A PRESENTIMENT.

About sixty years ago a remarkable case was tried at the criminal side, in the county of Cork.

The writer wishes to pledge himself at the outset to the literal authenticity of the narrative, which he heard from the lips of the late eminent queen's counsel George Bennett, at that time a junior on the Munster circuit, and himself an eye-witness and an attentive listener at the trial.

On a fine summer evening, when the rustic hour of supper was approaching, there appeared at the door of a comfortable thatched cabin, of large dimensions, such as the class of persons known in Ireland as "strong farmers" usually inhabit, a stranger, dressed in the then peasant costume, corduroy shorts, frieze coat, cap and brogues, and with a blackthorn stick in his hand.

The wayfarer entered with the usual salutations, "God save all here," and asked if this was not Denis McCarthy's house. The women who were in the cabin told him it was, and asked him civilly to sit down, "and take an air of the fire;" and with this invitation he complied, entertaining his new acquaintances the while with such news as he had collected while on his journey.

The man was dark featured, of middle stature, and of square and powerful build.

In a little while Denis McCarthy, returning from his fields, entered his cabin door, and the stranger introduced himself as his cousin, Phil. Ryan, from Cappaghmor, in the county of Limerick, and told him what had brought him to that distant part of the world. His business was to say certain prayers, according to Irish usage, over the grave of a certain kinsman of both, who died two or three weeks before, and was buried in the neighboring graveyard.

McCarthy received his cousin although he had never seen his face before, with the customary cordiality of clanship, and told him that he must sup and sleep in his house that night, and eat his breakfast there before setting out in the morning on his homeward journey.

To all this the stranger consented, and then, as he was unacquainted with the situation of the graveyard, he asked McCarthy, if it was far off, to show him the way to it, and point out the grave of their cousin.

McCarthy readily consented, and as the potatoes were not quite boiled, it was agreed that they should set out at once, and return in time for supper.

In the south of Ireland simple burial places, probably of immense antiquity, containing no vestige of a sacred building, rudely fenced with a loose stone wall, lichen-stained, and often overgrown with ivy, with perhaps two or three hawthorns, and an ancient ash tree growing with them, are frequently to be met with. Possibly these small and solitary inclosures were dedicated to the same funeral uses long before the dawn of Christianity broke upon the island.

A wild and narrow track, perhaps as crooked as the place of sepulture itself, crossing at a short distance from McCarthy's cabin, the comparatively modern main road, leads over a little rising ground to the burial place, which lies in the lap of a lonely hollow, seldom disturbed by the sound of human tread or voice, or the rattle of car-wheel.

McCarthy and the stranger walked up the ancient and silent by-road, until they reached the hollow I have mentioned. There, under the shadow of an old twisted thorn tree, a stile crosses the loose wall of the burial ground. At this stile they came to a pause.

"Go on," said McCarthy.
"Go you first," replied the stranger.
"Go first yourself," said the farmer a little preemtorially, making stand, he did not know why, upon the point of precedence.

"Atta man; go on, can't ye, and don't be botherin'; what are you afraid of?" insisted Ryan.

"Now I tell you what it is; I don't understand you, nor what you're at; but devil a bit I'll go over that wall till you go over it first," said McCarthy doggedly.

The man laughed and looked angry. "To be sure I'll go over it first if that'll please ye; and what does it matter whose first or whose last?" answered he surlily. "But you're the biggest omadhaun I ever set eyes on."

And, speaking to this effect, he crossed the stile followed by McCarthy, who pointed out the grave, and forthwith the stranger knelt beside it, according to Irish custom, and began to tell his beads and say his prayers, an observance which usually lasts about a quarter of an hour.

When the prayers were ended the farmer and Ryan, now quite good friends again, returned to the farm house, where the stranger had his supper with the family, and in the morning, having eaten his breakfast, took his leave and set out on his homeward journey.

Irish ideas of hospitality in peasant rank make it a matter of obligation upon the host to accompany his guest for a part of his way. McCarthy, in compliance with this courteous custom, set out with the stranger, and about a mile away from his house they entered a little village, where he shook hands with his guest, and bid him farewell.

But his visitor would not depart without testifying his gratitude according to the custom of the country, by treating his kinsman to some drink, which he on doing insisted in the vill go public house, the floor of which stood open close by them.

McCarthy accordingly went in with him. They sat down at a table, and the stranger, having ascertained what his cousin liked best, and ordered a pot of porter, making some excuse for not partaking himself.

When McCarthy raised the pewter pot to his lips a sudden pain, which he afterwards describes more particularly, in the back of his neck, compelled him to set it down untasted.

The stranger urged him to drink it, and without explaining the cause of his hesitation, he a second time raised the vessel to his mouth. Precisely the same thing occurred again.

Once more the stranger expostulated, and pressed him more vehemently to drink; and again he tried it with exactly the same result.

"What ails ye? and why don't you drink your liquor? Don't you like it?" the stranger demanded.

"I don't like it?" answered McCarthy, getting up, "and I don't like ye nor your ways, and in God's name, I'll have nothing more, good or bad, to say to you."

"To the devil pitch you and it," said the stranger, breaking into undisguised fury, and at the same time, through the open door, he flung the contents of the pewter pot upon the road.

Without another word, in this temper, the unknown cousin strode out of the door and walked on his way, leaving the farmer in a state of perturbation and suspicion.

Happening to look into the pewter pot, which had contained the porter just thrown out, he saw a white sediment at the bottom of it. He and the publican put their heads together over it, but could make nothing of this deposit.

It so happened, however, that the physician was in attendance at the dispensary, only a few yards away, and to him they submitted the white powder that lay in the bottom of the measure. It proved to be arsenic.

The mud upon the road where the porter had fallen was also examined, and some of the same deposit was found upon it.

Upon these facts, and the prompt information sworn by McCarthy, a neighboring magistrate at once issued his warrant, with which the police pursued the miscreant, who without apprehension of his purpose having been discovered, was pursuing his journey, quite at his ease. He was arrested, and duly committed to prison.

