POETICAL SELECTIONS.

Give Me Rest. Only one moment, unfettered by care, Hushed as the temple devoted to prayer, When Heaven is painting the West, Flooding the curtain of night with a star— Give me rest.

The Wanderer. Upon the world's wide thoroughfare My lot is cast. So be it! Each on his back his burden bears, And feels, though he may not see it, My life is not more hard than theirs Who toil on either side.

My life is not more hard than theirs Who toil on either side. They cry for quiet in their prayers, And it is still denied. But sometime when I stand alone, Life passes—now and then; And in the distance dies the moan Of miserable men.

As in a dream (how strange!) I seem To be lapsing slowly, From the noise and bustle of life Where all is hushed and still. Ah, love! our way's in a stranger land; We may not rest together; For an angel takes me by the hand, And leads me—whither? whither?

THE FRAUDULENT PRESIDENT. The Electoral "Crookedness" to be Inquired. ANAPOLIS, Jan. 3.—Montgomery Blair in the house of delegates to-day introduced a resolution memorializing congress, which sets forth:

That the late electoral bill provided that no decision of the presidential election under that act should preclude a judicial decision of the question; that act contemplated a decision of the question of the case submitted to the electoral commission by a judicial tribunal, provided that the commission did hold itself incompetent to inquire whether some state returns were true or false, and that the president is seated in virtue of notoriously fraudulent returns, which Justice Strong, whose vote sealed him, has admitted, and the president himself has admitted by disregarding returns in the matter of state officers whose titles were identical with his, whilst reputation of these returns by the incumbent for all purposes save his own election is an admission that he is a fraud to use them for that purpose.

The tailors considered all his transactions strictly confidential, and continued: "This is only a branch of our business, which is that of regular tailors, but it has brought us a good many customers in the regular way. Our coats are of such a make and such good fits that they do not look like hired coats at all; so that the better classes do better with us than they could with the customers."

"What do you do with these coats when they are worn out?" "As soon as they begin to look shabby we sell them. Every summer we have a sale of the clothes used during the previous winter. We sell them off to waiters in the hotels and restaurants for $2 50 and $3 each. Those that are not suitable for waiters we get rid of to the second-hand clothing, and then they are sold here and down south, to dealers in colored clothes and such on. A coat may be made for some prominent gentleman in New York by some fashionable tailor; it does not fit; I buy it and hire it out for a season; then I sell it to a dealer and he sells it to some waiter, and that waiter may wait upon the gentleman for whom the coat was made, in his own garment; so you see our trade unites all classes of society."

THE citizens of Eureka, Humboldt county, California, have decided in favor of that city issuing 7 per cent. bonds, payable in twenty years, to the amount of $75,000, to build a railroad from that place to Eel river valley, pledging themselves that no Chinese shall be employed, and appointing a committee of twelve to draft a bill on the subject for the attention and consideration of the legislature.

HIRING DRESS COATS.

How a Man can get a Handsome Wedding Garment for one Evening Only. There has recently been established on Broome street a place where, upon the payment of a very moderate sum, dress coats can be hired by the day or night on easy terms.

For about a quarter of a mile the road passes through what is known as the 'Black Forest,' on account of the density of the timber and undergrowth. The trees grow to a great height, and are large in dimensions. The ground in the woods is a little swampy, and is grown up with bushes. Mary and the young man had reached the middle of this forest when they were startled by a peculiar scream or shriek coming from the woods.

THE LADIES OF FRISCO.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal says: The women of San Francisco have a perfect passion for wealth. They have a terrible longing for fashionable life. They think of ease and luxury and would make life a complete holiday. Dresses and diamonds, the opera and theater, a never-ending round of social gaiety and frivolity constitute the height of female ambition here. I was dining with a friend at the Grand Hotel, and opposite us sat three young ladies engaged in an animated conversation.

AMERICAN SOCIAL LIFE.—The foe of American social life is in the tendency to luxury and effeminacy among the wealthy and young women of American cities and large towns. They do not realize how this dreadfully mania for expensive pleasures, and a life of alternate idleness and amusement is destroying their health, abolishing true marriage, fanning the flame of gross sensuality and intemperance among young men, and saddening the hopes of the best parents of the land.

A LOST GYASTICUTUS.

LIBERTY, (Ind.), December 25, 1877.—We have just had the particular and remarkable occurrence that has been our lot to chronicle. The occurrence took place near Rising Sun, a small village about eight miles east of here, and as there is no mail communication between the two places, the particulars have been about two weeks in reaching here.

A NEW YORK SENSATION.

A Lawyer's Attachment, and its Consequences. A terrible sensation has been created among the political and fashionable circles, and particularly among the club men and leading members of the legal profession, through the publication of the narrative of a woman's grievous wrongs at the hands of a very prominent lawyer, whose name, although not given to the general public, can be at once recognized as a resident of Fifth avenue, a conspicuous politician and aspirant to nomination for one of the most important foreign missions.

Ben. Butler on Silver.

