THE SABBATH.

Fresh glides the brook and blows the gale, Yet yonder waits the quiet mill!
The whirling wheel, the rushing mill, How motionless and still!

Six days of toil, poor child of Cain, Thy strength the slave of want may be!
The seventh thy limbs escape the chain—A God hath made thee free!

Ah, tender was the law that gave This holy respite to the breast, To breathe the gale, to watch the wave,
And know the wheel was rest!

But where the wares the gentle glide, With hush charms to light thine eyes!
The spirit reflected on the tide, Implies thee to the skies.

To teach the soul its noblest worth,
The rest from mortal coils is given;
Go snatch the brief respite from earth,
And pass—a guest to heaven.

The Medina Tragedy.

A WOMAN KILLS HER CHILDREN AND DESTROYS

HERSELF.

Following are the particulars of the late dreadful tragedy in Michigan:

ADRIAN, Michigan, Oct. 6th.

Mrs. Simms, who on Wednesday killed her four children and then herself, was 32 or 33 years of age. She was the only child of Horace Garlick, an old and respected citizen of this country and one of the pioneers of this section of country. There seems, to have been some opposition to the marriage on the part of the parents, but they were afterwards reconciled and the two families lived on peaceable and happy terms. Four children blessed the marriage—the oldest a boy of twelve at the time of the tragedy and the youngest a girl of four. Mrs. Simms has had frequent periods of sickness for a number of years past, and had at last become a confirmed invalid, her mind becoming deranged also. Some two years ago she conceived the idea that some great wrong had been done her, and clung to it with the pertinacity of insanity.— About a year ago she attempted to destroy herself by drowning, and was taken from the river with life almost extinct. Since that time, however, her mind has seemed most hopeful, and her friends had hoped that she had recovered from this morbid condition of mind, the more so when, on returning from a recent visit to Oakland county, she seemed greatly invigorated both in mind and body.— But, alas! the frenzy of insanity only slumbered and burst forth with increased fury, and resulted in the commission of a deed, in contemplation of which humanity shudders back appalled.

A letter was found in her dress pocket, written that morning, and addressed to her husband. Our informant did not hear it read, but understood that it dictated as to the disposal of her body, counseled her husband in some matters, and requested that he be kind to her parents, who are aged people, living only a short distance from the scene of this truly shocking occurrence. Whether any reason was assigned for the deed remains to be learned. We would say, however, in this connection, that a gentleman and relative of the deceased, who, with his wife, had often visited the family, informed us that there never was assigned, to his knowledge, anything like marital infidelity on the part of either.

Since penning the above, we learn that the girl has died. It is thought the Kalamazoo tragedy, with which our readers are more or less familiar, had much to do towards instigating Mrs. Simms; the bloody deed she had done, as, since reading the letters of Mrs.
Richards she has often heard to say that she was tired of life and would like to die, but for her children.

The following is the letter which was found in the pocket of Mrs. Simms' dress after her death:

ROBERT—When this meets your gaze you will be a childless widower. My fate is sealed; my doom is inevitable. I take my children that they may never follow in the footsteps of their mother, and that they may escape her sad fate. I can but trust that they are innocent as yet in the sight of God. 'Tis the anguish of despair, the gloom of remorse, that drives me to this. O! my father, I was not to be a dutiful child. I have not been a faithful wife and mother. To the church I have proved an unworthy member, and to God an unprofitable servant. Let not the church suffer by this act of mine. But to you I say hold fast your confidence with unswerving faith. Unworthy as I was a place in your midst, I indulged a hope until I allowed my faith to waver; then Satan tempted me until he ensnared me. Oh! Lucy, Julia, Ophelia, Elida, be true to your trust. Let my untimely fate be a warning to you all. Oh! strive above all things to make your homes happy, to live for the good of others. Amen, Robert, I would to God I could undo the past, but that is irrevocable. I perjured my soul at the altar, and have but lived a lie. Think you not there is no faith in woman? choose you another, remembering that had you manifested of the same spirit for the past few years that you have for the past few months, I should have been a different woman. Be kind to my father and mother, oh, be kind to them. I know not but this will lay them in yonder church-yard. Oh! be kind, be kind, be kind; smooth their dying pillow as I thought. I be-suech you be kind to them, for this is no fault of theirs. Bury us not in the church-yard, but beneath the shade of yonder cherry. Tell Elder Bassett to preach for the benefit of the living, if you deem me worth of such respect, from the text, "The way of the transgressor is hard."

My father and mother farewell; fare you well. There is no cure for despair. The money that has cost you a life of incessant toil is to me but a curse.

NATURE'S BOOK.

