EASTERN STATES.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 29.—The floors of a three story brick building on Hampton street, occupied by the pork packing establishment of Walter & Son, the store-room of Samuel Parker & Co., and the store room of the Huck Cigar Manufacturing Co., fell in to-day, burying six men in the ruins. Four escaped with severe wounds, but the two others are still under the rubbish and are probably dead. The ruins caught fire and are still burning. The cause of the accident was the giving way of the third floor, where 80,000 pounds of tobacco was stored. It has been discovered that out of the six men buried in the ruins only three were taken out alive.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Gen. Newton announces that the reef of Hallett's Point has been swept away, and gives a summary of facts as follows: From 180 feet distant from the shore line of buoys the bottom slopes gradually from eight feet of depth at low water to twenty feet outside the line of buoys. Divers have been examining the reef and report a thorough break up.

GOLD CLOSED AT 10 1/2 @ 10 3/4.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—It is announced by the Secretary of the Centennial Commission that written reports of the judges, upon which awards to exhibitors are based, will be published in groups as approved by the commission and as speedily as they can be prepared. By the statement of principles upon which the system of awards is based, with names and rules for the guidance of the grand jury, every exhibitor receiving an award will be entitled to a copy of the report upon his exhibits upon application.

The Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Co. have been awarded the first medal at the Centennial.

A large Centennial excursion from Detroit and vicinity arrived this evening.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 29.—Frederick Wordman, a German tanner, while adjusting a leather band to a fly-wheel in Louis Keriger's tannery, was caught by the band and whirled around at the rate of sixty revolutions a minute. His head and all parts of his body were mashed to a jelly and cut into a hundred pieces.

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—Five vessels from Brunswick, Georgia, arrived at this port to-day with yellow fever on board and were quarantined.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—A meeting at the merchant's exchange passed a resolution endorsing the report of the board of health as to actual yellow fever and denouncing the action of Galveston, Shreveport and Pensacola in establishing quarantine against New Orleans as unjust, doubtless influenced by false report.

GALVESTON, Sept. 29.—The recent quarantine order at this port not only cuts off communication between Galveston and New Orleans but prevents Morgan's steamers from entering Bolivia channel and proceeding to the terminus of the ships' channel on Buffalo bayou. At Clinton and Houston the authorities called upon Dr. Blunt to modify the order so as to allow freight traffic with New Orleans. Dr. Blunt refused making any modifications and a meeting of the physicians, called to consider the matter, sustained him. It is said the Houston authorities will ask the intervention of Gov. Cook.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 29.—Yellow fever interments, 60.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Sixty thousand dollars have been raised for the Savannah sufferers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The Tribune's Lacrosse, Wis., special says Thomson & Williams' large flour mills, at Lanesboro, was burned this morning. Loss, about $50,000; partially insured.

TOLEDO, Sept. 29.—A large and extensive establishment, known as the Milbury wagon works, was nearly destroyed by fire this morning. The paint shop, which is situated on the 4th floor in the rear of the eastern wing, was discovered to be on fire about 6:15 p. m. Before water could be thrown on the entire end of the wing was in flames: The fire department was promptly on hand, and aided by the wagon works' engine, did good service. The fire steadily progressed, however, and soon gained an entrance into the main building through a heavy fire proof wall by means of the roof joists, and the entire main building, as well as the western wing, was soon destroyed. The fire was here controlled by the department and the western wing of the works saved. Loss about $400,000, insurance, $135,000. Thirty-five men thrown out of employment by the disaster.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Reports from Ohio show a marked improvement in the Republican canvass there during the last ten days. It is now ascertained that the Democrat game is to concentrate votes against Barnes, head of the Republican State ticket, sacrificing the remainder of the ticket in order to achieve a sham victory for the sake of its moral effect. The exposure of this intrigue defeats it.

INTELLIGENT MAINE REPLIES THAT IT IS estimated that the Tilden income tax fraud lost the Democrats quite three thousand votes in that State.

DENVER, Sept. 30.—The election in this State next Tuesday will determine the choice of Colorado for President, as the Legislature to be elected will be under an ordinance of the constitutional convention to choose three presidential electors as well as two U. S. senators. There are also to be elected members of Congress and all State officers. At the last general election in the Territory Patterson, democrat, was elected by a majority of 23,000. The present canvass has been throughout hotly conducted by both parties, and party lines drawn unusually close.

BUFFALO, Sept. 30.—Joseph Warren, of the Courier, President of New York State Associated Press, died at half-past six to-night of congestion of the lungs.

OMAHA, Sept. 30.—The Indian peace commissioners arrived from the West last night, and left for Yankton, D. T. Agency this morning. They held an important session there with the Sup't of Indian Affairs, Nickerson, of Indian Territory.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—John O'Connor Power, member of parliament for Mayo, arrived to-day bearing the Irish congratulatory address on the Centennial of American Independence. He is accompanied by Chas. Stewart Parnell, for many years one of the home rule party in Ireland.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 30.—Total interments to-day, 18, of which 17 were from yellow fever.

OCT. 1ST.—Yellow fever interments, 17. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—Admissions to the main exhibition to-day, and of the half-fee, Saturday, was 10,324, and to the stock exhibition, 12,034.

A new board of judges has just been constituted to decide on exhibits.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1st.—Admissions on Saturday, 104,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1st.—The Moody and Sankey meetings opened this morning at 8 o'clock. All the arrangements about the great tabernacle are nearly completed. Seven thousand people greeted Moody's first appearance. Many of the city pastors were on the platform. Sankey sang with good effect, and the choir was harmonious.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1st.—During service in St. Paul's Episcopal Church this morning the roof of the edifice was discovered to be on fire. The congregation were dismissed and passed out quietly, the organist playing voluntary. After the building had been emptied engines were summoned and the fire extinguished. There was comparatively small loss.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The safe burglary conspiracy, in which General Babcock and Thos. P. Somerville were defendants, was concluded this evening by the jury returning a verdict of not guilty in each case. The jury were out two hours, returning about 6 o'clock. Persons present expressed their gratification at the result by cheers and other demonstrations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says Gen. Worthington, Collector of Port Charleston, S. C., in a public speech here, said that more than 50 Republicans have been assassinated since the nomination of Wade Hampton, and it is certain that not less than 500 more will follow in South Carolina before the election. Republicans are outraged and insulted in every town in the State while walking the streets, and even when partaking of the Sacrament of the Body and Blood of Christ in their churches they are not free from insults and sneers on account of their principles. They ask the negroes to give them another chance to rule them; but they were a thousand times more degraded under the famous black code than when slaves. During the last Presidential campaign over 2,000 negroes were brutally murdered for opinion's sake, and over 3,000 men and women were whipped.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A post office has been established at San Juan City, Washington Territory, Joseph Swane, Postmaster.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

BELGRADE, Sept. 30.—There was a serious dispute yesterday between Prince Milan and Restics, Serbian minister of foreign affairs. Restics insisted upon the conclusion of armistice, but the Prince would not listen to the proposal. Ultimately, the war party prevailed and Restics tendered his resignation which the Prince declined with difficulty. Restics was persuaded to remain in office.

ENGLAND AND ITALY ARE GREATLY excited at Serbia rejecting the armistice. The British representative, speaking on behalf of Lord Derby, said Serbia must no longer rely on England for sympathy which she no longer deserves.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1.—Contrary to expectations no meeting of the extraordinary council was held to-day to decide upon the reply to the peace proposals of the European powers.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Standard's dispatch from Belgrade states that the Serbians have furiously attacked the Turks and have been again repulsed with a loss of 1500 men. Another battle is imminent.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—George Lawrence, an English author, is dead.

Lieutenant Governor Hubbard, who will succeed Senator Coke as governor of Texas, weighs 380 pounds and is six feet and four inches high.

PACIFIC COAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—James Lick died this morning at his apartments at the Lick House. During the day yesterday he grew gradually worse and at last past away without a struggle. To-day his body is lying in state at the Pioneer's Hall. On Tuesday, at 2 p. m. all the societies, civic and military, in the city will be invited to participate in the funeral ceremonies.

Turkish Soldiers.

The correspondent of the London Standard writes as follows: "I had scarcely been two hours in Widdin when a part of the victorious Aash-Bazouhs returned to the fortress. No one who had seen the procession could form an idea of the wonderful picture it presented. The greater number of the riders, mounted on their ugly, lean little horses, which, however, seem capable of bearing great fatigue, were Circassians, in long black, gray or white coats, with half a dozen little cartouch pockets in a row on each side of the breast. Among them were a few Turks and Arnauts, a negro, two men in European dress, except they wore the fez, Tartars, Kirghizes and Armenians. Each one was dressed differently, most of them barefooted many without saddles or on high peaked wooden ones. The Circassians carried their arms in a shaggy, black woolen case, attached by a strap to their backs, and every one held the muskets taken from the enemy upright in his right hand, resting the butt end on his leg. The same hand held a short whip, while in the left hand were the reins, and from the shoulder hung a scimitar in a leather case, red at one end and black at the other. Men over seventy, boys under twelve; white, red, green and many-colored turbans; yellow, gray, blue and black trousers, and in some cases none at all; on all faces the excitement of battle, the dark eyes glowing with a dangerous fire; never was such a motley group, and to put the climax to this strange sight, a gigantic Circassian rode along under a green silk parasol, and several of these savages wore spectacles. No prisoners were brought in, as quarter is not given."