In sixty days the silver bill will have become a law of the land. It will pass congress, and if the president vetoes it—and I don't believe that he will—it will be passed over his veto. It will pass the house by a three-fourths vote, and will receive so near a two-thirds vote in the senate that, if it be vetoed, there will be enough strength in that branch to pass it over the veto.

THE Russians have a tradition that no czar will reach his sixtieth birthday. The present czar lacks but seven months of being sixty years old.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—About 9:30 o'clock last evening a shooting affray occurred in the gambling room above the "K. P." saloon on First street. The principal in the affair was Dan Murphy, a well known sporting man, and Thomas F. Tilden. The particulars of the difficulty are about as follows, as nearly as can be ascertained: Murphy was dealing faro at the table and Tilden was engaged in playing at the table with other persons. A large number of persons were in the room at the time of the shooting, most of whom were spectators, watching a poker and other games that were being carried on.

UNFAVORABLE TO SUBSIDIES.—Careful inquiry leads to the conclusion that the present congress is unfavorable to subsidies. A considerable number of democrats in the present house who would otherwise vote for government aid to railroads and other schemes believe it to be wise to postpone action on the subject until after the elections next fall. The Texas and Pacific bill may possibly be reported from the committee on Pacific railroads in the house, but there is even some doubt about that.

SENATOR BEN HILL thinks that principle and policy alike demand the maintenance of the national honor. But what chance have principle and policy against the thieves who have been running the government?

ERISTS, the newly admitted senator from Louisiana, gets about $20,000 back pay in a lump, besides $2000 or $3000 mileage. That's what it is to be kept out of one's seat. We'd stay out of our's forever at the same price.

THE SPOILS.—It has been customary to hold Senator Conkling up to the country as one of those towering intellectual statesmen who do not condescend to look after the hay and fish, etc., of office, but the fight he is making to keep his friends and supporters in the New York custom house shows that he does not neglect the rough ends of politics in his lofty regard for great principles. He is as vigorous in his clutch upon the spoils as Simon Cameron ever was.

WILLIAM E. CHANDLER, as consummate a political sounder as ever went unlung, recently came out in a long letter exposing Hayes' fraudulent bargain and sale of the party to the south in consideration of his being lifted into the presidential chair. The letter has created a big sensation, and Chandler's political brethren who were so deeply implicated in the infamous frauds and perjuries which seated Hayes, are all hastening to deny his statements. Let the villains fight. When rogues fall out, honest men will get their dues.

THE FRAUD.—It is interesting to hear Chandler, there say: "In Louisiana, however, there had been thrown into the hall, over 7000 more votes for the Tilden than for the Hayes electors, and to make Hayes president it became necessary for the returning board, acting under peculiar local laws, to throw out more than 7000 Tilden votes to perform this extraordinary, even if justifiable, work, &c." Let honest republicans paste that in their hats. It is a confession by one of the conspirators of the fraud, in a nut-shell.

NEWSPAPER INDEPENDENCE.—On the above subject the Cleveland Herald gives an account to the following Herald gives an account to the following independent newspaper is one that has decided convictions; that puts principles above party advantage; that treats its opponents fairly; that gives its readers a chance to see both sides of every important question; that does not subsist on the crumbs of official patronage, nor pop up and down, like a jack-in-a-box, when some cue of politicians or some party "boss" pulls the wires; that is simple, honest, decent and of good repute among good men.

A NAVAL COMMISSION.—If one-half be true that is said about the worthlessness of the American navy, it is about time that an investigation were set on foot to discover how its efficiency can be improved. So must think Secretary Thompson, for he has organized a commission of bureau officers, consisting of Rear-Admiral Howell, president; Rear-Admiral Ammen, Commodore Shufeldt, Engineer-in-Chief Shook, Captain Jeffers and Constructor Easley, to investigate and report upon the class of vessels best adapted for service in the navy; the dimensions, tonnage and battery of each particular class; the number of each class required, and the material of which they are to be built.

THERE IS NO HELL.—So says Dean Stanley. So says Canon Farrer. So says Henry Ward Beecher. So says Bob Ingersoll. So says many more others, but saying so does not make it so. Though the Dean, the Canon and the lecherous Henry are tolerably well versed in the affairs of this world, we do not believe they are any better qualified to teach us the whys and wherefores of the great hereafter than any one else. One thing is certain, if there is a hell—a place of eternal punishment—we all ought to know it, and if those who are professing in regard to the matter (if there are any such) do not give us the bottom facts they will fall far short of their duty.

SUFFERING IN ENGLAND.—In consequence of the extraordinary depression in trade and manufacture in England, in iron establishments and the mines, especially, many thousands of working-people—men, women and children—are out of employment, and suffering fearfully for want of clothing, food and shelter. A large number are begging in the streets and highways, and some, driven to desperation, rob and plunder where they can. Memorials have been addressed to the government to appropriate a sum of money to cover the expense of work that shall be done on public roads by which to furnish employment to these destitute people. They must have help, or they will perish.

