Sunday Liquor Law.

Mr. Editor—Believing that you have fallen into grave error in regard to the San Mateo liquor case, and that the opinions expressed by you in Tuesday's issue are calculated (undesignedly on your part) to mislead public opinion, and thus encourage some to persist in violating what is known as the Sunday law of the Territory, allow me to state wherein I think you have been misled.

1st. The court in San Mateo was nothing more than a simple justice of the peace. His rulings, however correct they might be, are not of equal authority with those of similar officers in this Territory.

2d. The statute of California differs from ours in this essential particular, that it exempts those "who keep open hotels, boarding-houses," etc.

3d. The suit was brought "to ascertain if liquor could be sold on Sunday by the keeper of a tavern." The only question which seems to have been submitted to either court or jury was, whether a tavern was not the same as a hotel, and was therefore exempt. The jury, not the court, decided this question affirmatively, and acquitted the defendant.

You will find by careful examination of the report as published in the San Mateo Gazette, that the opinions therein expressed, aside from the verdict of the jury, as well as the constitutional question, are not credited either to the court or the lawyers who defended the case, but are mainly the extrajudicial opinions of the reporter himself; and indeed the report is so written as to leave it uncertain whether it is not a burlesque upon the whole affair.

4th. There is not a word to show "that the lawyers on both sides unanimously concurred in the decision;" but if they did, it was simply this, and nothing more, that the section of the law which exempts "hotels," necessarily includes "taverns," which is only a different name for the same thing.

5th. The other suits pending, and which were dismissed by the Prosecuting Attorney, were against the same party, and for similar offenses.

6th. The court decided nothing in regard to saloons or other places not coming under the term hotel, having the right to sell liquor on Sundays; that was only the reporter's opinion. Our statute makes no exemption in regard to hotels. They have no more right to open their bars or sell liquor on Sunday than have the saloons.

The exemption of a single county from the operation of the Sunday law of this Territory, cannot vitiate or invalidate the law in any other county, since the best authorities on constitutional law declare, that "the Legislature is competent to determine whether particular laws shall extend to the whole State, or to a subdivision of the State only. Circumstances may require or make acceptable different police regulations in one locality from those demanded in another."—(See Cooley's Constitutional Limitations, p. 330.)

There is no parallel in the case here and that in San Mateo, nor is there any thing to encourage or justify the liquor sellers in the Territory in setting the law at defiance. Until competent authority decides the law to be unconstitutional, or the Legislature repeals the act, the Committee who have the matter in charge will, without question, "fight it out on that line, if it takes all summer." G. F. WHITWORTH.

YAKIMA INDIANS.—"Observer" writing from Kittitas, W. T., under the date of February 13th, says:
Some of the few Indians of this valley have taken steps to become citizens. They have taken claims and pay taxes, and are farming on a small scale. The most of the Yakima tribes are very averse to going on the proposed new reservation across the Columbia river. There is quite an excitement among them because they think that when the warm weather comes there will be an effort made to force them away from their old homes, and to place them on another reservation set apart for their use. There appears to be a double scare; the whites have become alarmed at the thought that an outbreak of the Indians is eminent. Some of them, the most timid, are leaving their homes, and talk seriously of building a block house for the protection of their families. A public meeting of the citizens living on Yakima river has been called to take action in the matter. Our correspondent however is of the opinion that the scare on the part of the whites is groundless. He says: "One of the most influential of the Indians told me he did not intend to go on the reservation; that he always lived here. He would resist if they undertook to force him away. He would have it understood that he had a good heart toward the resident whites and would behave himself if left alone."

A soldier was discharging his mother the terrible fire sustained by the boys at the battle of Chickamauga, when she asked: "Why didn't you get behind a tree?" "A tree! mother," he answered, "Why, there were hardly enough trees for the officers!"

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

We spent an hour very pleasantly and profitably on Friday afternoon, in witnessing the closing examination of the Primary public school, under the tuition of Miss C. E. Parsons. Here we found over 50 children between the ages of 10 and 4 years—7 years being the average—in one room and under one management.

Considering the ages of the pupils, we never saw a school apparently under better order and discipline, or where the teacher and pupils were in more harmonious accord, and fear was not the dominant motive to obedience, or where intelligent progress in the general studies in which they were engaged were more manifest. It was not, like too many public schools, a gang of operatives engaged in a laborious pursuit under a stern task-mistress, but more like a large family nursery, where cheerfulness prevailed, and common-sympathy gave them a common interest in their exercises, the normal restlessness of children under restraint being relieved by a skillful adaptation of music and physical exercises, which associated study with recreation, and made it a part of a pleasing variety of amusements; thus diverting education of its irksome and repulsive characteristics.

Miss Parsons evidently follows no standard rules or methods, but with a remarkable aptitude for teaching, an earnest enthusiasm for her vocation and warm and generous sympathies with children, like a skillful physician who thoroughly understands the fundamental principles of the profession, she adapts her practice to the conditions and peculiarities of the cases as they arise, recognizing God's infinite variety in the moral as in the physical world.

What is needed in this—and it is the common need of all public schools—is the more active sympathy and interest of parents in the work. Censure is less offensive to a public servant than indifference. The first is an incentive to greater diligence and care; the latter is utterly depressing and discouraging, especially to those who have the training of our children—the trusteeship of our dearest interest on earth. It is a strange fatuity that causes so many parents to manifest an utter indifference, a total disregard to the character and labors of those to whom they have committed such a high and sacred trust.—The teacher and the parents occupy confidential relations, which should be maintained by mutual interchange of sympathy and kindness, by words and acts.