It is very well to laugh at book students of nature, but they envy that about them which gives an interest to every flower, cloud and stone they see. They seek the object, and then by the magic of association, the true beauty, fitness, history, which surround and accompany it, reveal themselves. A leaf or a bird is but a letter in the great book, which is read only by those who can put letters together; that is, who have the faculty of association.

The Uncertainties of Law.

The Wisconsin Legislature has finally considered a proposition to repeal all laws for the collection of debts. The mover of the bill, Mr. Elmer, is a great wag, as is evinced by the following extract from a speech on that subject:

The speaker proceeded to review the present system of collecting debts. It was all a humbug and a cheat, a matter of technicalities and legal shuffling. Lawyers gave advice to obtain fees and encourage litigation.
Judges made blunders and mistakes. He had a little experience in law and that was rich. [Laughter.] He would give a history of it. The speaker then related how he had purchased a yoke of oxen, about fifteen years ago—paid $50 for them. A few days after, the son of the man he had bought the oxen of, came to him and said the oxen were his.
He insisted on having pay over again, and commenced a suit before a Justice. The jury didn't agree. Finally through a basswood Justice of the Peace, the case went against him. He appealed to the Circuit Court of Milwaukee. There I lost again, and said to my lawyer: I will give you ten dollars to quote Pennsylvania law to Judge Miller, and get a new trial ordered. [Great Laughter.] He took the ten dollars and performed his duty. A new trial was granted, and venue changed to Walworth county. Judge Irwin was then the judge. Any man who wants a cause in his court, had better go hunting with him and let him claim all the game that was shot, or put his dog. [Laughter.] I fed that dog. [Renewed Laughter.] The case was decided in my favor. When I heard the decision, I thought the dog had followed me about long enough so I turned and gave him a kick. [Laughter.] The yelp of the dog had hardly subsided, ere I heard the Judge say: "Mr. Clerk this judgement is set aside and a new trial granted." [Laughter.] Mr.
Speaker that kick cost me $200! [Convulsive Laughter.] You have no doubt seen suits in a Justice's Court in the country.— There is spent by jurors and hangers on, besides the ill feelings and dissensions caused by it. It is all a cheat. The litigants had better sit down and play a game of old sledge to decide the case. It would be more sure to settle the dispute justly.

IRELAND AND ENGLAND.

Although Ireland and England anatomically "united" in one kingdom, yet it is against the law for Irishmen to enroll themselves in volunteer companies for defense of their country as the English do. And for Irishmen to train or drill, or be trained or drilled—even without arms—is made a felony, punishable by transportation, by an act of Parliament, which does not apply to England, Scotland or Wales.— Since the year 1809, when the so called union was effected, very many acts of Parliament have been passed relating to the possession and use of arms in Ireland, all calculated to keep the great mass of the people in Scotland or Wales. It is against the law for Irishmen in Ireland to take counsel together touching their own public affairs by purpose.
But this disability does not exist in England Scotland or Wales. The above-mentioned laws—to prohibit conventions of delegates, to restrict the possessions of arms, and to punish training and drilling—serve to prevent Irishmen both from authoritative consultation and from effectual action in their own public affairs. None of these laws apply to Englishmen, who are nevertheless stiled by jury men trial by twelve of the neighbors impartially empaneled, without reference to creed or to politics. But in Ireland, when a man is charged with anything styled a political offence, then trial by jury means arraignment before twelve particular persons carefully selected by the Government out of its own partisans.

CHURCH SOUTH.

The Pacific Conference, Church South, held its sixteenth session in Petulaum, commencing Oct. 10th, Bishop Kavanaugh presiding. The following is the statistical report of the body: "Local preachers, 51; Members, 2,357; candidates, 254; Conference Fund, $577,226; Sabbath School collections, $1241,85; Churches, 51—value, 61,809; Parsonages, 22—value, $11, 855; Conversions, 431; baptisms, 160 adult, 228 infant."

On the proposition to change the name of the Church, leaving out the word "South," the vote was 27 for and 8 against. On the motion to concur in the proposition of the General Conference to admit lay representation, the vote was 19 for and 1 against.

Horace Maynard, of Tennessee, gives as "The word for the hour." "Let our laws and institutions speak of white men, not of red men; not of black men, not of men of any race or complexion; but, like the laws of God, the Ten Commandments, and the Lord's prayer, let them speak of virtue."

Fred Douglas, in his late Philadelphia visit, had an interview with his old master and mistress. He had not seen the lady for twenty five years. She was very kind to him when a boy, and received him very cordially.

His old master long ago became convinced of the sin of slavery and freed his slaves. He was now living in Baltimore, but when he heard that his old runaway had been chosen a delegate to the Convention, he came up purposely to see him.