The animus and purpose of the heinous enterprise came afterwards to light. The pretended cousin, whose real name was Mara, had been bribed to put McCarthy to death, by a person interested in the termination of a lease in which McCarthy was the last life.

The attempt to poison was only a resource in reserve. The primary plan, and that relied on with good reason, was of a totally different kind. Under the pretext I have mentioned, McCarthy was to have been induced to accompany Mara to the lonely graveyard, the position of which and the stile by which it was entered, being familiar to him. He was to have allowed McCarthy to cross the stile first, and following him closely, as he descended it at the other side, he was from above to have dealt him, with his heavy loaded stick, such a blow upon the head as must have felled him to the ground, and as he lay stunned in the graveyard, he would have easily dispatched him. The sounds of violence in that sequestered place no ear could have heard, and no human aid could have interfered to prevent the consummation of his atrocious purpose.

The women, who, in the large barn-like room were attending to the preparations for supper at its further end, had caught nothing of the conversation of the two men at the doors. The effect of this might not very improbably have been that no one would have known in what direction their walk had lain, or could have conjectured where the body of McCarthy, if he had been murdered, was concealed. It might have lain under the wall of that rude cemetery until covered until the next funeral brought people into its solitary inclosure.

At this point all turned upon the presentiment which had so mysteriously determined McCarthy without motive of which he was conscious, going over the stile before him. McCarthy was too powerful a man to have been assailed on fair terms, with a reasonable chance of the intended assassin's success.

When the trial was over, Mr. Bennett, my informant, who, though not in the case listened to the trial with deep interest, found an opportunity of speaking to the prosecutor, and asked him some questions upon the most extraordinary point in the question deposited to

What passed was to the following effect:

"You stated that you were prevented from drinking the porter by a pain in the back of your neck. Did that pain affect all the back of your neck? and if not, to what part of your neck was it confined?"

"It was in one spot only, close under the skull, on the backbone."
"Was it a severe pain?"
"The worst I ever felt."
"Had you ever had the same pain before?"

"Never any pain like it before nor since?"
"Can you give me any idea what the pain was like?"

"It covered about the size of the top of a man's finger pressed hard against the neck, and it felt like a red-hot bullet."

"Did the pain last long?"
"It came whenever I raised the porter to my mouth, and stopped as soon as I set the vessel down again; and I could not drink or hold the vessel up while it lasted."

Some persons will account upon natural, though complicated theories, for the mental and physical impressions which they may suppose, resulted in this sensation, and in the prosecutor, McCarthy, from a deep laid scheme of murder. Others will see nearly insuperable difficulties in the way of such an explanation. It is, in any case, one of the most remarkable instances of justice satisfied and life saved by mysterious premonition that I have ever met with.

The hired assassin was convicted, and although his intention had been defeated, his crime was then, I believe, a capital one. The wretch who employed him was also, if I remember rightly, convicted and punished.

I relate this story with a very exact recollection of the terms in which it was told to me, and with a conscientious anxiety to reproduce the narrative accurately. It is extraordinary enough, I think, to merit being rescued from oblivion.

Railroad Prospects of Walla Walla Valley.

All engineers and railroad men generally, who have visited his portion of Washington Territory, agree that the true policy for the country at large would be to have a branch of the Northern Pacific Railroad to this town with its common gauge. And then narrow gauge roads could be run from this point towards Lewiston, draining the rich valleys to the northeast of us, and southward through Umatilla county, and so on over the Blue Mountains to Grand Ronde and Powder River valleys, Oregon, which valleys have already large and wealthy populations, and produce a great amount of grain. By this arrangement Walla Walla could be made the distributing point, for not only this valley, but also those of Grand Ronde, Powder river and Eagle creek, instead of some point on Columbia river, or some place northeast of us on the Northern Pacific. This would also give us two sets of railroad buildings, including depots, machine shops, etc., and would make Walla Walla a prominent railroad center, which would at once attract other enterprise, thereby give such a degree of stability to this city that it could not be ignored by any company whatever. Of our railroad from Walla Walla to the Columbia river, now in process of construction, we have previously spoken.

As this country is rather sparsely timbered, there will, in a short time, be a large trade in coal, which will be brought over from Puget Sound to be distributed from this point, in exchange for wheat, the staple of this and other valleys, which can be taken as return freight to the seaboard in unbroken bulk. There is nothing whatever to prevent the building of a wide gauge road from this city to any point on the Northern Pacific Railroad, in any direction in which that road is likely to run across the country from the Bitter Root mountains to the Cascades. The Blue mountains constitute the only obstruction to the building of the road to Grand Ronde, Powder river and Eagle creek valleys. And they, though over 3,000 feet high, are by no means impassable, especially for a narrow gauge track, which, by making sharper curves, could be made much more available than a wide one. According to the survey of Col. Hudnut a narrow track could be laid over these mountains with an average grade of only 80 feet to the mile. Responsible and energetic men have already taken the matter in hand, and are determined to push it to a successful completion. The right of way has already been secured for a portion of the route, and efforts will be made to secure it over the government lands. The following are the names of the incorporators: Phillip Ritz, president; H. J. Meacham, Judge D. W. Lichtenhaler, James Hendershott and Geo. Coggins. In behalf of the whole county we cordially wish them success in their most noble enterprise.—Walla Walla next Estate Record.

The Late Senator Grimes.

The Burlington (Iowa) Gazette has claimed that the late Senator Grimes, the man to whom, above all others, the Republican party are indebted for their unquestioned ascendancy in that State, had for years been convinced that the legitimate mission of that party had been consummated, both in state and nation. As proof of its statements, the Gazette publishes a letter written by Senator Grimes from Switzerland to Judge Mason, and dated February 27, 1872.—From this letter we take the following unequivocal and very significant avowals:

"I rejoice that I have ceased to have any active part in politics, and I assure you that no man could be more happy to get into the Senate than I was to get out of it after the inroad of the carpet-bag knights of the South.