TRICKY AND DECEITFUL.—Mr. Hayes can blame only himself and his immediate counselors for the position in which he finds himself, observes the New York Herald. It is not his Southern policy that has brought him into this predicament; for in spite of some faults of execution that policy is right in itself and has been honestly and consistently maintained. It is mainly his vacillating, winking and insincere course in relation to the civil service that has enabled his opponents to win this recent triumph. His civil service methods have been ill-judged, tricky and deceitful. He was weak and vacillating enough to set out with a parade of high-falootin' pretensions. There was a challenging air of "bounce" and self-assumption which raised doubts of his good sense and solidity of character and displayed an unconsciousness of obstacles which was really ludicrous.

SENTENCED.—A court in New York has sentenced an ex-life insurance president to five years in the state prison, swearing to a false statement of the affairs of his company. The culprit made a plea for mercy, saying that he had been hoodwinked by the press, but the judge was not moved to sympathy. On the contrary, he said, in effect, that he was glad the process of law had passed the culprit over to him, and proceeded to pronounce sentence with a cheerfulness of countenance which doubtless seemed an evidence of heartlessness to the prisoner. But this New York court has done a good piece of business, the ultimate importance of which will depend very much upon the fidelity with which its example is followed in other portions of the country. There has been altogether too much of this false swearing in reference to the assets of life insurance companies and savings banks, and we know of no more effective means of putting a stop to it than that pursued by the New York court.

THE NEW STATE.—The Prest Sound Intelligencer thinks that at the next election it will be necessary to elect a democratic delegate in order to ensure the admission of the proposed State of Washington. A democratic delegate as a matter of course would have some influence with a democratic congress, but we take it that the new state will have to elect democratic senators, and a democratic congress, or otherwise there will not be the slightest chance for admission. The democrats are not likely to permit the admission of two republican senators, and thus ensure the republicans the control of the senate down to the close of fraudulent Hayes' administration. The democrats were badly cheated in the case of Colorado, and it is not likely they will again walk into a trap. Ferry and his gang of thieves may as well understand that neither he nor any of his kind will be allowed to represent the proposed state, and that the movement is to succeed, the thieves who rule the roost at Olympia will have to take back seats.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.—Mr. Hayes promises, or threatens, the country with another exposition of his ideas and intentions in regard to civil service reform. He has already proved himself a demagogue and backslider on the subject. Like the carman, who looks one way and goes the other, he has turned his face from his own course. So far his practice has been almost invariably contrary to his professions, as to appointments for office. It would be difficult for any in the executive chair to rake together so many feeble, incompetent, bad, wretched, or racially public servants as Grant appointed during his two terms; but instead of improving on the lot, as a general thing, Hayes has done worse. A paramount consideration, in many cases, appears to have been a residence in Ohio. The character or capability of the appointee seemed to be of little or no account—if he were a radical, and from Ohio, he got his billet. Then came the appointment of the infamous scoundrel of the Louisiana returning board, and others of less notoriety, but nearly as unworthy. And of the hundreds to whom he has dispensed important federal offices, there are not so many as one-third who can be regarded as honest and capable. But to cap the climax of the absurdity involved in his promise of reforming the service, it is known as a fact that a fellow named Beauchamp, who hails from Indiana, and is cousin at Cologne, is so illiterate as to be unable to correctly spell even the simple words of one syllable. This is known at the state department, and Mr. Hayes cannot be unaware of the fellow's ignorance; yet he has re-appointed him. Also, in relation to the nomination he made of Prince, of New York, as naval officer—which the senate rejected on Conkling's motion—the Sun says the nominee is one of the most corrupt radical politicians that ever figured in party schemes. With all this insincere conduct on the part of Mr. Hayes, to prove the honesty and hollowness of civil service reform, nothing he can now say will lead the people to believe he is in earnest or truthful. It will be time enough to believe he is when he shall practice as he preaches.

SQUARING.—The Olympia Courier, Gov. Ferry's personal organ, has the following: "The Walla Walla Statesman affects to think that if Washington were to become a state with Gov. Ferry at the head of its government the annual expenses would amount up near a million. This squib tones with poor grace from a prominent member of the democratic party, under whose management the territory was run into debt so heavily that warrants on its treasury were worth only 30 to 35 cents on the dollar. The cheekiness of the above will be understood when it is borne in mind that for a period of 17 years the territory has been constantly under republican rule, and that democrats had neither control nor management. It is true that by adding fifty per cent to the territorial tax script was brought up to its face, but this can scarcely be regarded as a proof of economy, or financial ability. Under Ferry's rule the expenditures of the territory have been constantly growing, and to make his swindles stick he has not hesitated to form combinations with venal democrats. Boss Tweed in New York originated the plan of combining both parties for the purpose of swindling the public, and Ferry was not slow to follow in the footsteps of the great thief."

