Local News.

STEAMBOAT ITEMS.—The Libby leaves for Whatcom and way ports to-morrow morning, with a full freight and "Sound man, Tom," (Capt. Brennan) at the wheel. Steamer Nellie leaves for Snobomish to-day with a load of brick and other building material. Capt. Gove, of Black Diamond, is building up a good trade in the Stillaguamish country by being obliging. We hope to see him with a boat as big as the Annie Stewart, one of these days. Capt. Jack Cosgrove, of the Blakely, inquired for us yesterday and was told we were at Victoria, whereupon the "ancient mariner" wept tears as big as doughnuts. Capt. Dan Morrison is navigating the North Pacific during Capt. Clancey's temporary absence. The Anderson is becoming very popular since she commenced making her headquarters here. Purser Bigelow, of the North Pacific will have his head sand-papered this morning at Hall & Paulson's furniture shop, under the direction of Prof. Harvey Williamson, who receives $10 to boss the job. Carriages will be in waiting at Yesler's wharf at half-past nine. Friends and members of the steamboat family will attend without further invitation. Private boxes may be secured at any of the dry-goods stores.

LAND SLIDE.—Sensationalists got up a fearful scare yesterday about a land slide at Tacoma and great loss of life. The dispatch reported several large land slides on the line of the railroad in the vicinity of Tacoma, keeping the train from going to Kalama until 3 P. M. There is no prospect of a train from Kalama before to-morrow morning, and the North Pacific will not be down until Sunday noon. Twenty acres of land come down in front of the depot, carrying away two or three buildings in which people were supposed to be at the time. It is not positively known whether any one has been hurt or not. The arrival of the Zephyr made it a very trifling affair, which knocked over a few Chinese cabins. Only this and nothing more.

WELLS, FARGO & Co.—Our popular young townsman, Mr. R. B. Curry, has been removed from his position as the company's agent, for causes unassigned. A petition is being almost unanimously signed by the business portion of our community for Mr. Curry's re-instatement. That Mr. Curry was badly beaten in the late election, is no criterion of his popularity. He ran against the most adroit politician in the county, and was in consequence beaten. Officially, Mr. Curry has always been prompt and attentive to his business, and it is poor policy on the part of any company to so deal with the most faithful of its servants. Among the signers of the remonstrance was O. Jacobs, our Delegate to Congress. His endorsement of Mr. Curry reads as follows: "I have known Mr. Curry for years, know him to be honest, prompt, and faithful." And this we fully endorse.

THE DAKOTA.—This steamer will be here this morning, to receive freight and passengers for San Francisco. She had over a thousand bales of hops awaiting her in the warehouse at Tacoma. She also took on a large amount of freight at Olympia.

STREETS.—The late rains have done a great deal of damage to Front street, especially about its junction with Mill street. Yesler's corner is particularly sloppy and unpleasant for ladies to cross.

DRD.—This morning, in this city, of diphtheria, Eva, daughter of Geo. G. and Merica Arnold, aged 2 years, 3 months and 24 days. Funeral services at the M. E. Church on Monday, the 20th inst., at 1 o'clock.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.—A. C. Campbell has fitted up his office in the new United States Hotel and will receive orders there. Leathers and Col. Thorpe are in Victoria, heating the J. B.'s red-hot.

RARE TIME.—The Ivy boys are likely to have a good time at the hop on Wednesday night. The officers on the Wcolcott are invited with some forty others.

REPAIRING UNDER WAY.—Steamer Comet carries three carpenters while under way, who are extending her cabin. This is a novelty for these waters but was always customary in low water during the palmy days of steamboating on the upper Sacramento. It was nothing unusual for a boat to knock out twenty buckets and half a dozen arms, between Chico and Red Bluff, hence a carpenter was always needed.

GRAIN EXPORT.—Two small schooners discharged their cargoes of grain into the Dakota on Sunday. The warehouse at Belltown is nearly full and the steamer Dispatch will be here with a lot more before this issue reaches its readers. If reclamation is only pushed forward as it should be, we can ship oats and hay to California next year, instead of importing them as we did, two years ago.

FINES.—One Indian gave another Indian some beer, and number two kicked up a row on the strength of it. Judge Scott fined him five dollars, and then slapped a handicap of fifty dollars on the Indian who gave him the beer. Query—Will he continue the decimal progression and fine the brewer $500 for making the beer?

LABOR EXCHANGE.—The want of a labor and immigration office in this place is well set forth by the fact that a boss logger from the island was three hours, yesterday, in getting two men such as he needed for his camp. With such an institution as we propose, he could have secured them in half an hour.

GOOD POSITION.—William Showers, who built all the bridges in Hallett's contract on the Northern Pacific Railroad, in 1875, has been appointed Street Superintendent of the city of Portland. A better appointment could not have been made.

PASSENGER LISTS.—The up-Sound papers complain that the Seattle papers do not publish the lists of passengers for Olympia and Tacoma. The truth is that the steamers only go to Olympia half the time, and do not always have passengers then. The custom-house is located at Port Townsend, and the pursers are really not bound to name passengers for any place beyond it. Naming those for Seattle, though the largest place on the Sound, is merely courtesy on the part of those officers, for which we are always thankful.

CARTOON.—Jamieson will set out another cartoon from the pencil of Mort McClair. It is called the "Political Tak(e) Ticks of 1876, warranted to run four years." It represents Tilden and Hayes as two burglars just running out of a jewelry store. Hayes has two clocks in his hand marked "Louisiana" and "Florida," while Tilden has one of those winking negroes with a dial on his belly, marked "South Carolina." The presence of a well-known Seattle jeweler is something of an anachronism in the piece.

DROWNED.—Mrs. Ross, wife of the captain of bark Lizzie Williams, which plies between this port and San Francisco in the interest of the Seattle Coal and Transportation Co., was drowned at Oakland wharf last Friday, by falling overboard, while avoiding a locomotive. Her body has since been recovered. Mrs. Ross was an English lady, married three or four years ago while her husband was at Cardiff, on the bark Aureola, now in port. She leaves one child.

PERSONAL.—Col. H. C. Paige, traveling agent of Wells, Fargo & Co., has gone to Victoria. Capt. John G. Parker, of the new steamer Messenger, is spending a few days in town. Lieut. Ellicott, of the United States Coast Survey, was in the city yesterday. His party are still surveying at the lower end of Vashon Island. Amos Bowman, for many years in the California Geological Survey, is reconnoitering about Seattle.

MUSICAL.—Our neighbor says he wants to rent an organ. Let him rent the Republican organ in Pierce county, whose owner is so sick of the nasty business, you know.

LETTERS.—One hundred and fifty-three letters await claimants at the Post Office in this city. The list appeared in last night's Tribune.

ALL ABOUT WOMEN.
"One of those gentle and breezy Sarahs" scolded remarks: "Now, there is no more excuse for putting grease upon your hair than there is for putting it on your hands. You people, I say, who grease your hair, are just as barbarous as the Commande Indian who greases his face. A gentleman will never fall in love with a soiled woman. She must be sweet. Have you never, in so-called polite society, met a young lady whose face would be improved by a plain, square washing? Now, this is plain, square washing. European court circles do more bathing, tea to one, than the Bourgeoise. Indeed, in Russia—in Moscow, where you see the sweetest blonde woman in the world—they have four bath-houses, each as large as the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Once daily every man and woman of patrician blood greases all over, head and all, under pure, sparkling rejuvenating water. This makes the hair light colored—gives it a fleecy, airy appearance—and gives to the homeliest, something of the angelia."

Marie Antoinette Nathalie Pollard is advertising for a "Man Agent" to attend to her business in San Francisco. She says, "No would-be lover need apply, as I am tired of that class of creatures." It is reported over seven hundred applications for the position at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, and the clerk was besieged by anxious crowds waiting to see the famed elocutionist. Business men, clerks, merchants, bankers, ministers, faro dealers and members of the Legislative Assembly, formed a continuous stream leading to the palatial apartments of M. A. N. P. [The composer positively refused to set this name up again.] The only condition on which they insisted was that she should swear not to make love to them, if they agreed to attend to her business. A sigh and a squeeze of the hand was all her answer, and the presiding crowd retired sadly and slowly, feeling it had been ruthlessly betrayed. At last a man arrived who was destined to fill the happy bill. His eye was large and a little boiled, his shirt was voluminous and wanted boiling. His nails had long been a stranger to a pruning knife, and added to his general appearance of mourning. The lining of his hat served as a pocket handkerchief to wipe his streaming eyes and, as he advanced to the center of the room, he hung on to a three-legged chair and allowed his front hat to drip gracefully over his one-sided Roman nose. "Marie Antoinette Nathalie Pollard," he said, "my name is Montgomery Grandville Sinclair Cholmondeley. I come here to offer you my services as

Hops.—The product of hops, averaging 220 pounds to the bale, shows about two bales grown in this Territory for one in Oregon. The tonic properties of our Sound hops are far in advance of those grown in California. The latest quotations in New York are thirty-three cents per pound for choice lots, in currency.

NEW OFFICE.—Wells, Fargo & Co.'s new agent, Mr. H. M. Bryant, has removed the company's office to the Tremont corner. It is a trifle out of the way, but he could find no other place. Those who have business with him will find him a very courteous gentleman.

MUSIC.—R. S. White, of Olympia, to whose dulcet crumona we have thrashed the planks in days of yore, has come here to reside. He will furnish the music for the Ivy Club reunion to-morrow night.

NEW PAPER.—B. D. Northrup, of the Intelligencer job office will shortly issue the first number of his agricultural monthly. If it looks as neat as his prospectus, he will make money by it.

SCHOONERS.—The Mary Parker and Juanita are lying at the foot of Mill street and will sail for LaConner during the day. The latter vessel is having a new hatchway put into her, to facilitate discharging.

HALL & PAULSON.—This firm are making a speciality of home-made bed-room sets, manufactured by them from the native woods of our forests. Read their card in to-day's issue for the first time.

HIGH WATER.—The recent rains have so raised the tributaries of the Duwamish that our bay is discolored and looks as if there might be hydraulic diggings in this neighborhood.

