PUGET SOUND, EDITOR

How ELECTIONS ARE CARRIED.—Before an Investigating Committee of the New York Legislature, recently, the notorious Jay Gould gave the following testimony:

To Mr. Carpenter—I remember sending some money up to Orange and Sullivan counties, to carry the Republican ticket, and I succeeded. I always think it better to pay your money in that way than to pay it afterward—you get better results. [Laughter.] I don't remember how much. Whatever they said was necessary; several thousands I believe. I believe I made the arrangement through Senator Madden. I don't remember in how many other Senatorial districts I have paid money in to elect certain men, but I guess in all. I was beset with applications from all sides. It was the custom. Cannot give any idea of the amounts of money I have paid. We had four States to look after—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio—and I have spent thousands in all of them. In a Republican district I was a strong Republican. In a Democratic district I was the strongest kind of a democrat; in doubtful districts I was doubtful. I was an Erie railroad man every time, but I was so mixed politically that I don't know what I am. [Laughter.] Couldn't pretend to say how many men I have assisted.

This is an other evidence of a fact well known before, that party politics are merely a matter of money, and that popular elections are simply commercial transactions, like the contests between the "bulls" and "bears" on "change"; the spoils of office and Government jobs and subsidies being the prizes contended for by the scheming politicians. Railroad combinations, bank syndicates and brokers' rings, invest their money in elections, send their agents and attorneys to Congress or State Legislatures, and make large dividends out of the appropriations from the public treasury, or by special grants which enable them to levy contributions upon the people. Thus are the people first corrupted and then forced to pay for their own corruption through legislative subsidies and legalized monopolies.

That the last Presidential election was carried by the free use of corruption money, is not denied by the victors, but rather boasted of as an evidence of superior fitness. It was conceded by all that the result of the October elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, would determine the contest, and it was generally admitted that without the greatest exertions to prevent it, all of those States would go for the reform movement represented in the nomination of Mr. Greeley. Among the means adopted to that end, were negotiations entered into with a number of guilds and labor associations in Philadelphia, representing an aggregate of 30,000 voters. While these negotiations were pending, the friends of the Administration were not all hopeful of success; but immediately after they were closed just before the elections, the result was announced by telegraph, that "Pennsylvania is certain for the Republican ticket." The sum paid for that vote, as is now generally known, was $3,000,000, raised principally by the party bosses of New York city, interested in Government subsidies and pickings. Ohio and Indiana were carried by similar means, and the contest for President was virtually closed. From that day Grant walked over the course almost without opposition.

The same system of corruption prevails wherever the old party organizations are maintained, and is constantly getting worse. The only remedy for the growing evil is in the people. They can end it at once by refusing to submit to party discipline, to be used as instruments and tools by party managers, whose sole claim to their support is based upon party fidelity. All admit the evil, but all have not the moral courage to bear the taunts and abuse of their leaders as recalcitrants to their party obligations.

HEPHERSON TO A SATIRE.—Two panels were left in frescoing the room of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations, with the understanding that they were to be filled by portraits of four of the most eminent chairmen of that committee since the foundation of the Government. These have finally been filled, at the urgent request of Senator Cameron, but it has not been ascertained who made the selections. The portraits painted are those of Messrs. Cameron, Sumner, William Allen of Ohio, and Henry Clay.

The association of the names of Henry Clay and Simon Cameron, as "eminent statesmen" of their respective ages, is the most biting commentary upon the degeneracy of the times that could be conceived by the most cynical historian. Henry Clay, the very genius of eloquence and embodiment of statesmanship, the author of the "American system" and the master spirit in the conflict of ideas struggling for ascendancy in the policy of the Government for thirty years or more, to be assigned a twin niche in a national portrait gallery with Simon Cameron, the party huxley, who has stamped upon the records of the country no single act or utterance not associated with political bribery and corruption and official peculation; whose portrait would be in more fitting association in the rogue's gallery, and whose name and achievements are better calculated to grace the criminal calendar than to embellish our political history! The very thought of the proposed association is sickening, and the act will stand as a perpetual monument of our national degradation.

Of all the statesmen of America, living or dead—the infamous Benjamin F. Butler not excepted—the history of Simon Cameron is the very last that any reputable father would wish to hold up for the emulation of his son. A successful gold winner, and by the power of his gold alone, the winner of official distinction, his most partial friend or partisan can not point to a single contribution from him to the literature, art, or glory of the country, or an achievement for the benefit of mankind. He is utterly incapable of a creditable literary effort of any kind.