Early Rising.

The Burlington (Iowa) Hawkeye says: The attention of medical men in this great republic is called to the injudicious and absolutely hateful habit, much in vogue in the rural districts and among early risers in the city, of getting up in the night to eat. This nocturnal meal is faintly disguised under the name of breakfast, and there is no doubt that it has much to do with creating, spreading and sustaining the national disease, dyspepsia. The custom is sometimes visited by severe judgments, but nothing seems able to deter its votaries from continuing its practice. We once took summer boarding with a man who used to eat in the night, and roused up all his household to share the unnatural meal. One night he stirred us all up at 4:30 o'clock to eat. We rose and ate. That very day his best cow immolated herself on a wire fence, one of his horses bit himself with a rattlesnake, a reaping machine ate up his best farm hand, a distant relative sent his youngest boy a drum, his wife took to writing poetry, and one of his most popular, talented and handsomest boarders flitted, leaving an unpaid summer's board bill to remember him by. The latter circumstance is indelibly impressed upon our memory, and we often think of it in connection with the somewhat coincidence that we have never been in that country since.

GERMANY IS ABOUT TO FOLLOW the example of America and France and hold a great international exhibition. It will be difficult, however, for even so great a country as the German Empire to eclipse the splendors of our own Centennial.

TWENTY-NINE INDIANS who were in the fight on the Little Big Horn have surrendered. Most of the braves are ready to surrender, no doubt, if they can obtain an assurance that they will be fed until the time to begin the next year's campaign.

He was a Widower.

The cars were running through a deep cut, whose rocky walls re-echoed the noise of the train with startling effect. A pale, dejected looking man sat by an open window, through which came the deafening roar. A lady on the next seat expressed her dislike to the noise in such terms that a gentleman requested the pale man to lower his window. This the pale man refused to do, and sat drinking in the confusion of sounds with an expression of great satisfaction. As soon as the cars stopped the passengers expressed their contempt of the pale man for his rudeness. The pale man stood up in his seat and said:

"Gentlemen, I don't want you to think me a hog, but I've been married for eleven years, and last week my wife died. I've lived a terrible lonesome life since then, until I heard the noise of the cars coming through that cut, and you've no idea how it brought back old times, and revived me."
The passengers forgave him.

A WEALTHY BARONET, now deceased invited the well known John Clerk, of Elgin; to inspect a collection of paintings which he had made with infinite care and expense during a visit to the Continent. The opinion which he formed of the collection was by no means favorable. Happening to be shortly afterwards in a company of admirers of the fine arts, who were doubting which of the Continental cities furnished the greatest attractions to a purchaser of paintings, "If anybody wants to get gude pictures," said Mr. C., "they should go to Tours." "To Tours?" exclaimed the company; "why to Tours, of all places?" "Because Sir J. D. has been there, an' he's bought up a' the bad ones."

Belt ("Naturalist in Nicaragua") considers the Nahuads or Brown Indians to be allied to the Polynesians and have come from land since submerged in the Pacific, whilst the Caribs he believes to be descended from the warlike race who formerly inhabited Atlantis and are said to have invaded Greece, according to the relations of the priests of Egypt, to Solan and the traditions of Plato. What is foreign to the Nahuads, seems to have come, he says, from China and Japan, while there are some few points of affinity between the Caribs and the people of Europe and Africa. Bonwick, however, traces a resemblance between the Caribs and the Tasmanians and Hottentots.

FATHER BECKY, the General of the Jesuits, is to be made a cardinal, and is the ultramontane candidate to succeed Pius IX. in the Holy See. The antipathy to the Order, especially in Catholic countries, is almost as great now as at any time since its creation, and the elevation of the chief of the Order to the Papacy might produce results for which quietly disposed people are scarcely prepared.

The idea of making flour by crushing the grain with innumerable small trip hammers, has been carried out in England so successfully that a pounding mill, costing $1,000, will produce as much flour as a grinding mill worth $5,000.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Chronicle says that the great social problem for its city is not so much concerning the male as the female hoodlums, thousands of whom, in short dresses, brazenly walk the gas-lit streets and run wild at suburban picnics, of which every Sunday there are many.

Some mercurial people throw away their friends in happy times and wish to regain them in gloomy hours, very much as a cow that kicks over the pail in the morning is the first one to come into the yard at twilight and low to be milked.

THE NEW ORLEANS police are to go for the dogs, using poisoned sausage. Poisoned sausage will kill a little sooner than sausage not poisoned.

JAMES M. MORRIS, once somewhat notable under the nom de plume of "K. N. Pepper," died a few days since at Baldwinsville, New York.

A Chicago Wife.

Not long ago a married woman on Pine street, Chicago, asked her husband for a new summer hat and suit, so that she could make that hateful creature in the next block see that there were other people besides her ladyship that could dress decently. Owing to the stringency of the money market he declined to fall in with her overtures. She did not press the subject, but a few days afterwards she came to his side, and leaning her head softly on his shoulder, said: "Darling, if you were to be hit on the head with a hammer, or something of the kind, so that it wouldn't kill you, but hurt you a good deal, and put you out of your mind, wouldn't they make me your guardian and administratrix?"

"Very probably they would, pussy," he replied, fondling her golden curls, "but what a funny question for you to ask."

"And then," she continued, apparently not having heard the latter part of his sentence "and then I could do all that I liked with things and my name would be the same as yours at the bank, and so on?"

"Certainly, pet," he responded, and she, giving him an affectionate embrace, hurried away. The thing somewhat perplexed him, but he dismissed it from his memory until very recently, when he met a hardware dealer of his acquaintance, who said: "Tell your wife I sent her the biggest hammer we had, but what in thunder did she want so large a hammer for?"

Then a cold sweat broke out all over that young man, and hastening home he told his wife he had just collected a bad debt, and here were $130 for her to get that hat and suit with. And she kissed him and said she would not take it all, since times were so hard, and they must make every cent go as far as they could; but he insisted that she should, and she yielded like a dutiful wife, and when he had gone out she took the hammer from behind the washstand, sent it back to the hardware store, and told them she wouldn't need it, but to send her its worth in self-sealing preserve jars.

RESCUED.—Mr. Benson, the ferryman between Port Townsend and Whidbey Island, while on a trip to Smith's Island last Monday in the sloop Twilight, picked up a man about half a mile off Point Wilson, in a fearful condition. He has been out three nights and two days, in an open skiff, without provisions, and was so far gone as to be hardly able to speak or move. He had worked in the vain effort to reach a haven of safety until, from sheer exhaustion he was compelled to give up, and had it not been for the timely aid rendered by Mr. Benson, he must have perished a victim to starvation or suffered a less miserable death by drowning. —Port Townsend Argus.

There was a little gathering the other evening, and a lady, with the desire to chasten the conversation asked a young man if he had never felt a deep and subtle thrill, a fullness of feeling, so to speak, that reminded him of another life. He said he had once. It was when he was in the country, and the doctor called it cholera morbus, and charged him $4 a visit.

When quite a youth Governor Tilden wrecked a railroad, roasted and ate his grandmother, aided Arnold to desert to the British, and, if elected President, will marry Dr. Mary Walker and re-enslave the Chicago Hannibal Zouaves. —Chicago Times.

ROCHESTER is the spot where base ball first opened its eyes on this wicked world, and there's where one surgeon has made $50,000 amputating fingers.

The German Army.

[From the Pall Mall Gazette, Sept. 7.]

The London Times referring to the part taken by the German Emperor in the autumn military manoeuvres, observes that a ruler, and above all, a German ruler, old enough to have known Europe under the first Napoleon, may plead a good excuse for thinking a national army a chief object, and one to be obtained, if necessary, at the sacrifice of everything else. It is only natural, however, that English and Germans should look at German history from a somewhat different point of view. It may be enough for a German that the German Empire has been revived, and that German armies have once more asserted their claim to something more than an equality with their quondam conquerors. But we are asking on what side that influence is to count. Is the nation to verify its great Chancellor's words and to show itself indeed "peace loving?" We have every hope that it will; but even so we shall not be thus easily satisfied. Love of peace may be among the terms on which willing admission is given to the comity of nations, but it cannot by itself, nor in conjunction with any amount of material force, determine a nation's rank. It is a fair question, therefore, what Germany has to offer beside these. What other titles can she show to the place of honor which her patriotic sons are not behind-hand in claiming for her? Are there any hard problems of national life which she has solved, but over which we are still puzzling ourselves? Is her constitution a model which we may look up to and imitate, as far as imitation is in such case possible? Is her commerce widely spread and conducted on free principles? The answer to all these points must, it is to be feared, be in the negative. The tize may come when Germany will throw off the bonds to which she has submitted necessarily but impatiently, when she will turn from the arts of war, which are just now occupying her, and will give more attention to the conditions of peaceful victories. Meanwhile, and in spite of her peace-loving nature, her splendid army is still a menace to the peace of others.

Murder Will Out.

