DIED

In Oulente, W. T., August 29, 1880, at 11:30
A. M. FLORENCE, aged 5 years and 30 days, daughter of Sam. C. and F. L. Davis.

She was a sweet and modest child—advanced in life more than years—beloved by all who knew her. When her father had built a fire Sabbath morning, she rose, dressed herself, came out and met her father with a kiss. Was in usual health. A beautiful singer, voice clear as the birds'. Ate a hearty breakfast, all got ready for Sabbath School. She anticipated a happy day. Being ready Willie and Florence started a little in advance of their parents, who would overtake them in a few minutes.

Mr. M. D. Pullen met them 20 rods from the house, pleasant greetings were exchanged, then he rode to the house and was met by Mr. and Mrs.
Davis. A moment later a scream from Willie, "My little sister has fell and can't get up, come quick, I can't tell what is the matter!" Every effort was made to revive her—not despairing till 5 o'clock p. m. It is evident death was instantaneous. Willie tells us they heard cow bells, Florence said "let's go back, no, let's go on, they wont hurt."
She fell. He said "jump up your clothes will get dirty." He tried to assist her to arise, wiped the dust from her face, saw she did not recognize him, which so frightened him that he screamed and ran toward the house. The children were not at any time out of sight. We sympathize with the bereaved parents, they are nearly distracted. The blow is severely felt. We miss her, O! so much.
We hear a sweet voice saying, "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." "Asleep in Jesus, O! how sweet." Episcopal church service was read at 3 p. m. on the 31st.
A. J. SMITH.

There died at Vancouver Barracks
last week probably the oldest soldier in the regular army, James Oliver, Ordnance Sergeant. He entered the service in 1835, served through the Florida and Black Hawk Indian wars, and through the Mexican war. He has been stationed at Vancouver since 1850.

During the past fiscal year our Government paid in pensions to old soldiers and sailors and widows and orphans $56,777,174, besides giving them hundreds of thousands of acres of land. The generosity of the Government to its pensioners is unequalled in the history of the world.

The newspaper business must surely be profitable in Eastern Washington. Mr. C. B. Hopkins, proprietor of the Palouse "Gazette," started his paper about four years ago, and now he is getting a power press and steam engine. Success to you, Charlie.

Chinese wood choppers near Portland have struck for higher wages, and white men are supplanting them in the business. Formerly they cut wood for 65 cents per cord; then they raised to 75 cents, and now demand $1.

RAPID RAILROAD BUILDING.—On the 22d of August the builders of the Southern Pacific Railroad had successfully surmounted all the obstacles met in the Dragoon Mountains, and on the 25th commenced a lively race for El Paso, over 200 miles from the end of the track, which it is intended to reach in 100 working days, or possibly a few days over. On the 24th inst there were 12,200 feet of steel rails laid; on the 25th 11,600; on the 26th 12,800, over two miles, and the greatest distance ever laid in one day by the Southern Pacific; and on the 27th 12,000 feet.
At this rate the company will reach El Paso by Christmas. The road is now completed and in running order 111½ miles from Tucson, or 65½ miles from Benson. It is now 24½ miles from the boundary line of New Mexico, which will be reached in 12 days. Since January 26, 1880, the company has built and put into complete and first class running order 175½ miles of steel rails.

Capt. Habersham, U. S. Engineer Officer, has made an examination of the St. Ilaguamish, Nootsack, Skagit and Snohomish rivers, on Puget Sound, for the purpose of ascertaining the nature and amount of obstructions in these streams, and estimating the cost of their removal. The report, when completed, will be forwarded to the department at Washington and presented to Congress for action.

Logging on the Skagit River is looming up as a very important industry.
There are a half dozen or more camps,
one of which, that of Jackson and LeBallister, turned out recently 207,000 feet of saw logs in five and a half days, with a gang of thirteen men. It is said that this beats anything of the kind yet on record of logging on Puget Sound.

FINE OPPORTUNITY.—We have a stocked farm for sale, not far from a good local market, in Jefferson county.
To those who may be seeking investments of this kind, we deem the opportunity a rare one. The farm is situated on the salt water front, in a safe and commodious bay; it comprises 133 acres of land, about 40 acres of which is fine bottom and marsh. About 32 acres are clear and under fence.
Good house, barn, outbuildings, fences, &c., &c., that cost upwards of a thousand dollars. There are about 175 fruit trees of various kinds, carefully and well selected, and including apple, plum, pear, cherry, prune and other trees—some 7 years old and all in excellent condition. A fine lot of stock and tools are also for sale with the land and improvement, including 10 cows, 1 yoke of oxen, 1 horse, 8 head of young stock (half Jersey) also bees, fowls, boat, etc. The place has a cash income of $50 per year from a logging camp, besides being near a good market for butter, eggs, beef, vegetables, hay or other produce.
The whole property is offered very cheap—could be bought for less than $2,000—and possession will be given immediately if desired. The owner, on account of failing health, desires to engage in some lighter occupation.
For particulars, enquire at the ARGUS office.

Mr. Korter has made a nice improvement in his barber-shop. We venture to say that he has a shop as neatly fitted up as any on the Sound.
He has also fitted up a bathroom for salt and fresh water baths. He has done his best to have one of the finest shops, and is master of his profession.

EASTERN STATES.

Boiler Explosion.

OMAHA, Sept. 5.—The boiler at Metz Bros' brewery exploded early this morning and the report shook the entire city. The brick wall of the brewery was blown to pieces and the bricks were sent flying for blocks, tearing through houses and doing a great amount of damage. Fragments of the boiler and pieces of flues were hurled to the distance of a quarter of a mile, narrowly escaping dwelling houses. The confusion was terrible, and many of the people imagined that the end of time had come at last. The night watchman, Fritz Grieb, was the only person injured. He was completely buried under the bricks; he had one leg broken and received several ugly cuts and bruises.

Jealousy and Intrigue.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The opposition to Captain Howgate's promotion is deep and pronounced. Jealousy and intrigue are destroying the morals of the officers, among whom are men who will resort to almost any measure to accomplish their purpose. This pronounced feeling against the advancement of Captain Howgate springs from selfish motives, and if all that is said is true, no end of embarrassments are threatened.

A Thrilling Account of the Loss of the Vera Cruz.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The New York Herald is publishing a thrilling account of the loss of the Vera Cruz, written by Mr. Owens, one of the survivors and companions of Gen. Torbert. The following is a synopsis: At one o'clock P. M. on Saturday, the 28th day of August, the captain predicted a hurricane from the rapid fall of the barometer. The heavy freight was nearly all thrown overboard in anticipation of the coming storm. The cyclone first struck the steamer about 35 minutes afterwards, the wind being in a northeasterly direction. So great was the force and velocity of the wind that walking on deck became a dangerous matter. During the evening three skylights in the main saloon were carried away, and the water which swept the decks came pouring down into the cabin, washing out the state rooms with such a violent rush of waters as to nearly drown many of the now frightened inmates. General Torbert was thrown violently against a table and was severely cut on the right cheek. By midnight the passengers generally were sitting or lying upon the floor of the main saloon, conversing and assisting each other; good cheer was the rule and many exchanges of wit and humor were indulged in. At 2 o'clock A. M., Sunday, a heavy sea extinguished all the fires, stopping the engines. The donkey engine was after considerable trouble started and set going until

THE SHIP SANK.

