Puget Sound Dispatch.

To Olympia and Back.

In company with a dozen or more Seattleites, we took passage on the lively little steamer Zephyr for Olympia.
Among others on board were Mr. Barrows and family on their way to Salem,
Mrs. S. B. Yealer and Mrs. E. W. P.
Guys for Olympia to attend the Women Suffrage Convention and the notorious Dunniway, who made herself excessively disagreeable by a continual exposition of her peculiar doctrines.

At Tacoma we took advantage of the half hour's stoppage of the boat to run up into town, which is exceedingly dull at present. We took a look in the Tribune office, but the proprietor was absent.

We arrived at Olympia at 2 o'clock
P. M. and immediately made the round of the various printing offices, all of which seem to have their hands full.—
In the Courier office both of their large presses were in operation all the time we were in town. The Legislature being in session it made the town look lively; but hotel-keepers and printers reaped the richest harvest.

The Pacific Hotel, kept by Messrs.
Sikes and Griswold, seems to have the largest run of custom, which it deserves as it is as good a hotel as there is on the Sound. Its proprietors are very popular.

The only excitement in regard to Legislative matters was in regard to the liquor license bill, which was passed, and the Woman Suffrage question, which is now before the Legislature.

We are especially indebted to the officers of the Zephyr, Messrs. Sikes & Griswold of the Pacific Hotel, and Messrs. Cook, Harsted and Bagley of the Courier office, for their efforts to make our trip agreeable.

Recent Gold Discoveries.

For many years it has been known that gold in large quantities existed in what is known as the Yakima country; but just precisely where none were able to ascertain. This belief was strengthened by the fact that on several occasions
Indians belonging to the Yakima Reservation had sold to the traders at the Dalles considerable quantities of coarse gold.
On being questioned, the Indians invariably refused to disclose where they had obtained the precious metal. Confident that gold was to be found in paying quantities, several prospecting parties were organized. They all found the color, but none were successful in finding sufficient to warrant them in remaining. These reports reached the ears of several men at Yakima City, and confident of the existence of gold in that locality, they organized themselves into a prospecting party, and about the first of August last started out, fully prepared to thoroughly explore a large extent of country. After an examination, they concluded to commence operations on a small creek, which empties into the Wenatchie. At the expiration of ten days a "clean up" was made, disclosing that they had only realized about seventy-five cents a day to the man. This meagre showing discouraged the party,
and they at once determined to return home. After travelling several days, on the 20th of September, they camped on the bank of the Swoak, a stream about the size of Mill creek. While some were preparing the evening meal, others were examining the stream, with the vague hope that possibly they might be fortunate enough to "strike it." Raking around among the loose dirt near the water's edge, one of the men discovered a piece of gold worth six bits.—
Encouraged by this favorable indication,
the men commenced reworking the bedrock, which in places was exposed.— Their exertions were soon rewarded by the sight of a $19 nugget. During the afternoon, and before supper, the party had secured in the neighborhood of $40.
The journey homewards was now indefinitely postponed. The next day they prospected up the creek to the distance of a quarter of a mile. The result of the day's work was $164, nearly $25 to the man, there being seven in the party.
The stream was explored for the distance of six miles, and the farther up they went the richer the prospects. The dirt from the hills on either side of the creek averages seventy-five cents to the pan.
Wherever the bed of the creek is exposed, gold in large quantities is found.
In some places, however, the water is deep, and to remedy this, the course of the creek will have to be changed. The gold is coarse, the largest piece found weighing $18. It is thought the miners will be able to work through the winter,
as the weather in that locality is mild.
For the main facts we are indebted to Mr. Goodwin, who reached here on Monday, direct from the diggings.—Walla Walla Statesman.

COL. E. A. FLINT.—By a letter lately received from Col. E. A. Flint, the Engineer of the Cosco Railway, of Peru,
it seems that gentleman is highly appreciated in that part of the world, having lately been appointed to the charge of the Arequipa & Puna railway, in addition to the one first mentioned.—
The Puna railway has 180 miles fully equipped and running, and 75 miles on the Puna Arequipa. It is gratifying to the numerous friends of the above named most estimable gentleman and excellent engineer to record the foregoing evidence of the high appreciation
in which he is held in the South American railway service.

SOMETHING NEW AND NICE.—Pun-
phrey & Young of the Pioneer Book Store have just received, direct from the East, some of the celebrated Roger's Statuary, the first ever brought to this city. All should go and see them.

The telegraph line is down south
of Yreka.

The grading of Washington street
will be completed this week.

There will be no lecture at the Congregational Church this evening.

We are indebted to Punphrey &
Young for a bundle of Eastern illustrated papers.

We have been having quite a storm for the last two or three days. It is the first hard rain of the season.

There will be a dance at Lyceum
Hall this evening by the Dancing Club.
All are invited.

FROM PORTLAND.—The steamer Gas-
sio Telfair, Capt. J. A. Gardner, sails
from Portland to-day for Sound ports.

The line is down south of this place, which accounts for the absence of all telegraphic items to-day.

Small parties are leaving daily
for the new mines at Yakima, an account of which, copied from the Walla Walla Statesman, we publish to-day.

There were 16 arrests in this town
during the past month; 15 for drunkenness, and 1 Chinaman for violating a City Ordinance.

The steamer Success has been repaired and is again running her regular two trips a day between this place and Port Blakely.

Notwithstanding the lateness of the season houses are still building. We notice that some one is putting up a little cottage in the next lot to Mr. M. A.
Kelley's handsome new residence.

We refer our readers to the new advertisement of Franenthal Bros. which appears in another edition. Persons desiring anything in their line cannot do better than call on them.

According to the News the new building erected in Portland by Capt.
Ankney, for the W. U. T., and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is one of the largest and finest structures in that city.

Dr. Freeland, the dentist, will be in town on the 20th inst., and remain for two or three weeks. Persons desiring to consult him after that date can find him at his office on Second street,
next door to the M. E. Church.

We understand that Capt. Wm.
J. Wait, late of the Politkofsky, is, in a few days, to be on the Zephyr in the capacity of pilot.