As a practical printer and newspaper publisher, he was obliged to conduct the editorial services of others in conducting his business, and in all his official positions, he never made a speech, report, or a paper of any kind which was not concocted and prepared by other brains than his own. If he is the author or originator of any measure or policy connected with our Government it is that of winning office by bribery and corruption, now so commonly practiced in politics. And this is the man honored for his party services, through the instrumentality of his ill gotten wealth, by placing him upon the same pedestal with one of the most honored statesmen the country has ever produced. Alas! and alas! that we have come to this!

The Springfield Republican replying to the World's prophecy of a Democratic triumph in the next Presidential election, gets off the following:

About the time the world sees an anti-war, anti abolition, anti-negro suffrage statesman of the modern Democratic school unpacking his trunks in the White House, it will also see a lark-pie a drug in the Fulton market coffee stalls, Mr. Tweed conducting the exercises at the daily noon prayer meeting, and Mr. Train grounding the young gentlemen at the Union theological seminary in the evidences of the Christian religion.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune says there is a strong belief in the Treasury Department that the law abolishing the offices of Assessor and Assistant Assessor will effect a very small reduction, if any, in the expenses of the Revenue Bureau. A large number of Collectors, paid by special allowances, have forwarded applications for increased compensation in view of the increased duties, and special deputy Collectors will have to be appointed, or else special allowances for doing the Assessors work will have to be provided for. The correspondent says, further, that "it is shown by figures in the Treasury Department that there are a large number of Collectors whose salaries and expenses amount to more than they collect in taxes. This is particularly the case in all the Territories."

A Berlin dispatch of April 23d says: "The Japanese ambassadors have just returned from St. Petersburg, and have had a lengthy conference with an eminent German professor of jurisprudence regarding the propriety of endeavoring to establish the Christian religion as the State religion of Japan. The professor earnestly dissuaded them from the project. The ambassadors had already come to regard a change as probable, and were favorable to it. They listened eagerly to the reasons of the professor, who adduced facts from the history of Christendom to show that this religion cannot be enforced by governments. He said it was only vital when it grows amongst the people and from the people. He counselled granting full religious liberty, as the most desirable course. The ambassadors expressed satisfaction with the advice."

The San Francisco Alta is responsible for the story that a Nevada lawyer had as a client a man who was accused of murder, and that the principal witness in his favor was his wife, who was incapacitated from giving testimony by reason of her relation to him, he got the trial postponed, brought in a suit for divorce in her behalf and secured it, and then triumphantly placed her in the stand to secure the acquittal of her husband, after which the parties remarried.

A SEVERE HIT.—The Green Bay (Wis.) Advocate relates the following, which gives a severe stab at the free pass system as applied to public conveyances: A prominent lawyer related to me an anecdote of the late Nicholas Hill, of Albany, which seems to be in point on this subject. Hill, one day, in arguing an important case against a railroad company, before the Court of Appeals, Jewelt largely on the aggressions and abuses of railroads, and gave a history of them in the State of New York for the previous twenty five years. When he had finished his narration he raised up and pointing his finger at the court, said: "Your Honor, if this condition of things is permitted to go on for fifty years to come, as it has for the past twenty, the railroads will almost dare to presume to tender passes to gentlemen occupying your high position;" "and," said my friend, "Hill knew perfectly well that all the Judges had passes in their pockets when he was addressing them."

It is supposed that a good many more Congressmen would have returned their salary dead had they not found that they could loan the money at two per cent. per month.

The Legislative Assembly of Montana Territory convened at Virginia city in extra session on the 11th. The following officers were elected: G. W. Stapleton, of Beaver Head, President of the Council; John H. Rodgers, of Deer Lodge, Speaker of the House; W. W. Chapman, (son of Colonel W. W. Chapman, of Portland), Chief Clerk of the House; and A. M. S. Carpenter, Chief Clerk of the Council. The message of Governor Potts opposes the issuance of bonds of the Territory to any railroad company. Recommends the reduction of free offices of the counties and of the Territory, and the adoption of suitable regulations for the government of the Territorial Penitentiary in accordance with the late law of Congress turning the control of that institution over to the Territory.