The captain sent word to the passengers that they must assist the crew or the ship would go to the bottom. They complied immediately, but all their work was of no use; for the

SEA KEPT BREAKING OVER

and filling the vessel. No excitement prevailed; even the children were wonderfully quiet and reasonable.

LIFE PRESERVERS

Were arranged and each passenger assumed some of the greatest composure.

GENERAL TORBERT

Appeared like a sunbeam, laughing and joking with every one at the same time rendering efficient service to all, and all who needed it. The storm became most terrific. The sea was lashed into fury and such waves and rain as was then witnessed is indescribable.

AT 12 MINUTES PAST FOUR.

Sunday morning, the sea broke into the engine room, then crashed into the saloon with a noise like that of a battery of artillery. The water was knee deep on the floor and the passengers feeling assured that all hope was at an end proceeded to bid

EACH OTHER FAREWELL.

Never before under such circumstances did passengers behave with such coolness. No excitement, no selfish outbursts of lamentation, but with a quiet determination, as if one spirit animated all, they bade

EACH OTHER FAREWELL.

and boldly faced the inevitable. Parris, the first officer, and the second mate, with one or two of the crew, took to a boat, but they

WERE ALL KILLED.

before they could be got free. Quartermaster O'Neil and a sailor stood at the wheel until the ship sank at 6 o'clock in the morning. The ship broke in the middle. The waves rose in their fury to a height of 50 feet; they were not in swells or ridges, but in sharp peaks like sugar loaves. When we went up one it was not to go down on the other side, but to be

TURNUED OVER ON THE TOP

and sent rolling through the air to the opposite one. The wind was so terrific that when a plank raft or trunk reached the top of a wave it was hurled through the air with terrible force among the living and the dying. Owen says he passed none who were not bleeding from wounds thus inflicted.

California Wines.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—In commenting upon the partial failure of French and Rhine wines, the Herald says: Californians ought to be able to sell a large part of their wine crops to the Germans this year and to the French for some years to come. Wines of California are so cheap and pure that they have been used in increasing quantities in European countries to give body to the wines of those countries. It is a notable fact that the cheaper French wines are sold here now at little if any higher rates than when the French product was nearly three times what it is now. California wines are valued by wine "manufacturers" in Hamburg, and other places abroad for their "mixing" qualities, and this process which usefully ameliorates them, is much better understood in European countries than here. We already feed Europe. It seems that we shall be presently called on to supply drink as well as food.

Mail Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—An arrangement has been made by Postmaster James with the Trans-Pacific steamship line to change their hour of sailing from 12 noon to 2 P. M., for the receipt of mails from the East, arriving at San Francisco on the day of sailing. The object of the change is to give for the transfer of mails for China, Japan, Australia and other countries on the Pacific. The change is a very desirable one.

Vermont Elections.

RUTLAND, Sept. 8.—Rutland gives Farnham 1,377; Phelps, 1,148; Hoar, 26, a net Republican gain over 1876 of 24, over 1878 of 354. Returns from 71 towns, about one-third of the State, show a Republican gain over 1876 of 4,067. This ratethrough the State will give over 23,950 majority in the State.

BELLOWS FALLS, Sept. 8.—In Rockingham, owing to a split in the Republican ticket, the Democrats elected their representative, Chas. Smith. Votes for governor, Farnham, 44; Phelps, 35; for Congress, Tyler, 49; Campbell, 344.

BURLINGTON, Sept. 8.—One hundred and fifty towns heard from give the Republicans a majority of 17,000. On this basis the Republican majority over all will be 22,500, and their plurality about 27,000. The Legislature will have but one Democratic Senator. The House will be overwhelmingly Republican.

Farming District Burned.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A special dispatch from Toronto to the Chicago Tribune says that a fire in the province of Quebec destroyed whole fields of corn; the stalks were roasted and potatoes were burned in the ground. All the crops were ruined. One hundred and twenty-five families were left entirely homeless. The burned district is about ten miles square. The whole is burned down some five inches. The soil district is a smoking wilderness. Nothing but stumps mark the once thriving farming district. The loss is estimated at $350,000. The cause of this destructive fire was through one of the farmers burning off the wheat stubble.

Shooting at Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE, Sept. 8.—Capt. R. T. Smith and Dr. E. C. Snedaker who have been having some difficulty about a woman, met today in a car bound South. On seeing Smith Snedaker drew a pistol and shot him. Smith fell apparently dead. An officer who happened to be present, seized Snedaker and was taking him away when Smith struggled to his knees and fired twice at the doctor, both shots proved effective and he fell dead. Smith cannot live.

Heavy Gale.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 9.—A northeast gale has been sweeping the coast at the rate of 60 miles an hour for the last 12 hours. It is said by all that it is the severest gale that has visited the place since 1854. It has been very destructive along the shore.

Shooting at Leadville.

LEADVILLE, Sept. 9.—Richard Stephenson was shot and killed by Thomas Morgan at 3 o'clock this morning. Jealousy is the cause of the tragedy.

Tobacco Crop a Partial Failure.

PETERSBURG, Va., Sept. 9.—Reports from a number of counties are to the effect that the recent rains have caused much damage to the tobacco crop. The tobacco worms very early in the season began the destruction which the heavy rains of late have completed.

Shot and Killed.

COFFEYVILLE, Miss., Sept. 9.—To-day John Adams shot and killed City Marshal Jim Robinson, of Water Valley. John Adams is a conductor on the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans Railroad. The difficulty resulted through a dispute about a cow. Robinson was the aggressor.

Strike of Tunnel Workmen.

The Hudson River Tunnel workmen refuse to longer labor unless their wages is advanced from $1 50 and $1 75 per day to $2 50 and $3 00. Colonel Haskins refused to accede to their demands, so he had the strikers all paid off and discharged. He will endeavor to procure experienced Pennsylvania miners instead to prosecute the work.

Elevator Burned.

On the Hudson river a large floating elevator was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning.

Tanner's Debut as a Lecturer.

Dr. Tanner, the celebrated faster, made his debut as a lecturer last evening, at Booth's theatre. He read from manuscript. The audience was larger than expected in consequence of the unpleasant weather prevailing. His concluding remarks aimed were with a desire to convince the public that it should rely upon the recuperative powers of the system and of nature and not upon burnt toads, mercury, arsenic and other such death dealing medicines. People were too easily persuaded to pour down medicines for every ill when not the slightest occasion for their use existed.

More of the Smith Snedaker Shooting Affair.

SALT LAKE, Sept. 10.—R. T. Smith died last night. The unfortunate man was engaged to Miss Agnes Davidson, not as reported to her sister. Her father says that when Smith proposed for her hand, that he told him that she was unfit to marry, and explained to him how Dr. Snedaker had drugged and outraged her. Smith told her brother that he would avenge his sister's dishonor. Smith also told Dr. Snedaker to leave the country or he would kill him. The next time they met was at the depot, when the shooting took place. Snedaker's friends say there was nothing improper existing between him and Miss Davidson. The young lady is nearly demented at the tragedy. Smith, before he died, made his will and bequeathed all his property to Mr. Davidson, the unhappy girl's father.

The young man who propels a fruit store next door was startled the other day by an old lady, who, as she gazed at a fine string of bananas, meekly inquired, "What kind of sassage is them?"