A SHOCKING AFFAIR.—No event which has ever occurred in Seattle has so shocked and scandalized the community as the sudden and clandestine leaving of C. P. Stone, of the firm of Stone & Burnett, the Mayor of the city, one of the old and most highly respected citizens, a leading and apparently one of the most prosperous merchants, who has heretofore maintained unchallenged a leading position in business and social circles. He disappeared two weeks ago, but the idea that he had absconded seemed so preposterous that very few, if any, entertained it until within the last two or three days; Mr. Burnett, his partner being among the last to credit it. Recent developments, however, establish the fact almost beyond a doubt, showing a degree of heartless depravity, a faithless to his partner, his family and his friends in such striking contrast with his previous reputation, that it could only be explained on the ground of insanity, if the method he adopted did not preclude that explanation. He had been for some time previously accumulating money, ostensibly for the purpose of going to San Francisco to purchase goods, and took with him when he left $15,000 of company money, and it is supposed about an equal amount of trust funds belonging to other parties, nearly all of which was in drafts, which it has been learned were cashed for him at a bank in Sacramento. He was subsequently heard of in Denver, going South, and was accompanied by the wife of a respectable journeyman mechanic in this city, who left two infant children in the care of her mother upon the pretext of going to Walla Walla on a visit. Stone leaves a wife and several children, for whose support he made no provision. Mr. Burnett, the swindled partner, immediately placed the remaining assets of the firm at the disposal of the creditors, and Mr. Adams was appointed Receiver. It is hoped that the property is sufficient to meet all liabilities, and enable Mr. Burnett to resume business. He has the confidence of the creditors and the warm sympathies of this entire community, in which he has lived from boyhood.

CONNECTION.—Mr. James C. Roper, the father of the woman who was reported as having eloped with C. P. Stone, informs us that his daughter is on a visit to friends of the family in Vancouver, and has not seen Mr. Stone since he left this city. We are glad of the opportunity to make this correction.

Mr. S. F. Coombs has had a communication from Stone, saying that he had made ample provision for the support of his family. We hope this is true.

CIVIL SERVICE REGULATIONS.

Secretary Fish has issued an official circular explaining and defining the President's proclamation prohibiting Federal officers from holding State or municipal offices, as to what offices are, and what are not included in the operations of the order. It includes in the prohibition all State, County, town, city and village officers, excepting positions on Boards of Education, School Committees, public libraries, religious or eleemosynary institutions, established or sustained by State or municipal authority; officers in the militia or fire departments; provided the attention required by such employment does not interfere with the regular and efficient discharge of the duties of their office under the Federal Government, the head of the Department being the sole judge.

Employment by the day as mechanics and laborers upon the public works does not constitute an office of any kind, and those thus employed are not within the contemplation of the Executive order. Master workmen and others who hold appointments from the Government or from any department, whether for a fixed time or at the pleasure of the appointing power, are embraced within the operation of the order.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—A Washington dispatch dated Feb. 21st says: "The Secretary of War reports to the House that he has information of the intention of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to put the road from the Missouri river to the Yellowstone under contract this spring, the work of construction to commence early in the summer. The Secretary says a strong force as an escort will be required to protect the railroad men against the Indians, and declares the necessity of establishing two new posts between the Missouri river and Fort Ellis. He quotes General Sheridan as saying that the new posts will be expensive, and recommending the fund for barracks to be increased to $2,500. General Sherman, to whom this subject was referred, says: 'this road is a national enterprise and we are forced to protect its men during its survey and construction, through probably the most warlike nation of Indians on the continent, who will fight for every foot of the line. It is a matter of war, requiring nearly 2,000 troops, who, in winter must be sheltered.' Gen. Sheridan's estimate is the lowest possible. Secretary Belknap says in conclusion that this recommendation will prove an economical measure, tending to the solution of the Indian problem in the Northwest Territory."

A HEAVY VERDICT.—Miss Lucy A. Ward, of Sparland, Ill., has just received a verdict in the Livingston Circuit Court, against one Burson, also of Sparland, for breach of marriage promise. The story as told by the Lancon Home Journal shows that the award of the jury was none too large. Burson was a well-to-do widower, courted and became engaged to Miss Ward, and then deserted her for a rich widow, whom he married. In his defense he seems to have set up want of chastity in the plaintiff. This he failed to establish and the jury "went for him" to the tune of ten thousand dollars.

During the trial a rather amusing incident occurred. An affidavit was read from a Rev. Mr. Streeter, wherein he stated he had been divorced from two wives and now he thanked God that he was living in peace and harmony with the third.

NO MAIL.—Friday, and not a mail by steamer from either direction since last Monday morning. We understand that tons of mail matter, including all the eastern and southern mails for Puget Sound ports, have accumulated at Olympia in the mean time; but the Postmaster is not authorized to deliver them for transportation to any but the contractor, who has not the means or power to procure their carriage by any steamer. The steamers North Pacific, Alida, and Zepher are making regular trips with passengers and freight, but are not authorized to carry the mails. This thing has become an intolerable nuisance and a serious damage to all who depend upon the mails for the prompt transmission of business communications.

