

EVENING DISPATCH
BERIAH BROWN, EDITOR.
SATURDAY .AUGUST 12, 1876.

TERRITORIAL

A man named Drury, a logger in Turner's camp, had about half the tendons of the leg severed by a glancing blow of an ax, yesterday, while engaged in chopping. He came to town with the blood gushing from the wound, and patiently sat down to await the coming of the doctor, who was at supper when the patient called. The wound was not of course dangerous but necessarily painful, and we apprehend that such stoicism under trying circumstances is seldom observed.

The aggregate amount of revenue derived from Olympia this trip of the Dakota is, in round numbers, for freight, $1,000; passengers, $460; total, $1,460, and this does not include the incoming freight and passengers, which would probably increase the amount to about $2,000.

The new steamer at Tumwater will be launched in about three weeks. We understand that a suit of colors has been offered for the privilege of naming her.

Olympian.

The machinery for a grist and saw mill has been taken to Snohomish City. That district of country from all accounts, is settling up rapidly, and will soon be supplied with all modern conveniences.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

[From the Colonist.]

ON THE WAY. The H. B. Co's bark Lady Head is due here at the end of this month from London. The bark Halarion, and Princess Royal are on the way from London and the bark Mountain Laurel from Liverpool, will be due here in December. The ship Dovenby is also loading at Liverpool for this port.

APPOINTMENT.—Lieut.-Col. W. A. Delacombe, who has just retired upon full pay from the Royal Marines, has been elected by a large majority from a long list of candidates principally naval and military officers, for the Chief Constableness of the borough of Derby. This officer commanded the English garrison on the late disputed island of San Juan during the last six years of the joint occupation, and for services he performed during that time received the thanks of Her Majesty's Government, and was twice recommended for promotion.—London Times.

TO BE LAUNCHED.—The steamer Beaver, having been repaired at Cook and Colling's yard, will be launched at 5 o'clock this evening, after which she will proceed to Burrard Inlet.

The high school and the public schools opened yesterday with a very fair attendance. In the former there were upwards of 51 pupils and in the latter, on the aggregate, upwards of 400.

Mr. McConnell of Lac La Hache, has purchased the celebrated Oregonian horse Butralph.

The British Columbia Rifle Association have announced their third annual meeting to take place during the visit of the Governor-General to this Province. The programme is lengthy and entertaining, and will no doubt form a pleasing episode of His Excellency's stay here.

THE ALBION IRON WORKS.—We have again had the pleasure of visiting this extensive industry—the property of Mr. Joseph Spratt—under whose guidance we were shown through the many departments of the establishment. The machine, boiler and blacksmith shops, together with the foundry, covering an entire block, are well supplied with employment, the principle work being for the Cofferdam to be erected at Esquimalt. The boiler shop is busily engaged building a new steam chimney for the steamer "North Pacific," at present lying at Mr. Spratt's wharf undergoing a general overhauling. We also inspected the steamer "Maude," undergoing extensive repairs to machinery and alterations to hull. When finished she will be a credit to her owner and will be a favorite boat on any route she may be placed. Improvements are still being made to the wharf, a stone wall, intended for a foundation to a large warehouse to be erected soon, being almost finished. To those who feel interested in the manufacturing interests of Victoria, we willingly recommend a visit to the foundry.

A correspondent of Galigiani's Messenger, writing from Sebastopol, says: "The place does not now contain more than 9,000 inhabitants, who vegetate in the midst of crumbling walls, living by a wretched commerce which hardly brings them in bread. However, life is reviving in that devastated port. Already on its new slips, have been constructed some new frigates and corvettes. The Russian flag floats on the Euxine. Sebastopol is in communication with the interior of Russia by a railway, the shortest route to the Bosphorus. If England should assume too provoking an attitude before the Dardanelles, who knows whether the Russians would not exclaim that Sebastopol ought to be re-established? For the moment, all that is to be seen there is some hundreds of modest dwellings built with the stones of the dismantled ramparts. Ports Constantine and Catharine retain the deep marks of the cannon-balls, but they are still standing. Those of Nicolas, Alexander, and the Quarantine, which formerly defied the enemy, are dilapidated, unrecognizable. The dock-yard, the theater, the barracks, the hospitals, the cathedral, are all destroyed. On the portico of the last-named edifice, the Doric colonnade of which still testifies to its former beauty, is seen the eye of God surrounded by rays which appear to be contemplating this desolate picture."

Historical Sketch of Servia.

By referring to Johnson's family atlas it will be seen that Servia is only about one-third the area of Pennsylvania, and in population it numbers less than New York City and Brooklyn. On the north of Servia is Hungary, on the west is Bosnia, and on the east Wallachia and Bulgaria. The inhabitants are all Serbs, of Slavic origin, excepting 140,500 Wallacks, 25,000 Gypsies, 15,000 Turks, and other people. The original inhabitants were Rharians. It was conquered by Romans, and during the earlier period of the empire formed a part of Illyricum. It was overrun by Huns, Ostrogoths and other barbarian nations, but subsequently was under Byzantine rule from the sixth till early in the seventh century, when Avars devastated it. The Avars were driven out by the Serbs, a Slavic people, whose aid the Roman Emperor Heraclius had invoked. The depopulated regions were allotted by the Emperor to the Serbs, and Christianity introduced. Notwithstanding strenuous efforts made for independence, Servia remained a vassal State of the empire for some centuries. Finally, in 1043, it became an independent principality and extended its sway in the fourteenth century over a greater part of Greece and Turkey. In 1448, with the disastrous battle on the plains of Kosovo, Servia's independence was lost.

For nearly three centuries Servia was subject to Turkey, but a part was transferred to Austria at the close of the Turko-Austrian war in 1718. In 1739, at the peace of Belgrade, Turkey again assumed sway over the Serbs and subjected them to great oppression. Under Czeruy George they rose against the Turks and acquired their independence in 1805. Eight years later the Turks were again masters, but in 1815 the standard of revolt was again raised and the Serbs, led by Milos Obrenovitch, sustained a desultory war for twelve years, when Turkey granted them virtual independence. Prince Milos, the liberator, ruled up to 1839, when the army forced him from power and placed in power his brother Michael. Another revolt forced Prince Michael and his relations into exile, but in 1858 Prince Milos was recalled to the throne. Dying in 1860, he was succeeded by his son Michael, who was assassinated in 1868.

The Servian National Assembly, soon after this occurrence, elected Prince Milan ruler, when only fourteen years of age. During his minority the country was ruled by a regency. In August, 1872, the Prince attained his majority, and in 1875 married Princess Natalie, daughter of Col. Kisehko, a Russian officer. Hostilities between Herzegovina, Bosnia and Turkey a year ago created much sympathy in favor of the insurgents against Turkey, but the Prince favored a neutral policy. The Liberals carrying the elections in the Fall, a ministry was formed from their party and which is still in power. The distrust between Turkey and Servia became greater after the election, and the Serbs began to prepare for war. The Turks, to offset this, sent an army to the frontier. Under mediations of the Powers the irritation gradually subsided on both sides, but owing to the failure of the Berlin Conference to effect peace, hostilities were revived in Servia. The Grand Visor of Turkey demanded an explanation which was replied to in a firm and manly tone by Prince Milan, who showed that his people had been provoked to it by Turkey. The impatience of the Servians forced the Prince to declare war and make common cause with Bosnia, Herzegovina and Bulgaria against the Turks.

—A curious incident happened at a representation of the dram "Eate" in Liquepool recently. A lady in the dress circle was seen to watch the play with intense interest, and at the point when one of the female characters gives the villain hush money, that he may not reveal her identity, the lady cried out, "It's a lie; she gave him nothing."

Adventures in Brazil.