FOREIGN NEWS.

More About the Bridge Disaster.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The Herald's special from Madrid says that the Lagrono bridge catastrophe, one captain, six lieutenants, four ensigns, one lieutenant engineer and ninety-eight privates, half of the battalion, are known to have perished, the others occupied on pontoons supported on rafts. The catastrophe began on the raft in the middle of the river where the men became alarmed and capsized it. The bodies were laid two in a grave.

Secret Memorandum.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—It is reported that Abuddin Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, has drawn up a secret memorandum for the Sultan, recommending a fresh plan to impose upon Europe, and warning the Sultan of the danger to himself, to the dynasty and to the empire of any concessions to the powers.

Amnesty Asked For.

ROME, Sept. 7.—An amnesty, for the four Polish priests who were banished to Siberia by the Russian Government, has been asked for by the Vatican. General Melikoff has promised to consider the subject, and if worthy of consideration lay it before the Emperor.

Risa Pasha.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—The Porte has been invited by the Powers to order Risa Pasha with his troops to co-operate with the combined squadron.

Finally Settled.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—A final settlement of all differences between Russia and China has been arrived at and a new treaty will be signed at Peking. It is reported that the new treaty will give Russia a choice slice of Kuldja and other advantages along the Amoor.

A Murderer Guillotined.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—At daybreak to-day Louis Menesclon was guillotined for the murder of Louis Deux. According to custom the wretched man was kept in ignorance of the time fixed for his execution until within a few moments before. The unusually beautiful supper might have aroused his suspicions, but it did not, however. He went to sleep at midnight, and the jailers awoke him just before daybreak. A priest was admitted to his cell and the divine remained with him for 10 minutes, then the governor, executioner and an assistant entered. Menesclon's agony and fear were terrible, and it was with difficulty that the executioner and his assistant made the preliminary toilet of cutting his hair off short, as well as removing his shirt collar, and binding his hands together. This trying operation performed, Menesclon was hurried through the corridor to a door opening on the square, where the guillotine was ready. The scene was terribly sombre. The sun was obscured by dense clouds the moment the prison door opened. A violent storm with thunder and lightning burst over the dreadful scene. The condemned man was overcome with terror and sank almost to the ground. The assistants were compelled to drag him to the guillotine which was but a few paces away. He was finally placed in position and the fatal knife descended and the unfortunate man's head was separated from his body and fell into the receptacle. Taking it all in all, it was one of the most shocking executions ever witnessed.

For Trial and Judgment.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—The trial of the murderers of the American missionary, Dr. Parsons, were brought here to-day for trial and judgment. Mr. Resp. U. S. Consul general, has been promised by the Sultan every satisfaction.

England and France.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The controversies between England and France respecting French encroachments on the coast of Africa are still more complicated by some high handed action of the French Commandant on the Melliorse river. These proceedings are probably intended to induce England to cede Gambia to France.

The Alberg Tunnel.

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—On the Austrian side of the mountain the work of boring the Alberg tunnel has begun, and operations will shortly begin on the Swiss side.

Coal Pit Explosion.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—A colliery explosion occurred at 2 o'clock this morning at the Seaham pit in Durham county on the North Sea. Two hundred and fifty men were in the pit at the time of the terrible explosion. For several hours all communication with the unfortunate men was cut off, but at last a way was opened to communicate with 18 men, who are safe. The wives and families of the imprisoned and slaughtered miners surround the mouth of the pit, and their cries of agony and lamentations are most heart-rending. The guiding marks in the pit have been blown away, and exploration is found difficult in consequence. The workmen have hopes of being able to clear a way into the shaft before morning. No sign of fire so far, but a great accumulation of gas. One hundred and fifty men are still in the pit.

A later dispatch says that there are 66 men taken out alive and 230 still in the pit. It is thought that the explosion originated in the lower seam, and the gas was driven over the furnace. The stables caught fire and retarded the work of the explorers. A store room has been cleared for the reception of the corpses. Accounts vary. The last despatch says: "Fifty-nine men have been rescued. It is probable that the dead will number 130 or 140. The air is so foul in the lower pit that it is thought all must have been suffocated."

More Diplomacy.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Baron Von Haymerle's visit to Bismarck was merely an exchanging of friendly assurances, and not for discussion of any question of striking importance.

It is reported here that the agreement between Bismarck and Baron Von Haymerle is intended to lead to an alliance between Germany, Austria and Roumania. The latter to be raised to the rank of a Kingdom, and its integrity and independence to be guaranteed by Germany and Austria, thus blocking Russia's route to the Balkan peninsula.

Reports from Candahar.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—General Roberts telegraphs from Candahar September 7th: Careful inquiry shows that the enemy lost very seriously on the 1st inst. This was expected as they made a determined stand when our troops were quite close. A column will start shortly to bury the dead at Kushki Nakird and openly search for supplies. Gen. Phayre arrived at Candahar, on the 6th inst. His horse artillery and cavalry are encamped 12 miles south of Candahar, where supplies and forage are ample. The weather is hot, but the wounded are doing well and the troops healthy.

Hard-rovers Arrived.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 10.—The murderers of the Missionary, Rev. Mr. Parsons, has arrived. They will have a speedy trial.

PACIFIC COAST.

Two Republican Papers Turn Democratic.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 6.—The Times and also the Herald, both heretofore Republican papers, have been consolidated and are now issued as the Santa Ana Herald, with Democratic principles.

Large Fish Hooked.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 7.—On Sunday a person named Collins, while fishing off the wharf, hooked a Jew fish, weighing 500 pounds. The fish pulled Collins off the wharf into the water, and he would have been drowned had it not been for a sailor, who came to his rescue.

Dropped Dead in a Saloon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Louis Terriero, a cook, aged 40 years, dropped dead in a saloon on Third street this afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is supposed that he poisoned himself. He resided for a long time with his wife in Eureka, Humboldt county. It is said they lived very unhappily together and that he came to this city to escape matrimonial differences.

Fell Dead.

LANCASTER, Sept. 9.—On Tuesday night William Arnold, murderer of Robert Boyle, fell dead to-day while in the custody of the jailor.

President Hayes and Party.

LAKE TAHOE, Sept. 9.—President Hayes in his trip from Carson City to Lake Tahoe expressed himself highly pleased with all he saw, particularly so of the shipment of the largest sized logs to be obtained down the extensive flumes of the Carson and Lake Tahoe Lumber Co.

The Chinese Steamship.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The Chinese steamship Ho Chung, took out sixty tons of flour, dried fish and other merchandise, all shipped by Chinese traders in this city. There were no passengers taken because the agent says that she can obtain all she wants from Honolulu to China at $63, which is more profitable than to fill cabins here.

A Bonanza in Water.

CALISTOGA, Sept. 10.—There is much excitement over the extraction of gold from the mineral springs; $14 35 was extracted from five and a half gallons of mineral water. Two weeks ago a man named Tichnor with his family took rooms at the Springs Hotel and proposed to buy the property. A sale was made for $9,000. It was soon discovered that Tichnor was master of a process for extracting the gold from water. His process is patented.

Advice to a Young Man.

My son, if you do a mean thing, if you are guilty of a small, spiteful action, if you wreak some paltry, shabby vengeance on your neighbor, if you do anything supremely little and cowardly and hateful, and still hold up your head and want to be respected by the world, just lay this flattering unction to your soul—you are the only man deceived; no one is fooled save yourself. If you are mean, everybody knows it—the rest of mankind as well as yourself.

