VOL. II. SPOKANE FALLS, SPOKANE COUNTY, W. T., SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1885. NO. 41

CROWDED IN FRONT! Crowded in Rear! Crowded on Sides! Crowded Up Stairs! Crowded Down Stairs! WITH ALL KINDS OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE! And Crowded to Build our Brick Store.

Consequently we must—
CROWD OUR GOODS OUT!

As we have concluded to build a BRICK this spring on the same premises which our business is now conducted, therefore we must dispose of all our goods on hand, as we don't propose to move our present stock into our new brick. We have carefully weighed this subject; and we are satisfied that we are doing the right thing. Do you purchase for cash? To any person that is prepared to pay cash for their goods we want to address a few words. Do you want to buy clothing, dry goods, glassware, boots and shoes, at less price than you will pay to any other merchant in the Territory, or do you prefer to pay the old prices that you have paid for years? Consider the fact that we want to realize, and offer you goods you need at less than they cost other merchants. This is a business proposition; we require the money and will give you in exchange 50 PER CENT. MORE than its value in goods. It is very easy for you to find out whether this statement is true or not. Hundreds of people are proving it every day, and are amazed at what they see. We have read the dividing line between hard times and low prices. Three months from now you need not expect to get the same prices, as it is in all to suppose that any house can keep on paying ten dollars for an article and selling it for nine. We mean exactly what we say: We build up our business by MARKING DOWN PRICES.

Saved.

A few days since Judge Peck's court was the somewhat curious scene of a suit brought by somebody against Constable Sid Leininger for damages to the amount of $150. The suit grew out of the complications arising from the serving of attachments upon the A. C. Edwards' property a few weeks ago. Never having been attached—which is not saying we never will be—we do not exactly understand the true inwardness of the complications that can be made to arise from the process of serving such legal documents. There is hardly a proceeding in common law that cannot be twisted by learned counsel into any shape to suit their own convenience, and the hitches that are possible in a civil or criminal proceeding are such as to make justice through legal means almost farcical. From the fact that Mr. Leininger was hauled up and tried before a dozen of his countrymen, not to count in the hangout, we are led to infer that the constable's life, like that of a policeman's, is not a happy one. It was about the first big job that ran into Sid's net after election, and the after results will have the effect of shaking his confidence in mankind. Griffiths & Graves conducted the prosecution, while Hoover & Allen handled law for the defense. The trial and argument extended well into the night, and in the end the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant.

Fish Law.

As few persons who indulge in sport with the rod and gun are fully conversant with the protection laws existing in this territory we publish below the section relating to the taking of mountain or brook trout. We will be well to bear this section in view as considerable trouble may be escaped thereby.

Sec. 7. Every person who shall, within the territory of Washington, during the months of November, December, January, February and March of any year, catch, kill, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, any mountain or brook trout, shall be liable to a fine of five dollars, or to be thrown or discharged in any manner, into said rivers, creeks or streams, within the territory of Washington. For each and every willful violation of this section, the party guilty of such violation, shall be liable to a fine of five dollars, to be recovered by a justice of the peace of the proper county.

Grant Placed on the Retired List.

Previous to the adjournment of the senate President Arthur sent in the following communication:

To the Hon. George F. Edmunds, president pro tem of the United States senate: The accompanying communication, although an executive message, may be read in open session. CHESTER A. ARTHUR, President pro tem of the senate.

The clerk read as follows: To the senate of the United States, I have the honor to inform you that the accompanying communication, although an executive message, may be read in open session. CHESTER A. ARTHUR, President pro tem of the senate.

The president pro tem of the senate then announced that the nomination would be considered in open session. "The question is, will the senate advise and consent to this appointment? All senators in favor will say 'aye.'" A storm of ayes. "All opposed, 'no.'" A dead silence. "The ayes have it unanimously." This announcement was received with applause.

Catching.

With the appearance of the first signs of spring and a future of heat with the sun's rays come the irrefragable anxiety on the part of the house holder to turn things upside down and give the premises the regular spring renovation. For a week home is a chaotic wilderness, and the male member of the family takes his rattles cold on the head of a barrel and is mighty lucky if he gets off without being pressed into the service, and sustaining all manner of fractures and contusions in his awkward strife with stoves and other heavy articles of furniture. Clearing up is a disease annual in its appearance, enervating if not fatal in its results, and as certain to come around as an assessor. It is the undogable link between winter and summer that the majority of men dread, and are mighty glad when it is over.

Schoolmaster Cleveland's School.

[From the Bedford (Mass.) Record.]
All who want a postoffice will please hold up their hands.

Under the proper head will be found the announcement of Alex. Shannon, Esq., as a candidate before the people for the office of city marshal. Mr. Shannon has resided in our city for a number of years, is a steady, clever, active young man, against whom nothing can be said, and who would make an excellent successor to our present excellent marshal. Mr. Shannon is warmly supported by many strong personal friends.

—Glover & Gilliam have just had a huge 25-foot sign painted, that reads "Chevelah, Embrey, Colville and Little Dalles Stage Office," which is to go on top of the lively stable. The work was done by Langshore & McLellan.

Press Notes.

Hopkins, of the Colfax Gazette, owned a telephonic now. Charley is one of the wide-awake scribblers who is always on the lookout for soft snaps outside of the printing office, and by judicious investments has made a good deal of money by so doing.

A late number of the Portland Standard contains articles ridiculing Gen. Grant and praising to the skies the rebel Col. Lamar. The Standard is out of its latitude. It should be located in South Carolina, where such sentiments are in unison with those of the people.

The Hopper Times man gets up a local page in a neat shape.

The Ellensburg Localizer is now using patent "Inmarks."

The Walla Walla Statesman trotted out all the chickens in its possession in inauguration day. Parker considered it a fitting occasion to crow.

The Seattle Chronicle is improving under the present management.

