TWENTY YEARS AGO.

I've wandered to the village, Tom; I've sat beneath the tree, Upon the school house play-ground, Which sheltered you and me; But none were there to greet me, Tom, And few were left to know, That played with us upon the green, Some twenty years ago. The grass is just as green, Tom; Bare-footed boys at play, Were sporting just as we did then, With spirits just as gay; But "Master" sleeps upon the hill, Which, coated o'er with snow, Afforded us a sliding place Just twenty years ago. The school house has altered some— The benches are replaced By new ones very like the same Our pen-knives had defaced; But the same old bricks are in the wall— The bell swings to and fro, Its music just the same, dear Tom, 'Twas twenty years ago. The boys were playing some old game, Beneath that same old tree; I do forget the name just now— You've played the same with me; On that same spot, 'twas played with knives, By throwing so and so; The leader had a task to do, there, Twenty years ago; The river 's running just as still, The willows on its side Are larger than they were, Tom; The stream appears less wide; But the grape-vine swing is ruined, now, Where once we played the beau, And swung our sweet-hearts— "Pretty girls"—just twenty years ago. The spring that bubbled 'neath the hill, Close by the spreading beech, Is very low—'twas once so high, That we could almost reach; And kneeling down to get a drink, Dear Tom, I started so, To see how much I've changed, Since twenty years ago. Near by the spring, upon an elm, You know I cut your name, Your sweet heart's just beneath it, Tom, And you did mine the same; Some heartless wretch has peeled the bark, 'Twas dying, sure but slow, Just as that one whose name you cut, Died twenty years ago. My lids have long been dry, Tom, But tears come in my eyes; I thought of her I loved so well, Those early broken ties; I visited the old church yard, And took some flowers to strew Upon the graves of those we loved Some twenty years ago. Some are in the church-yard laid— Some sleep beneath the sea; But few are left of our old class, Excepting you and me; And when our time shall come, Tom, And we are called to go, I hope they'll lay us where we played Just twenty years ago.

A negro in St. Louis, who was supposed to be dead, arose in his coffin, during the funeral ceremony, and set the women all fainting, the men shrieking, and the parson in hysterics. Moving his not entirely sightless orb around the company of mourners, his clay lips began to chatter some unintelligible stuff about the other world. The distressed widow ran out of the room and out of the house, and nothing could induce her to return during the day, notwithstanding she was assured that her husband was conscious, and the doctor thought he might recover. It is said that the Emperor Maximilian, in order to recompense the Indian tribes of Sonora for the courage and devotedness which they showed in upholding his cause, has decided that fifty young boys belonging to the "nobles" of those tribes shall be brought up and educated in the city of Mexico at his expense, and that the six who prove that they possess the most diligence and capacity shall be sent to Europe to receive there, up to the age of eighteen years, a more finished education. The late Rev. Daniel Isaac was both a great wag and a great smoker—"An, there you are," cried a lady, who surprised him one day enjoying his pipe, "at your idol again?" "Yes, my dear madam," replied he coolly, "I hope you do not find fault with me, for I ought to be commended, as you see, I'm burning it!" The Emperor of Morocco has permitted telegraphic wires to be laid in his dominions.

FEMALE EDUCATION IN GERMANY.

A traveler says that the culinary art forms an important part of the education of women in Germany [Stuck a pin here, ladies!] In Germany the well-to-do tradesman, like the mechanic, takes a pride in seeing his daughters good housekeepers. To effect this object, the girl, on leaving school, which she does when about fourteen years of age, goes through the ceremony of confirmation, and is then placed by her parents with a country clergyman, or in a large family, where she remains one or two years, filling what may almost be termed the post of servant, and doing the work of one.— This is looked upon as an apprenticeship to domestic economy. She differs from a servant, however, in this, that she receives no wages; on the contrary, her parents often pay for the care taken of her, as well as for her clothing. This is the first step in her education as housekeeper. She next passes, on the same conditions, into the kitchen of a rich private family, or in that of some hotel of good repute. Here she has control of the expenditure, and of the servants employed, and assists, personally, in the cooking, but is always addressed as "Freulein, or Miss, and is treated by the family with deference and consideration.— Many daughters of rich families receive a similar training, with this difference, however, that they receive it in a princely mansion or a royal residence. There is a reigning queen in Germany at the present moment who was trained in this way. Consequently, the women in Germany are perfect models of order and economy. The richest lady, as well as the poorest woman, is well acquainted with the market price of provisions; and it gives one real satisfaction to see her bustling about from one part of the house to another; now peeping into the nursery to see how the children are going on, then looking into the kitchen to see that the cook is doing her duty, and that every thing is perfectly clean, and generally giving an eye to every thing and every body, and keeping all well up to their work. In short, she is the very soul of the house.

