THE DELEGATE FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The People of our Territory will be called upon, on the 8th of July, to elect their Representative in the next Congress of the United States.

Political issues to a great extent being ignored by the imperfect situation of our national affairs...

As citizens of the Territory, which of the three distinguished gentlemen now claiming your suffrages...

Col. Wallace, Judge Lander, or Mr. Garfield, is most entitled to your sympathy and support?

Two of these, Messrs. GARFIELD and LANDER, came to this country with colonial aspirations...

They have already received so much at the Government crib. Has it not occurred to the reader...

that these important officials have great advantages over our home-bred settlers...

Will not the past political history of Washington Territory justify these thoughts?

In eight years of Territorial existence, one Delegate has been elected who was not an imported Federal official...

Those Delegates whom you have confided in—where are they now? Your fellow-citizen, Hon. Columbia Lancaster...

was a resident and is now Col. Anderson never returned to give an account of his stewardship...

Mark the contrast between these gentlemen and that sturdy old pioneer and settler in our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

"BY THEIR FRUITS SHALL YE KNOW THEM."

We know of no other rule upon which to base our expectations of the future of an individual...

or what might govern him in the discharge of the duties of an office...

than an examination of the past career or the official record of that individual.

In other words, if a man is faithful, dishonest, imbecile, or incompetent in one official position...

he ought not to be trusted with other duties of a like character...

or invested with additional responsibilities. Let us apply this to the three candidates...

now seeking the suffrages of the people of this Territory for the high and responsible trust of Delegate to Congress.

How is it with the ancient and venerable ex-Chief Justice? Did he discharge the duties of that office with the requisite firmness...

which should mark the judicial ermine? Did he cause the dignity and honor of the Bench to be maintained?

Was he, in the trying times of martial law, either "fish or flesh?" True, he made war upon the Executive...

and asserted that the law should be supreme; but did he maintain the dignity of the Bench or enforce the majesty of the Law?

All will remember the scenes in Steilacoom and Olympia in May, 1856, ending in the judicial farce of fining Gov. Stevens fifty dollars for contempt of court.

We say a farce; for either Gov. Stevens was right, and ought to have been acquitted...

or he was wrong and defied the courts, the Judge's course was indeed temporary and temporizing.

We do not desire to revise this verdict; but, as the Judge goes whining round the country...

apologizing for Gov. Stevens's conduct, then, because he expects now the support of Stevens men...

we protest against electing such a man in these trying times, who lacks the first essential of a Representative in Congress—to do the right, as well as sense to know it. The Judge made himself obnoxious in those times...

without the corresponding redeeming trait which many firmness in asserting his duty would have secured to him even from his opponents.

The times are out of joint to send an "old woman" to Congress. We want a man of "strong mind, great heart, true faith and ready hand..."

Who mean Col. WALLACE, a resident of our County and a citizen of our Territory...

mit; others intellectually oppose; each determines to turn the tables at some future convention by a similar imposition.

But the rank and file of the party have nothing to say—for why? The destiny of their vote was forecast by the adoption of that resolution in the primary convention...

like the bullock in the camp, he has no choice as to what brand he would wear...

although it consigns him to the fair fields of the provident farmer or to the barren hills of the improvident herdman.

Voters of the Democratic party, are you prepared to suffer yourselves thus ignobly to be disposed of year after year?

Do you not realize that the conventions, under the rule of political hucksters...

do not reflect your preferences, while they have you hampered with this resolution adopted in your primary conventions?

It is no credit to your manhood or intelligence to be thus passively driven, while professing democracy...

into the party camp, thereby giving into the hands of party herdsmen the power to fix the destiny of your vote...

and steal your franchise—a fact the very opposite of the definition of the great and popular name under which you enroll yourselves...

"Self" is an appellation more befitting the man who dares not designate his preference by his vote at the ballot-box...

because of party usage. "But," says one, "it is necessary in order to secure the great principle of the party..."

Secure Beelzebub! and it does effectually where it creates an oligarchy of political hucksters.