A NICE PRESENT.—On last Wednesday the saloon and sporting men of our city made up a purse of sixty-five dollars and sent it to the Rev. Mr. Gwinn, of the M. E. Church. His preaching has gained him a wide-spread reputation, and the protracted meeting he is now holding has been constantly attended by these gentlemen, and out of respect for his abilities and fair and honorable course, they tendered him this sum as a token of their esteem. The sum was received with many thanks to the donors. Mr. Gwinn continues to draw large houses, and interest in his meetings are gaining ground everyday.—Boise Statesman.

DR. B. R. FREELAND may be found at his rooms in Seattle for a few days, after which, he goes to Olympia for an errand.

UNITED STATES MARSHALS.

The bill before Congress at the close of the session, intended for the suppression of Mormonism, confers upon the U.S. Marshals of Territories nearly all the powers and duties heretofore belonging to Sheriffs; making the latter office merely nominal. If this bill should become a law, it is estimated that it will make the Marshal's office in this Territory worth $30,000 a year. Under these circumstances we doubt if Mr. Kearney could be induced to exchange it for the office of Governor; worth only ten per cent. of that amount.

PRINTERS ABLAZE.—During the past week, we have been visited by Messrs. Hewitt, Carlton and Gale, Olympia printers. Their explanation of their wanderings is, that they have been so closely pressed with business for some time past, that they were forced to leave to recuperate their exhausted energies.

RAILROAD IRON.—The bark Dashing Wave, which arrived at Tacoma on Wednesday last, was partly loaded with railroad iron, of the size used in the construction of the N. P. Railroad. The iron was consigned to W. H. Wallace, Superintendent of the Tacoma Mills.

LIBRARY NOTICE.—From March 1st to June 1st, the Seattle Library will be open for the purpose of drawing and returning books, from 7 to 9 o'clock every Monday, Thursday and Saturday evening. Edw. H. Brown, Librarian.

Vol. 2 - - - - - NO. 18
BERISH BROWN, EDITOR

A TERMINUS TERMINATED.—The location of the eastern end of the N. P. R. R. seemed unaccountable to every one acquainted with the location except those who were cognizant of the fact that the Company was controlled by an inside ring of private speculators, organized on the precise principles of the infamous Credit Mobilier of the Union Pacific road, intent only on their own personal aggrandizement, regardless of public interests, the ultimate success of the road, or the security of the bondholders, beyond making all these considerations subservient to their own private interests. This ring first secured to themselves all the eligible town sites that they could get possession of on the route, and then directed the surveys, location, and used the funds of the company for the improvement of their own private property, at the same time levying onerous contributions upon all settlers upon the line of the road, and obtaining large donations from others by promises which they never intended to fulfill.

From the inception of the project for this Northern Pacific Railroad, no competent engineer or experienced railroad man, ever recommended any other terminal points for the road than Superior Bay, at the head of Lake Superior, on the east, and Elliott Bay, at the eastern extremity of Puget Sound, on the west, Stevens' survey demonstrating that the shortest and most practicable route was to be obtained between these two points, affording the best harbor accommodations at either end. But the occupation of these natural advantages, though beyond all question the best for the interests of the railroad company, did not accord with the interests of the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Company, in which was a majority of the Railroad Directors. They found the people of Superior City occupying the only safe and natural harbor near the head of Lake Superior. This harbor is at the mouth of St. Louis river, upon a bay formed by a crescent-shaped peninsula extending from the west bank of the river several miles between the lake and the bay nearly parallel with the main land, making a safe harbor sufficiently commodious for all the demands of commerce. The property holders of Superior City were willing to donate to the Railroad all the land and water front necessary to its use, but were not disposed to concede to the members of the ring, for their own private benefit, the largest portion of their possessions, by way of bribery or black mail. Hence the location of the terminus was made above the neck of the peninsula, upon a bluff, barren, bleak shore, on the most exposed position of the most tempestuous of the northern group of lakes, where there was not a single natural advantage for a harbor, and where experiments have since demonstrated, neither breakwaters or piers can ever be constructed to withstand the battering-rams of ice propelled by the north-eastern gales, to which they are subject every winter. After expending immense sums taken from the treasury of the railroad, in the vain attempt to construct a harbor, permission was obtained from the State of Minnesota to cut a canal across the neck of the peninsula and turning the channel of the St. Louis river through the canal, thus giving Duluth access to the bay as a harbor for its shipping, by destroying the harbor of Superior through the channel of the river ran.—(Duluth and the head of the Bay is in Minnesota, Superior City and the lower portion of the Bay is in Wisconsin.)—The Wisconsin authorities commenced suit in the United States Court to injoin work on the ship canal, and that suit has been compromised by a virtual abandonment of Duluth, the ring having disposed of their principal interest in that town, leaving the loss to fall upon innocent purchasers, and business men, who invested upon their faith in the Railroad Company. The following extract from the message of Governor Washburne to the Wisconsin Legislature will show the terms upon which the compromise was effected. We learn from good authority that General Cass and Jay Cooke are determined to rid the Company of this Credit Mobilier ring, and carry out in good faith the original project, or withdraw from it. If the ring continue the control, every man of character or credit had much better be out of it than in it, for any good that they or the public will ever derive from it.