MUSICAL.—Our neighbor says he wants to rent an organ. Let him rent the Republican organ in Pierce county, whose owner is so sick of the nasty business, you know.

an Agent who will never speak of love. Once I adored Sophonista Ophelia Beatrice Montmorency, but now she is no more. All I desire is employment, where my racked and broken heart may indulge in its despair, combined with the occupation of pasting up bills for your chaste entertainment." With a heavy sigh he drew from his pocket a photograph of Tony Denier, the clown, and wept over it for several minutes. A large hand in a number nine glove was at length laid gently on his shoulder, and the quivering accents of a mellow voice whispered to his doubling heart, "You shall be my Agent, and we will never speak of love. I, too, was once the idol of Hubert Grandison Cyril Devisadero, and I feel for you. Go now, and revive your broken heart with a cocktail. Here is a half dollar, which I shall deduct from your first week's salary, and come again to-morrow at four o'clock, when this poor bosom will have conquered its emotion." He bowed, but he bowed not again, and Marie Antoinette Nathalie Pollard is out four bits, two large tears and a melo-dramatic speech.—News Letter.

Assignee's Notice of Appointment.

IN BANKRUPTCY.
Third Judicial District of Washington Territory.
I, THE undersigned hereby gives notice of his appointment as assignee of the estate of William P. Taylor, of San Juan, San Juan county, Territory of Washington, who filed a petition for his own bankruptcy in the District Court of said District.
STEPHEN V. BOYCE, Assignee of the Estate of Wm. P. Taylor. San Juan, Nov. 11, 1876.

INCREASED POSTAL SERVICE.

The Territorial Secretary, Hon. H. G. Struve, on his recent visit to Washington, had some conversation with the postal authorities on the subject of ocean mail service between Puget Sound and San Francisco.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company has already two good steamers on this route, under a subsidy from a foreign government.

This would, of course, necessitate another steamer, as it would require three to perform the service. Sixty thousand dollars per annum would do it and, although it is none too much, we believe the Pacific Mail Company would carry it for that.

RECLAIMED LANDS.

The fact that one farmer in Whatcom county will, in the course of two weeks hence, export more grain to San Francisco than all the other farmers of that section exported thither, two years ago, must be enough to satisfy the most skeptical that there is great merit in the broad expanse of swamp and overflowed lands lying about the delta of the Skagit.

As individual capital can do but little in new countries we propose the idea of incorporating for reclamation purposes. The plan is not original with us, however, having been successfully tried in California.

In 1871 a party of gentlemen incorporated and bought of the State, for one dollar per acre, an island which contained 2,820 acres. The number of shares in the company was fixed at one for each acre of land. They levied two assessments of five dollars each and one of ten, for construction of embankment in 1872. In 1873 they levied an assessment of two dollars per share, to pay expenses of putting in a crop.

Now, is not that a better investment than "Consolidated Virginia" at $50 per share? One may "pinch out" and the other cannot. None of the stock to which we refer, is for sale nor is it subject to any fluctuating value. We believe that equally good opportunities exist here and will repay fully larger dividends if managed by practical men.

Sensational rumors, relative to the loss of the Portland bark Garibaldi, are rife in that city. The Oregonian says that a vessel had just arrived at Astoria from the Sandwich Islands which had picked up a man clinging to a wreck far out at sea; that the survivor said he came from the Garibaldi, which had been lost at sea during a storm. No further particulars were given.

The editor of the Dalles Tribune cannot have a very high opinion of the early religious education bestowed upon him by his parents, or he would not talk as he does. Speaking of the Baker City people, he says "the devil has a mortgage on the souls of some of them."

THE HOLD-OVER GAME.

The attempts of the Federal Treasury-plunderers to conceal their stealings for four years longer by counting out Samuel J. Tilden, who has been elected President by over three hundred thousand popular votes, is enough to disgust every decent man in the Radical party. Granting that Louisiana went Republican—which no sensible man believes she did—the two Democratic electors at large, in South Carolina, received majorities over their Radical opponents. This would elect Tilden without the aid of Florida.

It is truly a debased age in which we live, and a debauched political atmosphere which we breathe, when the military arm of the Government is prostituted to such a degraded as Grant has done in the Southern elections. It is no particular love of Hayes, that has led the Man with the Cigar to this step. It is a desire to involve the nation in a turmoil and prevent the election of either Hayes and Tilden, as President, till after the expiration of his own term in that desecrated office.

European rulers now laugh in their sleeve at this apparent downfall of popular government, and note with pleasure the rapid strides America is making toward imperialism. They see that the "government of the people, by the people, for the people," is a tradition of a departed era.

The naming of a river steamer in Oregon after the late Stephen T. Church recalls a comical anecdote of that excellent gentleman, who was the best steamboat clerk we ever saw. On one occasion, while Charley Pope was clerk on the Senator, he and Secretary Church had a dispute over some trifling matter and each thought he was in the right of it.

Lafayette Lane, for Congress, carried Wasco county, Oregon, by 143, nearly four times what any other candidate has received there in the past six years. To this sudden increase there we attribute the falling off of Democratic votes in Klickitat, from which it is easy to colonize into Oregon.

Byron's play of "Sardanapalus" is now on its ninth week at the Union Square Theatre, New York. The part of the heroine, Myrrha, is entrusted to Mrs. Agnes Booth, whose avoirdupois is somewhere in the neighborhood of 165 pounds.

The proposition of the Governor of Florida, who is himself a candidate for re-election, to count the vote for Presidential electors in that State is the coolest piece of Radical "gall" that we have seen for some time. A circular saw is supposed to have more check than anything else, except a carpet-bag.

Jack Cain, who ran on the Democratic ticket for Auditor of Columbia County, proposes to contest the election by which he was beaten two votes. He claims by a letter written to a friend in this city, that he can show where seven illegal votes were cast for his opponent.

The British Colonist is poking no end of fun at the Mayor of Victoria and the Common Council. The members call the editor of that paper a "willan," in the language of Capt. Cuttle; and one of the belligerent bulls offers to punch his blasted head, you know.

OUR NEIGHBOR'S TROUBLES.

The Oregon papers talk of an extra session of their Legislature, which will cost the State probably $150,000. From our personal acquaintance with Governor Grover, we are confident he will do nothing of the kind. The late and never-lamented Legislature left undone a great many things they ought to have done and did a great many things they ought not to have done.

We should think it high time that men in Oregon could see how utterly inadequate to the wants of that State is their present Constitution. Every third session of their Legislature loses one-third of its working time by a Senatorial election, during which time no other business is thought of.

The new and elegant steamer Daisy Ainsworth, probably the handsomest stern-wheel boat in America, and the largest boat of that class in Pacific waters, was totally wrecked on a reef on the Upper Cascades, day before yesterday.

Jacob Hoover is elected Joint Councilman over James A. Karr by 210 majority in the district composed of Chehalis, Mason and Pierce counties. This is the largest majority given for any candidate for legislative honors in any district in the Territory, for either party.

A good idea has struck the editor of the Walla Walla Statesman. Owing to the utterly unreliable character of the Associated Press telegrams, he has hit upon a new plan of making a readable paper, by reproducing McGuffey's Fourth Reader. See the story of the "Beautiful Maniac" in his last issue.

The capital stock of the Nevada Bank in San Francisco, is to be increased to twenty millions of dollars, after the first of January next. Louis McLane is President, and N. K. Masten, Cashier. The principal portion of the stock is held by Jas. C. Flood, W. S. O'Brien, John Mackey and James G. Fair, who also own the controlling interests in the Consolidated Virginia mine at Virginia City.

The San Francisco police are making their spasmodic raids on the faro banks in that city. How long will it be before the brokers' dens, where mechanics and servant girls are plundered of their earnings by stock-jobbers, are placed under similar surveillance and as promptly suppressed?

The Oregonian of the 23d has a profound editorial of one and a half columns upon church music. It has taken to Psalms of the church, rather than say a good word for Sam Tilden.

The Olympia Echo has passed into the hands of a Mr. D'Obrin. Is this an abbreviation of Dennis O'Brien?

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

After the Battle—Scenes at the National Capitol—How the news was received at the White House—The feeling in the Departments—How the change will affect us—The approaching session of Congress—The gay season, the inaugural, etc., etc.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DISPATCH:

Now when the battle is over and the smoke has, in a measure, cleared away, it is interesting to recall and vote down the many varied scenes and incidents of the great political struggle that has just come to a close. There is no city in the Union where the result of a Presidential election is looked forward to with so much anxiety, as here, or where its influence is more severely felt, for the reason that such a very large proportion of the inhabitants of Washington, of both sexes, are Government employees, dependent for their bread and utter upon the bounty of "Uncle Sam" and to whom a change of administration is, therefore, fought with the most disastrous consequences.

THE LAD. CLERKS:

And for once the Centennial and the latest fashions ceased to be a subject of conversation among the fair ones, and politics usurped their place. To not a few of these the question as to whether or not they could afford a new silk dress and winter bonnet in which to attend the Presidential and Cabinet receptions during the coming season, would have to be deferred until after the result of the election became known, and would then receive a favorable answer only in the event of a certain contingency—the election of the republican candidate.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE,

President Grant and a few invited guests among whom were Secretaries Fish and Morrill, Attorney-General Taft, Generals Sherman, Barnes, Babcock and Catton, Judge MacArthur, and some others, were assembled in the President's library, awaiting the news which were flashed into the ante-room through a special wire direct from the Western Union telegraph offices. In the drawing room, back of the library, were Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Sartoris, (the daughter of the President), Mrs. Fish, and three or four other ladies of distinction, who were scarcely less anxious to hear the news than the gentlemen.

A WET BLANKET

Had been thrown over it, and by midnight the rooms were deserted. Not so at the Democratic headquarters on Seventh street, where a brass band was in attendance; and where the feeling was jubilant to the last degree. It was far into the "twos o'clock" hours of morning before the assemblage dispersed, and all through the city might be heard the "Rah's for Tilden!"—but from none louder than from the "fence men" who thought that their opportunity to "come over" had now arrived, and that the political comersault might be undertaken with some degree of probability that they could land upon their legs on the right side. To day, the feelings of dejection and disappointment at the Departments is very general, and while some still consider the result as doubtful, the majority have accepted the situation and abandoned all hope.

COMPLETELY REVOLUTIONIZING

Affairs, social and otherwise, here in Washington; the circles and coteries we have known so long we shall know no more, but others will come and take their place; prominent leaders of fashion and society will glide into obscurity and will soon be buried under the soil of oblivion (for it is wonderful how fast we forget) and we shall do homage to people whose names, perhaps, we do not even know now.