Professor White will give an elo-
cutionary entertainment at the Brown
Church on Saturday evening. Mr.
White has received the highest praise from the newspapers wherever he has been, and, when he was here before,
proved that he deserved that praise.
Go and hear him.

SHIPPING.—The wharves are almost full of ocean craft, awaiting their cargoes of grain. Those which were at anchor in the stream have hauled alongside, and are preparing for a trip across the ocean. The vessels now in port will carry away a large portion of the grain now on storage in our several warehouses.—News.

At a regular meeting of Seattle
Lodge No. 6, I. O. G. T. held Friday Nov. 7, the following officers were installed by John Webster, L. D.:

Agnes Winsor, W. R. H. S.; Miss Flora
Thompson, W. L. H. S.; Miss Carrie B.

THE STUARTS.—Another of the family which claims to be the representative of the Stuarts in this generation has just died at London. Count Ferdinand de Lancaster et d'Albanie, who succeeded to an attack of congestion of the lungs,
was a nephew of the late Vohn Sobieski Stuart, Count d'Albanie, and was a youngman of high attainments and much promise. Though only twenty-nine years of age at the time of his death, he had seen a large amount of military service. During the Italian campaign of 1859, he was engaged as a cavalry officer in the Austrian service. He was one of that band of personal friends of the late Emperor Maximilian who attempted to establish that unfortunate sovereign on the throne of Mexico. He sustained many privations in that country; and,
notwithstanding his health, he volunteered into the service of the Prussian army during the recent Franco-German war. He was engaged at the battle of Gravelotte, where his horse was shot and himself severely wounded. He was a member of the London Carlist Committee, and recently went to Spain with his relative, Colonel Stuart of the Der-wood, but returned to London shortly before his death.

Puget Sound Dispatch.

SEATTLE, W. T., Nov. 13 1873

Christmas is Coming.

Mrs. Editor:—The anniversary of the birth of our dear Redeemer is approaching. How fitting is the occasion to call to mind our great indebtedness to Him who is the author of all the blessings which we enjoy, and to contribute a portion of our abundance for the glory of His name and the honor of His cause!

It has become very popular to plant Christmas trees in the Churches, and to ornament them with gifts for old and young—with articles of value, and with trifles; the remembrance of the name being the principal object. Jealousies sometimes occur at these gatherings, and it has been thought that family residences would be a more fitting place for these festivals, while the Churches might more appropriately be made the scenes for contributions to the blessed Savior for the great gift of His life to redeem mankind from their sins and open the way for their admittance to heaven.

What spectacle more gloriously sublime than such an offering! How exceedingly would the heart expand and be uplifted in view of such active gratitude! Our Christmas trees in the Churches borne down with the weight of the offerings to Him who died for us, while songs of praise shall resound through His temple!

And when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto Him gifts, gold, and frankincense, myrrh." W.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Police Commissioner Charlack, who was expelled from the Tammany Society the other night on motion of John Morrissey, has issued an order to have all gambling houses and policy shops in city closed up immediately under pain of dismissal from Police Department, Captains who do not see that order is carried out to the letter. He says if Tammany Hall General Committee wants reform in City they shall have it if the Police Department can give it to them. It was expected that Tammany would to-day formally prefer charges against Charlack and obtain his removal by Mayor Hameymer. The charges are that gross frauds were committed in certain districts, that inspector's elections were changed when thought necessary to defeat certain candidates, that policemen were dismissed from employ of City where they were thought to be friendly to certain candidates. It is also said that there are serious charges against Police Supt. Maxwell with regard to his management and alleged manipulations of election returns, using police force to effect his purposes.

Business was entirely suspended and many places were draped in mourning.

SELMA, Ala., Nov. 8.—The funeral of General Hardee took place to-day. There was a very imposing procession, largest ever witnessed in the State.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Billiard match tonight between Maurice Daly, of New York, and George Slosson, of Chicago, former giving odds 100 in 600. French carom game was won by Slosson in 88 innings. Game was not very exciting and little money bet. Game was for $500, winner's average was 5 and 50-88, the loser's 6 and 64-88; score stood 600 to 593.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The three bureaux of the Assembly which was deferred until to-day naming their members of the committee on prolongation of President McMahon's power have elected Count de Remusat, Leday and La Boulaye, all members of the left. These elections give Republicans majority of one in committee. Result caused most intense excitement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Dr. Lindern, director of the mint, left for San Francisco to-day on business connected with the fitting up of the new mint in that City. Second Assistant Engineer, O. J. Habighest has been ordered to duty at naval rendezvous at San Francisco in place of Second Assistant Engineer, J. K. Kegan, deceased.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Passengers per Prince Alfred, for Victoria: A. F. Bailey, Markus Lewin, Miss Mary W. Thayer, Robt. A. Thain, Chas. Leopold, G. Blass and wife, Thos. Christie, J. E. McLain, Capt. S. J. Johnson, Miss Ida Solomon, Nathan Moore, Miss F. Palmer, A. A. Green, wife and child, S. J. Hall, Dr. Nichols, Louis Solomon, H. Guild and ten others in the steerage.

VICTORIA, Nov. 9.—The steamship California arrived here at 6 P. M., from Sitka and way ports. She confirms the news of the recent discovery of rich gold fields in the Cassiar country, and brought down twelve miners and $15,000 in dust. The excitement is intense. One party took out $197 in eight hours working.

The parties who came down on the California, intend returning early in the spring. The miners wintering on the Stickeen, have bought up all the provisions, so that a large supply will be required in the spring.

The weather here for the last four days has been a succession of heavy storms.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A Washington correspondent had an interview with Secretary Fish regarding the shooting of passengers of the Virginia, and the Sec. said it was a cold-blooded murder, and no one with sound judgment pretends to apologize for it but the Cubans themselves. They have had presumed patriots running loose in New York, and it was hinted, had they been made of sterner metal they would have been fighting battles on the Island instead of manufacturing useless and pseudo enthusiasm in those cities. No one denies that Rican has confederates who were in the commission of the Cuban. If an American is willing to enter into the strife of foreign powers, he does so at his own risk, and has no right at every turn which proves inimical to his own interest or life to ask the intervention of our Government. He has voluntarily left to battle for another power.