An editor of many years experience said not long since, that the man was yet unborn who could write a local item and be perfectly sure that nobody would be offended. People are so sensitive, you know!

Be careful how you go to sleep at an auction. A gentleman settled himself in a comfortable chair, and his senses soothed by the auctioneer's lullaby, soon dropped asleep. When his nap was over he left the place. The next day he was astonished at the receipt of a bill for several hundred dollars worth of carpet and other things. The auctioneer had received his somnolent nods for bids.

A story is told of a French gentleman who, having lost the bulk of his property through the rascality of friends in whom he trusted, crowned it all by the loss of his mental balance, and for the remainder of his days found his only delight in riding in omnibuses and passing fares from passengers to the driver, taking care when change was returned to add to it a sou or two from his pocket, and watch the effects on the receiver. In nine cases out of ten, as the story goes, the passenger, counting over his change and finding, as he supposed, that the driver had cheated himself, would look bewildered for a moment, and then pocket the change with a quiet chuckle. The special delight of the lunatic was in satisfying himself in this way, that nine tenths of his fellow men were dishonest if they only had the opportunity.

EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE DAILY DISPATCH

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Chief Justice Chase died here this morning of apoplexy. He was attacked yesterday.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Gen. Sherman in conversation on Modoc affairs, shows he fully appreciates the situation. He has entered upon the subject with his characteristic energy. All reinforcement required will be sent to Schofield without delay, to the last man that can be spared. A regiment will be conveyed to Omaha to be in readiness for prompt movement. A body of 400 scouts will be raised. Senator Scholay has had several interviews with Sherman and is satisfied no effort will be spared at headquarters to enable Schofield to inflict on Capt. Jack and his fellow savages a blow will not soon be forgotten by them or other tribes on the Pacific Coast. Sherman has no fears of a general Indian war.

DIXON, Ill., May 5.—Derricks were got in place by noon and 5 bodies were speedily recovered. River banks in the vicinity are lined with people all day. There are other bodies beneath the fallen spans. Forty-two bodies have been recovered.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Department of State has received information of the removal of O'Kelly to Havana. That his case is decidedly less serious than was anticipated and that all proper facilities will be extended him.

The aggregate amount paid into the Treasury up to noon to-day, by twenty-seven members of Congress, being their return of extra compensation, is $111,000, including a check received this morning from Secretary of Senate Gorham, on account of Senator Sumner for $4,444.

ST. LOUIS, May 5.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday afternoon at a bridge being erected over La Mine river on the Northeastern extension of the M. & K. R.R. The false works erected for facilitating the construction of the bridge, sank in quick sands and while it was standing carrying with it the bridge timbers and 12 workmen, precipitating all into the river. Three were killed, two fatally injured.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A party of English bankers with families left here this evening for San Francisco, accompanied by Mr. Pullman.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—The Mexican steamer brought 219,500 Mexican dollars, mostly for shipment to China.

J. C. Horr, late partner of the absconding Abbott of Olympia, has completed arrangements to purchase all assets of the firm. Ed. East for Olympia next Saturday.

LAVA BEDS, May 5, via YREKA, May 6.—Nothing new. The horrid Indians are supposed to occupy the same position held by them at the time of the attack on Capt. Thomas. Large fires are seen nightly in that direction which proves that some of Capt. Jack's gang are still there. The troops will probably not make any movement until Col. Wheaton arrives with what troops can be got forward from Camps Harney, Warner and Bidwell.

From Capt. Hizer, of the Oregon Militia we learn that he has raised a company of 30 men under the proclamation of Gov. Grover calling for 300 volunteers. He proposes to raise the company to 100.

SAN DIEGO, May 6.—Gen. Juan de Sana, commander of the National Guard of Sonora, Mexico, visited Cachise for the purpose of effecting a reconciliation which Cachise refused to entertain, denouncing the Mexicans strongly. The General saw horses, mules and accoutrements taken at different times from the victims of the Apache Indians.

Capt. Jeffers, agent of the Apaches, admits that the Indians raided into Sonora and returned with stock; but he says it is not his business to call them to account for the acts, it being part of the treaty that U. S. Troops should not interfere. The General complains bitterly of sufferings along the border from raids and says they cannot punish the Indians as they cannot follow them over the border.

