OUR PROSPECTS.

The prospects of this part of the country are slowly but surely settling upon a firm basis, indeed we may say upon the only firm basis, upon which rests the real and lasting wealth of every community and one which cannot be too much considered in the building up of a community.

UNION CONVENTION.

The Union voters of Clarke County are requested to meet in their respective precincts on Monday April 1st, To elect delegates to represent them in a County Convention to be held in Vancouver, on Monday April 8th, 1867, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to the Territorial Union Convention to be held on April 16th 1867, and for the transaction of such other business as may legitimately be brought before it.

Proceedings of the Whatcom County Union Convention. Pursuant to notice a Union Convention met at the School House near Whatcom on Tuesday, March 12th.

The Convention being called to order, Mr. R. E. Myers was appointed President, and C. C. Finkbonner, Secretary.

Mr. Eldridge having explained the object of the Convention, it was moved and carried that the Convention proceed to elect a delegate to attend the Territorial Union Convention, to be held at Vancouver, April 16th, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Delegate to Congress, whereupon Edward Eldridge was unanimously elected as Delegate from Whatcom County to said Convention without instructions.

On motion C. C. Finkbonner and John Davis, of Whatcom precinct, W. H. Sartwell and J. V. Abbott, of Skegit precinct and Enosh Compton, of Swininish precinct, were appointed a County Central Committee.

It was moved and carried that the proceedings of this Convention be published in the Puget Sound Weekly, Pacific Tribune and Vancouver Register.

On motion the Convention adjourned. R. E. MYERS, President. C. C. FINKBONNER, Secretary.

A coffee breakfast and an India rubber coat will keep a man dry all day.

Washington Territory Items.

A correspondent of the Walla Walla Statesman, writing from Colville, February 27th, furnishes the following intelligence:

On the 18th inst., about 8 a. m., Judge Stewart, an old citizen of Colville, was shot by a soldier, the particulars of which, as near as I can learn, are about as follows: On the evening of the 17th, a soldier had a little difficulty with Jack Shaw, at the saloon of Shaw & Stewart, the soldier getting a little worsted. Early the following morning, he, with twelve or fifteen of his friends, came to the saloon for the purpose—as stated by some of the giving Shaw a whipping—the aggrieved soldier to do the fighting, and the remainder to see fair play. From four to six had their muskets. They marched through town, and went into the saloon, but little noticed by the few citizens who were up, as it was thought to be only a patrol. Shaw & Stewart were cleaning out the saloon at the time they stepped in. Stewart walked behind the bar, and three or four of the party, including the one who had the difficulty with Shaw the evening before, went to the back end of the saloon where he was, and commenced assaulting him. The remainder of the party stopped near the door, some of them demolishing the bar fixtures, while the rest, from all appearance, were watching Stewart's movements. During this time Stewart, it seems, stooped down as though to pick up his revolver, which he always kept behind the bar, when a shot was fired by one of the party in front of the counter, the ball entering just below the right shoulder blade and passing out on the left side of the neck, producing instant death. He did not speak after he was shot. Immediately after the shot was fired two or three citizens stepped in, and as they entered the soldiers rushed out. On examination, Stewart was found to be entirely lifeless, while Shaw was not much hurt, his life being saved by the interference of the soldier with whom he had the difficulty on the previous evening, he catching hold of the gun of another of his party as he was in the act of thrusting his bayonet into Shaw. There has been but six of the party identified, two of whom have been held over for murder, and four as accessories. It is very difficult to find out the exact particulars as to who fired the shot. It was a musket ball, and passed through two inch boards. Shaw was the only man in the saloon, (aside from the soldiers,) when Stewart was killed, and he was engaged at the further end of the room in a hard scuffle, and consequently saw nothing of the shooting.

Captain Wharton, the officer in command, is using every effort to identify the parties, and turn them over to the civil authorities for investigation.

Deceased was buried on the 20th by the Masonic fraternity. His remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of people, all of whom deeply mourn his loss, for he was a good citizen, and a noble hearted gentleman, loved and esteemed by all who knew him. He was, I believe, a native of Connecticut, but from New York to this coast, as appears from the Masonic diploma.