CONGRESS WILL SOON ASSEMBLE,

And the very first official act of that body will be to count the electoral vote which, in itself, is a spectacle well worth witnessing. Then, speculations as to who will compose the next cabinet will be in order, to be followed by the preparations for the inauguration of the new President, in March. Washington correspondents will, accordingly, have their hands full, and Washington intelligence will take the place of the stereotyped "Centennial notes," which must come to a close with the close of the exhibition, two days hence. In closing, therefore, I do not say farewell; but only "au revoir."

L. B.

PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR OF WASHINGTON TERRITORY

In conformity with custom and the Proclamation of the President of the United States, I hereby designate the THIRTIETH DAY OF NOVEMBER, INST., to be observed by the people of this Territory as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise to Almighty God, for the unnumbered blessings bestowed upon us during the year now drawing to a close.

ELISHA P. FERRY.

By the Governor, HENRY G. SERVE, Secretary of the Territory.

OCEAN FREIGHTS.

The recent advance in ocean freights, which has been at an utter stagnation figure for the past ten months, is decidedly encouraging for our home ship-builders. The long continued prostration was almost a total embargo upon this important Pacific Coast industry and deterred many home capitalists from risking their money in such undertakings. Owing to the risk involved in ocean navigation, a ship is not good property unless she can clear at least three per cent. per month, inclusive of her detentions in port.

The enormous amount of money paid by the grain-producers of Oregon and California, to the Capitalists of London, Liverpool and New York, is one cause of our poverty in spite of great natural wealth. The average amount of freight thus paid during the past year, has been almost seventy cents per hundred pounds, which keeps those States constantly drained of the profits of agriculture. It is only when local capital owns the tonnage employed in ocean transportation, that Oregon and California will assert their true commercial supremacy.

J. M. Vanderbilt, well known to the traveling public as purser of the California and Gussie Telfair, in former years, has gone into business as a post-trader at Fort Wrangell. We hope he will make a fortune, without having to wait for the old Commodore to die in New York.

Messrs. Hendry & Manson, of Victoria, announce that they have opened a match-making establishment in that city of the erodined King. We anticipate an exodus thither of all our belted bachelors.

"Is Dr. Watts an Elector?—that's the latest Portland conundrum. It is by the author of "Will Salpeter Explode?" and other profound conundrums.

MARRIED. In this city, Nov. 18th, by H. E. Hathaway, Probate Judge of the county, Mr. D. S. Smith and Mrs. N. D. Berry, all of this city.

DIED. At the Duwamish ferry, King County, Nov. 23d, Mrs. H. H. Miller, of typhoid fever.

Local News.

From the Daily of Wednesday.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.—A. C. Campbell has given us a little paper weight of stone made here by him under the Leathers' patent. He will shortly begin preparing for the work of constructing a large two-story and basement building for H. L. Yesler at the corner of Mill and Front streets. Isaac Palmer is to be the architect and will forward the specifications to Col. Thorpe, at Victoria, by to-morrow's mail. The manner in which the stone is made will be gleaned from the following extract from the Victoria Colonist: "A large and curious crowd assembled in front of Rudolph's jewelry store to witness the laying of an artificial stone sidewalk by Mr. Leathers. The wooden sidewalk having been raised, a quantity of coarse sand was thrown into the space and smoothed down. Into a mixing-box similar in size and shape to the box used by plasterers to mix mortar four barrels of sand to one of Portland cement were thrown. A chemical preparation sufficient to moisten the cement and sand was then thrown upon it, and after all had been thoroughly stirred up the mixture was spread over the sand and made smooth with trowels. The name "H. Rudolph" was produced by sinking wooden letters in the walk and removing them after the impression had been obtained." The contractors agree to forfeit the price of the building, if the stone does not prove durable and hard at the end of the year.

THE IVY HOP.—To-night at Yesler's Hall comes the first of the Ivy Club's reunions. It is the purpose of this association to give two hops in each month; confined exclusively to members of the club. Once in six weeks they give a public dance to which each club member has the privilege of inviting two friends. There being nineteen members, this gives thirty-eight invitations, or fifty-seven couple in all. Hence the boys are sure to have a good time. The decorations have been made by R. B. Curry and M. C. Saxe, who have fitted out the room in a very neat style. R. S. White will furnish the music and that announcement is enough. Gentlemen will please show their invitations.

MARINE.—Ship Shirley, which loads at Tacoma, arrived at Port Townsend on Monday and has probably reached her destination ere this. Bark J. B. Bell arrived here yesterday in tow of the tug Goliah and will follow the Aureola in loading at the Seattle bunkers. The Roswell Sprague is loading at Port Gamble and the R. K. Ham is nearly loaded at Port Blakely. The Grace Roberts is taking in lumber at Freeport and will be some days before she completes her load. Schooner Mary Parker will sail to-day for LaConner with the furniture of an immigrant family who propose to settle in that vicinity.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—We return thanks to Fullard & McClaire, photographers, for a copy of Billy Phye's picture of the bark Forest Queen, "the pride of Port Ludlow." We have sent it to San Francisco to be engraved and published in the holiday illustrated edition of the Spirit of the Times, the finest pictorial ever published on this coast. It represents the "crack" just rounding off Fowlweather Bluff to go into Port Ludlow.

MATCH RACE.—A race for $100 a side will be run on Saturday, December 2d, at the Seattle course, between Frank Stone's brown horse and McNaught's sorrel horse. The cars of the Seattle & Walla Walla railroad will run to the gates of the course. Pettyjohn will also give purses for the holidays, the advertisement of which appears elsewhere.

REMOVAL.—Our venerable predecessor has gone to jail. The casual reader will be perhaps startled at this announcement, but when we state that Judge Lewis is the only Court officer now occupying the DISPATCH building, then the wonder will cease. The Clerk's office of the Third District Court was moved to the new jail building, yesterday, and Wyckoff will move the Sheriff's office there to-day.

NEW COURT HOUSE.—The want of a new building for county purposes, has long been felt here and the County Commissioners have at last "taken the bull by the horns." At their last meeting, Isaac Palmer, architect, submitted them a plan for a building to be erected on the county lot at the corner of Third and Jefferson streets. This was accepted and contracts are to be let immediately. It is to be 54x80 feet, two stories high, with a flat, hip roof, presenting four gables with handsome ornamental facings. A cupola, forty-six feet high, from the base to the top of the spire, will occupy the centre of the roof. The building will front on Third street, with three double doors. The lower story will be divided into seven rooms for county offices, with a large vault in the rear of the Treasurer's office. A double stairway will lead from the front hall to the second story, the ceiling of which is to be 46 feet high. The court room 50x50 feet, will occupy this apartment, with private rooms in the rear for the judge, clerk and witnesses. The base of the cupola will open into the center of the court room, twenty feet in diameter. The manner in which the several county officers have hitherto been scattered about, has been very inconvenient and will be remedied by a Court House of this kind. The county is not only rich but also growing and can abundantly afford it.

LOGGING.—In spite of the low prices paid for logs at the mills, the camps seem to keep at work much later than in former seasons. This is specially true of the camps about the mouths of the Skagit and Stillaguamish, where immigrants are anxious to have the timber cleared off from their future homes. But few of them are familiar with the business of preparing logs for mill and are only too glad to sell their standing timber to experienced loggers who can fell huge trees to good advantage. The demand for long timber, say thirty to forty feet, is just as great as in midsummer and on these lengths there is no perceptible reduction in prices at any of the mills.

THE COMING STEAMER.—The City of Panama left San Francisco Monday with the following passengers for Sound ports: For Port Townsend—Lieut. F. W. Kilgore, J. F. Turkey, and 11 in the steerage. For Seattle—Merritt Blanchard, F. W. Wald, G. H. Smith, E. L. Hall, Dexter Horton and wife, and 12 in the steerage. For Tacoma—Mrs. E. Sullivan, S. D. Stewart, Mrs. Goodtime, and 3 in the steerage. For Olympia—10 in the steerage. This steamer goes no further than this place, as her trips to Nanaimo consume too much time to allow her to visit Tacoma.

CHILDREN'S SOCIABLE.—The Congregational Sunday School will have a social gathering at the church on Saturday at 11 o'clock. The church has been closed some three or four weeks, during which time extensive improvements have been made, and the young people welcome its re-opening with music and feasting.

THE CASSANDRA ADAMS.—This vessel, the largest ever built on the Pacific Coast, has shipped her crew here and will leave for San Francisco in a day or two. Shipping Commissioner Ballou shipped twelve men for her to-day and sent them over to Seabeck by the Colfax.

WIRES DOWN.—The telegraph wires between San Francisco and Portland were down all day on Monday and none of the Sound papers got any dispatches. Judging from the news sent since the election, it was no great privation to the community, however.

SURPRISE.—Our juvenile carrier, Mortie Coombs, was made the recipient of a sheet and pillow-case surprise party last night by the masters and misses of the Central District School. The youngsters held high carnival till long after midnight.

INSATIABLE.—The Tribune man is never satisfied. He wants a synagogue now—that's the last thing. If he had the fever and ague as bad as we had it at Sacramento in September, he would be amply satisfied with a cholagogue.

THE WOLCOTT.—About 6 o'clock last night the cutter arrived from Port Townsend and anchored abreast of Jennings' wharf. We had a call from some of the officers during the evening.

RAFFLE.—Parties desiring to purchase tickets for Jo Lovett's diamond raffle can do so by applying to Capt. Dan Morrison, on the North Pacific.

From the Daily of Thursday.

MARINE.—Bark Revere came into Port Townsend on Monday and cleared for Nanaimo on the following day for a load of coal. Schooner W. L. Beebe has sailed for Santa Barbara from Port Blakely, with lumber. Bark Arkwright, from Nanaimo, had the large cargo of 1960 tons of coal for the Gas Works and was towed down the Straits by the Goliah. The following vessels are on the way to this port—barks Amie and Osmyn; for Seabeck, barks General Cobb and Dublin; for Port Blakely, barks Caroline Reed and Oak Hill; brig Deacon, Port Discovery and bark David Hoadley for Port Gamble.

MUTINY.—On the second day out of the bark J. B. Bell, from San Francisco to this port, one of the men became sulky and refused to work. Most captains would have fanned his brow with a belying pin, but Captain Fox knew a trick worth two of it. He waited till he got here and then prepared to get the fellow arrested for mutiny. On learning that he would be compelled to give bonds for his appearance at court, Capt. Fox contented himself by discharging the man and letting the matter drop. Few men would have acted so mildly with the law on their side.