Your neighbors may not—it is more than likely they will not—tell you of it. They will not express their honest opinions on the subject to your face, but when you lie down at night and blush over your meanness by yourself, in the dark, don't you add foolishness to your wickedness by hugging to yourself the flattering delusion that nobody knows it. They all know it, and they all talk about it.

Don't you know every mean thing your neighbors do? Don't they all tell you all the mean things they know about each other? And do you suppose they don't know all your littlenesses, if you have any, just as well? My dear boy, you must know that this shrewd old world is too sharp for any of us, and that you can't fool it. It will hold you at your own estimate of yourself; not your publicly expressed estimate maybe, but at your own private, honest estimate; the estimate you hold yourself at when you have turned out the light and crept into bed, and know that there is just one Being in all the universe that is searching your heart as closely and far more honestly and purely than you can. And so, if you want the world to think you really honest and manly and noble, my son, you have got to be honest and manly and noble. Otherwise, I don't care what it says it thinks of you.

Be honest with yourself, my boy, so that when the day is done and the blessing of the night falls upon you, you can shake yourself by the hand and say: "Old boy, you have made a fearful mess of it to-day; you have stumbled and faltered; you have blotted the record, you have just bristled with faults, but you did it all in honesty, in human ignorance and willfulness, and you haven't lied to anybody, and when you go out on the street, no man's accusing glances can make your eyes drop."

APPLE CUSTARD PIE.—Two eggs, four or five apples, grated; a little nutmeg, sweeten to taste; one-half pint of new milk or cream; pour into pastry.

The Pin Machine.

There are few pieces of machinery more wonderful or human in their operation than the machine that makes the pins. A coil of wire is put in at one end, and comes out at the other a mass of polished pins. The operation is thus described:

A small machine, about the size and height of a lady's sewing machine, only stronger, stands before you. On the back side a long belt descends from the long shaft at the ceiling, that drives all the machines ranged in rows on the floor. On the left side of our machine hangs on a peg a small reel of wire that has been straightened by running through a compound system of small rollers. This wire descends, and the end enters the machine. It pulls it in and bites off by inches, incessantly, 140 times a minute. Just as it swings each bite, a little hammer with a concave face hits the end of the wire three taps, and "upsets" it to a head while it grips it in a counter-sunk hole between its teeth. With an outward thrust of its tongue it then lays the pin sideways in a little groove across the rim of a small wheel that slowly revolves just under its nose. By the external pressure of a stationary hoop these pins roll in their places as they are carried under two series of small files, three in each. These files grow finer toward the end of the series. They lie at a slight inclination on the points of the pin, and, by a series of cams, levers and springs, are made to play like lightning. Thus the pins are pointed and dropped in a little shower into a box.

Twenty-eight pounds of pins is a day's work for one of these jerking little automatons. These are then polished. Two very intelligent machines reject every crooked pin, even the slightest irregularity of form being detected. Another automaton assort's half a dozen lengths in as many different boxes, at once and unerringly, when a careless operator has mixed the contents of boxes from various machines. Lastly, a perfect genius of a machine hangs the pins by the head, in an inclined platform through as many "slots" as there are pins in a row on the papers. These slots converge into the exact space, spanning the length of a row. Under them runs the strip of pin paper. A handle part of the machine catches one pin from each of the slots as it falls, and by one movement sticks them all through two corrugated ridges in the paper, from which they are to be picked by taper fingers in boudoirs and all sorts of human fineries in all sorts of human circumstances.

The Inventors.

The latest wrinkle in gasometers is the patent of a Norfolk man, a price-indicator, showing in dollars and cents the amount due for gas.

An automatic railroad switch-signal has been patented by a Hartford hotel clerk. It shows danger when a switch is displaced, and will not right itself until the last of the indefinite number of switches to which it may be attached has been properly placed.

Clocks can now be made self-winding, that is, electric clocks of the Copenhagen variety. Louis Senderberg, the Dane in charge of them, applies to them a mechanical contrivance which periodically cuts off the stream of electric fluid from the battery, and brings an electromagnet to bear upon the relaxing main-spring in such a way as to renew its tension instantaneously.

A young New Yorker has patented what he calls water-skates. The skate is an air vessel made of zinc and hermetically sealed; is about five feet in length, 10 inches broad and 5 inches deep, with vertical sides, and tapers off fore and aft, or at the toe and heel, like a steamboat. On the deck or upper surface there is a socket into which the foot is set, the opening being guarded by a rim of metal to keep the water from washing into the socket. The bottom is fitted with a double gang of automatic paddles, one gang forward and aft, with five blades in each gang. The blades are set on swivels in a frame 10 inches square, that hangs vertically from the bottom of the skate. As the skate is pushed forward through the water, the blades are opened and offer no resistance, but when the foot rests so as to begin a forward movement with the other foot, the pressure backward closes the blades and gives a purchase on the water that materially aids in propulsion. Each skate weighs about eight pounds, but in the water, owing to its buoyancy, it has no perceptible weight on the foot. The other day the inventor walked across the surface of the Harlem river on them, the movement being a sort of gliding step, in which the skates are not lifted out of the water.

PUGET SOUND ARGUS.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF JEFFERSON CO

FRIDAY, SEPT. 17, 1880.

FOR PRESIDENT,

JAMES A. GARFIELD,

Of Ohio.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

CHESTER A. ARTHUR,

Of New York.

TERRITORIAL TICKET.

DELEGATE TO CONGRESS:

HON. THOMAS H. BRENTS,
Of Walla Walla.

Brigadier General—G. W. Tibbets, of King Co. Adjutant General—M. R. Hatlaway, of Clark Co. Quartermaster General—R. G. O'Brien, of Thurston Co. Commissary General—A. K. Bush, of Pacific Co.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION: First Judicial District—T. C. Frary, of Columbia Co. Second Judicial District—C. A. Reed, of Pacific Co. Third Judicial District—J. W. Young, of King Co.

Prosecuting Attorney, Third Judicial District—HON. IRVING BALLARD, Of King Co.

Joint Councilman, for Jefferson, Island, Clallam, Kitsap and Mason Counties—S. W. Hovey, of Kitsap.

Joint Representative, for Jefferson, Mason and Clallam Counties—D. W. Moor, of Jefferson.

THE NOMINEES.—Hon. Thos. Burke, of Seattle, has been nominated for Delegate to Congress, by the Democrats of this Territory. Mr. Burke's main recommendation is that he is a very pleasant gentleman, socially, and that he represents the party that is outside the crib trying to get in. His local popularity will enable him to poll a good sized vote on Puget Sound, considering; but the way he will get snowed in East of the mountains! Oh, my! Don't mention it. The Democrats feel bad enough about it already. Brents will take care of eastern Washington in good shape. Mr. Burke is an estimable young man, but he has walked right into the identical blunder made by nearly every promising young Democratic aspirant heretofore, that of rushing into the field too soon. Poor innocent lamb! It's a pity to slaughter him, but he would get in the way. He'll need all the bluster and show that can be made. Maybe it will be a consolation to him after he is politically defeated.