It would have been much more creditable to the Cuban authorities to have kept their officers at home doing service where it was valuable. The Sec. added that he sympathized with Cuba, but could not render aid in any manner which would conflict with the amity of the nation; further, he wanted better metal from Cuba than has been sent before. He could then hope to hear of them ultimately achieving their Independence.

In the present state of affairs he said the State Department will use the most diligent diligence to be advised at the earliest practicable moment, and after we have full facts we will act. This Government cannot now act because it does not have any basis upon which to proceed firmly and intelligently. It may a week before the news is presented in official shape.

Loss of the steamer Ismael is fully credited at the ship news Exchange. She had no passengers, and was last seen on the 2nd of October, off the coast of Nova Scotia.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The Tribune's Philadelphia correspondent telegraphs that Col. T. Scott informed him that no more bills of the Atlantic and Pacific Construction Co., will be allowed to be protested, and that John Welsh will arrange an extension of time with the holders. Col. Scott says the failure is virtually and mainly attributable to the present scarcity of money in Europe and at home, and their consequent inability to dispose of their bonds.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—It is reported that Burs & Co. metal merchants, have failed. Liabilities, $4,900,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11. Flour, extra, jobbing at 6 62 1/2 @; wheat, 2000 shs choice 2 30, 300 shs good 2 25; barley, coast feed, 1 32 1/2; bay feed, 1 25; Oats, 1 50 @ 1 80.

EXPRESSION.—The strongest expression is generally the briefest and best. Take the old ballads of any people, and few adjectives will be found. The singer says, "He laughed; she wept." Perhaps the poet of a more advanced age might say, "He laughed in scorn; she turned away and shed tears of disappointment." But nowadays the ambitious young writer must produce something like this: "A hard, fendish laugh, scornful and pitiless, forced its passage from his throat, through the lips that curled in mockery at her appeal; she endured her despairing face, and a gust and whirlwind of sorrowing agony burst forth in her irresistible tears."

Kentucky is a prolific State. A Louisville paper boasts that she furnishes the following substantial contributions to the national repertory of arts, to wit: "Women and horses, whiskey and blue-grass, a series of honorable names and legends to the national history, which thrill and warm the hearts of men in colder climes, and, by a sort of magnetic influence, run along through genuine American blood from Ohio to Arkansas, the two extremes of frigidty and gush."

A gentleman the other day saw his daughter dipping her little doll-baby's dress into a tin cup and inquired: "What are you doing, my daughter?" "I'm coloring my doll's dress red." "With what?" "With beer." "What put that foolish notion into your head, child? You can't color with beer!" "Yes, I can, pa, because ma said it was beer that made your nose red." And the man had business that required him to walk down town immediately.

A CONFERENCE.—The other morning a tolerably well-dressed but wild-eyed gentleman called Mayor Macaulay to one side, in the city court room, and said he wanted something done with his wife. "What's the matter?" inquired his Honor. "She keeps giving me pills," was his reply. "I would not take 'em," said his Honor. "I cannot help it," said the injured husband, "she gives 'em to me when I'm asleep." "I'd wear a muzzle." The injured husband started. He hadn't thought of that.—Indianapolis Herald.

Senator Alcorn, when Governor of Mississippi, was intrusted with a secret service fund. He employed the best men in the State to enter the Ku-Klux organization and destroy it, but he admits that it was begotten by military despotism. It was the removal of military force that did away with the cause, and at the end of his term there was not a Ku-Klux in the State. Prosecutions and arrests have been continued simply for the purpose of robbing the people. It is only necessary to pay the hangers on of the Federal, Court and prosecution are at once dismissed. Only one demerit youth, whose skull was cracked by a bomb shell at Shiloh, has been con signed to the penitentiary, and through Alcorn's intervention the President gave him a pardon.

OLE TULL.—It appears that some time during the month of May, Ole Bull, the celebrated and far famed violinist, was invited to give a concert in the Methodist church in the village of Cambridge, Wisconsin, and when the evening arrived for the concert to take place, some of the Puritan members of the church refused him the use of the church, holding that it would be desecration of the House of God to hold a concert of secular music in the church. Dr. Dundas, of that village, opened the church and the concert was held, the building being perfect in packed. Now the trustees of the church bring a trespass against Dr. Dundas for opening the church. This suit is watched with a great deal of interest.

UNKIND.—Mr. Emerson, the poet, was in Rome last winter, and visited the studio of Mr. Tilton, the American artist, whose smallest bits of canvas bring an almost incredible price. Mr. Tilton, who is a poet, was invited to give a picture, hand-somely framed, and presented it to his guest. The next day Mr. Emerson, overtaken by a stinging of conscience, came again, and in his hand was the empty frame, which he handed to Mr. Tilton, with this remark: "Mr. Tilton, I accept gladly your painting, but I must return the frame, for I cannot keep anything of so great pecuniary value."

The man who answered an advertisement to the following effect, says his curiosity is satisfied: "If you would learn how to make home, send a postage stamp and twenty-five cents to P. O. Box No. — Cincinnati." He did send the necessary cash, and soon received the answer: "If you are as big a fool as we think you must be for giving us your money, you can make home happy by leaving it and going West by yourself."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Seattle, W. T. No 13 1873.

Thanks to Messrs. Pumphrey & Young for a bundle of Eastern Illustrated papers.

PERSONAL.—We were today favored with a visit from Samuel Robinson, of Painter & Co.'s Type Foundry, San Francisco.

ARRIVED.—In this city Nov. 10, by Rev. D. Bagley, Benj. M. Spinning, of Pierce County to Mrs. E. P. Cheney of King County.

We notice in the window of the Candy manufactory the arms of the United States, done in candy. The eagle is very well done and shows that Mr. Piper is an artist in his business.