WAR FEELING IN ENGLAND.—The London correspondent of the Chicago Times represents England as on the verge of war. He represents the cabinet as hopelessly divided, and gives credence to the rumor that a peremptory demand will be made on Russia to define her intentions in regard to Turkey. If this demand is made and does not elicit an unsatisfactory reply, the Russian cabinet will have changed its tone under the threat it implies. Any such change of tone, however, is not expected. No one is entertained with the idea that Russia will demand for her terms of peace. England will thus endeavor to enforce her right to mediate, which, of course, can only be done by making war. The correspondent referred to thinks that Lord Beaconsfield is backed by the Queen and a majority of the cabinet, and that he is fixed in the determination to make Russia stop where she is or precipitate a conflict. Another dispatch says that there is talk of a dissolution of Parliament, in consequence of a division in the cabinet. Although the London correspondent is somewhat given to investing rumors with undue importance, there is no doubt that the situation in England causes grave apprehensions.

PUBLIC PRINTING.—The democratic legislature of South Carolina, finding that its radical predecessors had appropriated two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for printing, cut down the appropriation to ten thousand, and thought they had touched bottom. The printing committee, however, has ascertained that, of this amount, four thousand remains unexpended in the treasury, after all bills are paid—and the figures tell their own story. The radicals who manage affairs at Olympia, run the public printing after the style of the South Carolina thieves. It was in this way that Bagley was able to pay Struve $1000 out of the printing fund, as his share of the plunder. These are the radicals who expect to control the new state, and rob the people out of their hard earnings.

GET READY.—Now that the new year has begun, the political world may be considered to have entered upon another campaign. It is a good while yet until the election, is it true, but it would not be wise to wait until the eve of the battle before our forces are put in martial array. Therefore, we say to the democracy now, begin the work of organization. Get your townships and school districts well in hand, and ascertain just what you will be able to accomplish when the time for the conflict shall have arrived. It is not too early, however, either, to suggest that you select your best men for delegates, and impress upon them the duty of nominating candidates of unimpeachable integrity and first-class capacity.

THE FRAUDULENT ADMINISTRATION.—A Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, radical, says: "The Mr. Hayes, of the republican party, who placed and forborne with the whims, fancies and vagaries of the president, and his shallow advisers until forbearance has ceased to be a virtue, and now we find the men who have been leading the forlorn hope in his defense have to give way to the swelling current sweeping down everything against his fraudulent administration."

A SUGGESTION.—It appears that there are five or six millions of dollars now lying in the bank of England, without an owner. The money was placed there by the late "southern" secretary, but the owners having disappeared, it shall be done with the spondulies. We think it would be a good thing to bestow it upon editors, and if this should be finally determined upon, why just count us right in.

CONKLING.—The Washington Capitol says it was the first to offer a handsome reward to the poet who would find a rhyme of Conkling doing "southern" duty. But our Jones—thinks he has hit it, and so sends the following: "There was an old duffer called Conkling, Who to Arthur and Prince did strong cling, He knocked President Hayes Into a dumb founded daze, And cavorted like any young dorking."

TAKING WAYS.—A Georgia member of congress says that postmaster-general Key is mistaken in his deductions over the independent in the Georgia legislature. He says that none of them are Hayes men except the one that he gives them, and that the majority of them are more democratic than the regular candidates who they defeated.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3, 1878. EDITOR STATESMAN.—New Year's day was more generally observed here than on any former occasion. All the departments were closed and business generally was suspended. The weather was all that could be desired. There was the usual janet and very many "privations received."

Prior to the departure of Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, president of the company, from this state it was determined to completely overhaul and rebuild the old steamer Onondaga, which for many years has been running between Portland and the Cascade. It was intended to build a new hull, place the Onondaga's cabin on the new craft, and put in larger and more powerful machinery. On considering the matter, it was subsequently concluded to build a new boat throughout of larger dimensions and with more powerful machinery. The Onondaga is now lying at the boneyard being broken up. Work on the new boat will be commenced soon and pushed forward to an early completion.

The new boat will be 200 feet long, 33 feet beam and 8 feet hold. She will be a twin-hull boat, each hull being 25 feet in diameter, driven by two engines of 24 inch bore and 6 feet stroke. The freight accommodations will be greatly superior to the old boat, and the cabin appointments, arrangements, etc., will be very extensive. It is expected that the new boat will be ready for service early next summer.

A new boat is to be constructed the present season at Tenino. The following are the dimensions: Length 200 feet, beam 38 feet, hold 6 feet. She will have a carrying capacity of three hundred tons at extreme low water, being of light draft. The new boat will be a stern-wheel. The wheel will be 19 feet in diameter. The engines are to be 18 inch bore and 7 feet stroke. The boiler will be of Gate's patent, powerfully constructed, and capable of carrying with perfect safety 140 pounds of steam. The machinery for this boat has been put up at Wilmington, Delaware, and will be shipped for this port on the O. S. N. Co.'s new steamer State of Oregon, to sail from New York to-morrow. The work on this boat will be completed in time for the summer and fall trade. A full cabin will not be built, but one capable of accommodating a number of passengers—eighteen staterooms—will be constructed.

