Man the Brakes!
 There may be a crisis in the affairs of any and every community when no individual can properly say: "What I have is my own, and I have a right to do as I please with my own." Social and political organization is essential to the protection of life, liberty and property, and life, liberty and property are pledged to its maintenance. That man is a voluntary outlaw, not entitled to the protection of the law, who refuses to conform to the law; and this rule applies equally to the social as to the civil law; society may punish, by social ostracism, offences which the civil law fails to recognize, and in times of public peril, when the common interests are in jeopardy, or a great public benefit is to be attained by the united action of the community, necessity becomes the paramount law, and individual rights and opinions must yield to the common demand, or take such consequences as the predominant sentiment of community—the law of public opinion—may impose.
 If invaded by armed hostility, every man is bound to bear arms and furnish supplies for the common defence, with the right of the people to administer condign punishment to the deserters. If a conflagration is raging, all are bound to man the brakes, and fight for the preservation of the property of others as he would fight for his own. The citizen who seeks to evade or avoid these common obligations upon the ground that he is not immediately interested in the issue, is very properly an object of detestation and contempt in all well regulated communities; and a like public odium appertains to the man who evades his public duties to aid according to his means, and according to the share of the benefits which will accrue to him from the same, in any work which is indisputably of common advantage.
 These are universally accepted truths, which no one will deny or attempt to gainsay. Now let us apply them to the great project which the people of Seattle have in hand, and upon the success of which every one will admit the immediate future prosperity of our town in a great measure hangs—the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad. For years the unparalleled natural resources of this place have lain dormant, the growth and prosperity of the town and surrounding country held in abeyance, waiting and hoping for the Northern Pacific Railroad to develop and utilize these resources and give vitality to business. When those well-founded expectations were dispelled, and the people were thrown upon their own resources for relief, this project was conceived and inaugurated as affording the relief required. No one has ever expressed a doubt that the completion of this railroad would be the means of making Seattle a large and flourishing commercial and manufacturing city. The only question has heretofore been as to how it could be done. That question the people of Seattle now have in their power to solve. Nothing is more certain in the calculation of future events depending upon human agency, than when the people of Seattle build the first section of fifteen miles by their own means, free from debt, they will have laid a foundation and established a credit upon which means can be obtained for completing the road in the shortest time practicable. Without such an earnestness on the part of the people most interested, the thing may in the calculation of chances, be set down as a failure of the most disastrous character, worse than if the project had never been broached. Who dare take the responsibility of defeating this project through the sheer meanness of refusing to meet his just share of the liabilities incurred in a work from which he will receive his full share of the common benefits? We do not envy that man, or his future in this community. He may prosper in worldly gain, but the finger of public scorn will surely point him out as an object for public contempt.
 The Lewiston Signal says: "About forty townships have been subdivided in North Idaho, outside of the Nez Perce reservation, and all, or nearly all, are in Nez Perce county. These embrace but a small quantity of timbered lands, but mostly lands ready for the plow. These surveys amount to 1,440 square miles, or 921,600 acres, or 5,760 farms of 160 acres each. Full one-half of this land is susceptible of producing an annual crop of wheat which will average thirty-five bushels per acre. But we will suppose we have it settled upon, and one tenth of it cultivated in the producing of grain, we will then have an annual product from 92,160 acres, amounting to 3,225,600 bushels of grain. If we can sell this grain at 50 cents per bushel at home, we then would have $1,612,800 of money to go into circulation among our own people."
 This country will be directly tributary to the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad when completed, and has no other access to the ocean but by the way of the Snake and Columbia rivers, requiring six transshipments to load the wheat upon an ocean vessel at an inferior, expensive, and not at all times accessible seaport, heretofore costing twice as much to ship the wheat to San Francisco as it could be sold for at the place of departure; that is, when it is worth $1 20 in San Francisco, it will command only 40 cents per bushel in Lewiston or Walla Walla. The railroad would make a reasonable profit by transporting this wheat from the Upper Columbia to Seattle for 20 cents a bushel, and from here it could be shipped to Japan or China for less, and to Liverpool for not to exceed 5 cts. more than from San Francisco. This would double the value of the wheat to the producer.

