FROM THE GERMAN.

Oh! love while love is left to thee;
Oh! love while love is yet thine own;
The hour will come when bitterly
Thou'll mourn by silent graves—alone!

And let thy breast with kindness glow,
And gentle thoughts with thee move,
While yet a heart, through woe and we,
Beats to thine own, in faithful love.

And guard thy lips, and keep them still;
Too soon escapes an angry word;
"Ah, Heaven! I did not mean it ill!"
But yet be sorrowed as he heard!

Oh! love while love is left to thee;
Oh! love while love is yet thine own;
The hour will come when bitterly
Thou'll mourn by silent graves—alone!

Unheard, unheeded, then alas!
Knowing, though'thine streaming eyes
Amid the low damp churchyard grass,
Where, cold and low, thy loved one lies.

And murmur: "Oh! look down on me,
Mourning my careless anger still;
Forgive my hasty word to thee,
Ah, Heaven! I did not mean it ill!"

He hears no now thy voice to bless,
In vain thine arms are flung to heaven!
And silted the loved lips' fond caress,
It answers not: "I have forgotten!"

He did forgive—long, long ago!
Oh! many a burning tear he shed
Over thine unkindness—only now,
He stammers with the silent dead.

Oh! love while love is left to thee;
Oh! love while love is yet thine own;
The hour will come when bitterly
Thou'll mourn by silent graves—alone!

THE HAUNTED HUNTSMAN.

We had a pleasant day's sport with the Dunhallow fox-hounds. Found near Anakiss, ratted

sly Reynard through Killura Glen to Castle-

mucho, across the Blackwater, near Conyamon, and killed at Killavullon. I was located in the vicinity, at the house of an true-headed son of

Erin as ever spurs, and, when comfortably

mixing my second tumbler, at Luke Campion's, heard our worthy host drawing out the legendary lore of our veteran sporting friend, Capt.

Mansfield.

The Captain was quite a study for an artist.

His countenance, bronzed by exposure to tropical sun, was cast in Nature's choicest mould.

His profile was eminently handsome, and, though the snow-fall of time whitened his hair, no frost

of time penetrated his heart; the blood ran warm and genial. He leaned back in his arm-chair, and imbued his liquor kindly. The generous spirit of his nature shone in his eyes, and the juice of his life told many a moving incident of his memory, and he told many a moving incident of

his memory, and he told many a moving incident of

PUGET SOUND HERALD.

STEILACOOM, W. T., FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1859.

OSTER MINES.

Perhaps it would be more proper to say "Oyster beds," but we prefer the term "mines," as better conveying what we wish to impress upon the mind of the reader.

We have often thought of calling attention to the immense natural beds of oysters found everywhere in Puget Sound, slightly varying in size and flavor in some localities; the quality and size being better and larger where they are found in masses least dense.

Natural beds of oysters, as stated above, are found everywhere in Puget Sound, slightly varying in size and flavor in some localities; the quality and size being better and larger where they are found in masses least dense.

Individuals have at various times, we believe, been indicted and brought to trial for stealing cattle, but as yet without conviction; and we learn that two men were indicted by the last Grand Jury of this County for the offence.

"THE MUSICAL GUEST."—This is the title of a weekly publication containing twelve pages of new and popular music, the first number of which reached us by the last mail.

"MARIE LOUISE HANSEN'S CO.'S LITERARY GAZETTE."—This is a monthly journal of sixteen large pages, extensively illustrated, devoted to Fashions and Literature generally.

PUT OUR FOOT IN IT.—In our announcement of Col. Wallace as an independent candidate for Delegate, last week, we unfortunately put our foot in it.

SEVERE BITE.—On the down trip of the steamer Constitution, on Tuesday last, the second mate of the steamer, while engaged at this place in shipping a large and furious bear, was wounded in the left hand by the fangs of the animal, which inflicted an injury of such a nature that it became necessary to tie a large branch of poplar of the radial artery, which was found to be severed.

THANKS to Wells, Fargo & Co. for the prompt delivery of a package of papers from J. W. Sullivan by the last steamer from San Francisco.

NORTHERN INDIANS AGAIN.

By the politeness of Mr. J. J. H. Van Bokkelen, of Port Townsend, we are in receipt of the following intelligence of another depredation by Northern Indians, as follows:

On the evening of the 8th inst., four canoes of Northern Indians landed at New Dungeness Light-house, and broke open the storehouse attached thereto, and stole one barrel of oil, boat, sails, and other articles to the value of $150.

On the news being received at Port Townsend, the Collector immediately ordered the Revenue Cutter Jefferson Dacie to hold herself in readiness to receive Lieut. Scott, with a detachment of fifteen soldiers, on board, and proceed in pursuit of them; Maj. G. O. Haller, with his usual promptness in rendering assistance to the citizens, having tendered the service of a detachment to pursue them.

In this case, as in former depredations and hostile visits of Northern Indians, we again have impressed upon us the importance of having an armed steamer cruising in our waters.