YREKA, May 6.—The courier who came in to-day was informed by the courier at Balls from the lava bed, that he was fired on between Dorris's Ranch and Balls, obliging him to lay out all night concealed. He and others who have arrived from the front since the late slaughter bring no news worth publishing. Nothing will be done until reinforcements arrive, unless Capt. Jack attacks the camp. Gen. Davis is inspecting the country and will probably give his views on the situation, leaving the present officers to carry on any new programme decided upon.

Some four or five Indian heads have been forwarded to the War department museum from the Modoc headquarters and we learn some more curiosities of the same kind are to be sent.

From Wm. Baggett, who came here last week from Hot Spring Valley, we learn that the settlers there are prepared and on the lookout for Modocs, in case they are driven from the Lava bed. He does not believe that the Pit River Indians committed any depredations in Hot Spring Valley or that they will be likely to do so, as they have no or shown any such spirit, excepting those on the South fork of Pit River. These South fork Indians and the Pintas are the only Indians he thinks might take a hand in the fight. The Pintas were painted and well armed, in Surprise Valley about the time Bernard's troop came over the lava bed.

QUEENSTOWN, May 6.—A vessel which arrived to-day reports, in latitude 23° 7' North, Longitude 31° West, passed a large American ship on fire and apparently abandoned. Name not ascertained.

A division took place at an early time this morning, when Goot was sustained by a majority of 31. The proposal of the committee was that an adjournment should take place until the return of Sir Hugh Allan, Sir George Cartier and Mr. Abbott from England. A motion to this effect was carried by the majority above mentioned.

BRUSSELS, May 7.—The Nord, a Russian Journal, issued this afternoon denies that the Khan of Kheva has offered conditional submission to the Russian demand. The Nord says it is true the Khan has released prisoners held in captivity, but in return has demanded the immediate withdrawal of the Russian Expedition against Kheva, with other conditions which could be accepted by the Czar.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Tribune says that negotiations are in progress for the absorption of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph by the Western Union Telegraph Co., and it is understood that the basis of the arrangement is that the latter company shall give a portion of its shares, held in reserve, for the controlling interest in the former. The Capital stock of the Pacific and Atlantic Co. is $2,000,000.

VIENNA, May 7.—The Minister of Commerce gave an entertainment last evening, to the officials of the Exhibition. Among the toasts given was one by Bayard Taylor: The Industry of Austria.

LONDON, May 7.—A correspondent of the News ridicules the American display at the Exhibition and gives the following as the list of articles to be seen in the section assigned to the United States: Two cases of Colt's fire-arms, 3 binoculars, one stuffed eagle, a dentist's chair, 2 self-cellars, and six bottles of water taken from the Mississippi River. An explanation of former meager display is found in the mismanagement of the American section and it is confidently hoped that now the new Commissioners and Exhibitors have gone actively to work to repair a faulty display. Goods from America will be speedily unpacked and the Exhibition from that country will be up to the standard.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Gov. Booth, Mayor Alv. I., and other leading citizens, tendered a public dinner to Wm. Late Brook, British Consul who was about to return to England on a visit.

NEW YORK, May 7.—In answer to the request by Pacific Mail S. S. Co. for authority to send mails from San Francisco to China by foreign steamer, June 1st, or if this might not be granted, to send by an American steamer sailing on the 10th, might be allowed to come in payment as under contract. The Post Master General has informed the Co. that the Department should not pay for carrying mails on the foreign steamer which they will dispatch June 1st, but if an American steamer conforms in all respects to requirements of the law and contract, circumstances of her sailing on the 10th of June, will not prevent service from being recognized under the contract.

LONDON, 8.—A dispatch from Rome to the Standard says the Pope received pilgrims from France, Monday, against the advice of his physicians, and was very much prostrated at the conclusion of the audience. The same dispatch says that it is generally believed that the Pope is dead, but nothing to confirm this belief has been received in London.

VIENNA, May 9.—There was a wild panic on the Bourse to-day, caused by the failure of a leading firm, which threw a large amount of stock on the market. So great was the excitement that business was impossible. Speculators have petitioned government to order a suspension of transactions for several days and adopt measures of relief. During the height of the panic Rothschild and Schey were publicly insulted.

The number of visitors to the exposition since the opening, has been from 12,000 to 16,000 daily.

HAVANNA, May 9.—The Spanish steamer arrived with 400 Carlist prisoners to reinforce the Spanish army in the field. A boat from an English gunboat received Blawell the bank forger and carried him to the English steamer Corsica which left this evening for England.
