BEAUTIFUL LINES.

The following lines were written by Tyrone Power, the famous Irish comedian, who perished on the steamer President. They were inscribed on the wall of the "Old Blandford Church," near Petersburg, Virginia:

Thou art crumbling to the dust, old pile! Thou art hastening to thine all; And around thee, in thy loneliness, Clings the ivy to the wall; The worshippers are scattered now, Who knelt before thy shrine; And silence reigns where anthems rose, In days of "Auld Lang Syne."

And sadly sighs the wandering wind, Where oft in years gone by, Prayers rose from many hearts to Him, The Highest of the High; The tramp of many a busy foot That sought thy aisles is o'er, And many a weary heart around, Is still for evermore.

How doth ambition's hope take wings! How droops the spirit now! We hear the distant city's din; The dead are mute below; The sun that shone upon their paths Now gilds their lonely graves, The zephyrs which once fanned their brows The grass above them waves.

Oh! could we call the many back, Who've gathered here in vain— Who've careless roved, where we do now, Whom we shall never meet again. How would our very hearts be stirred To meet the earnest gaze, Of the lovely and the beautiful— The lights of others days!

SOMEBODY'S DARLING.

Into a ward of the whitewashed halls, Where the dead and dying lay, Wounded by bayonets, shells, and balls, Somebody's darling was borne one day— Somebody's darling so young and so brave, Wearing yet on his pale, sweet face, Soon to be hid by the dust of the grave, The lingering smile of his boyhood's face.

Matted and damp are the curls of gold, Kissing the snow of that fair young brow; Pale are the lips of a delicate mould— Somebody's darling is dying now, Back from his beautiful blue-veined brow, Brush all the wandering waves of gold; Cross his hands on his bosom now, Somebody's darling is still and cold.

Kiss him once for somebody's sake, Murmur a prayer soft and low; One bright curl from its fair mates take, They were somebody's pride, you know; Somebody's hand hath rested there, Was it a mother's soft and white, And have the lips of a sister fair Been baptized in their waves of light?

God knows best! he was somebody's love;— Somebody's heart enshrined him there; Somebody wafted his name above, Night and morn, on the wings of prayer. Somebody wept when he marched away, Looking so handsome, brave and grand; Somebody's kiss on his forehead lay, Somebody clung to his parting hand.

Somebody's waiting and watching for him— Yearning to hold him again to her heart; And there he lies with his blue eyes dim, And the smiling childlike lips apart. Tenderly bury the fair young dead, Pausing to drop in his grave a tear; Carve on the wooden slab at its head, "Somebody's darling slumbers here."

AN AFFECTING STORY SPOILED.—Sergt. Humiston, who it was supposed expired on the field of Gettysburg—who was the hero of the celebrated Gettysburg Photographs, of a very fine poem by J. G. Clarke, and of innumerable affecting newspaper articles, returned to his home and family, at Portville, Cattaraugus County, recently, having been confined, as the New Orleans Times says, as a prisoner in one of the Southern prisons, and but lately released.

The Gettysburg incident, as related, it will be remembered, was substantially as follows:

A lady, passing over the Gettysburg battle-field, after the battle, discovered the lifeless form of a soldier, who had apparently expired with his last gaze riveted upon the miniature likenesses, (still firmly held in his stiffened hand,) of two little children, the loved ones at home. The likenesses were secured, but with no clue to the soldier or the subjects of the pictures. The pictures were, we believe, copied by the Illustrated Papers, and finally identified as those of the children of Sergeant Humiston, of Portville. We are informed that the family of the resurrected Sgt. have been considerably benefitted pecuniarily by the sale of Photographs, &c., through the great publicity given to the affecting incident. Is not the Sergeant unwise to relinquish so enviable a fame and spoil such a touching story by returning to this life?

The Russian Government is to grant further time as it may judge convenient. In order to further the undertaking, Government allows 40 per cent., on the proceeds on dispatches transmitted by it over the line to and from America, and in order to contribute as much as possible to the success of the present undertaking, the Minister of Public Duties will adopt the measures necessary for securing the telegraph from being maliciously injured by local populations; but at the same time the Government refuses to take upon itself any responsibility for such injuries of any nature whatever. #### California News.

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—This city was visited by a severe earthquake yesterday, the effects of which are visible in almost every street outside or inside the city. Although no buildings are entirely demolished it is thought the aggregate cost of repairs will reach many thousand dollars. The most serious damage done to any structure is to Hooper's building, corner of Third and Mission streets. This building is of brick, four stories high, and about half of the front from the foundation to the roof, on Third street, has fallen. The building was slightly constructed.