This declaration is a succinct statement of a theory as to murder in which the world once had a robust and implicit faith. But that faith has been shaken in the later times. It is supposed that there have been several cases in which the crime of murder has been committed without the fact becoming known even that murder was done, and other cases in which with the crime known the murderers have remained undiscovered. People have paid the less attention to this subject because it has become a matter of very little consequence with us whether "murder will out" or not, inasmuch as the result is the same—the murderer commonly going free in either case. Indeed, it might be laid down as a general rule in this latitude that it is more convenient for the murderer that his crime should become known at once, inasmuch as he is then tried and discharged and has no further trouble; while in the other event he is for years tortured with anxiety, inasmuch as he always believes justice to be a severer personage than he finds her on close acquaintance. But the verdict against Lee in regard to the Mountain Meadow massacre seems like a case of the real old-fashioned sort, and may in some degree revive the old-fashioned faith. His crime has been brought home to him after twenty years and it seems highly probable that punishment will follow. It may be remembered that a whole train of emigrants—men, women, and children—were murdered on that occasion by the Mormons, who had some Indians with them to give color to the report they spread that the murders were committed by the savages.

A MAINE MAN'S YARN.—A Maine man visiting in Fitchburg, tells the following story: "Some three or four years ago, a young lady of his acquaintance in Maine lost a gold ring from her finger in a straw bed. Two years afterward the straw was emptied into the barn-yard and mixed with the manure there. In the spring the compost was carted off and spread on a field which was afterward planted with potatoes. In the Fall the potatoes were placed in the cellar for family use. The other day the young lady, on cutting into a tuber which had been boiled and placed on the table, found the missing ring embedded in the centre." That's a pretty tough story, and a Maine man says it's true.

Your character cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts.

Remedy for Small-Pox.

Small-pox is epidemic in Southport, England, at present, as it is here, and Edward Hine, a Waverley correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury, sends the following to that paper, and the recipe which it contains may be of service to the suffering of this coast:

No disease is so repulsive as the small-pox, and none so generally dreaded. It is well known that it is much about our town and suburbs. I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man if the worst case of small-pox cannot be effectually cured in three days, simply by cream of Tartar. This is the sure and never-failing remedy.

One ounce cream tartar dissolved in a pint of boiling water, to be drunk when cold, at short intervals.

It can be taken at any time, and is a preventive as well as a curative. It is known to have cured a hundred thousand cases without failure. I have myself restored hundreds by this means. It never leaves a mark, never causes blindness. And always prevents tedious lingering. It is so effectual that if popularly used would dispense with the unnatural law of vaccination and the costly stuff of vaccinators, for small-pox never appears without a need, and then ought to be purifying and healthful to the system; and when capable of being so quickly removed need never be feared above a cold or an overflow of bile.

Like the identity of the British which lost Israel, it is too grand, too simple, and too good to be quickly accepted by the people; and the doctors, as the ministry to the identity question, laugh at the remedy, because it interferes with the old routine of their customs, and has not emanated from themselves. Nevertheless, if the people would only try it, and report all the cures to you, you would require to employ many columns if you gave them publicity.

Those vilest of all vile criminals, the train wreckers, have been at work on the Canada Southern Railroad. They wrecked a train near Brownville, for the purpose of plunder, of course, and threw the whole train, except one sleeping car, from the track. Fortunately no one on the train, except the engineer, was seriously injured, although it is to be regretted that one casualty was not the result. One of the villains was caught, but unfortunately he was not hanged on the spot.

We have had a good supply of conventions this year, whatever may be their value. The Democratic Convention, the Republican Convention, the Greenback Convention, the Republican Liberal Republican Convention, the John Cochrane Convention, and two or three German conventions are only a portion of them. Now comes a colored Republican Convention at Utica, and a Boys-in Blue Convention at Indianapolis. Who comes next?

THE INDIAN FAIR.—The war being over and the Indians victorious they are now endeavoring to defeat us at diplomacy. The old farce of treaty making has been repeated with the chiefs, and, as our special dispatches from Red Cloud Agency show, they are very haughty in their demands, and sign the treaty with an eye to rations this winter and another war in the spring.

EXPLAINS IT.—Mr. Emerson says that every one has two natures, widely different. This explains why it takes a man working by the day only thirty seconds to climb over a wall into the shade at twelve o'clock, while he generally requires twenty minutes to get back after the clock strikes one.

The Cuban National Loan is not looked upon as a good investment. The customs revenues have already been mortgaged by the Spanish government, and, while loyalty is a fine sentiment, people are not fond of parting with hard cash on a doubtful security.

The people of Barcelona, Spain, have got up a strong Know Nothing raid, only on the other side. They refuse to patronize anybody who worships in a Protestant school. It is not stated whether they carry dark lanterns; but if they do not they will, no doubt, come to that soon enough.

James Redpath was born in Scotland, 1833. He was a fighter for free soil in Kansas, was an army correspondent, and is now the head of a Boston lecture bureau. The item going the rounds of the press saying that he is a negro is untrue. He is still a young man, with all the characteristics of a radical Scotchman.

It is reported that ex-Secretary Belknap is coming to California to live.

THE BATTLE OF SARATOGA.—As we read now the narrative of that famous battle, in which, on the first day's fight, only three thousand Americans and thirty-five hundred Britishers were engaged, and less than one thousand fell, it seems to our modern eye but an inconsiderable skirmish. But it must be remembered that it was not the fighting of either the 19th of September or the 7th of October which decided the result. The simple fact was that Burgoyne found himself surrounded by a large American force, and his retreat to Canada intercepted. This fact decided the contest, and really decided the whole war. American independence was as truly secured at Schenlyville as the overthrow of the rebellion was secured at Gettysburg.—Dr. Cuyler.

SMALL-POX RETURNS.—Fifty-nine cases of small-pox were reported and verified at the Health Office, San Francisco, during the week, as follows: Saturday, the 16th, 9; Sunday, 12; Monday, 6; Tuesday, 6; Wednesday, 5; Thursday, 11; Friday, 10. This makes a total of 847 cases since May 19th, and during that time there were 209 deaths, or about 25 per cent. of all the cases proved fatal.

POETICAL.—What a poetical way the ancients had of putting things. We read in their pages that "Lycurgus, King of the Edones in Thrace, refused to worship Bacchus, in consequence of which the god visited him with madness." Now, in our day the affair would read, "Lycurgus, King etc., refused to drink any more whisky, and in consequence, had the delirium tremens."

"WHEN Wilkie first came to Edinburg," said his landlady, "he rented one of my attics, and I had an Irishman in the first floor; but in course of time they changed places. And so I always find it. The Irishman being in the first floor and end in the garret, while the Scotchman being in the garret and end in the first floor."

Americans should not feel so badly about the outrages of the Bashibazouks in Europe, when on their own continent, within a hundred miles of a much vaunted transcontinental railway, there are white women and children constantly carried into barbarous slavery.

"Oh, my dear sir," said a poor sufferer to a dentist, "that is the second wrong tooth you have pulled out." "Very sorry, my dear sir," said the blundering operator, "but as there was only three altogether when I began, I'm sure to be right next time."

A NOBLEMAN, both stingy and ugly, refused to pay Hogarth for his portrait, on the ground that it was not a good likeness, whereupon Hogarth threatened to put a tail to it and sell it to the Barnum of those days, to be shown with the wild beasts. The money was paid at once.

Summons.

Territory of Washington, County of King—ss. In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding terms at the City of Seattle, in and for the Counties of King and Kitsap.

Franklin Matthias and Erasmus M. Smithers, Executors and Trustees of the estate of Charles C. Terry, deceased, Plaintiffs, v. Duncan Dewar Defendant.

Complaint filed in the County of King, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

The United States of America send greeting to Duncan Dewar, defendant: YOU are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiffs, in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding terms at the city of Seattle, in the county of King, for the counties of King and Kitsap, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within twenty days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within the said county of King; or if served out of that county, but in this District, within thirty days, otherwise within sixty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of the complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain a decree of this Court for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage described in the complaint, and executed by the said Duncan Dewar on the 23d day of May, A. D. 1872, to secure the payment of a certain promissory note of that date for $300, with interest at the rate of one and one-half per cent. per month, from the date thereof until paid—both principal and interest payable in United States gold coin, for value received; that the premises conveyed thereby, to wit: the south half of the southeast quarter and northwest quarter of southeast quarter of section numbered twenty-eight (28), and the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section numbered thirty-three (33), in township numbered twenty-five (25), north of range numbered five (5) east, containing 160 acres of land, may be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of said indebtedness, including taxes, costs, charges of sale and attorney's fees; and in case the proceeds are not sufficient to pay the same, then to obtain an execution against said Duncan Dewar for the balance remaining due and for other and further relief.

And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiffs will take default against you, and apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Witness the Hon. J. H. Lewis, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, this 20th day of June, A. D. 1876.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

Returned.-W. B. Hall and party have returned to this city from Newcastle, whither he has been on a surveying expedition, during the last ten days. He reports everything lively at the mines.

The young gentleman who was severely injured by falling from the steps of a barber shop a few evenings since, is, we are pleased to see, again able to be around, and except where portions of his expressive countenance are hidden by court-plaster, he is as good-looking as ever.

