LIFE LEAVES.

The day with its sandals dipped in dew,
Has passed through the evening's golden gates,
And a single star in the cloudless blue
For the rising moon in silence waits;
While the winds that sigh to the lullaby hours
A lullaby breathe o'er the folded flowers.

The lilies nod to the sound of the stream
That winds along with a sullen flow,
And either wake or half in a dream,
I pass through the realms of Lorn Ago;
While faces peer with many a smile,
From the bowers of Memory's magic isle.

There are joys and sorrows, and tears and tears,
That check the path of life's April hours,
And a longing wish for the coming years,
That hope ever wreathes with the fairest flowers;

There are friendships guileless—love as bright
And pure as the stars in the halls of night.

There are aches and memories, bitter pain,
And buried hopes and a broken vow,
And an aching heart by the restless main,
And the sea-breeze fanning a pallid brow;
And a wanderer on the shellshored shore,
Listening to voices that speak no more.

There are passions strong and ambitions wild,
And a fierce desire to stand in the van
Of the battle of life—and the heart of the child
Is crushed in the breast of the struggling man;
But short are the regrets and few are the tears
That fall at the tomb of the vanished years.

There's a quiet peace, and domestic love,
And joys arising from faith and truth,
And a love unquestioning, far above
The passionate dreaming of ardent youth;
And kisses of children on lip and cheek,
And the parent's bliss which no tongue can speak.

There are loved ones lost! there are little graves
In the distant dell, and protecting trees,
Where the streamlet winds, and the violet waves,
And the grasses sway to the sighing breeze;
And we mourn for the pressure of tender lips,
And the light of eyes darkened in Death's eclipse.

And thus as the glow of the daylight dies,
And the night's first look to earth is cast,
I gaze "neath those beautiful summer skies,
At the picture that hangs on the wall of the past.

Oh! Sorrow and Joy, chant a mingled lay,
When to Memory's wildwood we wander away!

Stopping a Newspaper.—Some people seem to think that their subscription to a newspaper obligates the editor to advocate their own peculiar views on all questions which affect the public, forgetting that an editor should be an independent being, honest enough to give his opinions, and let his readers judge what they are worth. To those who are so ready to send word, "Stop my Paper," because the editor expresses his honest opinion, formed after careful research and mature deliberation, we commend the following little story:

A certain man hit his toe against a pebble and fell headlong to the ground. He was vexed, and under the influence of anger and self-sufficiency, he kicked another man right squarely. With impetuous gravity he looked to see the earth itself dissolve and come to naught. But the earth remained, and only his poor foot was injured in the encounter.

This is the case of a man. An article in a newspaper touches him in a weak spot, and straightway he sends to "Stop his paper!"

With great self-complacency he looks to see the crash when the object of his spleen shall cease to be. Poor fool, he has only hit his own toe against a world that does not perceptibly feel the shock, and injures to a slight extent none but himself.

How a FRENCH OFFICER MARRIES.—An officer in the French army finds it very simple matter to get married. He has first to make a formal request of his colonel for permission. He certifies to the colonel the bride and moral on another sheet of paper, with an analysis of the department, who sends it to the general commanding the division. If the bride lives in another district, he writes to his fellow-officer of the division in which she does live. The demand then descends to the division commander, who consults a commissioner of police and a mayor; then the mayor and commissioner reply to the commandant de place, who replies to the brigadier-general, who replies to the general of the division, who sends the answer to a marshal, and if he does not exact any further information, he proposes to the minister of war to ratify the permission, coming from the hands of the postman, the packet is unsealed by a clerk, who adds a stamp, a subordinate reads it, sends it to another clerk, who puts a number above the stamp and records the number on another sheet of paper, with an analysis of the affair; this sheet is then signed by a chief and sub-chief, then goes to director, who sends it to the chief de bureau; he gives it to his deputy, then an orderly clerk reinscribes the number of the packet, registers it, and sends it to another, who makes a report of the analysis. The three members of this last bureau then record the whole, the chief signs it, submits it to the director, who submits it to the minister, who accepts or refuses. If the bride and groom are still living when the arrangements are concluded, and think it worth while to get married for what little time they have to live, the marriage is consummated.