The State Department at Washington has received returns from seven States, denoting that the increase of population, even during the war, was in the following ratio: Minnesota, 40 per cent; Illinois, 25 per cent;— Michigan, 7,3-10 per cent; Rhode Island, 4 per cent; Massachusetts, 3 per cent. Taking the general average of this increase, 13 1/2 per cent, as a fair representation of the ratio of the increase in the other States, the Census Bureau estimates that the population has increased from 39,423,243, the number found by the census of 1850, to 35,000,000.

"What is the difference sixty minutes and my youngest sister?" asked a precocious youth of his grave uncle.—"I don't know, what is it?" was the uncle's reply. "Why, one is an hour, and the other is hour Ann," was the stunning explanation.

A Race for a Bride.

A few days ago, says the Columbia (Ohio) Journal, a young man from abroad came to the city to have a talk with his lady love.— The young lady was much excited and declared that if the young man ever married her it must be at once. This alarming declaration caused the young man to act at once, and he proceeded to the Probate Court to procure the required license. Here the astonishing intelligence awaited him that some other person had received license to marry the same lady named in his own application.— This complicated affairs very much, but the young man, determined to forestall his rival, procured a Justice, and proceeded immediately to the residence of the young lady in question. Number one had been equally cognizant, working however on a different policy.
Number two took the Justice to the young lady. Number one took the young lady to a Justice, and when the aforesaid "young man the second" arrived upon the scene, number one and young lady were man and wife. A miss was as good as a mile, but the old proverb failed to console the disappointed candidate.

The young lady was Miss P., of Uniontown; that number one was a young farmer of the neighborhood, and number two a former captain in some Ohio regiment. The young farmer was the favorite of the young lady, the captain the young lady's accepted suitor on the part of the parents. The father, to expedite his plans, removed his daughter to the city, where arrangements were made for her marriage with the captain.

Young farmer came upon the scene, found where the young lady was sequestered, stole an interview, forestalled his rival in the procuring of a license, assisted the lady to escape from a window, secured the services of Eq-meeker, and was married at the United States Hotel.

It is not generally known that the eldest daughter of the late Gen. Scott died broken hearted in a French convent, because her father would not give his consent for her marriage with a young French nobleman and officer, who was unobjectionable in every respect excepting that Gen. Scott did not wish to have a son-in-law against whom he might have to draw his sword in the event of a collision between France and the United States, in which the suitor to the hand of his daughter would have to take a part, in his capacity of officer in the French army. "The Commander-in-Chief of the United States army should not enter into such entangling alliances," was Gen. Scott's obstinate reply to his daughter's and wife's entreaties. The poor young lady, who while still a pupil at Madame Chaper-ney's school in New York, had been distinguished on account of her remarkable accomplishments, now retired to a convent, where she died a short time afterwards.

THE COMMITTEE MEETING.

A philosophical old gentleman was one day passing a new school house erected somewhat toward the setting sun borders of our glorious Union, when his attention was suddenly aroused by a crowd of persons gathered around the door.
He was going on.

"Well, nothing" 'cept the skule committee, and they're going in."

"And what does the committee meet for?"
"Well," continued the boy, "you see Bill, that's our biggest boy, got mad the other day at the teacher, and so he went all over and gathered dead cats. Nothin' but cats and cats Oh, it was awful, them cats."

"Pahaw, what have the cats to do with the skule committee?"

"Now, well, you see, Bill kept a bringin' cats and cats; always piling them up yonder (pointing to a large pile, as large in extent as a pyramid, and considerably aromatic,) and he piled them and piled them. Nothin, but cats, cats!"

"Never mind my son, what Bill did. What has the committee met for?"
"Then Bill got sick handlin' 'em and everybody got sick nosin' 'em; but Bill got madder, and didn't give up, but kept a piling' up the cats, and—"

"Tell me what the committee are holding a meeting for?"
"Why, the skule committee are going to meet to hold a meeting to say whether they'll move the skule house or the cats."
The old gent evaporated immediately.

TO MAKE A WOMAN.

The Paducah (Ky.)
"Record" says that an ingenious mechanic in that city is about to undertake to manufacture a woman out of the modern improvements, such as false hair, false teeth, false busts, false legs and calves, palpitating sore, etc.; and the only thing that stumps him is how he will make the thing breathe.
Before the "debris" is put together, thinks the "Record," there will be some invention that will answer his purpose. We would advise the seeker after knowledge not to give much for a patent on his invention, however—it will never pay. It is impossible to improve on the real article, and the "generality of mankind in general" will stick to the old-fashioned order of womanhood, with real busts, real hair, real teeth, and the other real arrangements too numerous to be referred to at the present time.