Gov. Washburn, after relating the circumstances under which negotiations were opened, gives the following conclusions: NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD, SECRETARY'S OFFICE, New York, Jan. 28, 1873. The Northern Pacific Railroad Co. will agree to build a branch from the main line of the Lake Superior and Mississippi in Duluth across Rice's Point and Connor's Point and along the shores of the bay of Superior to the Nemaji river—the line to be located with a view to economy of construction and connecting with wharves and docks in said bay, with such necessary station-houses as may be needful for the business of the town of Superior—the road to be completed within eight months from the time when a deed shall be delivered to this company for the right of way, and all the station grounds and wharf tonnage needful for the present and future business of the Northern Pacific railroad. The right of way herein mentioned is from Connor's Point to the Nemaji river, including the right to construct a bridge across the channel between a Connor's Point and Rice's Point. In conducting the business of the road, the Northern Pacific agrees to place Duluth and Superior on equal footing and will leave the commercial world to select for itself where it will do its business, without any discrimination in favor of either place, delivering passengers and freight both at Duluth and Superior.

And the railroad company do further agree to erect grain elevators in Superior, or permit private parties to do so, and if private parties shall so erect grain elevators on the line of the railroad, the company agrees to deliver to the elevators all the grain which may be consigned to them.

G. W. CASS, President.

It was agreed between the representatives from Duluth, the President of the Northern Pacific and myself, that an appropriation should be asked for Congress in the river and harbor bill in following terms. I making the reservation that the same should meet the approval of the Wisconsin delegation in Congress: "For the dredging out of the bay at Superior from the natural entrance to the docks at Superior and Duluth, and preserving each entrance for the purpose of commerce, $150,000."

The Duluth committee and myself immediately proceeded to Washington to lay the subject before the Wisconsin and Minnesota delegations. I invited a meeting of the entire Wisconsin delegation, at which all but one member were present, to whom I submitted the proposed settlement, all of whom expressed approval of it. The Minnesota delegation in Congress, with the Duluth representatives, were then invited to meet the Wisconsin delegation, and did so with the exception of the member of the House, and it was then agreed that the bay of Superior should be improved as indicated in the language to go into the river and harbor bill as before named.

This adjustment contemplates the removal of the dyke, or so much as is desirable in the interests of commerce, and the same will be removed as soon as the appropriation is available. The canal will remain open, but Gen. Humphrey, Chief of the Engineer Department, gave assurance that if the canal was working an injury to the entrance, he would cause a tight dyke to be placed near the canal that should arrest any diversion of water through that outlet. I should add that this method of settlement met with the cordial approval of the Engineer Department.

The result of it will give to Wisconsin what she could not have obtained by litigation, viz: a railroad to Superior and the dredging out of the harbor. It also secures the removal of the dyke. In a word, it gives to Superior all she has any right to and all that is necessary to her development.

In making this adjustment I did not expect that all these persons would be satisfied, as I am well aware that there are some who think that any adjustment which left Duluth standing, would be a sacrifice to the rights of Wisconsin. With these persons I do not sympathize; my design has been to effect a settlement that would be honorable to both States.

If with her great natural advantages, the same facilities of railroads and a better harbor, Superior cannot cope with her rival, it will be the fault of her own citizens. C. C. WASHBURN.

SAN JUAN SETTLERS.—It will be seen by the following proclamation that the possessory rights of the settlers on San Juan Island, whether English or American, are to be fully protected, as we never had a doubt they would be, notwithstanding the reports to the contrary, credited by the Victoria papers: PROCLAMATION.—Whereas, the award of the Emperor of Germany, under date of October 21, 1872, certain territory heretofore held by joint occupation of Great Britain and the United States, including the island of San Juan and other islands, in the district of lands subject to sale at Olympia, Washington Territory, is decided to belong to the jurisdiction of the United States; and

Whereas, it appears that there are many subjects of Great Britain now in occupancy of portions of the said territory, whose rights and possessory titles are claimed to be protected by the provisions of the Treaty with Great Britain, made at Washington, June 15, 1846, and by certain arrangements for the joint occupation of said territory existing between the Government of the United States and the Government of Her Britannic Majesty;

Now therefore, it is hereby ordered that all tracts or parcels of land included in the said award be withheld from sale or disposal of any nature, under pre-emption, homestead, or other laws of the United States, until after the claims of the occupants abovementioned shall have been adjusted and public notice thereof given.

Given under my hand, at the City of Washington, this 4th day of February, A. D. 1873.

U. S. GRANT, President of the United States. By the President: WILLIS DRUMMOND, Commis'r of the General Land Office.

Mrs. Dunaway has accepted an invitation from the G. A. R. and a number of the leading citizens of Portland, to deliver a lecture in that city on Colonel Baker.

Puget Sound to San Francisco.

It has been a matter of surprise to us, that there has, heretofore, been no effort made to establish steam communication with San Francisco by our business men all over the Sound; but we are now pleased to learn, that the movement is on foot, and soon an effort will be made to organize a stock company among our Merchants and business men generally, for that purpose.

It is proposed, by the parties having in charge, to issue 750 shares of stock, at $100 00 each, and upon the shares being all taken, the holders thereof will proceed to the election of their President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer and Board of Directors, or, such officers as they may deem necessary for the successful conduct of the business. Upon such organization, the Secretary, under directions from said Board of Directors, will call in the stock, and issue certificates therefor, pending which, the officers of the Company will proceed to procure a Steamer suitable for the trade, to be delivered to them in San Francisco, upon which event, they will be prepared to pay for the same and commence operations.

Upon the Merchants themselves, will depend the success of this enterprise. It is justly supposed, that all who take an interest, will ship all freight that may come to, or go from them, by their own Vessel, at the moderate rates it is proposed to establish, and thereby receive their goods from San Francisco in from six to fifteen days from the time they order them, instead of waiting, as they are too often compelled, from 25 to 60 days, where they come by sail.