Plans have also been drafted for a new boat to be built this season, work on which will soon be commenced. In tonnage and dimensions this craft will be equal to the Spokane. The plans call for the construction of a boat 151 feet long, 32 feet beam and four feet hold. The boat will be propelled by engines of 14 inch bore and eight feet stroke. A fourth boat will be constructed this season at the Dalles of the following dimensions: Length 215 feet, hold nine feet, beam 39 feet, engines 28 inch bore, eight feet stroke. In model and general build the new boat will be a duplicate of the West. The machinery was built at Wilmington, and is to be brought here on the State of Oregon.

With the addition of these new boats, the Oregon Steam Navigation Company will own the most magnificent fleet of river steamers of any corporation on the coast.—Oregonian.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The state constitution of South Carolina has been amended, levying a compulsory state tax of two mills on the dollar on all species of property, for a school fund. That will give her the best school fund of any state in the union, taking the number of children into consideration.

WORKINGMEN.—The Virginia City Enterprise urges workingmen to keep away from the places where there are even now hundreds of men out of employment who are anxious to work but cannot get anything to do, and as a consequence there is considerable suffering among them.

THERE is a Welshman lecturing in Utah who asserts that Adam spoke the Welsh language fluently and grammatically. That man must have been born the same year as Susan B. Anthony, or he could not have been a witness of the fact that he asserts.

A FLEET OF STEAMBOATS.

THE O. S. N. Co. will build four river steamers this season. Mr. John Gates, chief engineer of the O. S. N. Co., showed us plans, specifications, etc., yesterday of several large steamboats which are to be built the present season.

Prior to the departure of Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, president of the company, from this state it was determined to completely overhaul and rebuild the old steamer Onondaga, which for many years has been running between Portland and the Cascade. It was intended to build a new hull, place the Onondaga's cabin on the new craft, and put in larger and more powerful machinery. On considering the matter, it was subsequently concluded to build a new boat throughout of larger dimensions and with more powerful machinery. The Onondaga is now lying at the boneyard being broken up. Work on the new boat will be commenced soon and pushed forward to an early completion.

The new boat will be 200 feet long, 33 feet beam and 8 feet hold. She will be a twin-hull boat, each hull being 25 feet in diameter, driven by two engines of 24 inch bore and 6 feet stroke. The freight accommodations will be greatly superior to the old boat, and the cabin appointments, arrangements, etc., will be very extensive. It is expected that the new boat will be ready for service early next summer.

A new boat is to be constructed the present season at Tenino. The following are the dimensions: Length 200 feet, beam 38 feet, hold 6 feet. She will have a carrying capacity of three hundred tons at extreme low water, being of light draft. The new boat will be a stern-wheel. The wheel will be 19 feet in diameter. The engines are to be 18 inch bore and 7 feet stroke. The boiler will be of Gate's patent, powerfully constructed, and capable of carrying with perfect safety 140 pounds of steam. The machinery for this boat has been put up at Wilmington, Delaware, and will be shipped for this port on the O. S. N. Co.'s new steamer State of Oregon, to sail from New York to-morrow. The work on this boat will be completed in time for the summer and fall trade. A full cabin will not be built, but one capable of accommodating a number of passengers—eighteen staterooms—will be constructed.

Plans have also been drafted for a new boat to be built this season, work on which will soon be commenced. In tonnage and dimensions this craft will be equal to the Spokane. The plans call for the construction of a boat 151 feet long, 32 feet beam and four feet hold. The boat will be propelled by engines of 14 inch bore and eight feet stroke. A fourth boat will be constructed this season at the Dalles of the following dimensions: Length 215 feet, hold nine feet, beam 39 feet, engines 28 inch bore, eight feet stroke. In model and general build the new boat will be a duplicate of the West. The machinery was built at Wilmington, and is to be brought here on the State of Oregon.

With the addition of these new boats, the Oregon Steam Navigation Company will own the most magnificent fleet of river steamers of any corporation on the coast.—Oregonian.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The state constitution of South Carolina has been amended, levying a compulsory state tax of two mills on the dollar on all species of property, for a school fund. That will give her the best school fund of any state in the union, taking the number of children into consideration.

JOHNSON, REES & WINANS

Mrs. J. H. Bennett, the dress maker, is about to remove to the Palouse country.

The Sociable at the residence of H. P. Jones, Esq., Thursday evening, was one of the most pleasant reunions of the season.

J. L. Quackenbush, Esq., representing the North Pacific Insurance Association, is at Walla Walla in the interest of his company.

A Sociable, under the direction of Professor Hixon, at Central Hall, on Monday evening, January 21. Invitations to the previous sociable will be good on this evening.

THANKS.—The members of Prof. Huson's singing classes, passed a unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. H. A. Sears, for valuable services rendered on Monday evening, January 14th.

The Sociable, in aid of the Free Library, will be held at the residence of Major R. L. Ross, Thursday evening next, when a full attendance of the friends of the enterprise is requested.

ARMY.—An indebtedness of $13,000, and has something to show for the debt. Walla Walla owes a larger sum, for which we can point to fifty streets, and any number of "ail-whipped politicians."