MUSEUM.—Harry Sutton, who keeps the "Gold Room" on the wharf at Port Townsend, has a deer, a bear, a fox and an Alaska marmot. The latter goes prowling around like a cat and can scratch like a revolving rake. At certain seasons, the female utters a peculiar noise which can be imitated by rubbing a cork on the bottom of a tumbler. They played it on the marmot the other day, till he got exasperated at the "sell" and took one of the party by the paddle-box. Mr. Marmot is not likely to be troubled with any more such conducts as those.

THE IVY HOP.—In spite of a pouring rain, the invitation party of the Ivy Club, at Yesler's Hall, last night, was a big turn-out. Carriages called for the young ladies at their residences and took them home again. The room was neatly decorated under the supervision of W. P. Boyd, R. B. Curry, and M. C. Saxe, with festoons of evergreens, and the flags of ships Commodore, Harvest Home, and Aureola. Music was furnished by White's orchestra and gave general satisfaction to all.

MASKED BALL.—There will be a masked ball at Steilacoom to-morrow night, and several people from this city are to be present. The rumors that D. K. Baxter will appear as Romeo and Beriah Brown, Sr., as Falstaff, are entirely without foundation. It is shameful that quiet and unobtrusive citizens should be made the subject of such unwarrantable and mendacious reports.

PERSONALS.—Capt. Ellicott of the Coast Survey, will go East in a few days to spend the winter in Baltimore. Ben. Stretch, the plump and rosy Sheriff of Snohomish county, has been tarrying in town for a couple of days. Max Kant, of the White House got back on the Teaser on Tuesday night, having had a good time among the Island people.

MINNIE MAY.—This little steamer will be transferred to the waters of Lake Washington in a few days by Mr. Jensen, who returned from Port Townsend a few days ago, with his and her license. She will do a sort of jobbing business to the camps about the lake and her owner evidently knows what he can do with her.

MOVED AWAY.—A big crowd gathered about the Colman Block yesterday afternoon as the County Treasurer's safe was lowered away to the sidewalk and transported to the new jail building. Judge Lewis is now the only Federal or county officer who is not at the new jail—but then doctors never take their own medicine.

SHERIFF.—West Whitener must be the most popular man in San Juan county. He ran for Sheriff on the Democratic ticket and got 123 votes, while the two other candidates could only raise 57 between them. The people of that section certainly stood by him splendidly.

THE OTTER.—This boat laid up a few days ago on account of Duwamish river being too low. The river is now so high that she cannot get any coal at Renton. It reminds us of the rough, who said "Yer can't please these bloody p'leeccemen, no-how."

GOING AWAY.—Crossen, who has carried the Oregonian here for some time, has bought the patent right for a spring mattress, for two counties in Oregon. As there are lots of "grass widows" in that country, he is pretty sure of a fortune.

DEAD.—Mrs. Miller, wife of the ferry-master at the Duwamish ferry, died suddenly yesterday. Her remains will be brought to this city for interment to-day by the morning train of the S. & W. W. Railroad.

DANCE.—Brotherhood's quadrille band will give a dance in Yesler's Hall on Thanksgiving night. Give the old gentleman a good send-off, all of you.

MORE RAIN.—The floodgates of the zenith were unlocked yesterday afternoon and another street-grading job will be in order.

From Daily of Friday.

MARINE.—Capt. Mattson, of the bark Harvest Home, is taking advantage of the high water in Duwamish river, which will prevent his getting any Renton coal for a week to come; so he has hauled his vessel upon the beach abreast of King's boiler shop, where he will clean her copper. Bark Aureola is taking in coal at the Seattle bunkers, and will be followed by the J. B. Bell. Hawaiian bark Lunaililo is loading lumber at Port Gamble and will be followed by the barks James Cheston and Camden, both of which are fully due from San Francisco. The Peruvian ship Erminia sailed from Valparaiso to Port Townsend on the 16th of October. Barkentine C. L. Taylor, which landed the locomotive here on a former trip, has been chartered for a load of lumber for this place to a Mexican port for fifteen dollars per thousand. Schooner Una was towed into Port Blakely yesterday by the tug Favorite. Bark Marmion is thirteen days out from San Francisco, consigned to the Seattle Coal Company.

STEAMBOAT ITEMS.—The trade by the North Pacific and Eliza Anderson between Sound Ports and Victoria, has greatly improved since the California and Gussie Telfair hauled off the Portland route. The Teaser is to be taken off the Semialmoo mail route and her place supplied by the Dispatch, which came up with grain from the Swinomish yesterday. The Otter pulled out her bitts while hauling through a reach on White river on Wednesday. She will be taken off the river route in a few weeks (as soon as the track is laid to Renton) and thoroughly overhauled; after which she will go into the Swinomish trade. The increasing traffic of that section demands increase of steamboat tonnage and, by this time next year, she and the Wenat will probably be running forty miles up the Skagit. Five years hence, when that river's mouth undergoes a little dentistry, we shall see boats as large as the Annie Stewart in the Skagit trade. The country is there, to warrant it.

A NOTABLE VISITOR.—George B. Hansell, of Port Townsend, who has been staying here for some days, went over to Victoria yesterday to meet his father, E. W. Hansell, who is on his way hither in the steamer City of Panama. The old gentleman was a watchman at the residence of Secretary Seward in April 1865, and received some severe stabs from the assassin Payne, in his attempts to shield the Secretary from Payne's murderous knife. Mr. Hansell is past sixty years of age and, though necessarily feeble in health, enjoys full possession of all his faculties. He receives a pension from the Government for his past services, which we deem no more than proper. He will visit all the Sound towns before returning to the "City of magnificent distances," and will give a good account of the new empire of industry on the North Coast.

PERSONALS.—Mrs. M. B. Maddocks of this city left on the North Pacific yesterday, for Port Ludlow, intending to take the Forest Queen for San Francisco. Miss Maggie Ralston and Miss Morse, of Tacoma, who have been the guests of Mrs. J. S. Hill for some days past, went home last night.

FOR LA CONNER.—The rich agricultural belt lying to the north of us is gaining accessions from Oregon and California. About two years ago, an old gentleman named Horace Brewster, came here from Coos Bay and began to look about for a home for himself and family. He purchased at one time and another, about six hundred acres in Whatcom county, and began operations in earnest. A year later he sent for his youngest son and, about a month ago, for all the rest of his family. They arrived here on the Annie Stewart on Wednesday night, and left on the schooner Mary Parker, for La Conner. The old gentleman, his son Joseph, and his daughter and son-in-law David H. Byrnes and wife—all set out for their new home. That peace and prosperity may attend their efforts to amass a competency in our latter-day Holland, is our earnest desire.

COAST SURVEY.—The operations of this branch of the Government service are nearly ended for the season. Schooner Yukon is at anchor in the upper cove at Port Madison, abreast of Hammond's fishery. Schooner Fauntleroy came over here yesterday and took in a large water-tank at Craig & Hasting's wharf. She goes to Olympia to-day to lay up for the winter. Capt. Ellicott's force have about finished their work, and he will go East in a day or two. The great extent of water-front on Puget Sound makes the survey of its waters an almost interminable labor.

THE OLIVER WOLCOTT.—This steam revenue cutter, after coaling at the Seattle bunkers, left for Port Townsend last night. One of her lieutenants (Killgore) is on his way back from San Francisco, whither he went for examination with a view to promotion; and he may possibly take the new cutter now building at Portland. Lieut. Chaytor and Asst. Engineer Remick attended the Ivy hop on Wednesday night and seemed to have enjoyed the sparkling wit of our vivacious city belles.

ARRIVED OUT.—The following vessels arrived at San Francisco on the 19th: Bark Montana, from Seattle; bark Mary Glover, from Port Discovery; bark King Philip, from Port Gamble. Arrived 21st, bark Legal Tender, from Port Ludlow, bark Ieonium, from Port Blakely. Sailed, ship War Hawk, for Port Discovery; bark Amethyst, for Sehome; schooner Alice, for Port Gamble.

SOLD.—The old ship John Jay, which has carried many a million feet of lumber from Puget Sound to San Francisco, has been sold for a whaler. She was built in New York forty-nine years ago, and can buck all night at a sea and take all next day to sail around it. From her model it can easily be detected that she was not built at Port Ludlow.

THANKS.—The Ivy Social Club desire to return thanks to Captain Mattson, of the bark Harvest Home, and Captain Maligram, of the Aureola, for the loan of flags and bunting used in decorating the hall on Wednesday evening. Much to the regret of the club, neither of those gentlemen were present.

COAL ROAD.—Ground was broken on the Puyallup coal road, last Saturday, by contractor Meeker. Owing to the rapidly diminishing product of the mines at Mount Diablo and Coos Bay, the opening of new mines at other points on the Sound, will scarcely affect Seattle in any way. The English grain fleet are what we have most to fear.

"JOLLY GOOD" FELLOWS.—This is the name of a new association of young gentlemen in this city, who have joined together for the purposes of social pleasure. They will give a dancing party in a few days. All these clubs help to improve society.

VENISON.—There are more old gourmands in Seattle than any other place we ever saw. Yesterday morning, Diller, of the City Market, got in a carcass of venison, and it was all sold to the Hungry Club before twelve o'clock.

WANTED.—A good salesman, thoroughly conversant with the grocery business, would like a situation. Has no objection to go to Tacoma. Address this office.

The Coos Bay stage was driven into a swollen stream last week, by Smith, and the passengers barely reached terra firma in safety. The stage was not taken from the slough until last Thursday.

A DEBAUCHED PRESIDENT.

The recent pardons of Avery and McDonald, by the President, for whiskey frauds affecting the revenue of the United States, are the last drops to the full cup of President Grant's infamy.

The acquittal of Babcock was a farce and Grant knew it, for the honest Republican (and the only honest one in a high station,) Bristow, had pushed the investigation to the very threshold of the Executive mansion.

Because it would have cost the Republican party the electoral votes of Illinois, California and Ohio, making a difference of ten thousand popular votes in each of those States.

The Trustees of the Territorial Insane Asylum met at Steilacoom last week, to audit the quarterly accounts of that institution.

An article appeared in this paper during our absence, concerning the Northern Pacific Railroad which, while it did not impute improper designs to that company, yet was somewhat in conflict with our policy.

We once had a country where no military power came to interfere with the popular vote; where no retired ballot-box stuffers were appointed inspectors of elections; and where no "returning boards" with quasi-judicial powers, existed to subvert the popular will.

