

MINING.—Quite an interest has been created during the past week in this place and vicinity over mining matters, by the return of Messrs. Irvin and Dobson. These gentlemen have found and located a gold bearing quartz vein, about eighty-two feet east of this place, on the Mullin trail. They brought with them some of the quartz, containing free gold, and taken from the vein at a depth of a few feet. Gold was visible in the specimens brought by them, and others who have examined it say it is rich in free gold. They are very confident as to the value of their find, and predict a mining town of more or less importance there shortly. Other persons are prospecting within a few miles of the point of luck. A number of them, so we understand, have interested themselves in the mine, so great is their faith in the reports of its prospective value. Messrs Irvin and Dobson returned on Sunday last to continue the development of the vein. It is the intention to put in the necessary appliances for working the mine.

NEW MILL.—Mr. F. Post, owner of the grist mill at this place, left on Tuesday to go to his mill place at what is known as the Upper falls. Mr. Post located there some eight years ago, and began the construction of a saw mill at that point. He had the necessary machinery for a grist mill and saw mill. He finally gave up for the time, the completion of his project there, and moved the machinery for the grist mill to this point. He now returns to complete the saw mill recently finished there. He informs us that there is almost a natural mill race formed in the solid rock at the side of the fall, where by the use of blasting powder, of which he takes a quantity, he will complete the work of nature. Mr. Post is an old hand at the mill business. The mill will probably be in running order some time this fall or winter.

EMIGRANTS.—Mr. James Goddard, brother of Smith Goddard, who lives in the Peon valley, arrived in town last week, from Healdsburg, Cal. He says the country as far as he has seen, is better than he expected to find. Jack Wilson, Mrs. Warren and the Thayer brothers, are expected in soon. Mrs. Warren is an old lady verging upon three score years and ten, who has left the golden state with the intention of pre-empting land in this country. We would recommend her determination and pluck, to the weak kneed, chronic grumblers who are looking back over the long dusty road they have traveled, in reaching this country.

County Seat Question

In a recent issue the writer on the above subject undertakes to tell the people why the County Seat should be removed from Fort Colville to Spokane Falls. The only good reason presented by him is that the county is so large and the county seat is so far away from the center of population. That is correct. But when he speaks of the County Commissioners sleeping in the hay mow, he does not seem to know that some men prefer to sleep in that way rather than to repose on a spring mattress; but rather intimating that they were compelled to occupy a barn all night for want of better quarters. It is really sad to learn that the attorneys should have their standing collars washed away by falling dew. Probably about that time they were coming from out some large liquor establishment into the night air. Perhaps the hay seed spoken of in the clear head of his Honor, was not hay seed at all, as his Honor often comes in contact with reporters and editors of newspapers from small country towns.

As to the hospitality of the Colville people, every old settler knows that they are very generous and their doors are always open. But possible at the last term of court, there being so many strangers in town, they might have closed their doors in order to save their property. No doubt the county officers do have things their own way, and it is right and proper they should. They were elected for that purpose, to do what they deem to be right, and we believe they are doing well and guarding the interest of the county. We believe that the majority of the citizens of this county would prefer to see the county divided. The Colville people have said for many years that they would not consent to have the County Seat removed, but if the people south of the Spokan river wished to divide they would not object. And we believe the time has come for division. As to the temporary location of the County Seat, we are not hard to please; but would like to have it located somewhere in the county. Spokane Falls would suit as well as any place at present.

An Old Settler.