The Tribune was started as a morning paper at Salem a short time ago. It was a bold undertaking, seeing that Salem had one or two dailies at the time. The result is no more than could have been expected. From the beginning the Tribune was a losing venture and has kicked the bucket, after a brief and uneventful life. There is nothing like running a daily paper to prove to a man that the world is full of troubles, nor no business that will so rapidly evaporate as a bank account.

The Irish-American is a new paper that is to "shoot its arrows" at Portland on the 17th of this month. There is no town on the coast where infantile diseases are so fatal among promising journalistic ventures as Portland. If the new publication lives long enough to cut its eye teeth it will be in luck.

The Chevelah Sun is proving with every issue.

We are informed that if every newspaper man east of the Cascades had paid a visit to the new town of North Yakima. There must be some great attraction there for the boys.

We have seen a copy of the Seattle Bulletin. It is so near like the make-up of the Star that it must be an offspring of that office.

One of the most elegant and artistic specimens of the art preservative that has come to our observation for many years are the posters recently printed at the Cheney Tribune office for the firemen's ball to take place on the 17th. We little imagined that the art would so soon be brought to such a state of perfection.

Crude and new northwest, and we congratulate our contemporary upon taking such a marked lead in introducing unique and beautiful printing. The symmetrical arrangements of the type, the harmonious blending of colors, the ingenious perfectness of the press work unite together in making a hanger fit almost to ornament a parlor. But how in the world do you get the red type? If you ever let go of the mechanic who does that class of work, please let us know, so that we can secure his services; or, if you cannot afford to dispense with his valuable presence, loan him to us for an hour or two. We would like to gaze on the man whose massive intellect could conceive such fine art printing.

One of the most marked changes in newspaper make-up for a fortnight is that of the Tacoma Ledger. It is now published daily as an eight-page paper, neatly printed and pasted. It is now the largest daily paper in the northwest, although the size of the type is such that it does not publish the largest amount of reading matter. The Ledger is but two years of age, yet has received such strong support that the enlargement becomes necessary to supply the demand for advertising space. Tacoma, by long odds, is the most liberal community to newspapers in the territory. The people appreciate the labors of the press and reward the same. If the Ledger would prune down some of its long-winded and tedious editorials and devote more attention to its local columns, it would be much more interesting.

Comerced.

Travel northward is increasing rapidly. Warm weather is stirring up the latent energy of mankind, and those who have long waited for the first outbreak of spring in order to visit the mines at a season when something could be accomplished, are now heading for Chevelah and Embrey. It is still somewhat early for the expected travel from the east to set in, but already can be seen the coming of the front of the tide. The stages go out from here—crowded to their utmost capacity, and a few days of such a demand for transportation will require the establishment of a daily service. This morning several persons were left behind, Glover & Gilliam's stage being crowded full. We hear of a large number who will take their departure for the mines this week. If the present weather holds out this travel will greatly increase.

Parties contemplating commencing action in the April term of the district court should make their arrangements before the 15th of this month in order to insure the case coming up that term.

There is no class of literature so pernicious to the masses, and especially to the young, as the flashy story papers published in the large cities of the east and sent broadcast over the land. They are filled to repletion with blood and thunder stories, most villainously written, devoid of even the slightest taint of truth, and generally illustrated with miserably executed wood-cuts, depicting the hero and heroine in every imaginable, impossible and improbable danger, from which they are rescued at the expense of oceans of gore and a terrible strain upon syntax and prosody. A person with ordinary intelligence wonders how it is that a man or woman can waste time reading such rot; still it is evident that the papers are popular among a certain class for editions numbering hundreds of thousands are required to meet the demand. If there existed a single redeeming feature in these literary (?) publications, there might be some excuse for their existence, but their tendency, from a to Izzard, is bad, and there is nothing pure, elevating or refining in a single character portrayed in the noxious garbage that appears from week to week. A sample of this adulterated falsehood and unromantic nonsense is now running in one of the class of publications, purporting to be a story of the Cour d'Alene mines. It is a silly conglomeration of trash, displaying the densest kind of ignorance on the part of the author, if the production of such balderdash can be classed as authorship.

VIEWED through the intensely painful lenses of Spokane Falls.—Sentinel.

We presume that it is intended to intimate that the papers of Cheney are in the habit of using impartial lenses when they take a squint at anything pertaining to county affairs. We have always been surprised at the child-like simplicity, of the impartiality and freedom from selfish prejudices conspicuous in our neighbors. Cheney has always been a secondary consideration with the boys. Locality cuts no figure in the discussion. Justice is a demi-god before whose altar they are ever burning incense. Free from the passions and prejudices of this wicked world they shower down blessings upon neighbors, and sit in their sanctums glorified by a halo that encircles their beauteous brows, happy in the consciousness of having always waved the olive branch of peace, and had never written aught against another that they would not willingly have written against themselves.

"OUR people are weighed down with taxes."—Sentinel.

This is no fault of the present board. The same men who were elected when the county seat was voted at Cheney are responsible. They are the ones who shaped things so the present unsatisfactory condition of affairs exist. At that time was formed a court house ring that has ridden upon the shoulders of the people like the old man of the sea. They are to be held responsible for a system of bankrupting county business that holds up Spokane county to scorn. Carelessness, negligence, and apparently criminality has figured conspicuously in our county offices. Money has been recklessly squandered by the bright clerks who have fed sumptuously at the public crib, and who propose to rule the county even at the expense of bankrupting it. It comes with bad grace from a journal excusing malfeasance to cry out against innocent parties and try to saddle them with the blame that rightfully rests with others. We may be too severe, but if the ring is not to be held accountable for the wicked waste of public monies, who is? When the ring assumed control of the county, everything was in a flourishing condition and the retiring treasurer turned over to the new officer somewhere about $27,000 in cash and collateral. Now the county is thousands of dollars in debt. And this change has taken place in four years. It would require a brilliant mathematician to figure out just where Spokane county would be financially with four more years of the same kind of management. Tax-payers, ponder over this and then decide whether or no the commissioners are not justified in refusing to submit to the dictates of the Cheney ring.

SCRAPINGS.

—Geo. Brandt is at home, after several days spent at Walla Walla.