The City Hall has received injuries that may necessitate the rebuilding of the front portion, and possibly the entire main building. The front wall has apparently been shaken free from the building, the connections being very slight, and not extending above the second story. The brick block on the South-east corner of Battery and Washington streets is considered unsafe by many who have examined it. The front part of the block is nearly separated from the building and it would require but a slight shock to level it with the ground.—The old Merchant's Exchange structure on the North-East corner of Battery and Washoe streets is completely ruined and unfit for use. A large gap four inches wide is opened separating the wall from the main building and the immense structure cracked from Battery through to the Eastern side. It would require no very severe shock in the condition it now stands to bring the whole pile to the ground! A portion of the rear wall of Abel Guy's building on Washington street was thrown down and the wall split from the foundation to the roof. The house of the California Engine Company, is declared by the Chief Engineer unfit for occupancy. The Engine has been removed. The chimney in the rear of the Lick House was shaken down, the bricks falling through the roof into the dining room and doing considerable injury. Stoddard's warehouse on Beale street is said to have been thrown out of place several inches as though it had been lifted up and set down again. The whole South side of the building has settled considerably. The store of Hynman, Pike & Co., in California street, is broken in two in the centre making an opening through which the interior of the adjoining store of Rey and Johnson can be seen.

Les Mseach's building, on Sacramento street, is a complete wreck; the floor being raised in some places and lowered in others. The walls are cracked in every direction. The cornices and ornamental work about the eaves of the building have fallen all over town. The destruction to window glass was immense, on Third street, from Market to Howard. The damage from this cause is particularly severe on Washington street; glass also appears to have been shivered from Dupont down to Montgomery.

The most serious casualties were the following: A Chinaman and a Chinawoman were quite severely bruised by the falling of the walls on South alley and Jackson street, but it is thought their injuries will not prove fatal. Alexander Badger, secretary of the Olympic Club, was seriously injured by falling through a sky-light in the Metropolitan Market, while endeavoring to escape from the club room adjoining. The servants at the Lick House were injured by the debris from the falling chimney. S. F. Gleeley, a well-known writer for the California press, jumped from a third story window, falling upon a platform was considerably injured. The shock was felt with great force at San Jose and Santa Cruz, but not noticed at Visalia or Los Angeles.

Sacramento, Oct. 13.—The Union's postscript of this morning contains the following: We stop our press this morning to record the horrible catastrophe of the explosion of the boiler of the steamer Yosemite, which occurred at Rio Vista, at 6 o'clock last evening, just as the steamer was leaving her wharf on her down trip to San Francisco. Fifteen white passengers were killed and thirty-eight were wounded by scalds and bruises. Twenty-five chinamen are believed to have been lost. None of the ladies on board were injured. The steamer Cryopolis, which arrived at 3 o'clock brought up all of the dead and wounded, except one body which could not be recovered. The following account is furnished by one of the Yosemite's passengers:

OFFICE STEAMER CRYOPOLIS, Friday, Oct. 13, 2 o'clock A. M.

To Eds. UNION: I undertake a painful duty in attempting to give you a description of the terrible disaster on the steamer Yosemite, which occurred at the Rio Vista landing, last evening, and from which I providentially escaped. A few minutes past 6 o'clock P. M., as the steamer was leaving the landing the boiler exploded throwing all the upper cabin, pilot house, everything forward of the smoke stack into a total wreck, causing a scene of death and disaster most horrible to look upon, and which I will not attempt to describe.

The injury sustained by the Yosemite is not as yet fully ascertained. The forward cabin was entirely demolished, but the hull is supposed to be uninjured. At the moment of the explosion the safety-valves were blowing off steam under a pressure of 25 pounds, although her certificate allows her 35 pounds. The steamer had been detained from 5 to 7 minutes at the landing on account of the quarterly settlement with Postmaster, and had just commenced to back from the wharf. The only plausible conjecture which has been given as a cause for the explosion was that most of the passengers were on the shore side which threw the water too much to one side of the boiler. The screams of the victims in the cabin of the Cryopolis, as I write, are heart rending in the extreme. In passing from one to another for the purpose of ascertaining names, etc., the sensation is sickening, and the saddest duty I ever had to perform. All that was possible to be done, in the absence of any physician, was cheerfully rendered by the officers, attaches and passengers of the Cryopolis, the ladies giving all the assistance in their power. But we are nearing Sacramento, and I close.