 In Northern Idaho, Eastern Oregon and Washington there is not less than 100 miles square, or 6,400,000 acres of good lands as those above described, all similarly situated in regard to transportation. If one-tenth of these lands were cultivated, the product would be 22,400,000 bushels, the transportation of which, at 20 cents a bushel, would amount to $4,480,000. Abundant experiment has demonstrated that there is no better wheat growing region on the continent. The average yield of wheat per acre is double that of any of the old Northwestern States, and better than of California for a succession of years, and this, too, in a climate unsurpassed by any of the States east of the Rocky Mountains for mildness, equability and salubrity.
 There are no two sections so admirably adapted to an interchange of products as those which this railroad will connect. This has the best seaport upon the Pacific coast, and the nearest to the centre of the great commercial belt of the world, surrounded by inexhaustible supplies of the chief staples of manufacture and commerce—lumber, iron and coal. That endowed with a prolific soil of unbounded resources, and only lacking in those elements of wealth, comfort and prosperity which this can supply to the great profit and advantage of both sections. Here nature has supplied all that is necessary for the unbounded growth and prosperity of the two sections, which require only the enterprise and energy of man to unite them to realize all the material advantages which are most struggled for in this world. That this enterprise will abundantly pay requires no argument or mathematical calculation to demonstrate. The field is broad enough, the demand is sufficient to give ample and remunerative employment to the railroad to the extent of its carrying capacity.

GRANDES.—Mr. J. Horton organized a Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry at Fidalgo, on the 23d inst., with 24 members; S. B. Best, Master; H. C. Barkenhouse, Secretary. He will organize a Grange at Snoqualmie this week.
STRAYED.—A small red and white cow—rather more white than red—with a rope around her horns. A liberal reward will be paid for the return of said cow, or for information of where she may be found, on application at this office.
FESTIVAL.—The Ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, of this place, intend to hold a Strawberry and Ice Cream Festival on the evening of the 18th of June. These ladies are industriously collecting a nucleus for a building fund for a church, which they hope to erect during the coming season.
SULTAN RIVER MINES.—Messrs. Schwabacher Bros. & Co. received this week a consignment of 92 ounces of gold from the Sultan River gold diggings, worth $16 75 an ounce. These mines are about 70 miles north-east of this city, on a tributary of the Snohomish. The country has not been very thoroughly prospected. There may be good diggings farther up in the mountains.
ROBBERY.—The sleeping room of Capt. Campbell, at the Occidental Hotel, was entered on Wednesday night, and a wallet containing about $125 was taken from his pantaloons pocket. His watch and other property in the room was not disturbed. The door was locked and how the entrance was effected is a mystery. The Captain came here with Captain Battersby, to examine the Cedar Mountain Coal field, and this was his first night in the city. It is the first time we have heard of a stranger being robbed at that hotel.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.—The sleeping room of two lodgers at the United States Hotel was entered on Thursday night. From the pockets of one thirty-six, and from the other six dollars were taken. The door was locked on the inside and the key left in the lock. From marks upon the end of the key it is evident that it was turned in the lock by nippers applied from the outside; and that is undoubtedly the way in which Captain Campbell's room was entered, at the Occidental, the night before.
 These burglaries are becoming alarmingly frequent of late, and every precaution should be taken against them.—Look your bed room doors and take the key out.
TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.—According to notice previously given, a mass meeting was held in the Brown Church on last Wednesday evening, which resulted in the organization of a County Auxiliary Temperance Alliance.
 A Constitution was adopted and officers elected.
 Article 1st, Sec. 2d of the Constitution declares the object of the alliance to be "To engage and unite all friends of Temperance in harmonious and continued effort to promote and establish Temperance throughout the County and Territory."
 Article 3rd reads: Each member declares that he or she will not use as a beverage anything that will intoxicate, and will in every lawful way discountenance such use by others."
 The following are the names of the officers of the Alliance: President, Prof. J. H. Hall; Vice President, John Webster; Treasurer, D. Horton; Chaplain, Rev. W. I. Cosper; Secretary, D. B. Ward.