LEWIS McMorris has gone to Washington, and as usual, rumor has it that his business is to look after mail contracts. Lewis has met with some success as a "stock operator," but when it comes to mails, he is altogether of too light timber.

APPLES.—The Statesman office is indebted to Mr. Wm. H. McGuire, one of our oldest subscribers, for a very fine lot of apples, embracing a number of varieties, and all of extra quality. The boys of the office appreciate the compliment and return thanks.

DEMOCRATIC POLITICS.—A meeting of the democratic state central committee will be held at Portland, on Thursday, January 31st. This is preparatory to a call for a democratic state convention. With wise management the democrats can easily carry the state of Oregon at the June election.

JACK JACK is over at Victoria, and is reported by the Colonist as drawing good horses. Miss Annie Pirmin is quite a favorite with our British Columbia friends, and is endorsed as a "great actress." We are glad to hear it. At Walla Walla Miss Pirmin never was appreciated as she deserved.

TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.—The holiday season being about over, Mr. J. Bauer will dispose of his stock of toys, fancy goods, etc., remaining on hand, at cost, and even less than cost, to make room for his spring stock. Many of these are articles both useful and ornamental, and all worthy the attention of purchasers.

CHRIS ENNIS, so long in the employ of Mr. Kirkman, of the "Power Market," is about to open a shop of his own. He has taken a building on the north side of Main street, between Second and Third, and will be in his new quarters by the first of the coming month. Chris is a clever young man, and without doubt will have his fair share of trade.

NEW BANK.—We learn that a number of capitalists, including a wealthy New Yorker, propose to establish a bank at Walla Walla, with capital sufficiently large to add all legitimate enterprises. This bank will loan money at lower rates than have heretofore ruled in this market, and will afford farmers and stock raisers all the facilities they require.

SERIOUSLY ILL.—We learn that the wife of Major Conroy, agent in charge of the Umatilla Reservation, is seriously and even dangerously ill. Monday night, at a late hour, Dr. McHardy, of this city, was summoned to go to her relief, and at the time the messenger left it was feared that she would not live until the following morning.

ILLUMINATED SIGNS.—Mr. J. R. Lewis, the bookseller, has recently had placed in front of his store a couple of illuminated signs that are something new in this quarter. On one of the signs is the figure head of a well known citizen, the resemblance being unmistakable. On the other is the picture of a fat boy—no relation to the editor. These signs are well executed and attract a great deal of attention.

JAMES BROWN, brother of John Brown, whose death was noticed in our issue of last week, arrived at Walla Walla, Monday last, having come through with all possible rapidity, but too late to attend his brother's funeral. Mr. Brown was greatly gratified to learn of the attention paid to his deceased brother, and is profuse in his thanks to our people for the respect shown all through his sickness and at the funeral.

ANOTHER STRIKE.—A few weeks since the hens in this valley went on a "strike," and left the county in an 1877-haunted condition. We now have to chronicle a similar freak on the part of the cows, and as a consequence the "regular boarder" is denied his usual supply of the lactical fluid wherewith to dilute his coffee. These "strikes" sustain the Darwin theory that men and animals are descended from a common ancestor, and have like instincts.

AFTER THE FUGITIVE.—Monday last, J. R. Thompson, deputy sheriff, started for Sacramento to bring back L. F. Holman, a fugitive from justice. Mr. Thompson expects to have a rough trip, but he was so anxious for the recapture of the prisoner that all inconveniences with him go for nothing. We will wager a small sum that if Jimmy ever gets his hands on Holman he will never let him go again until released by due process of law.

UNDER THE WEATHER.—The editor of the Statesman is under the weather, and hence is unable to give his usual attention to the editorial columns. The editor has an unfortunate weakness for attending "sociables" and "surprise parties," and invariably suffers therefrom. If he felt before these parties as he does afterwards, he would be more careful, but this is a kind of wisdom he is unable to learn, and hence he continues year after year in the same round of pleasure, followed by suffering. Such is life.

SURPRISE PARTY.—The residence of Mr. Thos. Quinn was taken possession of on Tuesday night, by a company of friends, and himself and wife treated to a genuine surprise party. The entertainment included music, singing, etc., and wound up with a magnificent supper—the table heaped down with all the delicacies of the season. The ladies who had charge of the "surprise," and managed the whole affair, were eminently successful, and gave their friends an entertainment that will long be remembered.