The store of Dr. J. Williamson, of Seattle, was entered on Tuesday night last but he was absent, and the money drawer hurriedly opened and robbed of about $300 in greenbacks, $10 in gold and silver coin, a finger ring with the doctor's initials, J. W., engraved on the outside, a couple of gold sleeve buttons similarly marked, a specimen gold breast pin, the pin of which was silver, a gold specimen worth three dollars, and one worth two dollars which had been smelted and was about one-half alloy. As yet no clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of the robbery.—P. S. Weekly.

A dispatch to the British Colonist, from Schome, W. T., says: On the morning of the 6th, at half past eight o'clock, two or three spiral columns of light colored smoke were seen to issue from a peak near the summit of Mount Baker.

Judge Darwin returned from the East by last steamer. He reached this place on Saturday night last and proceeded down to Port Townsend by the steamer of Monday morning.

On Feb. 10th Rev. A. C. McDougall organized a Lodge of Good Templars at Port Gamble, W. T. The first week the members numbered thirty two. The Lodge is in a flourishing condition.

HEADQUARTERS FORT VANCOUVER, } March 9th, 1867.

To the Mayor of the City of Vancouver, W. T.

SIR:—It is deemed necessary that the citizens of the city of Vancouver should make arrangements to provide a cemetery for the burial of their dead, as the vacant ground of this station will be required for the exclusive use of the garrison.

In as much as the deceased relatives of many of the citizens are already interred in the cemetery of the garrison, such as now have relatives buried there will be allowed the use of the lots containing their remains, (these lots are being laid out,) will be numbered and designated; but from and after July 1st, 1867, no interments of citizens will be allowed except as herein provided. Timely notice is given that you may be enabled to give the necessary notice to the citizens of the city. I am sir very respectfully, your obed. serv't., W. L. ELLIOTT, By't. Maj. Gen. U. S. A., Comdg. Post.

CHANGED.—The Union County central committee has changed the time of holding the primary elections from Saturday March 30th, to April 1st, 1867.

DISTRICT COURT.—This court is still in session and has nearly succeeded in cleaning the docket. In our next issue we will report the proceedings in full and also endeavor to make amends for the compulsory neglect on our part in attending to our editorial labors.

MUSIC.—It is quite true that there are many of the sources of enjoyment to which we were accustomed in our old eastern homes that are denied us here; we miss the delight of moonlight sleigh rides, (that is generally,) the health inspiring exercise of skating, and much else;—but at least in one respect our old tastes are gratified, we have something "deeper, purer, holier far," more civilizing in its influence than all the rest combined,—abundance of sweet music. We have just been listening to one of those soul stirring strains which the 14th band know so well how to play—that occurs to me this sentimental to music.

Aid for Ireland.

In pursuance of a call for the friends of Ireland to assemble at Metropolitan Hall, a large number of citizens and soldiers of Vancouver assembled on Wednesday evening, March 20th, 1867. On motion of P. Healey, P. O. Keane was chosen chairman. The following officers were appointed, P. Fox, Sec., David Wall, Treasurer. The following committees were also appointed, on subscription, L. Kidd, J. D. Healey and Edward O'Keane, on resolutions, P. Fox, P. Buckley and D. Wall. The chair then introduced S. J. McCormick, of Portland, who kindly volunteered his services for the occasion, who, in his usual strain of eloquence, appealed to the audience to contribute their mite to aid those patriots in Ireland whom Irish Americans encouraged to shake off the British yoke. The next speaker was the Hon. C. Lancaster who urged that now is the time for Irishmen to aid their countrymen.

The Secretary then read the following preamble and resolutions: WHEREAS, The people of Ireland, after years of oppression under British misrule, have arisen in their might to gain for their native land an independent government. Although oceans roll between us we clasp in spirit to-night the hands of those who not only by blood and birth, but in heart and soul and settled purpose, have taken the only road by which they can ever recover and conquer the lost liberties of Ireland. Therefore we, the Irishmen of Vancouver, W. T., and the lovers of liberty of every nationality here present, desire to express our warmest sympathy with the cause of Irish Independence, therefore:

Resolved, That we sympathize with the "men in the gap" in their present struggle and hereby pledge ourselves to extend all pecuniary aid within our means towards forming an Irish Relief Fund, to be forwarded to New York City, and placed in the hands of responsible parties there, for the purpose of aiding our fellow countrymen in their efforts to gain Ireland for the Irish.