We can scarcely have a better defined form of His Satanic Majesty than is found in the roaring politician, who is at the top of every convention...

and at the tail of every office-holder. Citizens, vote for whom you please, ignoring all party trammels...

and thus compel the party at all times to put at your head men of your first choice...

who can carry the popular esteem along with the votes of the party. If you would be Democrats...

be in the proper acceptance of the term. An opportunity is now afforded to manifest your disapprobation of the corruption which has crept into your conventions...

and which seeks to place bad men in power while it robs you of the free use of your franchise...

Why voting at this time for Wm. H. Wallace for Delegate to Congress...

you rebuke the party leaders who have so misrepresented you in convention. Col. Wallace, although differing from you in some degree as to political principles...

UNION MEN, REFLECT!

At this period of time, when our government is engaged in defending its vitality against the assaults of landed traitors in arms...

when the Constitution and Laws are openly and flagrantly violated and trampled under foot by States claiming to have the privilege of seceding at pleasure...

and destroying the Union of these States, the great question before the American People is, Have we a government?

—Have we a nationality? And on the solution of this question depends the great theory of Republicanism...

the great theory of a Democratic form of government, we may say—the great question of man's individuality...

his ability to govern himself. In this crisis, party lines and party distinctions sink into contemptible insignificance.

To save the Union, to save the heritage of our fathers, to hold on to that best model of governments, the Constitution of the United States...

in its original purity, and as transmitted by them, is, as our platform states, the first patriotic duty of an American citizen.

Situated as we are on this coast, not likely to be called into the field, yet we have a way of expressing our loyalty to the Union...

our never dying attachment to its government, and to the great principles of popular freedom and human rights which underlie it.

This allegiance is to be expressed at the ballot-box, by your votes. Voting for Col. Wallace, at this time...

indicates your confidence in the government and the National Administration to which it is now committed.

Voting for Col. Wallace is endorsing in length and in breadth the policy of the Administration in its present efforts to maintain the integrity of the Union...

to crush out treason, to recover our Nationality and the property of the government, assailed and stolen by rebels and traitors.

The platform on which he was nominated is all over Union: it pledges confidence in the Administration in whom is the responsibility at this trying hour to achieve, recover and preserve our National independence—our very sovereignty and place among the nations of the earth.

Faithful men! Say by your votes: "We are for the country and its government; we are for crushing out traitors—that the Territory bearing the name of the illustrious hero of independence, the immortal Washington, sends greeting to the National Administration and to the loyal sisterhood of States..."

That she is loyal to his memory, loyal to that Constitution and that Union so attributable to his mighty labors and patriotism; that she repudiates secession, disunion, qualified Union, or any heresy at variance with the holy bond of brotherhood between all the States...

No gilded pill of a Pacific Confederacy presents any charms to her. She clings to the Union as it came from our fathers, as the last, best, and brightest hope of civil and religious freedom. She repudiates all different nationalities. Her fondest hope is to see our nation restored to its dignity and power, and in this contest restored to the Union and Liberty on the one hand, against Treason on the other...

There is but one place for her, and that is unmistakably on the side of the government.

We believe this is the highest duty of our Territory and its people. For these reasons we give to Col. Wallace our hearty and cordial support. He is an unequalled Union man. His platform and he are committed to supporting the government and the Administration in its every effort to suppress rebellion and to crush out treason, whatever may be the consequences...

to assert the duty of the government to recover, protect and defend the national territory and property, and if resisted in these constitutional duties by traitors confederated against the government to overcome resistance at every hazard. Those who resist, inaugurate civil war, if it ensues; deplore it as we may, peace must be conquered and restored. The two opponents of Col. Wallace suggest a temporizing policy; they insidiously appeal in behalf of those miscreants who have ruthlessly assailed the temple of free government—who have fired into our vessels and national fortresses—who, without any justifying cause, have attempted to crush and destroy the American Union. In times like these, we want no temporizing policy. "He that is not for the government, in this juncture, is against it" and every vote for Col. Wallace endorses the National Administration in its policy against Secession, Rebellion and Treason.