"I have no doubt about the result of the contest of 1872, if the Democrats make wise nominations; but they must not give us adversaries the advantage of the war issues, as they did before by nominating Blair, on the strength of his Broadhead letter, nor will they succeed upon the strength of the Pendleton financial theory, which drives to the Republican support thousands of conservative men who look upon it as a sort of concealed repudiation. But the Republicans will be overthrown and ought to be:

1. Because of the utter failure of their scheme for the reconstruction of the South.
2. Because of their resolve to perpetuate as long as possible all of the passions of the civil war, and their consequent refusal to enfranchise the men in the South who were honest enough to fight on the strength of their convictions.
3. Because of their inexorable resolution to maintain an enormous tariff by which a few are benefited at the expense of the many, and by which they have utterly destroyed our commerce.
4. Because of the persistent attempts of the Administration to force upon us Spanish Catholic Negro States, not only without the wish, but against the well known wish of the people of the country—all in the interest of a "ring."

5. Because of the corruption that is reeking everywhere in legislation, in the shape of land jobbing, steamship subsidies, Chorpensing claims; and in administrations in the Cherokee land sale, the gold corner in New York, and in various other cases.

My own opinion is that the financial issues heretofore raised by the Democratic party are pretty much exhausted, and that they have had a tendency to weaken rather than to strengthen the party. But of this I may be mistaken.

Very truly yours,
J. W. GRIMES

NECESSITY OF SLEEP.

There are thousands of busy people who die every year for want of sleep. Sleeplessness becomes a disease and is the precursor of insanity. We speak of sleep as the image of death, and our waking hours as the image of life. Sleep is not like death for it is the period in which the waste of the system ceases, or is reduced to its minimum. Sleep repairs the waste which waking hours have made. It rebuilds the system. The night is the repair-shop of the body. Every part of the system is silently overhauled, and all the organs, tissues and substances are replenished. Waking consumes and exhausts, sleep repairs and replaces. A man who would be a good worker must be a good sleeper. A man has as much force in him as he had provided for in sleep. The quality of mental activity depends upon the quality of sleep. Men need on an average, eight hours of sleep a day. A lymphatic temperament may require nine; a nervous temperament six or seven. A lymphatic man is sluggish; moves and sleeps slowly. But a nervous man acts quickly in everything. He does more in one hour than a sluggish man in two hours; and so in his sleep. Every man must sleep according to his temperament—but eight hours is the average. Whoever, by work, pleasure, sorrow, or by any other cause, is regularly diminishing his sleep, is destroying his life. A man may hold out for a time, but the crash will come, and he will die. There is a great deal of interpenetration besides that of tobacco, opium or brandy. Men are dissipated who overtax their system all day and undersleep every night. A man who lies of delirium tremens is no more a drunkard and a suicide than the minister, lawyer, merchant, editor or printer, that works excessively all day and sleeps but little all night.

FOOLED HIM.—A croupy youth in a neighboring town having strongly objected to taking his medicine, was induced to make a hearty meal of buckwheat cakes and "maple syrup," but the latter proved to be live syrup of squills.—"he boy said he thought something ailed the molasses the minute his father told him he could eat all he wanted to."

BENJAMIN BROWN, EDITOR.

Seattle, Thursday, May 23, 1872.

Greeley or Grant.

No event in the future can be predicted with greater certainty than that either Greeley or Grant will be the next President of the United States. This is clear to every disinterested, intelligent observer of the current of political events for the past ten years. If the Democratic National Convention declines to make a nomination, or indorses the nominees of the Cincinnati Convention, the election of Greeley by such a majority as no candidate has received for the last twenty years can scarcely be doubted. But if the Democrats place a party candidate in the field, it can have no other effect than to divide the forces of the opposition and thereby elect Grant by a larger plurality than he received at the last election. The reasons for this are obvious to all who are not blinded by party prejudices or personal considerations. The last State election in Missouri is a fair illustration of this proposition. No man believes that the Liberal party would have succeeded or that the Democrats had defeated in that election had there been a Democratic ticket in the field. Parties stand divided there upon the same grounds to-day; with a Democratic ticket and a Liberal ticket in the field, the Democrats would sweep the State; or with a Democratic ticket and a Radical ticket only, more Liberals would vote with the Democrats than with the Democrats and thus turn the scale. The same result would follow in nearly every State. With three candidates for President in the field, the conservative elements of the Southern States which have heretofore cooperated since the war, would be divided so that it would be impossible to carry one of them against Grant, and no Democratic candidate could possibly be elected without them. But if the Democrats make a nomination, Greeley and Brown will be withdrawn, the Liberal movement will be dispersed and parties will resolve themselves into their old elements, with greater powers in the hands of the Administration to maintain its supremacy than ever before. The Liberals will not consent to be made the tail of a Democratic kite, and thousands of Democrats disgusted with the bombast and selfishness of their leaders in rejecting the certainty of a triumph of their principles for the uncertainty of a party triumph, will vote for Grant as a choice of evils; and they will do right. The Democracy have professed to regard the Administration of Grant as the greatest calamity which can befall the country short of political destruction. The Cincinnati nominations test the honesty of these professions. If they are sincere and those who make them are actuated by patriotic motives, they will accept the conditions upon which a thorough reform of the abuses complained of are offered. Every principle and every measure, which they have pretended to be willing to make any reasonable sacrifice to establish, they have now the assurance they can secure by their suffrages. They have no reason to doubt the integrity or fidelity of the nominees. The only reason which they can offer for rejecting this proposition is, that they prefer party to country, and would surrender the certainty of establishing the principles which they profess to regard as vital to the best interests of the country, for the desperate chance of achieving a party victory and the control of party spoils. Those who imagine that the Democratic party by this exhibition of selfishness and insincerity puts itself in a position to profit by the disaffection in the Republican party, will find themselves grievously mistaken. By it they lose the confidence of all sincere and disinterested supporters of reform measures and postpone indefinitely the time when the Democracy might hope to regain its supremacy in the land. Late Democratic party rule in New York, California and Oregon has not been calculated to inspire confidence in the integrity of that party or faith in its pledges, and thousands of honest reformers of both parties would deem it safer, "to endure the ills we have than fly to others that we know not of." We believe we have seen the worst of Grant's Administration, and have no doubt it would be better for the country to endure it for another four years, with a reasonable prospect of the disintegration of both political parties and the formation of a new one upon a higher plane of political morality at the end of that time, than to change for the rule of another party which has for the past few years only manifested itself through packed conventions, subsidized Legislatures and corrupt rings organized for public plunder.