Mrs. Cunningham-Burdell.

The supposed heroine of the great Bond street tragedy, in New York, was on board of the ill-fated steamer Evening Star. She had established an extensive and fashionable maison de groceries in New Orleans, and was returning to that place from a visit to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston, where she had collected a fresh troop of young girls, known as symphes du pere, whom Mrs. Cunningham was conveying to the Crescent City, in order to promote her nefarious business, which was assuming vast proportions. This maitresse du salon has gone to the bottom of the ocean, in company with thirty employees and co-workers in crime.

A WISE EXERCISE.

On one occasion at a dinner at the Bishop of Chester's, Hannah Moore urged Dr. Johnson to take a little wine.
He replied, "I can't drink a little, child, and therefore I never touch it. Abstinence is as easy to me as temperance would be difficult." Many have the same infirmity, but are destitute of the same courage, and therefore are ruined.

The difference between a person overwhelmed with amazement and a leopard's tail, is simply this, the first is rooted to the spot, and the second is spotted to the root.

"I cannot bear children," said Mrs. Prim disdainfully.
Mrs. Partington, looking over her spectacles, mildly replied, "perhaps if you could, you would like them better."

HOW TO TALK TO WOMEN.

There is good sense in the following which we copy from a Washington letter to the New York Independent, the correspondent being a lady:

At a small select party the other evening, a learned Senator made no wonder how old the world would be when great men should speak to women as if they were sensible beings! The gentleman had been conversing with a brother Senator on a subject of public moment, which interests us all, touching as nearly the women who love their country as the men. Anybody with a tolerable knowledge of the English language would have understood that conversation. At least the wife of the Senator stood listening with great interest. But when the gentleman turned to address her, he altered his voice; he changed his manner, as with one vast effort he dropped to the level of small talk. And, Oh! what do you think was the first thing he told her?
A fib, of course. He told her she looked charming; the poor thing, standing there faded and jaded in the pitiless gas light.
Then he remarked on the weather. Then he asked her how many receptions she had attended during the season. Then he hadn't any thing more to say. Then he looked awfully bored. Then he wondered when supper would be ready. The lady felt instinctively that the learned man supposed as a matter of course, that she had neither knowledge nor interest in any subject which could possibly interest him. Timid and sensible, she did not dare to destroy the su-position by broaching a subject or expressing an opinion, lest this very masculine man should change his mind, and think her strong minded and inflexible. This lady had read much, and thought more, and felt most keenly on every subject of public and private weal.
And the wise man, in showing what he supposed to be his superiority showed only how very stupid even a wise man may be. Very I am afraid that the world will be very old before men will realize that they can talk nought but the smallest of talk to women whom they most in society. But Mousiegnours, pray do not make too great pretension. A woman need not be formidably strong minded, nor rightfully literary, nor painfully scientific, to have common sense, and to be able to talk sensibly on all general subjects. Women read newspapers with as much avidity as men, and who can read the newspaper and remain ignorant of the great questions of the day? With all our schools, the press is an ever present educator. Thus, my dear air, very often when you are making yourself ridiculous for the special benefit of a lady she is silently gauging your comprehensions; and touching bottom all the while.

ERONOUS ESTIMATE OF BOYS.

Douglas Jerrold was considered a dull boy; at nine years of age he could scarcely read. Goldsmith was a very unpromising boy. Bryden, Swift and Gibbon, in their earliest pieces did not show any talent. The mother of Sheridan, herself a literary woman, pronounced him to be the dullest and most hopeless of her sons. The father of Barrow is said to have exclaimed, "If it please God to take away any of my children, I hope it will be Isaac. The injudicious parent regarded that lad as a miracle of stupidity, but he afterwards proved the glory of his family.

Mr. Samuel Jessup, aged sixty-five and rich, died lately in Lincolnshire, England.— He was chiefly noted for the immense quantity of pills he consumed. It was proved in a trial before the Court that in one year he took over 50,000 pills. It was shown that, besides he had taken over 40,000 bottles of different mixtures. All this was supplied to him by one apothecary, whose bill, presented in court, took up fifty-five closely-written columns. He must have made a good profit on his bread.

An innocent young girl of Rochester, N. Y., after being accused and arrested for stealing gold rings, and handed over to the jails, treated as a felon, and committed to the society of the degraded and corrupt, has all been saved from a life in the State's prison by the confession of another girl.

NOTABLE DANIELS AND THEIR AUNT.