Already, some of our leading Merchants have signified a desire to purchase liberally of the stock, and we heartily commend the enterprise that prompts such an undertaking.

The matter has been often talked of, but until now, no one has had energy enough to commence operations.

We trust that every man in business on the Sound, will come forward and subscribe liberally, and assure the success of an undertaking, the need of which we have felt for a long time.

FEIGHTENED.—A man with rings in his ears and tattooed like a New Zealander, introduced to us as Mr. Nash, the mail contractor, has intimated to us a shower of oaths and billingsgate expletives, that if we say anything more about him or his mail contract, he will go after us in a way we little dream of; something terrible, it must be, judging from his manner and the style of his address. As he is a client of the Governor, and is backed by the pardoning power, there is no telling what may happen to us if we again presume to mention the fact that a Government contractor for carrying the mails has failed to deliver the mails according to contract, to the great damage and detriment of the public interests. If our readers see no further allusion to this subject, they may conclude that we have been killed or terribly frightened. In the mean time we may say that the Zephyr took the mail to Olympia this morning, and that Nash is rustling around to get some tog to take it to Post Townsend to-morrow.

LIE DOWN AND REST.—Dr. Hall says the best medicines in the world, more efficient in the cure of disease, than all the potencies of materia medica, are warmth, rest, cleanliness and pure air. Some persons make it a virtue to brave disease, to "keep up" as long as they can move a foot or crook a finger, and it sometimes succeeds, but in others the powers of life are thereby so completely exhausted that the system has lost all ability to regenerate, and slow and typhoid fever sets in and carries the patient to a premature grave. Whenever walking or work is an effort, a warm bed and a cool room are the first indispensable steps to a sure, and speedy recovery. Insistent leads all beasts and birds to quiescence and rest, and the very moment disease or wounds assail the system.

In Texas and the Territories wherein milk is scarce it may be interesting to learn that M. Dubrunfant, during the siege of Paris, devised an artificial milk, made by dissolving one ounce and a half of sugar in a quart of water, adding one ounce of dry albumen (from white of eggs) and 15 to 30 grains of soda crystals, and then making an emulsion with by means of from one ounce and a half to two ounces of olive oil. Ultimately, as the war went on, gelatine was substituted for albumen, and the slaughter-house fats, purified by melting at 150°, for the olive oil. One firm made by the latter process 132,000 gallons of artificial milk daily for Paris consumption.

There was great merit in the explanation of the person who was found going from a neighbor's hen-roost with a plump rooster in his hat. "Golly," said he, "that's queer—how'd you s'pose he got there? Must have crawled up my trousers leg." It's a little remarkable though that this theory has not suggested itself to some of the gentlemen lately found with Credit Mobilier stock on their hands. It might have crawled up their trousers legs—and no doubt it did. That's easy now. Why not say so?

San Juan Island, which is sixteen miles in length and four in width, has a good climate—abounds in grass and limestone—each and both being a source of great wealth. The manufacturing of lime is already very profitable, and in time this Island will be a source of great wealth to our country. The Island has a fair population of English inhabitants, most of whom have become naturalized recently. Oresia Island, in the same vicinity, is, as the former, noted for its almost endless amount of limestone.

AN AWFUL LONESOME MAN IN CALIFORNIA.—In the shanty which, in California's early days, did duty for the banking, postal, and express business of Wells, Fargo & Co., in Marysville, there sat, one evening, a misanthropic and dejected looking individual, whose long and unkempt hair and beard, cowhide boots, and rough dress, bespoke the miner. For over an hour, he sat there, the picture of despair, with not a look nor a word for any one present. Miners came, left their "dust", took their coin in return, and exchanged greetings with all present, save the one morose man, whose apathy, it seemed, nothing could disturb. Finally, there entered a young miner, with a beaming face, who, after completing his business at the counter, turned to the agent in charge, and remarked, that on the previous Saturday, he had some dealing with the bank, and thought some mistake had been made in his account.

"Guess not," said the agent. "Our cash was all right, and I reckon we keep our books pretty straight."

But, upon request of the miner that the books should be examined, the account was looked at, and it was found that, through a clerical error, the miner had been paid just fifty dollars too much.

"That's just what I make it," said the latter, "and here's your money." With this he threw down the gold, and received the thanks of the agent.

While this conversation was in progress, the misanthropic miner had preserved his look of utter indifference; but when he saw the money actually returned, his face brightened up, he rose slowly, walked toward the miner with slow and solemn step, and said: "Young man, don't you feel awful lonesome in this country?"

A great many years ago, before ice in the summer season became a necessity, but was just beginning to be housed up and used in the large cities as a luxury, a good deacon from a rural Connecticut town, came to New York to celebrate the Fourth of July. It was his misfortune to celebrate a little too much and he got intoxicated. News therefore followed him home, and he was called up before the Church for discipline. The deacon confessed his fault. He said the day was hot, and he went into a hotel bar-room where there was a bowl of punch, and the lemon and ice looked so cool and inviting he drank some, and it tasted so good and the ice refreshed him so much that he took some more, and finally he took so much that he was ashamed to say he became intoxicated. He sat down. There was a moment's hush, and then an angrier brother at the rear of the meeting rose and said, "I'm satisfied with the deacon's explanation about his getting intoxicated. He confesses it and says he's sorry. That's all right. Anybody's liable to do that. But when the deacon comes into this 'ere meetin' and talks about seeing ice in July, I go for having him jerked out for lying." If that brother were only in Congress now, though he might not object to the other brethren holding Credit Mobilier stock, he would be liable to reduce both Houses below a quorum by "jerking 'em out for lying."—N. Y. Tribune.