We notice that one Corbin is the United States District Attorney in South Carolina and is prominently connected with election matters in that State.

A reverend gentleman named McCormick, residing near Eugene City, Oregon, having been rejected by the Episcopal Church has called on the Methodists for a job.

Three hundred thousand Democrats marched to the music of the Union to preserve American nationality and support a constitutionally elected President—Abraham Lincoln.

Governor Ferry has selected Thursday, the 30th inst., as a day of general Thanksgiving for the peace and prosperity of the closing year.

Port Townsend district paid $1,675 teachers' salaries in one school during the past year. How's that for a wilderness?

BRODERICK!

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE PEOPLE'S TRIBUNE.

THE TRUE HEROISM OF HUMILITY.

It matter very little what was a man's birthplace or who were his parents. Hardly a day passes but we see some "degenerate son of a worthy sire" casting shame upon the name he should preserve from obloquy, and leaving others to wonder how "the blood of all the Howards" could become so degraded.

His early life is wrapped up in obscurity, though unclouded even by a film of dishonor. His father was a stone-cutter by trade, and worked in the construction of the State Capitol at Washington, where the future Senator was born in 1818.

His friends cheered the remark, while his enemies flouted it as the visionary dream of an empty braggart. But the stone-cutter's son never once forgot his stern resolve, nor relaxed his lofty aspirations.

Although a conspicuous man in person, Mr. Broderick was totally different from either Col. Baker or Balie Peyton. He was about five feet eleven inches in height and weighed about 210 pounds, with the chest and shoulders of a Hercules.

His personal appearance. Although a conspicuous man in person, Mr. Broderick was totally different from either Col. Baker or Balie Peyton.

It is a relic of mediaeval barbarism which places an injured man upon the same footing with him who committed the wrong. Humanity, with trumpet tongue, inveighs against the monstrous sin even while Charity, with a white finger on her mute lip, implores silence for the sake of the loved and the dead.

From the moment that he became Acting Lieutenant Governor, he was a formidable aspirant for the United States Senatorship and from that time out, not an office was given out by the Federal Administration, save with the express understanding that the recipient should oppose Broderick.

Congress from Oregon) was one of his devoted adherents in the lower house and Dr. J. C. Hawthorn in the Senate. He was elected and then was ready to revisit the scenes of his youth, but then it was that, in a fit of mistaken magnanimity, he committed the error that precipitated his death.

Gwin was made a Senator and went to New York by the same steamer which carried Broderick. The latter lingered in New York for few days and, when he reached Washington, found that President Buchanan had filled every Federal office in California with the adherents of Gwin.

This gentleman, a war Democrat, was put upon the Republican ticket for Supreme Judge in 1863 and elected. He was one of the ablest jurists that ever graced the California bench.

All efforts at reconciliation on the part of such friends as the late Frederick D. Kohler, W. M. Lent, Marcus D. Boruck and the writer, were treated with contempt by Mr. Broderick.

It is a relic of mediaeval barbarism which places an injured man upon the same footing with him who committed the wrong. Humanity, with trumpet tongue, inveighs against the monstrous sin even while Charity, with a white finger on her mute lip, implores silence for the sake of the loved and the dead.

YAKIMA!

THE RICH VALLEYS ACROSS THE CASCADES.

OUR TRIBUTARY OF THE FUTURE.

The commencement of the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad is a change of front for Puget Sound. She has hitherto been but an exporter of lumber and coal, importing all her breadstuffs and articles of wear.

To the markets of the old world, but also to furnish the country traders of that section with every imaginable variety of merchandise. Nor is this all, for we will soon have some prestige as a manufacturing city and will not merely export raw wheat but manufacture a large portion of it into flour.

Leaving Seattle by the ordinary travelled road, we come to Black River, sixteen miles away. Here we find a neat hotel and brewery kept by George Cantieni, who can give the travelers meat, drink and lodging, to their hearts' content.

A body of rich black muck land, scattered about the neighborhood of Samish Lake, which is about a mile from Squak village. By this lake, which flows into Lake Washington, the inhabitants of Squak Valley are enabled to ship most of their produce to the Seattle markets.

An ambitious hamlet of half a dozen houses, situated at the head of navigation on the Snoqualmie River, which is a tributary of the Snohomish. Near here are several large logging camps and shingle yards.

Or, as it is now called, Yakima City, which is about forty miles beyond Ellensburg. The entire distance is well adapted for settlement, either for farming or grazing.

Or, as it is now called, Yakima City, which is about forty miles beyond Ellensburg. The entire distance is well adapted for settlement, either for farming or grazing.

SNOQUALMIE FALLS

Cannot be surpassed. They are about two and a half miles by air line from Falls City and are 270 feet in height. The want of railroad communication is all that has heretofore kept them aloof from the reach of tourists.

Here is a black muck swamp, almost belly deep except in July, August and September. It needs to be corduroyed for a distance of nearly three miles and the building of a good toll-road would be hailed with delight by people on both sides of the mountains.

As to superinduce the belief that you are in another world. The climate is hot and dry while the broad plains below you are covered with succulent bunch-grass.

The beautiful Yakima River runs through the middle of the vale, with a gentle slope to the water from each side. Copious streams of water descend from the hills, thus affording plenty of water for dairy and agricultural purposes.

Which polls some 200 votes and has two stores, two saw-mills, a blacksmith shop and a grist-mill. The people raise fine horses there and have a fine race-track, a mile in length.

PORT BLAKELY.

HURRYGRAPH OF A LIVELY LUMBER TOWN.

OUR VIS-A-VIS OVER THE SOUND.

About nine miles to the west of us, in a quiet little nook across the Sound, lies the lumbering town of Port Blakely, which is one of the liveliest camps in the whole Territory.

Taking the tidy little steamer Success, commanded by Capt. James Nugent, an hour's ride brings us to the lively little village with its great mill-saw roaring its way through the yielding timber.

Managed by this firm employ a great number of hands, and are located at the upper end of the Sound. To supply them with stores the steamer Linnie is used by this company, and makes trips to all of them every week.

Is evinced by the fact that they have run night and day for the past six weeks, cutting about one hundred thousand feet per day. There are three engines in the mill, the largest of which has a 20-inch cylinder, and drives the main belt on the big saw, as well as hauling in the logs.

As an endless belt carries off all the slabs and saw-dust to a fire-pit near by where cords upon cords of wood are consumed daily, while, in the larger cities of the East, scores of helpless women sit shivering in the cold.

Named in honor of the island on which Port Blakely is located, was also erected by Captain Renton for James Taylor, who keeps it in as good style as any house on the Sound.

[FROM THE DAILY OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 16.—The city marshal of Texarkana was shot and killed, last night, by a desperado named Robinson, whom he had arrested.

YOUNGSTOWN, (Ohio) Nov. 16.—In the case of Chas. M. Sterling, who ravished and murdered Lizzie Grombscher in June last, the jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

St. PAUL, Nov. 16.—At Faribault to-day the Younger brothers, Cole, James and Robert, were arraigned in the District Court on two indictments, the first charging them with complicity in the murder of Haywood, the bank cashier; the second charging Cole directly with the murder of a Swede named Goslovson, and James and Robert with complicity. They asked and were granted until Saturday to plead.

St. LOUIS, Nov. 16.—The pardon of W. A. Avery was forwarded to Jefferson City to-day. The sentence of Con. Maguire for complicity in whisky frauds expires to-night, and he will be released to-morrow and have a hearing before the Commissioner touching his solvency. If found to possess no property, he will be discharged.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Advices from Mississippi report that Lynch (colored) is defeated for re-election to Congress in a district where the colored population is three times greater than the white, and where previously he received more majorities than his opponent received votes.

A gentleman from Little Rock says McClure, (Rep.) is certainly elected to Congress from that district, making a Republican gain of one in Arkansas.

Another special says it is now almost universally conceded that Hayes will have the necessary electoral votes returned to give him a majority of one. The question of the powers of Congress is thus raised, and both parties are making a careful examination of the laws and Constitution.

Jefferson Davis is a passenger on the steamship Adriatic, which sailed yesterday from Queenstown for New York.

A well appointed colony for Eau Claire river, Wisconsin, arrived today from Germany and started for their destination.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—At Sparksville (Indiana) on the Ohio and Mississippi railroad, last night, a freight train was run on the side track. The men in charge neglected to turn the switch; the passenger train ran into the cabooses of the freight train, killing Frank Albert and McLelland, the engineers. The passenger train was wrecked and several freight cars damaged. No passengers were injured.

New York, Nov. 19.—The following is the Herald's summary of the political situation: "The confusion daily becomes more confounded in the knotty question, who has secured the electoral vote of the three disputed States? South Carolina was provisionally scored yesterday for Hayes. The precise act of the State canvassers, under the order of the Supreme Court, the day before was deemed to give it to Tilden. The returns gave part of the State officers to each party. Florida furnishes a complete surprise in the proposal of Gov. Stearns to himself canvass the vote for electors, on the assumption that, as the State statute creating and defining the duties of the State Board, omits to charge that body with counting the votes for electors; and as it is his duty to issue to the electors their certificates of appointment, he must make a compilation of county returns to ascertain who are chosen to that office by the people. This reasoning and proposed action produced consternation among the Democratic leaders, and was met by the most severe denunciations."

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—At a late hour last night U. S. detectives Tyrell and Washburne, with the aid of two local detectives, captured the two men who attempted to steal the bones of President Lincoln from the vault in Springfield, Illinois, on the night of Nov. 7th. They are Terrence Mullen alias T. Darnen, the proprietor of the Hub saloon, 294 North Madison street, where the arrest was made, and Jack Hughes, alias J. Smith, an old counterfeiter connected with the notorious Ben Boyd. These men have been shadowed since the attempt was made to despoil the tomb, and their guilt is said to be proven. Officers will take them to Springfield this evening to await indictment and trial.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—The Democratic Committee have received several hundred affidavits from negroes and some from Republican officials in Ouachita and other bull-dogged parishes, showing there was a peaceable and quiet election; also intimidation of negroes who desired to vote the Democratic ticket, but didn't do so for fear of violence from Republicans of their own color. The Republican officials have counter affidavits in many cases showing violence and intimidation where the Democrats have sworn nothing of the kind existed. In all preceding election matters the Republicans have monopolized the affidavit business, but this time their efforts will probably be eclipsed by the array of affidavits that will be presented by the Democrats.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 17.—A special dispatch to the News and Courier, received at 2:30 P. M., says that a colored Democrat was severely beaten by Radical negroes at Lawtonville, in the upper part of Deafour county. The trial justice issued a warrant for the arrest of the offenders, and five were arrested by a constable and posse here. On returning with the prisoners last night, they were attacked by a body of armed negroes, and two of the white constables killed and the prisoners rescued. The sheriff of the county, now on his way to Lawtonville, telegraphs from Kearville that the negroes, 2,000 in number, and armed, are at Stafford cross roads, near Lawtonville, swearing vengeance on every white man in the country.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A Washington dispatch explains the activity in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, noted yesterday, by the fact that orders have been issued to hasten the completion of the new frigate Trenton, so that she may be ready for sea by March. Five hundred men are now employed on her.