Politics in Oregon.—Party politics are now running high in Oregon, pending the June election. The two wings of the Republican party in Portland contested the primaries and polled a larger vote than was given at the last election by both political parties. It was deemed "all fair in politics" and the defeated ring succumbed to the victors. In a recent conversation with a clergyman from Oregon, who had heretofore been a very active Republican partisan, we asked him how the election was going there this year. He didn't know and didn't care. "If," said he, by way of illustrating his position, "I have occasion to pass through a street with a brothel on one side and a whisky saloon on the other, I do not feel bound to enter either." If there is anything nastier than the "Oregon style" of journalism, it is Oregon party politics.

Mr. Garfield Again.

The following letter was sent us for publication: WASHINGTON, April 22, 1872. Dear Sir: It is quite surprising to see how exceedingly inaccurate the papers of our Territory are in regard to proceedings here. Your paper, received this morning, says that I have introduced a bill disapproving the amendments to the Practice Act. The truth is, that I have not introduced any such bill, nor has any one else to my knowledge. Indeed I have never yet seen a copy of the Act and am therefore unable to form any opinion in regard to it. The Secretary of the Territory has not honored me with a copy of any statute, memorial or resolution passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Trusting that you will do me the justice to let these facts be known, I remain, Very truly yours, S. GARFIELD. The report to which Mr. Garfield refers came to us through the public prints, and did not, as he assumes, originate in an inaccuracy in the "papers of our territory." We accept his disclaimer as true, and give him the benefit of the denial to which he is entitled; but the reiteration of the complaint against the Secretary of the Territory for not honoring him "with a copy of any statute, memorial or resolution passed at the last session of the legislature," we cannot but deem peculiar, dishonorable in intent, and a shallow pretext for neglecting the interests of the people he professes to represent, or putting them under contribution for services which they have the right to demand and it is his duty to voluntarily render. If he is as ignorant as he pretends to be of the acts of the Legislature of his own Territory six months ago, and which have been in publication for more than three months past, he is practicing a gross fraud upon the people by holding on to a position which he shows himself so incompetent or unworthy to fill.

It requires a great strain on our credulity to believe that Mr. Garfield has been so oblivious to the facts as he professes to be. In one case at least, we have every reason to believe that Mr. Garfield has been fully informed, with ample time to act long before this; that is, in the case of the Memorial passed by the Legislature asking Congress to cede the mud flats of Duwamish bay to the city of Seattle. This is a matter in which the citizens think they have a large interest. Mr. Garfield knew that such a memorial had been adopted, and he knew that if the Secretary did not "honor him with a certified copy" of the document, it was accessible to him at any time he chose to ask for it. That memorial passed on the 24th day of November last, Mr. Garfield being here at that time. Copies of it were sent to not less than twenty members of Congress, and now, six months after its passage, our Delegate has never called it up in the House and professes to be entirely ignorant of its purpose. The excuse for this neglect, that he has not been treated with proper consideration by the Secretary, is so shallow that we are forced to the conclusion more discreditable to his honesty, that our Delegate has not been served with sufficient inducements to cause him to do his duty in the premises. His whole course as Delegate warrants this conclusion. Who can point to a single measure which he has urged or secured the passage of through Congress, which had not an immediate relation to his own personal or political fortunes. He has secured to himself a handsome competence since his election as Delegate, but what has he done for his constituents, save his personal adherents.

Lands on the Land Grant.

As there are many persons now looking for land in this Territory, the following forms for obtaining land on the land grant will be of interest to them:

SETTLER'S APPLICATION FOR LANDS. To the Land Agent of Northern Pacific Railroad Company. Sir:—I have settled upon and improved the tract of land belonging to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, containing _____ acres, and described as follows:

[Description of land] and hereby claim the privilege of purchasing said land in accordance with the following resolution of the Board of Directors of the Company, adopted Oct. 12th, 1871, to the terms of which I fully agree: Resolved, That any person may settle upon and improve lands of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company before they are brought into market, and as soon as they are appraised and ready for sale, may have the first privilege of purchasing them upon the regular terms of sale and at the regular prices of such lands in such localities, which prices will be fixed without reference to the improvements.

Provided, Such person shall file in the Land Office of said Company, in the District where said land lie, written notice of such settlement, and shall accept the privilege upon the condition that when the prices of the lands are fixed, and notice thereof is sent to his residence or Post Office address, by the Company's Land Agent, through the Post Office or otherwise, the said person will, within ninety days from the date of such notice, enter into a regular contract with the Company for purchase of the lands and, if he fails to do so, the Company may sell the lands to any other person.

Before, however, any timber can be cut on the Company's lands, there must be an absolute purchase of the lands or timber, or a special contract authorizing the timber to be cut.

Signed, _____ Residence, _____ Post Office Address, _____ TO GENERAL J. W. SPRAGUE, General Agent and Ass't Treas., N. P. R. Co., Kalama, W. T.

MODE OF PROCEDURE. CERTIFICATES ISSUED.—This notice will be filed in the office of the Agent within whose District the lands lie, and if no conflicting claim exists, a certificate signed by the Company's Agent will be issued.

NOTICE OF APPRAISAL.—When the price of the above described land is fixed, notice thereof will be sent to the residence or Post Office address of the applicant, and if he, as holder of this certificate, does not purchase said land within ninety days from the date of said notice the Company may sell the land to any other person.

The lands of the Company will be examined and appraised as soon as practicable, by competent and disinterested parties under oath, at their actual present value.

TERMS OF PAYMENT.—CREDIT SALES.—Payments for all lands (except timber lands), may be made: Ten per cent in cash; ten per cent, in one year; ten per cent, in two years; ten per cent, in three years; fifteen per cent, in four years; fifteen per cent, in five years; fifteen per cent, in six years; fifteen per cent, in seven years.