An Indianapolis special dispatch to the Chicago Times tells the following romantic story:

"Sanford Morris, of this city, has just received from his son, Ernest Morris, the boy naturalist, now seeking fame and specimens in Brazil, a letter which tells the most romantic tale of his good fortune in quite a different field. Nearly two years ago young Morris, enthusiastic in natural history, and only eighteen years of age, left Indianapolis, struck the Ohio, and reached New Orleans by a skiff voyage, and thence sailed for Para, in Brazil, intending to ascend the Amazon and collect specimens in the wild and unknown South American forests. Reports of his explorations have been received and published from time to time, as he reached points of communication along the route. He has ascended to the fountains of the Amazon in Equador, hundreds of miles beyond the point reached by the naturalist Bates, sent out some years ago by the British Government, and furnished with unlimited means. Accounts of his wonderful adventures and successful career as a lover of science having reached the ears of the Smithsonian Institute and various scientific associations in New York and Philadelphia he has been engaged to deliver lectures on his return, and an Eastern publishing house will launch his journal in book form.

He writes to his family here relating the grandest adventures yet. The story is as follows, and reads like a chapter from the "Arabian Nights": "While encamped one evening on the banks of the Amazon, near Santarm, below Villa Franca, a furious storm arose. While preparing shelter with palms he saw a young Indian maiden on the stream in a light canoe, trying to make the shore before the storm came on. She was not equal to the task, and Morris, noticing she was being drawn slowly toward the powerful current, swam boldly out to her rescue, at great peril to himself, and pushed the canoe safely to the shore. Her gratitude took the shape of an invitation to conduct her home. The young hero accepted, and after a weary tramp, and some sharpshooting at wild beasts on the way, returned to her home, only to find, to his surprise, that her father was a native chief of a powerful Brazilian tribe, and owned title deeds to the vast region lying between the river Amazon and the Sierra Acary range of mountains, and that the girl was his only child. The old chief overwhelmed him with kindness and gifts, has taken him into the family, and now offers him the hand of Miss Princess who is extremely beautiful and wears a diamond-studded girdle that would ransom a king. He promises Morris countless treasures from his diamond-beds and his gold-fields, and the help of his whole tribe in collecting specimens; but his pride is pitched in a royal key, and before marriage can take place he insists that the son of science shall take the Indian beauty to his American home as a sister and obtain the consent of his parents to the match. The father runs a ten-by-twelve lamp store here, and though he cautioned Ernest not to get mixed up with any of those girls down there, he shows a disposition to favor this diamond future for his son.

Household Recipes.

TO WHITEN LACE.

Iron it slightly and sew it up in a linen bag, let the bag remain for twenty-four hours in pure olive oil. Then boil the bag in soap and water for fifteen minutes, and then dip it into water containing a slight proportion of starch. Take the lace from the bag and stretch it out to dry.

COCONUT CAKE.

Use three cups of flour, two cups of powdered sugar, one cup milk, one-half cup butter, three eggs, two teaspoonful cream tartar, one of soda, one grated coconut; beat butter and sugar to a cream, add the eggs well beaten, sift the cream tartar with the flour, dissolve soda in the milk, stir in last the grated nut, bake in a carefully heated oven, taking care not to open the oven door too often, as a cake will never be as flax.

FLAXSEED LEMONADE—GOOD FOR COLDS.

Pour one quart boiling water over four tablespoonfuls of flaxseed. Steep, not boil, three hours; cover closely while steeping; then strain, sweeten to taste, and add the juice of two lemons, putting in more water if to thick to be agreeable.

SPLENDID CAKE.

Use three cups of sugar, two of butter, six of flour, one sour milk, or sweet, with a little cream, five eggs, nutmeg, and a little fruit of any kind, one teaspoonful of soda, two of cream tartar; two loaves.

REMOVING MOULD.

Two recipes are given for removing spots of mould on fabrics—one by first rubbing them over with butter, and afterward applying potassa moistened with a little water, and then rubbing the spot, when every trace of it will disappear. The other method directs that the mark be first wet with yellow sulphate of ammonia, by which it will be immediately blackened. After allowing it a minute or two to penetrate, the excess of sulphate is to be washed out, and the black spot treated with cold diluted chlorohydric acid, by which it is at once removed. Finally, wash well with water. This method is said to avoid the serious objection of weakening and rotting of the fibre.

A FELLOW was accumulating a fortune in Amador Cal., by robbing the sluice boxes of miners. Every night for years he worked faithfully, and had stored away nearly enough money to go East and live upon the result of his enterprise, when he unfortunately ran against a cord that was attached to a gun trap, and was instantly killed.

The omnibus drivers of Liverpool, who are on a strike, have taken a curious way to bother employers who have hired non-union men.—They have taken out summonses against the new drivers for violating the old statutes of Charles I. and II., which forbid work on Sunday.

A correspondent makes one good suggestion; that is, let the boys earn something for themselves, and when they get it, let them enjoy it with as little restriction as possible. Be pleased with them, and they will learn to love their home, even though they have worked hard. If they are intelligent, by the time they grow up they will have a very fair agricultural training. If they are not proficient, let them study something else.

The Cuban insurrection is certainly far from losing its vigor. Hitherto the railroads have been comparatively unmolested, but the attack on the train near Sancti Spiritu shows that other counsels are beginning to prevail among the brave and patient Mambi. It is noticeable that wherever of late the patriots strike the blow achieves its object. How long can Spain stand this steady drain?

A down-town man who read that the habit of tobacco-chewing could be cured by tasting an apple every time he felt inclined to partake of the weed, gave the recipe one day's trial: As he felt a hankering for the weed all day, he devoured a bushel of apples before bedtime, and retired with a chunk of the fruit in his mouth, which accidentally slipped down his throat, and nearly choked him to death. He resumed the weed next morning.

RED CLOUD agency has been turned over to the military authorities. The brave Custer and his band of three hundred would have been living now, had the quaker policy never prevailed at Washington.

It would be the making of the Erie railway if, with the dining room and sleeping cars they would carry a chaplain authorized to marry all the love-sick couples wherever the spasm struck them.

THE Newark, N. J., shoemakers have struck. It won't last.

EASTERN STATES.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Governor Hendricks visited the Exposition to day, but is very uncommunicative.

New York, Aug. 11.—In the yacht race for the Queen's cup, the Madeline won in 5 2 3 5 4. The Countess of Dufferin made 5 3 4 5 3.

New York, Aug. 11.—General Roger A. Pryor is counsel for Francis D. Moulton, in his suit against Henry Ward Beecher. He was in favor of the defendant through Henry Ward Beecher's prosecution. The answer of defendant, Beecher, denies specifically that Moulton was ready or anxious to stand his trial for libel. Beecher denies he ever requested the District Attorney of Kings County to take any steps concerning the nolle prosequi. He concludes by averring that his testimony concerning Moulton, given before the grand jury, was true.

The Independent Labor party, William A. Corsey, President, met to-night and nominated James Gordon Bennett for Mayor of New York. A committee of five was appointed to wait on Bennett and tender the nomination.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 11.—Senator Morton delivered his opening campaign speech here to-night to an immense audience. He compared the merits of the two great parties in America to show what the members of the Republican party have been and are, and submitted tables showing how great has been the reduction in defalcations during the Republican administration. He made a lengthy review of the lives of Tilden and Hendricks, for the purpose of showing their unfitness for the position to which they are nominated. He denounced in the most scathing language the southern murderers who participated in the Hamburg and other horrors, and concluded with a brief and eloquent tribute to Hayes and Wheeler.