Thomas Ellis, defrauding teller of the National Park Bank, was arrested this afternoon in St. Johns, N. B.

The signal steamer at Darnegat reports as follows: "A large steam frigate, with two smokestacks, burning soft coal, which looks like the Franklin, is passing north, out of signal distance."

PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—A true bill was found against H. C. Bennett, defaulting pension agent, charged with converting public moneys to his own use. U. S. District Attorney Coghlan has commenced action in the Circuit Court against Bennett and his bondsmen, to recover the amount of his default ($23,724 64) with interest and costs of suit.

SHASTA, Nov. 18.—Under Sheriff Robert Kennedy, assisted by Constable Barrett and L. D. Beckford, yesterday arrested John A. Tony, in Hat Creek valley, about 80 miles from here. Tony is one of the highwaymen who has been interested in the three stage robberies in this county during the last two weeks. The officers now have three men in jail, two beside Tony, who they are confident are the right men in the right place. It will be remembered that Tony was one of the Marysville bank robbers two or three years since.

CHICO, Nov. 18.—Last night the safe of Reily & Hubbard, hardware merchants, was broken open by burglars. They went through both doors, using drills, and made a good job of it. They got about $2,000 in silver. One of the robbers was arrested in Oroville to-day and another on the Cherokee stage.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THE STEAMER "ZEPHYR," will leave Seattle for Snohomish City on way landings on Sunday Morning; returning, will leave Snohomish on Monday Morning, leave Seattle for Olympia and way ports on Tuesday and Friday; returning Wednesday on Saturdays. JAS. R. OBURNS.

[FROM THE DAILY OREGONIAN.]

PACIFIC COAST

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—The second story of the Pacific stables, kept by J. W. Wilson, on Second street, between K and L, which was formerly occupied by a gymnasium by the Amity Club, has recently been changed into a theater capable of seating 1,000 people, including the gallery with a capacity for 250, and 25 private boxes with room for 150 more.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—The inquest into the cause of the death of the victims of the Moore's Opera House disaster of Saturday was continued to-day and goes on again on Wednesday. The proofs show clearly that the house had a bad reputation among those competent to judge as an unsafe building.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A gentleman from northern Dakota reports here to-day that Sitting-Bull is receiving ammunition from British territory in immense quantities. It has been purchased up there and shipped across the country by wagons.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 20.—A shooting affray occurred in front of the Detective office to-night, between Geo. Spreenburgh, colored chief of detectives, and Frank Johnston, a young white, who was shot through the head and instantly killed.

the flames continued to rage until late this morning, when they were finally subdued. The Monarch was the property of Goodall, Nelson & Perkins, was built last year, and was by far the finest, most powerful and expensive tug in the harbor, having cost nearly $100,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Anna Baugh, wife of Theodore Baugh, residing at No. 25 South Park, got up yesterday morning to light a fire. She used kerosene, but so carelessly that her clothes caught fire, and in a moment her whole person was enveloped by flames which reached her face and fairly roasted it before she was rescued.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—The inquest into the cause of the death of the victims of the Moore's Opera House disaster of Saturday was continued to-day and goes on again on Wednesday. The proofs show clearly that the house had a bad reputation among those competent to judge as an unsafe building.

EASTERN STATES.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A gentleman from northern Dakota reports here to-day that Sitting-Bull is receiving ammunition from British territory in immense quantities.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 20.—A shooting affray occurred in front of the Detective office to-night, between Geo. Spreenburgh, colored chief of detectives, and Frank Johnston, a young white, who was shot through the head and instantly killed.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—What has long been known as the Logan Mountain gang of railroad train thieves, who have operated very extensively along the St. Louis and Missouri Pacific Railroad, between here and the Arkansas line, has been effectually broken up and nine of their number, including three women, have just been sentenced by the Iron Mountain Circuit Court to from five to eleven years each in the penitentiary.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20. A party of Germans left this city last night in two furniture wagons and attended a German wedding some distance out in the northwestern part of the county, about ten miles out at the crossing of the west fork. In the darkness, the wagon, containing 26 people, was driven off the side of a bridge, falling 75 feet to the rocks below.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Specials give the following result of the count of the electoral vote of South Carolina: Republican electors at large: C. C. Bowen, 90,780, John Win-smith, 90,780. District electors: T. B. Johnson, 91,852; Timothy Hurley, 91,136; W. B. Nash, 91,804; Wilson Cook, 91,432; Wm. F. Myers, 91,830. Democratic electors at large: T. G. Barker, 90,896; Samuel McGowan, 90,737. District electors: J. W. Harrington, 90,895; J. Lingham, 90,798; Wm. Wallace, 90,905; J. B. Irwin, 90,906; Robert A'drich, 90,860.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 21.—The Circuit Court has issued an injunction restraining Governor Stearns from canvassing the returns of the electoral vote, and a mandamus requiring the board of canvassers to begin the count.

The injunction was applied for by the Democratic managers, and was temporarily granted by the circuit court. It orders Gov. Stearns to show cause on Thursday next, why the injunction should not be made permanent. The mandamus commands the board to show cause why, on Thursday next, it should not also be made permanent.

There is an appeal possible to the Supreme Court, which, however, does not meet until January, except of its own volition. It convenes extra session before December 6th, when electors' certificates must issue. Hence, practically there is no appeal.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21.—A large indignation meeting was held to-night at National Hall, Third Congressional district, which was composed about equally of Republicans and Democrats, and at which the action of the canvassing board in counting the votes for Mr. Frost, Democratic candidate for Congress, which evidently were not cast for him, was denounced in unmeasured terms by both Democratic and Republican speakers. A resolution was adopted demanding that the person who changed the returns should be ferreted out and punished.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 21.—The Santa Fe Mail coach was stopped last night, ten miles north of Los Vegas, New Mexico, by four masked men, who being well armed, compelled the driver and messenger to alight. They took from the mail pouches and express boxes everything of value except some silver bricks, which they said were too heavy. They also cut the telegraph line. No further clue to the robbers has been obtained.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Herald's Philadelphia special says two men-of-war left to-day for the South.

Clarkson N. Porter writes the Herald a long letter, believing the election, sooner or later, would go to the House, and Tilden be elected.

The Tribune's Washington special intimates that if Hayes is elected he will probably be inaugurated on the 4th of March, notwithstanding the day falls upon Sunday, because any interim under the circumstances might be fatal to the country.

KEOKUK, Nov. 22.—The Constitution states that it has direct and reliable information that Rutledge Lea, Republican presidential elector for the 1st Iowa district, was, when elected, U. S. commissioner, and has since resigned.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Wells continues to receive threatening letters from all quarters, including one to-day from five New York Democrats, declaring they will kill him if Hayes is declared elected.

The Times' Tallahassee special, speaking of the mandamus, says it is plain the governor and canvassing board are masters of the situation in law and fact.

The Times' Columbia correspondent gives the law in the case of the comp'letat to-day, which shows the board of canvassers were right. By law they were compelled to close their sessions within ten days after commencing, and the time expires at noon to-day. There was consequently no other course left open. The action was taken before the mandamus of the court was issued. At any rate it was done before the writ was served on the board. The board has now ceased to exist.

Summons.

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding terms at the City of Seattle, in and for the counties of King and Kitsap.

Leander S. Smith, plaintiff, vs. Annie V. Smith, defendant. Complaint filed in the County of King, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

The United States of America send greeting to Annie V. Smith, defendant.

YOU are hereby notified to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington, holding terms at the City of Seattle, in the county of King, for the counties of King and Kitsap, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within twenty days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within said County of King; or if served out of that county, but in this District, within thirty days, otherwise within sixty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of the complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain a decree of divorce, forever fully and finally dissolving the bonds of matrimony now and heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant, so that the relation of husband and wife shall no longer exist between them, on the ground of abandonment of plaintiff by defendant for more than one year, and for other proper relief. And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will cause your default to be entered, and thereafter apply to the Court for the relief demanded in his said complaint.

Witness the Hon. J. R. Lewis, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, this 9th day of November, A. D., 1876.

BOARD OF IMMIGRATION.

The Washington Immigration Society, was organized in the city of Olympia, Washington Territory, on the second day of February, 1875, for the purpose of replying to letters of persons seeking information of the soil, climate, and general resources of this Territory, with a view to emigrating here. The labor was performed gratuitously, the citizens providing the necessary material to carry on the work, consisting of postage stamps, stationery and such books, pamphlets, and public documents as were in existence, descriptive of the Territory, besides donations from the press, of the current newspapers.

During the nine month following, 329 letters were received and answered, and nearly 700 packages of printed matter, besides samples of our wheat, barley and oats were sent to inquirers.

During this period, also a pamphlet descriptive of the soil, climate, and general resources of the Territory was compiled by the Business Manager of the Society, and when the Legislative Assembly met in October, 1875, the result of the Society's work was laid before that body and Territorial aid asked for publishing the pamphlet and continuing the work. The consequence of this action on the part of the Society was the passage of an act by the Assembly, Nov. 12, 1875, creating a Board of Immigration, to serve without pay, and providing for the printing of 5,000 pamphlets at a cost of $557, and allowing to the Board the sum of $150 per year, for office rent, postage and incidental expenses. The Board consisted of Hon. O. P. Lacey, of Walla Walla, Hon. L. B. Hastings of Port Townsend, and Mrs. A. H. H. Stewart of Olympia, the Business Manager of the Immigration Society, which was now merged in the Board.