Charlotte Cushman will shortly celebrate the sixty-fourth anniversary of her birth. Fanny Kemble her forty-ninth year. Kate Bettany is 24 years old, Julia Dean is 35.— Madame Celeste is 64. Mrs. John Wood is 35. Julia Bennett Barrow is 41. Adah Isaacson Macken 27. Avonia Jones, 25.— Kate Reigolds 27. Mrs. J. H. Allen is 25.
Madame Henriques is 20, and is the youngest "leading lady" on the stage. Parola is 38. Miss Hosmer is 26. Maggie Mitchell is 30.

A man who marries a rich wife must expect occasionally to have it hang in his teeth.
We have a report, however, which we think must have silenced certain thrusts. A gentleman who had the misfortune to marry a fortune, was once exhibiting the fine points of his horse to his friend.

"My horse, if you please," said the wife,
"my money bought that horse."
"Yes, Madam," replied the husband, bowing, "and your money bought me."

A cup of tea, according to chemical analysis, contains volatile oil, chlorophyl, wax, resin, gum, tannin, theine, extractive, opothime, albumen, sulphur, phosphorus, chloride of potassium, oxyd of iron, carbonate sulphate, and phosphate of lime, carbonate of magnesia, manganese, and silica—twenty different articles.

A lady whose husband has deserted her says: "May two hundred and forty-seven nightmares trot quarter races over 'his stomach every night. This, probably, will be a relief to what he has endured."

A Canadian newspaper containing the following plaintive advertisement: Will the gentleman who stole my melons on last Sabbath night be generous enough to return me a few of the seeds, as the melons are a rare variety?

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Below we publish an article from the Walla Walla Statesman upon the subject, which we commend to the attention of the members of the Legislature. The recommendation therein contained is well timed and the views therein given are correct:

"We trust that our own Legislature soon to assemble at Olympia, will turn aside for a moment from the consideration of matters merely political, and give attention to the Northern Pacific Railroad. We learn on competent authority that the projectors of this great enterprise are ready at almost any moment to commence operations at either end of their line, and that all they are waiting for is to secure from Congress the same guarantees that are extended to the Central or California road. It will be recollected that for every mile of road constructed on that line the Government issues a certain amount of stock, which stock is placed in the market and becomes the basis for further operations. Under the impetus thus given to the enterprise, work on the Central Road has progressed with such amazing rapidity that the completion of the road within the next two years is rendered almost a certainty. We notice that the construction of a branch road from Salt Lake City to tap the waters of the Columbia, is urged with great earnestness. This is all very well, but the people of the North Pacific coast will never rest content with any mere branch road. The commerce of India, if it is ever made to cross the continent, will find its depot at some point on Puget Sound, besides by railway to the head of Lake Superior, from which point there is a continuous channel of communication with the great commercial emporium of the country. A memorial should at once be adopted by the Washington Territory Legislature, asking Congress to extend the same aid to the Northern Pacific Railroad that has been given to the Central Road. Neither of these great enterprises occupy the position of rivals. There is work for both of them, and their completion will be the crowning glory of the nineteenth century.

ARMY INTELLIGENCE.

News has reached the headquarters of the Department, that an attack by the Indians upon Fort Klamath is feared. The Indians intend to capture if possible the winter supplies of that post. The inhabitants have been ordered to leave the post, and to remain there for the winter to operate in connection with Capt. Kelly's company, U. S. Cavalry, against the Indians. In response to the petition a telegram was sent to the Chief Commissary of the Division, inquiring whether he can supply provisions for two companies during the winter. If the reply is favorable, it is probable that the General will retain Capt. Sprague's Company in service until spring; otherwise that Company will be mustered out by Capt. Kelly either at Jacksonville or Fort Klamath, at the option of that gentleman.

General Steele and a portion of his staff returned from the Dalles day before yesterday, where he reviewed the company of Indian scouts lately mustered into the service. He made a speech to them, which we have heard highly spoken of. He reminded them, that they had been placed upon the same footing with white soldiers, that they were about to fight their old hereditary enemies, that he entrusted to their keeping the battle flag which they should never surrender while living, and that he expected them to do their full duty. One of the chiefs made a suitable response.

Yesterday morning an order was received at headquarters from Gen. Halleck acting under instructions from General Grant, directing the removal of the headquarters of the Department of the Columbia from Vancouver to Portland.

Camp Logan is to be re-occupied by a company of the 8th Cavalry, commanded by Lieut. Western acting under orders of Col. Baker commanding Camp Watson.

Dr. McKay's detachment of Indian scouts will leave the Dalles to-day to be followed in a few days by Mr. Darrough's detachment. They will proceed by way of Crooked river towards Fort Klamath and will probably camp for the winter at Chowa.

News has reached here, that all the money stolen from Major Glenn some months since, has been recovered with the exception of some fifteen hundred dollars. Major Nims just returned last night from the upper country and reports that over $30,000 has been recovered at Warner's lake from soldiers belonging to Capt. Hinton's company. The parties will be tried by Court Martial.

