How a Boy Bought a Farm,
 Several years ago, a youth of sixteen years, of good sense, and a fair English education, not having profitable employment at his father's home in Kentucky, sought for employment at his father's home in Kentucky, sought for employment among his enterprising neighbors a few miles distant; and although wages were low in those days of gold and silver currency, he saved from his first year's wages $80. He was then seventeen years old, healthy, lively-looking, aspiring and ambitious to become useful, noble and perhaps great. He had always learned that money loaned at high rates of interest was oppressive to the borrower, and reacted on the loaner in the falling of prices of nearly all articles in the commercial world; that men sought justification for their bankruptcy and delinquency in the fact that they paid large rates of interest. Feeling, therefore, that liberality as well as justice was necessary to every man's dealing with his fellow-men, he loaned his eighty dollars to an exemplary, enterprising and prosperous trading man in his neighborhood, at the lowest rate of interest known in that State, viz., six per cent. per annum. He worked another year, clothed himself in neat Kentucky jeans and other articles of cheap but neat apparel, and went to a country school three months in the winter of that year, and learned the rudiments of Latin and some of the higher branches of mathematics, working for a prosperous and liberal farmer, evening and morning, to pay his board, and at the end of the second year, or when he was eighteen years of age, he had saved $96 more. His character for integrity and industry began to be better known in the neighborhood, and his services were sought for.
 He worked on a farm and rode as collector for trading men and the sheriff of his county, and at the end of his nineteenth year he had saved $110 more.—With the interest accumulated on his other two years' wages, he had now $300, was comfortably clothed and had a good business education, which he improved from one winter to another, till he became a scholar, both literally and scientifically. His influence and usefulness increasing, he had at the age of twenty, $480. At twenty-one he had $550, and was well known for his activity of life, as a young man of intelligence, virtue and usefulness, as well as of very attractive manners and ways.
 He moved to a Western State, where land was cheap, and entered 100 acres by a land-warrant, which he purchased with $150 of his money. He made a good selection of land in a good region of country; he used a portion of the balance of his money in improving his land, buying a little stock and a few implements for farming, and the second year he raised a small crop. Having gone to this new neighborhood with some $650 in money, and used it cautiously, he by degrees gained the name of a responsible citizen and good paymaster, and his influence rose gradually from his appearance among his new and scattered neighbors. Year after year he raised a crop, continued to read the best of newspapers, periodicals, and books, which still further improved his mind, till sheep, cattle and other stock grew up in flocks around him, more land adjoining him being purchased from time to time, until now he finds himself, when scarcely at the middle of life, a gentleman farmer of wealth, surrounded by comfort and many luxuries, esteemed by neighbors both far and near, and would receive the suffrage of those who know him to any office for which he might be nominated, irrespective of party politics, so firm is their confidence in both his ability and integrity.

VERY FUNNY.—Did you ever see a woman throw a stone at a hen? It is one of the most ludicrous scenes in every day life. We recently observed the process. The predatory fowl had invaded the precincts of the flower-bed, and was industriously pecking and scratching for the nutritious seed or the early worm, blissfully unconscious of impending danger. The lady now appears upon the scene with a broom. This she drops and picks up a rock of the Silurian age, and makes the first mistake—they all do it—of seizing the projectile with the wrong hand. Then, with malice aforethought, she makes the further blunder of swinging her arm perpendicularly instead of horizontally—thereupon the stone flies into the air, describing an irregular elliptical curve, and strikes the surface of the earth as far from the hen as the thrower stood at the time, in a course due west from the same, the hen then bearing by the compass north-north-east by half east. At the second attempt the stone narrowly missed the head of the thrower herself, who seeing that any further attempt of the kind would be suicidal, did what she might have done at first, started after the hen with an old and familiar weapon. The moral of which is: Stick to the broomstick.—Figaro.

LEARNING TO CONVERSE.—Despite not the day of little things, as many fantastic persons pretend to do. Consider that there are many things in daily practice of no use or significance in themselves, except inasmuch as they prepare us for things beyond them.—And this is one. If you are stiff of limb and your dancing-master should recommend you to supply yourself by a course of gymnastic exercises, you would probably say nothing in objection; or if your fencing-master should tell you that he could do nothing for you in this art, unless you first acquire a degree of steadfastness, and self-command, and pliability, by use of the lunging practice for half an hour every day, you would do it at once. Now, only weigh the accomplishments one against the other. Few people dance so often as once a week, and if they fence, the chances are that it is still less frequently. Whereas, in regard to language, we are talking animals; and, as Cicero says, it is a shame that we should not be studious to excel in that one quality whence we have our human pre-eminence, our dominion over beasts; but so it is, that the noblest faculty, and the only one where in the most might be done by care, we are too apt to fancy that we may leave it to itself, and that it will come, as it were by chance.