(Signed,) WM. W. BARNES.

GEN. JACKSON'S MOTTO.—Think before you act, but when the time comes for action, stop thinking. This is the true doctrine.—Many men fail in life, and go down to the grave with hopes blasted and prospected happiness unrealized, because they did not act upon this motto. Nothing so prepares a man for action as thought, but nothing so unfits a man for action as a want of action. Better by far adopt some course and pursue it energetically, even though it may not be the best, than to keep continually thinking without acting. "Go ahead," ought to be printed in every young man's hat, and read until it becomes a part of his nature, until he can act upon his own judgement, and not be turned from his course by every wind of interested advice. In conclusion, we would say, "think before you act, but when the time for action comes stop thinking."

C. CLYMER, President. D. S. Maynard, Sec'y.

DISASTROUS.—Yester eve., with joyous spirits and in gorgeous trim arrayed, I sailed forth with charming Clara, for a dashy promenade. Ah, what strains of magic power swell the chord of youthful pride, as one threads the walks of fashion with a beauty by his side. Clara, with a grace bewitching, seemed to trip on fairy feet, and each passer turned to view us as we sailed grandly up the street. Thrilled my heart with adoration for my fond affection's queen, beating time to mystic rustlings of her extensive crinoline. Suddenly my charmer faltered, as if shocked, by some great ill, while the anguish of her features seemed my inmost soul to chill; lightly on my arm she languished, and I cried in anxious fear, "Speak once more, my darling Clara,—tell me what's the matter, dear." Methought her gentle form grew lesser, by the collapse of her gown, as she sighed in trembling accents, "Love, my crinoline is down."

Dr. Johnson used to say that a habit of looking at the best side of everything is far better than a thousand pounds a year. Bishop Hall quaintly remarks: "For every bad there might be a worse; and when a man breaks his leg, let him be thankful it was not his neck." When Fenner's library was on fire, he exclaimed, "God be praised that it is not the dwelling of some poor man!" This is the true spirit of submission; one of the most beautiful traits that can possess the human heart. Resolve to see this world on the sunny side, and you have almost half won the battle of life at the outset.

The women of Michigan have taken up the non-importation movement.

A Virginia paper speaks of the fatality which has overtaken those who were the political rebellious leaders of that State. At the beginning of secession, Virginia had one Cabinet Minister who was a secessionist, the Secretary of War, John B. Floyd. He is dead. She had two Foreign Ministers who were secessionists, R. K. Meade and John M. Daniel. Both are dead. Her two Senators, Hunter and Mason, were secessionists—one is a prisoner, the other is in exile. Her oldest and most persistent, and among her most influential citizens who supported secession, and the man who fired the first gun at Sumter, was Edmund Ruffin. He is dead. The recognized leaders of the secessionists in the State Convention were George W. Randolph and ex-President Tyler. Randolph is dying abroad; Tyler is dead. She had three newspapers conspicuously devoted to secession, the Richmond Examiner, the Richmond Enquirer and the Richmond Argus. The journals are all extinct, and the leading spirits of all—Wise, Daniel and Lamb—are dead. In brief, we are told, there are not ten men of conspicuous prominence in the secession movement of January, 1861, who remain to exercise—if they possess the desire—their influence to thwart the movement of the people toward loyalty and reunion.

This is a very tragical exhibit, assuredly. We can only hope that Virginia will hereafter have for political representatives wiser men than those narrow minded, hot-headed leaders who dragged her into rebellion and ruin.

STEAMBOAT DISASTER.—Another of those heartrending catastrophes which are of such common occurrence on the railroads and rivers of the United States, has just occurred on the Sacramento river, in California. The steamer Yosemite, while on her way from Sacramento to San Francisco, at the landing of Rio Vista, exploded a boiler, killing fifteen white passengers and wounding thirty-eight more, and twenty-five Chinamen are supposed to have been lost. The forward part of the boat was totally wrecked. We do not know that any blame can be attached to the officers of the boat in consequence of this terrible accident, but most of the kind that do occur are the result of culpable carelessness. This is the second wholesale slaughter of this nature that has transpired on the Sacramento river, while several of less note have occurred. The wounded were removed from the Yosemite to the Chrysopeia, where the sufferings of the unfortunate victims are represented to have been agonizing to witness.