New York, Aug. 11.—The Times' Washington special on the post route bill says the House want the route exceedingly. They also want the franking privilege. Probably the abolition of fast mails was one of Randall's economies, and the House may restore them to save the rest of the bill. The President will have to decide on several important measures of the bill, and also that of the franking privilege. He will try to retain the fast train.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—Green Clay Smith, Prohibition candidate for President, addressed two meetings here to-day. A convention was held which nominated H. M. Robertson, a Presbyterian minister for Congress. Smith advocated woman suffrage, claimed that the public debt could only be paid by saving the money expended in liquor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The President to-day sent a message to Congress urging, in view of any possible contingency during the vacation, that provisions be made for more troops in the Indian country, and suggested that an increase of the present cavalry force of 2,500 would be deemed advisable, and that he be authorized to call out five regiments of volunteers, each one a 1000 strong, for a period not exceeding six months.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Committee of Conference on the Diplomatic and Consular appropriation bills this morning substantially agreed on a basis of settlement, but no concessions are to be made, but it is understood the Senate conferees in consultation with the Secretary of State, will fix the salaries.

New York, Aug. 10.—The Times announces that the greenback Democrats of this State, under the leadership of G. Tucker and Richard Schell, repudiate the action of the council which placed Gen. Cary on the ticket, and will soon hold a meeting in this city. They are satisfied with the manner in which affairs are shaping themselves in the Democratic party on the currency question and say that there is no use of affiliating with men in support of a candidate who has been a Republican. They state that Tilden was obliged to admit the resumption plank in the St. Louis platform in order to get the nomination, and Tilden's letter was delayed because Hendricks refused to accept the nomination until the Democrats in the house of representatives had committed themselves in favor of the repeal of resumption clause.—These things showed that Hendricks was stronger than Tilden and would carry all his points on the greenback question. This being so, there was no good reason why greenback democrats should support Cooper and Cary, who could not get elected, when they could get all they wanted in the event of the success of Tilden and Hendricks.

The Tribune's St. Louis special says: The Republican has information from what is deemed an entirely trustworthy source, that Sherman, through second parties, is negotiating for elegant property in a brilliant and fashionable suburb of this city, for a future residence.—That he will retire from the army after the 4th of March in the event of the election of Hays and Wheeler, and that Grant will be appointed as Sherman's successor.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 9.—The largest State Democratic State adjourned after midnight. The platform ratifies the St. Louis nominations, and opposes repudiation and increased taxation.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9.—The Missouri Republican Convention passed a resolution declaring that the Republican party welcome to full fellowship any and all persons who have ever been in council or camp in the rebellion, on condition of belief and support of Republican principles, was adopted as an amendment to the platform.

New York, Aug. 10.—Gold closed 111 1/2 @ 111 1/4.

New York, Aug. 10.—The first wires were slung over the eastern tower of the Brooklyn bridge to-day; they will be brought to position early next week, when a temporary early-bridge will be completed as soon as possible, some think in a month. The immense Three Brothers, formerly the steamer Vanderbilt, yesterday passed up the East River, when observation taken showed her topmast at least ten feet under the lowest part of the projected bridge, thus dispelling the idea that the bridge will disturb navigation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Pacific Coast items on river and harbor bill passed both Houses to-day, and was sent to the President for his approval. For Oakland harbor, $75,000; for improvement of the San Joaquin River, $20,000; for construction of a canal around the Cascade of the Columbia River, Oregon, $90,000, of which amount $10,000 may be expended by the Secretary of War to secure the right of way; for improvement of Lower Willamette and Columbia Rivers from Portland to the sea, $20,000; for the Upper Willamette, $2,000, and for the Upper Columbia, including Snake River, $15,000. The bill as passed appropriates $400,000 for incidental repairs of harbors and for such surveys and examinations of rivers and harbors as in the judgment of the Secretary of War will subserve the general interest of commerce, and all special provisions for surveys were stricken out. Luttrell and Wigginton, in consequence of the omission of any appropriations for their respective districts, endeavored to defeat the adoption of the Conference Committee report, and voted to-day against the passage of the bill. This opposition is based on this ground in some cases, and in others on the conviction that the whole was indefensible, but only obtained fifty-five votes, however, and the bill appropriating $800,000 less than the amount originally sanctioned, by the House, passed by

SAN FRANCISCO, August 11.—Arrived, steamer Collins, Panama; schooner Penang, Nanaimo. Sailed, British ship Castle Roy, Liverpool; ship Mary Whiteidge, Iquiqui; barkentine W. H. Gawley, Port Madison; bark Osmyrn Seattle; bark Anreola Seattle; schooners Yaquina and Norway, Coos Bay. Flour steady, trade quiet. Wheat, small sales shipping at $1.50 @ 1.57%; choice milling at $1.55 @ 1.57%. Barley feed $1.10 silver, with usual sales. Oats quiet at $1.40 @ 1.75 for all kinds offered.

It is a scientific axiom, "that no two bodies can occupy the same space at the same time." Now, as the Republican Convention is called to convene at Yesler's Hall on Tuesday, August 23rd, and the District Court will still be in session at that time and place. Which will give way, the Court, or the Convention? As it is not a question of physics, we suppose the Court will. However, we are not authority upon the subject, and we only call attention to the matter that suitable arrangements can be made to avoid a disagreeable misunderstanding.

There were no cases before the Police Court this morning.

TO MEET THE PRESSING WANTS OF many persons on Puget Sound needing Medical and Surgical aid, and for comfortable rooms, good care and Moderate Prices, I have fitted up a Hospital, where every convenience and comfort will be provided in connection with experienced and skillful Medical and Surgical attendance.

We aim to make this a permanent Institution, and to give special attention to cases of fracture and injuries of all kinds that are constantly occurring in the saw mills, coal mines and logging camps surrounding us.

Seattle being centrally located, with regard to these interests, and more accessible than any other point, we mean with the aid of these advantages, and by giving personal and thorough attention to its entire management, to build up an institution indispensable to the sick and distressed who have no homes, and worthy of their confidence and that of the public.

The Hospital is in a pleasant and healthy locality, and the rooms neatly and cheerfully furnished.

CHEERFUL TOPICS FOR THE HEATED TERM.—The New York papers come to us in these days filled with accounts of the tremendous heat, and lists of the victims. The reporters, in the dearth of other local news, regale their readers with cheerful stories about the sufferings of the poor who live in tenement houses, and graphic descriptions of scenes at the morgue. The New York Herald, with characteristic enterprise, has interviewed the keeper of the last named establishment, who is doing a heavy stroke of business and this is the kind of information he has to impart:

"There are three classes of bodies," said he, that I have the most dislike to handle—drowns, burns and sunstrokes. A sunstroke corpse won't keep longer than eight hours, and then it should be buried. It swells as fast and as big as a balloon. These sunstroke cases are the worst of any. They turn purple about the face and a powerful gas seems to be generated inside, that puffs up the body right along as you look at it. In the case of Mr. —, I put his corpse in the coffin in the evening, and next morning it had burst up the lid and there it was, heaving up and down, enough to scare any average man; but I knew what it was and didn't scare worth a cent. Four years ago I put a case of sunstroke—a pretty big man—and put four other coffins on top, and in the middle of the night, as I was sitting, smoking my pipe, inside here, there was a devil of a noise and the four coffins came tumbling down. The sunstroke had burst things up and made all the rack."

After reading a column or two of this kind of thing, the New Yorker goes down town in a happy state of mind and prepares himself for the next sunstroke.

Laughable Scene in Cincinnati.

A well dressed colored gentleman, with mutton-chop whiskers, eye-glasses, gold-headed cane, and a marked distingue air, was seen walking down the street, Tuesday afternoon, followed at a respectful distance by an admiring crowd of boot blacks, who seemed to have caught the all-pervading political fever, and with others came to the point of dropping on every stranger as a delegate. As he passed along every head was turned, and the fractional remarks, "Delegate," "Morton man," "Louisiana delegation," were heard from every knot of men along the line of march. As the stranger neared the corner, a pair of Morton men, who had evidently scented him from afar, shot around the corner, and with hurried ejaculations of "Louisiana" and "Colored Delegate," followed and soon overtook the intended victim.