ARRIVED.—Pumphrey & Young, Book-sellers and Stationers of this city, have just received direct from the East, another lot of 237 volumes for the "Seattle Library Association."

DIED.—In this city, on the 11th inst., Fred. Slotter, a native of Germany, aged 40 years. His funeral will take place on Thursday morning the 13th, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mr. Edwin Eels, Indian Agent at the Skokomish Reservation, walked off the end of Yester's wharf, last night, into the Bay. He was got out uninjured but slightly wet. He had a lantern in his hand which dazzled his eyes.

The Courier of a late date says that, owing to the visit of Inspector Kimball, Indian Superintendent Milroy has been removed until an investigation can take place, and his place supplied by Capt. Marshall Blinn.

Dr. Freeland, the dentist, will remain in town on the 20th inst., and remain for two or three weeks. Persons desiring to consult him after that date can find him at his office on Second street, next door to the M. E. Church.

The steamer Polikofsky arrived here last night from Port Madison, bringing the freight of the ship Marmon, which arrived there a day or so ago. After discharging all for this place, she proceeded up Sound. In this connection we will state that we were misinformed about her being condemned.

M. B. Club!

You are requested to meet at the Club Room on the morning of Nov. 13th, at 9 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late friend FRED. SLOTTOR.

By the President.

Notice to Teachers.

Notice is hereby given that I will be in Seattle on the third Friday and Saturday of this month, for the purpose of examining teachers. Nov. 8.

GEO. F. WHITWORTH, Supt.

As will be seen by our advertising columns, Mr. Richards offers for sale the American Exchange Restaurant, having secured a much better business at Victoria. He has built up a very good trade at the above named restaurant and whoever gets it will get a good bargain.

PROF. WHITE.—Prof. White, the eloquent, gave an entertainment at the Brown Church on Saturday evening to a very select audience. He rendered some selections very well, among others Poe's Raven, the Wife's Retort and the Coquette Punished. The most interesting part of the entertainment was a description of the Yellowstone Valley and the Geysers in our National Park.

DROWNED.—John F. Witt, captain of the schooner Winged Racer lying alongside Stone & Burnett's wharf, a man of about 30 years of age, in attempting to go on board his vessel at a late hour last night fell overboard and was drowned. There was no one with him at the time and was not missed until this morning. His body was found about 1 o'clock this afternoon fastened to a pile close by the schooner. He was supposed to have been under the influence of liquor at the time of his death.

At a Coroner's inquest held in Seattle on the 11th day of November A. D., 1873, on the body of a person found in the dock at Seattle on the said 11th day of Nov., A. D. 1873, do find as follows, to wit: That the deceased is a native of Germany, aged about 45 years and named John F. Witt; that he came to his death by accidental drowning by falling from the wharf and the schooner belonging to the Telegraph Company of which he was an employee. B. Crossen, S. W. Russel, N. C. Halsey, H. L. Blanchard, C. H. Preston and J. H. Ross.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 11th day of Nov. 1873. D. S. SMITH, J. P. and acting Coroner.

FRAUDULENT DEADHEADS.—Newspapers are every day calling our attention to different frauds which are practiced on an unsuspecting public, but they are, or appear to be, perfectly oblivious of the various frauds practiced on themselves and the managers of theatrical representations, etc., by well dressed young men, who have the happy knack of gaining admission to theatres, race-courses, and in fact all public amusements, by representing that they belong to certain leading papers of the city.

In order to test the truth of this statement, let one of the managers of the daily papers post himself near the door of one of our theatres and make known to both his hearing and seeing faculties. After the audience have taken their places, it will not be long ere one of these gentlemen will saunter up, and with a smile and a nod to the doorkeeper, who can be hardly expected to know all the reporters by sight, will walk in and take a seat. After a glance around, which conveys the idea of great powers of mental calculation, he will draw out a pencil and rans his all-observing eye down the programme, smile grimly and watch the performance with a cynical expression, only acquired by long practice.

On leaving the theatre, he has always a word for any one of the management, who may be standing about the lobby, and to whom he has probably obtained an introduction as one of the press. The deluded manager looks in the morning paper which this youth is supposed to represent, sees a carefully written criticism, "written by some other fellow," and thus forms an opinion of this social lumbago. One or two of the papers gave permits to gentlemen whose criticisms are read with an eager and approving eye, but who are perfectly guiltless of what themselves herald as their own.

The writer of this article had the pleasure of interviewing one of these knowing beats the other day, and was intensely amused by the collected way in which he spoke of the send-off he had given a certain theatre in this city. Since then the real author has admitted having penned the lines, which fact however, in no wise prevents his honest friend from representing the paper of his choice.—S. F. FIGARO

DIED WITH MY FACE TO THE Foe.—A single shot, followed by a loud shriek, told us that one of our best men, Bradley, was wounded. He proclaimed his agony with a loud voice, turning over on his back, and commenced kicking so vigorously that the surgeon had difficulty in getting in reach of him. "Poor fellow," said the Doctor as he saw a whitish liquid oozing out, "shot in the bladder: I am afraid it's fatal," and he commenced opening his coat. "Oh, my God," said Bradley. "I'm a dead man; I'll never get over it." "Keep up your spirits, my boy; never say die," said Captain Johnson, kneeling kindly over him.

"Doctor," asked the wounded soldier feebly, "will you write to my mother and tell her that I died bravely doing my duty, with my face to the foe, and thought of her when I was dying."

"Yes, yes," said the Doctor with a dim eye and a husky voice, "I will write to her and tell her, too," but suddenly springing to his feet, with an indignant, angry voice added, "Why, confound it, man, you're not hurt a bit; it's only your canteen that's shot, and that's the water from it; get up, will you."

Bradley raised up slowly, felt himself all over, and with an exceedingly foolish countenance, crawled back to his position, amid the uproarious laughter of the regiment.

For months after that, on the march or in camp, and sometimes in the middle of the night, you would hear a voice in one direction demanding "What shall I tell your mother?" and perhaps a half dozen responses would be heard, "Tell her I died with my face to the foe," and then "Canteen" Bradley would come out and angrily hunt for the man who said it. He seldom found him, but when he did there was certain to be a fight.—Rebellen in Court Journal.