ANOTHER GUN JOKE.—On Sunday a shocking affair, resulting from the careless use of fire arms, occurred near Fremont, Sullivan county. A party of young people were on their way home from church, and stopped at the house of Mr. Henry Pelham. A young man of the party, named Milton Crandall, took up an old shot-gun that stood in the corner of a room, and, in sport, pointed it toward Clarissa Crandall, his sister, and another young lady. They commenced a rousing, and ran away. The young man after them enjoying their fright. Coming up with his sister, he snapped the gun, when to the horror of all present it was discharged, no one dreaming that it was loaded. The contents of the barrel took effect in the neck of the young lady, below the ear, passing through the nape of the neck and the lower portion of the brain. She fell to the floor, and died without a groan. She was but seventeen years of age, and a highly intelligent and promising girl. Young Crandall was almost crazed with grief, and he had to be secured to prevent doing himself bodily injury. An inquest was held on the body of the unfortunate young lady, and a verdict of "gross carelessness on the part of Milton Crandall," was rendered. The sad occurrence has cast a deep gloom over the community, where the parents are known and respected.—N. Y. Times.

A FORTUNE AT ONE BID.—The following is from a New York letter to a New Bedford paper:
 I heard the other day of a profitable transaction made by two young Jews who recently arrived here penniless and almost in rags, who for shrewdness and success has been seldom equaled. They were walking about the town looking for employment, when they noticed in the custom-house a quantity of slightly damaged coffee advertised to be sold at auction in a few days. At once forming their plan of operations, they immediately visited various wholesale dealers, and offered to secure them coffee at 5 per cent. discount.
 This was accepted and orders received from reliable firms enough to cover the whole cargo in the custom house.
 On the day of the sale these two poverty-stricken Jews were among the crowd of drickers assembled to inspect the various sacks of coffee. When the bidding commenced these two adventurous ones bid very low. The crowd looked at the poor devils once, thinking they wanted a sack or two, let their bid remain good, and it was knocked down to them at an extremely low figure.

 "How much do you want, more than one sack?" inquired the auctioneer.
 "The whole cargo, sir," they quickly replied.
 There was a general laugh at their audacity, which increased when the auctioneer mockingly asked for their security. But the tables were turned when the poor Jews quietly drew out orders from leading merchants whose genuineness could not be denied, and the before paupers found themselves possessing of eighty thousand dollars without spending one cent to obtain it, or seeing the coffee at all.

THE WORDS WE USE.—It has been calculated that our language, including the nomenclature of the arts and sciences, contains 100,000 words; yet of this immense number it is surprising how few are in common use. To the great majority, even of educated men, three-fourths of these words are as unfamiliar as Greek or Hebrew. Strips from the lexicon all the words that are nearly obsolete—all the words of special arts or professions—all the words confined in their usage to particular localities—all the words which even the educated speaker uses in homocentric doses—and it is astonishing into what a Lilliputian volume your Brobdogian Webster or Walker will have shrunk. It has been calculated that a child uses only about one hundred words; and unless he belongs to the educated classes he will never employ more than three or four hundred.
 A distinguished scholar estimated that few speakers or writers use as many as ten thousand words; ordinary persons of fair intelligence, not over four thousand. Even the great orator who is able to bring into the field, in the war of words, half the vast array of light and heavy troops which the vocabulary affords, yet contents himself with a far less imposing display of verbal force.—Even all-knowing Milton, whose wealth seems amazing, and whom Dr Johnson charges with using "a Babylonian dialect," uses only eight thousand, and Shakespeare himself, "the myriad-minded," only fifteen thousand. These facts show that the difficulty of mastering the vocabulary of the new tongue is greatly overrated; and they show, too, how absurd is the boast of every new dictionary maker that his vocabulary contains so many thousand words more than that of his predecessors.

PRINCES LEARNING A TRADE.—The sons of rich parents in America are often urged to learn some trade, both as a good discipline and education, and as a possible means of earning an honest living in case of a reverse of fortune, which is likely to come to any one. A man who has a good trade is master of himself, and has acquired a self-dependence of character which will be exceedingly valuable to him in any situation in life. Besides this he would know one thing practically and thoroughly, and the influence of such knowledge cannot be overestimated. But learning a trade is not fashionable, and a boy would have to encounter a great deal of social opposition who attempted it in a republic. There is a different standard in Germany. None of the princes are brought up idly. Prince Henry, son of the Prince imperial, "Our Fritz," who won such credit in the late war, has been apprenticed to a Berlin bookbinder. His father was a printer and his grandfather, the Emperor, was a glazier.—The latter seems to have imitated, in his recent campaign, the London glazier who went about breaking windows for the benefit of the trade.

A DARWINIAN LINK.—On the Island of Borneo, has been found a certain race of wild creatures, of which kindred varieties have been discovered in the Philippine Islands, in Terra del Fuego, and in South America. They walked unusually almost erect on two legs, and in that attitude measure about four feet in height. They are dark, wrinkled and hairy. They construct no habitation, form no families, scarcely associate together, sleep in caves and trees, feed on snakes and vermin, on ants, eggs, and on each other. They cannot be tamed or forced to any labor, and are hunted and shot among the trees like the great gorilla. Captured alive, one finds with surprise that their uncouth jabbering sounds like articulate language. They turn up a human face to gaze at their captors, and females show instincts of modesty; and in fine, these wretched beings are men.