These savages have too long been permitted with impunity to rob and murder defenceless people in exposed situations, and the settlers may well ask, when will the Government afford them adequate protection?

CATTLE STEALING.—A source of serious pecuniary loss and trouble to our farmers has hitherto been the disappearance of cattle and horses, from time to time, in a very mysterious manner.

The majority of the people, politically, are honest. They desire to see their representatives those who can best subserve their interests; but the large majority never personally know their candidates, and it is only through the press that they are ever made acquainted with them.

The mere possession of a federal commission has been almost certain to establish a reputation for ability in this Territory. An abiding confidence in the wisdom of the President creates an idea in the minds of the people that no one but a decided ability can possibly secure official position at his hands.

There has been a system of toadyism practised in this Territory, by way of recommendation. Gen. Swellford heads a petition for the appointment of Gen. Cadaverous.

CHICKEN THEFTS.—For some weeks past, the business of robbing hen-roosts has been carried on quite extensively in town, and some fine large broods of chickens have been entirely destroyed.

APRIL WEATHER.—During the past week we have had a succession of showers and sunshine alternately, much resembling the April weather in the Atlantic States.

SKOPOS.—Some of our neighbors, who have a few left, have taken the precaution to provide themselves with revolvers for the protection of their poultry, and it would not be strange if some of these sly foxes received more than they bargained for.

COMMUNICATED.—"We have received from Hon. I. I. Stevens a copy of the Third Auditor's report on the War Debt of Oregon and of Washington Territory.

TOADYSIM.

To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: It seems to me that the American people, especially just before election, spawns a race of toadies.

It seems to me that the American people, especially just before election, spawns a race of toadies. We are not content with doing any public man justice in the way of praise, but we must go farther and set all the bounds of truth at defiance, belabour our heroes with sickening twaddle and circulate it through the public print, to the infinite disgust of every sensible man.

I have been led to make these remarks by an article in the Pioneer and Democrat of May the 6th, headed "Arrival of Gov. Stevens." Now that article was intended for other latitudes than that of Olympia; hence its partial want of truth, its insinuating kick at the two former delegates of the Territory, and its fulsome and sickening laudation of Stevens.

This attempt to deceive the public is all of a piece with the course pursued by a few select individuals to forestall public opinion. The letter written, nominally, by Gen. Lane to W. W. Miller, and by permission of Miller published in the Pioneer, is a similar specimen of certain work.

They desire to see their representatives those who can best subserve their interests; but the large majority never personally know their candidates, and it is only through the press that they are ever made acquainted with them.

WHISKY, WHITES AND INDIANS.

To the Editor of the Puget Sound Herald: When will the Indians on Puget Sound become civilized? may be asked in the Atlantic States or Europe.

When will the Indians on Puget Sound become civilized? may be asked in the Atlantic States or Europe. But the question with me is, when will the white men of Washington Territory become civilized? What is the state of society at the present time? What do we see at almost every point on the Sound?

They desire to see their representatives those who can best subserve their interests; but the large majority never personally know their candidates, and it is only through the press that they are ever made acquainted with them.

COMMUNICATED.—"We have received from Hon. I. I. Stevens a copy of the Third Auditor's report on the War Debt of Oregon and of Washington Territory.

APRIL WEATHER.—During the past week we have had a succession of showers and sunshine alternately, much resembling the April weather in the Atlantic States.

SKOPOS.—Some of our neighbors, who have a few left, have taken the precaution to provide themselves with revolvers for the protection of their poultry, and it would not be strange if some of these sly foxes received more than they bargained for.

Preserving Butter.

A patent has been secured by W. Clark, of London, for the following method of preserving butter: The butter is first well beaten in the usual manner after churning, then placed between linen cloths and then submitted to severe pressure for removing water...

The articles below are all taken from the Oregon Farmer for May:

Mangold Wurzel.

It might be well for me, after distributing the seeds of the above, to make remarks concerning it; having cultivated it for several years, am prepared to speak correctly, (I have learned not to jump at conclusions.) Mangold Wurzel (Batterave jaune des Borses) a variety of the French and German Beet (Batterave jaune d'Allepagne) which was introduced into France some thirty-five years ago...

The seed requires to be planted early in April, or according to the weather, which would be considered early for beets; not so thick as beets, and only one capsule in a place, giving them the same after culture (presuming everybody knows how to raise them.) A drilled mine with Emery's Seed Drill. In the absence of which, where you have not too great a quantity, take a garden line and stretch it where you wish the rows and scrape the furrow with the corner of your hoe...

Ticks on Cattle.