DIVORCE TRIAL.—The case of Tierney vs. Tierney, application for a divorce, occupied the attention of Judge Wingard for several days. Monday last judgment was entered for the plaintiff. The decree orders the defendant to pay the divorced wife the sum of one thousand dollars; he is also to pay twenty dollars a month toward the support of the child, issue of said marriage. He is also to pay two hundred dollars attorneys' fees, sixty dollars as a reporter's fee, and all the costs of suit. Figured all the judgment represents about $4000. The grandmother is to have the care of the child until the court otherwise directs.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.—We notice that the names of quite a number of very respectable gentlemen are being put forward as proper persons to assist in framing the constitution for the proposed State of Washington. It is deemed a high honor to take part in framing the fundamental law for a new commonwealth, and hence this rush to the front of so many aspirants, whose chief recommendation is their respectability. At the sessions of the legislature it is uniformly found that the counties send up men altogether respectable, but who are woefully lacking in ability. A correspondent refers to a respectable old gentleman who during an entire session made but one motion, and to do that it was necessary for the speaker to prompt him. Now the representative was paid at the rate of $6 a day, which for a period of forty days represents $240, and mileage, say $100, makes the total cost of $340 for a single motion. At these figures an incompetent man is a dear investment, and we have to suggest that such men will be out of place in the constitutional convention. In the convention that framed the national constitution the ablest men in the land were gathered together, and the result was an instrument that challenges the admiration of the world. So in Washington territory, the best and ablest men should be selected to frame the new constitution, and then we may expect that the fundamental law of the state will be a model paper of its kind. The putty-heads that have heretofore had places in the legislature have made Washington territory the laughing stock of the country. When we come to electing delegates to the constitutional convention let us make a better showing.

FINE STONE WORK.—Our neighbor, Mr. D. J. Coleman, on the opposite side of the street, has just completed several very fine monuments that are creditable to his skill as a workman in marble. The first is a stone made to the order of Hon. C. S. Bush, and already placed over the grave of his son in the Walla Walla cemetery. The work on this stone, the lettering and everything about it, is very fine. Next is a marble tombstone intended to be placed over the grave of Lewis McGary, who now rests in the Catholic cemetery. This tombstone is made to the order of his widow, and is the highest evidence of how well she cherishes the memory of her deceased husband. Another handsome tombstone is that made for Mr. George A. Reed, and intended to be placed over the grave of his wife. Like the others it is well lettered and highly finished. A monument made for Mr. J. H. Kennedy, of Dayton, and intended to be placed over his wife and three children, is a beautiful piece of workmanship, and would show well in any cemetery. We are pleased to notice these evidences of regard for the dead. They show that our people cultivate the sentimental as well as the useful, and that the memory of the dear departed is still cherished.

DESTITUTION.—We hear of several cases of destitution within the city limits that should receive immediate relief. The first is the case of a man with a wife and large family of children, all in a destitute condition. The man has been out of employment for several months, and is entirely destitute. He has his family in a house that affords very slight protection against inclement weather. Altogether this is a case that appeals to all those who are alive to the calls of humanity. Another is the case of a boy, possibly 12 years of age, who is without a home and has no one to care for him. This boy roams about town in daytime, and at night sleeps in sheds and out buildings. The authorities should take charge of this boy and procure him a place with some farmer where he could have a comfortable home and be taught to work. In a country teeming with abundance no one—not even the most degraded—should be permitted to suffer. Persons disposed to contribute either money or provisions to the relief of the destitute family noticed above, can obtain further information on applying to the editor. In the case of the boy we will offer him from any farmer friend who can gladden his home.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The Chicago board of school directors held a meeting in December, at which some very severe reform measures were adopted. The committee on salaries handed in a schedule which would cause the hair of a Walla Walla teacher to turn gray. The highest salary proposed in this schedule to simple teachers is $600 per year, and the lowest $350. The body of the corps, composed of teachers of five years' experience, would receive $600, with a proposition, however, to increase this sum to $650. The salaries are evidently inadequate, but it is urged that the city cannot afford to do better by her teachers at present. Chicago, like many other American cities, discounted the future some years ago, and is still staggering under the load. If other departments of the city government are conducted as economically as her schools, the city will soon get the better of her financial difficulties. Here in Walla Walla the male teachers in the public schools are paid at the rate of $80 per month, and the lady teachers $50. This sum is deemed by the teachers inadequate, and the directors are frequently importuned to raise their pay.

HAPPINESS.—A gentleman who subscribed to the Statesman a little over a year since, writes us, renewing his subscription. He says that "since he commenced taking the paper he has been the happiest man in the world. As soon as it came into his house everything went well with him. It had a magic effect; his child got well of the measles, his son was cured of the whooping cough. His true wife, with her ever pleasant smile, congratulates him on his good investment; there has not so much as a chicken died for him since; his dogs don't howl any more at nights to keep him awake; in short, everything is lovely and the goose hangs high."

MEMBERS OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.—A Puget Sound paper suggest that all three of the district judges be sent to the convention. We second the proposition. An arrangement of this kind gives the assurance that at least three men of respectable ability will be returned to the convention. This is more than can be said of the late legislature, with its 39 members all told.

PUBLIC RECORDS.—The books of the County Auditor show the following transactions for the year ending December 31, 1877:

Deeds.....315
Mortgages.....130
Miscellaneous papers.....84
Total recorded.....529
WILL APPEAL.—We understand that Mr. Thomas Tierney will appeal from the judgment of the district court in the divorce case to which he was a party. Mr. Tierney has very many friends who deem him greatly wronged, and will sustain him in any measure that promise to secure him substantial justice.
JAMES BROWN desires to return thanks to the ladies of Walla Walla, as also to the Masonic fraternity, for kind attentions to his brother on the occasion of his death and burial.
FREE PAPERS.—We have frequent applications to send the Statesman to this, that or the other institution, free of charge. We are not in that line.