The recent State election in Maine was a very close contest. The first news indicated that the Fusionists had carried the State, and Democrats were correspondingly jubilant; but later returns indicate that the Republicans will elect their ticket by a small majority. The two candidates for Governor, Davis, Republican, and Plaisted, Fusionist, will however, have a very close run. We expect to hear of Davis' election by a small majority.

Hon. Thomas H. Brents was elected two years ago, receiving 6,974 votes against 5,673 votes cast for Hon. N. T. Cason. Thirteen hundred is a pretty big majority to "tackle," Mr. Burke, and "don't you forget it."

It is a noticeable fact that the most popular candidates for office, at the Democratic convention last week, were the ones against whom the most stubborn resistance was made.

Governor Newell has notified the Olympia Board of Trade that he expects soon to arrive in this Territory and assume the duties of his office.

COMPLIMENTARY.—Dr. T. T. Minor, of this place, delivered an address before the Garfield and Arthur Club at Portland, on Tuesday evening. The "Oregonian" refers to it in most complimentary terms, and says that the Doctor was escorted to the place of meeting by a procession numbering over 400; that the address lasted about an hour; that it was frequently interrupted by applause; and more than all that it was one of the most effective and telling speeches of the campaign, rousing immense enthusiasm. Dr. Minor is a member of the National Republican Committee, is Mayor of Port Townsend, President of the Puget Sound Telegraph Company, Health Officer for Puget Sound, and holds numerous other positions of greater or less importance.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.—Judge Thos. Burke, of Seattle, the Democratic nominee for Delegate to Congress, will deliver a public lecture at the Good Templars' Hall, to-morrow evening, under the auspices of the Alki Debating Society, of this place. The society desires to establish a free reading room in Port Townsend, and, to this end will charge a small admission fee to the lecture, 25 cents. This is thought very reasonable, considering the talent of the speaker, and the laudable object in view. A large audience is expected to be in attendance, so that desirable seats will probably be obtained only by going early. Remember, at Good Templars' Hall. Doors open at 7:30. Lecture to commence at 8, sharp.

We are prepared to take orders for the "Complete Home," a large, 600-page volume, containing numerous illustrations, and made up of some of the most useful and practical articles ever written. It is an invaluable treasure for the household, and all purchasers are pleased with it. The "Complete Home," by Mrs. Julia McNair Wright. Price, in cloth, $3.00; full gilt, $3.75. Specimen book for canvassing may be seen at this office.

Mr. Richard Delanty, who was in town a few days since, carries on a large logging camp in the Pyscht river valley. Recently he was unfortunate enough to lose two sections of a large boom that was being towed from Port Discovery. The breaking of a chain caused the damage. This is the first loss of logs from Pyscht, we believe.

Last week while Mr. Robert Caines, and his family, of Shaw's island, were temporarily absent, their house was broken into by a party of British Columbia Indians and every stitch of clothing belonging to them was stolen, the Indians getting off safely with their plunder before the theft was discovered.

Capt. R. W. deLion, of this place, recently met with a serious accident. While out hunting, he fell and broke one of his legs just above the ankle joint. The wound is a painful and dangerous one, and will confine the patient to his bed for some time.

Mr. John Alexander, of Coupeville, one of the Republican nominees for Joint Councilman in this district, last election, is out on the Republican ticket this year for Joint Representative from Island, Snohomish and San Juan counties.

Capt. W. A. Inman, formerly of this place, has been nominated for Probate Judge of Whitman county, by the Republicans over there.

Miss Eva Cosper, who has been teaching school at Laconner several months, returned home a few days ago.

The Democrats in this city ratified the nomination of Judge Burke, last evening, by a public meeting.

Do not forget to call at Mr. Holcomb's and see the fine, attractive goods he has on hand.

EDITORIAL RAMBLINGS.

A few days ago we obtained command of a foaming steed, took up our position on the hurricane deck steamed away up through the Chimacum valley. The farmers there were found to be pretty busy with their crops. Their hay crops, however, had all been safely housed long ago, and, as their grain is unusually late in ripening, they were not rushed beyond endurance.

"On to Ludlow" being the cry, we put in our best licks and reached that point late in the afternoon, without bursting our boiler. Here we found the shipyard of the Hall Bros. a scene of activity. Two vessels on the stocks were approaching completion; one of them, a handsome pilot schooner, is nearly ready to launch—the other, a beautiful pleasure yacht, showed its comely dimensions to good advantage. The keel of a third vessel, a barkentine, 140 feet long had already been laid, and, altogether, the place wore a business like aspect. Under the kind guidance of Mr. R. D. Attridge we inspected the mill building, truly an immense structure, indicating that the new business will be on a mammoth scale. Just think of 300,000 feet of lumber in a day! The Puget Mill Company will here realize the proud boast of having the largest sawmill in the world. The work of putting in foundation, building wharves, &c., goes on slowly. In the shipyard we saw a curious, labor-saving machine at work, a band saw that is used in cutting ship timbers of all conceivable shapes. The Hall Brothers are building up a business here that is truly remarkable.

Returning, we had an opportunity of visiting the famous iron mine works at the head of Port Townsend Bay. Here, the company incorporated for the purpose of prosecuting the smelting industry have commenced the outlay of large sums of money. Already their large wharf, smelting furnace nearly completed, spacious buildings, roads, &c. &c, afford ample evidence of a business undertaking the magnitude of which is just beginning to be realized. It is proposed to smelt the Chimacum bog ore together with that from the famous iron mountain in British Columbia where the company have also obtained a footing. We expect to see the industry build up a thriving town at the head of Port Townsend bay.

NEW GOODS.—Mr. Holcomb has just received, from San Francisco, a fine lot of candies, stationery, notions, pictures and picture frames, toilet soaps, &c. He also receives by every steamer all kinds of California fruits. Call on him and sample his wares for yourselves.

The bountiful harvest in both this country and Europe will no doubt cause wheat to rule very low this season, but this will not lessen the demand for the Oregon Kidney Tea, as every man or woman who has a backache or any trouble with the kidneys or urinary organs, will try this well known remedy even if wheat should be only 50c per bushel. Sold by all Druggists.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF PORT TOWNSEND.

BRIEF LOCAL ITEMS.

COURT week.
Lots of strangers in town.
PHEW! Have you seen Hammond's wagons?

Do not forget Mr. Burke's lecture tomorrow evening.

HEAVY rains this week dampen the ardor of harvesters.

Rev. Mr. Cospier will preach in Dungeness next Sunday.

Mr. C. F. Clapp, of Dungeness, went up the Sound this week.

Dr. Gassaway and wife will take their departure, we understand, on the Dakotas.

The Republican county convention will be held in this city tomorrow evening.

JUDGE Greene will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning D. V. at the usual hour.

THE Phantom, running in place of the Dispatch, brought up a lot of passengers from Dungeness this week.

ON Tuesday we received a pleasant call from G. Sohnecké, traveling agent and correspondent of the S. F. "Wasp."

Mr. Landes announces to the public that all those who have county scrip to dispose of can find a purchaser by calling on him.

Miss Julia Weir will teach the unexpired term of school at Port Discovery, recently given up by Mr. Collins on account of the sickness of the latter.

Among those going to San Francisco this week are Mr. D. H. Hill and Miss Kate Hill, of this place. They go for a pleasant visit with relatives in the bay state.

THE Democrats of Jefferson county have anticipated the election of some Republican candidates for office, and have nominated them in advance on the bourbon ticket.