A BRILLIANT GENERAL'S ADVICE.—General Joseph E. Johnston thus replied to some parties who had asked his views of the "situation": "You ask my views of the future course and future interests of us all. The case is so plain that very little can be said or written upon it. We of the South referred the question at issue between us and the United States to the arbitration of the sword. The decision has been made and it is against us. We must acquiesce in that decision, accept it as final, and recognize that Virginia is again one of the United States. Our duties and interests coincide. We shall consult the one and perform the other by doing all we can to promote the welfare of our neighbors; and to restore prosperity to the country, we should at once commence the duties of peaceful citizens by entering upon some useful pursuit, qualifying ourselves to vote, if possible, and at the polls our votes should be cast for conservative men—men who understand and will maintain the interest of Virginia as one of the United States. This is the course which I have recommended to all those with whom I have conversed on the subject, and that which I have adopted for myself as far as practicable.

We call attention to the advertisements of the following named Victoria firms, which appear in another column. Persons from the Sound, visiting Victoria, will find it to their advantage to give them a call: William Wilson, Government street, is selling clothing at the lowest rates—twenty dollar suits for seven dollars and seventy-five cents. A. McLean & Co., Scotch House, Fort street, have on hand a large stock of dry goods and clothing of the best quality, which they will sell as cheap as any house in the city. A. Gilmore, Merchant Tailor, Yates street, is disposing of his entire stock of goods at cost. He also advertises his fire-proof brick store for sale.

Follows, Roscoe & Co., Yates street, dealers in bar iron, tin plate, cutlery, etc., offer liberal inducements to traders of the Sound to purchase stocks at their establishment. FIGHT WITH INDIANS.—Captain Williams' command, First Oregon Infantry, had a fight with the Snake Indians near Indian Springs, which resulted in one soldier being shot through the head. Three Indians were killed and ten horses captured. It is thought that this is the same band of Indians Superintendent Huntington treated with a short time since at Klamath, and that Paulina was at the head of the party. The only effectual way to treat with them is with powder and lead, and that too in unstinted quantities.

CHANGE.—Messrs. Monet & Hedges have converted their Restaurant into an Oyster Saloon, and will take pleasure in waiting upon all who may favor them with a call. Read their advertisement in another column. GOVERNOR GIBBS has issued a proclamation convening the Oregon Legislature in extra session. It will meet at Salem on the 5th day of December.

Richard Hildreth, the historian, died in Florence on the 11th of July, in the 58th year of his age. He is well known as the author of numerous miscellaneous works, a history of the United States, and a great number of magazine and newspaper articles. For a time he was connected with the New York Tribune, and left that position to accept the Consulship at Trieste, in the Austrian dominions, which post he filled at the time of his death.

He is charged with having committed fifty-four murders, and the evidence upon many of the allegations is of the most conclusive character. Many witnesses of his bloody deeds—relatives of the victims—are in Court as witnesses.

New York, Oct. 11.—A special to the Herald says that complications have arisen in Louisiana; Provisional Governor Wells made some doubtful appointments, in Gen. Canby's opinion, and he therefore calls for the political antecedents of those appointed before allowing them to enter upon their duties as officers. Gen. Sheridan is understood to approve of the proceedings. The President is said to have sent to Secretary Stanton on hearing of the embargo, and inquired with some warmth "whether the interference of the military commander was by order of the War Department." Stanton, by the same authority, disclaimed all interference, and left the burden on Canby and Sheridan. The President is reported to support Governor Wells and to tolerate no interference in civil matters. A special to the Herald, from Washington reports that the State of Mississippi alone furnished 79,000 colored troops and 1,000 whites to command them.

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—The Democrat's Lawrence, Kansas, special says: A courier brings intelligence that the Indian Commissioners who were to meet on Bluff creek had arrived. New York, Oct. 13.—The Herald says a number of detectives from London arrived on the last steamer to this city with special instructions. It is understood they are to keep an eye on the Fenians, and inform the British Government from time to time of whatever facts may come to their knowledge in regard to them. One or more of these detectives, it is said, have left for Chicago.

San Francisco, 14.—The wreck of the Yosemite has been towed down to this city, and is now lying at the Potrero. The cause of the explosion is a mystery. The evidence before the coroner at Rio Vista, yesterday, was abundant and positive to the effect that there was no lack of water in the boiler. The gage cocks had been tried less than two minutes before the explosion, and showed four full cocks of water in the boiler, which would leave from 26 to 30 inches above the flues. The only reason for the explosion that the engineer is able to give, is that there was some concealed defect in the iron which could not be discovered by an examination of the boiler.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—The Spirit of the Times publishes a telegram to the effect that Flora Temple's celebrated time of 2:19 1/2 was beaten in New York on the 10th inst., by the Hambletonian horse Dexter. Dexter made on this occasion the mile in 2:18 1-5, beating Flora Temple's time 1 1-20 seconds. The race was trotted on a wager of $5,000 against $10,000, that Dexter would beat the best time on record.