—The hotels are enjoying a better patronage than during the winter.

—And it's a noble cigar stand that Anselmy & Havermale now have.

—Several small dwellings are in process of construction in the suburbs.

—Carpenters are fitting up one of the store rooms in the Berg block for an occupation.

—Several of our citizens are putting up neat and expensive fences about their premises.

—A small house greeted the Sullivan company Saturday evening. The panorama feature was very good.

—Parties desiring to borrow money on good security can be accommodated by calling on Messrs. Griffiths & Graves, See card.

—Cheney will have a ball on the 17th for the benefit of its fire department. Spokane Falls will be well represented at the dance.

—The road to Chevelah is reported to be in a miserable condition in places. A horse and wagon almost out of sight before touching bottom.

—The old Palace saloon is to open up again under the impressive name of Washington Beer Hall. Wm. Philpot will preside over the bar.

—We publish the sections of the territorial law, in regard to the protection of fish, in another column. Anglers will save some annoyances by heeding.

—Charley Wilson has just returned from a trip to Chevelah. He reports the road in a miserable condition. It will require some time for the sun to dry up the thoroughfare.

—A force of carpenters and plasterers are putting the second story of Moore's block in shape for occupants. It will be conveniently arranged for offices for professional men.

—The Sullivan troupe have gone to Post Cour d'Alene. If they all come back alive we will have more confidence in the charity of soldiers than we now entertain.

—So far the season is far in advance of what it was at this time last year. But we do not propose to crow, as it may turn around and snow yet before roses bloom.

—Cud. Peckler, who has had a long long rest on a sick bed, is once more on the deck of his express wagon. We are glad to see the young man again able to do his business.

—The Old Fellows of Spokane Falls, Sprague and Cheney will celebrate their annual mass meeting and make nominations for officers at this place on April 27th. There will be a parade, speeches and a ball.—Cheney Sentinel.

—The Spokane lumber and manufacturing company contemplate putting up an immense saw mill this summer. When the plans are decided upon we will spread the particulars before our readers.

—The question has been asked us a number of times if there would be a nominating convention this year. As there is no political issue at stake, it is hard to say. It has been customary to hold a citizens' mass meeting and make nominations, a very good plan to follow, although such conventions are not always considered binding. It now looks as though the race was an open one free-to-all, yet later developments may put a new phase upon the matter. The promises held out are for a very hot struggle.

Coming.

We learn that an old time teacher, Prof. John B. Kohn, from the eastern states will arrive in our city on or about April 1, 1885, to take the position as director of our German singing society, besides intending to engage in teaching private pupils on the piano, organ and vocal music.

Mr. Kohn is also an experienced piano and organ tuner, and as he expects to locate with us permanently and remove his family to our city as soon as practicable, we would like to see Mr. Kohn encouraged by our citizens as much as possible.

Any orders left for him at this office, or with the president of the German singing society, Mr. F. Hanse, will receive immediate attention upon his arrival.

Becklin's Arnic Salve.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. For sale at the City Drug Store, in this city.

Tents! Tents!

Parties contemplating a trip into the new mining regions, should call at Hall's second-hand store for new and second-hand tents. He can give you bargains in tents.

Special Locals.

—D. M. Ferry & Co.'s garden seeds, for sale by Walker L. Dean.

—Fresh eastern croakers at Walker L. Dean's.

—Copies of the Settlers' Guide at Clough & Co's.

—Extra dry Felipe California champagne at The A. P. Hotelling Co.

—Fine imported and domestic sherris and ports at The A. P. Hotelling Co.

—A full supply of W. M. Ferry & Co's seeds on hand at Walker L. Dean's.

—Oranges, lemons and apples, a nice lot, received at Clough & Co's.

—For fresh fish, vegetables and groceries call at Savage's.

—Magazines, fashion books and news papers at Clough & Co's.

—Newport & Holley are selling parlor stoves at cost.

—Cloaks at half price at the Boston store.

Notice.

The great change in election does not prevent Hall from paying the highest prices for all kinds of second-hand goods. He will buy anything and sell anything. If you have carpets, furniture, old stoves, stoves, wagons, or anything to trade or sell, give him a call. Main street, opposite California brewery.

Election Notes. Election Tuesday, April 8th. Nominating convention called for March 19th.

The election officers occupying the hose house would have an exciting experience if a fire should happen to break out.

We have heard of no one over anxious to run for city attorney. It is rumored that the candidates for treasurer are increasing.

A. M. Cannon is very favorably spoken of for mayor. He will be the nominee.

It is expected that there will be a number of independent tickets in the field election day.

Very little electioneering will be done until after the convention. It will then be pretty warm until election day.

Our people should be very careful in their selection of aldermen. It is desired that only men capable and willing to work for the good of the entire community in common should be selected.

The clerkship is an office for which there will be a number of applicants. It is expected that a very heavy vote will be polled on election day.

Giles W. Clark is a prominent candidate in the Fourth ward for alderman. He would make a good one, although he is lacking in the provincial reticence assumed to be a necessary qualification for that office.

A number of the friends of E. H. Jamieson are putting forth that gentleman's candidacy for alderman from the Second ward.

We have heard the name of Fred K. Post mentioned in connection with the aldermanship in the Third ward.

Dr. J. E. Gandy is spoken of as an available candidate for alderman in the Fourth ward.

W. H. Wiscomb is mentioned as a possible candidate for alderman in the Second ward.

Col. G. H. Morgan's name is floating around in connection with a place in the city council from the First ward.

By the expiration of Mr. Squier's term and the resignation of Mr. Berg, there will be two aldermen to elect in the Third ward.

The duties of election officers will be much more severe at this election than usual, as there will be two ballot boxes to look after and two sets of ballots to count, and we presume the clerks will be compelled to keep just as careful a list of the votes cast for the water works question as for city officers.

From Egypt. ED. REVIEW:—The meadow-larks and other spring warblers are busy heralding the advent of spring with notes of joyous melody.