"Aha! got in, have you?" was the remark of one, as he swung alongside the store clothes and took the arm of the colored individual. "Aha! got in?" remarked the other, as he froze to the left arm and glanced tenderly at the mutton chop whiskers. "Glad to see you are on hand early," chimed in the Morton men together.

The subject of the attack seemed somewhat surprised, and the mutton chop whiskers switched wildly through the air as he looked in amazement from one to the other. "Delighted to see you looking so well," continued the Morton men; "we've been looking anxiously for you, to take you around to the Morton headquarters. Beautiful lunch there, I tell you; champagne, bacon, sandwiches, Bourbon, strawberry short-cake, buttermilk, and lots of good things," and three pairs of coat tails indicated three parallel lines towards the nearest delegation room.

"Come in; right in. Allow me to assist you up the steps. Ah! very hot; damned hot, tiresome walking; have a fan; here's one of the regular Morton fans, you see? Ah! allow me to use it for you. Ah! waiter, a bottle of champagne for this gentleman, at once. This way, sah, this way, private room, sah, private room," and the mutton chop whiskers, eye-glasses, and gold-headed cane disappeared up the steps and into a gorgeously furnished room, while waters scurried about for champagne and sandwiches and pepper sauce and private smelling bottles, and soon was heard the sound of clinking glasses, the popping of champagne corks, or the gurgle of the rosy claret as it flowed down the Ethiopian throat.

You Louisiana fellows are so energetic. Working for Morton of course; working up the Southern delegations, of course.

"Well, no; y'zee I ain't workin' for Morton, I'm workin' for Jones; so that's whazzer mazzar 'th me. Got to git 't'work."

"Jones! get to work!" And the Hoosier laborers in the Morton vineyard looked dubiously at each other and at the side whiskers and store clothes.

"Jones, yes; only first class barber shop ig ze zity; high-toned zhaving palace y'zee; first class place. 'F you want to git zhaved come round."

"Then you ain't a delegate at all?" shouted the disgruntled Hoosiers.

"Del'gate! What d'ye take me for? I'm a gen'leman, I (hic) want yer t' n'er stand. I ain't no politician nor Luzeany teller. I'm a gen'leman, I want you to n'er stand." And the irate barber mandered down the street.

A poor Irish woman asked a wealthy lady, the owner of a beautiful flower garden in Detroit, for a flower or two to put on the coffin of her dead child. The good lady invited her to be seated, and very shortly brought a magnificent cross and wreath. The afflicted one was overcome, and as soon as she was able to express herself, she said most fervently, "May our blessed Redeemer meet you at the gates of Heaven with a crown of flowers more beautiful than these." A most touching prayer, in which many will join the afflicted mother.

When you reflect that at picnics one hundred years ago it was the custom for the girls to stand up in a row and let the men kiss them all good-bye, all this enthusiasm about national progress seems to be a grave mistake.

The Hudson River Tunnel.

Active preparations are now in progress for the construction of the Hudson River tunnel on the Jersey shore. The entrance to the tunnel is located on Jersey avenue, near Fifteenth street, and the excavation will be carried in a northeasterly direction, terminating in Washington square, New York City. The tunnel will be two miles in length, and it is calculated the cars will pass through it in three minutes. The road bed will be twenty-three feet in width. The shaft at the foot of Fifteenth street, Jersey City, is 100 feet in circumference and the brick wall is three feet and four inches thick. The shaft has been sunk to the depth of twenty feet, and will be further excavated to the depth of sixty-two feet, when the excavation beneath the river will be commenced. The machinery for the work is now in position, and it is stated that the excavation of the shaft will be completed within twenty days. The eastern grade of the tunnel is two in a hundred feet, descending from Jersey City, then ascending on the New York side two in a hundred feet. As soon as the shaft is sunk to the required depth a few feet will be excavated in the tunnel, when an iron cylinder with hinged doors will be inserted, so that the laborers can proceed with the work. Compressed air will be forced from the surface into the cavity. Very little blasting will be necessary, the first vein of rock being 1,100 feet from the New York side, and the rock is soft. The depth of earth over the masonry will not be less in any part than thirty-five feet, so that no injury can occur from the anchorage of vessels. The cost of this stupendous enterprise will be $15,000,000, of which $10,000,000 has been already subscribed. After several legal contests the Hudson River Tunnel Company has been triumphant, and the President, Col. Haskin, declares his determination to proceed vigorously with the work.

Venezuela is determined on a silver coinage of her own, and an order has been issued prohibiting the introduction of foreign silver under pain of confiscation. This is a strange way of encouraging commerce. If it gives the Venezuelans a circulating medium whose intrinsic and face values are the same it will do good by simplifying exchange among the people; but how foreign buyers are to be forced into providing themselves with Venezuelan coin before making purchases is not so clear.

"Second class in grammar, stand up," said the schoolmaster. "John is a bad boy." Who does John correspond with? "I know," said a little boy at the foot, holding up his hand. "If you mean John Smthers, he corresponds with my sister Susan; here's a letter he just gim' me to carry home to her."

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

[From the Colonist.]

FATAL ACCIDENT.—The steamer Emma arrived here yesterday from Nanaimo. She brings word that three men were engaged falling trees at Bayne's Sound on Saturday last and that suddenly a tree fell in an unexpected direction and struck the three men, killing one of them instantly by breaking his back, one arm and one leg. The other two were very seriously injured and in company with the dead man, were conveyed to Nanaimo by canoe, for medical treatment. Full particulars of the accident will appear to-morrow.

Mr Edward Jenkins has contributed an able letter to the London Times on the relation of the Colonies to the Mother Country. He appeals to the Government to define the relation instead of leaving it in its present clouded state. If the Imperial Government has a right to repeal the Confederate Act he says it should not be afraid or ashamed to do so.

RELICS OF '35.—Frank Campbell has secured two relics of the year 1835. They consist of handsome walking canes constructed from the false keel of the Beaver, the first steamer which ploughed the waters of the Pacific in '35. They are artistically mounted with silver bands and ivory handles, and one day, when the vessel from which they were taken has gone the way of all things mundane, will form a valuable reminiscence of the staunch old boat.

TERRITORIAL.

WATER PIPE.—The water pipe factory at Tumwater will ship by the Dakota to San Francisco, about fifty cords of pipe. A large force has been running night and day during the week getting it ready. Two large scoops arrive daily from Tumwater, laden with pipe, which is stored on the west side wharf until the steamer arrives. The steamer will probably reach here to-day.

DROWNED.—A little Indian girl belonging to Capt. Kittle's family, was drowned in the bay near the west end of Marshville bridge on Wednesday evening. It is supposed she had been bathing and accidentally got beyond her depth. Her absence was not discovered until life had been extinct for an hour or more.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. James Bowlin, of the Olympia Dray and Truck Co., while in his barn feeding his horses fell from a ladder and broke several ribs and bruising himself, and it is feared he is injured internally. It is to be hoped that there is nothing serious, as his symptoms at present are for the better.

Olympia Transcript.

They call Mr. Hiff "Old K. K. K.," which means "Cattle King of Colorado." He owns 16,000 head, and for 60 miles along the Platte no brand but his is seen.

STATUE TO HORACE GREELEY.—The committee of the International Typographical Union appointed to attend to the business of erecting a statue to Horace Greeley, report that a bronze figure will be cast (a colossal bust) by September 1st. It was first proposed to make a statue of type metal, but it would not stand exposure to the weather for any length of time. Several thousand pounds of old type received in 1873 will be put in the monument in some way. The total contributions thus far received toward the monument amount to $3,232.76.

A young Scotch farmer, having set his affections upon a young lady, recently proposed marriage without the usual preliminaries. The lady, equally frank, rejoined: "Deed, Jamie, I'll take ye, but ye mair gie me y' dyes o' courtin' for a' that."