The rate of interest on the deferred payments, will be seven per cent, per annum, payable annually. CASH SALES.—The First Mortgage Land Grant Bonds of the Company, (now selling at par and accrued interest,) will be received in payment for lands at a premium of ten per cent.

JOHN S. LOOMIS, Land Com'r., 120 Broadway, New York.

COUNTY FINANCES.—We intended to review the report of the County Commissioners, Auditor and Treasurer for the year ending May 1, 1872, which appeared in full in the Intelligencer last Sunday, but we have not had time to give the matter the investigation which it demands; will endeavor to do so next week. We can only say in brief general terms, that the County expenses for the past year are reported at $6,750 10; receipts on County tax, $5,964 10; for Licenses $6,501 00, making $12,465 10, and the County indebtedness has been reduced $2,189 58, which the Auditor regards as a very favorable showing.—The assessment for 1871, for all purposes, was $22,645 26, of which $11,251 58—not quite one half—is reported as collected. More of the details hereafter.

PATENT STOPPED.—Three of the Olympia papers have been stopped by order of the new Governor, Ferry; that is, the number of each sent to himself. Cause, they did not announce his appointment in complimentary terms. What a pity it is that His Excellency has not the power to suspend the publication of those papers and have their several editors arrested and imprisoned for disloyalty to the Government. How quick he could do it if he could.

Gen. Tilton and C. A. White C. E., arrived here on Monday last and departed immediately for Mukelto, where they go with a party to survey a large tract of land which has been tendered to the N. P. R. Co., by Messrs. Frost & Fowler, for Railroad purposes.

CARD.

WE TAKE PLEASURE IN ANNOUNCING to the public the return of Mr. THOMAS MURPHY to our employment. He will be remembered as the person who gave our house such an enviable reputation, last fall, for having a choice quality of small goods of all descriptions, consisting of:

- Bologne Sausage, Pork Sausage, Beef Sausage, German Sausage, Summer Sausage, Liver Puddings, Black Puddings, Saveloys, Tripe, Head Cheese, etc

As there has always existed in the minds of many persons, and more especially the Ladies, a sort of antipathy in regard to the manufacture of these small goods by butchers, the public, and of course the ladies, are very respectfully invited to visit our sausage apartment and witness the modus operandi of making these goods. Mr. Murphy will be found in this apartment, always willing to give any information desired in regard to his trade.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Seattle, Thursday, May 23, 1872.

GEOGRAPHICAL SITUATION OF SEATTLE: Latitude 47° 36' N. North. Longitude west from Greenwich 122° 19' 40" W. West from Washington 49° 19' 38" W. West from Seattle 38° 55' W. Difference from Greenwich time, 8 h. 03 m. 18 s. Difference from Washington time, 3 h. 01 m. 17 s.

Authorized Agents for this Paper. BEAN & CO., 410 Montgomery street, San Francisco. L. P. FISHER, San Francisco. L. SAMUELS, 23 Front street, Portland.

MARRIED.—At Trinity Church, last evening, May 22, 1872, by Rev. R. W. Summers, George Washington Hall to Mary Virginia Bell, daughter of W. N. Bell, Esq., all of this city.

KING COUNTY.—The assessed valuation of property in King County for the present year is $1,507,720 05.

HOTEL ADDITIONS.—Mr. John Collins has in process of construction a large addition to the Occidental Hotel, extending through the block to First street.

Parties lately arrived here have less of the United States and the Tremont House and propose to run the two hotels under one management, using the Tremont principally for sleeping rooms.

The steamer Libby, after undergoing a thorough overhauling, receiving a new boiler and being fitted up in as neat and commodious manner as any boat of her dimensions on the Sound, commenced making her regular trips to Bellingham Bay, on Monday last.

NEW CHURCH.—The new Baptist Church edifice, designed and built by Palmer, Bros. & Co., is enclosed and partly painted. It is the neatest Church structure in the city and occupies most eligible site, though farther from the water than any other in the city.

ICE.—Mr. Barker has commenced delivering ice to his customers in the city, who are now enjoying this luxury regularly for the first time on Puget Sound. We are indebted to him for a liberal supply during the past week. Some of our Boston friends think he furnishes a very good article for this country, but that it is hardly as cold as the Boston ice.

The steamer Black Diamond is hauled up for repairs and is to be refitted and repaired throughout.

RAILROAD SURVEYS.—Capt. J. T. Sheets and Capt. E. H. Birnie, Assistant Engineers on the N. P. R. R., are expected here on Thursday next to organize and fit out two surveying parties. Capt. Sheets will have charge of a party to make a survey of the Skagit Pass and its approaches, and Capt. Birnie will take charge of the party running a line between Hodgden's and Seattle.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday last Mr. Robert Russell left a very valuable horse, attached to a light wagon, standing upon one of the wharves in this city. Startled by an unusual bustle and passage of teams, the horse backed off into the bay and was drowned.

NEW STEAMER.—The new steamer which has been fitted up here for Hon. Allen Francis, was launched on Tuesday last. She is intended for the Alaska trade, in which Mr. Francis is extensively engaged.

GRADING.—The Street Superintendent is busily engaged in filling the lower part of Commercial street with gravel to bring it up to the grade recently established by the City. Saw dust pavement will soon give place to gravel of a quality which will make our streets equal to the best stone pavements.

TRANSPORTATION NEEDED.—The Coal Company cannot procure sufficient transportation for their coal. The mercantile fleet of the Sound is inadequate to the business demand.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The committee appointed to solicit subscriptions to defray the expenses of the celebration of the coming Fourth of July, have commenced canvassing with very promising success.

Mr. F. A. Colley, of the Book and Stationery house of Bancroft & Co. of San Francisco, has been spending several days in Seattle, taking orders for his house.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—At Nainaimo on last Thursday night, Harry Quinn, 2d officer of the steamer Gussie Telfair, while stepping from the ship to the wharf, fell into the water and sank immediately. The body was recovered on Friday by firing guns over the spot and was buried at Nainaimo.—Colonist.