The new grass has taken a decided shoot in the last few days. Which also shows the good effects of a genial sunshine.

If the boys hereabouts are not proficient in Greek and Latin, we notice that some of them can handle the Chinese jugglers with astonishing readiness and eloquence.

Grouse and prairie chickens seem to be doing their hardest to induce our law abiding citizens to violate the provisions of the territorial statutes. We are not prepared to declare that the boys have all resisted the temptation.

There has been considerable sickness in this neighborhood of late, mostly coughs and colds, but nearly all convalescing. Miss Cora Duncan has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia, and John Irkster, Sr., has been suffering from a severe cold for a couple of weeks.

Quite a change has been made in the Fort Spokane stage road near the Herkimer ranch.

The building of fences around ranches has made many changes in the road, but this is the last one possible between Laverre and Fort Spokane, without petitioning the county commissioner, as the road now runs the entire distance on the route laid out by the voters.

"Poker Joe," an Indian, who takes his elegant cognomen from his skill at the enchanting game of poker, is waiting patiently for "roy" day at Fort Spokane in the hope of emptying the pockets of some wayward soldier. Joe is unanimously voted a "daisy" at the fort. He is a member of the Moses tribe, I believe.

Mr. Jack Walsh will move his saw-mill from its present position into this neighborhood in the fore part of summer. He offers to furnish farmers with lumber at $5.50 per thousand, and the logs to be furnished by the farmers. This arrangement is advantageous to all parties concerned. There are now five saw-mills within a radius of seven or eight miles, all doing a fair business. These mills furnish lumber for the greater part of the Cottonwood and Big Bend country.

The I. O. G. T. lodge, of Fort Spokane is in a flourishing condition with considerably over a hundred members. This institution now supports a "banquet" or lunch room, and also gives occasional theatrical entertainments, the money derived therefrom—which is considerable—going into the treasury of the organization. They also have a fine billiard table and card room, the former purchased by the lodge, to supply amusement where liquor is not tolerated. The result of the workings of this commendable organization is an empty guard-house, and we doubt if any military post in the northwest can boast of a more brilliant achievement.

The ground is rapidly thawing and drying. Being in many places in good condition for plowing. Several of our ranchers have already commenced plowing the soil, and another week of this kind of weather will find us all up to the ears in spring work. Spring is a month earlier than usual, and if March continues fine, as it bids fair to, there will be some wonderful ravages made upon the soil.

School commenced in Larena district last Monday under the supervision of Miss Edna Forey, of Cheney. Miss Forey gave excellent satisfaction as teacher in the Evans' district in this locality last summer, and the good people of Larena will never have cause to regret their choice.

A grand ball came off last evening at the Mondovia school-house, which has just been completed and which is one of the finest school buildings this side of the railroad. It certainly speaks well for the enterprise of the people of that district which seems to be a thriving locality.

PEBRO. Egypt, March 11, 1885.

"Huckleberry Finn." Wm. P. Covillaud, the indefatigable, has the agency, for this county, of "Huckleberry Finn." Everyone knows "Huckleberry Finn." Everyone knows "Huckleberry Finn." Everyone knows "Huckleberry Finn."

Wm. P. Covillaud, familiarly known as "Jack, the druggist," is one of the best fellows to introduce you to his prototype. We know of no one more capable of canvassing for the most humorous of all Mark Twain's books, "Huckleberry Finn." Mark's latest and best is written in his old style and is a dandy—a Joe Dandy!

The solo agency for this county is in Mr. Covillaud's hands, and any one attempting to canvass in his territory will be prosecuted. The book is sold only on subscription. We are certain a great many copies will be sold here, as it naturally drops on a man that to "laugh and grow fat" is one of the best ways to overcome the depressing feeling of "hard times" and be ready to meet the prosperous future. Over 625,000 copies of Twain's books have been sold in this country alone, to say nothing of the immense sales in England, Germany and other parts of the world. It is expected that this book will exceed the sale (even in these hard times) of all the others he has written. All of its 43 chapters are simply overflowing with mirth and humor. No money is required until the delivery of the book, and should you wish any other of Mark Twain's books you can get it from the agent. The "beauty of the brick-work" is that you need not take the book if it does not come up to the description in every respect. If "Huckleberry Finn" in the person of W. P. Covillaud does not call on you, leave your name at L. H. Whitehouse's "City Drug Store." He will try to see you all, but in case any one is overlooked, your favor will be gladly taken at the drug store. You need a copy.

Lecture. It should be borne in mind that Rev. C. C. Burnett, of this city, will deliver a lecture in the opera house on the evening of March 18th, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., at which time he will take for his subject "The Reformers." Upon the gentleman's reputation as a lecturer we base the expectation of hearing a very able discourse. Mr. Burnett has had considerable experience in the lecture field, and is highly spoken of by men capable of judging. The following endorsement from Senator Jas. F. Wilson, of Iowa, one of the brightest men of the day, is highly commendatory: "I have heard the lectures of C. C. Burnett on 'Recollections of London Churches and London Preachers,' and 'Luther, the Man, the Monk and the Reformer.' They are productions of real merit, and will rank with the best lectures we have heard in the state, by whomsoever delivered. Mr. Burnett has other lectures in course of preparation, and I cordially commend him and his lectures to who desire to secure thorough and scholarly work on the platform."

Talks of Building. We are informed that Geo. Davis, formerly of the well-known firm of Hayermale & Davis, in the flour milling business, contemplates putting up a new flour mill in this vicinity, and will locate here, if he can secure the water power. As the matter now stands, Mr. Davis cannot make any definite arrangements until after the first of next month. The entire power, with the exception of that now in use, is bonded as everybody understands, and it is impossible to procure water power until that matter is decided. In either event, whether it is or is not sold, Mr. Davis will find no difficulty in procuring what he desires early in April. If the syndicate take the property, it will gladly furnish him power; if it does not any of the present owners will be equally willing to sell him a mill site. The sale is almost assured, however, and the change of ownership is something that can now be considered absolutely certain. Mr. Cannon has received the most encouraging assurances within the last day or two, both from New York and Cincinnati, that all the necessary arrangements for the transfer have been perfected. We most sincerely hope that Mr. Davis will not change his plans in the meantime. He has but a few days to wait before the sale is consummated or the bond expires, when he will experience no difficulty in securing what he desires. Mr. Davis is a good miller, and would find this point, with the promise of other factories here, the best for his business in eastern Washington.