TOO STRONG A DREAM.—A friend of ours, a bank clerk, is dead gone on a pretty girl on Pine street. The other day he called upon her with the air of a man who had hit upon a happy idea, "Do you know, Jennie," said he, that in a dream I had last night, you allowed me to kiss your pretty cheek." "Well, your dream must come true, I suppose," and she presented her snowy face to his lips. "And now, Willie, I too, had a funny dream last night." "What was it dear?" "I dreamed you brought me a diamond bracelet."—"Oh, thunder, exclaimed the frightened clerk, "you dream too strong for me."

FRENCH earthenware manufacturer, Em'lie Collino, has just discovered a new mode of decoration for private dwellings and public buildings. Instead of applying the decorated falence to the wall, he proposes enamelling the stone itself by putting up a light scaffolding and using the blowpipe instead of the oven.

ALL SORTS.

Stanley, the African explorer, has been heard from. He has discovered among the uplands a race of pale faced people.

A man never understands the doctrine of total depravity till he has worn a pair of white pantaloons to a picnic and sat down on a plate of custard pie. An event of this kind will simplify a whole system of theology.

The Professor of Medicine at King's College, London, recommends a total change of diet without the aid of medicine, as an efficacious method of treating nervous diseases.

It is said that if a man is walking for health and enjoyment, four miles an hour is the best gait. This may be true as regards health, but for enjoyment we remember one right when it took us four hours to walk one mile. It happened, however, that the old folks had gone to camp meeting, and she had the night key, and, as far as health was concerned, we didn't really care if it took all night.

In France out of a population of 36,000,000, only two million live on the revenue of accumulated wealth, the balance depending on the produce of labor.

Now is the time for lovers to get spoony over ice cream, she taking a few pretty dabs at his vanilla, and he borrowing a taste of her chocolate. This process inspires confidence in the day when they will be throwing corn beef and cabbage across the table.

STOKES' MOUSTACHE.—Speaking of Edwards S. Stokes, who was recently transferred with a lot of other convicts from Sing Sing to Auburn, a paper of the latter city says: "He made strenuous objections against having his Sing Sing beard taken off, but Principal Keeper Jenkins ordered the hitherto petted striped into the barber's chair, where he was rapidly denuded of that facial hirsuteness which distinguished the champion of 'the Mansfield.' Stokes was informed that he should expect no different treatment from that accorded any other convict, and the reaping of his pet beard informed him that his lines had fallen in a harder place than Sing Sing had ever proven in his case."

Don't be afraid of a little fun at home, good people! Don't shut up your house lest the sun should fade your carpet, and your hearts, lest a hearty laugh should shake down some of the mus'y old cobwebs there! If you want to ruin your sons, let them think that all mirth and social enjoyment must be left on the threshold without when they come home at night. If enjoyment is not found at home, it will be sought elsewhere.

TRANSPORTING TREES.—The Builder recommends people who transplant trees to mark the north side of each tree before it is taken up and placed in its natural position. A large portion will then live, as, by ignoring this, transplanted trees generally perish.

On the bill amendatory of the bankrupt law the committee's report provides for the modification of Sec. 5,106. The report was adopted by both Senate and House. The amendment is as follows:

"At any time after the expiration of six months from the adjudication of bankruptcy, or if no debts have been proved against the bankrupt, or if no assets have come to the hands of an assignee at any time after the expiration of 60 days, and before the final disposition of the cause, the bankrupt may apply to the court for discharge from his debts. This section shall apply in all cases heretofore or hereafter commenced."

Geo. Francis Train, so asserts Jennie June in the Baltimore American, "is now generally considered a lunatic."—She says that she sits ten hours every day on a shaded bench in Madison Park petting children who play there. He will shake hands with no one, for fear it will take the strength out of him; and he says he is developing a will power that will in time enable him to kill anybody by a mere exertion of his mind.

Local Items.

From the Daily of Monday.
 Mr. Otis Freeman, general agent P. M. S. Co., writes from Tacoma that the Dakota will leave Seattle for San Francisco at 7 a. m. sharp, on Wednesday morning, instead of the previously advertised time.

BERRIES.—For the benefit of our younger readers we notice the fact that the recent rains have stripped the black and raspberry bushes of their fruit. The sal-lal berries, however, are beginning to ripen and no doubt will replace the void in the berry-picking boys' bread-baskets.

MARRIAGE.—We learn that Capt. Geo. Browner of the steamer Alida, has within the last few days, been united in the bonds of matrimony, at Olympia, to Miss Amelia M. Parker of that city.

OUR SPORTSMEN are informed that the ridge road, leading to the Duwamish, is literally lined with pigeon and grouse in tip top condition and that they are now in season.

PERSONAL.—Our well-known fellow townsman, A. W. Piper, returned Saturday evening on the Zephyr, from an extensive business tour through Oregon.

The letter men are finding a powerful enemy in the Post Office Department, and letters addressed to them are now retained by order of the Postmaster General and the money returned to the senders. Formerly it was only the bogus lotteries which suffered, but now the "square" but now the square ones are put in the same category with the swindling concerns. It will be well if a vicious system can be destroyed through the department, and at least the mails should not be the means of taking money out of the pockets of simpletons who hope to "draw a prize" where prizes are never drawn.

ACCIDENT.—Mrs. LeBrache, while out berrying back of town on Saturday, stumbled and fell against a pointed snag and received severe injuries in the abdomen. Dr. Calhoun was called and attended the unfortunate. The injuries, we are led to hope, are not necessarily fatal.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS are in session to-day at the County Treasurer's office and will continue in session from day to day until the business on hand is disposed of.

POLICE COURT.—Joe (an Indian) for being drunk and disorderly, was fined $10 and costs by Justice Scott, yesterday morning. Chain-ganged.

THE PROBATE COURT appointed Mrs. Ruth A. Robbins the guardian of Thos. A. Wright, minor son of Mrs. Julia Wright, deceased.

THE Annie Stewart left here for Olympia last evening at 10 o'clock.

The steamer Wenat has hauled up at Bullene's machine shop for a general overhauling of her machinery. The steamer Anderson will leave for Victoria at 4 o'clock to-morrow morning.

A VICIOUS DOG.—We understand that Dave Webster was severely bitten in the hand by a vicious dog yesterday, which will cause the loss of the use of his hand for several days.

From the Daily of Tuesday.

THE INDIAN WAR.—The Indian war is daily assuming more formidable proportions. General Terry has been compelled to fall back 80 miles from his position on the Big Horn. General Crook through being terribly harassed by the Sioux, has been able to make but six miles a day with his command, while marching to form a junction with General Terry, which he fortunately did on the 2d of August, although in a destitute and disheartened condition. A steamer carrying three companies of United States troops and supplies for Terry's command, was fired upon, but 70 miles from Buford, and the troops invited out to fight, which, they politely declined even though they were in easy reach of support. Altogether, the Indians are showing more than ordinary skill and daring in the present war, and if prompt measures are not immediately taken, the result will be, that emboldened by success, the wild tribes of the plains will take up the hatchet, from the Apaches of the South, to the Sioux of the far North, and cause the expenditure of millions, where a rapid and unrelenting prosecution of the war would quench the affair in a few weeks.

COUNTY ROADS.—Our roads leading out leading into the country are at present in a most deplorable condition. Having occasion to pass over the river road the other day, we found the corduroy portion of that road perfectly innocent of covering and in many places so irregularly planked as to endanger the limbs of both man and horse. Returning by the old ridge road, we found it impossible for vehicles of any description, and hardly possible for one in the saddle. That the growth in population of the country around a city, in a great measure depends upon its facility of ingress and egress to a market, no one will deny. Hence, it follows that immediate attention should be given to these highways that the farmers may be encouraged to make more frequent calls and a more intimate acquaintance with our merchants.