LIFE WASTED.—Valuable lives are very often thrown away, lest through ignorance of some of the most simple truths in nature, through errors of judgment in matters where error becomes a crime. Some of the best and wisest and greatest men of our race have perished from the world in consequence of what might be considered a carelessness, a recklessness, or an ignorance which is amazing, as found in minds like theirs. The immediate cause of Lord Bacon's death was sleeping in a damp bed. Any old woman, who "didn't know B from a bull's foot," would have had more sense than that. Yet it was the mistake of the greatest mind of his age and generation. Babel, the greatest tragic actor of her time; took a cold which carried her to her grave, by riding in a railway carriage not sufficiently warmed on a bitter cold winter's night immediately after a performance, which had heated up her whole system far beyond its natural standard. The great theologian, Addison, died of a fever, for whom it was claimed that he was the best Bible scholar living, and that he had powers of mind not equaled in his day; died in the very prime of life, because, "having a feeling almost bordering on contempt for physicians, he allowed his mortal malady to prey upon him severely."

The destination and main which threaten in several sections of the Union, are not confined to the South. Workshops are being closed with attendant sufferings in New England, and even in Pennsylvania, the effects of the depression are being felt. In one day at Scranton, the wages of one thousand employes in the railroad shops were reduced ten per cent.

The Number of Electoral Votes.

An independent asks us to publish a list of the electoral votes now possessed by the President and Vice President of the United States.

Here is it:

California	5
Connecticut	6
Delaware	3
Illinois	16
Indiana	13
Kentucky	14
Maryland	7
Missouri	11
Nebraska	3
New Jersey	7
New York	33
Ohio	21
Pennsylvania	20
Oregon	3
West Virginia	5
New Hampshire	5
Total	175

These States are mostly likely—all of them—to go Democratic. The Republicans have the best chance in the following States:

Iowa	8
Kansas	3
Maine	7
Nebraska (doubtful)	3
Massachusetts	12
Michigan	12
Wisconsin (doubtful)	4
Total	62

The Southern States, which are now called "military districts," in Radical parlance, have the electoral votes:

Alabama	8
Arkansas	5
Florida	3
Georgia	9
Louisiana	7
Mississippi	7
North Carolina	10
South Carolina	6
Tennessee	10
Texas	4
Virginia	10
Total	78

The total number of electoral votes in the Union is, therefore 315. If the Southern States all vote, it will require 158 votes to elect. If they do not vote, 256 will be the whole number cast, of which 119 constitutes a majority. Our readers may find it of interest to cut out the table and preserve it.

What is Your Young Daughter Thinking About?—You are careful of her dress; you attend personally to the purchase and fit. You go with her to see that her foot is nicely gaitered, and you give your milliner special instructions as to make and becomingness of her bonnet, but do you ever ask yourself what she is thinking about? In other words, do you know anything of all her inner life? Many who are esteemed most excellent mothers are as ignorant on this point as if they had never looked upon their daughter's face. They expect respectful obedience, and if the young creature yields it and has no need of a physician's immediate services, they consider their duty done. Alas, what a fatal mistake! These are the mothers who, never having invited the confidence of these young hearts, live to see it bestowed anywhere everywhere but in accordance with their wishes. It is, it can be, enough to a mother worthy of the name, to be satisfied that her daughter's physical wants are cared for? What of her remaining hungry soul that is casting about here and there for something to satisfy questionings? Oh! give a thought sometimes to this. When she sits there by the fire, or by the window musing, sit down by her. Cast the fatal "dignity" to the winds, which has come between so many young creatures and the hearts to which they should be nearest in their important, forming years. Respect is good in its place, but when it freezes up your daughter's soul utterance, when it sends her for sympathy and companionship to chance guides, what then? A word, a loving kind word, at the right moment, so mild and over-estimate its importance. Remember this when you see the sad wrecks about you, amid the sweeping waves of life's cares and life's pleasures, whatsoever else you neglect, do not fail to know what that young daughter of yours is thinking about.