Our dealers report a growing demand for building material, and the lumber trade, that has been very quiet during the winter, is coming up with a rush. We would like to see the demand grow to such proportions as would keep the mills jumping to fill orders.

Cour d'Alene Trifurcates. [Murray Sun.] The gold receipts are again increasing at the bank.

The thermometer has ranged from 40 to 62 during the past three days, and as low as 26 during the early morning.

The Gove and Crane purchase on Pototul gulch is showing up handsomely. On Friday two men cleaned up about two ounces for less than a day's work.

Walter Blossom, of the firm of Gardner & Blossom, received the sad intelligence on Saturday evening of the death of a sister at the home of her parents in Michigan. Mr. Blossom left immediately for the railroad to reach telegraphic communication with his relatives.

The machinery of the five-stamp mill for the Golden Chest was expected to arrive at the mouth of the Reeder gulch last evening.

Fifteen ounces were rocked out of the Yankee Boy last week. The claim is on the east side of Buckskin gulch, on the old channel wash, and is owned by Messrs. Dahler and Ryan.

The road between Murray and Myrtle was termed the "Sisy Trail." Phil O'Rourke swears that the last time he traveled over it he heard the angels singing a lullaby.

Thomas T. Singleton, Esq., formerly one of the leading members of the local bar, who has spent the winter at Tacoma, W. T., arrived here Monday.

An ounce and a-half nugget was found on the Ives and Silverhorn claim on Saturday. It is pretty piece, polished on one side and studded with a chunk of white quartz on the other.

The Claggett company on the north side of east Main street set sluices Tuesday at the mouth of the tunnel they have run into the bar. Some very good prospects were obtained from the gravel last fall and large clean-ups are expected.

A two and a-half ounce nugget was picked up by the Tiptop folks Monday. It is a rusty looking slug, and contains considerable quartz. Sluicing is carried on on the claim, and yellow waters are coming down First street like a cataract.

Frank Reed, who has been prospecting at the head of dream gulch for nearly a year past, exhibited some marvelously rich gold quartz to the Sun reporter on Sunday, which were taken from a location he has named the Buckeye Boy. The specimens were six in number about the size of a silver dollar, and were literally speckled with the glittering metal. One dark and rusty looking piece was fairly alive with fine gold.

In reply to a question of the reporter, Mr. Reed said: "Think I have a vein about three feet in width. I have taken out two large chunks which will give you an idea of what they are in my mind. These will be placed in exhibition at the bank of Murray. Mr. Hussey promised me to-day to send two men to the mine and bring them down. During the week I panned out about about two pounds of quartz and got a little over an ounce of pure gold. It is the biggest thing in the country. I have worked hard to find the vein, and now that I have got something there are a lot of scoundrels, those who probably never handle a pick, who are trying to cover my ground with location notices, claiming 1500 feet, and a few days afterward there was another one staked up on my claim. Some of those fellows will come to grief if they keep fooling around on other people's property. There are a few prospectors and bulldozers in the claim which will be turned loose if it is found necessary to hold the fort." Mr. Reed, as nearly every one in the camp knows, has devoted much time and labor in prospecting on the divide from which flow the waters of Dream gulch, and has deserved whatever good fortune is in store for him. He is making arrangements to sink a hundred-foot shaft, and if the upper prospects continue down, he will have a bonanza.

The Public Library. At the last meeting of the board of directors of the library association it was resolved to charge each stockholder $2 per annum for the use of the library, and in case a stockholder owned more than one share he may pay $2 per annum for each share owned, and will then be entitled to a library ticket for each share on which such payment has been made. Each library ticket will entitle its holder to the use of a book for two weeks, or a magazine for one week, either separately or in connection with a book. The old tickets have been redeemed, and the librarian instructed to take them up and issue new tickets on the payment of the two dollar annual fee. The annual fee to others than stockholders is $5.00.

—Dr. T. Whitham is back from Victoria, where he has spent the main portion of the winter, and is looking as though the climate agreed with him well. He informs us that Victoria presents the appearance of bustling activity, a condition at variance with the balance of the world. The rush is occasioned by the construction of the railroad. He states that business in the Sound towns, outside of Victoria, is painfully dull, and the places look monotonously quiet.

—Lane Hillman is just in from Embury and Chewelah where he has been looking after the stock and business of the stage line. He reports everything in a state of intense activity in the mining camps. A great many strangers are flocking in, and claims are being worked and new ones opened out. He anticipates that this district will be one of the liveliest in the country this summer and it already begins to look as though he was correct.

—Charley Grant displays a turnip in the window of the Poodle Dog restaurant that weighs 25 pounds. It shows what the soil about here can produce when it starts in to try.

PICK-UPS AND PERSONALS.

Water Blossom, of Murray, is in the city. New dwellings are springing up all about town. J. N. Squier is up at Chawelch looking after his mining interests.

Another Shape.

A week or so ago we published an ordinance as a matter of news, regarding the purchase of the water works by the city. It turns out that according to the charter, it is doubtful if the city can purchase, but it may construct. In order to be on the safe side, and as a matter of form, the previous ordinance was repealed and the following were passed in lieu thereof.

THE ROAD OPEN.

The most Direct and Comfortable Route into the Coeur d'Alene Mines, Via Spokane Falls and Coeur d'Alene City. Since the first discovery of the Coeur d'Alene mines and the subsequent rush to that new gold field numerous points on the Northern Pacific railroad have laid claim to possessing the only practicable route into the heart of the mineral belt.

ROD AND GUN CLUB.