CURIOUS DISCOVERY.—Glass may even be turned in a lathe. Strange as it seems, this is literally true. No special tools even are needed. An amateur turner who has operated on either of the metals may chuck a piece of glass on his lathe, and turn it with the same tools and in the same way as he would a piece of steel, only taking care to keep the chips from his eyes. This strange discovery was made, almost accidentally, in the early part of 1860, by one of our most celebrated mechanical engineers, and might have been patented, but the inventor contented himself with simply putting it on record, and generously presenting it to the nation. The consequence was that no one thought or cared any thing about it, and the idea has been suffered to be nearly barren, though capable of being turned to good account. Let any amateur mechanic make the experiment, and he will be surprised at the ease with which this seemingly intractable material may be cut and fashioned according to his will.—Chambers' Journal.

An author writing of the manners of the last century in Scotland, says that even some of the ladies were not behind the gentlemen in their excesses: "Three gentlewomen one night had a merry-making in a tavern in Edinburgh, near the Cross, where they sat till they were all pretty fou. On leaving the house and ascending to the street they failed to remember where they were; but as the moon was shining brightly they found little difficulty in getting along till they reached the Tron church. Here a prodigious obstacle presented itself. The moon, shining high in the south, threw the shadow of the steeple directly across the street, from the one side to the other; and the ladies, being no more clear-sighted than they were clear-headed, mistook the same for a broad and rapid river, which would require crossing before they could make further progress. Under this delusion, they sat down upon the brink of the imaginary stream, took off their shoes and stockings, kitted their clothes, and proceeded to wade through to what they supposed was the opposite shore, upon reaching which they resumed their shoes and stockings, and went on their way rejoicing."

The famous Kit Carson and Colonel Bent visited General Pope at St. Louis lately. The Evening News says that Kit was dressed in a Colonel's uniform, with rather broad shoulder-straps, and his dark hair, sprinkled with grey, flowed down upon his shoulders "a la waterfall." He wore rather a broad brimmed felt hat, and, altogether, presented the appearance of a sturdy little man, destitute of all pretensions. Colonel Carson served as a brigadier general in the Mexican war under Gen. Crocker.

The best dowry to advance the marriage of a young lady, is to have in her countenance intelligence, in her speech wisdom, and in her behaviour modesty.

THREE bears from the Carpathian mountains, sent by Prince Conza to the Emperor Napoleon, have reached Paris safely.

DETAILS OF EASTERN NEWS.

Dates to Dec. 25th. Washington, Dec. 22.—In the Senate, Lawrence offered a resolution, urging that Jeff Davis be immediately brought to trial. New York, Dec. 23.—A fire occurred this morning. Gov. Stewart's buildings were destroyed. Loss, $40,000. Insured. Buffalo, Dec. 20.—A very heavy gale prevailed last night, accompanied by snow and sleet. Considerable damage was done. Washington, Dec. 21.—All volunteer medical officers are to be discharged except about fifty. Washington, Dec. 21.—It is rumored that the Imperial troops in Mexico are gradually approaching Vera Cruz with the intention of embarking for France. New York, Dec. 21.—The Imperialists boast that the attack of the Liberals on Matamoros was a failure. Davenport, Dec. 20.—A fire last night destroyed the building in which the post office was located. Loss, $5,000. Insured. New York, Dec. 20.—2,500,000 lbs. of cotton, damaged by recent fire, was sold at auction to-day. Pittsburg, Dec. 20.—The river is rising very fast; there was a heavy fall of snow this morning. Buffalo, Dec. 20.—A heavy snow storm commenced falling this afternoon. Weather very cold. The Chileans are daily growing more dissatisfied with Spain. A Chilean privateer will soon be on the seas. Bolivian affairs are quite unsettled. The revolution still going on. A disturbance had taken place with some Chileans owing to the Spanish vessels being allowed to coal there. Advances from Peru are quite important. Gen. Caneco was deposed by a public meeting and Gen. Strado declared Dictator, he being pledged to call a Congress as soon as possible. It is supposed that Strado will declare an alliance with Chile against Spain. Washington, Dec. 22.—Hubbard offered a resolution that the Government of the United States ought never to recognize any government imposed upon any nation on this continent by force of arms, by European power. R-ferr-3. Mr. Voorhees, of Indiana, offered a resolution endorsing the President's annual message. Postponed till the 8th of January. Mr. Black offered a resolution directing that inquiries be made into the expediency of admitting a delegate to Congress from the District of Columbia. The House Judiciary committee organized a bill providing for a United States court in Richmond, which court will have the trying of Jeff Davis for treason. The Secretary of the Interior has decided that the Freedmen's Bureau cannot hold government lands for the benefit of freedmen, though homestead and pre-empted lands are applicable to freedmen or any other class of persons. Chicago, Dec. 23.—It is stated that Gerritt Smith has commenced suit against the Chicago Tribune for alleged libel in saying that he feigned insanity to evade responsibility for his connection with John Brown's Harper's Ferry raid. The Tribune laughs at the folly of the great reformer. The Treasury Department during the week ending to-day redeemed certificates to the amount of one million, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and interest bearing notes to the amount of four millions. New Orleans, Dec. 23.—The first regiment of U. S. cavalry has been ordered to Colorado, and will be distributed throughout the State in small garrisons. Washington, Dec. 25.—Strong efforts are being made to have U. S. bonds issued to the Pacific Railroad Co. for the alleged completion of twenty-two miles west from Kansas. A protest is entered against their issuing. The cholera still rages in the interior of Asia, Turkey, Alpheia, Menariza and Ordlina, and the locusts are so abundant in Syria, that it is feared that pestilence will be followed by famine at Alpheia where every thing is already very high. New York, Dec. 23.—Hasty computations make the losses by fire for two weeks past foot up at least $3,000,000. New Orleans, Dec. 23.—Advices from the Yazoo report that the people are flying to the towns for protection and the negroes are arming themselves and claim that land must be given them between now and Christmas, or they will take it by force. The colored troops espouse the cause of the negroes, and much trouble is apprehended. New York, Dec. 24.—Charles W. Newman, living in Jersey City, alleges that he was seized on the street on Friday night and dragged into a Fenian Lodge room, charged with being a British spy and was put upon his trial and subjected to numerous indignities during the struggle which ensued, but he succeeded in making his escape. New York, Dec. 23.—It is announced that a number of adopted citizens have got up a petition, calling for the indictment of the Fenian President, Senate and Cabinet, charging them with issuing bonds of a fictitious republic, forming dangerous clubs and factions, and with other misdeeds.