On Nov. 12, 1876, the result of the year's work was as follows: 550 letters had been received and answered, 4,000 pamphlets and 16,000 circulars and newspapers distributed in the United States, Canada and Europe. About 4,000 people have been added to our population by these means, a number which would have been largely increased, had the Board been provided with sufficient funds to have employed an agent in San Francisco to direct our own immigrants to us when they arrived in that city, instead of allowing them to be diverted into California and Oregon as has been and is now the case.

As an instance of this condition of affairs: A colony of 20 persons in Nebraska, after a correspondence with this Board, decided to come to Washington Territory. They arrived in San Francisco and were immediately "interviewed" by Oregon and California emigrant agents. Becoming alarmed by the statements which they received of the thirteen months rain in a year in Washington Territory, the impenetrable forests of Western and the sterile plains of Eastern Washington, their hearts failed them, and of the 20 persons who set out for our Territory, one man alone bravely persisted in his determination, and arrived safe and well at this office to relate the story.

Of these 4,000 persons, Hon. O. P. Lacey writes to this office, that about 2,000 have settled in Eastern Washington, being principally farmers and stock-raisers, and most of these have crossed the country with their own teams; about 500 have settled in the counties on the Columbia river and between the river and the Puget Sound country, and the remaining 1,500 have located on Puget Sound. They are principally from Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Michigan.

The Territorial warrant for $150 was disposed of by the Board at 90 cents, netting the sum of $135, and this was spent in the following manner, viz:

For postage stamps.....	$ 77 05
Stationery.....	24 95
Printing.....	33
Total.....	$ 135 00

Ten thousand circulars briefly descriptive of the whole Territory have been published by the Board, and citizens of Puget Sound have paid for the printing of 10,000 more, descriptive of the Sound country, for the special purpose of distribution among the emigrants on the ships of the Pacific Mail Company. Of the 10,000 circulars issued by the Board 4,000 were placed in the hands of our Territorial Centennial Commissioner, Hon. Elwood Evans, our Delegate to Congress, Hon. Orange Jacobs, and other of our citizens visiting the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia, and were by them put in conspicuous places at the Exhibition and distributed among the emigrants on the overland train coming West.

Hon. L. B. Hastings was one of these gentlemen, and he writes the following to this office: "On my return West, I made it my special business to visit the emigrant cars where I found agents of Oregon and other States and Territories, putting in the hands of the emigrants, circulars, maps, &c., setting forth the advantages of their State or Territory. I found many persons who preferred our Territory to any other, but the expense of the journey and the time consumed in getting here is a great obstacle."

One of the greatest needs which this Board has found is a good general map for distribution with the pamphlet. Nearly every letter from the intending immigrant says: "Send me a map that I may get some idea of your country." The lack of sufficient means has thus far prevented the Board from issuing one, and it is hoped that if some plan cannot be devised by which to procure its publication this year, the Hon. Legislative Assembly will deem it for the advantage of the Territory to provide means for this purpose at the next session.

Respectfully submitted,
A. H. H. STUART,
Chairman Board of Immigration,

He came here a year ago last summer, intending to locate and make this his home, but concluded he could find a better country somewhere else, and left early last spring. He wandered all over the Sound country, then went through California and Oregon, but at last determined to return and locate. When on Wild Horse he left his wagon and went away a short distance to find out a place to camp, and upon his return he looked in his wagon and found his wife lying dead."

The New Steamer Alexander.

Messrs. McAllister Brothers' new steamer Alexander, which arrived here a few days since from Port Essington, is now lying at Die'son, Campbell & Co.'s wharf where she awaits the arrival of her machinery on board the bark Mountain Laurel, now on the way from England to this port. The machinery was built by the celebrated firm, Fawcett, Preston & Co., of Liverpool, and consists of two diagonal high-pressure engines of the most modern plans, capable of being worked either jointly or separately. They are of 650 indicative horse-power, but can be worked as high as 1,000, and whilst possessing all the advantages claimed for the compound engine, combine with them many other qualities of recent invention. The steamer will carry two tubular boilers 12 1/2 feet in diameter by 20ft 1/2 in. in length, having a heating capacity of nearly 4,000 cubic feet, and, like the engines, are capable of being worked independently or together. An advantage in this worthy of mention is that either one of the boilers will be able to drive the steamer at 1/2 speed, so that in case of any accident happening to one of the boilers the other can be safely relied on. The same advantage is comprised in the engines, either one being sufficiently powerful to run the boat at a satisfactory speed. At full speed, however, the Alexander will attain a velocity of nearly 15 knots an hour, consuming at that rate about a ton of coal per hour. Her bunkers will carry 133 tons of fuel, and with that weight, in addition to 195 tons, the weight of engines, boilers and water therein her mean draught will be 9 feet. Her hold will have capacity for some 250 tons of freight; her register is 350 tons, but her actual capacity is considerably more. She is 180 feet long over all, with 162 feet keel and 27 feet 3 in. beam. Her keel was laid on the 1st of May last and she was successfully launched on the 4th inst.; will be brigantine rigged, carrying a sufficiency of sail for any case of emergency. Her rigging is all of the most modern description with yards lowering to the deck. She is constructed throughout of yellow cedar with natural crooks, and on March 1st next, when she is expected to be ready for sea, will be the staunchest, finest and most powerful towboat afloat on the Pacific.—Colonist.

Once more the Rocky Mountain locusts have commenced devastating extended regions of country in Colorado, Nebraska and Minnesota, contrary to many assurances that such a visitation was not at all likely for several years to come. Gov. Pillsbury of Minnesota has published a letter in answer to one from some prominent gentleman of the State, asking for advice, in which he says: "I believe the time has arrived when an organized and determined effort for their extermination," etc.; to which we say amen. But would it not be well to know something of the source from whence these pests come, and endeavor to "nip them in the bud," instead of making an attack upon the full-fledged insect? After a few more millions of dollars' worth of property has been destroyed, perhaps State or National aid to the amount of a few thousand can be secured to enable a commission of intelligent practical entomologists to investigate and report upon this subject.

AN AUSTRALIAN IDEA OF BANKRUPTCY.

The richest thing we have struck for some time, is the following from an Otago (New Zealand) newspaper. It tells about the difficulties which surround the interpretation of laws relating to bankruptcy:

A Maori, who, having been the unfortunate creditor of a bankrupt, had lost £10 or so, and was determined to master the system by which he was deprived of his money. Having done so, he was able to explain to his friends that he had lost his money because the debtor became "Packarapu." In explanation of this word he laid down that a white man who wants to become "Packarapu" goes into business and gets lots of goods and does not pay for them. He then gets all the money he can together, say £2,000, and puts it away where no one can get it, all except £5. With this he goes to the Judge of the Supreme Court, and tells him he wishes to become "Packarapu." The Judge says he is very sorry, but of course it cannot be helped, and he then calls all the lawyers together, likewise all the men to whom the "Packarapu" owes money, and he says, "This man is Packarapu, but he wishes to give you all he has got, and so he has asked me to divide this among you all." The Judge thereupon gives £4 to the lawyers and £1 to the other men, and the "Packarapu" goes home a regenerated man.

"Packarapu" is a rich word and we are decidedly in favor of it. It is so much more musical to the ear than nulla bona. When the civil judgments were recovered against Boss Tweed, he was found to be "Packarapu" to the extent of six millions; and if Sam Howe continues at his post in Utasladly much longer, we shall petition to have that place called "Packarapu." We like the word.

DISQUALIFIED ELECTORS.

The acceptance of the resignations of J. W. Watts, of Oregon, and H. M. Sollace, of Vermont, as Postmasters, cannot at this late day help the cause of Governor Hayes in the Presidential struggle. Whether their places in the Electoral College may be filled by the Democratic candidates having the highest votes, may be open to doubt, but of their ineligibility there can be no question. Article 2 of the Constitution most plainly says that "No Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector." This language is too clear to admit of any doubt as to its meaning.

In a score of cases in each one of the States, where successful candidates have held Federal offices on election day, the Courts have held that the party so holding was disqualified. In the Oregon and California Legislatures, within our memory, a score of such cases have arisen and been decided but one way—against the Federal officeholder. The Ancient Gospel precept that "no man can serve two masters," is as true now as when the Saviour of men first promulgated it. This is one of the causes of such ominous silence in reference to matters Presidential. The Republicans are satisfied that they have lost two electors by their ignorance of Constitutional law, and are anxious to make up the deficiency by fraudulent returns from all three of the doubtful States.

Al Wah, a Chinese clerk in a San Francisco importing house, has married a Miss Fanny Waters, a young lady from Maine. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Otis Gibson, of the Chinese mission. The telegrams do not state who gave the bride away; in fact, we can't help thinking she "have herself away," by marrying a semi-patriot heathen.

It is now claimed that the corporation funk, Pacheco, is elected to Congress by 43 majority in the Fourth District of California. Why didn't the subsidy folks elect Stanford and done with it? Pacheco might go back on them and then some other dying man would have to be roused out of bed to kill Pacheco's vote.

O. H. Beaster is the last ineligible elector. He is U. S. Surveyor General for Louisiana, and official documents signed by him during the canvass are in existence. The day after the election, he sent in his resignation, and, it is believed, auto-dated it to cure his ineligibility. This won't do. Let this beastly Beaster be sent about his Beaster-ness.

George Chapman, a pioneer actor of 1849, who retired from the stage some years ago, died in San Francisco last Friday, aged 73 years. As an eccentric comedian he could not be surpassed; and his "Billy Lackadey" was a very choice bit of humor. So we all must obey the call of the Great Prompter.

Olympia's pet parson measures fifty-one inches around the girth, in consequence of the clam and chicken diet of that luxurious locality. This reverend Falstaff formerly bailed from Nebraska, but has no hankering for his former diet of grasshoppers and wild honey.

CATTLE BREEDING.

CONCERNING OUR FRIENDS WITH HORNS.

PROFITS OF DAIRY AND SHAMBLES.

There is "room at the top," of every avocation. This trite motto applies not merely to the law, theology or journalism, but to every pursuit in life by which men hope to amass a sufficient competency to enable them to live without labor in their twilight years. And while we concede that the unprogressive stock-breeder, who lives in a dirty hut and has no higher ambition than to make a bare living from the spontaneous increase of brute beasts, is but one degree removed from the Bedouins of Arabia or the Tartars of the Russian steppes, we also claim that the intelligent and economical stock breeder is at all times entitled to our respect as a PUBLIC BENEFACTOR.