A SCIENTIST ON SPIRITUALISM.—The celebrated London lawyer, Ed. W. Cox, who was a witness with Doctor Crookes, of the so-called spiritual manifestations, to which allusion was made, with illustrations, in the Press a few months since, has lately published a pamphlet, in which he says he has become fully satisfied that intelligent noises or rappings are actually produced in what are called "spiritual manifestations," and that chairs, tables and other objects are undoubtedly moved, and the proofs of the reality of these demonstrations are just as absolute as are the proofs of any other class of facts in nature.
 The force by which these demonstrations are made, he calls "psychic force," as also denominated by Prof. Crookes. Mr. Cox thinks the fact indicative of the existence of a soul within man, and it is the soul which he thinks may exercise psychic force beyond the body. He rejects the idea that the manifestations are produced by the agency of disembodied spirits; and holds that they are purely and wholly the result of forces residing in the human organism. The medium is never able to communicate anything that is not already known to some person present.
 This psychic force, Mr. Cox thinks, operates by a vibratory or wave-like action and is oppose to and capable of overcoming the attraction of gravitation. Tables and other objects that are moved are first filled, so to speak, with the psychic emanation, which renders them buoyant in the air, when they float, swing and sway about as if supported by an invisible balloon.

 One of the explanations of these phenomena, and upon which Mr. Cox lays much stress, is the unconscious cerebral action of the mind of the medium, which action is manifested through the psychic force. The Scientific American in reply to this latter explanation says: "Now as this unconscious cerebral action can be induced and made to set men's bodies in motion, without his knowing it, it becomes a question whether Mr. Cox himself and his friends did not have their cerebrums unconsciously excited so that they could hear noises and see sights that in reality never took place; or so that they could not see the person who pushed the piano, lifted the table, or forced down the balance.—Scientific American.

Eighteen things in which young people render themselves impolite:
 1. Loud laughing. 2. Reading when others are talking. 3. Cutting finger nails in company. 4. Leaving meeting before it is closed. 5. Whispering in company. 6. Gazing at strangers. 7. Leaving a stranger without a seat. 8. A want of reverence for superiors. 9. Reading aloud in company without being asked. 10. Receiving a present without some manifestation of gratitude. 11. Making yourself the topic of conversation. 12. Laughing at the mistakes of others. 13. Joking others in company. 14. Correcting older persons than yourself, especially parents. 15. To commence talking before others are through. 16. Answering questions when put to others. 17. Commencing to eat as soon as you get to the table.—And—18. In not listening to what one is saying, in company—unless you desire to show open contempt for the speaker. A well bred person will not make an observation whilst another of the company is addressing himself to it.

PROPHESIES.—An Astrological prophecy for 1872, published in 1871, predicts as follows:
 "The relative positions of the great planets, Saturn, Jupiter and Uranus, towards the close of May, 1872, seem to portend evil to America, probably a visitation from some virulent epidemic, and perhaps domestic discord. The probabilities, however, are that the trouble, whatever it may be, will not be of long duration. As the opinion is entertained by many persons that the Presidential election in November will be marked with violence and bloodshed, it is proper to state that the stars do not foreshadow any such disastrous disturbances of the public peace. In fact, the celestial signs for the month of November, are especially favorable to this country. The moon, near the Tenth Cusp, on the 15th of November, denotes public quiet throughout the Union, and the acquiescence of all parties in the decision of the majority. Nevertheless, about this time, there appears to be some misfortune impending over a person occupying a very prominent position in the public service. The sidereal indications are somewhat confused, and afford no positive clue to the individual menaced, or to the nature of the threatened evil. Possibly the President may be the personage at whom the finger of destiny points, but this is by no means certain."

Puget Sound Dispatch. Vol. 1. No. 29. BERTH BROWN, EDITOR. Seattle, Thursday, June 13, 1872.

A Question of Veracity.

The present Executive of this Territory took the oath of office and entered upon his high trust with a question of veracity pending over him which he had had ample time to explain long before.

If he was not guilty of deliberate falsehood, the means of his vindication were within easy reach, and a decent regard for his own honor and for the opinions of the people whose chief magistrate he was about to become, should have prompted him to have left no stone unturned to purge himself of this foul dishonor.

The circumstances have been generally canvassed through the public prints but should not therefore be allowed to rest until the Governor has vindicated himself or the honor of the people has been vindicated from this disgraceful aspersion.

Gov. Ferry—by courtesy General—was a candidate before the Republican Convention of Thurston county for Delegate to the Territorial Convention and was defeated. He subsequently appeared in the Territorial Convention and claimed a seat there upon the ground that he was defeated by the votes of Democrats, who had no right to vote in the Republican party caucus or convention.

As I had not heard a good hearty laugh for many a day, I started out last Sunday to visit Port Discovery Mills. When out there I could but think of Goldsmith's deserted village when peace and plenty reigned. The citizens of Discovery seem happy, contented and all making money.