The shingle mill is turning out shingles by the thousand every day. And the thousands per day are counted by tons. New business firm expected. Church next Sabbath at 11 as usual. Wood taken in pay for subscription. The grist mill is kept busy all the time now. A good many freight teams arrived in town this week. We noticed Dr. Bratty of Deep creek in town last Saturday. Mr. Ike Oppenheimer passed through this place on Tuesday on his way to Fort Colville. The Military company that has been out at work on the Mullin trail was expected back at the Post yesterday. Last week there was a load of beeches and grapes came into town, sold at five and ten cents respectively, per pound. An emigrant arrived in town on Tuesday, direct from Kansas. He reports more on the way, and coming to Spokane. Bishop Morris, of the Protestant Episcopal church, and Rev. Dr. Nevin are spending a few days in this locality. Surveyor General Wm. McKicken, Maj. Traux, S. G. Reed and chief Engineer Thomson of Portland, were in town this week. Rev. Mr. Cowley, when carrying some turkeys out to feed the cows recently was prompted by the size of one to weigh it. Scales proved the weight to be 25 pounds. Beat it ye who can. Lieut. Thos. W. Symons, U. S. Chief Engineer of the Dept. of the Columbia, who is to locate a government bridge at some point on the Spokan river, is at present surveying and estimating the chances for a bridge at this place. Some fine potatoes, grown on Spokan gravel, were brought to our office by a son of Mr. Kirtley, living a few miles south of town. They were even and smooth, and four of them weighed almost two pounds a piece. They were grown on sod ground. Indians have been committing depredations on the gardens in this vicinity lately, to a great extent; even getting so bold as to go in the middle of the day, into gardens right around houses where people were at the time. These troubles prompted several of our citizens, in company with Rev. Mr. Cowley, to have a talk with them. They told them they must stop it. If they did so now all well, it not, they would be compelled to stop, by prompt measures taken against them. We notice friend Wright buying out from the Indians for his stable use. He says they bring him a fine quality of clean grain. He pays them the current price, 14 cents per pound, which is just as it should be. Let every citizen who has dealings with the Indians deal honestly and squarely. Mr. Austin and lady, of Colfax, paid out town a visit last week. They had been taking a trip through the Four Lake, Deep Creek, and White Bluff prairie country, and returned through this place to their home at Colfax. Mr. E. E. McArthur is having his log wagon fitted up with extra heavy fellos, and tires made of iron three quarters of an inch thick by three inches in width. He thinks it will stand up under a load for his team of mules. Still later mining interest was aroused by the arrival of a man in town from the mountains about eighty miles east of here. He had some specimens of silver ore, which were pronounced by old and experienced miners now resident in town, to be of all appearances, as rich as any of the rich ore they ever saw in any of the California or Nevada mines. But then a piece of silver ore that looks pretty fair will arouse an old miner's enthusiasm wonderfully. The party having the ore was on his way to San Francisco to have it assayed. Two law suits took place during the past week; one on Saturday afternoon, in which two Germanians living across the river were tried and convicted of stealing a frow, and fined by Justice Jones. Another on Monday and Tuesday before Justice Jones, where M. Wilson and his two brothers in law were complained of as having been engaged in a riot. The occasion having been some difficulty over a claim. Mr. Wilson having ordered the German living on the claim to leave and then throwing down his house. The charge was not sustained by the Justice. Straws show which way the wind blows. We are credibly informed by Surveyor General McKicken, that this portion of the N. P. R. R. will be built next summer. The company are making every preparation to push the road through as fast as possible in the spring. The iron is bought and several tons will be in Portland by the first of October. Mr. Theilson, chief engineer of the O. R. & N. Co., also allows us to state that their road will be built next summer. We would suggest to the farmer along the line of these roads the propriety of raising all the hay and grain possible, as it will all be needed before another winter.

COEUR D'ALENE NEWS.

Fort Coeur d'Alene, I. T. Sep. 10. Editor Spokan Times: Pay day has come and gone; and as a natural consequence there is the usual amount of sore heads and disgruntled faces. Some powder and lead was used to settle a little petty quarrel; but by the prompt interference of several by-standers, the party that did the shooting was speedily surrounded and disarmed. There was no one hurt, but it caused quite an excitement and was the leading topic of conversation for the remainder of the day. Lieut. J. K. Waring, and Lieut. Hancock and party came back after several days absence. They were successful in striking the trail of the escaped prisoner and sentinel and finally located their game two miles south of Mr. Copeland's ranch. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on these two officers for their endurance and perseverance, and the manner in which they conducted the chase. Those contemplating desertion will probably come to the wise conclusion that it is better to serve their time out honorably; for Gen. Whiston will spare neither means nor money to capture any one that deserts hereafter. Col. Daggett, Lieut. Turner and family, together with company "H" 3d infantry, have left for Fort Colville. They are to be stationed at that place until further orders. Capt. Dempsey and his company, "B" arrived from Fort Lapwai to take the place of company "H." Travelers are coming over the Mullin road. They report the road in good condition. The opening of that road for travel, was a wise undertaking, as it will benefit the military and civil travel, and will prove a blessing to our surrounding country. There are present about one hundred and seventy-five men at this post; enough to keep any designing or hostile swishes in terror. A FALLEN EX-PAYMASTER'S CLERK. One evening not long since, there came riding into our post, a respectable looking old gentleman, having all the appearance of intelligence portrayed on his countenance; and from what your correspondent learned shortly after, I was not at all mistaken. Walking up to him and commencing a conversation, I elicited the following story: Have been a printer for some years. Have also followed the army as paymaster's clerk; have seen the ups and downs of this life; have raised and fallen. My ambition and love of sight seeing led me to travel, and hearing of the new Eldorado and mining excitement, I naturally was led like a great many others to the scenes of ambition and battle. I have been successful at times; but, alas for my successes, I liked to roam and I would not more than to be installed in one place when fresh excitements would break out in another; I would catch the mania and off I would go. I see my mistakes now. If I had my life to live over again, I would pursue a different course. But too much time has been wasted which I can never recall. I see my folly; too many changes don't pay, and tramping and idleness have a poor paymaster. When I look back at my past life and consider my present, my mind reverts to the sentence "distance lends enchantment to the view." J. T. M.

SUCCESSFUL.—

We are glad to mention the fact of the final success of Mr. Wm. Ross, in digging a well on his place on the prairie above town. Doubt was expressed as to the probability of getting water there. One thing rather strange about it to some, was the fact that a young man, Mr. Henry Buholtz by name, and claiming to be able to tell where and at what depth water could be obtained, said that where the well was afterward dug, water would be found at a distance of 60 feet and earnestly sustained his belief when friends expressed doubt about his knowing. He came within a foot and a half of it, water being first found at fifty-eight and a half feet. Mr. Ross says there is an abundant supply of water, and of excellent quality. This settles the doubt about water being obtained on the extensive Spokan prairie, and takes from the prairie one of the great drawbacks to its being settled up. Mr. Ross is highly pleased with his success as regards crop and water prospects.