Of all our knowledge, only a little has come to us through our senses. Nearly all that we know we accept on the testimony of somebody else. If those who have never tried that unrivaled vegetable preparation, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA WINEGAR BITTERS, and are suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness or other fevers, or any disorder of the skin, kidneys, or liver, or from impure blood, will receive the testimony of the many thousands who have tried the Bitters, and been cured, they will be acting wisely.

MORE WHARF ROOM.—Stone & Burnett are again extending a large addition to their wharf, their large increase of business demanding more room.

Letter from Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, May 17, 1872. Editor Dispatch.—You will scarcely care to hear from what Mrs. Dunniva (who has long ago had her dollar) calls a "smoked-out politician," but as you are on the Cincinnati platform, which is halfway to being right, I venture to address you, while waiting the return steamer.

Vancouver is a pretty little city, but it is terribly dull just now. A year ago a good many left for Kalama. The town was built, originally, by the Hudson Bay Company; it is now supported by the Military Reserve.

The city of Olympia I had thought pretty good at gossip, and various gentlemen and ladies there possessed of eminent capacities in minding other people's business, but I confess Vancouver is Olympia's rival in this respect and can almost bear off the palm. If one blows his nose at one end of Olympia, it is known all along "the Sound," but if you sneeze in Vancouver it is heard not only in Portland but Salem.

I have heard no eulogiums of brother Garfield in Vancouver. The suggestion has been made that ex-Gov. Salomon, in the event of Judge McFadden's withdrawal, is the proper man and would beat him.

I notice that His Excellency Governor E. P. Ferry, with the band led by Surgeon General Beach are making music on the Sound. Brevet-General, whilom brevet-Colonel, and ex-brewer, and Surgeon-General Ferry should be a "happy man." He can now have "His Excellency" on the outside of his envelopes. He can inspire the Courier and occasionally furnish some of those brilliant articles that no other gentleman but himself could or would write.

The public appreciation of His Excellency's eminent abilities as jurist, brewer, Surveyor-General, Governor, Conversationalist and journalist is unfortunately not so profound as his Excellency's egotistical vanity imagines. He is fast achieving Garfield's vast popularity, and if band-master Beach gets the $25,000 which he has so often stated, is all that is required to carry any election in the Territory of course it will be a great victory.

The Greeley sentiment here is overwhelming. I believe the Postmaster and the editor of the Register are favorable to Grant. But the boat is going and I must close. You shall hear from me from California. E. F. LOVEIDGE.

Telegraphic

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The War Department has received details of a horrible massacre, by Indians, Mexicans and negroes, of seventeen persons, including two women and a child, who were accompanying a train loaded with United States commissary stores on the way from San Antonio to Fort Stockton, Texas, and the plunder of the train.—The details of the butchery show it to have been one of the most horrible in the annals of Indian atrocities. The poor victims of the incarnate fiends were tied to the wagons and burned alive; and when Colonel Merrill, commanding the Ninth Cavalry, arrived at the scene, blackened corpses was all that was left. It is not certain but that a woman was carried away prisoner. Gen. Aragne expresses the opinion that the Indians came from New Mexico. This belief is sustained by the fact that deserters from negro regiments accompanied them; such deserters universally escaping into Mexico.

CHICAGO, May 17.—At South Morgan street, this forenoon, a man named Simmons shot and fatally wounded his wife. He then put a bullet through his own head, falling dead. The parties lived unhappy for a number of years.

OTTAWA, May 17.—In the House, last night, the bill giving effect to the Treaty of Washington passed a second reading by a vote of 116 to 55; all amendments being rejected. This practically ratifies the treaty, so far as Canada is concerned.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—A. Devine, associated press reporter of the Senate, has published a card characterizing Senator Conkling's attack on the associated press as slanderous, and saying that all statements referring to him, (Devine) except that he sits in the reporter's gallery, are absolutely false.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Mrs. Barbara Smith, crazed by the loss of her child, leaped from a four-story roof at Williamsburg, yesterday, and was instantly killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Edward C. Knight, who owned the steamer Islander, the first steamer to navigate the upper Sacramento, is now proprietor of one of the largest sugar refineries in Pennsylvania, and revisits California with the Pennsylvania Central Railroad party.

A private letter from the Russian fleet at Shanghai says Alexis will return home via Honolulu and San Francisco, and probably reach here in September.

NEW YORK, May 18.—A Washington special says that the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, it is understood, have agreed upon the following resolve: that the Senate advise the President to consent to the proposition of the British Government contained in his message of the 13th inst., for an additional article to the Treaty of Washington, of May 8, 1871. Four Senators were in favor of the resolution, two in favor of returning the proposition to the President, and one in favor of modifying it. A Cuban letter received yesterday says two hundred Spanish soldiers surprised a camp of Cuban families and murdered 25 women, 6 children and 12 old men.

St. Louis, May 18.—Col. W. B. Brown, a wealthy stock raiser, residing just outside of Kansas City, was assassinated in his yard on Thursday evening by an unknown person, but supposed to be a young man whose sister Brown is alleged to have seduced.

LONDON, May 18.—Monday, the 20th inst. will be observed as a holiday, and business generally suspended.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Congress will probably adjourn in a fortnight. There are great doubts whether the Senate will ratify supplementary Alabama Treaty. If they do not, the Treaty fails, unless England retracts.

It is reported this evening that an additional article to the Treaty will be reported in the Senate on Monday in an amended form.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The Senate has passed the bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds in lieu of those defaced or destroyed.

Mr. Sherman's resolution, asking the House to return to the Senate the resolution for final adjournment on May 29, was discussed at length and adopted.

The army appropriation bill was taken up; the question being an appeal from the decision of the Vice President ruling out of order an amendment to repeal section 9th of the army appropriation bill of March, 1871.

It is now generally conceded that Congress will adjourn in a fortnight.

The House passed a resolution authorizing an extension of the Utah Northern Railroad via Bear river, to connect with the Northern Pacific Railroad. There was much opposition to this bill, as establishing a dangerous precedent, but it passed by a vote of 118 to 31.