The Royal Marionettes arrived here last night and will perform this evening at Yesler's Hall. On Friday next they propose to give a matinee, principally for ladies and children. In Victoria, a half-holiday was given the children of the city to enable them to attend the matinee. Such action might be advisable here.

Cassiar.-The seasons work at Cassiar is now substantially finished, and the steamers Grappler and Gussie Telfair each brought down a large number of returned miners. From gentlemen who have conversed with the returned miners we learn that the season has been substantially a failure. Few have made more than grub wages. And a number who made a small stake last season have sunk it this. The general impression seems to be that the country is played out, and few will risk it another season.

Remarkable Dog.-Wm. Clancey has a dog, whose name is Nim Clancey, and when the dog law was put in force, his master gave him the necessary amount of greenbacks to pay his license with, told him where to go, and the dog proceeded with the money and mounting a table in the Collector's office set up a mournful whine, which attracted the Collector's attention, who seeing what the dog wanted, took his money and furnished him with the license. Old Nim immediately started for home and delivered the license to his master.

Board of County Commissioners of this County meet to-morrow for the purpose of electing a Probate Judge to hold the office till the 1st of January.

Proverbial Philosophy.-Half a loaf is the best policy and honesty is better than no bread-but is that any reason why John Collins should have Perkins' boots polished with stove blacking?

Real Estate Sales.-E. A. Thorndike and wife to S. N. Sorenson; part of lots 6 and 7, in block 14, Boren's addition, $1,500. Jacob Davis and wife to Jesse W. George; lots 9 and 12, block 60, in A. A. Denny's addition.

The Dakota.-This ship reached here at 11 1/2 last night, and brought quite a number of passengers for this place. The entire passage was characterized by smooth weather, and the passengers pronounce her the most comfortable ship they have ever traveled on. Mr. D. C. Brewster takes the place of Mr. Myers in the purser's office.

The New Ship.-Capt. Delaney, late master of the old bark General Cobb, came up a passenger on the steamer Dakota, to take command of the new ship now nearing completion at Seabeck. A large quantity of rigging, etc., for the vessel was brought up on the same steamer. The launch will take place early next week, and we suggest to some of our unemployed steamboats the idea of an excursion to Seabeck. The trip over there is not so long as to be tedious, and we are confident that there will be every attention paid to the comfort of visitors. The vital importance of ship-building to this community is not to be underrated.

The Small-Pox Case.-The case of the steamer Dakota having on board an Indian sick with small-pox, has made a great deal of talk on the lower Sound for the past week; and the resolutions adopted at Port Townsend were very censorious upon Capt. Morse. It is but justice to that gentleman to say the sick man was examined by Dr. Wheeler, who pronounced the disease something entirely different from small-pox, before leaving here. We are not a volunteer apologist for a man who is as capable of self-protection as Capt. Morse has shown himself to be, but we believe in hearing both sides of every case, and condemning no man upon one-sided testimony. If he is really culpable, no man would be more anxious for his condemnation than the writer, but we will judge nobody with prejudicial haste.

A PROUD MAN.-The proudest man in Gold Hill, on Sunday last, was Brutus Blinkenberry. He swagged about town with his hat over his eye, and when he met a man he knew he would shake him by the hand in a bluff, manly fashion, then cry out: "Come an' take a drink, old fellow. By Jove, I got away with Mrs. B. last night. Yes, sir; I belted blazes out of her in a square stand off. She's a bigger woman than I am, Jones, but you bet your life she won't start in on B. Blinkenberry after the dressing down he gave her last night. Come an' take a drink." To-day Blinkenberry is a changed man. His arm is in a sling, and the right side of his head looks like the half of a decayed watermelon. "She got even with me last night, that woman did. If you'll believe me, boys, she took advantage of a sleeping man. Took advantage of a sleeping man, gentlemen, and started in on me with a skillet."-Gold Hill News.

TROUBLE IN SPAIN.-This recent act of religious intolerance in Sp in are attributable to the influence of the ex-Queen Isabella, who holds a court of her own at Santander. The ex-Queen Christina also has her court, and as both the royal ladies claim the restitution of their property, intrigues, religious and political, are numerous. Isabella has presented portraits of herself and her children to the generals of the Spanish army, but with what purpose it is impossible to imagine. Many of them would prefer pictures more attractive. Spain is not in an encouraging condition; but what progress or peace can be expected of a country governed by two women and a boy?

A blind Swiss, girl, who is an adept at fine needlework, recently sent to the Emperor of Germany a table cover exquisitely worked with her own hands, and to avoid the appearance of having sent the present in expectation of getting something in return, she omitted her address, and simply signed herself "A Blind Girl in Switzerland." The old monarch was so pleased with the gift, and the manner of sending it, that he caused the German Minister in Switzerland to ascertain the girl's name and address, whereupon he sent her a valuable brooch and an autograph letter of thanks.

MISS KATIE BOYLE, a young lady of Sacramento, visiting at the residence of George Weber, in Davisville, was awakened on Friday evening last by an unusual noise, and suspecting that burglars had gained admittance, jumped out of bed, seized two derringers that were lying on the bureau and boldly stepped into the hall, where she confronted two desperate looking villains. The seconds took to their heels the moment they perceived that the lady was well armed and determined.

A CLOCK that has ticked two centuries and a half has been placed in Memorial Hall, Hamilton College. The good ship Mary Lyon landed in Boston harbor on November 3d, 1631, with the apolo to the Indians and this time piece on board. It kept time for John Eliot while he was translating the Bible into the language of the Indians, and has been handed down in the direct line to the sixth generation. It still keeps excellent time.

Bishop Whipple illustrates the cost of the Indian war rather strikingly. He recently remarked to a correspondent of the Omaha Herald that if ten soldiers were placed in a line with an Indian at one end and the American people could be brought to understand that in order to secure the scalp of that one Indian it would require the sacrifice of the ten soldiers and an expenditure of $500,000 in money, they might be led to inquire whether the scalp was really worth the outlay.

Trotting In Russia.

M. Jules Gonjon, of the Moscow Jockey Club, is now in this country, and has written to the Spirit of the Times a most interesting account of his experience here. His astonishment at the performances of Goldsmith Maid is evidently genuine, and he declares her the first horse in the world beyond any doubt. On his return to Russia he will take specimens of all our American appliances and inventions in connection with trotting. His account of trotting in Russia is very interesting and it appears evident that with American drivers, sulkies, and, above all, American training, the Russian Orloff trotter would be a very dangerous competitor to our Atlantic flyers. The Russian breed of trotters was founded in 1775, Arabia, who was the progenitor of the entire race, being crossed with mares of the country from Holland. Since Count Orloff's time, many Russian noblemen have imitated his example, and they can say to-day, in view of the number of breeding farms, and the conveniences constantly brought in for the improvement of the Russian trotter, both by the Government and by individuals, that he is truly the national horse. It is a long time since tracks for trotting were established in the central part of Russia, the country in which the trotters are produced, and it is fifty-three years since annual races have been given on each; but it is only since the establishment of railroads, increasing the facilities of transporting horses from place to place, that these races have been attended with much animation, on account of the greater number of horses participating; and now, besides the first society formed at Moscow by lovers of the trotting horse, there are societies at St. Petersburg, Varoneji, Toula, Orel, Tambow, Penza, Kazlof, Eletz, and at many other less important places.

Governor Tilden on the Seymour Affair. "Will you allow me to ask you, Governor, whether you think Governor Seymour's..."

"Excuse me," broke in the Governor, "I want to show you my flowers. They are very beautiful, and are looking very well just now. Will you walk into the garden with me?"

The Herald correspondent accompanied the Governor through the fine grounds, hoping that the fragrance of the flowers might have the effect of unloosening the executive tongue. In order to test the point he repeated his question: "Do you think, Governor, that Horatio Seymour's..."

"Did you ever see a more luxuriant growth of roses than that?" exclaimed the Governor, enthusiastically, pointing to a thickly covered bush; "let me pick one for you. Their fragrance you will find equal to their beauty."-From an interview with a Herald Reporter.

Dr. George B. Winship died in Boston recently. He was noted for his ardent belief in muscular exertion. He had the arms and shoulders of a Hercules, being otherwise somewhat diminutive. He once lifted a weight of 3,000 pounds, and then, proceeding to lecture on his hobby, fainted. The moralist will observe that, after a great amount of training, he has died at the age of forty-two.

A dispatch from Arizona reports that Colonel J. C. Johnson, a pioneer of Placerville, was killed by Apache Indians on the night of September 13th. The particulars are not given. His son George was with him, but escaped unhurt. Another companion, named Mowry, is missing. Colonel Johnson leaves a wife and quite a large family of children in Placerville.

"What is a cyclops?" asked his wife of Jones, as she read the paper the other evening. "It's a being with only one eye, sea," was the reply. "Well that isn't worth much to talk about. I know plenty of them, and I know a good many who haven't got even one idea." Then J. explained that his affectionate conclusion had misled her.

The fiend who is never so much gratified as when taking a vote for President on a railroad train is at large in Nevada.

The total yield of the Consolidated Virginia mine since 1873 was $40,000,000, nearly one-half of which sum was gold.

John Guthrie, a farmer near Winemucca, says that during the seasons on the boys at his ranch have snared 2,300 rabbits, an average up to date of 33 a night.