THE IDENTICAL HORTON.—An inquirer in the last issue of the Intelligencer, over the signature of "Veritas"—which from the character of the inquiry we should judge to be an abbreviation for "veritable ass"—asks if D. Horton who signed the report of the Grand Jury in relation to the Books of the County Auditor, is the same who signed the communication calling upon the Auditor for information in regard to the receipts and expenditures of the road tax.

report was made from a cursory examination, which occupied no more time than was necessary to look at the manner of keeping the books and that was the scope of the report. After the Auditor had made his annual report, Mr. Horton, in common with many of the largest tax-payers of the county, signed a call upon the Auditor to account for the expenditure of the money which his well-kept books and his official report showed to have been assessed upon the tax-payers and had not been accounted for.

It will be recollected that a committee of the Oregon Legislature, with the aid of an expert book-keeper, found and reported the books of the Secretary and Treasurer as correct. Subsequently five indictments were found against the Secretary for embezzlements previously committed. There is no telling what results investigation may ultimately develop in our County affairs.

KING CAUCUS DETHRONED.—State elections show that the people are becoming more and more independent of caucus and party tyranny. The election of Senator in Connecticut was a clear triumph over caucus, and the late elections in Oregon show many instances in which party frames were utterly cast aside.

Port Townsend Correspondence.

PORT TOWNSEND, June 11, 1872. Editor Dispatch.—If you were ever in Sodom or Gomorrah, Port Townsend would remind you of one or both of those historic places. We know of nothing modern with which to compare it but a deserted camp meeting ground after a revival.

As I had not heard a good hearty laugh for many a day, I started out last Sunday to visit Port Discovery Mills. When out there I could but think of Goldsmith's deserted village when peace and plenty reigned. The citizens of Discovery seem happy, contented and all making money.

The new schooner which was built there will be launched on Thursday next. It is a model of beauty and can but attract attention wherever it goes. It is built of white fir, and Mr. Foster, the builder has proven himself one of the best ship builders on this coast.

Politics is the only topic discussed here. If the people here could vote for President, Horace Greeley would get eight out of every ten votes. I was glad to see the Dispatch come out in his favor; although it may give him no votes, it expresses the honest sentiments of nine-tenths of our people.

Mr. David Sires has reformed and become a Methodist exhorter. He made a talk last Sunday afternoon, I am told, at the Good Templars Hall. Bully for Dave.

Messrs. Smith & Lowe, from Seattle, were on the steamer last Monday on their way to Victoria to purchase goods and fixings for a new Saloon in your city to be called the "Dolly Varden."

Mr. John Bowers, of Tacoma is here looking younger than we ever saw him before. He is a Christian gentleman and goes for Greeley and McFadden. I don't know if he will be well represented at Seattle on the Fourth, if a steamer can be procured to convey them there.

many persons will draw the party line. It is, to my mind, just now, a contest between the big letter G and the little g. Grant is the little g. Horace Greeley has been an unselfish, charitable, liberal, philanthropic man. He has ripened into one period. All parts of the country like him, and his name is the symbol of good will and lasting peace.

To G. Kellogg, Auditor of King County.

Sir—It was with mingled feelings of astonishment and regret that we read your insulting letter in the last issue of the Intelligencer in reply to a respectful request of taxpayers of this county, making it necessary for us to reply thereto.

In the first place you ignored the request of the undersigned tax-payers, and seem to have some trouble with a tangent for him in the shape of billings-gate, etc. We, as citizens of the county, very much dislike to read any such reply as you have deemed proper to make in answer to our request, as your troubles with Mr. Brown are nothing to us, and further your remarks seem to insinuate that Mr. Brown was the instigator of the request we made of you.

You say the only evidence you have that such a "petition" ever originated is its appearance in the DISPATCH; and in the next breath you say that in conversation with three of the signers, you find out that they were enticed into the plot. Now, in the name of common sense, how do you reconcile these two diametrically opposite statements?

In regard to the request you say, the only reason you can assign for not receiving it from the hands of the originators "in the ordinary way, by presentation," etc. Now in regard to this misrepresentation we will say, you ought to know and we think you do know, (your assertion to the contrary notwithstanding) that all such requests, being purely of a public nature, are uniformly made public by being published in one or more newspapers.

One sentence more and we are done. Perhaps upon mature consideration we ought to apologize for our presumption in making so unreasonable a request, and admit that, as the sovereign people, have no rights an Auditor is bound to respect. Perhaps the people may conclude to appoint an individual who will make a full statement of the county finances if you will not do so.

Yours respectfully, B. F. Briggs, H. A. Atkins, Bailey Gatzert, E. G. Farnham, John A. Woodward, C. Hackshaw, N. R. Parsons, Wm. H. Gilliam, T. S. Russell, L. P. Smith, Wm. H. Pumphrey, T. H. Stringham, A. A. Denny, Walter Graham, D. Horton, C. C. Perkins, M. R. Maddocks, R. Russell, D. T. Denny, S. Davis, W. H. Shouddy, T. D. Hinkley, Joseph Wetherill, S. P. Andrews, Jas. R. Robbins, John Collins, J. R. Williamson, M. S. Booth.