The Spirit of the West thus describes the new court house to be built at Walla Walla: "The edifice will be a T building, with 60x30 feet front, and an L 58x50 feet. It will be two stories high, and will have a basement 8 feet in the clear. In the basement will be the county jail. There will be 10 cells—5 that are 7x10 and 5 7x12. Four of these cells are to be lined with quarter-inch boiler iron, and all made of solid masonry, with concrete floor. The cells are to be arranged so as to be wholly separate from the main building—a hall passing all the way round. On this floor there will also be located a room for the jailer, one for the heating apparatus, and one for wood and coal. The building is to be of brick, with stone and cement foundations. The cornice, also the fluted columns on the front piazza, are to be of galvanized iron. The roof is to be covered with stand and groove joint of tin, and in the centre of the roof will be an octagon dome 20 feet in diameter and 32 feet high, surmounted with the 'Goddess of Justice.' There will be a clock in the dome showing four dials. The building is to be warmed with one of Gould's sanitary heaters."

Puget Sound Dispatch.

SEATTLE, THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1873.
Official Paper of the City.

Financial and Commercial.

SEATTLE, March 13, 1873.
The Puget Sound Banking Company report gold in New York 115 1/4, currency buying 86 1/2; Sight Exchange on Portland and San Francisco, 1/4 per cent premium on New York 1 per cent premium for Currency, 1 1/4 per cent premium for Gold. Sterling Sight Drafts on Jay Cooke, McCullough & Co., London, England, $5 10 per £. These drafts are cashed by special agreement all over Ireland, Scotland and the Continent free of charge.

The high price for gold and the decline in greenbacks, has compelled our merchants to refuse to take greenbacks at 90 cents in trade, as the merchants are not willing to lose 4 per cent. on the money paid them. We do not blame the holders of currency for getting all they can for it, at the same time greenbacks have a daily market value, caused by the so-called rise and decline of gold in the money markets of our country, and holders should not ask or expect parties to take this currency for more than it will sell for or is worth.

In the past week there has been considerable excitement in the trade-circles caused by the senior partner of the old established firm of Stone & Burnett, leaving the country with all the available cash assets of the firm. This is to be much regretted, by every business man of our city, as it damages the credit of every merchant in it, for a merchant's credit depends a great deal on the credit of the town he lives in. Seattle in commercial circles has stood very high before this, there has not been a failure to note in a year, and there was no necessity for this; it can hardly be called a failure, as it is beyond doubt, a premeditated swindle, worked up cunningly for months. In the store the stock had been reduced as low as it possibly could be, all outstanding accounts have been collected that were available, and we see no palliating circumstances for sympathy for, or glossing-over Mr. Stone's conduct. Mr. Burnett deserves great credit for his promptness in turning the house over to a receiver, and he has the sympathy and good feeling of every right minded citizen. There will be a meeting of the creditors on the 26th of this month.

There are parties in our city trying to organize a Steamship Company, to run between Sound ports and San Francisco. The object is a good one and we hope the Company will prove a success. According to the ninth Census returns the value of manufactured goods for Washington Territory was $2,851,052.

The new Drug Store, just started by Morrill & King, is doing a fair business and we doubt not they will succeed. Their drugs are all fresh. Mr. Morrill is one of the best prescription druggists we have ever had in business here.

MALICIOUS SLANDER.—A most gross and malicious slander, implicating two of our citizens heretofore above suspicion, has been going the rounds among scandal-mongers for the past week, and found a willing echo in the Sunday paper. The following card, signed by one of the slandered parties, and the man from whose house the story was reported to have emanated, puts a quietus upon the foul slander, proving it to have been a malicious invention, without a shadow or semblance of truth:

A CARD.—The undersigned have endeavored to hunt down to a responsible source, the atrocious slander which has been circulated so extensively in this community for the past few days, but have utterly failed to find a responsible author. The reported author having denied any knowledge or belief in the story, we can only say that the whole report is a groundless and malicious slander, without a shadow of truth to sustain it.
G. A. WEED, M. D.
R. J. MOORE.

THE MAILS.—The steamer Zephyr, on Monday morning, delivered the mail from Olympia promptly on time, but on its arrival no provision had been made for its further transportation down the Sound. Nash, the contractor, spent several hours in trying to procure a conveyance, and finally succeeded in engaging the tug Blackie to take it to Port Townsend, for one trip only.—When we shall have a return mail from Victoria, or another mail from the south and east, depends entirely upon the luck of the contractor in finding a steamer going either way willing to trust him for transportation. There are very few such. A suffering public would like to know how long Gov. Ferry proposes to keep his man in the field to the serious inconvenience of the public.

LIBRARY NOTICE.—From March 1st to June 1st, the Seattle Library will be open for the purpose of drawing and returning books, from 7 to 9 o'clock every Monday, Thursday and Saturday evening. Edw. H. Brown, Librarian.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Crichton, today, had the fore finger of his left hand carried away by the accidental discharge of a deringer pistol, which he was carelessly handling with his finger over the muzzle.