 The most practical opponent of inflation is that gentleman who has written an angry letter to one of the New York Journals suggesting that the only way to put a stop to the increase of paper money, is for everybody to burn all the greenbacks that come into their hands, and thus get rid of them.—By this means, as he proposes, paper may be done away with and gold forced into circulation.
 "Do bats ever fly in the day time?" asked a teacher of his class in natural history. "Yes, sir," said the boys, confidently. "What kind of bats?" exclaimed the astonished teacher.—"Brick-bats!" yelled the triumphant boys.

Puget Sound Dispatch.

BERIAH BROWN, EDITOR. Seattle, W. T., June 4, 1874.

The Northern Pacific Railroad.

The notable ignorance of American affairs displayed by the English press, is not more marked, while it is more excusable, than the ignorance manifested by the leading journals of the East in regard to the conditions and affairs of the Western and Pacific States.

It is by no merit of Congress that Jay Cooke was really the projector of a continental railway, as we believe him to have been, and not merely a stock-jobber and land-jobber whose concern with the Northern Pacific was to sell it out as soon as Congress had granted him something to sell.

Statement of this matter could be more eminently accurate. Mr. Jay Cooke was not the projector of this railroad in any sense; he neither designed or contributed anything to the project, and his connection with it was only as stock-jobber and land-jobber, and the sole cause of the failure of the project is, that it was managed and controlled exclusively in the interest of the stock-jobbers and land-jobbers, of whom Jay Cooke was the chief, and not for the reason that it is not needed.

The Congressional grant was twenty alternate sections a mile, the alternate sections reserved by the Government being doubled in price, so that the public treasury suffered no depletion from the grant, and the construction of the road would secure the sale and occupancy of large domains which otherwise would remain valueless for years to come.

The work now being done is under the direct control of the Company, who have given the preference to white labor as far as practicable, and were intending to increase the force of white laborers as fast as the men could be had.

Instead of managing the grant for the benefit of the road, the Directors have managed the railroad for the exclusive benefit of a ring formed by themselves. They formed themselves into a Land Company under an act of incorporation by the Maine Legislature, conceded to this Company all the town sites upon the line of the road, sent their agents in advance of the engineers to enter all the most available lands for the ring prior to their withdrawal from market for the benefit of the railroad, thus appropriating to themselves the most valuable resources of the railroad, and then not only directing the line and points of the road for their own benefit, but the money realized upon railroad bonds for the improvement of their own property.

DEATH OF N. P. JACOBS. The Tacoma Tribune says a letter has been received by the editor, dated at Detroit, announcing the death of Hon. N. P. Jacobs, late Land Commissioner for the Pacific Division of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

The following interesting statistics are from a sort of general directory for the Territory of Utah, just published. The population in 1847 was 143. It is now 150,000, an increase of one thousand fold.

and caused him to view with disgust the rascally manner in which the affairs of the Railroad Company were managed in the interest of land rings, and he had the manliness to so express himself. Though his residence in this Territory was brief, he will be held in honorable remembrance by many as in marked contrast with a majority of those who have most prominently represented the Northern Pacific Railroad on this coast; though his successor has the reputation of being alike unexceptionable in character.

COMPLIMENTARY.—The Olympia Transcript says that "neither Olympia nor Seattle can at present support a first class daily. The apologies now published for daily papers are a disgrace to the craft."

UPON CHINAMEN.—This morning all the Chinamen employed upon the Seattle and Walla Walla railroad grade were forcibly driven from the work by the white laborers employed upon the same.

The great secret of cures wrought at the various Health Homes throughout the country is as much in the regularity with which all the rules of hygiene are observed as in the rules themselves; hours are allotted for exercise, for rest, for sleep, for eating, and enforced observance of these soon restores the dyspeptic, the hypochondriac, the worn out and exhausted patient, to health and strength again.

The time-worn anecdote of a person's being so deceived by a theatrical representation as to believe it to be a scene of actual life was verified at one of the New York theatres, the other night. In the play, which portrayed the life of a drunkard, the chief actor, when in great destitution, exclaims: "Alas, alas! no one in this wide world will give me even a crust of bread to eat."

DISASTROUS FLOODS AT THE SOUTH.—Louisiana is suffering from the most disastrous flood she has ever experienced. A great portion of the State, especially that south of Baton Rouge, is under water.

On leaving the Episcopal Church last Sunday evening, a young lady suddenly missed her curl. She was in a terrible state of mind, and did not dare make the loss known to any one.