A WOMAN TIRED OF EDITORIAL LIFE.—The wife of the editor of the Utica (N. Y.) Daily Bee is filling the editorial chair of that establishment while her husband is in prison for contempt of court, we believe. She is tired of the editorial life, however, as may be seen by the following paragraph:

We don't want to occupy his chair any longer. It isn't pleasant. We don't like it. We don't like to have tall, beetle-browed Bob Harts come striding into our presence, armed with a heavy cudgel, and demand to know who wrote some of the meekest paragraphs ever put in a paper. We don't like to dun or be duned. We don't like to have the proprietors of old-established printing offices get our printers away from us.

Mr. John Bowers, of Tacoma is here looking younger than we ever saw him before. He is a Christian gentleman and goes for Greeley and McFadden. I don't know if he will be well represented at Seattle on the Fourth, if a steamer can be procured to convey them there.

SENATOR SUMNER ON GREELEY.—Mr. Sumner being interviewed on the 16th by a Washington correspondent, was asked the question, "Mr. Sumner will you appear in this campaign as a partisan of either Grant or Greeley?" The answer was, "I have been perfectly neutral. I cannot support Grant and keep my self respect or feel that I am giving my friends sound advice. I hope that he is not well represented as a personal one between the fitness, the qualifications, the record and the lawfulness of the man. If it grow to be purely political,

Ordinance No. 29.

IN RELATION TO CITY TAXES.

The City of Seattle does ordain as follows:

That the Road Poll Tax shall be four dollars, the Road Property five mills and two and a half mills on the dollar, as a City. All Taxes shall be due on the 14th day of June, A. D. 1872, and shall be paid to the City Treasurer on or before the 1st day of August or they shall be declared delinquent.

JOHN T. JORDON, Mayor, G. N. McCONAHA, City Clerk.

Passed the 6th day of June, A. D. 1872.

Common Council Proceedings

SEATTLE, June 6th 1872.

Council met pursuant to adjournment Present: J. T. Jordan, Mayor; L. V. Wyckoff, Marshall; Councilmen F. M. Thomas, C. P. Stone, Amos Brown, S. P. Andrews and C. W. Moore.

Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved. C. C. Perkins, W. H. Pumphrey and Crawford & Harrington, Agents for different Insurance Companies presented a petition praying the Council to take measures to enforce the City Ordinance in reference to fires which petition was placed on file.

The Council then established the assessment rate for the different taxes of said city as follows:

Road Poll Tax, $4 00 per capita.

Road Property Tax, 5 mills on the dollar.

Tax to defray City expenses, 2 1/2 mills on the dollar.

Ordinance No. 29, in relation to City Taxes was passed by the Council.

D. T. Wheeler and J. Settle were appointed by the Council Judges of the City Election, which takes place on the 8th of July next, and E. Bryan, Clerk.

The following bills were ordered paid: R. Turnball, $80 00.

PUGET SOUND DISPATCH, 13 33.

G. F. Whitworth, 16 55.

The report of G. F. Whitworth, Engineer, in reference to the establishment of a grade on Commercial street, read and ordered to be placed on file.

Council then adjourned to meet, July 1st at 7 1/2 o'clock P. M.

GEO. N. McCONAHA, City Clerk.

YESLER'S MILL.

The proprietor has leased this splendid mill in this City, which has been lying idle for the most of the time for the past year, to the wealthy and enterprising firm of Preston & McKinnon, of San Francisco, to be under the superintendance of Mr. J. M. Coleman, an experienced mill man. This arrangement will greatly add to the business prosperity of the town, not so much by the additional employment it gives as by the increase of the business medium it will furnish. The Coal Company has added about $300,000 to the commerce of this City; the active operations of this mill will add as much more, which together will make a business equal to that of most places of 5,000 inhabitants, in addition to its retail and jobbing trade drawn from the surrounding country.

RAILROAD SURVEY.

Capt. Habesham, Assistant Engineer of the N. P. Railroad, with his party, commenced on Monday morning last a shore line survey from this City to Bellingham Bay.

Capt. Birnie's party, engaged in locating the line from Hodgdon's, sixteen miles south of Olympia, to Seattle, have completed the location to the Puyallup, near the junction of Stuck river.

FURNITURE.

Messrs. Anderson & Hopkins have received and opened a large stock of household furniture at their new store next door to the Post Office.

Messrs. T. S. Russell & Co. are also receiving additional stock and between the two houses there is promise of lively times in the furniture trade. Persons around the Sound who wish to purchase any thing in that line had better look in before purchasing elsewhere.

Remember the Seattle Cotillion Club meeting at the Garden's on Friday evening, June 14th.

Mrs. Geo. W. Hall, nee Bell, it will be seen by advertisement, has removed her stock of goods to the new store adjoining Schwabacher's, where she is constantly receiving the latest styles of ladies' gear and children's toys, in addition to the elegant stock before on hand.