The Statesman says: "Two or three days ago an elderly lady stopped at the Chemeketa Hotel and stated she was hunting for her daughter, a girl of about 17 years, whom she said she had lost in the city and was unable to find. One of the employees of the hotel offered to assist her in any way he could and requested her to wait a few minutes until he could perform some small piece of work. On going to where he had left the lady, to fulfill his promise of assistance, he found that she had left the hotel without saying a word to anyone. Since that time nothing has been heard of her, but as Salem is not a very large place, and we have heard of no elopements lately, we presume she found her daughter unharmed."

Some idea of the importance of the Erie Canal may be gathered from the fact, that, even with the present capacity, it conveys from the seat of agriculture to the sea, during its seven months of navigation, more freight than all the railroads in the State of New York in a year, and at prices which put competition at defiance, notwithstanding the drawback of unloading and re-shipment. What might not be expected then with its capacity doubled, and the adoption of boats propelled by steam? Such a consummation would be death to monopoly, but life to the interests of industry and enterprise. It requires but little looking ahead to coming events, and a preparation of the public mind to grasp the problem, to work it out when the proper hour shall come.

A widow said to her daughter: "When you are at my age it will be time enough to dream of a husband." "Yes mamma," replied the thoughtless girl, "of a second one." The widow faints.

The auction rooms of Mr. A. J. Littlejohn were broken into Thursday night, and goods abstracted to the amount of some sixty dollars. No clue to the act has yet been obtained.—Courier

A parent writes that he is annoyed and pained by his son staying out at night, and asks a remedy for this rapidly growing evil. There are several remedies. The most effectual is to compel him to wear patched clothing.

It is told of one of the "supes" who removes chairs from the stage of a Troy theatre with great effect, that on the death of Edwin Forrest being announced to him, while standing on a hotel stoop, he exclaimed with dramatic gesture: "Great God! another one of us gone!"

A Monahia young lady, name not given, recently failed to keep her engagement to marry, and made known her change in mind while standing before the minister who was to unite them. The young man of course was greatly shocked, and all present were wonderfully amazed, but the young lady was inexorable.

There was a deplorable accident November 6th, in the River Jordan, Utah. John Mullett and Wm. Flint were out duck shooting. As Flint was in the act of firing, Mullett, who was sitting with his back to Flint, suddenly rose up and received the whole charge in his head, killing him instantly.

A Boston letter remarks that the financial panic, which began like a fever, with alternate hot and cold fits, has settled down into a steady, slow, mild but incessant, which grows a little better from week to week, but has weakened the patient a good deal, and will keep him reduced in strength for months to come.

A recent post-office decision is that if a post-master knows that a letter addressed to his office is intended for a person living within the delivery of another office, it is his duty to forward such letter (if it has been properly prepaid) without waiting for a request to do so and without additional charge of postage.

The Shah declared that European rulers are not kings at all, because they consult the will of the people, and have no power over the lives of their subjects. They cannot make money when they want it, and are kings only in name.—An Eastern monarch can do as he likes; he is not bound to please any one; and comes and goes as he will.

The International Coinage Conference, at Vienna, which was held under the patronage of the Archduke Rainer, having pronounced in favor of the adoption of an international unit of the metric dollar of 1 1/2 grammes fine gold used in the United States, the Imperial Mint is engaged with the coinage of specimens of 7 1/2 grammes.

An old miser, who was exceedingly parsimonious, was obliged reluctantly to consult a physician. "What shall I do with my head?" asked the man. "It is so dizzy, I seem to see double." The doctor wrote a prescription, and retired, saying: "When you see double, you will find relief if you count your money."

Seriously, even solemnly, if we may be permitted, the particular friends of the President should take him in out of the wet on questions of finance. His ignorance could be forgiven if it were not for his amazing conceit. He has been flattered by the squad about him until satisfied that he is a universal genius.—Cincinnati Commercial Republican.

One could take down a book from the shelf ten times more wise and witty than almost any man's conversation.—Racon is wiser, Swift more humorous, than any person one is likely to meet with; but they cannot chime in with the exact frame of thought in which we happen to take them down from our shelves, and therein lies the luxury of conversation; and when a living speaker does not yield us that luxury, he becomes only a book on two legs.

Witness the talk overheard by an emissary of the American Sunday School Union when trying to establish a Sabbath School in the far Southwest: "I know there is a bug under the chip, sure you are born. Tuar is some trick 'bout this thing, or that man would'n come way down here and make that Sunday school for nuthin' and gin us books. Just as sure as you're a foot high there's the suthin' dead, mind what I tell you. Thar'll be some feller 'round here 'sessing taxes for it arter a while, just like they do, with the destrict schools. I've been long thar."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM PURELY CALIFORNIA WINEGARS BITTERS

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effect.—Vinegar Bitters are not a Vegetable Drink, Made of Pure Rye, Whiskey, Proof Spirit and Refuse Liquors, do not load, excite and swell, to please the taste called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," etc., that lead the traveler to drunk-moore and to a butane true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from any Alcoholic Stimulants. They are a GREAT BILIOUS PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE. A safe Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain in a weak, unwell, profligate, their bones not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Constipation or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR MALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulder, Gout, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the Regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them the unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring Worms, Scald Head, Itch, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurf, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever nature or origin, are speedily cured by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find the impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the Blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

FOR RHEUMATISM, and other WORMS, arising in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.—J. WALKER, Proprietor, H. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 21 and 23 Commerce Street, New York.

CERTIFICATE. Gentlemen: I take pleasure in stating that if you will have a careful examination of the sample of your Bitters, which I sent me, and find it not only an excellent medicine, but also one that cannot fail to be beneficial as a tonic and promoter of Digestion. J. HOLLAND, M. D. City and County Hospital, San Francisco, June 20th, 1873.

