we deem the opportunity a rare one. The farm is situated on the salt water front, in a safe and commodious bay; it comprises 133 acres of land, about 40 acres of which is fine bottom and marsh. About 32 acres are clear and under fence. Good house, barn, outbuildings, fences, &c., &c., that cost upwards of a thousand dollars. There are about 175 fruit trees of various kinds, carefully and well selected, and including apple, plum, pear, cherry, prune and other trees—some 7 years old and all in excellent condition. A fine lot of stock and tools are also for sale with the land and improvement, including 10 cows, 1 yoke of oxen, 1 horse, 8 head of young stock (half Jersey) also bees, fowls, boat, etc. The place has a cash income of $50 per year from a logging camp, besides being near a good market for butter, eggs, beef, vegetables, hay or other produce. The whole property is offered very cheap—could be bought for less than $2,000—and possession will be given immediately if desired. The owner, on account of failing health, desires to engage in some lighter occupation. For particulars, enquire at the ARGUS office.

PROCLAMATION.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effective remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and efficient treatment. AYER'S PILLS are especially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effective cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these Pills are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.