BEUF CATTLE.—Mr. Booth corrects our item of last week in relation to beef cattle in a non-essential particular. Instead of bringing 200 head of cattle by the way of the Columbia river, Mr. Foss brought 50 head to Montecello, May 28, where Mr. Borst met him to drive them on to Seattle. Mr. Foss started back next day to the Yakima, to come through the Snoqualmie pass with the balance of his band. It matters little which way they come, the main fact is, that Messrs. Booth, Foss & Borst propose to keep this market supplied with first quality beef, and maintain the lead in the trade upon the Sound.

A SUCCESS.—The receipts of the Good Templars Strawberry Festival on Wednesday evening were $130.

The steamer Prince Alfred, which left San Francisco for Victoria on the 5th, had not arrived at her destination on the 13th. She had about 70 passengers among whom were Col. Larrabee and his daughter. But little anxiety for the safety of the steamer is yet felt, because it is slow and heavy head winds have prevailed during her passage.

ICE CREAM.—The most popular resort in the city for the ladies, is the soda and ice cream saloon of T. H. Stringnam, next door to the Telegraph office.

FIGHT WITH A COUGAR.—One day last week a cougar attacked a young colt on the farm of Mr. Graham, a few miles from this city. A fine mare, the mother of the colt, made fight upon the wild beast and succeeded in driving it off at the expense of many severe scratches and bites around her neck and head. The colt subsequently died of its injuries.

Every line of travel has its Mugby Junction, where travelers are "refreshment" and sent on their way uncomforable. The foundations of disease are often laid by the irregularities of eating, sleeping, and movement of the bowels experienced during traveling. To prevent an irregular action, and a torpid condition of the digestive apparatus, use that wonderful regulator and blood purifier, Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS. No traveler, by sea or land, should fail to take it with him. It may save his life.

Telegraphic

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The scientists who denied that the Colorado Desert is below the sea level and sneered at the possibility of a vessel having drifted in there from the Gulf of California were badly taken down at the Academy of Sciences last night by the report of the engineers of the Southern Pacific Railroad, submitted by Colonel Gray, showing that the railroad line, as surveyed, passes through a portion of the desert which is 215 feet below the sea level, and that the dry bed of Salt Lake is 100 feet lower still. For fifty miles the road will be below the sea level, and it is evident that at any time at high water in the Colorado river a vessel could have floated in there as claimed.

About 8 o'clock this morning the workmen engaged in grading down the street on the corner of Dupont and Lombard, fired a blast in a solid rock which, not being covered at all, produced the most disastrous results. A frame house belonging to Monroe Ashbury, occupied by a family named Smith, was completely riddled and wrecked. Mrs. Laura Smith, a child and Henry Rose were buried in the ruins. Rose had a collar-bone broken and was otherwise seriously injured. Mrs. Smith was badly cut in the left temple and terribly bruised. She threw herself upon the child to protect it, and doubtless saved its life. The work was being done under the supervision of G. Dougherty, the contractor, who was immediately arrested. There is the greatest indignation against him from the fact that a blast let off in similar manner under his direction killed a man at the same place a few months since.

The Democratic County Committee last night adopted resolutions by 29 to 3 favoring the Cincinnati platform, but agreeing to abide by the decision of the Baltimore Convention.

The weather is beautifully warm and clear, and a light southerly wind is blowing this morning.

Letters and dispatches from Shellburg (Nevada), giving accounts of immensely rich discoveries of silver in the mountains immediately south of that place, are creating much excitement here.

To arrive overland this evening—A. J. Dufur, Portland.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—Wm. Cullom of Illinois, said: "in behalf of Grant, of the Republican party and of all the Union, in the name of Liberty, Loyalty, Justice and Law, in the interest of economy, good government, peace and equality of all, remembering with gratitude his achievements as a soldier in the field, and as a statesman in the Presidency, I nominate U. S. Grant."

Immense and prolonged cheering greeted the nomination, the delegates rising en masse, and some minutes elapsed before order was restored.

Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, was nominated for Vice President on the first ballot.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—The turnout of the forty miners to-day was a very picturesque and attractive affair—the emigrants crossing the plains and coming into California with their implements and grub packed upon mules and horses, the first stage coach from Placerville and Coloma from Sacramento, the miners returning from the placers, Indians, native Californians, etc etc were all faithfully represented. About two hundred officers and men of the German frigate Hertha marched in the procession.

The affair of the shooting of Miss Mary Hein, daughter of the importing merchant on Fifth street, near Mission, last night by J. H. Mansfield, a painter, who made her acquaintance while painting her father's house, and the immediate shooting of himself with the revolver, created much comment from its similarity in all its details to the recent case on Angel Island and another in Cloverdale, Nevada, a few weeks since. It appears that Mansfield had become madly in love with her, but it is alleged that she had never reciprocated his passion. When he drew the revolver he told her to retract her refusal to marry him or he would end the matter there, and immediately fired twice at her—both bullets taking effect—and then into his own brain before the young man who was with Miss Hein could disarm him. Dr. Murphy has extracted the bullet from Miss Hein's breast, but that in her thigh cannot be reached. He has also cut out of Mansfield's back the bullet which entered below the nipple. The other passed out of the side. Both are still living, and it is believed that Miss Hein, though terribly wounded, will recover.