PRACTICAL JOKING.

Joe and Commodore Rogers, brother black-smiths in Whitewater, Wisconsin, have a great reputation for being practical jokers. Last summer Joe bought an old fashioned dash churn, for the purpose of manufacturing their own butter, and as the Commodore was a widower, and lived with Joe, all such work naturally fell to him.— One day after supper, the first churning was got ready, and the Commodore was invited to churn. "Hold on," said he, "till I go down town and get some turboter!" He went, and while gone, Joe did the churning, and took the butter, and left the turboter-milk in the churn. The Commodore returned, looked at the churn, took off his coat and said, "well, old churn, it's you and I, and here's for ye!" and commenced his labor. After churning a couple of hours, he remarked that he "guessed it would be cheaper to buy butter than to make it." "I think so, too," said Joe, "if you are going to churn it out of buttermilk!" A few days after the churning process, Joe put one end of a small bar of iron into his forge fire, and gave his bellows three or four pumps, and stepped into the back shop. While he was gone, the Commodore heated the iron to a black heat, then changed ends with it, and stepped out of the front door to watch the progress. In came Joe, took up the iron, but dropped it instantly, holding up his burned hand and roaring with pain. "Put on some buttermilk, Joe; it's good for a burn!" said the Commodore, as he made a masterly retreat amid a shower of conquests composed of hammers, hard-coal, and old horse-shoes. Every body is in the habit of bragging on Job, and Job did have considerable patience, that's a fact; but did he ever keep a "deed-striek skule for 8 dollars a month & board-room?" Did he ever cradle lodged out on a hill on a hot day, and hev both or his gallus battine bust orph at wurst? Did he ever hev a jumpin' re-ekake, and hev ter tend ther luby while his wife was over at Perkinses attendin' tea (2 usual)? Did he ever get up in the mornin' orful 8'el and walk three miles before breakfast ter git a drink, and find out that the cusa keeps a temperance house? Did he ever undertake ter milk a k-i-k-in beffer with a "bushy" fall out in the lot in fit time? Did he ever sit down on a litter up kittins in the old rockin cheer, with summer pants on, thout sayin' "dammashun." Ef he kin do all these things and praise the Lord at the same time, then all I have ter say is, "bully for Job."—JOHN BILLINGS. WHAT'S READ.—Are you deficient in taste? Read the best English poets, such as Gray and Goldsmith, Pope and Thompson, Cowper and Coleridge, Scott and Wadsworth. Are you deficient in imagination? Read Milton and A. Keats and Burke. Are you deficient in power of reason? Read Chillingworth, Bacon and Locke. Are you deficient in judgment and good sense in the common affairs of life? Read Franklin. Are you deficient in sensibility? Read Goethe and Mackenzie. Are you deficient in vigor of style? Read Junius and Fox. Are you deficient in political knowledge? Read Montesquieu, the "Federalist," Webster and Calhoun. Are you deficient in patriotism? Read Demosthenes and the life of Wellington. Are you deficient in conscience? Read some of President Edwards' works. Are you deficient in piety? Read the Bible. HIGH-LEARNED.—An engineer tells the following: "We had been out all day, running a line through a dense piece of woodland. An old woman came upon us for some time in silence. We all saw that she wanted to enter into conversation; but none, except myself, wished to gratify her. I soon commenced a dialogue on various subjects, and as a matter of course, put my best foot forward. Struck with my language, she exclaimed, in a tone quite flattering to my vanity, 'La, how learned you is! But, mind she, giving the compliment a death blow, 'if I was as high-learned as you I'd quit engineerin' and go to keepin' a little grocery'."