LONDON, May 18.—A dispatch has been received from Wexford, Ireland, giving some particulars of the disaster of the Cunard steamer Tripoli, from Liverpool to Boston. It says the accident occurred at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when most of the passengers were asleep.—Carnore point, off which the steamer went ashore, is the most southwesterly extremity of the Irish mainland. Several London vessels which were in the vicinity took off the passengers and landed them at Wexford. The luggage of the passengers was subsequently secured by other vessels and carried to Queenstown.

NEW YORK, May 18.—A revolt occurred in the House of Refuge, yesterday, among the boys employed in the shoe shop. Twenty-six boys were arrested and taken to the Station House on the charge of rioting. The foreman of the shop was severely cut in the melee.

At a meeting of carpenters, to-day, the report of the bosses, agreeing to concede the eight hour rule after Nov., was unanimously condemned, and it was resolved to hold a mass meeting to-night to agree definitely upon future action.

THE SASKATCHEWAN MINES.—The Colliery Bulletin has learnt from Mr. Campbell, who had lately returned from the Saskatchewan, some interesting facts with regard to the recent gold discoveries. Mr. Campbell went up with Mr. Moberly's surveying party last June and has made a thorough exploration of the country in the neighborhood of Fort Edmonton. The fort is about 300 miles east of the Rocky Mountains, and over 1,000 miles west of Fort Garry. For about 50 miles west and 400 miles east of Fort Edmonton the country contains auriferous deposits. On the Saskatchewan river for about 450 miles gold has been found in considerable quantities. The gold is generally in the shape of dust, very few nuggets of any considerable size having been discovered. The pay dirt is supposed to be almost unlimited in extent, as nearly every creek emptying into the Saskatchewan within the 450 miles limit has yielded satisfactory results to prospectors. No gold quartz has been struck; but as the color appears not far beyond the fort, it is the opinion of Mr. Campbell that coarse gold and quartz will eventually be found in the neighborhood. The country is generally a level prairie, and presents but few obstacles to mining operations, the river being sufficiently rapid for sluicing and washing purposes. The country appears to be well adapted for farming purposes. The soil is rich, and samples of corn and wheat of a very superior quality were exhibited. It is expected there will be a rush of miners to the Saskatchewan and Shebandowan next summer.

LOWER FRASER ITEMS.—The New Westminster Herald is given to understand that a number of gentlemen of position and substance, acting in connection with a company of capitalists in London and San Francisco, intend to apply to the Legislature for a charter to construct a railway from the South Branch of the Fraser to the 49th parallel, to connect with the North Pacific. The distance of about thirteen miles, the country, for the most part, open and easy.

HOMICIDE.—The Tribune gives an account of a homicide committed at Gray's Harbor on the 1st inst., John Campbell receiving his death at the hands of a neighbor named William Kirkland. It originated in a dispute about a land claim, and Kirkland claims to have shot Campbell in self defence.

RESPIRATION.—The amount of liquid matter which passes through the microscopic tubes of the skin in twenty-four hours, in an adult person of sound health, is about sixteen fluid ounces, or one pint. One ounce of the sixteen is solid matter, made up of organic or inorganic substances, which, if allowed to remain in the system for a brief space of time, would cause death. The rest is water. Besides the water and solid matter, a large amount of carbonic acid (a gaseous body) passes through the tubes; so we cannot fail to see the importance of keeping them in perfect working order, removing obstructions by frequent applications of water, or by some other means. Suppose we obstruct the functions of the skin perfectly by varnishing a person completely with a compound impervious to moisture; how long will he live? Not over six or seven hours. The experiment was once tried on a child in Florence. Pope Leo X., on the occasion of his accession to the papal chair, wished to have a living figure to represent the Golden Age, so he gilded a poor child all over with varnish and gold leaf. The child died in a few hours. If the fur of a rabbit or the skin of a pig be covered with a solution of India rubber in naphtha, the animal ceases to breathe in two hours.

OLD MAIDS.—Old maids are found in clusters in quiet country towns; they are, as a rule, both genial and sociable beings, who give pleasant parties when they are rich, and are invited to parties, which they make pleasant, when they are poor—who spend weeks as a time, sometimes even months, in other people's houses, yet save themselves from the reproach of being parasites by rendering services which are far more than the equivalent of the little they consume for their bodily sustenance and the room they occupy in the mansion. Old maids keep houses for brothers who are widowers, or married sisters who are ill. In short, nature seems to have intended them to be lieutenants, not having very much to do on their own account, but placed by the very fact of their leisure in a position to render great service on occasions when their help may be required. It is not hereby intended to recommend too much, or the result would be fatal to the continuation of the article.

Mr. Catlin, who some years ago had an interesting exhibition of scenery, dresses, weapons, etc., noticed that North American Indians have better teeth than the whites. He accounts for the difference in this strange way—that the reds keep their mouths shut, whereas the whites keep them open. The teeth, he says, require moisture to keep their surface in good working order: when the mouth is kept open, as the mucous membrane has a tendency to dry up, the teeth lose their needed supply of moisture, and thence comes discoloration, toothache, tie doloureux, decay, looseness and eventual loss of teeth.

CURE FOR NEURALGIA.—Half a drachm of sal ammonia, in an ounce of camphor water, to be taken a teaspoonful at a dose, and the dose repeated several times at intervals of five minutes, if the pain be not relieved at once.

TO CURE WARTS.—A correspondent recommends kerosene oil. Hear him: "When I began its use, three months since, I had thirty-seven on my hands, some very large and painful. Where they were covered with hard cuticle, I carefully pared it off, and saturated them daily, using a camel's-hair pencil and common coal oil. They began to disappear, by absorption, in about two weeks and are now entirely removed leaving no scar or mark as was the result in three places in which I succeeded in eating them out by caustic."