THE RIGHT POLICY AT LAST.—At a conference held yesterday by the Secretary of War, General Sherman and the Indian Commissioners, it was agreed that the sale or gift to Indians, friendly or unfriendly, of arms or munitions of war, shall hereafter be visited by severe penalties. The policy by the United States, of warming the serpent to its bosom is seen at last to be fallacious, and the suicidal policy of giving weapons of war to a natural and implacable enemy is at last abandoned. So much has the nation gained by the death of the gallant Custer, and the mode of treating the Indian by all past administrations is at length abolished.

DEBATE.—Commencing to-morrow there will be held at Yesler's Hall, for three consecutive evenings, a debate between the below mentioned gentlemen, upon the following subjects;

Resolved, That the doctrine of future punishment of sin is reasonable and Scriptural. Affirmative, Mr. Geo. Edwards; negative, Mr. A. C. Edmunds.

Resolved, that the Bible is a revelation from God, and is an infallible rule of faith and practice. Affirmative, Geo. Edwards, negative, A. C. Edmunds. Mr. Edwards, we understand, has the privilege of substituting in his place, any one he chooses on each evening. Doors open at 7:30 P. M. Admission free.

MR. GEO. ROGERS, manager of the Theatre Comique, went with his troupe to Victoria yesterday. The troupe will be gone until Saturday evening next, and after playing here a few days, will go up Sound to entertain the Olympians for a few evenings.

NOTED ARRIVALS.—According to a telegram received by the Rev. J. C. Ellis from Mr. Otis Freeman, at Olympia, the following personages are expected to arrive on the Dakota this evening, Gen. O. O. Howard, Commander of the Department of the Columbia, and the Rev. Dr. Webb of Boston. The latter gentleman is expected to preach this evening at the Congregational Church, at the usual hour. As the Rev. Mr. Webb is one of Boston's most noted divines, a rich treat may be expected by our church-goers.

POLICE COURT.—John, an Indian, was fined five dollars and costs this morning for being drunk and disorderly. Paid.

From the Daily of Wednesday.

The steamer Dakota this morning at about 8 o'clock, with about 15 cab. in passengers, the most of whom being on their way to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia. The following is the Purser's exhibit: Left Olympia at 8:30 A. M. with 15 cabin, and 3 steerage passengers, and 3,696 packages of merchandise, 396 17-40 tons; arrived at Steilacoom at 10:30 A. M., received 1948 packages of merchandise, 173 12-40 tons. Took on board at Tacoma up trip 35 packages and 55 2-3 cords of cotton-wood bolts 197 14 40 tons and 1-ft at 4:45 P. M. List of passengers—For San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Blinn, Miss Ida Blinn, Mr. and Mrs. S. Coulter, Mrs. Warbass, Miss Alice Warbass, Miss Carrie Allen, S. J. Allen, H. E. Allen, D. M. Duckworth, W. E. Willey, Mr. and Mrs.

Shotwell, Rev. Mr. Webb, and 3 in the steerage. For Port Townsend—General O. O. Howard. Cargo from Olympia, 20 pks of chair stock, 12 sks wool, 1 crate cigars, 12 dry hides, 1 bale deer skins, 8 pks mdee, 53 ship knees, 3,582 pieces water pipe, 1 cord plugs and cores, 7 pks effects. From Tacoma—55 1/2 cords cotton-wood bolts, 12 blls sticks, 1 trunk effects, 2 blls iron, 20 sks wool. From Steilacoom, 1540 pkgs. miscellaneous freight. Total, 652 tons. From Seattle, 300 tons of coal.

GO EARLY.—It is hoped by those interested in the debate this evening that the audience will be seated before 7 1/2 o'clock, as to avoid the unnecessary confusion occasioned by the seating of the tardy ones while the debate is going on. We are informed that the front seats will be reserved for the ladies. The sidewalk to the hall which had been removed during the improvement of Front street, has been replaced, so that no inconvenience will be met at the approaches to the hall. As the meeting is free to all, a large audience may be expected.

The Thurston and Walla Walla papers are bandying about the name of an unfortunate young man, whom "unmerciful disaster" and an enervating disease has laid alternately at the door of the respective alms houses of those counties. A decent respect for unmerited misfortune, should deter these papers from laying bare to the world the cloudy period of the young man's existence.

The barkentine Grace Roberts arrived in port this morning, and is now discharging cargo at Yesler's wharf.

The following is a transcript of her freight list for Seattle: C. McDonald, 33 pks; S. B. & Co., 647; H. & F., 2; S. McC., 11; H. & P., 45; T. & S., 82; W. & M., 20; W. A. Jennings, 26; M. Glore, 45; L. S. R., 2.

The barkentine Kate Flickinger has been rigged with wire standing hamper, and sports double topsail and top-gallant yards on her foremast. Her main and mizzen masts are schooner rigged. All modern improvements pertaining to ships have been placed upon her, and she will be ready and loaded for sea in about ten days.

FAILED TO CONNECT.—Quite a number of persons assembled at the Congregational Church last evening, expecting to hear a sermon by the Rev. Mr. Webb, of Boston, as per advertisement. The failure of the Dakota to arrive on time necessarily prevented the Doctor from keeping his appointment and hence many of our churchmen were sadly disappointed. Quite a number, however, went down to the steamship upon her arrival and paid their respects to the distinguished caller. The Rev. gentleman continued on his way this morning on board the Dakota.

ACCIDENT.—A slight accident occurred at Lake Union yesterday, which resulted in the smashing of a couple of the Seattle Coal & T. Company's cars. It appears that through a hitch in the machinery the locomotive became unmanageable, and ran into the cars, producing the above result.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS.—By turning to our telegraphic columns, it will be seen that the Democrats have made large gains in Alabama and Kentucky.

THERE was no business transacted at the Police Court to-day.

Now that the Front street improvement is well under way, the building of wharves at the intersecting streets is next in order. This would tend to relieve the present wharves, and would aid more than anything else in adding value to front street property.

PERSONAL.—Among the passengers on board the Dakota this morning, was Mr. Thaddeus Hanford, editor of the Intelligencer. Mr. Hanford goes below to spend a vacation of a few weeks, among his San Francisco friends.

Mr. Otis Freeman went up to Olympia this morning upon the Alida, and will return upon Saturday next.

The farmers arriving in town, report that the recent rain has not destroyed nearly so much hay as many imagine. They also say that 1876 will be a fair average year.

PROBATE COURT.—The final account of Thos. Burke in the administration of the McKecknie Estate, was filed to-day in the office of the Probate Court.

THE BALL.—Everything passed off pleasantly last evening, at the Calico Ball. There were about forty couples present, and all were loud in their praises of the evenings entertainment.

Two things every patriot should do—go to the Centennial and smoke Jack Levy's cigars.

For Eastern and California Papers and Periodicals at Publishers' prices go to John L. Jamieson's.

ANY person in need of a good nurse, can be accommodated by leaving orders at Mrs. Plummer's. Also sewing in families.

DANCE.—There will be a regular Saturday Soiree, under the direction of C. G. Steinweg, on Saturday evening, at Reing's Hall.

The only place to get the celebrated Steilacoom, St. Louis and Bremen (German) Lager beer, ice cool, is the City Beer Hall.

To be seen at Fred. Barker's corner. The bones of an unknown animal. Tell us what it was.

FOR SALE.—A desirable residence consisting of 2 lots and a house on the corner of 5th and Pine streets. Must be sold immediately. Apply to Moore, the photographer, Seattle.

CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION.—Now is your time to call and see the improved Home Shuttle and Home Sewing machines, at the Music and Art Emporium.

Matrimonial Bureau.

Among the other institutions of San Francisco is a gilt-edged Matrimonial Bureau. It is no common affair, where you pay your money and take your chance to hook a gold fish or a minnow in the matrimonial stream.

It is astonishing to see how well a man may live on a small income, who has a handy and industrious wife. Some men live and make a far better appearance on six or eight dollars a week than others do on fifteen or eighteen dollars.