While twirling in the graceful dance, And trying every charm to enhance, She paused! and blushed I while o'er Her cheeks ran tears I how pride was crushed! The string she trusted to had burst— Her hoops lay on the floor! She gathered them up, and ran as speedily as possible into the dressing room, and from there home, and for several weeks was seen no more!

Deliberate with caution, but act with decision; and yield with graciousness, or oppose with firmness.

EIGHTH OF JANUARY.

Monday last was the fifty-first anniversary of that celebrated, decisive and long-to-be-remembered battle, which forever silenced the British lion, and laid him prostrate at the feet of the American eagle. Fifty-one years ago, Gen. Jackson, with six thousand brave men, stood behind his cotton-bales, in the swamps of Louisiana, and repelled successfully the repeated assaults of more than twelve thousand of England's bravest men.

The patriotic hearts of millions thrill with exultation and pride when recalling the noble achievements of that eventful day, and a grateful homage will be paid to the memory of that veteran chieftain—whose name will ever blaze with undimmed luster in characters of living light upon our Temple of Liberty—as long as there remains a vestige of American nationality. The people of every section of the Union, side by side, in unison and concord, fought and bled for American liberty, upon that consecrated soil. Though since that day, sectional strife and internecine discords have dimmed the brightness of our national escutcheon, yet God grant that the last remnant of that embittered feeling may be speedily dispelled, and, once again, as in the days of old, those who, but so recently, met in mortal combat, may join hands and hearts, fill up the chasm of separation and disunion with the buried bitterness of the past, and march on, shoulder to shoulder, in the consummation of one of the noblest works, and in the perpetuation of the best government upon which a beneficent God ever smiled.

FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA.—We noticed among the passengers by the Anderson on Tuesday last, several prominent business men of British Columbia, among whom were G. B. Wright, the well-known Road Contractor of that country, Capt. Jno. Flemming, of the steamer Lilloet and the former gentlemanly captain of the Anderson, and Uriah Nelson, of the firm of Nelson & Parsons, Traders in British Columbia.

SUICIDE.—Bally Bush, the son of a farmer residing near Olympia, was found dead near his father's house, a few days since, evidently having blown out his brains with a rifle found by his side. He had one boot and stocking off, and it is supposed that he had placed the rifle under his chin, and pulled the trigger with one of his toes. He was thought to have been laboring under an attack of the brain fever.

STRATMAN has again remembered us with a bundle of the latest periodicals and newspapers of the Atlantic States and California, for which he will please accept our thanks. If you want the best, latest and cheapest reading, send to John Stratman, San Francisco.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. David Drury, a farmer living a few miles south of Olympia, while out hunting in company with a friend, one day last week, was taken for a deer, by the latter, and shot, the ball entering the hip and inflicting an ugly, though not a mortal wound.

OBLIGATIONS.—We are indebted to Mr. S. Wetmore, one of our King county farmers, for a huge box of fine apples of the most choice varieties. The quality of the fruit shows that this gentleman has paid great attention to the production of this choice luxury.

WHITE & BAUER, News Agents in San Francisco, have placed us under obligations for a large package of late California papers, New York Pictures, etc. These gentlemen offer great inducements to subscribers to California and Atlantic journals.

BALL AT OLYMPIA.—The ball given in Olympia, on Monday evening last, to raise funds to purchase hose for a fire-engine, was decidedly a grand affair. Sixty-five couples were present, and, judging from the quantity of hose displayed, it was a success.

SOLD OUT.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Rev. Daniel Bagley has sold his interest in the business heretofore conducted under the name of Bagley & Settle, to Dr. Josiah Settle, who will continue the business at the old stand.

THE WEATHER.—For the past few days the weather has been delightful; for, though the nights have been cool and somewhat unpleasant, yet we have been favored by day with pleasant and invigorating sunshine.

READ the advertisement, in another column, of Messrs. Eagan & Loring. These gentlemen keep oysters, liquors of every variety, cigars, etc., and are always in readiness to accommodate their patrons.

The steamer J. B. Libby, with a number of passengers, arrived from Olympia, on Tuesday evening last, at six o'clock, and immediately started on her regular trip to Bellingham Bay.

Steamer Eliza Anderson, from Victoria, arrived at this place at four o'clock this morning.

A SUBMARINE NOVELTY.