Memoir of General Custer.

A few days before the graduation exercises of his class were to take place, Custer was thrown into the guard-house by order of the commandant for having permitted a fist-cuff encounter between two underclass men while he was officer of the day. He was not permitted to take part in the ceremonies of graduation, and when his class left the military academy for the regiments to which they were assigned, he lay in disgrace, awaiting a court martial. This was in June, 1861. The war had just begun, and the armies were organizing. There was a great want of competent drillmasters, and some one suggested to Gen. Scott that there was a superior drillmaster in the guard-house at West Point. So young Custer was sent for, and placed at one of the barracks near Washington to instruct the green volunteers in the manual of arms. Just before the battle of Bull Run, McDowell, who was in command of the army of the Potomac, asked for an engineer. Custer was detailed to act temporarily in such a capacity on McDowell's staff, and took an active part in the battle, distinguishing himself for coolness, bravery and efficiency, and aiding materially in the reorganization of the army afterward. His service was so important that the order for his court-martial was revoked, and he was sent into active service with the Fifth regular cavalry under McClellan. It was not difficult in those days for a young man of his ability, enterprise and daring, to rise, and in 1863 he found himself a major-general at the age of twenty-two.

An English medical journal contains the following disagreeable but interesting information: "A man was last week admitted into Crofton general hospital with one of his eyes so damaged by the cork of a ginger-beer bottle which he was opening, that it was found necessary to remove the eyeball. We have also heard of many other injuries produced in this way. But it is not, as a rule, the operator of the bottle who is the victim. People have generally sufficient consideration for themselves to point the dangerous weapon in another direction. Barmaids, especially, are very careful not to incur any damage from fugitive corks, but they are, unfortunately not equally careful about other people who may be in the line of fire. We think that much more care ought to be exercised in dealing with all explosive agencies, including soda-water bottles. The careless way in which the corks are now prised out in many refreshment rooms, and allowed to go where they list, is very censurable."

The Paris people are fond of horses. They ate, in the first three months of this year, 2,370 horses, which would be at the rate of about 10,000 horses yearly. Well, when they eat up all the horses, they have to spare in France, they can get a fresh supply in this country. They can be sent over, nicely dressed, in refrigerators, as beef is sent. But is it not cruel to think of killing the intelligent horse for food? And is it not cruel to kill the innocent calves and lambs and steers and cows for food?

Don't live a single hour of your life without doing exactly what is to be done in it, and going straight through it from beginning to end. Work, play, study, whatever it is—take hold at once and finish it up squarely and cleanly, and then attend to the next thing, without letting any moment drop out between. It is wonderful to see how many hours prompt people contrive to make of a day. It is as if they picked up the moments the dawdlers lost. And if you ever find yourself where you have so many things upon you that you hardly know how to begin, take hold of the very first one that comes to hand, and you will find the rest all fall into file and follow after like a company of well-drilled soldiers, and though work may be hard to meet when it charges in a squad, it is easily vanquished if you can bring it into line. No man ever largely succeeded who just looked his work in the face.

Ben Butler always closes one eye before he gets off a joke. He keeps the other open to see if it takes.

The other morning a boy entered a Detroit drug store, bottle in hand, and said he wanted ten cents' worth of "arnakymony." The druggist had him repeat the word two or three times, and then said:

"Now, do you mean arnica or ammonia?" "I dunno," was the reply. "What is it for?" asked the druggist.

"I'll be licked if I tell," said the boy, starting slowly out. He went as far as the door, got a bright idea, and turned and said: "If your wife hit you on the head with a chair-leg which of them medicines would you git to take the swelling down?"

"Arnica." "Then fill her in ten cents' worth," said the boy, and he gazed lovingly at the big sticks of licorice while the preparation was being bottled.

Atrocities of War.

All the atrocities in the cruel war now raging between the Turk and Sclava are now committed by the Moslem, as the following incidents, almost too horrible for recital will show:

Mr. Peko Pavlovich, Generalissimo of the Herzegovinian forces, is probably one of the most eminent vivisectionists living, and has invariably chosen his "subjects" among those noblest of animals technically described as belonging to the genus homo. His specialties are noses and ears; but he does not disdain scientific investigation with respect to other highly sensitive parts of the human body. To his ingenuity is to be ascribed the thrilling experiment to which an elderly Major of Bashi-Bazouks was subjected in the neighborhood of Trebigne. This Major, whose name was Abdi-Aga, was not only elderly, but, unfortunately for him, fat and short-winded. His infirmities in these respects were proximate causes of his falling into the hands of Mr. Pavlovich's command. Late in the evening, the insurgents having retired upon Pk-lize, carrying with them a few Turkish prisoners as "subjects" for their anatomical chief, Abdi-Aga was brought before the latter, who at once caused the following elaborate operation to be performed upon his person: An incision was made in the Aga's, extending from his throat to a little below his waist, and the skin itself stripped off to the right and left, so as to form a sort of natural loose, open jacket. Double incisions were then made in each shoulder, the skin being torn away, and left hanging in the manner of epulettes. The Aga, whose groans and cries under the manipulation displeased the chief operator, was then gagged, tied tightly on a donkey with his face toward the animal's tail, and driven with many blows and curses toward the Turkish encampment. A patriot escort only quitting him when within range of the outpost rifles. Abdi died next morning in great agony; so the experiment may be said to have afforded a result in every way highly satisfactory.

NOVEL READING.—Now so far as the intellect is concerned there is a question whether absolute idleness is not at least as advantageous as the reading of novels. There is probably no condition of existence, out of sleep, which is so little an exercise of the mind as that of novel-reading. The person engaged in it sits without exertion of any kind, and has a certain quantity of pleasant excitement poured into him through the eyes. That is all. He is intellectually, no less than physically, as passive as a cup filled from the pitcher. Unless he reads to criticize and reflect, which is not the case one time in a thousand, he is simply engaged in the laziest possible sort of pleasure-seeking. It might be better for him or her, intellectually as well as physically, to be engaged in some brisk bodily exercise, involving attention, judgment, and care to avoid being hurt. This, at least, would be a tonic; while of all occupations novel reading is most passive in its nature and relaxing in its tendencies.—N. Y. Times.

A Boston paper says that Anna Dickinson has, during the past ten years, earned $150,000 by lecturing. She has given away enormous sums for the relief of distressed friends, but she has retained a handsome surplus, and is what most people would call rich. She will doubtless confine her public life to the stage. Her career began in 1862.

A jury bill, requiring that no man shall act as a jurymen in Texas who cannot read and write the English language, has passed the Senate of that State, with only five dissenting votes. The Texas papers say it will pass the lower House of the Legislature in the same shape in which it was passed by the Senate.

The Procession of Sultans.

On the subject of Sultans of disordered intellect the Koran is positive; they must be deposed. No discretion is left as to the time which may be allowed for possible recovery, and thus the fact that Murad was set aside, although distinguished alienists were of opinion that he would recover, is not necessarily to be explained by reference to political intrigue, or to the resolution of the extreme Moslem party to seize the opportunity to secure the throne for a prince believed to sympathize with their aspirations.

Murad completely parted company with his wits, it appears, at the moment when he heard of the death of his uncle, Abdul-Aziz, which news he heard with the mournful exclamation, "My heart is broken!" But though he was from that moment utterly lost in the wilderness of disordered thoughts, he had not been for many weeks previously altogether sane. He was the victim of terror and of the agitation in which men are tossed momentarily from fear to hope for days and weeks together. It was his terrible fate to be born near a throne which more resembles a guillotine than the safe seat of a reigning sovereign. He was in a line of succession which often leads its heirs to secret murder than to a happy succession of honors. He knew not at what moment the dreadful likelihood might dawn on the minds of those in power that his existence itself was a danger to the Sultan; but he knew that if that moment came his life would be of small account, and any voice at the door might be related to this peril. He came at last to live only in this nightmare of apprehension.

Abdul Hamid, his brother and successor, is but little known; but the little that is known presents him in the light of a typical sovereign of rather the earlier than the later sort. He is thirty-four years old, physically a Hercules and a wonderful horseman. His mother was a Circassian, and he is said to possess the energy of that race. He is regarded as opposed to "reforms," and, therefore, a thorough Moslem.

Another step in advance in shipbuilding has been taken by the introduction of steel for the hulls of war ships, by which a great diminution of weight will be gained and consequent speed. The contract for the first six vessels of this new build has been given to the important firm of Elder & Co., of Glasgow. They are to be corvettes of 2,300 tons, and will carry fourteen guns. The steel hull will be sheathed with two thicknesses of teak and coppered externally, and the craft is intended for service on foreign stations. The machinery and boilers will be protected by a strong armored deck, and it is expected that the corvettes will be able to maintain the high speed of twenty miles an hour. Should this expectation be realized, we shall have in these strong and bandy ships a most efficient envoy for our commercial marine in war time and no less efficient instruments, were the declaration of Paris out of the way, for sweeping the seas of the commerce of the enemy. The present order will, as far as it goes, reanimate the depressed shipbuilding industry of the Clyde; but the plates will be rolled at Sheffield, or in some other of the English steel making districts.