CHARLEY ROSS.—Once more the story of the poor little fellow stolen from Germantown comes to the surface. So many promising clews have ended in disappointment that the sympathizing public may not catch much glimmer of hope in the stories told elsewhere, but those most interested in the search cannot give it up while there is any uncertainty in the lad's fate.

A London correspondent writes:—It will be remembered that at the siege of Paris the beleaguered manager to communicate with their friends outside by means of pigeons, which carried minute photographs of private letters or public journals.

A. B. COVALT, General Manager.

United States District Land Office, Olympia, W. T., June 28, 1876.

WHEREAS, on the 19th day of May, 1875, Edwin M. Church of King County, Washington Territory, filed in this office his declaratory statement, No. 3407, claiming as a pre-emption right the lots one (1), two (2), and the east half of the northwest quarter of section eighth (8), in township twenty-five north range five (5) east of the Willamette meridian, alleging settlement and inception of his claim to said land on the 17th day of May, 1875, and having this day filed his affidavit alleging his compliance with the provisions and requirements of the pre-emption laws of the United States, which relate to settlement, improvement, cultivation and residence upon said land; and whereas, also, on the 18th day of December, 1874, Alonzo Treadwell, of the said county and Territory, filed in this office his declaratory statement, No. 3330, claiming as a pre-emption right the same tract or tracts of land, alleging settlement and inception of his claim to said land on the 8th day of June 1874.

Summons.

Territory of Washington, County of King—ss. In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding terms at the City of Seattle, in and for the Counties of King and Kitsap.

Franklin Matthias and Erasmus M. Smithers, Executors and Trustees of the estate of Charles C. Terry, deceased, Plaintiffs, v. Duncan Dewar, Defendant. Complaint filed in the County of King, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

YOU are hereby required to appear by the above named plaintiffs, in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding terms at the city of Seattle, in the county of King, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within twenty days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within the said county of King; or if served out of that county, but in this District, within thirty days, otherwise within sixty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of the complaint. The said action is brought to obtain a decree of this Court for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage described in the complaint, and executed by the said Duncan Dewar on the 23d day of May, A. D. 1872, to secure the payment of a certain promissory note of that date for $300, with interest at the rate of one and one-half per cent. per month, from the date thereof until paid—both principal and interest payable in United States gold coin, for value received; that the premises conveyed thereby, to wit: the south half of the southeast quarter and northwest quarter of southeast quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), and the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section numbered thirty-three (33), in township numbered twenty-five (25), north of range numbered one (1), north of containing 160 acres of land, may be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of said indebtedness, including taxes, costs, charges of sale and attorney's fees; and in case the proceeds are not sufficient to pay the same, then to obtain an execution against said Duncan Dewar for the balance remaining due and for other and further relief. And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiffs will take default against you, and apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint. Witness the Hon. J. R. Lewis, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, this 20th day of June, A. D. 1876. [SEAL.] JAMES SEAVY, Clerk. By BERTHIA BROWN, Deputy. Ordered that warrants No. 90, 92, and 93, issued to W. L. Yeater for S. Hadlock, on the Cedar River bridge contract at the May term, 1876, be surrendered and cancelled, the same having been drawn on the county funds, and that Auditor issue warrants to said H. L. Ordered that Ole Gundersen be allowed a grocery license.

Ordered that the licenses heretofore issued by the Auditor are hereby confirmed, and the Auditor is authorized to issue licenses as required by law, when this Court is not in session. The bills against the county were mostly allowed. The petition of H. A. Smith, et al, in reference to re-opening the old road from Belltown to the old military road near Salmon Bay was rejected.

Ordered, in reference to the petition of Elmira Kidd that she be allowed to vacate the plat designated as the Elmira Kidd addition to the city of Seattle, and that the same be declared of no effect.

Other business before the Court had not been decided upon at the time of our going to press.

The steamer Eliza Anderson leaves to-night at 12 o'clock for Olympia and way ports.

PROBATE COURT.—C. H. Hanford, Esq., to-day, filed his final account as administrator of the estate of Mary Jane Gilliam. Mr. John S. Hill filed his annual account as administrator of the estate of Sumner B. Hinds, and August 17 was set for the hearing.

NEW HOUSES.—Mr. J. D. Smith is building a two-story dwelling house, on the corner of Stewart and Second streets. From what Mr. Smith informs us we infer that the hill upon which was formerly the old Seattle graveyard will be almost entirely built over before the winter months. There are also four new dwellings going up on Front street between the railroad and Belltown.

MARRIED.—At the residence of Mrs. Johns, in this city, Wednesday, August 9th 1876, by Rev. C. R. Bonnell, Isaac Cathcart of Snohomish, to Miss Julia J. Johns, of Seattle.

By this arrangement one of the most highly respected citizens of Snohomish, has borne off one of the fairest daughters of Seattle. Both communities unite in wisher for their happiness and prosperity.

A CAUSE OF CONGRATULATION.—A long endured want, much felt by our community will shortly be satisfied by the establishment of a daily mail between this place and Tacoma. This will give direct daily communication to and from the East and will do more to forward our commercial prosperity than anything else that we need at present. Judge Jacobs, by effecting this measure, has done an act that will earn for him the gratitude of all our people. That our readers may rest assured that this statement is based upon no idle rumor, we subjoin the following dispatch from the judge himself:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.

TO BERTHA BROWN:—Succeeded at last. Daily mail from Tacoma to Seattle ordered. O. JACOBS.

Commissioners Court.

Court met at 9 o'clock this morning.

Ordered that the Auditor notify the Treasurer to transfer $2,000 from the General fund to the Road fund as provided by an act of the Legislative Assembly of Washington Territory approved Nov. 11th 1875.

Ordered that $800 be appropriated to open the county road from the head of Elliot Bay to Steel's Landing, on the line surveyed as shown by the report of the viewers appointed by the commissioners at their session Aug. 31, 1873.

Ordered that $250 be appropriated to clear out the fallen timber and repair the road from Cedar river to Squak valley.

Ordered that $1320 be allowed the estate of Josiah Settle for error in assessment on lot 3, block 15 Maynard's addition.

Ordered that the supervisor of road district No. 13, be allowed to expend the balance of the money appropriated at the May term for clearing the road from Snoqualmie prairie to the summit, on said road between Snoqualmie prairie and Squak valley.

R. R. Pennell having tendered his resignation as supervisor of road district No. 3, it is ordered that G. S. Dudley be appointed to fill the vacancy.

A NEW SOURCE OF WEALTH.—We clip the following from the Daily Olympian of Aug. 9. "The experiment of the Steamship Dakota in carrying beef from this port for the round trip, packed in ice, has been entirely successful. The meat was apparently as fresh at the end of the trip as when it was put in ice."

Our dealers in meats can avail themselves of the same opening for finding a market for their merchandise, as do the Olympian traders. Certainly the way is as clear for an enterprise of this kind at Seattle as it is at Olympia. No doubt it could be also carried to such an extent that the San Francisco market might in part be supplied with Puget Sound meats as cheaply as it is now supplied from southern California and the adjacent country. One item is certainly in favor of our butchers this year, and that is the cost of transportation is fully as cheap from Seattle to San Francisco, as it is from any other base of supply that San Francisco has at present.

Chief Turnbull led to the calaboose, a drunken Indian this afternoon.

MARRIED.—Last evening the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Dunning, uniting in the bonds of matrimony, Mr. Eldeora Lozeau and Miss Annie M. Gilson, all of this city.

No business at the Police Court to-day.

The grief and sorrow at Fort Lincoln when the news of the Custer massacre reached there, is described as something to melt the hardest heart. It was the announcement to twenty-four women that they were widows, and to more than forty children that they were fatherless. The agony and wretchedness was something those who witnessed it will never forget. Nearly all these widows were left almost penniless.

COL. VALENTINE BAKER, dismissed from the English army for assaulting a young lady on one of the railways, has accepted a commission in the Turkish army.