A submarine explorer, designed to be employed in the Pacific Coast Pearl Fisheries, was recently completed at Williamsburg, N. Y., and will soon be ready for a trial trip. It is of nondescript shape, constructed partly of wrought, and partly of cast iron, and contains three chambers. It was completed under the supervision of the well known submarine engineer, Julius H. Kroehl, at an expense of $40,000, for the Pacific Pearl Company, and is intended to be brought to the Pacific coast, to be used in gathering pearls and pearl shells. Mr. Kroehl claims that this explorer will be able to traverse the bed of the ocean without difficulty, and that the men working in it (there are accommodations for six) will be as free to labor there as in the streets of a city. Several eminent engineers have examined this novelty, and expressed their confidence in its success. Among the number who have examined the explorer, is the Chief Engineer of the United States Navy.

A CENSUS REPORT.—The Mountaineer is responsible for the following:

On board the steamer from Umatilla down, on last Saturday, there were seven young mothers with thirty-nine small children. The oldest child was not above ten years. In the line of children, this country beats the world; and in point of healthfulness, these juvenile creatures were rather the finest assortment that has yet been offered to public inspection.

Señor Sarmiento, representative of the Argentine Republic, was recently introduced to President Johnson by the Secretary of State, and presented his credentials as Minister Plenipotentiary. As is customary on such occasions, addresses were made by both the President, and the Minister; but they were confined principally to congratulations and expressions of hope that the relations of the two countries might become more intimate.

AN EXTREME CASE.—The Humboldt Register says the papers have an item about the capture of a wild man, in Pennsylvania. He had no baggage, no clothing. Could remember nothing, knew nothing, except the one word "draft," and his person was covered with a growth of about three inches of hair. This is the most remarkable case upon record of a man being harassed by the draft.

THERE is said to be a minister of the gospel, who occasionally preaches somewhere on the shores of Puget Sound, and discourses, generally, upon the vice of gaming and drinking, and while doing so, frequently says,—"but I must pass, to notice, etc.," which remark, no one seems to comprehend, unless he wants some fellow to "show his hand." He very seldom "raises" anybody.

THE Pacific Mail Steamship Company are having built at Green Point, N. Y., the largest wooden steamer ever built. It is stated that she will be of five thousand tons burden, three hundred and sixty feet long, fifty feet in breadth and thirty-five feet in depth of hold. She will be constructed of the best material, and will cost one million dollars.

A Portsmouth paper says that orders have been received to prepare the immense iron-clad Passaconaway, now lying on the stocks at the Portsmouth Navy-yard, for sea as soon as possible; also that the steamers Minnesota, Maratana and Galena are to be fitted out for sea immediately.

THE Secretary of the Navy has been very materially lessening the naval forces of the United States. Beside the discharge of a large number of acting ensigns and gunners, forty-three Acting-Assistant Engineers were honorably mustered out of the service during the month of October.

STANTON AND BEECHER.—On the occasion of the late visit of Henry Ward Beecher to Washington, Secretary Stanton presented him with a Brevet Lieutenant-Colonelcy, for his son, who is serving as First Lieutenant in the 4th regiment of Regular Artillery.

ACCORDING to Gerard Massey, nearly all of Shakespeare's sonnets were written for the Earl of Southampton, the rest for William Herbert, and the story of Shakespeare keeping a mistress of whom he was robbed by his friend, vanishes into thin air.

THE author of an ardent total abstinence novel experienced the following misprint. He had written "Drunkenness is folly," but the types rendered it "Drukenness is jolly."

AN Eastern paper defines the word "mercer" to mean, one who deals in silks and dress-goods, and notes the peculiar appropriateness of A. Mercer going into the petition business.

IT was said in olden time, that the body was more than raiment; but now, the raiment is of a great deal the most value, and full five times as much in circumference.

EARTHQUAKE.—A slight shock of an earthquake was felt in San Francisco, on the 7th of December.

HON. T. J. WITHERS, one of the judges of the Supreme Court of South Carolina, died a few days ago.

THE sieve through which a man "strained every nerve," is now for sale at first cost.

THANKS.—We are indebted to Captain Finch, of the steamer Eliza Anderson, for favors.

Miscellaneous Items.

Chief Justice S. P. Chase, it is stated, will soon marry a Miss Wiggins, of Cincinnati. Ten years ago, says an exchange, that lady was very high up in years, and as homely as a hedge fence. Her father was one of the millionaires of the Queen City. This decade of years has, doubtless, doubled her dowry since; though it must have deepened the furrows of age across her brow.

The leading physicians in France have come to the conclusion that one of the preventives of cholera is rum mixed with tea, and in consequence of this an immense consumption of rum has taken place in France within the last fortnight. One house alone in Paris sold no less than 200 puncheons of rum in one week.

A company was organized at San Francisco a few days ago to build the "Southern Pacific Railroad," running from the Bay of San Francisco to the town of San Diego, thence eastward to the State line, there to connect with a contemplated road to the Mississippi River. Capital, $30,000,000.