A hundred years ago a Virginia belle was not to be won without foolcap and red tape. This was the certificate that the bride had to sign before her lover could get a marriage license. "The bearer hereof has my permission to procure from the authorities the necessary credentials, which shall duly and honorably merit my attention in the support of my affections, to continue through the end of all things, which shall reflect every ray of honor ascribable to so resplendent an element or sentiment of my right mind, and which shall henceforth be strictly adhered to the proper form, at my instance and his importunity, in the making valid of all things pertaining to the stream of my desire to become his partner in the vigor of my youth, in the morning of my affections, properly directed to the momentous obligation of conjugal embraces in endless felicity. In witness to above, I have hereunto," etc.—N. Y. Tribune.

Southern Men in Congress.

A Western republican organ recounts the number of members of the present House of Representatives who served in the rebel army, and complains that so many of them should now be sent to Congress and that a number of them were made chairmen of committees. It speaks of "Confederate supremacy," and tries to alarm its readers and to excite their hostility to Southern men not on the ground that these have miscondacted themselves in Congress, but on the score that in the late war they served in the rebel army.

This is a very unworthy plea, and is, besides, more calculated to offend decent and thoughtful republicans than to win votes. The war is over. What the best interests of the country demand is that all parts shall send their ablest men to Congress. In the Southern States as everybody knows and as General Sherman and other Union officers long ago recognized, the brains and ability did go into the rebel army. It is very natural, therefore, that men who served in that army should now be chosen to go to Congress. It is not only natural but right. Brains, ability, influence, character, must tell in every community, and ought to. It is the fault of the republicans themselves that the brains of the Southern States are now so generally ranged on the democratic side. With only fairly good management a large part of the most influential Southern politicians and statesmen would to-day be firm republicans; but they have been rejected by the republican leaders, and this is one of the blunders which the wiser republicans, among them Governor Hayes himself, now openly recognize. To cast suspicion upon such men is not good policy.

WHY MEN SMOKE.—No habit adopted by a whole race of men—indeed by all races of men—but must have a raison d'etre. The thud of the Irishman, the chibouk of the Asiatic, the calumet of the Indian, the cigar of the white American, would not exist simultaneously on every part of the globe if in the use of tobacco there did not slumber some spell of great potency over men. The lazy man it seems to make lazier; the nervous man it makes more nervous; the brain worker it inspires, and on the artist it bestows visions of beauty. All lecturing against it have proven vain. The habit spreads with population over Australia and Polynesia, and in a couple of centuries from now smoking will be as universal as eating. It behooves us then, to see that something be done to insure the rehabilitation of the better qualities of tobacco, which seems deteriorating so fast. Manila is ceasing to produce a decent cheroot, tobacco culture in Madeira. One thing is certain, that the substitution of the cigarette for the cigar is exceedingly dangerous.

Newspapers.

I am sure that every person will be willing, as I am, to acknowledge in the most ample terms, the information, the instruction and amusement derived from the public press.—Lord Lindhurst. The newspaper is the chronicle of civilization, the common reservoir into which every stream pours its living waters, and at which every man may come and drink; it is the newspaper which gives to liberty practical life, its perpetual vigilance, its unrelaxing activity. The newspaper is a daily and sleepless watchman, that reports to you every danger which menaces the institutions of your country, and its interests at home and abroad. The newspaper informs legislation of the public opinion, and it informs people of the acts of legislation; thus keeping up that constant sympathy, that good understanding between people and legislators, which conduces to the maintenance of order, and prevents the stern necessity for revolution.—Sir. E. L. Bulwer.

Krupp's Cannon Factory.

The establishment of Krupp, the great gun maker, extends over several hundred acres and employs 12,000 workmen. It is traversed by a railway five miles in length and a tramway of two miles. Its various parts are connected by lines of telegraph wires and not less than thirty stations. The annual sum paid in wages amounted some years ago to $400,000; it is now probably much greater. Considerable skill is required in the manipulation of the steel so largely used at Essen. When a good workman is found it is desirable to retain him; and so, as far as possible, it is made worth his while to remain when once he has been employed. A pension fund has been established to which every one employed on the works must subscribe a small fraction of his wages. To the money thus collected the proprietor adds a sum equal to half of that subscribed by the men.

"Yes," he observed, musingly, "yes, business is looking up, that's a fact. A fellow came in and paid me a quarter he owed me this morning, and the chances are good for selling my dog this afternoon. Ah, yes, things are brightening up visibly," and he went over and got trusted for three twenty-five cent cigars, straight off.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

From the Daily of Saturday.

DIED.—In this city this morning, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. E. McCall, aged 13 months.

The work of track-laying on the railroad, temporarily suspended pending work on the wharf, has been resumed and is being pushed rapidly.

The praise meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at the Brown Church to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Candidates for office are getting very thick in this community. The offices of Justices of the Peace and Constables appear to be in the most demand, there being no less than six candidates for each of these positions.

Rev. H. P. Dunning will preach in the morning at the Brown Church, at 11 o'clock, when the sacrament of the Lords Supper will be administered. Sunday school immediately after morning service. Preaching in the evening at 7 o'clock.

SPECIAL SESSION.—A special session of the board of County Commissioners of this county is called for Saturday, the 7th prox., for the purpose of electing a Probate Judge to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Waldo York, and also to make some changes in the judges and inspectors of elections.

THE WHITE HOUSE has just received an elegant stock of fall goods, and the little place is jammed with all the latest styles of the coming fall season. We notice especially a fine selection of gents' clothing, ladies' fine trimmed hats, and a complete stock of boots and shoes. In fact they seem to get ready for a large trade, which they justly deserve.

[Special to the Evening Dispatch.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—The Dakota sailed on the 30th ult. with the following passengers for Sound ports:

SEATTLE.

P. Boyd, Miss J. Livingstone, T. B. Merry, Miss Clara L. Sanborn, J. Kimmsden and wife, Mrs. E. Pomeroy and four children, Mrs. E. Habsby and three children, A. Mont and child, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. D. Meyer, Louis Bow, John Wooding, and 22 in the steerage.

PORT TOWNSEND.

Capt. J. S. Delany, Mrs. D. D. Andrews and three children, and six in the steerage.

MARRIED.—In this city, Saturday Sept. 30th, Mr. William Merwin to Miss Carrie Page, all of Seattle.

The excursionists who left this city Saturday evening for Newcastle, returned yesterday highly pleased with their trip and amusements while there, which consisted of music, dancing, etc. They speak in the most flattering terms of the hospitality and good nature of the people of Newcastle.

INDIAN SUMMER.—This, the most delightful of all our seasons, comes to us this year with more than ordinary salubrity. The warm, hazy atmosphere during the day produces quiet, dreamy sensations, and the cool nights, encouraging vigorous slumber, give strength and tone to the system—indeed, at this season one seems to catch a gleam of the climate on the "other shore."

PARIS RESTAURANT.—This establishment, which for some time past has been in an unsettled condition, has at length, by the advent of Mr. Philpot, become a permanent institution. The public have long felt the necessity of a first-class institution of this kind, and under the management of Mr. Philpot and his estimable lady, the Paris will fully come up to their expectations. The tables are well supplied with the choicest meats and vegetables of the market, and every attention is paid to the wishes of the guests. Meals will be served at all hours of the day or night.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The Chinese contractors on the eastern end of Mill street, are pushing their work with commendable energy. The grade of this street, when completed, will shorten the distance between the city and Lake Washington some three-quarters of a mile, and the road, which now passes over the steep hill, will be almost level. The grade on Marion street is progressing very slowly. A cut was made as far up and through Second street, when the work was stopped for some reason, and a fence run across Marion street, completely blocking travel. This has caused much inconvenience to people living between Second and Third streets, who have now either to go out of their direction an entire block, or make their way through the dark alley.

From the Daily of Tuesday.

POPULAR.—The Golden Gate Cigar, to be had at Jack Levy's.

ACCIDENT.—A man working in the Port Blakely sawmill broke his leg yesterday and was brought over to town to-day and taken to Dr. Weed's hospital.

Sixty whitemen went to work on the streets yesterday, taking the place of the Chinamen previously employed.

FIGHTS.—Two or three fights occurred in the streets yesterday, resulting in the deposit of various small sums to swell the city's finances.

The county contest and Jack Levy's cigars create unusual excitement in King county, and are almost the sole topics of discussion here.

The Marionetts will arrive here to-night from Victoria and will perform to-morrow evening at Yesler's Hall. Reserved seats can be obtained at Jack Levy's without extra charge.

ALTHOUGH the Centennial exhibition is drawing towards a close at Philadelphia, Jack Levy has still on hand at the Grotto Cigar Stand a fresh supply of the famous and noted Centennial brand of cigars and tobaccos.

EVERYBODY rushes to the Centennial Saloon for the finest brands of liquors and cigars. The only agent for Moore & Hunt's Pony Whisky, also San Francisco Beer, better than English ale, and Steellacoom and Seattle Lager Beer always on tap.