The following interesting statistics are from a sort of general directory for the Territory of Utah, just published. The population in 1847 was 143. It is now 150,000, an increase of one thousand fold.

REGULARITY OF HABITS.—Statistics show that regularity of habit conduces not only to health but to long life. In a work by Dr. Tarbell, entitled, "Sources of Health," we find the following table, which is full of suggestion to the reflective mind:

- Of 100 clergymen, only 42 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 farmers, only 40 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 commercial men, only 35 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 military men, only 33 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 lawyers, only 29 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 artists, only 25 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 teachers, only 27 attained the age of 70 years and upward.
Of 100 physicians, only 24 attained the age of 70 years and upward.

The average age attained by the clergy is greatest of all, doubtless because the labors of a minister, though constant and unremitting, are more regular and less exciting than those of any other profession in the list; and moreover, if he accepts his calling in the right spirit he is sustained by a firm faith of recovering "a hundred fold in this life, and in the world to come, life everlasting."

A nice young man in Des Moines got married not long ago. He had worked his way to the bottom of the drawer and got red to his last clean shirt. He therefore rose earlier than usual one morning and kindled a fire. When hanging on the kettle he made a noise on purpose to arouse his wife. She immediately peeped over the blankets and exclaimed, "My dear, what are you doing?"

Multitudes of women lose health, and even life, every year, by busying themselves until warm and weary, and then throwing themselves on a bed or sofa, without covering, or in a room without a fire, or by removing their outer garments after a long walk, and changing their dress while in a state of perspiration.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Appropriation Committee have agreed to recommend an appropriation of $250,000 for Mare Island. Sargent offered an amendment to the deficiency of appropriation, increasing the amount for incidental expenses of Indian service in Oregon from $39,001 to 49,001.

A report is prevalent that a new Secretary of Treasury will be appointed within the next 24 hours.

Also that similar items for Nevada and Arizona be increased from $15,000 to $50,000, and $75,000, respectively. The Committee also recommend that the item of $50,000, inserted in the House on motion of Luttrell, providing homes on public lands for Southern California Indians, be stricken out. SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Sheriff Rowland and party arrived on the steamer Senator at an early hour this morning with Vasquez in charge. They were driven immediately to the City Hall in a hack. Vasquez was placed in an iron cell and his shackles removed. The news of the arrival soon spread abroad, and a large crowd collected at the City Hall, to interview him. After breakfast, Chief Cockrell and Sheriff Rowland took him to Bradley & Ruloffson's gallery, where his likeness was taken. They went on foot but as a great crowd soon collected he was taken back in a hack, followed a multitude of men. Visitors were admitted to see him and he received them with smiles and was disposed to talk. He fears lynching in Monterey Co., and desires nothing but a new trial and a fair one. He still persists that he never shed the blood of any man in all his raids. He don't believe that Greek George betrayed him, but says some of his countrymen had done so. He says he was foolish to remain so long near Los Angeles, but feared that Morse and his party had got South of him to cut off his intended flight into Mexico. He suffers much yet from the wound in his breast. The officers will start for Monterey County with him, this afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Wine and brandy shipments to New York to-day by the Colima aggregated 6,685 gallons valued at $23,654.

Vasquez was not taken to Galinas to-day, and the officers say they are yet undecided when they will start. While Vasquez was on exhibition in the City prison to-day, the officers were stationed upon the line of waiting visitors to importune to each man to sign a protest against the reduction of their salaries. This mercenary utilization of a prisoner caused great indignation, and the fact having been brought to the knowledge of Mayor Otis, he waited upon Chief Cockrell and promptly ordered the show closed, which was done at once.

A lad named Lyons working at Riden's Iron Works received injuries this afternoon, which will probably prove fatal. A beam fell on his head fracturing his skull.

About 3,000 people visited Vasquez in the City prison to-day.

The Mikado was not delayed by grounding as reported, but on account of unfinished business of agents.