A CARD.—I am not in the habit of using the press, in my private affairs, but am compelled to do so, to refute a card inserted by James Boland, in which he denounces me as "Briek Top." The name may be a good one, but I am "not sorry" that it is not my name, and shall endeavor to "fasten it" upon one to whom it more rightfully belongs, more especially as it is the name, or nick-name of an individual who partly subsisted upon the wages of an Indian woman's prostitution, and partly upon the proceeds of robbing drunken men. A man who lived at the high-toned saloon, called the "Collar and Elbow," a place that was closed during the last session of Court, because the proprietor had made sufficient to retire upon, and his boarders came to the conclusion, that they were too virtuous for this immoral town. I feel it to be a shame to deprive so worthy a gentleman as James Boland, of the name of "Briek-Top," a name by which he is known from San Francisco to Cariboo, and I also object to have his name foisted upon me.

I wish to inform the public at large, that I have caused James Boland's alias Briek-Top, enmity, in consequence of being the chief cause in closing those social cess-pools of vice and corruption, those Indian Brothels, where everything that was vile was committed; and, this same house being closed, necessarily closes one of Mr. Boland's sources of revenue.

This man not having done one single "honest" stroke of labor during the last ten years, has been compelled to adopt any, and every means to keep body and soul together. But I presume the public will agree with me, that Mr. Boland's source of living, should not conflict with the public good.

TEAS.—If you want good TEAS inquire for Clayton & Co.

INDUSTRIAL FAIR.—Attention is asked to a call in this paper for a meeting of the citizens to devise ways and means to secure to this place the next Fair of the Western Washington Industrial Association. This being the most central point, and the richest county on the Sound in industrial production, both agricultural and mechanical, the managers of the Association are in favor of holding the Fair here provided the necessary funds are raised to pay the expenses of the exhibition, which several other places would gladly contribute on the same terms. But five hundred dollars is required, and it seems to us that the public advantages would much more than compensate for this expenditure, and it would be disgraceful to the enterprise and intelligence of the citizens of this county to allow it to go by default.

OFFICIAL CHANGES.—The Tribune announces the authority of a private letter from Washington to a gentleman in Olympia, that changes will be made in three of the principal Federal officers of this Territory within a few days. The changes are supposed to be in the offices of Governor, Surveyor General and Collector of the Port. We have never heard a complaint against the present Collector, but that he keeps a very mean deputy, and that is defended on the ground that it is necessary to the service to keep at least one man for duties that no gentleman would perform.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Charles Mar... President of the Bricklayers Association, this morning cut and killed the secretary of the Association, Charles Gram.

LONDON, March 6.—Advices from Gibraltar state that 200 carabines were the Spanish garrison at San Roque, and unsuccessfully attempted to create a rising in favor of Don Carlos.

There is an unauthenticated rumor this afternoon, that the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise separated because of incompatibility of temper.

NEW YORK, March 7.—At a meeting of the Republican general committee last night, resolutions were adopted protesting against the New York Charter now pending at Albany.

NEW YORK, March 7.—In answer to an enquiry by cable, Jay Cook & Co., have received a dispatch from Jay Cook, McCulloch & Co., London, stating that they have sustained no loss, or liability to loss through the forgeries referred to in the press telegrams.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The United States troops reached the scene at 11 o'clock, and McEnery's militia retired leaving the troops in possession.

the Metropolitans on duty, and no effort has been made to-day to displace the militia.

It is understood that further aggressive movements will be made by the militia to-day. For twenty squares to-night, no policeman was found on duty.

At about nine o'clock to-night a squad of fifty men attacked the Third Precinct Station, firing on the building. They were repulsed by the police, but were quickly reinforced by about 350 men.

They were attacked by General Badger with about two hundred policemen, and a piece of the artillery. For about five minutes a sharp rattle of musketry ensued. Both parties maintain their positions during the time, but at the second discharge of cannon, the militia retreated through Jackson Square, and half an hour later the police relieved their comrades who had remained during the conflict in the building.

The United States troops reached the scene at 11 o'clock, and McEnery's militia retired leaving the troops in possession.

NEW YORK, March 5.—In answer to an enquiry by cable, Jay Cook & Co., have received a dispatch from Jay Cook, McCulloch & Co., London, stating that they have sustained no loss, or liability to loss through the forgeries referred to in the press telegrams.

PITTSBURGH, March 5.—This morning, an express train going west on the Pan Handle Railroad struck a broken rail and two sleeping-cars went over an embankment. Several persons were injured.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 5.—A. S. Jones, book-keeper for the Southern Bank of Georgia, is a defaulter to the amount of $30,000.

RICHMOND, March 5.—The General Assembly has passed a resolution appointing a joint committee to make arrangements to receive President Grant, in such a manner as will comport with the dignity of the commonwealth.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 5.—The city council have resolved to invite President Grant to be a guest of the city.

OTTAWA, Canada, March 5.—The Dominion Parliament assembled to-day, and unanimously elected James Cockburne Speaker.

The Governor General will deliver his speech to-morrow from the throne.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The only immediate change in the Cabinet will be in the Secretaryship of the Treasury. Should the present incumbent be elected to the Senate. It is the opinion of President that he need not re-nominate the present members of the Cabinet for confirmation by the Senate has strengthened the fact. All of them were at their respective departments to-day, and it is said by gentlemen in executive positions that no such nominations will be made.

The Comptroller of currency notifies the National Banks, to report their condition at the close of business on February 28.