J. B. Knapp, donation 200. Murphy, un-surveyed 200. Bennett (Creery, pre-emption act 1841) 137. Putnam Hays 200.

With the exception of the last, receipts signed by Mr. Garfield show that they were paid, and he has acknowledged the receipt of the whole. In our opinion, he did not pay the above mentioned sums for the reason that he did not intend to account for the money.

Respectfully, Isaac W. Smith, Register. P.S.—Mr. Van Cleave will make a separate report.

Here follow two suits instituted at the last term of the Court at Olympia for the recovery of these illegally received and unjustly retained sums of money, both of which, as will be perceived, were decided against him:—

David Parker vs. Selucius Garfield—Judgment rendered March 23d, 1861, against defendant for the sum of four hundred dollars, with legal interest from date of judgment.

Jacob and William Probstel vs. Selucius Garfield—Judgment rendered March 23d, 1861, against defendant for the sum of two hundred and fifty-eight dollars, with legal interest from date of judgment.

Executions issued out of the Clerk's office in said causes on the 16th day of April, 1861, directed to the Sheriff of Thurston County, and afterwards (to wit, on the 25th day of May, 1861) Wm. Billings, Sheriff of Thurston County, returned said executions with the following returns: "NO PROPERTY FOUND."

WILLIAM BILLINGS, Sheriff Thurston County. This is copied from the Court record, and certified by Andrew J. Moses, Clerk. It appears that a few weeks since, however, a portion of the above executions were paid, still leaving upwards of two hundred dollars due.

Not the least interesting feature of this exposure is the fact that the Sheriff, after searching diligently from the 16th of April to the 23d of May, was totally unable to find any property belonging to Mr. Garfield. Though he has a family with him, he does not possess a single article of household furniture; having boarded at a hotel during the whole period of his temporary sojourn in the Territory. When our people bestow upon him the honor and emoluments he seeks through their suffrages, having no interest here and no incumbency, he will be prepared to bid farewell alike to creditors and to Washington Territory. Upon this we will stake our allegiance.

Without further remark, we commend the matter and the man to the sober consideration of our citizens.

Purposes served by Lime.

Professor Johnston, of Connecticut, an able agricultural chemist, gives the following information, derived from carefully-conducted analyses, of the purpose served by lime as an application to farm land, and is worthy of attention, especially at the present time, when the subject is under consideration.

1. It supplies a kind of inorganic food which appears to be necessary to the healthy growth of all our cultivated plants.

2. It neutralizes acid substances which are naturally formed in the soil, and decomposes or renders harmless other noxious compounds which are not unfrequently within reach of the roots of plants.

3. It changes the inert vegetable matter in the soil, so as gradually to render it useful to vegetation.

4. It causes, facilitates, or enables other useful compounds, both organic and inorganic, to be produced in the soil, or so promotes the decomposition of existing compounds as to prepare them more speedily for entering into the circulation of plants.

The fertilizing properties of lime, then, appear to arise, in a great measure, from the force with which it attracts carbonic acid from the atmosphere or soil to which it is exposed.

This attraction for carbonic acid is so powerful, that if lime be placed in contact with animal or vegetable matter, they are decomposed or dissolved with great rapidity, and reduced to a fit state for entering the roots of plants.

5. It is for this reason that we see such good results from the application of lime upon soils where any of the various plants used for that purpose have been plowed in green.

6. It is also proved equally good effects and for the same reason, in soils newly broken up; in fact, in all soils rich in humus or vegetable matter.

But the chemical action of lime is not confined to the decomposition of vegetable and other organic matter in the soil.

7. It appears to be clearly established by the experiments of agricultural chemists, that this substance has also the property of setting at liberty the alkalies which are present in exceedingly small quantities in the soil, favoring the formation of soluble silicates, which are useful to all our crops of grain.

8. Lime, however, not only acts chemically, but to a certain extent it is also useful by altering the mechanical nature of the soil.