A Business Meeting and a Permanent Organization. The Spokane Falls Rod and Gun Club is an organization formed by the lovers of the exhilarating sport with rod and gun and was organized for the purpose of vigorously protecting the game and fish of eastern Washington.

After Teat.

Thursday night two unknown men made a raid on the slaughter house a short distance east of town, owned by Sam'l Heller. The man in charge ordered the parties off, but they pulled guns on the watchman and that individual bent a retreat. The visitors ransacked the smoke house and although they carried out a lot of bacon and smoked meats they did not carry any off as far as yesterday and will stand guard. He takes a shotgun and is prepared for business, so the raiders are warned to keep away from the premises.

Dancing School.

Mr. Cavanaugh is meeting with a good deal of encouragement in organizing a dancing school in this city, and he will probably remain with us for some time. This afternoon he will teach a ladies' and children's class at the opera house from 1:30 to 4 o'clock. In the evening he will teach his regular school, and give a social dance. He is arranging a bon-bon party on the evening of March 17th.

STOP SHORT!

Vigorous action is needed! Such misleading statements cannot be circulated unheeded and unrebuked. To the Intelligent Public LOEWENBERG BROS. SUBMIT THIS PROBLEM: How can second or third rate Dry Goods Firms in this city conscientiously advertise such heavy reductions in prices without at least giving the public some reasonable pretext for so doing?

Parties desiring to purchase good saddle horses can be accommodated by calling upon Alex. Warner. See special.

Now is the time to start a lawn. A fine lot of Central Park mixed lawn grass seed just received. WALKER L. DEAN. The road to Chawelch is reported to be rootless and bottomless in spots between that place and Spokane Falls. M. T. Benham will return to Meadline next week and will spend the summer in the Ford O'Leary mining district. Thos. C. Griggs, attorney, and S. C. Hyde, prosecuting attorney, of Spokane Falls, are in town. Walla Walla Journal. A letter to J. T. McCarter informs that Wm. Kaiser is in San Francisco, and not South America, as we stated some weeks ago. It is expected that the gas company will commence work putting down mains and preparing to manufacture gas at an early day. The Indian fosters start out with the grass. Howard J. Jones keeps a good record, in all fancy of dirt and paint yesterday afternoon. As an amusement the roller skating rink holds its own against all others. The Casino rink is crowded nightly with young and old. The real estate agent now gathereth up and dusteth and he keeps a good record for the man who wants to invest his surplus cash in ground. Mr. Baird, a former Spokaneite, who has been spending the winter in Walla Walla, is in the city. He will go up to the Coeur d'Alene mines in a few days.

Matrimonial.

Jones has gone and done it. It is an inherent right that Jones, or any other man, has to go and do it, if he so desire; but not looking for anything of the kind we feel called upon to be surprised that Jones did. By the way, as the name is one that is by no means so uncommon that the mere announcement identifies the possessor, we will halt a moment to add that the party we refer to is none other than J. M. Jones, Esq., one of our most worthy residents, an old citizen and a clever, popular and deserving gentleman. It is not intended to intimate that Mr. Jones has been guilty of some 11th command offense against the laws of a common country. Far from it. He is not of that kind. Besides, if we should but hint at such a thing the jolly smile that illuminates his visage as he plods along the streets would brand us as a malicious villager. On the contrary, Mr. Jones has only been doing that which is to his credit, viz: getting married. There we give it away without a pang of conscience. The event took place Tuesday, he going clear to Cheney to have the ceremonial rite performed. The lady who has trusted her future happiness to his keeping, and a trust given into worthy hands, is Mrs. A. J. Lovett, who has spent the winter in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are now stopping at the California house, where they are the recipients of an avalanche of congratulations. We, also, desire to add our mite of good wishes to those of their friends, hoping that happiness, contentment and prosperity may hover over the house of Jones for all time to come.

The Calm Ruffled.

By the impertinent interference of an Indian Wednesday we were town was full of red men that day, heat out of a sensational item. The and about six o'clock one of the aborigines caught sight of some horses on Howard street that he insisted the Indian driving had stolen from him. He attempted to take his alleged property, a proceeding that the native in charge, who deemed possession nine-tenths of the law, objected to. A word was ensued, attracting a crowd of white men who were perfectly indifferent as to the result of the disagreement. One of the wranglers drew an ugly-looking knife, and it is the general opinion that there would have been a funeral in the tribe, had not a third Indian stepped in at the most exciting point and announced that the story would be continued next week. Through the interference of the peace-maker, the war was terminated and the principals marched off in different directions. Considering how quiet the town has been, it requires considerable christian fortitude for a reporter to conscientiously exclaim, "Blessed are the peace-makers," in this instance, anyhow.

Mysteries.

Late last fall a squad of men who had had years of experience in the placer mines of California, arrived in this city, one of whom had in his possession between $50 and $70 in gold dust. They were taciturn and uncommunicative, but it leaked out from one of the party, who found it hard work to keep secret a good thing, that the crowd had been industriously engaged prospecting a certain piece of ground not far off from Spokane Falls—deponent saith within a radius of 20 miles from the city—and late in the season succeeded in unearthing that in which they were so much interested. The country over which the prospectors worked was, in appearance, such as the older miners considered promising for color, and it was this that led them to ransack the territory and critically search every pan of earth that was submitted to washing. On account of the untimely advent of winter, just as they had succeeded in convincing themselves that they had "streaked it," they were compelled to hang up the shovel and the pan and, with as much patience as they could command, await the disappearance of the frost king before active operations could be resumed. Considering that the annotated map that at once for resuming the exciting and satisfactory occupation of picking up the gold, six of the party struck out Saturday morning and the balance left on Tuesday. The mysterious part of the affair is that both parties left town long before daylight and in a carefully guarded manner, so that the balance of the sea fish world would not know where they were going and could not, therefore, locate the new placers, which are believed to be immensely rich. Whether this crowd has really found something good, or whether they just think so, is a matter of conjecture, and which time alone can solve. They undoubtedly are lured up by an abiding faith, or are the victims of misplaced confidence.