A report was brought down last night, that Lieut. Berry's detachment of the 1st Cavalry had an engagement with the Indians about sixty miles from Camp Watson, five Indians were killed, four horses and over twenty head of cattle were captured. It is also reported, that Lieut Berry's men became unmanageable and killed a number of squaws and Indian children.

MISS TAYLOR.—We learn that Gen. Jeff. C. Davis, Colonel of the 23d Infantry U. S. A., has sailed from New York for this Department with his regiment. His headquarters will be at Fort Vancouver.

CORRESPONDENCE.

STELLACOOM, W. T., Nov. 19, 1866.

If the weather thus far in this vicinity the present fall be any indication of that which is likely to prevail during the winter, we stand a very fair chance of being drowned out. Few can remember when the sun was last seen, so unremitting has been the rain for weeks past. A more disagreeable season than the fall of this year has not been experienced here.

Much more than the usual amount of sickness has prevailed this season, resulting in a number of deaths. Heretofore the healthfulness of this locality has been the boast of its citizens; if future seasons should resemble this in character and results, that boast will be vain. During a period of nine years, which comprises the extent of my residence here, there have been only some five or six deaths in this county from other causes than whiskey, directly or indirectly. It was matter of observation and remark, that no adults died here save from the effects of whiskey, for the truth of which your correspondent fully vouches. The fatal effects of the whiskey vended here is attested not only by premature demise of many whites, but also by the sudden departure of scores of Indians to the hunting grounds of the Great Spirit. Here let me caution you, Mr. Editor, against imbibing too freely when you favor us with a visit; for by far the larger portion of the liquors consumed here are manufactured on the spot. Hence their deadly effects.

Since the adjournment of the Court, nine days ago, our town has relaxed to its former dull, inanimate state. There is little money and less trade; and all complain of hard times. The embarrassment of the lumbering interest seriously affects business of all kinds on Puget Sound. Besides the trade which the lumber mills occasioned, the drafts of the proprietors have always excellent facilities for remittances; as a consequence, therefore, of the pecuniary embarrassment of the mill owners, their drafts are not so valuable or desirable as formerly. It is sincerely hoped, however, that all existing difficulties will be removed ere spring, and that all the mills will soon again be in successful operation.

An earnest effort will be made to do something at this place in the ship-building line, next spring. There is at present one shipyard here, at which there is now on the stocks a fine schooner of about 150 tons. Mr. H. G. Williamson, the proprietor of this yard, has already built two vessels here, one of which (the Eliza Walker) recently returned from a very successful cod-fishing voyage. The vessel he is now building is designed for the same business. She will be ready to launch about the last of December next; and as soon as practicable thereafter he will lay the keel for another vessel. Several parties have been mentioned to me as contemplating coming here to engage in ship-building, and I have no doubt we shall soon have another yard established. For this business Stellacoom affords very superior facilities; having a spacious harbor, no rocks, bold shores, and lumber delivered at the low price of eight dollars per thousand feet. Vessels can be built here, I am informed by practical men, at less than $25 per ton; of course, exclusive of rigging. Surely, with these advantages, Stellacoom ought to do something in the way of shipbuilding, and would do much with the aid of a little capital. I will state here that I am authorized by a mill proprietor to offer lumber to build vessels at the mill (a very suitable place for the purpose) at $5 per thousand; the mill proprietor taking interests in the vessels built to the amount of the lumber bills. To a builder of limited means this is certainly a good chance.

I would notice other matters, but must, for want of time, take another opportunity to do so. Yours, OBSERVER.

OREGON NEWS.

Patrick Brown, tried at Umatilla for the murder of a Frenchman in the Blue mountains last Summer, has been convicted and will be hung.

The number of wagons that have crossed the Cascade mountains by the Barlow road during the present season is 328. The number which crossed last year was 541. Of those which crossed this year 134 belong to immigrants.

Dr. Murray's detachment of Indian scouts, says the Mountaineer, will leave here on Wednesday next for a month's scout up the Des Chutes river, to the old winter ground of Pallas and his band of Snakes. After scouting through Klamath mountains he will cross Crooked river and join Mr. Darragh's detachment, which will leave here in about ten days. The whole command will be rationed for seven months, and if we are not greatly mistaken it will prove to be the most successful expedition that has left Fort Dalles in many years.

The Oregon City Enterprise says: There was entered under the Homestead law, at the Land Office in this city during the month of October five thousand five hundred and twenty-nine and ten one hundredths acres of land. These comprise thirty-six claims, all of which except two, were taken up in Willamette valley, and within this district, which extends a little to the South of Eugene City. Two claims were located, during that month east of the Cascade mountains, in what is to be no opposing "if" in the way—the politician's New State.