LOS ANGELES, 9.—The Arizona Miner of the 1st has the following:—Gen. Crook returned to near Fort Whipple early this week from Camp Grant, and is arranging for the campaign against the Apaches. The volunteers and soldiers under Capt Nickerson from Prescott and Fort Whipple, after a sharp ride of 70 miles, overtook the Indians and recaptured about 2000 sheep. The Apaches escaped to the mountains. It is reported that Camp Grant and Crittenden will be abandoned. Gen Crook has sent 38 men of the cavalry to scour the mountains south of Prescott.

CORDORA, one of the Nickerburg murderers and stage robbers, was arrested and lodged in jail, but the vigilantes broke into the jail, took Cordora out and hung him.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Miss Hein, shot by Mansfield on Saturday night, is better and the surgeons think there is no doubt of recovery. Mansfield is still living with a mere chance of recovery.

GEN. ROSS.—The following is an official copy of the order restoring Gen. Ross to his rank and pay: War Dept. Adj. Gen'l's Office, Washington, May 20th, 1872. General Order No. 26.

Under authority conferred by "an Act authorizing the Secretary of War to correct the Army officer's record" approved May 10, 1872, the name of Second Lieutenant, Samuel Ross, Seventh Infantry, is hereby placed on the retired list of the Army, with the full rank of Brigadier General, to date from January 1, 1871.

By order of the Secretary of War. E. D. TOWNSEND, Adj. Gen.

DEATH OF MR. HARVEY MEACHAM.

Mr. HARVEY J. MEACHAM, brother of Hon. A. B. Meacham, late superintendent of Indian Affairs for Oregon, and a member of the firm of Meacham Bros., met with a fatal accident on Tuesday the 28th ultimo, at Lee's encampment on the Blue Mountains, the circumstances of which, as we learn them from Mr. S. Imbler, who arrived on the ground shortly after the accident, are as follows:

The deceased and his brother A. B. were engaged in felling trees. In the afternoon A. B. felled a large tree which in falling struck a tall dead fir, causing it to fall towards where his brother Harvey was standing, a limb of which struck him on the side of the head crushing in the brain and knocking him down senseless. He continued to breathe for about three hours, perfectly unconscious, when he expired.

Mr. Meacham was an old resident of Eastern Oregon and in the full vigor of manhood. He leaves a wife and a number of small children, besides a host of relatives and friends to mourn his untimely death.

His remains were taken to La Grande and buried by the Odd Fellows on Friday, the 31st ult., of which order he was a worthy member.—Mountaineer.

SOCIAL PECULIARITIES OF ALASKA.

Alaska has social wonders as well as other phenomena, which are not as those of other lands. A gentleman who has recently returned from Sitka, says that the week before he left he witnessed a carnival such as could not be seen in any other part of the United States. The entire population marched in procession on the opening day, and during the remainder of the week no person appeared on the street unmasked. In every household and good cheer prevailed, and Russian and Swab, American and Teuton, indulged in masked balls each evening. This week is kept as a carnival week each year by the Russians, and they indulge in amusements to their hearts content. Notwithstanding the excitement, there were no quarrels or disorderly conduct apparent.

INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION ELECTION.

The incorporators of the Western Washington Industrial Association met at the Tacoma Library rooms on Saturday evening last, and elected the following persons as Directors for the ensuing year: O. B. McFadden, Edward Eldridge, George F. Whitworth, Marshall Blinn, C. C. Hewitt, L. D. Durgin, E. L. Smith, A. A. Manning, R. H. Heritt, B. S. Green, Ed. S. Solomon, W. Monks, W. H. Cushman.

An election of officers was then had, as follows: President, C. O. Hewitt; Vice President, E. L. Smith; Recording Secretary, A. A. Manning; Corresponding Secretary, L. D. Durgin; Treasurer, Marshall Blinn.

It was decided to hold the next exhibition in Olympia, commencing on Wednesday, the 9th day of October, 1872, and continuing four days. The Secretary was directed to issue circulars containing such information as the public requires concerning the proceedings of the Direction and the next exhibition.—Tribune.

Blessings brighten as they take their flight. The chief of blessings is good health, without which nothing is worth the having; it is always appreciated at last, not before. Live properly, and correct ailments before they become seated. For diseases of the liver, kidneys, skin, stomach, and all arising from impure or feeble blood, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are a sure and speedy remedy. It has never yet failed in a single instance.

To KEEP NAILS FROM HOUSING.—A scientific journal says: when nails are used in a position in which they are greatly subjected to air and moisture, they will always pay to prepare them in such a manner that they will not rust. This may be accomplished without any difficulty by heating a quantity of nails on a shovel, and throwing them while quite hot, into a vessel containing coarse oil or melted grease. The nails should not be so hot that the grease will be made to smoke freely. Cut nails prepared in this manner are improved in every respect. They are rendered tougher and will outlast any kind of wood, even though buried in the ground; while unprepared nails are completely destroyed by rust in a very short time.