Next Perce War-Pay For Lost Horses.
DEPUTY QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE,
Vancouver, W. T., Nov. 24, 1877.
SIR:—In reply to your inquiry, what officer will pay for horses lost in service during the Nez Perce war and what steps should be taken to secure payment, you are respectfully informed that the Third Auditor of the Treasury is the official designated by law to audit and settle such claims upon presentation of sufficient evidence as to the loss.
The evidence should be in the form of affidavits, by the person who owned and had the horses in service, and one or two other persons knowing to the facts. It should be shown under what military commander, the person using the horses at the time of loss was serving; in what capacity, and on what particular service he was engaged; and all the circumstances of the case should be clearly set forth. A certificate from the military commander, as to the service and loss, will also be necessary.
These papers should be forwarded to Major George H. Weeks, Quartermaster, Vancouver, W. T., by whom, after examination of the evidence, and approved by the department commander, they will be forwarded to the Third Auditor of the Treasury, Washington, D. C. Reference is made to sections 3482, 3487 and 3489, Revised Statutes of the United States.
GEORGE H. WEEKS,
Deputy Quartermaster.

Constitutional Convention.
EDITOR STATESMAN:—I am credibly informed that Mr. E. Ping is spoken of as a candidate for the constitutional convention. This is either in the wrong or designed as flattery to the old man. I arrive at this conclusion from the fact that the aforesaid gentleman in all his legislative experience evidenced no fitness whatever for such a position. It is a fact susceptible of the clearest proof, that in the season of 1873 he made but one motion, and that was suggested to him by the speaker. If this single motion demonstrates his fitness to frame the organic law that is to govern the new state, then we have a clear illustration of how little ability is required to govern a country. God save us from the rule of small men, is a sentiment to which I heartily subscribe.

Grange Resolution.
At the last regular meeting of Pomona Grange No. 1, P. of H., the following resolution was passed:
Resolved, That the members of Walla Walla Pomona Grange No. 1, P. of H., tender their sincere thanks to Brothers Stewart, Barnes and Martin, who so nobly upheld our rights and interests in the railroad bill, which had those members, viz: Gregory and Vansyckle, who voted against it, done what was reasonably expected of them, would have been a great relief to the farmers of this country.
W. M. SHELTON, W. S. GILLAM,
Secretary. Master.

NEW MUSIC.—Mr. J. Bauer, dealer in music, has laid upon our table a couple of pieces of new music that just now are having a great run. The first is—"The Belles of Placerville," galop caprice, by J. Hamilton Whitney, is one of the latest publications of Messrs. Sherman, Hyde & Co. It has the brilliancy and dash necessary to make a popular piano piece, and can scarcely fail to become a favorite. Price 37 1/2 cents.
"Don't Tie to a Man You Don't Know," songs by H. C. Hiscox, Esq. Music by J. R. Davis. It is a first-class piece for a parlor or concert-room. Price 37 1/2 cents.

GEN. A. J. CAIN, the great democratic statesman, should step to the front and give his views as to the proper mode of selecting delegates to the constitutional convention. Let us have light.

PERSONAL.—Dr. H. F. Adams, of Oakland, California, formerly of Chicago, has arrived at the Stone House, Walla Walla, and will remain one month for the treatment of all forms of chronic disease. Dr. Adams is a regular graduate of a regular school of medicine, and is a thorough surgeon, a practical physician and scholar. And all the afflicted will do well to call and consult the Doctor. Procrastination is the thief of time.
E. R. PLYLE, M. D., graduate of the Ohio medical college, physician and surgeon, Walla Walla, W. T. Surgical operations performed on moderate terms. Sheriff's Sale of Real Estate.
BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION issued out of the District Court of the First Judicial District of Washington Territory, and to me directed and delivered, for a judgment rendered in said Court on the 4th day of December, A. D. 1877, in favor of PAULINE PHILLIPS, and against F. W. ARBERTON, for the sum of Four Hundred and Eight Dollars, in United States gold coin, with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, and the further sum $22 70, costs of suit, I have levied on the following described Real Estate to-wit: Block "A," of Mill Lot addition to the City of Walla Walla, Washington Territory, as appears on page 43, of Records of Town Plats of said City, said lot having a front of 80 feet on Rose street, by a depth of 120 feet. Notice is hereby given, that on SATURDAY, the 26th day of January, A. D. 1878.

At the hour of 2 o'clock, P. M. of said day, I will sell all the right title and interest of said F. W. ARBERTON in and to the above described property, at the Court House door, in the City and County of Walla Walla, Washington Territory, at public auction for cash coin, to the highest and best bidder, to satisfy said execution and all costs.
Given under my hand this 29th day of December, A. D. 1877.
GEORGE F. THOMAS,
Sheriff of Walla Walla Co., W. T.
J. D. MIX,
Plaintiff's Attorney. 4-5w.