BOOMING.—It is presumed that the new hotel at Irondale will be booming—yes BOOMING, whatever that is, in a few days. Mr. Dyer returned from San Francisco this week, bringing up the furniture, &c., so that all is ready for a lively start.

We received an invitation to attend the Episcopal entertainment given on Wednesday evening. Court week, and stirring business combined to defraud us of the enjoyment involved in participation, but our best wishes went all the same.

THE hack and dray business in Port Townsend is hardly in danger of a collapse to any considerable extent, judging from the fine vehicles brought up from Frisco this week by Mr. T. M. Hammond. This gentleman "means business," no doubt, hence we say "clear the track," or words to that effect.

AMONG the attorneys attending court this week, we notice Messrs. Struve, Jacobs, McNaught, Burke, Hanford and Haines, all of Seattle. These, with Messrs. Bradshaw, Haller, Smith, Blanchard and Kuhn, of this place, are enough to run a good sized court by themselves. The officers of the court, Judge Greene, Marshal Hopkins, U. S. Attorney Allen and Prosecuting Attorney Ballard, are all in a tendance.

"WELL, how do you like the Maine vote?" This is what the Democrats ask nowadays. But then the Maine vote has nothing to do with the Firemen's Ball this evening. The firemen still owe a balance on their hose, and they want to pay it up. They have accomplished wonders and made personal sacrifices in order to provide the city with a complete outfit of fire extinguishing apparatus—and now the people ought to help them out, especially as they can have a little enjoyment at the same time.

"LAST week, Bro. Weir of the ARGUS mounted his snow white charger and took a cruise up to Chimacum and Ludlow trying to secure delegates who would support him for the office of Probate Judge, but he found that D. W. Smith had been over the same ground and secured the delegates for himself, so he returned a sadder if not wiser man."—"Democratic Press," of the 9th inst.

Our trip to Chimacum and Ludlow had nothing in the world to do with the nomination for Probate Judge, hence the conclusion is that Frank Myers is just spitting on his hands and starting in for the most vigorous lying campaign ever recorded. For the first ground hop he has discounted everything in the country, and he bids fair to make old Ananias ashamed of himself before he gets through with the business. Sick em, Frank! You don't hurt anybody, and your practice will qualify you for a post of prominence in the Sazerac club.

EVERYBODY is gratified by the information that Hon. Irving Ballard has been re-nominated for Prosecuting Attorney in this district. The Seattle "Dispatch" man tried to cover Mr. Ballard with mud on account of his action in the Hill case at Seattle recently; but the legal opinions of competent jurists, and the citations of law brought to bear upon the subject, showed that he knew what he was about. In addition to this, Judge Greene's published card in reference to the matter clearly proved that Mr. Ballard was entirely guiltless of any improper action in the premises. We are as much pleased over this thorough vindication as anyone else can be. Our candidate for Prosecuting Attorney has not only demonstrated his ability to discharge well the duties of his position but he will be elected again by an overwhelming vote.

THE present term of district court calls to mind the fact that our laws are not always obeyed. Frequent shooting and cutting scrapes in the past, attended often with the loss of life, have given Port Townsend a hard name abroad. When, however, it is considered that the troublesome element is almost entirely a foreign one, due allowance must be made. As a quiet, order-loving people, the resident population of this place will compare favorably with that of any other town of like size on the coast.

PRESIDENT Hayes was tendered an immense reception in San Francisco the other day, and Mr. C. F. Clapp, of Dungeness, has inserted a showy advertisement in the ARGUS to let the people know that his facilities for accommodating buyers and sellers are increasing all the time. Read what he says, and then go and see for yourself. He is an enterprising fellow, just "chock full of business," as they say, and if you want to drive a bargain he'll suit you or know what the matter is.

THE "Transcript" says: "Hon. Thos. H. Brents goes at once down the Columbia river to Pacific county, to visit the Republicans there and through the Chehalis country. On his way up, he will speak at Montesano, on Thursday night, Sept. 18th." This shows that Mr. Brents is determined to avoid being "left" on account of inactivity. He will make a rousing campaign.

THE pilot boat for San Francisco, built by Hall Bros., was successfully launched at Port Ludlow on the evening of the 6th. Her tonnage is 58 1/2; length 76 8-10ths feet; breadth 21 9-10ths feet; depth 8 5-10ths feet.

BORN.—In Port Discovery, W. T., Sept. 9th, to the wife of E. B. Mastick Jr., a son.

DIED.—In Port Discovery, Sept. 9th, the infant son of E. B. and Emma B. Mastick Jr.

THE smoky season is upon us with all its gloom.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

The Democratic convention for Jefferson county, was held in this city last Saturday. After the usual preliminaries of organizing, the following county ticket was nominated: Commissioners, H. L. Tibbals, of Port Townsend, E. B. Mastick, of Port Discovery, and R. D. Attridge, of Port Ludlow; Sheriff, B. S. Miller; Treasurer, J. A. Kuhn; Auditor, C. H. H. Jones; Probate Judge, H. L. Blanchard; Coroner, J. G. Clinger; School Supt., Miss Jennie Hancock; Surveyor, F. W. James; Wreckmaster, T. Torjosen; Constable, Chas. Finn. The names of J. A. Kuhn, H. L. Blanchard, J. J. Hunt and J. E. Pugh were presented to the convention as candidates for delegates to the Territorial convention at Kalama. The vote stood: Kuhn, 14; Willison, 12; H. L. Blanchard, 8; Pugh, 6 and Hunt, 4; whereupon the first named were declared elected. The following is the county committee, elected for the ensuing two years: F. W. Pettygrove, chairman, H. C. Willson, J. E. Pugh, E. Strand, M. Burk, E. P. Brennan, T. Dagnan.

It will be seen by this showing that the Democrats have anticipated the nomination of Messrs. Mastick and Attridge by the Republicans, for Commissioners. Their nominations from their own party are made up of a few who will doubtless make good officers if elected, and others who are simply put in to fill up with the party having no hope whatever of electing them. After the Republicans make their nominations we will have a better chance to compare notes and comment.

Mr. Joseph Foresman, sheriff of Clallam county, claims that he was misrepresented in connection with the Neah Bay taxes; that he did go and demand the taxes in question; that he was not and is not aware of any law requiring him to collect licenses from schooners, &c., &c. Our informant must have been in error in one or two particulars. However, our subsequent note of explanation must have acquitted us of any intention to do Mr. Foresman injustice. We are free to say that we think he has performed the duties of his office acceptably to the people, and the meager delinquent tax list of the county shows that he has not been remiss in collecting county dues.

FREIGHTS on coastwise cargoes have risen within the past month, all of which is considered a hopeful sign for trade.

The Oregon Kidney Tea!

Read the following testimonials, not from persons 3,000 miles away, whom no one knows, but from well-known and trustworthy citizens of Oregon, whose names, written in their own hands, can be seen at our office:

ASTORIA, Oregon, December 23, 1879. I take pleasure in testifying to the merits of the Oregon Kidney Tea. For the past three years I have been suffering from kidney troubles, and during the time have tried nearly every kind of kidney medicine in the market, almost without any relief. Having heard that the Oregon Kidney Tea possessed wonderful properties, I purchased a package, and from the first dose obtained relief, and by the use of one of the packages feel completely cured. He Won the Bet.