I have carefully examined Dr. Halsey's Bitters, and have failed to detect anything which could injure even the most delicate constitution. From the composition of the Bitters, as far as I am able to determine, I am fully satisfied that Bitters must be a very efficient remedy in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and similar complaints, being composed of a number of vegetable roots which are highly used in the cases of this nature, and are of the greatest efficiency in their class. F. H. ENGELS, M. D. And' Res. Physician, Alameda Co. & C. Hospital, San Francisco, Oct. 1871.

A PASTOR STRUCK HUMORIST.—Speaking on this subject, I understand that Petroleum V. Nasby, who has recently become a citizen of Manhattan, has had the misfortune to lose $16,000 of his individual means by the failure of Kraus & Smith, private bankers in Toledo. He is philosophic over his ill luck, and speaks in mock-heroic strains of the manner in which the hard earnings of the many years have been ruthlessly swept away. He has no doubt, he says that the firm is entirely honest, but that it is has had an unhappy destiny. Originally their capital was $50,000, and some shrewd speculator in this city, managed to get $250,000 out of them (this was their depositors money), and compelled the house to carry him, financially, for a number of years, with the hope of indemnification for what he had borrowed. The hope, proved futile. Nasby thinks he may receive for his money a few soiled postage stamps, a broken chair or two, half a dozen bills receivable made by men too poor to pay even the debt of Nature; and, possibly, a bird-cage without a canary, and the remains of a spermannated bull dog. Consequently he is cheerful over his lot and anticipates setting up a daily newspaper and building another opera house in New York with the proceeds of the exploded firm's liquidation.—N. Y. Correspondent Chicago Tribune.

The San Francisco Chronicle, of the 23rd ult., gives the following about an individual who circulated in these parts last spring: A young man named G. H. Reper, alias Geo. Robinson, who arrived from Washington Territory on Friday last, was charged with grand larceny. The evidence shows that on Saturday evening he went into a pawn-shop, No. 748 Washington street, and requested to be shown a first-class gold watch. One valued at $85 was tendered him, which apparently took his fancy, and he asked for the addition of a chain so as to raise the price to $100. As soon as this was done he expressed some doubts about the quality of the metal, and further asked for acids to test its purity.—The accommodating pawnbroker went into the vault and the Reper rushed into the street with the chain in his possession. A chase ensued, resulting in the arrest of the thief. The prisoner claimed that it was a case of mistaken identity, but the Court thought otherwise and committed him on the charge entered against him, fixing bail at $3,000.—Courier.

At a private party recently held in Detroit, a boy thoughtlessly drew a chair away from a corpulent gentleman who was about to seat himself, thereby letting him down on the floor in a very unpleasant manner. A merry laugh greeted the unfortunate victim when the "joke" was discovered, which, however, was soon changed into a murmur of regret, for it was soon found that the gentleman was unable to rise. He was assisted into an adjoining room, where a physician, who was one of the guests, ascertained that the force of the fall had created a rupture, the effect of which will be felt through life.

The Boston Globe predicts that 100,000 tons will be added to the tonnage of the country in wooden vessels, this year, in addition to heavy increase in iron and composite vessels. It says that all the New England ship-yards are crowded with business. Many large ships are also building in New England on foreign orders for foreign owners.

There is a strong-minded and strong handed woman in Maine, who can take care of herself. She is a Swede and her forte is shingles. There has been presented to the State a bunch of shingles manufactured by her. It is now on exhibition at the State House. She did all the work alone, felled the tree, sawed, split, shawed and bunched the shingles and carried them on her back three and a half miles, and sold them at a country store for flour, for the support of her family. Her husband was sick at the time, and unable to work. Weight of the bunch when first made, 6 1/2 pounds. The truth of the matter is vouched for by several respectable citizens.

New Appointment.—Mr. Victor E. Tull will to-morrow enter upon the duties of Chief Clerk in the office of Surveyor General, at Olympia. He will act in that capacity only during the absence of Mr. C. C. Jones, the present incumbent, who will start East in a few days to spend the winter and return next spring with his family. Mr. Tull has been clerking in the office for the last two years.—Tribune.

OFF TO THE MINES.—Messrs. Byrd, Bowers, Doyle and Hicks, mounted and packed, started last evening on their way to the Yakima mines, amid the fare well greeting, good wishes, words of cheer, of half our townspeople. Several more started to-day, and altogether, Tacoma has parted with some twenty of her citizens in quest of the "oro fino" at the new "eldorado."—Tacoma Tribune.

A bill has been introduced into the House proposing to grant the right of suffrage to the women of the Territory. In expectation of a discussion on the same to-day, the lobby of the Representative Hall was graced with a large number of ladies, but they were disappointed. The bill was passed to its third reading, and then made the special order for next Saturday.—Courier.

THE LAST LINK.—The only break in the line of telegraphic cables to encircle the world is that which it is proposed to supply by the line from San Francisco to Japan. The officers of our navy assigned to the duty of selecting a landing place for the shore end of the new cable on American soil, have pitched upon the harbor of Victoria (Vancouver's Island) where shallow water and a growing spit of sand offer a natural bed.

Somebody, in describing the magnificent country seat of Philadelphia Cooke, mentions the mock ruins which constitute one of the novelties of the place. A Portland gentleman suggests that the Cooke have recently constructed another ruin, differing from that described in the fact that it is not a mock, but a genuine ruin.

Somebody has made the discovery that grape stones roasted and ground make a very tolerable substitute for coffee.

COLUMB'S RECOLLECT HER NAME.—One of the most amusing incidents that have ever gladdened "the best circles" has just occurred in the Highlands (where, as a general rule, funny things do not occur) and has been received in this almost depopulated metropolis with little short of rapture. 'Twas this, told at the clubs: "You all know Macpherson, by name at all events; once a page at court, and a great favorite with her majesty, then in the Guards, where he didn't do so well; afterwards of no where particular. In point of fact, he has been obliged to live in Scotland for the past ten years; drinks whiskey in the daytime and lots of it. Well, Lord Dumronald asked him to his castle the other day, when the Queen came to see the falls and lunch. In the afternoon she came out of the pavilion and walked about a bit among the company.—Macpherson was standing alone, a little 'fou' with his mid-day dram, and up she came to him. 'It is many years since I saw you, sir, but I never forgot old friends. How are you, Mr. Macpherson?' 'Madam,' said he, holding out his hand, which she took most graciously, 'you are very good. Remember your face quite well—but I'm very sorry—but if you were to give me a thousand pounds I can't recollect your name.'—London Cor. Harper's Bazaar.