FALSE PROFESSIONS.—Do not believe the man who tells you that you shall never want a dollar or a dinner while he has either to bestow. He may mean as he says, at the moment; probably does, but it will not be wise to apply to him after, even for so small a sum as a dollar; and you will be most welcome to his table while he knows you have one of your own. Do not believe the man or woman who tells you that he or she loves, and cannot love but once. One might as well say that, because he loves partridge, he can never eat anything else. Neither love, friendship, or grief are durable articles, and it is well they are. If people could love but once, the earth would soon be depopulated; if friendship were proof to everything, we would often be obliged to follow our friends into very disagreeable places, and share in very discreditable transactions. If grief lasted for life, earth would be a hell; and there would be no need of the early and latter rain. The love of a father sometimes, and that of a mother always, is inexhaustible. That is all we have that is earthly that we can always trust to.

LONGEVITY OF MULES.—We have numerous reports of mules attaining the age of forty, fifty, or sixty years, and Col Middleton, of South Carolina, stated some years ago that he had one at work on his plantation eighty years old; and we have seen an account of a mule in Ireland, certified to have been at work since 1707, making him over 150 years old. This is, of course, a very uncommon age; but we are satisfied that, with proper usage, mules would commonly attain to about forty years, being serviceable to the last—and this should be counted as one of their elements of value.—Facts for Farmers.

The following colloquy took place between a municipal justice and an unmitigated loafer: "What is your name?" "Thomas I. Cann." "Where do you live?" "Where I can." "How do you live?" "How I can." "Very well," said the justice, "I can send you to Deer Island; do you think you can live there, Thomas?" "I can, for I have tried it," said the fellow, and he was led off.

EASTERN NEWS.

Washington, March 10.—The House Reconstruction Committee in introducing the bill for the restoration of Alabama to representation, makes a lengthy report, setting forth that threats and intimidations and other obstacles were used for a representation of a free and full opinion. They say they intended to adhere to the spirit of the law, and have no doubt that a large majority of the registered voters favor the adoption of the new constitution.

Washington, March 10.—The special says Van Wyke will report to-morrow from the Committee on Retrenchment suggesting a remedy for the first in the non-payment of taxes on whiskey; for the complication of the tax system and the abolition of bonded warehouses in order that the great and rapacious army of officials be materially reduced and collected at the still, and estimating its capacity. The tax should be fifty cents per gallon and by this reduction double the present amount of revenue would be received.

The Times' special says the bill admitting Alabama will not pass the Senate till after the impeachment trial. It is contended that it will be passed by the military people if the military support be taken away, unless there is a change in the executive. Arkansas is looked upon as a safer State to try the experiment.

The World's correspondent gives the details of conversation with the President on the subject of impeachment, during which the President should respond to the summons and appear by counsel. As said "the gentlemen in the House who originated the impeachment lacked the courage to defend either the Constitution or the Union against the attack of the rebels. I look around now and see these gentlemen bold enough in place of their former weaklings to disregard the clearest provisions of a constitutional law. After the war is over in which they took some except a wofly part. They have relapsed into their original states as politicians who held the constitution at too slight a value to be either valiantly defended or treated with reverence." Finally he declared: "I have had hopes, as I know you to administer this Government in accordance with the Constitution, shall be sacrificed along with the constitutional prerogatives of the President's office, to party necessity. Jefferson Davis, the head and front of the rebellion, is not brought to trial yet. Congress proposes to say that with the lowest payment of three cents per gallon, and for what kind of offense compared with that of Davis, the country and the Senate may perhaps justly decide."

Much interest has been manifested in regard to the forthcoming report of the Committee on Retrenchment. The Committee has been engaged to-day with the lowest payment of three cents per gallon, and for what kind of offense compared with that of Davis, the country and the Senate may perhaps justly decide."