The President received very few visitors to-day, but received several military organizations who came to pay their respects, and reviewed others from the stand facing Lafayette Square.

was re-captured by the Metropolitans at half-past two o'clock this morning. Gen. Badger with eighty men and one piece of artillery reached the station, and making a detour in the rear of the building advanced towards it and sent officer Murphy to demand a surrender. Before he reached the station, the attacking party were received with a volley from shot-guns, of perhaps 75 men and immediately returned it. The men on duty retreated and the police rushed in and captured the station and seven prisoners. It was ascertained that M. J. Handler, a citizen, had been fatally wounded, the ball penetrating the abdomen. Another man named Liveman, was struck in the arm with buckshot, and fatally wounded.

At half past three all was quiet and the police at that hour returned to the upper portion of the Market-house leaving a small guard on duty.

Later—10 A.M.—City is perfectly quiet this morning. No trouble is anticipated to-day. It is now stated that Gov. McEnery did not authorize the movement by the militia last night. The metropolitans are in full possession with United States Troops supporting them. Militia are dispersed and citizens generally regard the attack last night as premature. The object of the Fusionists does not clearly appear but it is supposed to have been with a view of showing that the people will not quietly submit to the Kellogg government.

PORTLAND, Me. 5.—The roads are badly blocked with snow.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Yesterday the argument on the preliminary points in the Tweed civil case was concluded. Decision reserved.

CHARLESTON, March 5.—Rev. John Jacobs was inaugurated Governor to-day, and other State executive officers took the proper oath.

NEW YORK, March 5.—In several telegrams from English stockholders of the Erie Railway, concerning the ousting of Gould from the Presidency over a year ago and first published to-day, it appears that the movement was entirely without Gould's knowledge, and moreover the English stockholders had an inflexible determination to do nothing whatever which would involve any compromise with Gould or any of his agents.

A peculiar hoof disease, said to result from salted tracks, is very prevalent here.

YREKA, March 5.—The following was to-day and by order of the Peace Commissioners given to the press: "Headquarters Peace Commissioners March 4.—To Columbus Delano, Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C. The Modes emphatically reject all offers and propositions. They propose to meet in full force, Mescham and Applegate, with six men unarmed in the lava beds. This undoubtedly means treachery. We are willing to meet them in conference but not upon their terms. They have an accession of twenty-four warriors, not Modocs, without a doubt. We will send messages of protection to all who come out. The mission is a failure. Instruct immediately. Time is of vast importance. Convey awaits. Signed, A. B. MEACHAM, Chairman Peace Com.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The President signed all the bills presented to him yesterday and to-day, with the exception of sixteen, mostly of a private character.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The Tribune's Washington special referring to the proposed increase of Congressional salaries and the reports of conferees on the Legislative appropriation bill, says, Garfield professed to be opposed to the job and made some excuses about the stubbornness of the Senate conferees, and that he could not hear anything less than the sum made. He hoped that the House would adopt the report however, because if it did not the bill would be lost. Sargent, too, tried to make the members believe they must adopt the bill or lose it and thus make an extra session necessary. This was an unexcusable attempt to drive inexperienced members. Garfield and Sargent and every old member knew, it has often happened that two or three conferees reports on appropriation bills have been rejected up to the last night of the session, and bills have finally been saved by a satisfactory report.

The following new members were sworn in to-day, at the meeting of the Senate of the 43d Congress: Allison, Boggs, Cameron, Conkling, Canover, Dennis, Dorsey, Howe, Ingalls, McCreery of Kentucky, Mitchell, Morrill, Morton, Oglesby, Pattison, Sargent, Sherman, and Merriman. Owing to some inadvertence Conkling's credentials had not yet been received but Haslin remarked, that the Senator's election was a matter of public notoriety and moved that the oath of office be administered to him, which was unanimously agreed to. Senators Gordon Jones and Wadling did not appear.

NEW YORK, March 4.—It appears that the directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company at a meeting held yesterday, agree to purchase four of Webb's steamers for a million of dollars, and made an appropriation for the completion of iron vessels for the route now being fitted up. Twenty-seven thousand shares of reserved stock of the Company was sold when stock was at par. It is understood that Stockwell has at the request of the directors placed in their hands additional collateral securities for mortgages on his property.

ALBANY, March 4.—The Senate by a vote of seventeen to eleven declare that Tweed's seat is not vacant.

been fought Campbell was badly pummeled, while Hicken was nearly untouched.

HEAVENWORTH, March 4.—Sixteen Arapahoe warriors led by Big Mouth, visited the fort to-day and inspected the Morris school.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Apollo Hall general committee last evening elected John McCall, chairman, and the opposing candidate was Judge Spaulding. During the meeting the police arrested one of the members, who was improperly voting as a substitute.

The Foster relieve is understood to be granted, although the Governor may consult the Judges of the Court of Appeals. The prisoner's friends now think the sentence may be commuted to imprisonment for life at hard labor in Sing Sing. The news was received at the Forts at a late hour, and when made known to Foster he became somewhat overcome, but said it was something he never expected.

A more or less Scotch wife was remonstrated with by her minister for her habit of beating her husband. She exclaimed that her husband's conduct was not all that it ought to be. The minister, recommending kindness and forgiveness, enjoined her to no more use her fists and nails, but to "heap coals of fire on his head." "Well, minister," replied the now enlightened wife, "since you say so, I'll try the coals, but I may tell you that two or three kettles o' boiling water has wrought no improvement."