In the March number of your paper I notice that Mr. Wm. Porter, of Sublimity, asks for information regarding ticks. I can say but little on the subject, as I have but little experience in the matter until last winter. I had a mare so full of ticks that it seemed impossible for another to find room on her. They had eaten her full of sores, I was told to give her sulphur and saltpetre, which I did. I then greased her with salt pork grease. The ticks were sticking close to her when I commenced greasing her, and had no sooner commenced the operation than they crawled out to the ends of what little hair was left on her. The mare at present is nearly clear of ticks. I had another on which the ticks were very thick on both sides under the mane. They had eaten into her neck to the roots of the mane. They were also very thick under the joints of her front legs. I gave her nothing, but greased her thoroughly with salt grease three or four times, and the ticks left in double quick time. I also have a cow which I treated in the same way, and with the same results. R. BALDWIN.

Another correspondent in the same journal says: "Take pork brine and wash them thoroughly. Three or four thorough washings will be sufficient."

Hungarian Grass, &c.

I hear much said about a new grass, called Hungarian Grass, said to give a great yield each season, surpassing all other grasses. It so happens that I received some (Mocho de Hongrie - Panicum Germanicum) three years ago, and planted it in April, in drills. It came up well and grew beyond my expectations, and pleased me to think I had just what was wanted; but, to my disappointment, it proved an annual forage plant. What we need most in this country, is a perennial that will last for several years without being trampled out. The object with us is to save labor. It is as much as we can do to raise wheat and oats annually, without sowing our grass seed, too, every spring.

The Mocho de Hongrie, or "Hungarian Grass," will make a tremendous amount of forage, growing like and much resembling alfalfa. The culture is the same. It may be sown in April and May. I cannot recommend it yet awhile for this valley, where half the land is not yet brought into cultivation. I would recommend our farmers to be cautious how they sow seeds that are brought from a distance.

I thought some Chilean Clover, or "Alfalfa," (Medicago Sativa) two years ago, and sowed it as soon as practicable in the spring. It has made all the roots that could be desired, with but little top. It is accompanied by many of its old Chilean friends—such as wild mustard, &c. Two summers' trial and weeding have put me at variance with it, and wish it back in Chili. It has not paid me expenses, and I think it of no use on our prairie farms.

I am experimenting with all the grasses I can get from other countries. Sainfoin (double bearing) I now have under consideration, and of my experiments more anon. T. T. EYRE.

125 McCormick's Chicago Reapers!

Three sizes—5, 6 and 7 feet cut. With extras for all the different patterns from 1852 to 1859. [Agent for the manufacturers for the Pacific coast.]

2500 sold in 1855. 4000 sold in 1857. 4000 sold in 1856. 4500 sold in 1859.

15,000 sold in the last four years!

No single establishment in the world can truthfully claim to have manufactured and sold anything like so large a number of Reaping and Mowing Machines during the same time, while my experience dates back to the origin of my machine, in 1834, having been actively and exclusively engaged in their manufacture for the last fifteen years. I am now more largely engaged in the manufacture of these machines than ever before, and with my improvements for 1859, do not hesitate to warrant my machine as a Reaper, Mower, and Reaper and Mower, superior to any other for simplicity, durability and perfect working; and further to say, that farmers who may desire to be at liberty to work my machine through the harvest with any other, and keep and pay for the one preferred. The position of the Reaper in my machine (as patented) upon the main frame, where there is great strength, and where the weight adds to the power of the machine, is the only right one. Other makers have to have the reel and the platform, where most subject to having the dust thrown in his eyes by the operation of the reel, and to being jolted over the clods by the little platform where over which he rides, necessarily making his machine to pieces. This accounts, in part, for the great durability of my machines as compared with others. Grand Council Medal awarded my machine in London, in 1851.

Highest Prize at the French Universal Exhibition, in 1855.

Highest Prize of Royal Agricultural Society of England, in 1857.

Highest Prize of the United States Agricultural Society, in 1857.

As the Best Reaper. Publications made by the manufacturers of the Manny machine, claiming the highest honors, etc., at the French Universal Exhibition, in 1855, are known by them to be false. The success of my machine, as indicated by figures above, is its highest praise, while the awards of premiums, generally, are worthy of no confidence, although reapers make a business of laboring and scheming to secure the little annual one horse premiums of the country. Although it may not be generally understood, it is nevertheless true, that these machines have always been sold at comparatively low prices, and that for the bodies with which I introduced and sold them by the tons and for the ten years past, other smaller manufacturers would doubtless have put the price much higher.

could furnish thousands of testimonials from farmers and others, or the truthful one of every statement I have made, and much more I may further remark, that all the various modifications of my machine, all other manufacturers having necessarily limited experience in comparison with my own.

A single year's severe service will satisfy the farmer, that in point of durability my machine is far superior to all others; besides several most important advantages, &c. &c. in my circular in pamphlet form, which will be furnished those who desire further information, by addressing me or any one of my agents.

The house is centrally located, in the vicinity of the Custom House, Post Office, and also of the upper and ocean steamers, containing a number of single and family rooms, well ventilated, suitable for ladies and single gentlemen.

There is also attached to the house a READING ROOM, and a LIBRARY, which contains a large number of reliable standard works. There is also, at the arrival of each steamer,