Albany, March 11.—The Democratic Convention met to-day. Delegates to the National Convention are instructed to vote as a body for the payment of taxes on whiskey and tobacco. Cases have been reported where individuals have amassed princely fortunes, yet not a single criminal has been made to discharge the fruits of his crime. Not one has been made to suffer the penalty of a violated law. The report goes on to say that with the lowest payment of three cents per gallon, and for what kind of offense compared with that of Davis, the country and the Senate may perhaps justly decide."

A CHANCE FOR THE "ANXIOUS AND AIMLESS" LOWELL GIRLS.—Brigham Young has thoughts of compassion towards the Lowell factory girls, as witness this passage from his last conference address:

"The last time I was in the city of Lowell, there were fourteen thousand more females than males in that one city. This is many years ago. They live and die in a single state, and are forgotten. Have they filled the measure of their creation, and accomplished the designs of heaven in bringing them upon the earth? No they have not. Two thousand good, God fearing men should go there and take to themselves seven wives apiece. It is written in the Bible, 'and in that day, seven women shall lay hold of one man, saying we shall eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel; only let us be called by thy name to take away our reproach.' The government of the United States do not intend that prophecy shall be fulfilled, and the Lord Almighty means that it shall. Do you not think the Lord will conquer? I think he will, and we are helping him."

MAXIMILIAN NOT DEAD.—The following extraordinary and we may say improbable statement appears in the correspondence of an English paper:

Admiral Tegethoff, of the Austrian navy, is now en route for home with what he believes to be the body of the unfortunate Maximilian. My connection with the Mexican agents in this country forbids my entering into minute, but I can assert that the remains which were interred in the house of Hapsburg, but of Jamer, a noted bandit and guerrilla, who, in life, was not unlike poor Maximilian. The latter is lying in an obscure dungeon at Queretaro, fed with a felon's food, and waiting the arrival of welcome death. The night before his supposed execution, uncertain of his own success in seeking the Presidency, and perhaps unwilling to imbue his hands in royal blood, Juarez had the noble captive conveyed by stealth to a secret den, and substituted in his stead a ruffian Jamer, hoping, had he not succeeded in his political aspirations, to have made a fortune by delivering him safely to Austria.

COMPOSITION OF THE U. S. SUPREME COURT.—All eyes are turned toward the Supreme Court just at this time, and the whole country is watching "reconstruct" that tribunal. As interests of the gravest moment depend upon the course it shall see to take, everything relating to its composition becomes matter of special interest. The Court originally consisted of nine judges, but by the death of Judge Wayne it was reduced to eight, and by an Act of Congress, it is to be still further reduced to seven, as soon as one of the present Judges dies. The present Judges are Salmon P. Chase of Ohio, Chief Justice; Nathan Clifford of Maine; Samuel Nelson of New York; Robert C. Grier of Pennsylvania; Stephen Field of California; David Davis of Illinois; Noah W. Swayne of Ohio; and Samuel P. Miller of Iowa. With the exception of Field, Miller and Swayne, they are well advanced in years. Justice Grier is 72, and is on the bench by the death of Judge Wayne it was reduced to eight, and by an Act of Congress, it is to be still further reduced to seven, as soon as one of the present Judges dies. The present Judges are Salmon P. Chase of Ohio, Chief Justice; Nathan Clifford of Maine; Samuel Nelson of New York; Robert C. Grier of Pennsylvania; Stephen Field of California; David Davis of Illinois; Noah W. Swayne of Ohio; and Samuel P. Miller of Iowa. With the exception of Field, Miller and Swayne,

Walla Walla Statesman.

FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 20, 1868.

NEW PUNISHMENT.—A school ma'am has adopted a new and novel mode of punishment. If the boys disobey her rules, she stands them on their heads and pours water into their trousers legs. Wonder how she punishes the girls!

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION OF OHIO, met at Columbus, on the 8th inst., and unanimously selected Hon. George H. Pendleton as their choice for the Presidency. We doubt whether a better man can be found for that position.

A lot of Radicals are lobbying a scheme at Washington to secure a monopoly of the whisky manufacture for the whole country. By taking in as stockholders a number of Radical members, and filling the pockets of others with greenbacks, they expect to secure the passage of a bill of that character.