A SINGULAR RESCUE.—One of the most singular rescues ever reported, occurred, the South Australian Advertiser during the voyage of the Na Marole says from Fermentie. The schooner was running at the rate of ten knots per hour, before a heavy westerly gale, when the alarm was given of a man overboard. One of the South Sea Islanders had been relieved from the wheel, and, in a heavy pair of boots and an oilskin coat, was going forward, when he was knocked overboard by a sea which came over the side. The waves were running mountainously as he dropped astern, but the report was no sooner made than the schooner was rounded to in the bare hope of saving the unfortunate man. She came to the wind under a press of sail, made a short reach, and was soon about on the other tack. To judge of the time on such occasions is difficult, but the master thinks that a quarter of an hour elapsed before the position where the man was lost overboard was regained. A sharp lookout was kept, and on heading over an immense sea the voice of the man was heard above the roar of the gale. The way of the craft was at once stopped, and the man swam up to the side, and was taken on board. He had thrown off the heavy boots, but brought the oilskin coat back.

HOW TO DRESS.—Young girls never look so well as when they are plainly and simply dressed. So, girls, when you are really in want of a new dress, buy it (or make it) in the fashion, but never quit an old one merely because it has become unfashionable. And if the fashion be costly, you must not follow it. You may wear broad stripes or narrow, bright colors or dark, short petticoats or long (in moderation), as the public wish you; but you must not buy yards of useless stuff to make a knot or a flounce of, nor drag them behind you over the ground, and your walking-dress must never touch the ground at all. Nothing is more offensive to good taste than a dress which sweeps the street. Learn dress-making yourself, with pains and time, and use a part of every day in needle work, making as pretty dresses as you can for poor people who have not the time nor taste to make them nicely for themselves. You are to show them in your own wearing what is the most right and graceful, and help them to choose what will be the prettiest and most becoming in their own station. If they see that you never try to dress above theirs, it becomes those who occupy a high grade in society to set a good example to those of the lower.

We are told that no man in the colonies could surpass Thomas Jefferson as a dancer, and when the music grew lively and inspiring it is said that the author of the Declaration of Independence was wont to "knock down" with a vim and emphasis that endangered the flooring; and called forth loud applause from the beholders.—Chicago Tribune.

A EUROPEAN critic says that the tendency of Russian life, as reflected in its novels, is to show the unrest of the lower classes, the peasant aspiring toward adjusting the powers of the government, and the upper classes, steeped in licentiousness, waiting blindly for a popular revolution.

A New Enterprise.

[From Our Traveling Correspondent.]

NEW TACOMA, Sept. 29, 1876.

Editor Evening Dispatch:

The steamer Wenat, Captain Hill commanding, has started in a new enterprise. On the 28th he steamed to the delta of the Puyallup, where he cast anchor and waited for the incoming tide, and when the water was sufficiently high to float the steamer over the bar, she was headed for the river, which she entered and steamed up past the reservation to a point about three-quarters of a mile above the Indian town, where the farmers of the Puyallup valley have already commenced to look for the little steamer.

Judge Jacobs, or some one else, should let Congress know that there are rivers in Washington Territory that could be made navigable with a small appropriation, and would be of untold benefit to the farmers living along their banks as well as to the public at large. TRAVELER.

A bright little girl at one of the fashionable hotels recently surprised the waiter and guests at the table by hurrying in to dinner among the first, and in advance of her mother, and ordering ice cream, raisins and other delicacies of the dessert before her soup and meats. The solution of her conduct appeared shortly, however, after the arrival of the mother, who watched with great solicitude the food taken by the child. It was, "Baby, don't eat this," and reached, when "Baby" ordered ice cream. Being cut down in her allowance by her mother, she took it with such unusual quiet that surprise was manifested, when she naively exclaimed, "I took my dessert first to-day, mama, so I should be sure and have enough."

A SHERWD PLAGIARIST.—Said B., having graduated at one of our New England colleges, in casting about for a profession, concluded that he had a call to preach. Accordingly he gave a few months studying for the ministry, and was finally ordained and settled. Sam. was smart in his way, and extremely good looking, but we never considered him much of a scholar. His memory was good, but his reasoning faculties were of a low order. For a wife he married a pretty and intelligent lady who had been teacher in the academy of the town where he was settled, and he became popular with his people.

By and by one of his old college mates paid him a visit, spent a Sabbath with him and heard him preach. The visitor was surprised at the depth and power of the sermon.

"Sam," said he, as they sat in the study together, "how in the world did you get up that sermon?"

"Rather good, wasn't it?"

"One of the best I ever heard. How did you do it?"

"You can keep a secret?"

"Of course."

"Well, I'll tell you. My wife is a scholar. She selects sermons for me, and translates them into Latin. Then I take her translation, without having seen the original, and retranslate it into English. A PAROLE.—The parole of Lord Cornwallace, a venerable document, is now on file in the Richmond (Va.) library. It reads as follows:

"Charles Earl Cornwallace, Lieut. General Commanding Her Majesty's forces:

"Do acknowledge myself a prisoner of war to the States of America, and having permission from His Excellency General Washington, agreeably to capitulation, to proceed to New York and Charlestown, or either, and to Europe. Do pledge my faith and word of honor that I will not do or say anything injurious to the said U. S., or armies, &c.

Whereas the Commissioner of the General Land Office, in letter dated July 8, 1874, ordered that the lands in Township 22 north, range 5 east, in the district of lands for sale at Olympia, W. T., should be withheld "from disposal as agricultural lands until the non-mineral character thereof shall have been fully established." And, whereas, Henry Nelson, of King county, W. T., who made pre-emption filing for land in said township and range viz: for lot 2 and n w 1/4 of s w 1/4 of section 32, now makes application to make his final entry of said land, and has filed in this office his affidavit declaring that there is not within the limits of said land, to his knowledge, any coal or other valuable mineral deposit, and that said land is essentially non-mineral land.

Now, therefore, in accordance with instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office, it is ordered that testimony touching the character of said described land shall be taken before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at office in Olympia, W. T., on the 23d day of October, A. D. 1876, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m., at which place and time all persons having interest in the matter of the character of the above described land are required to appear and there and then to present such evidence as may serve to fully establish the character of said tract of land.

To the Voters of King County.

GENTLEMEN:—It is well known that I am again a Candidate for your suffrage at the ensuing election, for the responsible position of Auditor and Recorder of your county. Two years ago, you elected me to this position by your own free choice, for which favor I have ever since felt grateful.

Having served you nearly two years, it is for you to say whether or not I merit the position another term. If I have attended to the business of the county and the duties of the office promptly, faithfully, impartially and honestly, then I feel that I am entitled to your support again, otherwise I do not ask it.

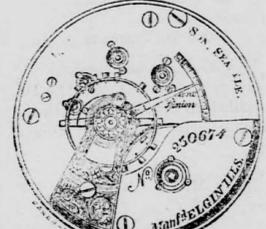

The present duties of the office prevent my making an extensive canvass among you—were it in accordance with my feelings and ideas of propriety to do so—hence this card. Those desiring my re-election will protect me against false reports and political trickery. I have no fears of the truth, be it what it may.

Very respectfully Your obedient servant, M. S. BOOTH, Auditor.

EASTERN STATES.

New York, Oct. 3.—Pool selling on the Indiana and Ohio elections was very close last evening at Morrissey's Pool Rooms. Following are quotations of the auction: Pools on the Governorship of Indiana, Williams, democrat, 150, 250, 300, 500; Harrison, republican, 125, 175, 200, 425. In the open pools on the Ohio election the rates were two tickets on Barnes to one on Bell for Secretary of State.

The Tribune's special from Indianapolis says the Republicans are feeling much more hopeful to-day. The great lock movement begins to show a phase which promises, if it is developed, to be of very great assistance to Harrison.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The federal race for six seats, for a purse of $2,500, to-day, was won by Blackwood jr., time 2:27 1/2, 2:24 1/2 and 2:21 1/2. Goldsmith Maid made three trials against time, which closed the meeting. The track was not in remarkably good condition and the Maid was consequently less fortunate than formerly. Her time was 2:23 1/2, 2:17 1/2 and 2:17.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 3.—The town goes republican by 571 majority against 255 last year.

HARTFORD, Oct. 3.—The annual town elections throughout Connecticut took place to-day. As far as heard of the republicans have made very decided gains.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Times' Devland correspondent, after a careful study of the subject and many journeys over the State, predicts that Ohio will give the Republicans from 10,000 to 30,000 majority next week.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Facts that have come to light here seem to indicate that the boys in blue, who are preparing to attend the Indiana political meeting are vagabonds, noted roughs, and repeaters, and that an attempt will be made by some disreputable persons in the Democratic party to use them as voters on Tuesday next in that city and vicinity.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Tribune's Washington special says a crowd of Baltimore roughs who started for Indianapolis to-day passed through here this afternoon.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 3.—The steamer John Branhall is in this harbor taking a load of 800 tons of ammunition from the Winchester factory for the Turkish government.