The former of these is happiest when asleep and regards business as a curse afflicting the entire human race, while the other is happiest when attending to the wants of the dumb but patient creatures from whose increase he hopes to amass wealth. The great fame of the Thornes, Alexanders, Grigsbys and Pattersons, is by no means confined to the States of New York, Illinois, and Kentucky, where they reside, but has long since become a portion of the nation's pride and wealth. Nearly all these men began in a small way but worked their dairies and bred their herds, upon a progressive principle. Their motto was, pay cash for nothing that will grow upon a farm, and never buy a poor animal because his owner asks a low price for him. They also made it a rule never to hold for fancy prices but always to sell for a fair compensation. Wealth therefore followed legitimately in the path of thrift and enterprise, and never came to the late and always-to-be-lamented.

ROBERT AITCHESON ALEXANDER, of Woodford county, Kentucky, was a representative man of this class. By careful trading and judicious economy in stock-breeding he had got together a few thousand dollars and was carrying on the business of a drover when the death of a relative in Scotland made him the possessor of several millions. Many men would have, at this juncture, betaken themselves to some great city and invested their wealth in bank stocks and railroad bonds; but the Master of Woodburn had a nobler mission. He preferred to spend his days in the company of the people who had known him in his poverty, and add to the prosperity of the region where his struggles with early hardship, were so well known. And with this view he returned to the land of his ancestors, to select stock for the rich blue-grass pastures of Kentucky. When it became known at Lexington that he had paid $15,000 for a bull.

"THE DUKE OF ABERDEEN." More than one shrewd man proclaimed him insane. But his sagacity was evinced by the stubborn fact that, in the year 1859, he received over $7,500 in premiums at fairs held in the valley of the Mississippi. The prices realized from this investment were enormous, as he always sold annually at auction, a system of which he was the inaugurator in America. A heifer, daughter of the Duke aforesaid, brought him $7,600 in 1863 and was taken back to England. An offer to buy back the old bull at $20,000 met with the answer, "a princely price should not touch him." So it was in all this gentleman's operations. He bought good animals only and it was alone in the case of his imported stallion Scythian, that his judgment went amiss. He gave $15,000 for a Lexington when "stone blind" and eight years later, sold one of his colts—Norfolk—for $15,000 to an enterprising Californian, who knew that a poor article was never cheap. But you ask, what bearing has such a case upon

WASHINGTON TERRITORY?

We answer you, it will teach you to study the value of quality rather than quantity. Invest your earnings in what will surely reimburse you and be not content with makeshifts. Remember that a good animal eats no more fodder than a poor one and is always twice as valuable. You must not go blindly into breeding any particular stock or race of cattle, without first consulting the geographical questions involved. To begin with, the Durhams or short horns, are very thrifty in Kentucky where the ground is but seldom lilly and never mountainous. Will such cattle thrive on our precipitous hillsides, and amidst fat while struggling through our dense forests? A moment's reflection will tell you better. You must first inspect your farm before you can determine its future products. You must remember that it is the rich blue-grass that makes the great Durham cattle of Kentucky. That grass grows on limestone soil only and of that you have the islands of

SAN JUAN AND ORCAS.

Where it will grow so luxuriantly that it will "lodge" in the storms of April and October, if not pastured closely. Wherever you find limestone, there it will grow. Think of that, you poor struggling fellows who go about those islands every day, tramping fortunes under your feet. A little enterprise on your part, to clear this brush and make that grass grow, will make that land worth a hundred and fifty dollars per acre. Nature has provided one fence—the great sounding sea—and all you have to do is to erect partitions between neighbors. The Durhams are of but little value save for beef and it takes the revenue of a bank to feed a herd of them. Being sluggish and lazy they are no extra logging cattle, which should be of fair size and quick on their feet. In this respect they are vastly inferior to

THE DEVONSHIRES.

Which are smaller and more active. These bear the same relation to other horned beasts that thoroughbred racers maintain among horses. Take the pure-bred Devon cow, and you will find her a beautiful red with waxy horns and a white tassel on her tail, while her udder is of a creamy yellow tint, and about her eyes are rings of a like hue. Cows of this breed rarely weigh over eight hundred pounds and the largest steers seldom reach a thousand; but they are hardy and active, and will keep fat where short-horns would starve to death. Steep hills are no obstacles to them and they give rich milk on almost any sort of pasture. It is nothing uncommon to see steers of this breed pull an empty wagon three miles inside the hour. They are generally good-dispositioned and we can recommend those who seek to breed for the beef, in this section, to make their first purchase a Devon bull, as the best to cross upon common cows. East of the mountains, upon the great bunch-grass plains, Durhams will thrive and make great beef, but much care must be taken to lay away plenty of

HAY FOR WINTER USE.

The farmer who neglects to provide shelter for his animals, is cruel and criminal. He is both a coward and a fool. He is a coward because he allows a dumb beast to suffer, knowing it cannot reproach him for his parsimony. He is a fool because his meanness robs nobody's pocket but his own. The stomach is the boiler of all animated creatures and food is its fuel. Any engineer will tell you that a jacket of asbestos about the boiler and stovepipes, will save at least 30 per cent. of the fuel. Good shelter for your cattle, therefore, will prove a saving of one-third of the fodder consumable by them. Barns should be warm, but not close, for a cow needs oxygen for her lungs, and will give unhealthy milk if her stall be not ventilated properly. But down about the sound, the need is of small, hardy cattle, that will mature quickly and be of general service both for purposes of the dairy and the shambles. When you consider that our moist climate, so similar to the Channel Islands between England and France, gives us at least two months of green grass in each year than California enjoys, it must convince you that we possess

A GOOD DAIRY COUNTRY.

If proper management is exercised. Take the Swinowish flats for instance. We saw reclaimed land there from which two crops of timothy hay had been cut this season; yet there was fresh pasturage in the last week of October. Those flats will produce good sugar beets, two hundred bushels to the acre, if not more. Save the oat straw and chop it up with sugar beets for stall-feeding. You will have fat cattle for sale in February and "blue beef" will have become a thing of the past. Look at the money which Puget Sound pays California for butter every year; it would purchase the ransom of a prince. We have been living here for twenty years, in daily defiance of every principle of political economy, exporting lumber and coal to pay for what we might as easily produce at home. Devout cattle could be made a source of great profit in the Swinowish country, by saving the cows for the dairy and selling the steers for logging cattle. The tempter who once uses them will never be content to drive any others. But if you live in a section of country where the grass is sparse and mixed with fern and bramble, then try the

JERSEYS OR ALDENREYS.

These little fellows are small but they are the best dairy cattle in the world. Carefully kept accounts show that they produce the greatest amount of butter in proportion to the feed consumed, of any breed extant. The cows are of a tawny yellow, while the bulls generally have brown coats. They are like deer, with their fine curly horns and tapering heads, while their bones are nearly as small as those of sheep. They will feed all day on steep mountain sides, in places where Durhams would perish from exhaustion. No other cattle, save the Holsteins perhaps, afford such cheese as the Alderneys. They cost more than common cattle, it is true, but they give you a much larger income for your increased outlay. And to families in towns, who prefer to keep their own cow, we say don't be without a Jersey. She will take care of her own milk, and besides giving you such milk as you never can hope to buy out of a milkman's cart. Any likely farmer will buy her calf for half as much as the cow cost you, if he knows what a good investment it is, so you can't lose on her till she dies. See that she has

PLENTY OF SHELTER.

From the winter storms, and her bills for hay will not be very heavy assessments. All the trouble she can give you is to milk her and clean out her stall, so she has a dry place to sleep. You must use gentleness on all occasions and never beat her because she does not obey your imperious commands, for Nature never sent dumb animals into this world to be kicked and abused. And whether you milk one cow or a hundred, see that gentleness is never departed from, for even the most barbarous nations always treat their cattle well. Therefore it is your duty to treat Daisy and Spot with the same gentleness which is the result of civilization, and remember that "a good man is merciful to his beasts."

COUNTED OUT.

As we go to press, we learn that the "returning boards" in the three doubtful States have given those States to Hayes. What will be the upshot of all this, the Lord only knows. That Tilden was fairly elected, but for the gross frauds—enforced at the point of the bayonet—is palpable to the most unlettered mind. The popular vote shows it; the sending of military from Washington to protect the "returning boards" from the Ku-Klux outrages, shows it; the delay in getting returns from Florida for eleven days, also establish it. The disqualifications of three Republican electors is well known and there is not a doubt that there will be a vacancy in the electoral vote of Oregon. Governor Grover is too old a politician to be caught by such chaff as the back-dated resignation of such a chronic partisan pauper as J. W. Watts. So everything looks as if the Republicans had stopped at nothing, to feed their ninety thousand "never-sweats" at the public expense. Should a tie occur in the Electoral College, which is far from improbable, that would throw the case in to the House of Representatives who would elect Tilden: Should that occur, the records of half the departments in Washington, would be burned by retiring officers to prevent investigations.

That belligerent descendant of the great Hebrew law-giver who established the pioneer ferry across the Red Sea—Frank Pixley—has been "putting a head" on the Rev. Mr. Brier, in San Francisco. As this is more than the Lord did for Brier, we can't blame Pixley. Septimus Huelat, a prominent member of the Portland bar, has been sent to the Oregon Asylum in a demented condition that leaves no hope for his recovery.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Now that the worry of the election is all over with, the next best thing to do is to cool off by calling on Jack Levy and getting one of his superior cigars.

TO THE OFFICERS ELECT OF KING COUNTY.

OUR SERVANTS: As insinuations and statements are rife in the community, seriously affecting your characters as public servants, we therefore, as part of the sovereigns, who have elected you as our servants to do our dirty work for pay, in order to give you an opportunity to set yourselves right before your sovereigns, either by a denial of the accusations, or by owning up to the truth, thereby shaming the devil, and showing yourselves men, we propose to you the following questions: How much money did you spend in the late canvass, and how spent it? How many saloon keepers did you subsidize to your interests? How many drinks did you pay for directly or indirectly in consideration of votes? How many votes did you buy with money, directly or indirectly? How many lies did you tell on your opponents? How many false insinuations did you throw out on them? How much has your conscience troubled you (if you have any) for what you have done? If you have not the moral courage and manliness to come out and tell the whole truth in the matter, if guilty, you can come around to the Elephant Store and unobscure yourself to us privately. It will be a great relief to you; and if you will give us your patronage we will never "blow" it on you. Don't be saucy now and say it's none of our business, for we are of the sovereigns and you are our servants, and we have the right to know about the character and conduct of our servants.