Council Proceedings.

An adjourned meeting of the city council was held last evening. Present—W. F. Forster, mayor, and Aldermen Havermale, Berg, Deuber, Forster and Cannon. Absent—Mayor Glover and Aldermen Squier and Turner. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Reports of street commissioners read, received and ordered placed on file for reference. A committee was appointed to settle with delinquents on street assessments. The report of the finance committee was read, received and placed on file. The city marshal was instructed to demand payment for all delinquent city licenses. Ordinances Nos. 38 and 39 read, and passed under suspension of the rules. The notice calling for the general city and special election read, passed and ordered published in both the city papers. On motion the council suggested the expediency of holding a general convention at the opera house, at 7:30 p. m., on Thursday, March 19th, for the purpose of nominating all city officers excepting aldermen. A number of new bills were read, and referred to the finance committee. The matter in regard to the Catholic cemetery was referred to S. G. Havermale to report upon at next regular meeting. On motion, a vote of thanks of the council was tendered to Alderman Berg upon his retirement from the board.

The "Settler's Guide."

The "Settler's Guide," illustrated and published by the proprietors of the Spokane Review, has been received. It is full of local information about the rise and progress of Spokane Falls. The enterprising publishers of the Review deserve liberal patronage from the business men and property owners of the place. The growth of the town and the enlargement of its local trade is largely due to the press, and we recognize in the paper in question a powerful agent in the advance that has been made. It is one of the best papers in the territory. May its shadow never grow less.—Ellenburgh Localier. A number of residents of the fourth ward are talking of nominating Mr. Warner for Alderman.

Which the multitude will endorse:

1st. LOEWENBERG BROS. have endeavored their capital in business for the exclusive purpose of legitimate gain. 2d. They buy their goods for spot cash in the cheapest markets of the world—which they sell at either wholesale or retail, at the lowest possible rate of profit, consistent with safety. 3d. All their goods are shipped in car-lots from the East, at special contract rates, an advantage none of the smaller merchants can avail themselves of, doing a limited retail business only. Wholesale trade extends throughout Washington Territory, part of Oregon, Idaho and Montana. Any house in Spokane Falls trying to compete with Loewenberg Bros. has taken a larger contract than they can ever fill. FASHION NOTES

Hondes affect black tulle ball dresses, with embroideries of jet. The navy-blue blouse suit for little girls is revived for spring wear. The sleeves of all babies' dresses for all occasions are de rigueur long. Fancy balls for children, as well as their elders, are the order of the day. Aurora pink, a warm golden rose, is the latest shade of the fashionable color. A moderate-sized toulouze gives style to a costume, but a big bustle is hideous. Children's hails begin at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and end at 9 in the evening. Heliotrope, which is as fashionable for a color as for a perfume, comes in seven different shades. Gold-threaded wirebraids are used in spring millinery. The grays of this season are not in the cold tone of those of the fall. For the incoming season China silks bids fair to take precedence of foulards and taffetas. Dress collars are worn very high, cut on the bias, and are stiffened with wigan or buckram. Green, mastic and gold are the admired combination in many dressy spring hats and bonnets. Judging from the display on the counters, plaids will be more worn this spring than for years past. Among new cotton dress goods are found China crepes that imitate silk China crepe remarkably well. Ridelys' plaided and plain flannel suits for early spring wear are already on the forms in the suit department. Mastic and gold are combined in spring hats, the straw being in mastic shades, the trimming of mastic and gold braids. Ball dresses are extremely delicate and have no sleeves to speak of; sometimes only a shoulder-strap. Diamonds are worn to excess now in New York, but pearls are the Parisian fashion at present. The boys' evening suit this season is of ribbed or terry velvet, but cut plush is not altogether out of vogue. The dog's collar around the neck must match the color of the algrette and pouf of feathers of the collifure. Stars, crescents and rivieres of diamonds are worn in the snowy high collifures generally adopted for ball toilettes this season. New styles of putting on braids this spring make the difference between last and this season's cloth and flannel suits. Braids is no longer worn in floriated or foliated patterns on dresses, but in geometric forms of simple but ingenious design. Among Ridelys' suits for early spring wear are some pretty models in dark Russian green cashmere, combined with red and green satin broche, made in new and very effective styles. The new satens, and, for the matter of that, those of last year's stock are good and pretty enough to make up into children's fancy ball costumes. They cost only 25 or 50 cents a yard, and are as effective as silk when well handled in the make up. Millinet horse hair, and wigan brautes in, to three or several rows of double box plaits, are, next to the hair cushions, most in favor. The Sun announced three weeks ago that heliotrope was the incoming color. Labouchere's last Truth has made the discovery of that fact in London. Hair cushions become the favorites, and come in a variety of forms, from the simple crescent roll to the triple cushion with three crescents, one above the other. An exquisite ball dress, emaine pattern robe, is of a delicate shade of heliotrope, with large, tasteful, medallion designs, brooches in Oriental colors and gold, three inches apart on the surface. The skirt laid in alternate clusters of knit plaits and panels decorated with braids is the style for tailor-made spring suits of cloth, serge, diagonal and flannel. Small puffs of black velvets, moire or satin ribbon, with a small algrette are very fashionable for the hair at the opera, and are placed a little to the left side in front. Children's ball dresses are as extravagant in material and make-up as those of their mothers and older sisters, but the styles and the stuffs used are more delicate and youthful. Among imitations for tailor-made spring suits are quantities of those fine whipcord diagonals that were in greater demand than could be supplied last summer and fall. The superb broad laces and tulle used for ladies' ball dresses form plastrons, sleeves, collars, berthas and parements to the low-necked corsages of many little girls' ball toilettes. Most ball and evening dresses are made with pointed bodices, but it is refreshing to see occasionally a simple round fan-shaped or gathered waist, confined by a wide sash belt. Through the instrumentality of J. E. Fellows, Esq., a system of sacred music has been worked up in connection with the Sunday morning services at the Episcopal church that is proving exceedingly attractive. All of our best musicians have from time to time taken part and the church music is not surpassed, if even equaled, anywhere in the northwest. Yesterday Dr. Fenfield sang a solo, and the choir was large and excellent, the little church was crowded beyond its seating capacity. —If M. McCartney, wife and child, of Spokane Falls, are at the Blino House—Wall Wall Chronicle.