Resolved, That a Committee of three be appointed by the Chairman of this meeting, said Committee being empowered for the next ten days to collect funds for the above patriotic purpose.

Resolved, That we earnestly invite every American who is loyal to the principles of self-government to aid us against our enemies, who would feign crush the growth of Republican freedom and step the onward march of freedom.

P. FOX, } Committee on Resolutions. P. BUCKLEY, } D. WALL, }

On motion the resolutions as read were adopted.

Hon. A. J. Lawrence was introduced who recited some of the barbarities of the British in 1798.

On motion that the names of subscribers with the amount be published in the Vancouver Register.

On motion the meeting adjourned. After adjournment three hundred and fifty dollars was subscribed. P. O. KEANE, Chairman. P. FOX, Secretary.

WHOSE FAULT IS IT?—Who has not been frequently tempted to buy a book simply because it had a nice introduction? Who in passing a residence with a neatly laid out flower garden in front, has not formed a good opinion of the inmates without ever having seen them, and felt a desire to form their acquaintance? Now what is there in the introduction which a stranger has to Vancouver that is inviting, or that would tempt a man to step ashore from one of the river boats? An old dilapidated wharf, which should have been long since torn away, a two storied building standing directly in the middle of Main street, with its end towards the river, and no door in it; that is what he sees. He is disgusted and goes on, with the impression that the look ain't much account or it would have a better introduction.

GAME.—Vancouver is fortunate in its proximity to noble forests from whence it is abundantly supplied with deer, bear, grouse, etc. Lakes, that nearly the year round are literally black with ducks, geese and swan; it has its mountain streams that furnish their willing tribute of most delicate trout, and last, though not least, it has the mighty Columbia from whose bosom our devil, a few days ago, drew a half dozen of the boniest suckers we have ever had the misfortune to "snack our chops over."

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE.—Tom Wilson, convicted of highway robbery at this term of Court and sentenced to two and a half year's imprisonment, made an attempt to escape on Friday morning of this week, but was observed by several members of the Petit Jury, who had been deliberating on a case during the night, when that body immediately broke from the charge of the bailiff and succeeded in capturing the prisoner and returning him to custody.

LARGE NUGGET.—We last week saw at Mr. Beckman's banking house, a large specimen of solid gold, weighing five hundred and ten dollars, which was obtained in the mines of this vicinity. The piece was purchased from a Chinaman, and has evidently been cut in two. Mr. Beckman thinks that the nugget, as originally found, must have weighed about sixty ounces or one thousand dollars.—Seattle.

Democratic County Convention.

All persons desirous of maintaining the Union and the Constitution, are hereby requested to meet in their several precincts, on Saturday, March 30th, 1867, and elect Delegates to represent them in the Democratic County Convention of Clark County, to be held at the Court House, in Vancouver, on Saturday, April 6th, at 1 o'clock P. M. Representation in said Convention, has been apportioned as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Precinct and Delegates. Vancouver Precinct, 12 Delegates; Preston, 3; Luckams, 2; Fern Prairie, 2; Washgal, 2; Patterson, 2; Lancaster, 2; Pollock, 2.

By order of the Democratic County Committee, J. D. POTTER, Chairman.

The primary election in Vancouver Precinct will be held in the Court House, commencing at 1 P. M. on the 30th day of March, 1867. J. D. POTTER, Precinct Chairman.

[From dispatches to the Daily Oregonian.] EASTERN NEWS.

Washington, March 18.—In the Senate, Johnson of Maryland presented the credentials of Thomas, the newly elected Senator from that State. Howard of Michigan moved that they be referred to the Judiciary Committee, saying that it was a matter of common rumor that Thomas sympathized with the rebellion. Johnson said he did not know what rumors were referred to. Perhaps it was the report that Thomas, while Secretary of the Treasury, transferred large amounts of money from New York to Louisiana, that it might fall into the hands of the rebels. There was not one word of truth in the story. The transfer was from New York to Washington.