FIRE WALL FELL.—The heavily-ornamented fire wall on the south side of Quincy's new brick building, on the corner of First and Taylor streets, fell with a tremendous crash this forenoon. The entire length of cornice separated from the main wall, about where the heavy timbers are built into it. The ornamental work was too heavy, and projected so far over the perpendicular that it gave way. The damage will be but slight, and can be replaced in a few days. We think it would be profitable to take a lesson by this, concerning the effect of heavy ornamental work around the fire wall of a building.—Vegs.

AN AIR CANAL BOAT.—A canal boat to run by air has been invented in Maine. The machinery consist of a small upright engine of about six horse power, a fan and two cylindrical air compressors. The engine runs the fan, and also works the valves of the air compressors, from which the air is forced through a pipe to the bottom of the boat, by the admission of steam at the top. The bottom of the boat under the stern has an inclination of about thirty-five degrees, the inclination beginning twenty-five feet from the stern. The air is let out at the bottom of the boat, at the base of the incline, through a valve, which keeps the water from coming in, and as it naturally seeks the surface in a straight line, it rushes along up this incline, and thus pushes the boat ahead, or really the boat slides along on the air. The force thus obtained is equal to twenty-six horse power, and is calculated to propel a loaded canal boat along at the rate of five or six miles an hour.

When Am. In Rothschild died, in 1855, leaving an estate valued at thirty millions of dollars, he evinced the generosity of his nature by bequeathing five hundred thousand dollars to continue the alms he was in the habit of distributing every week, as well as for the distribution of wood to the poor in winter. To the fund for giving a dowry to Jewish maidens, he left twenty-five thousand dollars; to the fund for the sick, as well as to the Jewish Hospital, five thousand dollars each; to the Jewish school, twenty-five thousand dollars; and sums of twelve to fifteen hundred dollars each to several Christian establishments. To the clerks who were more than twenty years in the employ of the firm he left one thousand dollars each; to the juniors from one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty dollars each, and many legacies to servants. It is said that he left to his godson, Sir Anthony Rothschild, of London, ten millions of dollars and an equal share with the other nephews and nieces in the residue of the estate.

Yan Kee, a prominent Chinese merchant of San Francisco has obtained the services of a lawyer, late of Nevada, to make application for him to the proper officers for his naturalization papers. Yan Kee signifies his intention (if he succeeds in obtaining his naturalizing papers) to adopt the American style of dress, cut off his queue and cultivate a Melian growth of hair.

BECOME AN EDITOR.—H. B. Luce, of Olympia, has purchased the Forest Grove Independent, and will hereafter have charge of the editorial columns. Frank Myers, another Olympian, was his predecessor. Mr. Luce "learned his trade" in Olympia, and was for a few months local reporter on the Courier, until superseded by Clarence Bagley who has hung to it ever since.—Tribune.

A BRAVE HUNTER.—A son of Mr. R. S. Moore, of the Puallup Valley, a mere lad of only fourteen years, took his father's gun last week to go a bird-hunting. The gun was accordingly loaded with shot and the young sportsman started for the woods. During his ramble he came on a bear with its cub in a tree fired at the cub, and when it fell to the ground, knocked it in the head with his musket, killing it, and then swung the carcass over his shoulder and carried it home. On his return first from his father the danger he had been in, but, as everything went luckily, the younger boasts of being as brave a hunter as can be found in the northwest.—Seattle Express.

DECISION ON TAKING RAILROADS.—The United States Supreme Court recently decided an important point regarding the rights of a State to tax railroad corporations. In the case of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, plaintiffs in error, versus the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it was held that, although States cannot tax freights on transportation direct, as in violation of the constitutional provision as to commerce between the States, yet States can, in their rights, reach the same result by imposing taxes on the gross receipts of their trades.

The list of officers of the Territorial Woman's Suffrage Association, elected November 4th, for the ensuing year is as follows: Mrs. Theobalds, Seattle, Pres.; Mrs. N. C. Allen, Vice Pres.; Mrs. A. H. Stewart, Rec. Secy.; Mrs. C. E. Sylvester, Treas.; Madames G. A. Barnes, S. B. Yeater, Seattle, A. Giddings, H. A. J. Cortis, E. T. Munson, Executive Committee.—Courier.

HOW THE GREENLANDER'S DRESS.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune with the J. J. Astor expedition says of the Greenlanders, that to one ignorant of their style of dress, and the similarity of the dress of both sexes, it would be difficult to distinguish the man from the woman. The man comb's his hair straight down and over his forehead, only parting it sufficiently to enable him to see directly ahead of him, while the woman comb's her hair in a top plait, making it into a knot on the top of her head, which is elevated about four inches from the scalp, and tied with a strip of ribbon either of a black, blue, or red color—the widow being distinguished by a black ribbon, the wife by a blue, and the maiden by the red one. The complexion is coppery, like that of the Indian, the hair black, and their nose flat, while their cheek bones are broad and prominent. The pantaloons of the women reach only to the knee, while the boots, made of finely tanned seal-skin, nicely crimped and sewed with the sinews of the deer, make them look comfortable.

A KING IN A HERRING-NET.—King Oscar's recent coronation in Norway was preceded by a tour among his subjects in the farthest north, by whom he was most loyally received. It is noted that in the Nordland district he was asked by some fishermen to come and see a large herring net they had spread out on the sward, and the king goodly humbly complied with their request, but when he was just in the centre a hundred strong arms lifted up the big net, and it together around him, and, just as he cried out that a better catch had never been made by Norse fishermen, and exhorted each other to well guard the meshes that the big fish might not escape. The king had to pay a pretty ransom to get out of captivity, and was then released amid bursts of mirth, in which he heartily joined.