YREKA, Cal., May 27.—A report reaches here from Hippy Camp, Del Norte Co., of the murder of H. O'Meara and the burning of his store, supposed by Chinamen. An explosion was heard in the direction of the store of Horace Gasquet, kept by O'Meara, on the morning of the 20th about 3 o'clock like an explosion of powder, and the whole inside of the store was discovered in flames. The first move was to break open doors to liberate O'Meara, when the flames burst forth and no trace of the missing man could be discovered until 9 o'clock after the heat of the fire had subsided. From the appearance around the charred remains, the popular opinion is that after the deceased had gone to bed some Chinamen had called him up under the pretense of buying something, and while attending them they struck him on the head with a steel bar, found near the corpse and not belonging to the store. The Chinamen then took everything of value, such as opium, money &c., and saturated the floor with oil, set it on fire, and came out and shut the door. All efforts so far have failed to discover the slightest clue to the mystery. Citizens have offered a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of the murderers.

N. Gasquet's loss is estimated at $10,000 in coin and gold dust. Deceased is supposed to have had about $1,000. Hardly a trace of either has been found.

LONDON, May 27.—It now transpires that the Russian Grand Duke Constantine gave his mother's diamonds to Miss Phoenix, a beautiful American. The Emperor of Brazil opened the chambers on the 15th inst., with a speech from the throne. He said he had hopes of the conclusion of a defensive treaty of peace between Paraguay and the Argentine States, which would end present complications. Concerning religious troubles, he declared that the punishment of the Bishops of Clinda and Para was necessary because they had transgressed the laws and constitution of the Empire. The Government, by the exercise of moderation, and with the support of the chambers, would, he believed, be able to terminate the conflict between Church and State.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Greenbacks 89 1/2 @ 90.

New York, May 28.—The apparently innocent bill reported yesterday from the Judiciary Committee, to allow the Central branch of the Union Pacific Railway to go before the Court of Claims with a claim against the United States for an additional subsidy of $16,000 per mile for four hundred miles more than the Department has allowed them, and also for land subsidies proportioned to such additional four miles; the whole amounting in value to $8,000,000; was another species of the sharp practices by which the people are so often robbed. On Friday last an effort was made to smuggle the bill through as a private bill. The fraud was pointed out, and the Speaker properly ruled it was not a private bill.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Greenbacks unchanged.

Vasquez arrived safely at Salinas City about 3 P. M. to-day, was escorted to jail by a strong guard. A large crowd assembled, but no noisy demonstrations were made. It has transpired that Sheriff Rowland, having Vasquez in custody, intended to land with his prisoner at Monterey when the steamer Senator arrived there, but a large crowd had assembled on the wharf, and fears of lynching were so strong that Rowland took his prisoner down into one of the coal bunkers, armed him with a six shooter, and told him if worst came to worst, to defend his life. The Captain of the Senator immediately hauled the steamer away from the wharf, and passengers were transferred in small boats.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Committee on Elections will report in favor of the expulsion of Delegate Cannon for polygamy. There is no doubt that a large majority of the House will sustain the report. The only question is whether the expulsion requires a two-thirds majority vote in the case of Territorial delegates. The ablest lawyers claim that only a majority is necessary, because a delegate is not a constitutional officer.

Senator Mitchell to-day made an argument before the Senate Committee on Public Lands, in favor of his bill in aid of the construction of Oregon Central Railroad to some point on the Oregon & California Railroad to be selected by the Company, not further South than Eugene City, and not further North than Junction City. After an immaterial amendment had been adopted, the Committee unanimously agreed to report the bill and recommend its passage.

Favre advocated an alliance with the right centre in order that the organization of the Septennate might be completed, the electoral laws passed, and a dissolution of the Assembly be then voted. It was considered the election would be more moderate if held under a settled government. The meeting adjourned till Monday, when final action will be taken as to the course necessary.

A Correspondence at the British Foreign office, arising out of the capture of the Virginian and the subsequent execution of her crew, is officially published. It contains a dispatch dated May 7th, 1874, sent by Earl Derby to Layard, British Minister at Madrid, in which the former says: "In view of grave difficulties besetting the Government of Spain, her Majesty's Government has hitherto been unwilling to press for an answer to its demands for an acknowledgment of wrong done, and for a compensation to the relatives of victims who were subjects of Great Britain. We now trust there will be no further delay on the part of the Spanish Government."