The House positively refuses to vote Pinchback his $20,000. He cannot get it before the next session. He may run for Senator among the Sioux before then, and be scalped.

BROKEN ARM.—Last Tuesday, one of the little girls of Mr. Parker, the teamster, was so unfortunate as to fall under and be run over by his trail wagon, containing about 1,000 pounds of freight. The little one's left arm was broken and her side quite badly bruised. Dr. Blalock was called, who set the arm and dressed the bruises. The little girl is doing first rate.

THE ASTORIA MURDER.—Late advices from Astoria would seem to indicate that Mike McCormick was in bed and asleep when the fatal knife was plunged into his heart, and it is also intimated that he was dead fully an hour when his wife called in a neighbor and remarked "that she thought poor Mike was dying."

When the unfortunate and doubtless guilty woman was put under arrest, she sank upon her knees beside the body of her dead husband and used endearing words toward him, promising to join him in heaven, and then fell prostrate in a paroxysm of tears and vain regret for the act which she doubtless realizes she can recall or expiate. On searching the house a large butcher knife covered with blood was found beneath the bed the victim had occupied.—Portland Standard.

SHIPPING.—Schooner Dreadnaught will go over to Ludlow to load with lumber, after discharging her cargo here. Schooner Letitia will load Renton coal for lower California ports. Bark Lizzie Williams, Capt. Ross, arrived in port this morning and will load with Seattle coal.

POLICE COURT.—Indian Joe, arrested yesterday afternoon, was discharged this morning, on condition of immediately leaving town.

DR. S. J. BARBER, of Portland, Oregon, is in town and has rooms over Maddock's drug store. As he desires to remain only a few days he would be pleased to see any who require the services of a dentist at an early date.

S.; Miss Clara McCarty, W. V. T.; Harry C. Lord, W. S.; Miss Nina Campbell, W. A. S.; M. Ward, W. F. S.; Miss Sarah Bean, W. T.; J. H. Benson, W. M.; Miss Ella Hall, W. D. M.; J. Webster, H. REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.—The following deeds were recorded in the Auditor's office to-day: Dr. Freeland and wife to M. Mortensen and Nels Louis, the central one-third of lot six, in block 5 of C. D. Boren's addition to the city of Seattle, said lot being situated on Second, near Cherry street.

Frank Harris and wife to Arthur D. Allridge, the undivided one-half of lots four and five, block No. 2, and lots 4 and 5 in block No. 5, and lots No. 4 and 5 in block No. 8, and lots four and 5, in block No. 11, in McNaught's third addition to the city of Seattle, being a part of D. S. Maynard's donation claim, fronting on Elliott Bay.

DULL TIMES.—Our merchants and tradesmen unanimously report a general stagnation of business. The streets in their general aspect present a lively appearance for a city of our population, but for Seattle they are remarkably quiet. However, no one speaks discouragingly of the prospects of the fall trade, and the momentary dullness of the present will soon pass over.

The County Commissioners, having the county tax-list under consideration, no other business was done to-day.

The Law of Oral Slander.

The following decision has been rendered by the United States Supreme Court in the case of Maria A. N. Pollard against Jacob Lyon—Error to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia:

Words both false and slanderous, it is alleged, were spoken by the defendant of the plaintiff, and she sued in an action on the case for slander to recover damages for the injury to her name and fame. Controversies of the kind, in their legal aspect, require pretty careful examination.

Definitions of slander will afford very little aid in disposing of any question involved in this record, or in any other ordinarily arising in such a controversy, unless it becomes necessary to define the difference between the oral and written defamation, or to describe a criterion to determine in cases where special damage is claimed, whether the pecuniary injury alleged naturally flows from the speaking of the words set forth in the declaration. Different definitions of slander are given by different commentators upon the subject, but it will be sufficient to say that oral slander, as a cause of action, may be divided into five classes, as follows:

1. Words falsely spoken of a person which impute to the party the commission of some criminal offense involving moral turpitude for which he may be indicted and punished.

2. Words falsely spoken of a person which impute that the party is infected with some contagious disease, where, if the charge is true, it would exclude the party from society; or

3. Defamatory words falsely spoken of a person, which impute to the party unfitness to perform the duties of an office or employment of profit, or the want of integrity in the discharge of the duties of such an office or employment.

4. Defamatory words falsely spoken of a party which prejudice such party in his or her profession or trade.

5. Defamatory words falsely spoken which, though not in themselves actionable, occasion the party special damage.

The decision in this case is affirmed. Mr. Justice Clifford delivered the opinion.

Sleep Walkers.

Somnambulists frequently perform feats in their sleep which they shrink from doing while awake. In a part of France where men are much accustomed to walk on stilts, over swampy ground, a somnambulist one night walked across a swollen torrent on stilts; on awaking, he found himself too much afraid to recross the same to return by daylight. Another man was in the habit of rising in the night; he dressed while asleep, went down to the cellar, drew twine from a cask, walked back, undressed, went back to bed again, and knew nothing about it in the morning. Once when he did this he woke in the cellar, and found more difficulty in retracing his steps in the dark than he had when asleep. Simply walking in sleep is a common phenomenon; but working, acting, or doing, as well as walking, is more rare. A man dreamed that he saw a child fall into the river; he got up, threw himself again on the bed, as if in the act of swimming, seized hold of a bundle of clothes at the end of the bed, treated it as if it were a drowning child, held it with one hand, while seeming to swim with the other and put it down as if safely landed on the river side; he began shivering and teeth-chattering, and said out audibly: "It is freezing cold! let me have a little brandy;" and finally returned to bed again. A young military officer in his citadel of Breitenstein was seen by his brother officers to rise from bed in his sleep, go to the window, open it, clamber on the roof by the aid of a window cord, seize hold of a magazine's nest with his young, descend to the room, wrap the young birds in a cloak, and go to bed again. An Italian apothecary frequently arose in his sleep and compounded medicines. A very remarkable case is that of an English stone mason who was told by his employer, one evening, to go the next morning to a neighbor, boring churchyard and measure the quantity of work done to the wall. Waking in the night, he was astonished to find himself dressed, in the open air, and in the dark. The church clock struck two, and then he knew he was in the churchyard. When a gleam of summer daylight came, he found that he had measured the wall accurately with a measuring rod, and properly entered the items in a book. This is one of the few cases where a somnambulist "caught himself in the act."

HENRY BLACKMAN, the negro postmaster at Brookhaven, Miss., while at a negro picnic, declared that too much colored blood had been shed, and that in the future the blood of the whites must flow like water. His speech was of a character so incendiary that his auditors forced him from the stand, and on his returning to his home he was pushed off the railroad train and severely injured.

Notice. United States District Land Office, Olympia, Wash. Terr., June 28, 1876.

WHEREAS, on the 19th day of May, 1875, Edwin M. Church of King County, Washington Territory, filed in this office his declaratory statement, No. 3,407, claiming as a pre-emption right the lots one (1), two (2), and the east half of the northwest quarter of section eighth (8), in township twenty-five north range five (5) east of the Willamette Meridian, alleging settlement and inception of his claim to said land on the 17th day of May, 1875, and having this day filed in his office his own affidavit alleging his compliance with the provisions and requirements of the pre-emption laws of the United States, which relate to settlement, improvement, cultivation and residence upon said land; and whereas, also, on the 13th day of December, 1874, Alonzo Treadwell, of the said county and Territory, filed in this office his declaratory statement, No. 3,330, claiming as a pre-emption right the same tract or tracts of land, alleging settlement and inception of his claim to said land on the 17th day of December, 1874.

Now, with a view to the settlement of the rights of all the parties interested, the said Alonzo Treadwell is hereby summoned to appear at our office in Olympia, Washington Territory, on the 16th day of August, A. D. 1876, at 10 o'clock A. M., to contest the claim of the said Edwin M. Church, and then and there to show cause, if any there be, why the pre-emption claim of the said Edwin M.