THINNING FRUIT.—There is a very general tendency of fruit trees in California to set more fruit than they can bring to size and full maturity. It is the large peach, plum or pear of the same variety upon the same tree, that is better than the half grown one. In order to remedy the evil, incident to this propensity to over-bear, recourse must be had to thinning. And the only way the cultivator can effect his object properly is by hand picking the small and imperfect fruit, leaving only the best to be carried forward to maturity. It is worse than useless to attempt the thinning process by shaking the limbs, for the effect is to cause the largest and heaviest fruit to fall rather than the small and lightest, and it should be remembered that three bushels of fine large fruit will bring more money than four of inferior, though from the same tree; while the handling and freight are as three to four in favor of the best.—Rural Press.

KEEP A HORSE.—The Christian Register gives the following advice: I love a horse as a family adjunct, as a supplement to the nursery. He saves more than he costs. He is the third estate in the household—better to your wife than an extra servant, better to yourself than the club. I love him because of the real domestic pleasure to which he contributes, the cheap and pure, the rational and healthy delight, he makes possible; for the aches, the blues, the troubles, the doctors' bills he drives away; for the smiles that come to the children, and the relief to the good wife as they jog along the pleasant country roads. I believe in a family horse as the counter irritant of domestic life. A drive smooths down asperities of the brain and body, and its result is healthier than a sermon or a pill. If a man of worried or exciting life, or one whose wife has young children, would introduce a charm into his establishment, lift worry and fret, and make life all round a braver living, and a truer pleasure, let him go buy a horse. I know all about the economies of it. It is the cheapest indulgence a man can have, and it blesses the most. It did not cost me as much to keep a horse as it does many a man for cigars. Many a wife's superfluous dress cost more.—Parties and theatres cost more. Give up these, give up fashionable travel and summer board, and equip yourself with a proper domestic establishment, go from business to make wife and children happy by a ride, and you will save money on it, save health by it, secure and multiply happiness. Even were one obliged to submit to the prices of city board, it would be an economy, while one in the suburbs or in the country, by a little prudence, will find that he can save money—if the thing must be put on a mercantile basis—by giving up personal pet indulgences, considering the welfare and happiness of the whole rather than the selfish gratification of the one. No one thing is more quickly adduced against a man or supposed a surer indication of extravagance or insipid dissipation, than the owning of a horse, while it is, indeed, the source of the cheapest and most enduring benefits. Let every father and mother give up useless costs and try it.

CONTRACTED FEET IN HORSES.—Wm. Horne, V. S., gives in the Western Farmer the following directions for curing contracted feet in old horses: Have the hoof pared close; open the cleft of the frog outwardly. Pare until you can see the blood, then stop. This will, no doubt, make her more lame, but don't be afraid; don't let the blacksmith, or those same wise-acres scare you. I am giving you, not what I think or suppose, but what I know from experience, to be correct. When the hoofs are pared down, let her hobble around as best she can upon the snow, barefoot. Let her continue bare-foot, and if you wish to use her by and by, when the roads permit, have a pair of toe tips made from a pair of her old shoes, tacked on to save the hoof from breaking. Make an ointment of mutton tallow one lb., gum turpentine one-fourth lb., spirits turpentine two fluid ounces. Mix over a slow fire and apply every day.

DEAF AND DUMB DEAD-HEAD.—Not long ago two boys between eleven and twelve, were loafing around one of the traveling minstrel halls in Quincy Ill., trying to get in. At last one of them went up to the door-keeper, and by signs made him believe that he was deaf and dumb, so the door-keeper let him go in. The other, seeing the success of his partner, went up and made the same signs. "What?" says the door-keeper, "are you deaf and dumb too?" Yes, said the forgetful lad. Then he received a taste of sole leather he remembered his part.

The Wisconsin tobacco crop for 1872 is estimated at 10,000,000 pounds.

The Great Medical Discovery of Washington Territory!

MERCER'S PANACEA! Prepared by Dr. Thomas Mercer at Seattle, Washington Territory.

This preparation is carefully prepared by Dr. Mercer, who gives his personal attention thereto. After years of experience he presents this compound Tonic and Cathartic to the public, as better calculated to assist nature in overcoming disease than anything yet offered by the faculty, in all cases of General Derangement of the System.

AS AN APPETIZER IT HAS NO EQUAL. It is particularly beneficial in eradicating from the system the Effects of Syphilis.

AS A CATHARTIC IT IS UNSURPASSED, being unaccompanied with griping and pain.

DR. MERCER has also a preparation, which he calls THE LADIES BALM, Being expressly designed for female derangements.

He has also prepared a Pulmonary Syrup Which is unsurpassed for COUGHS, COLDS and all derangements of the Lungs.

THE ABOVE MEDICINES ARE PURELY VEGETABLE.

FOR SALE AT THE DRUG STORES AT SEATTLE. Dr. Mercer refers to the citizens of Seattle and Puget Sound generally, who have used his medicines.