"THE BENDER."—It is not yet decided that the old man taken to Topeka is the real Bender. Several persons have identified him, and others say they know he is not the assassin. Wm. Tholen, of Leavenworth, who visited him in his cell, managed to get an intelligible statement from the old man. He claims to be Johannes Koch, from Winterlingen county, Wurtemberg, and that his sister is married to Hans Jorg Stieber and lives in Buffalo. That being threatened with consumption, he was advised to live in the open air, and made his way westward, living by hunting until he froze his hands and feet and became helpless. A woman captured as Mrs. Bender, and confined in the same prison, turns out to be the travelling missionary of "Christian Israelites" who held forth in Ogden some time ago, and was travelling back to the East, and acting curiously, was baited and badgered for a Bender till she was nearly driven crazy. She has been liberated. The young woman arrested in Utah as Kate Bender is still in duance there, and it is not known whether she is the Kansas murderess or not.

A WHOLESALE JOB.—For an immersion scene among the colored people nothing has of late occurred quite so jubilant as the ceremony in the Appomattox river at Pittsburg, Va., a Sunday or two ago. It was a great day for the Blacks, who covered the ground overlooking the baptismal spot by thousands. The bridges were crowded and many boats were anchored in the stream filled with spectators. At the hour of the services a thousand voices chanted an anthem, while a long column of converts marched down in order to the water. There they were addressed by the preacher, who then went up to his waist in water, and plunged the candidates as they were passed along to him between two lines of men. Five hundred were thus dipped in the muddy waters, to their unbounded joy. In fact, when each convert came out of the water he began the most extravagant manifestations, at times, that it often required the strength of four or five able-bodied men to quiet them. Immediately after the ordinance the converts were attired in a regular uniform and formed in line. A procession was then formed, numbering about ten thousand, who marched back to the church, where the jubilee continued, amidst the greatest enthusiasm.

COWS AT A DISCOUNT.—We learn that cattle owners in this valley are "disposing of them at very low rate, in instances where the extent of plow land does not leave them sufficient pasturage. We learn that the Bakers, who live below Eugene, have bought over two hundred head of cows this winter at prices ranging from $6 75 to $10 per head. These are a good average lot of cows. The farmers in this vicinity have been plowing so much land for wheat that they can get it must be confessed that stock raising is at a lower ebb in this valley than heretofore, but it can hardly get lower than to have cows sold at the prices above named.—Willamette Farmer.

A Salem preacher being engaged in a game of chess the other evening, moved a little in his chair and the hammer of a pistol in his pocket caught in some way and the weapon was discharged, frightening the divine's opponent in the game very badly. He wants to know what preachers carry pistols for?

An Evansville man has proved himself a satirist, though probably at the time he uttered the words which have since made him famous he was unconscious of the sarcasm contained in the few syllables, referring to a prominent feature of American life. He had fallen into a ditch on the outskirts of the town, in such a manner that he was unable to extricate himself. A kind-hearted pedestrian helped him to his feet, and after the thing had been accomplished, our hero said: "All right—I'll vote for you!" The stranger looked at him doubtfully, and wished to know what for. "What office you running for?" "I? None at all," was the answer. "Not a candidate?" "No; why?" "Why—hie—why? 'Cause I don't know as any man'd hie—help 'nother as you did, 'thout bein' a candidate."

A large English capitalist, a ship-builder on the Clyde, is searching along the Southern Atlantic seaboard for a place to found a large ship building establishment. He states that the growing facilities of the United States for this business will continually draw to it the enterprise and capital now invested in Europe. Our timber suitable to that branch of art he regards as inexhaustible, while the iron interest is as rapidly developing as that of Europe is declining. Under these circumstances, he thinks that American ships will find a ready market all over the world.

Egyptian Bitters OF TREE OF LIFE. Patented June, 1866, to Peter Ponchul

THIS VALUABLE MEDICINE, IN USE for several years past in the Eastern State with marvellous success, has just been introduced in this place by the patient first person who tried it here, offering the following testimony to its merits:

I have been a sufferer for several years from chronic bilious affections from which no medicine tried by me afforded any relief. As an experiment, I tried Mr. Ponchul's Egyptian Bitters from the effects of which I have experienced the most gratifying results. I can therefore recommend it to others similarly afflicted.