M. Antoine Forest, late acting French Consul at this port, has been appointed Consul of Franco at Mazatlan.

According to the figuring of the clerk of the Yosemite, there were on board the steamer at the time of the explosion 108 cabin and 45 steerage passengers, making 153 in all. The officers and crew of the boat numbered 65.

Arrived yesterday, steamer Sierra Nevada, from Portland. Sailed, October 16, bark Vidette, Merritt, Puget Sound.

Another earthquake was felt in this city last Monday, at a quarter before 1 o'clock. A telegram from Santa Clara announces that it was also felt there, and was as heavy as the one on Sunday morning.

Collector James has ordered that all masters of vessels arriving at this port shall show to the Custom House boarding officer the original manifest of her cargo, and deliver a copy of the same.

HOLLOWAYS PILLS.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

THE EFFECT OF THE OINTMENT ON THE SYSTEM.

To the very core and centre of all diseases which affect the human body, this remarkable preparation penetrates. It disappears under the friction of the hand as salt disappears when rubbed upon meat. The unguent performs its healing errand rapidly, safely, and without pain. Simple eruptions, open sores, hard tumours, scrofulous developments of all kinds, abscesses, cancers, old wounds, and in fact, every species of inflammation or suppuration, whether in the skin, the flesh, the glands, or among the muscles, can be arrested in its destructive course and permanently cured without danger, by rubbing in this inestimable Ointment.

BAD LEGS, BAD BREASTS, SORES AND ULCERS.
 In many Hospitals in Europe this celebrated remedy is now used for the cure of old wounds, sores and ulcers; in Spain and Portugal, and in many parts of Italy, the first Physicians regularly prescribe its use. It is a sovereign remedy for bad-breasts and bad legs; and likewise for all skin diseases. It is to be found in the chest of nearly every sailor, soldier and emigrant.

PILES, FISTULAS, STRUCTURES.
 The above class of complaints is surely removed by nightly fomenting the parts with warm water, and by most effectively rubbing in this Ointment. Persons suffering from these direful complaints should lose not a moment in arresting their progress. It should be understood that it is not sufficient to merely smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be rubbed in for some considerable time, two or three times a day, that it may be taken into the system, whence it will remove any hidden sore or wound as effectually as though it were palpable to the eye. Bread and water poultices, after the rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is the only proper treatment for females in cases of cancer in the stomach, or for those who suffer from a general bearing down.

IMPRUDENCIES OF YOUTH—SORES AND ULCERS.
 Blotches, as also swellings, can with certainty be radically cured if the Ointment be used freely, and the Pills be taken night and morning as recommended in the printed instructions. When treated in any other way these complaints only dry up in one place to break out in another; whereas this Ointment will remove the humor from the system, and leave the patient a vigorous and healthy being. It will require time, aided by the use of the Pills, to insure a lasting cure.

DIPHTHERIA, BRONCHITIS, SORE THROATS, COUGHS AND COLDS.
 Any of the above class of diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment three times a day upon the skin covering the throat, chest and neck of the patient. The unguent will soon penetrate the pores and give immediate relief. To allay the fever and prevent inflammation, eight or ten Pills should be taken night and morning. The Ointment will produce perspiration, which is so essential for removing fevers, sore throats, and those oppressions of the chest which arise from Asthma, Bronchitis, and other causes.

BOTH THE OINTMENT AND PILLS SHOULD BE USED IN THE FOLLOWING CASES:—
 Bad Legs, Corns, (Soft,) Rheumatism, Scalds, Bad Breasts, Cancers, Contracted and Sore Throats, Burns, Bluff Joints, Sore Nipples, Blisters, Bite of Mosquit-Elephantiasis, Skin Diseases, Itch and Sand Fistulas, Scurvy, Sore Heads, Files, Gout, Tumours, Ucers, Cocco-bay, Glandular Swel., Wounds, Chicago-foot, Hinge, Ulcers, Chilblains, Lumbago, Yaws, Chapped Hands, Piles, Yaws.