Soon after two o'clock yesterday the sash in the fourth story of a business house on Woodward avenue was raised and a man's head and shoulders appeared in sight. Next he thrust out his arm, and pedestrians saw a small rope in his hand. Twenty men halted in less than a minute. A plank was lying at the bottom and the general line of reasoning was that the plank was to be drawn up through the window.

"You'll break the glass if you try it," shouted one of the fast-growing group. "That cord isn't stout enough," yelled a third.

"Why don't they carry it up by way of the front stairs?" demanded a man as he flourished his gold-headed cane and seemed much put out.

The cord came part way down and stopped. Some ten different persons volunteered the information of "more yet," and presently it was lowered so that one of the crowd could grasp it. He pulled down and the man above pulled up, and four or five men seized the plank and brought it to the rope.

"Lower away!" yelled the man at the rope. "Pull down on it!" cried a dozen voices.

The man above let out more rope and waved his hand.

"He wants it over that hitching post," screamed a boy, and it was carried there. "No, he wants it fast to the lamp-post," shouted a man, and it was carried there.

"Let that rope alone!" yelled the man. Six men had hold of the plank, ready to boost on it, and three more had hold of the rope.

"Do you want the plank?" asked one. "No." "Do you want the hitching post?" "No."

"Well, what do you want?" "I want you to let that rope alone. I had a bet of the sashes that it was long enough to touch the walk, and I've won 'em. What's the row down there?—somebody dropped dead?"

The plank was hurried away, cuss-words indulged in as toes were trodden upon, and in fifteen seconds the crowd had melted away to a squint-eyed boy and an organ grinder.—[Detroit Free Press.

"Invisible Fire."

An English gentleman discovered that the fame of electricity as a curative power had penetrated Persia.

While tarrying at Shiraz, on business connected with the overland telegraph, he was visited by a Persian noble. Having received a paralytic stroke in his left shoulder and arm, the nobleman came to inquire if the Englishman's invisible fire (electricity) would not cure him.

He had heard that there were magicians in England, who cured all diseases by the aid of this fire. The Englishman, having moderated the Persian's expectation by remarking that the statement was an exaggeration, accompanied him to the office of the telegraph.

A powerful battery had just been prepared, and the officer in charge readily consented to operate upon the paralyzed arm. To the two poles of the battery a copper wire was attached, and at the extremity of each wire a dampened sponge. The Persian was instructed to tightly grasp one of the sponges in the paralyzed arm. Timidly complying, he was astonished to feel no sensation.

"Wait a moment," said the Englishman, clapping the other sponge on the man's shoulder. With a leap and a yell, he bounded out of the room, amid the uproarious laughter of the officials.

All Shiraz was excited, the next day, at the shock the nobleman had received. Though it effected a partial cure, the frightened man refused to submit to a second application of the "invisible fire." One shock was sufficient, for, he declared, all the stars of the heavens were visible to him at that awful moment.

He would visit the office and look with awe at the "fire" machines. Mournfully shaking his head, he would depart without uttering a word.

Another Persian, whose curiosity conquered his fear, while examining the telegraph, touched one of the terminals of the machines. As he felt no sensation, he laid his hand on the other terminal. A sudden yell and a backward jump was the result.

The man told his companions in an awe-struck tone, that he had been bitten by the geni of the machine. The Englishman attempted to explain the operation, but his words did not disturb, in the least, the Persian's credulity.

A parrot that had strayed and been found by Mr. Grafton of Port Jervis, N. Y., proved to be a fluent talker. When the children neglected to rock the cradle, Poll cried: "Mother, Sally don't rock the cradle." After religious services were held in the house, they were frequently interrupted by Poll calling upon some one by name to close the meeting with prayer and it was done.

Deaf Mutes in High Life.

"Have you heard the story of the Spanish maid?" is the way society people open conversations at the Pacific coast watering places this season. The question refers to Mrs. Humphrey Moore, wife of the deaf and dumb artist Moore, who, with her husband, is now living near San Francisco. Mrs. Moore was born Isabella de Cistue, daughter of Col. Cistue, of Saragossa, Spain. She is a cousin by marriage of the ex-Queen Isabella, and altogether of high rank. When a little girl she became devotedly attached to a deaf and dumb playmate, and that she might converse with her friend, learned "the language of the fingers." Having grown to womanhood, Senorita de Cistue left the College of Loretto, in Madrid, for Granada, where her father has a winter residence. Her coal black hair, lustrous black eyes and rich olive complexion soon won her recognition as the beauty of the ancient Moorish capital, and her refinement and gentleness were themes for the local verse-makers. A few months ago the dumb artist Moore, who had been traveling in Europe for several years, went to Granada to sketch some of the scenes made so popular in America by Washington Irving. One day, while Moore was in the Alhambra, the senorita's robe swept over his easel, and in attempting to apologize the senorita's escort discovered that the artist was mute. The senorita became interested at once and apologized in person, quickly recalling the sign alphabet learned in her girlhood. Moore fell desperately in love with the senorita, and (to keep a 500-page romance into the space usually allotted to truth) the senorita grew enamored of Moore. They were married in Granada, and after a tour of Spain and the continent, sailed for San Francisco.

A New Fashion.

It is fashionable now to stoop. This is not a metaphor, meaning that women are a little more than ever stooping to frivolity, but the literal truth. The mid-Summer freak of the metropolitan belles is nothing less than to curve their spines and drop their shoulders until they look like hopeless consumptives. A girl with a natural flat breast is considered mighty lucky, and she no longer supplies an artificial roundness, but is proud of her lack of womanly development, reminding her that her deficiency is not charming to masculine eyes; she will follow the fashion no matter how foolish it is. The idea is that a hollow chest is indicative of madness. Women who are by nature more amply endowed, flatten themselves as much as possible, with uncommonly high, narrow corsets, and hold their shoulders as far forward as possible, thus rendering null and void one of the best of their beauties. Ah, well, what fools my sex sometimes make of themselves! Some of my formerly buxom friends have degenerated into humpbacks in a single week. Their dresses have been altered to suit the changed shapes, though I imagine they would suit the new figures handside before. The simpletons remind me of the pictures in the reading books illustrating the good and bad posture at a desk—a boy with protruded breasts and erect head, which is like the belle as she was, and another boy humped over his book, which is like as she is. It is to be hoped that this idiosyncrasy will be of short duration.

Outwitting a Highwayman.

A good story is told of how a bright fellow outwitted a highwayman who demanded his money or his life.

Tom Hills, sometime huntsman of the Old Surrey hounds, was once sent to buy a fox in Leadenhall market for service next day.

The commission was not at all to Tom's liking, but, obeying orders, he rode to town, got his fox, and putting him, securely strapped, legs upward, in a capacious pocket of his overcoat, turned his horse's head homeward.

Somewhere about midnight he reached Stratham common, to be suddenly stopped with the familiar challenge, "Your money or your life?"

"My money!" exclaimed Hills. "I haven't got any; I am only a servant, and you wouldn't take my life, surely?"

The highwayman told him to look sharp, emphasizing the injunction by pointing a pistol at the huntsman's head.

"Well, my man," said the latter, "we won't fall out. I want my life; so, as I've no money, I suppose you must have money's worth. You'll find something quite as good in my pocket here, so pray help yourself."