Howard said the objection to Thomas was on account of a speech he made after his election, in which he said the Senate of the United States, having done all in their power to distract the Union by war, was now attempting to destroy it by legislation. He thought Thomas was not loyal if he had made such remarks. Johnson knew nothing of such a speech.

Conness, of California, favored a reference to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of a close investigation of the alleged disloyalty of the Senator, referring to the letter of Thomas to Buchanan in 1861. He had no hesitation in saying that no man so weak or so vicious as not to be able to find law enough to defend the honor and existence of this Government, was entitled to sit in the Senate, more especially a man who left the cabinet on the ground that the Government had not power enough to justify his conscience in such a defense.

Nye, of Nevada, said that the Legislature of Maryland was elected by a palpable fraud. The law preventing rebels from voting was entirely disregarded.

Trumbull, of Illinois, said that Thomas was entitled to be sworn in unless something was established to overturn the prima facie evidence in his favor. If Thomas was willing to take the prescribed oath, he ought to be admitted unless a distinct charge was made against him.

The debate was continued at some length, and finally the subject was postponed until to-morrow.

Pomeroy, of Kansas, introduced a bill for consolidation of the Indian tribes under the direction of qualified territorial governments for the purpose of civilization.

The joint resolution for furnishing Tennessee arms and equipments for 25,000 militia was passed.

A resolution was passed declaring valid laws of New Mexico passed at the late session of the Territorial Legislature.

The Senate took up the supplementary reconstruction bill. The House amendments were agreed to except those requiring a majority of registered voters. The Senate bill omitted the word "registered." The amendments were disagreed to. A journal.

The House referred the Senate resolutions for the relief of Donahue, Ryan and Secor to the Committee on Claims, and passed the Senate bill changing the name of the steamship to the Nevada.

Williams, of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to suspend the act authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to cancel $4,900,000 in Treasury notes immediately.

Binham, of Ohio, offered a resolution to investigate the management of West Point Academy.

The Senate joint resolution to forbid the sale of liquors in the capital was concurred in also. Senate resolution to investigate affairs in the Treasury Department.

The Senate supplementary reconstruction bill was taken up. Wilson, of Iowa, from the Judiciary Committee, moved an amendment to the text of the bill to make it more stringent in its provisions. Wilson said that in some States an oath to support the constitution of the United States had not been administered for years before the rebellion. The amendment was adopted.

Another amendment was adopted, affixing the penalty of perjury upon any person falsely subscribing to the oath.

The previous question was moved. Garfield, of Ohio, and others, desired to offer amendments, but were not allowed to do so. The Senate amendments were concurred in. The Senate resolution, providing for surveys for the Erie & Ontario Ship Canal, was concurred in.

Thomas, of Maryland, offered a resolution that the Judiciary be instructed to complete their inquiry whether we had a republican form of State Government, such as Congress can recognize consistently with the Constitution.

After disposing of some other business the House adjourned.

New York, March 18.—St. Patrick's day was celebrated by a great turnout. A stand of colors was presented to the Sixty-ninth Regiment.

A serious riot occurred on grand street, East of Broadway to day, growing out of objections by a dray. A policeman protesting the dray. Thirteen policemen were becoming general. Stones, swords, and clubs were used. Several rioters were arrested, one a marshal.

The Evening Post's correspondent at Raleigh, N. C., says that the only danger threatening loyal men moving to reconstruction under the supplementary act is that the commanding General may delegate their powers and duties to the present government of the rebel States. The first election under the Congressional policy shortly occurs to fill the Newbern municipal offices.

New York, March 18.—Trustees of the Peabody fund to educate the Southern people will hold an official session at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this week. Peabody will be present and give his views and suggestions. The session promises to be an important one. The benefits of the fund are to be directed at once to the purpose for which they are designed. Owing to the storm yesterday, collections in the churches for the Southern relief fund were nominally a failure.