Owing to the unprecedented and extortionate demands of hotel-keepers and house-owners in Washington, quite a number of Congressmen have engaged apartments for the next session in Baltimore, where the price of living and room rent are not one-eighth part of Washington rates.

There is annually imported into the United States over two million dollars worth of human hair. Hair which brought $4 a pound, five years ago, is now rated at $28 a pound, and some of the more beautiful grades and colors are valued as high as $150 a pound.

A large and influential meeting was held in Boston on the 12th, in the Merchants' exchange in favor of the immediate construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Mayor Lincoln presided. Powerful speeches were made by ex-Gov. Fuller of Utah.

The new quartz mill at Quartzville is supposed to be now in operation, though the cold weather and deep snows have prevented all communication of late. The supposition is based upon information received before the cold weather stopped mountain travel.

The Louisiana planters have adopted a plan to get the freedmen to pick their cotton, and it is meeting with success. When the day's work is done the cotton picked by each freedman is measured, and he is paid according to the amount of cotton he has picked.

James McHenry, besides purchasing Bierstadt's "Rocky Mountains" for twenty-five thousand dollars, will also take with him to England other specimens of American art. Several of the English people have bought pictures of our painters.

Mrs. Gen. Lander (Miss Davenport), commenced an engagement at the Arch street theatre, Philadelphia, on the 9th ultimo. Mr. Ritchie, the newly elected Mayor of Richmond is the husband of Anna C. Mowat.

Gen. Briscoe, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for embezzling Government bonds at Lynchburg, has been released by order of the Secretary of War, on the ground of his long and gallant service in the war.

A National Convention of Soldiers and Sailors will be held in Washington on the 22d inst. Each Congressional District, and every organization composed entirely of soldiers and sailors, are requested to send delegates.

Proceedings in Congress are unimportant. Resolutions relating to Mexican affairs have been introduced in the House asserting the Monroe doctrine, but no definite action has been taken.

By order of the Secretary of War, the name of Fort Richmond in New York Harbor, has been changed to Fort Wadsworth in honor of Gen. Wadsworth, killed in the battle of the Wilderness.

A recent arrival from the Dalles reports that the citizens of that town, in consequence of the "freezes up," were destitute of gas, oil, and candles, and were literally "sitting in darkness."

The Russian Government, it is said, has renewed its former contract with Winans of Baltimore for keeping up the rolling stock on the St. Petersburg and Moscow Railroad.

"The British Empire, sir," exclaimed an orator, "is one on which the sun never sets." "And one," replied an auditor, "in which the tax-garret never goes to bed."

A letter from Fortress Monroe says the larger portion of the rebel ram Merrimack was successfully raised on the 6th, and towed to the Portsmouth navy-yard.

The lower branch of the Mississippi Legislature has passed a bill providing for the support of wounded and disabled soldiers.

The Quartermaster's Department has thus far realized between six, and eight millions of dollars from the sale of now useless army appurtenances.

The census of Massachusetts shows a population of 1,267,829 this year, an increase of 36,265 since 1860. The present number of voters is 246,937.

The Jacksonville Reporter of recent date complains of considerable sickness in that vicinity, in the way of typhoid fever.

Samuel Ames, for ten years Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island, resigned his office on the 14th, because of ill health.

Persia has sent a special agent to Europe to study the construction of the vessels of England and France.

HON. CHARLES F. ADAMS.

This country has fresh reason to be proud of its Minister in England—the Hon. Charles F. Adams. His part in the remarkable correspondence which has recently taken place between him and Earl Russell, places him side by side with his father and grandfather, as a defender of his country in the English court.

Charles Francis Adams is the third member of his family who has represented this country in England. His grandfather, John Adams, was the first American Minister to the Court of St. James. It was to him that King George the Third delivered the famous apostrophe:—"I am, sir, of all men in England, as you may imagine, the sorriest to receive you here."—This was in 1785. Thirty years later, the son of John Adams, John Quincy Adams, was sent to England as our Minister, remaining at court two years. He took with him, his son, the present Charles F. Adams, who was eight years of age at the time they arrived in London, and sent him to an English school. Report says that he took his first lessons in the art of self-defence from some English fellow-pupils, whose sarcastic flings at his country were more than the young Yankee could tolerate.

Mr. Adams has lived a quiet, unobtrusive life. In 1818, he was a delegate to the famous Baffle Convention, and was chosen President of that body—a post the duties of which he discharged with credit. He subsequently published the Life and Writings of his grandfather, John Adams—a work of great merit, which occupies a place in our standard political literature. In 1829 he was elected to Congress. He was not a prominent member of the House; but it is a curious fact, when considered in connection with his subsequent efforts in support of the war, that from him came the first proposition for a compromise, when the country was first threatened with civil war. He represented Massachusetts in the famous perils committee, and probably his was the most finished speech delivered in Congress at that remarkable crisis in our national affairs.