The Oregon City Enterprise has information that a company with a cash capital of $75,000 is about organizing in Portland, for the manufacture of paper from cottonwood.

The Unionist learns from one of the members of the German colony at Aurora, on French Prairie, that the main body left in Missouri, are expected soon to emigrate and join them. During the war they were situated in the midst of the troubles, and suffered much during its continuance. This induces them to move to Oregon, where their associates have long been settled and perfectly satisfied. The coming emigration will bring an accession to our wealth and increase the number of our German friends to fifteen hundred, and more sociable and worthy inhabitants cannot be easily found.

We have received the Treasurer's report, but too late for this week. It will appear in our next issue.

A number of persons have arrived in this Valley within the last week direct from Salt Lake. They report business and everything else at the Mormon capital excessively dull, and state that the "Gentiles" are fleeing the country as rapidly as possible. There is a general feeling of insecurity, growing out of the murder of Dr. Robinson, and other recent events, which make the non-Mormon population feel that Salt Lake is no place for them.—Id.

A number of petitions for new roads were presented and referred to viewers who are to make their report at the next term of the board.

DEAD.—Hon. B. N. Sexton of Walla Walla died in that city on the 18th ult, after a long and painful illness. Mr. Sexton came to this Territory in 1861, and since that time filled the office of Clerk of the District Court at Walla Walla. He was also elected twice to represent that county in the Legislature of this Territory. We enjoyed somewhat intimately his acquaintance, and therefore can bear truthful testimony to his sterling worth as a man, his purity of character, his honesty of purpose and many other estimable qualities denoting the perfect gentleman. We deeply deplore his untimely decease.

Scarcely a public building escaped uninjured. Many places of religious worship and school houses were blown down and injured. Of 242 vessels and boats floating in this harbor on the first of Oct. all but one were sunk or driven ashore, before the next day had dawned, and 186 of them were broken up or greatly injured. Standing crops of provisions and fruits have been destroyed, orchards partially uprooted and fields and gardens to a great extent laid bare. The out islands generally exhibit a similar spectacle. The sum of $8,750,000 was voted by the legislature to repair damages. The work of restoration is progressing rapidly.

AN ITEM OF INTEREST.—The number of languages spoken in the world is 164. The number of men is equal to the number of women. The average of human life is 32 years. One quarter die before the age of 7. To every 1,000 persons, one rarely reaches the age 100, and not more than one in 500 will reach the age of 80. There are on the earth 1,000,000,000 persons. Of these about 93,333,333 die every year, 91,824 die every day, 7,788 every hour, and 70 every minute. The losses are balanced by an equal number of births. The married are longer lived than short ones single. Tall men live longer than short ones. Women have more chances of life previous to the age of 50 years, but fewer after than men. The number of marriages is in proportion of 70 to 100. Marriages are more frequent after the equinoxes than during the month of June or December. Those born in the spring are more robust than others. Births and deaths are more frequent by night than by day.

WILLIAMS DRUGS.—This is the name of a new firm, that has lately opened a store at St. Helens. Having invested a good deal of capital at that place and being active and enterprising men they will undoubtedly do a good business. They have adopted a system, that ought to be imitated by every country merchant, and which will generally insure success: that is to buy everything that a farmer raises or produces for cash at a fair market price and not compel him to take it out in trade. Our numerous readers in the lower portion of this county and at St. Helens are requested to read the advertisement of Williams Bros., which appears in another column.

Farm and Household

HORSE STABLES—A writer in the Maine Farmer offers the following suggestions in regard to the building of stables:

It is a fault with most stables that they are built for men rather than for horses. We wish to point out two common errors into which not a few builders are liable to fall in constructing stables, especially those upon farms. The first is in having the doors and upper floors so low as they generally are. On account of these low doors horses instinctively lean to fear them, and they shy, rear or prance whenever led toward them. They are also among the most frequent causes of poll evil. The horse, when passing through them, is either surprised by something that he holds outside the building, or checked by the voice or gesture of the person leading them, when up goes the head and crash goes the pole against the beam of the doorway. A violent blow often results therefrom, and a deep seated abscess follows. Low hay floors also produce the same trouble. The sudden elevation of the head in, in the horse, expressive of very sudden emotion. This effect is always noticed whenever you enter the stable rapidly or at an unusual hour. A sudden noise will also cause the same upward motion of the head. With low stables an injury to the horse is almost invariably sure to follow.