St. Louis, March 18.—The Republican's Cairo special dispatch says that the passengers and crew rescued from the steamer Mercury had arrived at that place. Many of the passengers were badly frozen by standing in the water. Capt. Dickinson reports that the crew of the steamer George D. Palmer plundered the wreck of the Mercury and rifled the passengers' baggage—even stealing the underclothing of the ladies. He says the carpenter of the Palmer was at the head of the robbers and implicates the captain, clerk and other officers in the transaction. Seven men who floated down the river on outer bales and lodged against the drift, were killed by a tree blown down by the storm.

The wholesale dry goods house of Bagwell Meyer & Voorhis was broken open last evening and robbed.

New York, March 18.—The weekly bank statement shows an increase of loans of $931,314; decrease of specie $899,40; decrease of legal tenders $1,710; decrease of deposits $2,324,723.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

WHAT A PINT OF WHISKY Cost.—Some thirty-one years ago, Jonathan Beckwith a young lawyer of decided promise, bought a pint of whisky, and getting drunk, wandered out on Ferns Compa prairie on a cold winter night, and was so badly frozen that he lost his reason, and the use of his limbs, and has been ever since, until his death two weeks ago, an inmate of the county poor house, an insane cripple, and his keeping has cost the county no less than Eight Thousand Dollars! This is the startling amount that the tax payers of this county have had to pay that one man might pocket a few cents profit on the sale of a pint of whisky.—South Coast Register.

A gentleman of Boston, entertaining some friends a short time ago at the Music Hall with a sight of the great organ and other curiosities of the place, suddenly became aware of a series of nudges on his back, and turning became also aware of a solemn countryman, evidently of an inquiring mind, who, indicating the statue of Beethoven with an interrogating finger, asked in the unmistakable patois of New England: "Is that statoo gill?" "No, sir, brooze," was the response.—"Brunze, hey. Must cost considerable. Who is it a statoo of?" "Beethoven," said the gentleman, beginning to be amused. "B. Tovin, hey!" and then reflectively, with the impression of the statue of B. Franklin fresh in his mind—"Was he a Bustin man?"

Dr. F.—sometimes drank a good deal at dinner. He was summoned one evening to see a lady patient, when he was more than "half-seas over," and conscious that he was so. On feeling her pulse, and finding himself unable to count its beats, he muttered, "Drunk, by Jove!" Next morning, recollecting the circumstances, he was greatly vexed, and just as he was thinking what explanation he should make to the lady, a letter was put into his hand. "She too well knew," said the letter, "that he had discovered the unfortunate condition in which she was when he visited her, and she entreated him to keep the matter secret, in consideration of the inclosed"—a $100 bill.

A negro named Ephe, who was a regular attendant at church, was proud of his Bible-learning. He was sitting one day, while his master's son, a lad of about twenty years, was looking on, and now and then asking questions, "which of the Apostles do you like best?" asked Ephe. "Well, I don't know," drawled the boy. "I like Samson," said Ephe, "he was so strong, and piled up dem wicked folks so." "Why, Ephe," replied the boy, "Samson wasn't one of the Apostles." Ephe put down his saw, and looked at the youngster a moment in amazement, and then asked him, with an air of learning: "Look here, white boy, how old am you?" "Twelve," replied the boy—"Well, I see forty; now, who ought to know best? I ax you dat!"

THE POWER OF THE PEN.—Du Tocqueville has a just conception of the influence exercised over the minds of readers by a well conducted newspaper. In his work on America he says: A newspaper can drop the same thought into a thousand minds at the same moment. A newspaper is an adviser who does not require to be sought, but who comes to you every day of common weal, without distracting your private affairs. Newspapers, therefore, become necessary in proportion as men become more equal and individuals more to be feared. To suppose that they only serve to protect freedom would be to diminish their importance; they maintain civilization.

A convict in the prison at Chatham, England, was recently sentenced to death for killing the warden of the prison. In his statement before the magistrate the convict said: "There is men constantly dying in the prison now, sir, with hunger and starvation. Men regularly eat candles, and soap and tallow, 'tato-peelings, or anything they can get hold of, and drink the oil out of the oil-cans. I do not wish to say any more now."