Mr. Adams is now fifty-eight years of age, and has, it is said, a splendid fortune, part of which he derived from his wife. His position, for the past five years, has been one which demanded not only unusual sagacity, but also an extraordinary equanimity of temper. His great reward is, that his expressions of confidence, as to the success of his Government in the war for its self-preservation, have been so triumphantly justified.

A writer in the N. Y. Post is severe upon some fashionable freaks in pronunciation, and says pungently: "A common reply in this country, to the question, 'Why do you say itter and nither?' is, that the words are so pronounced by the best educated people in England; a short and proper rejoinder to which reply is that such a statement is not true; for certainly it is not. That is to say, a majority of the best English usage is not on that side of the question."

THE waters of the river Seine, in consequence of the continued dry weather, have fallen to the lowest possible point. In Paris, hundreds are engaged in exploring the bed of the river, where exposed, with a view of finding trinkets, kitchen utensils, metal or other objects.

ANOTHER earthquake has taken place at Trecastrico, in Sicily. The inhabitants of the village made their escape while it was coming on, so no lives were lost. A fresh eruption has also been observed on Mount Etna, at the same time of the year, and in the same place as that of 1852.

A man aged ninety-eight years died recently in Maryland, who had never heard of the rebellion. He was so deaf that he had to be spoken to through a trumpet, and his friends never thought it worth while to tell him the news of the day, fearing he would get excited over it and worry them with questions.

In St. Petersburg, Russia, crowds of persons rush to one of the theatres to see an English sailor, who professes to have been tattooed while in captivity among the inhabitants of one of the Pacific Islands. He appears in what is termed the "costume of a cannibal."

AN earthen vase has been found at Ravenna, containing nearly three hundred gold pieces, bearing the effigies of Roman Emperors of the first century after the Christian era. Their approximate value is set down at twenty francs each.

DOGS money is in circulation in the City of Saints. The latest specimen is a gold dollar. The practice is to introduce them at twilight. On one side they have the eagle, but accompanied by words not found on the genuine article.

PEROLEX is being discovered all over Western Canada. Seventeen barrels have been taken out of a bore at Manitoulin Island, in Lake Superior.

LETTERS from Gibraltar state that the cholera there had nearly died out, after having slain, in three months, one out of every thirty-five inhabitants.

NEARLY every one of the Canadian Fenian excitement items, published as news in the N. Y. Herald, have been denounced as gross falsehoods.

The steamship Boston, from Liverpool, was overhauled at sea by a British cruiser, on the 17th of December, and searched for concealed Fenians.

DISCOVERIES OF HUMAN BONES.

The discovery of fossil remains of human beings in a cave in the Ryhope colliery, in England, has already been announced, but the London Times gives the following additional particulars:

"A great additional quantity of human and other animal remains has been discovered in the Ryhope colliery cave, within the past few days, and as it has not yet been fully explored, or its termination reached, it is likely that still more will be found as the quarrymen progress with their work. Among the bones dug up recently were two human skulls, male and female, the lower jaw-bone of a child five or six years of age, and a number of other bones, almost enough to construct another skeleton. There were also discovered more bones of badgers, foxes, cats, rabbits, etc. Including what has been carried off by the workmen and visitors, there must have been several bushels dug up. Several bits of charred wood have been found, and also a chip of wood, clean cut, with a very sharp ax, indicating the date of the human remains within a few centuries. In a little recess near the roof of the cave, were discovered a number of small bones of different kinds, evidently placed there by hand—just such a depository as a girl, playing at house-keeping, might be supposed to make. Some of the ox-bones appear to have been broken with a hammer, and one of them bears the mark of having been sawn through. The most probable conjecture now is, that these relics are those of a family of thieves or robbers, or of refugees from invasion or persecution, and that they had met their death suddenly and unexpectedly,—perhaps by suffocation, like the Macdonalds of the Isle of Eigg, at the hands of the chief of Macleod, or the Arabs in the cave of Dahra, at those of Gen. Lamoriciere. There would have been plenty of brushwood near for such a purpose."

LUXURIOUS TRAVELING.—A Belgian paper contains an enticing description of the railway carriages now running on the Moscow and St. Petersburg line. It appears that, for the trifling addition of two roubles to the usual fare, travelers are received into brilliantly lighted salons, around which luxurious sofas and arm-chairs invite the weary to repose, while perusing the latest periodicals and the newest novels, which are scattered on the tables of the salon ambulant. When the hour for retiring arrives, the salet-de-chambre conducts the gentleman passengers to the tabagie, previous to their being shown their sleeping apartments, while the jeunes de chambre point out to the lady travelers their bed-rooms and boudoirs, fitted up, as the advertisement says, with every modern luxury, including baths, etc. The tabagie on this favored road must realize the smoker's idea of Paradise, so perfect are its contrivances for ventilation, and the thorough enjoyment of a cigar, pipe or hookah.