The robber's disengaged hand dived into Tom's pocket instantly, and Master Reynard's teeth closed as quickly upon it, causing the fellow to yell in dismay, and drop pistol and reins; while Tom galloped off at high pace, leaving his unwelcome acquaintance to bandage his hand and digest his disappointment at leisure.

Some Curious Superstitions.

The Bedouins take auguries from birds. A single raven in one's path is a very bad token, but two are extremely lucky. They say Akhdhargh Falen: zein—two green (i. e., black) ones is a fair omen. The Bedouins have many other superstitions about animals. The superstition as to the flesh of the rook badger, which Palmer noted in the Peninsula of Sinai, is unknown here, but there is a similar idea about the monkeys which frequent Mount Kara. These, it is said, were once men, who came to visit the prophet. He set before them milk and water, directing them to drink the former and perform their ablutions with the latter. The perverse visitors drank the water and washed with the milk, and were transformed to nonkeys for their disobedience. As they were once men, their flesh is not eaten.

This legend is closely akin to what one reads in the fabulous history of early Arabia about Namas and the Wabar, in the great sandy desert. Both these words are monkey names, quite current in the present day, though not recognized by the lexicons. The latter is an ape, the former a monkey with a tail. Except in this monkey story, I could find no trace of the superstitious rejection of the flesh of any animal. But some kinds of flesh have a magical virtue attached to them. A man who suffers in any member of his body seeks a cure by eating the corresponding part of a hyena. The hyena is also eaten in the neighborhood of Suez, for a friend of mine who shot one near the Wells of Moses was requested by the Bedouins to give them a leg. A similar virtue attaches to the flesh of the gemsbok (Wudhehy), a rare species of antelope, found far in the interior. When eaten, it draws an obstinate bullet from a wound.—Scotsman.

Anecdote of Tom Corwin.

When quite a young man he was elected a member of the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, and early in the session he brought in a bill for the destruction of the public whipping post. He made an earnest speech in favor of the measure, to which an elderly member replied as follows: "Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not as old as I am, and has not seen as much of the practical operation of the system of punishment which he desires to abolish. When I lived in Connecticut, if a fellow stole a horse, or cut up some antics, we used to tie him up and give him a real good thrashing; and he always cleared right out and we never saw anything more of him. It's the best way of getting rid of the rogues that ever was tried, and without expense to the State." Mr. Corwin, who never failed to carry his point by a joke, if the argument was against him, only made the brief reply: "Mr. Speaker, I have been puzzled to account for the vast emigration from Connecticut to the West, but the gentleman last up has explained it to my satisfaction." It is almost needless to say that Mr. Corwin's bill passed by an overwhelming majority.

The only way to bring up a child is to show him what a good life is by living it yourself. The old Scotchman was right when he said: "Trot feyther, trot mither; how can foal amble?"

Nerve.

It is a great thing to have what is called nerve and nothing contributes more to the power of physical control thus named, than Warner's Safe Nerve. It also relieves all kinds of pain, and cures headache and neuralgia.

Remarkable Cases.

Among the very many remarkable cures effected by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, may be mentioned that of Charles S. Prentice, of Toledo, Ohio, who was by its use restored to health in a few weeks, after he had tried the treatment of some of the most eminent physicians of France, England and America without benefit. His trouble was Bright's Disease. Another is the cure of Peter Showerman, at the age of seventy years, after greatly suffering for forty years from kidney and liver difficulties. Testimonials of these and others, can be seen.

"OH, HOW MY BACK ACHES." How often we hear it said. Well may the victim complain, for the kidneys are suffering; and when that is the case there is always danger—great danger. Kidney diseases, if let run, too often end fatally. There is, however, a sure cure for them. HUNT'S REMEDY is a medicine that does not fail to cure Kidney, Bladder, Liver and Urinary complaints. Even Bright's Disease, the terror of physicians, is cured by HUNT'S REMEDY, the great Kidney and Liver Medicine. Try it, and cure your back-ache before it terminates in something worse. Sold by all Druggists. Trial size, 75 cents.

ARTICLE III.

ANALOGOUS WORD PAIRS.

A. T. BURNELL, A. M.

Our curiosity is still further drawn out when it appears that not only may two distinct ideas be embodied in a single adjustment of letters, but that these two ideas may be antagonistic, e. g. the Anglo Saxon "cleve-gan" gives 'cleave,' while the Anglo Saxon 'cligan' gives 'cleave,' the former meaning to part asunder, while the latter means to unite, hold fast.

A third division of word pairs which have a mutual identity of letters and sounds, yet difference of signification, consists of simple and compounds, the latter having set marks of distinction which are always printed. Ex. 'cant,' 'jeat,' 'can,' inability. But the apostrophe here no more denotes component parts, some of which disappear from the unity, than when the common possessive case is formed from the nominative.

Word pairs of class 2 are distinguishable to the hearer only by the context, likewise also by the context to the reader, except those under the last division which distinguish simple and compound by the hyphen.

CLASS III.

Here are found those dual forms which have the same orthography and meaning while each has a different pronunciation. The difference in pronunciation distinguishes the parts of speech usually.

Division 1st. Accent is here called into requisition concerning which Sheridan said: "It is the very essence of words which, without accent, would be but the collection of so many syllables." Usually the noun receives the earlier accent as compared with the adjective; also a noun as compared with a verb, the latter having the stress of voice at the close.

Like the Greek, the English depends largely upon accentuation and is consequently a fluent language. This vital fluid not only animates conversation and removes monotony from speech, but farther, it is to written language what gesticulation is to oral communication. The current of thought is no more impeded by accent than is the sense impeded by pauses of punctuation. They are the same in species. Accent may be defined as the punctuation of words. Like the comma, or the period, accent suggests a pause, for the mind to reflect and discern more aptly the relations of verbal utterances. Accent therefore directs attention to certain parts of words, as of prime value. It may thus serve to mark verbs with a label, distinguishing them from the adjective or noun form. Accent serves other ends. Usually derivatives take a recessive accent.

Another distinction between word pairs is that the sound of a given letter is not the same in each, e. g. 'close' and 'close,' 'use' and 'use,' where 's' has the 'z' sound in the letter of each pair. Or a vowel may change in tone, e. g. 'patent' manifest, and 'patent' title; 'prayer' the petition, and 'prayer' the petitioner.

To the hearer the word pairs of class 3 are readily distinguishable, but the reader judges by the context, as accent and letter marks are not commonly used in printing.

QUILEUTE ITEMS.

Ed. Argus:—Three carpenters are at work on S. Baxter's store. It is nearly finished. John J. Sutherland is building a house on his claim on Lake prairie. Mr. Sutherland says the lake abounds with a new species of fish resembling salmon. Clark Davis is building a barn. He will import 200 sheep in the spring. He has a good farm, a good range of clover for sheep. Messrs. Olmstead, Hill and Petersen, of White river, are here looking for land to locate. They say some others will follow. They came over the trail from Pyscht saw 30 elk, killed one. Bears have injured the oat crop of the Pullen Bros.; also of Clark Davis. A few sheep have been killed by the panthers. Capt. Munroe is expected soon with a load of lumber and freight for Quileute. Five men are coming here from Georgia. Capt. Monroe will bring 2 or 3 families and their effects to Quileute for $50. Grouse are plentiful. Salmon will be abundant in October; also geese and ducks. A. J. S.