Just now there are sold in paris and elsewhere small packets of cards purporting to be "tickets for Heaven" "billets d'entree pour le ciel." They are published by authority, to wit by C. Lattre, Aditeur Pufficiale, Rue Grenanerie, Paris, and consist of sixteen embossed cards, on each of which is an engraving depicting the particular mode of reaching Heaven for which that ticket is good.

A strange story is told about an egg merchant at one of the Paris markets. Having been indisposed he had kept his warehouse at a high temperature, at the recommendation of his doctor. A morning or two ago he was awakened by a strange noise, and on jumping up, he saw on the floor about fifteen hundred chickens, which had been hatched by the heat, while the floor was strewn with eggs about.

An Englishman, just across, got into an omnibus in New York, and was surprised at not seeing a conductor to take his fare. He was more surprised, however, when a lady handed him ten cents with which to pay for her. Mr. Bull looked at the money, then at the lady, and handed it back, and said: "I'm exceedingly obliged to you, madam, but really I am in no immediate want of charity."

A COLORED POET.—J. Madison Bell, a colored man, has been giving poetical readings in Washington. The Chronicle says that the essentials that thrill an audience, are his. Naturally an elocutionist, he reads with unusual purity of intonation and grace of gesture. In conception, sublimity of thought, beauty of simile and metaphor, force of description, and refined satire, he can favorably compare with the poets of this or any other age.

The most patient man that ever breathed cursed the day he was born, and the meekest man murdered an Egyptian.

The diving-bell used in building the piers for the Newburyport bridge, over the Merrimac river, is the largest bell ever made in this country—weighing upwards of six tons. It is pyramidal in shape, and about seven feet in height to the apex. It is constructed of iron two and a half inches in thickness.

Nathaniel W. Morse, of Norridgewalk, Maine, has recovered one cent damage from thirteen citizens of the town of Skowhegan. He was forced by them to cheer the American flag, after he said he was glad of the assassination of President Lincoln.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland keeps up the state due to his viceregal position, his wife, the Marchioness, never going out, even when shopping, without four horses to the carriage, and two outriders.

Philosophy says that shutting the eyes makes the sense of hearing more acute. A wag suggests that this accounts for the many closed eyes which are seen in our churches every Sunday.

Mrs. Susan Reigenfus, an old lady of Carbon County, Pennsylvania, recently died, leaving twelve children, eighty-five grandchildren, seventy great grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

It is reported that General Pope will assume command at Montgomery instead of Thomas, who retains his present position.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.

THE UNDERSIGNED WOULD INFORM THE PUBLIC that he is the inventor of the improvement in HOISTING & LOWERING APPARATUS and that he has received a patent therefor from the Patent Office of the U. S.

My invention can be successfully used in any undertaking where much strength is required. It has been used for moving buildings, pulling rafts in rivers, raising heavy guns upon their carriages, pulling stages and in a multiplicity of other ways too many to enumerate.

The apparatus is simple in construction and therefore cheap when sold.

I would invite the attention of builders and others engaged in heavy mechanical work to an examination of my machine.

I will sell County and State rights to manufacture and vend this invention at reasonable rates.

For further details apply to my Atty. H. G. Strumel Vancouver or to ISAAC L. LANCASTER, Vancouver, W. T., Feb. 8, 1867.

KEEPING FOWLS IN ORCHARDS.—The public has a right to learn the full advantages of keeping poultry...

I have tried it and I know it is so. I have worked about a hundred fowls, which have done admirably among my trees...

PATIENCE.—Nothing teaches patience like a garden. You may ground and watch the opening bud from day to day...

ALWAYS BUY FAT BEEF AND PORK.—There is nearly twenty per cent less water in the carcass of a well fattened animal than in a lean one...

RAISING CALVES.—An English farmer has made a specialty of raising calves "by hand" and out of 160, raised in three years...

How to CATCH COLD.—Go to bed with cold feet; stand on the street and chat with a friend in a gloom after a warming walk...

INTERPERENCE.—The sword has slain its thousands, but strong drink its tens of thousands. The sword has made broken-hearted widows...