A husband in Salem recently overheard a neighbor remark with sympathy that he was hen-pecked. Of course, he would have been less or more than man if he had quietly submitted to this sound censure, and he forthwith took strong measures to prove its groundlessness. He rushed home; he hurled a boot jack at his wife; he reduced to fragments two of her best dresses; and, as a conclusive climax, he smoked his pipe in the parlor, with his feet on the table in a basket of artificial flowers. It is now generally admitted by the people of Salem that this gentleman isn't hen-pecked, inasmuch as he still survives without a scar.

YELLOW FEVER AT CALVERT, TEXAS.—The death of Dr. W. B. Field was not unexpected by the deceased. When the plague came, he pronounced it yellow fever. He continued at the post of duty until attacked and prostrated. He then became resigned to his fate. Relief such as he declared necessary came too late. It was a natural impossibility, he said, for him to recover. To the last he retained his senses, and sent for his brother or Scott. He did not dread death, but gave up his life unannouncingly, having sacrificed it in the service of his fellow-man. His was the last funeral in Calvert. Max Brennan, the foreman of Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, with eight other members of the company, of which deceased was an active member, decorated the company truck and laid upon it that was mortal of Dr. Field. The mournful procession marched to the grave yard, drawing the truck. On their way they were stopped by a colored man, who rushed out of a house occupied by Mr. Brooks, a photographer, and his wife, asking them to stop and come in, as the face of a white man had not been seen there for a week. They halted, and some of them entered. The sight that met their gaze was enough to strike terror into stout hearts. Lying dead upon a bed, covered with black vomit, was Mr. Brooks. His wife, delirious with yellow fever, was wildly screaming, unconscious of her husband's death. Such assistance as could be rendered was freely and promptly given. As there were no sheets in the house, some plain white cambric was purchased in a neighboring store. The party then resumed their march, bowed down by the surrounding horrors, and reached the graveyard, where they interred their late friend and companion, the beautiful service of the Episcopal Church being read over him by T. P. Terrell. They left and separated to continue their work of waiting upon the sick. This, however, was the last attempt all approaching display in interment, and the body was buried in the dead in Calvert.—Houston, Texas Mercury, Oct. 10th.

NOT A GOOD SEASON FOR JOBS.—The next Legislature will be in session in a few weeks. Rumors are already rife of bills which are prepared to be put through on private account. According to the present outlook the incoming Legislature will not be a good one for jobs. There will be three parties, none of which will ignore public sentiment, or all to watch pretty sharply all the bills which originate with an adverse party. With a watchful Governor, there will be a dry time for that class of men who constitute the "Third House." An early attempt will be made to defeat a trespass pass, or no fence law, which was defeated two years ago, partly by securing pledges and partly by the liberal use of money. The measure will go through at the next session in spite of the hostility which comes up from Egypt. Sound legislation on matters of leading importance, and fewer jobs are expected from the incoming Legislature.—S. F. Bulletin.

A LESSON FROM THE REDSKINS.—The Galveston, Texas, News, in reporting the proceedings of the recent conference with the Kiowas at Fort Sill, gives us an excellent idea of one great cause of our Indian troubles, Santana and Fort Tree, the two released chiefs, had each been counseling peace with the whites, when one old chief said: "For his part he thought there was nothing like fighting; for if they never fought they never got anything for keeping at peace." Many persons in thinking over this old Indian's words will arrive at the conclusion that one great defect in our Indian policy has been the system of rewarding robbery and murder with presents of good things. That we have been, in fact, holding out a premium for the fed men to go on the war-path, because they knew that when they came in again to the reservation they would be loaded down with gifts. We hope that this old man's words have their weight with the Indian Bureau at Washington.

SAILED.—A telegram received in this city yesterday announced the sailing of the dry time for Victoria at 10 A. M. Whether it was the Prince Alfred or another steamer in her place seems doubtful, as the local agent says the Prince Alfred was to have gone into dry dock for repairs on her arrival down.

EXCERPT.—This charming name has been named by the salmon fishery of Joseph E. Hepburn, on the Columbia River, just above "Three Tree Point," and will probably be known by the above name. So numerous are these attempts at naming that it is necessary to give a name whereby they may be distinguished, and in view of this fact, Mr. H. has selected the name of "Eaton,"—News.

THE "MYSTERY" OF YOUR DEATH.—The work which the departed Dickens left unfinished, has been completed by his spirit, through a medium in the State of Vermont. The Boston Herald, says that the "style resembles Dickens so closely as to make one start, as though hearing the voice of one long silent in the grave." The book was issued from the press on the 15th, and will shortly be on sale in this city.

ANOTHER OF THE MYSTERIES OF PARIS.—A mysterious crime has just been discovered. About ten days ago a cab-driver, named Jacques Drouet, came in with his vehicle and reported that he had been stopped by a woman, who told him to drive to the bridge of Asniers.—On arriving the woman told him she had no money to pay the fare, but begged him to take her gold watch and chain, and she, having his number, would come and redeem them. He did so, and showed the watch and chain.—But soon after he left the service, in spite of the expostulations of his employer, and has not been seen since. A day or two ago the body of a woman, young and elegantly dressed, was found in the Seine, and in her pocket was found the number of this cabman. There was no money or valuables. Jacques Drouet has been traced to Belgium by the police, but if caught, it will not be easy to convict him of the crime, all the appearances going to prove that the woman committed suicide.

IN HARD LUCK.—The schooner Good Templar, which reached here last Wednesday from San Francisco, had a hard time of it. She came off the dry dock at San Francisco, in a leaky condition, which does not speak well for San Francisco mechanics. She then sailed for this place and got on a ledge of rocks outside of the Golden Gate, in a dense fog. So far from being injured by the accident, she came off the rocks tighter than when she went on them, and is now loading coal at the Newport Bank. She was thirty-four days from San Francisco to this port.—Coos Bay News.