Again, the easiest position in which the horse can stand, is when the hind feet are the highest portion of the body, or when the flooring of the stall slants in exactly the opposite direction from what it does in most stables. This is the other error in constructing stables to which we alluded. Horses at liberty in a pasture invariably stand, when at ease, with their hind feet elevated somewhat and it is almost a wonder that builders of stables have not improved upon this fact. Before adopted floors to the wants of the horse. The moisture from the horse, if the floor slants toward the forward feet, it would help to keep the forward feet moist, cool and healthy, whereas they are now generally hot, full of fever, and require washing with cool soapsuds at least once a day, in order to be kept in a healthy condition. This is not all. Where the floor slants back, the horse not unfrequently attempts to ease the heavy strain upon the flexor tendons of the hind legs by hanging back upon the halter. The pressure upon the seat of the poll stops natural circulation, and in time it develops itself into a deep seated abscess. We would like to see a stable in which the two errors in building we have pointed out did not occur. If the builder was not satisfied with it we are sure the occupant would be, and would repay him by long years of good service with unstrained limbs and a healthy system.

GRAHAM BREAD.—To make excellent Graham, sift the flour and mix it with cold water or lather, with sweet milk, as thick as you can stir readily. Drop into small pans until about half full, and bake in a quick oven. Use no salt, for it makes it heavy. If the crusts are too hard, dip them in cold water when you take them from the oven.

TO MAKE POP CORN BALLS.—Parch the corn in a kettle. While it is hot pour in some molasses of good quality. Keep it on the fire and stir briskly. After stirring five or ten minutes, take the corn off the fire, and as it cools, form it into balls with the hands. Have ready some corn parched in the usual way, and roll the warm ball in it.

WHAT MAKES A BUSHEL.—The following table of the number of pounds of various articles to a bushel, may be of interest to our readers:

- Wheat, sixty pounds.
Corn, shelled, fifty-six pounds.
Corn, on the cob, seventy pounds.
Rye, fifty-six pounds.
Oats, thirty six pounds.
Barley, forty-six pounds.
Buckwheat, fifty six pounds.
Irish potatoes, sixty pounds.
Sweet potatoes, fifty pounds.
Onions, fifty seven pounds.
Beans, sixty pounds.
Bran, twenty pounds.
Cover seed, sixty pounds.
Timothy seed, forty-five pounds.
Hemp seed, forty-five pounds.
Bluegrass seed, fourteen pounds.
Dried peaches, thirty-three pounds.

DEODORIZERS.—The following articles are easily available for the suppression of noxious gases, so fatal to health and life:

Two pounds of sulphate of iron (copperas) dissolved in a pailful of water, and poured into a vault, will prevent the formation of sulphuretted hydrogen gas for some time, and will generally be sufficient to remove all nuisance.

A layer of charcoal dust will prevent the escape of all offensive odor from any decomposing substance.

One pound of nitrate of lead dissolved in a pailful of water, is excellent for sinks, sink drains and vaults.

If other things fail, chloride of lime is always effectual, and may be freely used upon vaults and other collections of filth.

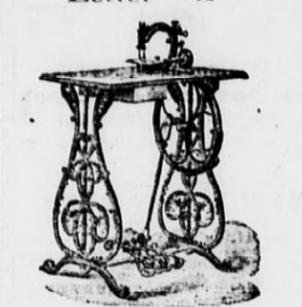

These substances are not expensive, and will effectually destroy all the offensive smells. The quantity to be used will depend on the quantity of filth to be deodorized, and their permanency of effect upon local conditions in each case.

HOW TO MAKE GOOD BUTTER.—Leo, of Raymond, New Hampshire, writes to the Rural New Yorker:

It is a well known fact that a good location and cleanliness are among the most essential points in making good butter. Every dairy should be so located that it may be cool and shady, with a good draft of air circulating through it. A large dairy and well filled ought to be the motto of every farm house. As soon as the milk is brought in it should be scalded, as we get more cream and better by so doing. Butter comes better and is not so liable to be soft and sticky. As soon as taken from the churn it should be thoroughly worked left until next morning and worked again. Next salt in the following way: Take two quarts of good salt, one ounce of sugar and one ounce of salt peter. Use one ounce of this composition for one pound of butter. It should be stamped and left to cool before putting in jars. Butter prepared in this way should not be used in two or three weeks. You will find that your butter will be very fine, as it will have no brittle or salty look or taste. By following this course your butter will keep the year through, in warm as well as cold weather.

"I have great confidence," says a writer "in young men who believed in themselves and are accustomed to rely on their own resources from an early period. When a resolute young fellow steps up to the great bully, the world, and takes him boldly by the beard, he is often surprised to find it comes off in his hand, and that it was only tied on to scare away timid adventurers."