For instance, it renders clayey soils less tenacious; and it is also stated that it makes sandy soils firmer, and loamy soils soft, mellow and light.

9. Such is briefly all that is known at present concerning the chemical properties of lime.

Agricultural Items.

There is nothing better for wives and daughters, physically, than to have the care of a garden—a flower-pot if nothing more.

What is pleasanter than to spend a portion of every passing day in working among plants and watching the growth of shrubs, and trees, and plants, and to observe the opening of flowers, from week to week, at the season's advance?

Then, how much it adds to the enjoyment, to know that your own hands have planted and tilled them, and have pruned and trained them.

This is a pleasure that requires neither great riches nor profound knowledge.

The humble cottage of the laboring poor, not less than their grounds, may be adorned with pet plants, which in due time will become radiant with beauty; thus ministering to the love of the beautiful in nature.

Ann Kemper, Ross County, Ohio, writes to the American Agriculturist, that bleeding from a wound, on man or beast, may be stopped by a mixture of wheat flour and common salt, in equal parts, bound on with a cloth.

Daniel Webster on Agriculture.

Let the cultivator of the soil listen to the truths of this great statesman, and remember that such truths affect them.

"Agriculture feeds us—to a great extent it clothes us; without it we should not have manufactured, we should not have commerce.

They all stand together, but they stand together like pillars in a cluster—the largest in the center, and that largest is agriculture.

Let us remember, too, that we live in a country of small farms and freehold tenements—in a country in which we cultivate with our own hands their own fee-simple acres, drawing not only their subsistence, but also their spirit of independence, and manly freedom, from the ground they plow.

They are at once its owners, its cultivators, its defenders; and its whatever else may be undervalued or overlooked, let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man."

To Get Rid of Rubbish.—Almost every garden has in it a low, wet place, and almost every garden also has in it, or in the contiguous yard, the remnant of the late embryo, in the shape of stones, brick-bats, chips, broken planks, dishes, brush, and other eye-sores to the tidy woman.

Now, whenever you follow our advice, may cheaply get rid of the rubbish and of the wet spot. At the desired place, shovel back the surface earth, and dig a hole three or four feet deep and large enough to contain all the trash to be buried.

Into this hole throw it and cover it with the removed sub soil, and finish with the original surface. In this way a mud hole may be converted into a dry and fertile spot, and at the same time hide a wagon-load of offensive rubbish.

STANDARD WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—The following table of the number of pounds of various articles to the bushel may be useful to many of our patrons.

TESTIMONIALS OF THE HORACE WATERS Pianos and Melodeons.

The Piano case to hand, and in first-rate order. It is a beautiful instrument.—L. A. WALKER, Philadelphia.

John Hewitt, of Canby, New York, who has had one of the Horace Waters Pianos, writes as follows:—I intend to purchase a new one for my wife, and I like the one you send me in December, 1859. My wife is becoming more and more attached to the piano, and I think I can interest one of two more—they will be more popular than any other.

We have two Horace Waters Pianos in our store—one of which has been severely tested in two years and one of which has been severely tested in one year and one-half.

We are very much obliged to you for having sent me a fine melodeon for $250, and we shall take pains to recommend it.—H. WALKER, H. C. WALKER, Boston.

The Horace Waters Pianos are known as among the very best; we are enabled to speak of these instruments with confidence, from personal knowledge of their excellent tone and durable quality.—New York Evangelist.

We can speak of the merits of the Horace Waters Pianos from personal knowledge, as being of the very best quality.—Christian Intelligencer.

Nothing at the State Fair displayed greater excellence in any department than the Horace Waters Piano-Chambers.

Waters' Piano and Melodeons challenge comparison with the best made anywhere in the country.—Herald Journal.

Horace Waters' Pianos are of all rich, red, and other tones and powerful.—New York's Musical Review.

Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' the very best assortment of Boston and New York Pianos to be found in the United States, and we urge our southern and western friends to give them a call whenever they go to New York.—Graham's Magazine.