BOULLÉ.—This term is rather a misnomer, since boullé is understood usually, like "consomme," to mean that portion of meat which is left from the soup and is served at the same time. However here is my boullé: To eight pounds of beef put three quarts of water, two onions, four carrots, three parsnips, three stalks (or celery leaves) of celery, quarter of a head of cabbage, (which may be left out), three tomatoes, one pod of red pepper, parsley and allspice—beans and ocher are an improvement. Cover close and boil all together for four hours—put in four potatoes and boil an hour longer—then take out the vegetables, mash them, add butter-rolled in flour to thicken the gravy; return all to the pot and serve meat and gravy on the same dish. In all soups and stews, a common fault is too little water at first, and then adding to the quantity, and fast boiling in an open pot, will spoil many a good dish. Of course in this as in most other things, some judgment must be used and different tastes consulted, and many would doubtless prefer double the number of vegetables. The beef may be from the round, rump or brisket.—E.

POTATO SALAD.—Any one who has eaten potato salad at a Parisian hotel will be glad to try it after he gets home. The following is a good formula for the simple but delicious preparation. Cut ten or twelve cold boiled potatoes into slices from a quarter to half an inch thick; put into a salad bowl with four tablespoonful of tarragon or plain vinegar, six tablespoonful of best salad oil, one teaspoonful of minced parsley, and pepper and salt to taste; stir well, that all be thoroughly mixed. It should be made two or three hours before needed on the table. Anelovics, olives, or any pickles may be added to the salad, and also bits of cold beef, chicken or turkey if desired; but it is excellent without these.

ODORS AND THEIR ACTIONS ON THE HEALTH.—The following remarks appear in a late number of La Presse Medicale Belge: A knowledge of perfume reaches us to the most remote antiquity. The Jews made use of them in the time of Moses. They were highly esteemed by the Greeks in the time of the wise but rigorous Solon. Their use was carried to excess by the Romans; and, finally, in our time they appear to have arrived at their utmost perfection and delicacy. It has been reserved also for the present day to use them in the greatest profusion. But if the perfumes that are everywhere found, and can be extracted by certain processes, may be used with safety, this cannot be said in every case of the odors that are naturally exhaled by flowers, leaves or fruits. Their action on the economy in a limited space, and especially during the night in a closed chamber, deserves to be noticed. It manifests itself by serious disorder, headache, syncope, and even apnoea, if their action is too long prolonged. In nervous persons numbness may occur in all the members, convulsions and loss of voice, but in general only a state of somnolence, accompanied by feebleness and retardation of action of the heart. This state is often associated with well marked dimness of vision. Among the flowers that are most deleterious may be mentioned the lily, hyacinth, narcissus, crocus, rose, carnation, honeysuckle, jessamine, violet, elder, etc. In addition to the danger caused by their smell should be mentioned their action on the air. During the night flowers actively produce carbonic acid, which is injurious to health. Majendie even cites a case of death caused by a large bouquet of lilies which the sufferer, a previously healthy woman, had slept with in her bed-room. Amongst the more dangerous plants may be mentioned the walnut, the bay-tree, and hemp. The action of these is well-known, the latter indeed producing a kind of drunkenness.

SYRUP OF COFFEE.—This preparation is of great use to those who have long journeys to make. Take half a pound of the best ground coffee; put it into a saucepan, containing three pints of water, and boil it down to one pint. Cool the liquor, put it into another saucepan, well scoured, and boil it again. As it boils, add white sugar enough to give it the consistency of syrup. Take it from the fire, and when it is cold put it into a bottle and seal. When traveling, if you wish for a cup of good coffee, you have only to put two teaspoonful of the syrup into an ordinary coffee-pot, and fill with boiling water. Add milk to taste, if you can get it.

SEVERE ON CHICAGO.—The Chicago Post says: Horse thieves are hanged in Kansas, while murderers are sent to the penitentiary for two years. Kansas must breed very valuable horses and very inferior men, if her penal code is any criterion to go by. The Louisville Courier-Journal, in reply to this, says: She gets her horses from Kentucky and her men from Chicago.

THEN AND NOW.—A lady said that before she was married, her husband was a riddle to her; but now he was acoustic (cross-stick).

WELL-DEFINED.—A contemporary defines the "round dance" on waltz, as "Hugging set to music." The definition is new, if the idea is not.

The Great Medical Discovery of Washington Territory! MERCER'S PANACEA! Prepared by Dr. Thomas Mercer at Seattle, Washington Territory. This preparation is carefully prepared by Dr. Mercer, who gives his personal attention thereto. After years of experience he presents this compound Tonic and Cathartic to the public, as better calculated to assist nature in overcoming disease than anything yet offered by the faculty, in all cases of General Derangement of the System.

AS AN APPETIZER IT HAS NO EQUAL. It is particularly beneficial in eradicating from the system the Effects of Syphilis. AS A CATHARTIC it is unsurpassed, being unaccompanied with griping and pain. DR. MERCER has also a preparation, which he calls THE LADIES BALM, Being expressly designed for female derangements.

He has also prepared a Pulmonary Syrup Which is unsurpassed for COUGHS, COLDS and all derangements of the lungs. All the above medicines are purely vegetable. Dr. Mercer refers to the citizens of Seattle and Puget Sound generally, who have used his medicines. THOMAS MERCER, Seattle, W. T., June 5th, 1871. e3-1f.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Itch, Scalds, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sores, Erysipelas, Itch, Scalds, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Itchings of the Skin, or any name or nature, are literally killed and cured out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will cleanse the most incurable of their curative effect. Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse the blood, you find obstructed and starchy in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow. PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, which in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed by the use of these Bitters. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. J. WALKER, Proprietor, R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 25 Commerce Street, New York.

AN Independent Journal, PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY LARRABEE & CO., SEATTLE, W. T. BERRIAH BROWN, Editor. THE DISPATCH IS MAINLY DEVOTED to the dissemination of information relating to the Puget Sound County; its Marine, Agricultural, Lumber, Coal and Mineral resources and developments, and to the prospects and progress of the great Railroad projects now centering in this direction. Its more full and perfect than that given by any other paper published on Puget Sound. It will embrace all available current incidents of general interest, absolutely independent of party dictation, and free from party or personal bias; but in uncompromising hostility to Party or clique combinations; to promote private interests at the public expense; and will expose and denounce all official corruption and misfeasance which comes to the knowledge of the editor, without fear or favor.