DENVER, Oct. 3.—Reports from the principal points at 3 p.m. indicate heavy Republican gains everywhere over the election of 1874. The chairman of the Republican State Convention claims the State by about 40,000 majority, and the Legislature by a majority on the joint ballot. Comparisons will be made with the vote of 1874 when Patterson, Democrat, for Congress, was elected by 2,163. Arapajo county has elected the entire Republican ticket by a majority of 3,000, being a Republican gain 648. Jefferson county, Republican majority, 75; Republican gain, 213. Gilpen county, Republican majority, 200; gain, 256. Boulder county, gain, 274. El Paso county, Republican gain, 295. The Republicans have undoubtedly carried Colorado by a decided majority, and elected the entire State ticket and secured the Legislature by a majority in both branches. This Legislature elects two U. S. senators and three presidential electors.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—To-day's admissions, 81,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The Moody and Sankey meetings to-night indicated the rapid growth of the revival interest. Eight thousand people were present. A general confirmation of ministers and Christian workers from the whole north-west at an early day is in contemplation.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—The unfinished race at Mystic Park was completed to-day, Comet winning. Time, 2:26 1/2, 2:25, and 2:23.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 3.—Yellow fever interments, 23.

PORTLAND, Maine, Oct. 3.—This city has contributed $73,225 to the yellow-fever sufferers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The Tribune's Ottawa special says rich veins of silver ore are said to have been discovered in the vicinity of Pigeon River, on the line of the Canada Pacific Railroad.

DENVER, Oct. 4.—There is no longer any doubt that the Republicans have carried the State by a majority of about 2,000, and official figures show a ratio of gains by them, if sustained, in sections not yet heard from must increase the majority to 2,500.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—John Edmonds, secretary of the Union Republican Congressional Committee, received the following late this evening:

DENVER, Col., Oct. 5.—To Hon. Mr. Edmonds, Washington:—The Republicans carried the State ticket, member of Congress and three-fourths of the Legislature. This gives us two U. S. Senators and the electoral vote for Hayes and Wheeler. This is reliable and positive. (Signed) J. C. WILSON.

Chairman Republican State Com.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—Democratic ticket was elected in this county by 1,100 majority. The Legislative ticket was reduced to 700 majority by an independent ticket. Colquett's majority in this city was 1,500.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 4.—The Democratic majority in Chatham county is 92; Sumpter county, 50; Pierce county, 180. Everything passed off quietly.

ATLANTA, Oct. 4th.—The election is quiet. Returns indicate a light vote. The Democratic majority will be large.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 4.—The election passed off quietly here. About 2,800 votes were polled, of which Colquett received 2,200 and Norcross 600.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The movement to nominate Judge Hoar in the Seventh Congressional district to run against B. F. Butler, an Independent candidate, was consummated to-day at a meeting of prominent candidates. District Judge Hoar accepts the nomination.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Paid admissions, 91,000. Total cash admissions to the Centennial during the month of September was 2,130,391.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 4.—Yellow fever interments, 17.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—E. A. Woodward, late partner of Wm. M. Tweed, for whom large rewards have been offered, was arrested here this afternoon at the Palmer House where he was registered as A. Wallace, Liverpool.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—At a meeting of the reform club in Lancaster last night, the Right Hon. John Bright made a speech on the Eastern question and said that he thought a meeting of parliament was desirable. It would result in a new policy, probably under a new ministry, and would stamp the future policy of the country with the solemn decision that the blood and treasure of England shall never again be wasted in behalf of the Ottoman powers. Turkey should be left to the fate which Providence decreed for corruption.

A Vienna correspondent of the Times says an answer drawn up by the Count Andrassey to the Russian letter, was submitted to the Emperor of Austria on Tuesday for his sanction. Andrassey has already communicated his views on the question to Francis Joseph, who has approved them. The letter therefore will undoubtedly receive the Imperial sanction, and will be ready for the Prussian envoy to take with him when he leaves on the 5th instant. The Russian letter is the preliminary introduction to peace proposals. These proposals culminate in the declaration that the reforms proposed by the powers cannot be entrusted to Turkey, therefore the powers are invited to come to an understanding about the guarantees to be demanded to secure the application of the reforms promised.

ATHENS, Oct. 4.—The President of the council of ministers, replying to the deputation from the meeting held Oct. 2d, at which the intolerable condition of the Greek provinces of Turkey were discussed, urged the continuance of the neutrality.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A special to the Pall Mall Gazette, from Berlin, says the guaranteeing powers are preparing a collective remonstrance upon the Porte to accept their proposals. It is hoped this measure will be effectual. Although the Porte has rejected the propositions it would not be displeased if the powers applied further pressure, so as to provide it an excuse for ultimately yielding.

A Belgrade dispatch says large numbers of volunteers are joining the recruits from Germany. Fifty Bavarians and Prussians have arrived lately.

A Ragusa telegram says four Bosnian battalions attacked the Turks at Klintoch. The battle lasted all day. Three hundred houses were burned and the Turks suffered severely.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Times' dispatch from Berlin says Russia is arming with energy and that valuable furniture and other movables have been taken out of the Russian chapel and hospital at Constantinople and sent to Odessa. The Russian journals speak of the redoubtable activity in the government gun factory.

The Austrian government has called in recruits earlier than usual, and is modification of some corps d'armes, besides troops stationed on the southern frontier.

In consequence of an inquiry from Austria, England has confidently intimated that she neither approves of nor will co-operate in a military occupation of Turkey. Should there be such occupation her course will solely be guided by a regard for her own interests.

As Count Andrassey had advised the Emperor Francis Joseph to take no part with Russia in military intervention without the approval of the other powers, Russia will be obliged to withdraw from her advanced position or her love of peace will be overcome by popular enthusiasm.

A Paris correspondent says everyone is now convinced that the peace of Europe can only be maintained by a conference. The only question is shall the conference be preceded by military occupation or shall that follow. The Porte will probably accede to the wish of the powers when he sees that the latter means to impose an armistice by military.

FROM OREGON.

[Special to the Evening Dispatch.]

ROSEBURG, Oct. 4.—The following extra is issued by the Douglass Independent: "The Leeds, a vessel well known on this coast, is now over ten days due at Gardiner. Mr. J. Kennedy, just from that place, says the vessel was reported when first due off the Umpqua bar, and two days after she attempted to sail in and was capsized by a squall which struck her just as she was crossing the bar and keeled over. This is reported by the master of the tug at the mouth of the river. She was not seen after the accident occurred, nor was any one picked up from the shore. This leads to the belief that the vessel either filled by water running into her hold, or she drifted upon the rocks, which caused her to sink or dash to pieces. At last accounts nothing had been picked up from the wreck, and this satisfies many that the vessel sank in deep water with her officers and crew, all of whom perished. It is not known whether there were any passengers on board or not, and nothing will be learned in this regard until news is received from the port whence she cleared."

Danger of Rushing Things.

The officer at the hearing was about to add the charge of vagrancy, when the prisoner said: "Hold on, don't you go that far. I'm been a citizen of Reading twenty five years and I'm no vagrant." The officer then testified that for the past five years he had picked the prisoner out of the gutter time and again, and that he believed the prisoner was out of work and had no regular home. "Hold on, hold on, that'll do; don't go any further" said the man. "Well, if you're a vagrant," said the Mayor, "we might send you up for 30 days. Has he got any money to pay his fine, Chief?" "Eighty cents," said the Chief. "That is not enough," continued the Mayor, "and I guess we'll have to—" "hold on, hold on, Your Honor," said the prisoner, "don't be in too much of a hurry. Don't be too sudden about this thing. We'll see about eighty cents."

The man then stuck his left hand under his vest and drew out a roll of greenbacks as thick as his wrist, "What do you call this?" said he; "does that look tramp or vagrant-like? Guess not! How much is my fine?" and he unrolled the bills, took a dollar and a quarter, paid it over and put the rest in his pocket. He was then discharged. In going out he said, "Always remember to hold a bit. Don't be going off in a hurry! Don't rush things." He smiled good-naturedly and departed.

PRACTICAL JUSTICE.—An ex-County Treasurer and an ex-County Commissioner in Pennsylvania, both members of a plundering ring, have been tried at Wilkesbarre on charges of extortion and embezzlement, adjudged guilty, compelled to disgorge and sentenced to imprisonment as well. Strange to say, this result has been reached with very little delay. Prosecuting lawyers in Pennsylvania are evidently less thrifty than they are in New York, or, perhaps, the Pennsylvania ring men had been less prudent and saving than our Tammany and canal operators in this State. If they had retired wealthy they might still have been out of jail.—N. Y. Herald.

MISS ANNA E. DICKINSON has finished a new play called "Love and Duty." During the current dramatic season Miss Dickinson will appear in her own plays in the principal cities only, and for which her time for the entire season is filled. Her season commences in Cincinnati, at Macauley's Theatre, October 16.

TO MEET THE PRESSING WANTS OF many persons on Puget Sound needing Medical and Surgical aid, and for comfortable rooms, good care and Moderate Prices, I have fitted up a Hospital, where every convenience and comfort will be provided in connection with experienced and skillful Medical and Surgical attendance.

We aim to make this a permanent Institution, and to give special attention to cases of fracture and injuries of all kinds that are constantly occurring in the saw mills, coal mines and logging camps surrounding us.

Seattle being centrally located, with regard to these interests, and more accessible than any other point, we mean with the aid of these advantages, and by giving personal and thorough attention to its entire management, to build up an Institution indispensable to the sick and disabled who have no homes, and worthy of their confidence and that of the public.

The Hospital is in a pleasant and healthy locality, and the rooms neatly and cheerfully furnished.