SOME recent experiments in what is termed animal grafting, have been described by Dr. Berl, in a paper forwarded to the French Academy of Science. He says, if a rat's tail be cut off, skinned, and then inserted under the skin of the same animal, it will continue to live and grow as before. If a fracture is effected, the fractured parts will join again exactly as they would if the tail were in its natural place; in short, both physiologically and pathologically, the grafted part follows the general laws of nature.

THE Secretary of State has been officially informed of the death of one of the foremost diplomatists of Greece.—Alexander Maerodato, who died on the 18th of August, at Aegina.—This gentleman had distinguished himself as the organizing and systemizing element in Greece, previous to, and after the revolutions of independence, and has served as President of every National Assembly but the last.

In Chicago, a petition, signed by a large number of the respectable citizens, setting forth the danger incurred in allowing females in that city to carry fire-arms, has been presented to the Police Commissioners, with the request that they may take action thereon, and have all females disarmed.

ACCORDING to a report drawn up by a special committee, the celebrated silver mines of Kongsberg, in Norway, are so far exhausted that the quantity of ore extracted will soon not suffice to cover the expenses of working.

RECRUITING for the Papal army is actively going on in Switzerland, and as yet the Federal Government has offered no opposition to the enlistments. The Papal army now consists of 7,508 men, 2,244 of whom are gens d'armes.

THE Pope's allocution against the Free Masons has not been without its effect. It is said that within a day after it was published, the two secret lodges in Rome received twenty-eight new members.

LAST year, Mr. Daniel C. Savory, of New Hampshire, raised a potato of the Orono variety which weighed three pounds. This year, he planted that potato, and obtained from it, sixty-three pounds of potatoes.

HOLLOWAYS PILLS.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

THE EFFECT OF THE OINTMENT ON THE SYSTEM.

To the very core and centre of all diseases which affect the human body, this remarkable preparation penetrates. It discharges under the friction of the brush all the impurities which are accumulated in the system, and with it pain. Simple eruptions, open sores, hard tumours, venereal developments of all kinds, abscesses, cankers, old sores, and in fact, every species of inflammation or suppuration, whether in the skin, the flesh, the glands, or among the muscles, can be arrested in its destructive course and permanently cured without danger, by rubbing in this inestimable Ointment.

BAD LEGS, BAD BREASTS, SORES AND ULCERS.

In many Hospitals in Europe this celebrated remedy is now used for the cure of old wounds, sores and ulcers: in Spain and Portugal, and in many parts of Italy, the first Physicians regularly prescribe its use.
It is a sovereign remedy for bad breasts and bad legs: and likewise for all kinds of cancer. It is to be found in the chest of nearly every sailor, soldier and emigrant.

PILES, FISTULAS, STRUCTURES.

The above class of complaints is surely removed by nightly fomenting the parts with warm water, and then by most effectually rubbing in this Ointment.
Persons suffering from these direful complaints should lose not a moment in arresting their progress.
It should be understood that it is not sufficient to merely smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be rubbed in for some considerable time, two or three times a day, that it may be taken into the system, whence it will remove any hidden sore or wound as effectually as though it were palpable to the eye. Bread and water poultices, after the rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is the only proper treatment for females in cases of cancer in the stomach, or for those who suffer from a general leaving down.

IMPURITIES OF YOUTH:—SORES AND ULCERS.

Rheumatism, as also swellings, can with certainty be radically cured if the Ointment be used freely, and the Pills be taken night and morning as recommended in the printed instructions. When treated in any other way these complaints only dry up in one place to break out in another: whereas this Ointment will remove the humour from the system, and leave the patient a vigorous and healthy being. This will require time, aided by the use of the Pills, to insure a lasting cure.

DIPHTHERIA, BRONCHITIS, SORE THROATS, COUGHS AND COLDS.

Any of the above class of diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment three times a day upon the skin covering the throat, chest and neck of the patient. The ointment will soon penetrate the pores and give immediate relief. To allay the fever and prevent inflammation, eight or ten Pills should be taken night and morning. The Ointment will produce perspiration, which is so essential for removing fevers, sore throats, and those oppressions of the chest which arise from Asthma, Bronchitis, and other causes.

BOTH THE OINTMENT AND PILLS SHOULD BE USED IN THE FOLLOWING CASES:—

Bad Legs, Corns, (Soft,) Rheumatism, Bad Breasts, Cancers, Sores, Scalds,
Burns, Contracted and Sore Throats, Riffls, Stiff Joints, Sore Nipples,
Bite of Mosquito, Elephantiasis, Skin Diseases,

In connection with their store Messrs. Sing-clair & Clendenin will keep the fast sailing schooner

"NOR. WESTER"

constantly plying between Snohomish Victoria, and other ports on the Sound, carrying their own freight, and that of all who favor them with their patronage. This arrangement will enable them to sell their goods

Cheaper for Cash than any house on Puget Sound.