Singular Case.

From the Tacoma News of the 5th we clip the following singular item: A lady giving the name of Mrs. J. S. Tompkins came from Victoria, to Tacoma on the steamer North Pacific, which landed here last night. She went to the Central hotel and sent for Marshal Fulmer and informed him that she was in search of her husband, who has run away from her, and told him the following story: She had been married to him but two weeks and five days; that he had gotten himself into difficulty in Montana, and that a reward of $1000 had been offered for his arrest, although she did not know that such was the case until after their marriage; they went to Victoria, and there saw an advertisement for a man and woman wanted in Hastings, B. C., to run a hotel; they were out of money and she pawned her watch and chain to raise money to get there and secure the situation; she gave him the money she had raised on her watch and chain to get to the place mentioned. Mr. Tompkins left her on Sunday night last, but instead of going to Hastings he took passage on a steamer for Tacoma. She learned of it, and came here in pursuit. She claims to own a furnished house in Spokane Falls, and was afraid he was going there to sell the furniture. Marshal Fulmer telegraphed to Sprague with a description of the man, and to hold him if he came, as it is known that he left here two days ago. While here he stopped at the Central hotel but registered unintelligibly. She added that he was a gambler, and had left her destitute, and had taken all the money she had. To a news reporter Mrs. Tompkins described her runaway husband as a man about 5 feet 11 inches in height, of slender build, fine form and appearance, well dressed in a black suit and a dark brown overcoat, and stiff hat. He has a light brown mustache, dark hair, light complexion and blue eyes. He is thirty five years old, and is a native of the state of Washington. She is a good looking, intelligent lady, wears a seal skin sack and an air of mystery.

THE OLD COMP.

Hushed is the type click—his stick and worn rule. Repose on his case—his apron and stool, his pipe and tobacco are minor his treasures. Just where he left them when quitting—time came. When in death's long deep slumber, he closed his tired eyes. And the proofs of his life-work went up for review. From boyhood, through manhood, to feeble old age, His life-work is finished, he's set the last page; How varied the "takes" he's been called to compose. The "fat" and the "lean" mingling o'er to his close! How many have passed him in life's rapid race. While marshaling his "thousands" in line at the case. Whom God makes a genius, men oft make a slave. Hope, talent and poverty of ill omens! Ambition, misfortune, we know not how oft. On bright-planned hope "Old Comp." seated anon. When some demon unseen dashed down from high. Hope, Fortune and Comp. in commingling "pit!" How oft he labored to give other men Political status by press-power and pen. Revised the crude speech, furnished both brains and grammar. And got for reward—"the sheriff and hammer!" If you'll learn much of vanity, humbug and pomp. And can't be a Solomon—be an "Old Comp."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

His Inaugural Address of 1861—Model Document. The inaugural address of Abraham Lincoln in 1861 is a model of English composition; as it is of American patriotism. It can always be studied with profit by scholars and by statesmen, but at no time would his words of wisdom be more worthy of attention than now. Amid the threats of civil war and slavery agitation, before a people divided into angry factions, clamoring for irreconcilable concessions, his address is a masterpiece. This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it, or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it. I cannot be ignorant of the fact that many worthy and patriotic citizens are desirous of having the constitutional amendment. While I make no recommendation of amendment, I fully recognize the full authority of the people over the whole subject, to be exercised in either of the modes prescribed in the instrument itself; and I should, under existing circumstances, favor, rather than oppose, a fair opportunity being afforded to the people to act upon it. I will venture to add that to me the convention mode seems preferable, in that it does not interfere with the domestic institutions of the states, including that of persons held to service. To avoid misconception of what I have said, I depart from my purpose not to speak of particular amendments so far as to say that, holding such a provision to be now implied constitutional law, I have no objection to its being made express and irrevocable. The chief magistrate derives all his authority from the people, and how have conferred none upon him to fix the terms for the separation of the states. The people themselves, also, can do this if they choose; but the executive, as such, has nothing to do with it. His duty is to administer the present government as it came into his hands, and to transmit it, unimpaired by him, to his successor. Why should there not be a patient confidence in the ultimate justice of the people? Is there any better or any equal hope in the world? In our difference, is either party without faith of being in the right? If the Almighty ruler of nations, with His eternal truth and justice, be on your side the north, or on yours of the south, that truth and that justice will surely prevail by the judgment of this great tribunal—the American people. By the frame of the government under which we live, this same people have wisely given their public servants but little power for mischief, and have with equal wisdom provided for the return of that little to their own hands at very short intervals. While the people retain their virtue and vigilance, no administration, by any extreme wickedness or folly, can very seriously injure the government in the short space of four years. My countrymen, one and all, think calmly and well upon this whole subject. Nothing better or any equal can be lost by taking time. If there be an object to bury any of you, in hot haste, to a step which you would never take deliberately, that object will be frustrated by taking time; but no good object can be frustrated by it. Such of you as are now dissatisfied still have the old constitution unimpaired, and on the sensitive point, the law of your own framing under it; while the new administration will have no immediate power, if it would, to change either. If it were admitted that you who are dissatisfied hold the right side in the dispute, there is still no single reason for precipitate action. Intelligence, patriotism, christianity, and a firm reliance on Him who has never yet forsaken his favored land, are still competent to adjust, in the best way, all our present difficulties. In your hands, my dissatisfied fellow-countrymen, and not in mine, is the momentous issue of civil war. The government will not assail you. You can have no conflict without being yourselves the aggressors. You can have no oath registered in heaven to destroy the government; while I shall have the most solemn one to "preserve, protect and defend it." An oath to close. We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic cords of memory, stretching from every battle field and patriot grave to every living heart and hearth-stone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature.