INDIAN DEPREDACTIONS.—The Montana papers are filled with accounts of Indian raids upon the unprotected whites of that section of the country. In various parts of the Territory, the Indians have been more troublesome this year than ever; running off large quantities of stock; burning buildings, and doing all manner of damage.

The masses have one privilege left, says an exchange. They rise at five-twenty and work till ten-forty at night to earn money to pay seventy interest to bondholders. The bondholder gets up at ten-forty and enjoys himself till ten-forty at night, when he retires, chuckling over the fact that he has no road or county tax, or State tax, to pay; and then offers thanks to the Jacobin leaders for the privileges he enjoys over the laboring millions.

The standing army of negroes authorized by the Alabama black and tanists to keep the whites in subjection to the negro oligarchy, will number 15,344. The officers are to be chosen irrespectively of color. This black incubus, besides taking over fifteen thousand negroes from labor—loss to production of millions of dollars annually—will entail a direct expense of millions more upon the working taxpayers. Is it possible for the Southern States, thus weighed down under negro rule, to flourish, pay taxes to meet the public debt or raise cotton and other products for exportation? Away with the whole infernal scheme!

PARTISAN ABUSE.—We notice that the radical papers, published at Olympia, continue their abuse of Messrs. Struve and Tripp, republican members of the Council from Clark county. These two gentlemen were too honest to lend themselves to the corrupt schemes of Garfield, Moore & Co., and hence they are abused by these hireling scribes. Intimately associated with them in the business of legislation, we can testify that truer or better men never represented any constituency. Had Clark county been equally well represented in the House she would have fared vastly better. Corrupt tricksters like Cochran, and mutton-heads like Henry, are a source of weakness rather than strength in a legislative body.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.—At the late session of the Supreme Court Frank Henry received the appointment of Clerk, vice R. H. Hewitt. Mr. Henry also was appointed District Clerk, and instructed to receive from his predecessor all the books, papers, &c., pertaining to the office. At this stage of the game Hewitt, who by the way is an intense radical, refused to turn over and defend the authority of the Court. Mr. Henry as a last resort called Judge Wreche's attention to the recusancy of the late Clerk, whereupon Hewitt was ordered into custody, and on a hearing before Judge W. was adjudged guilty of contempt and sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and costs. In all this business Hewitt was the tool of a corrupt clique of Federal officials who make their headquarters at Olympia, and divide their time about equally between robbing the Government and running the politics of the Territory. Could the masters and not the tool be reached, a much heavier fine might very properly have been imposed.

DEMOCRATS IN OFFICE.—At a time when the radicals hold possession of nearly all the posts of honor in the country, it is consoling to know that in Washington Territory the most important offices are held by democrats. Our worthy Governor, Marshal F. Moore, is an earnest, outspoken democrat, and having fought his way in the Union army from a private up to the rank of Major General, even partisan bitterness dare not question his patriotism or doubt his devotion to the country for which he has fought and bled. Gov. Moore was with Sherman in nearly all his famous battles, and followed that renowned warrior in his great march from Atlanta to the sea. Such a man is a host in himself, and exerting his influence on the side of the democracy, will overshadow a host of radicals of the Garfield type. The Territorial Auditor, J. M. Murphy, is also a thorough-going democrat, and through his paper, the Standard, deals trenchant blows against the destructives. The Territorial Auditor, Benjamin Harned, is likewise an ardent democrat, and is untiring in his efforts to promote the success of correct principles. In a year or two more we shall add largely to this list, and most likely be able to show that democrats fill every office in the Territory.

CHASE AND GRANT.—The contest going on between the admirers of these gentlemen as to whom shall secure the nomination for presidency, is daily becoming interesting. Men of the Stevens, Sumner and Greeley side of the house are warm supporters of Chase. Greeley will go into the convention with a determination to defeat Grant at all hazards. Wilson on the other hand, is working night and day for Grant's nomination, with the hope that he may obtain the second position on the ticket. Stevens says, he would rather suffer defeat than run Grant as the candidate of the radical party. The negroes are all for Chase, and demand his nomination in preference to Grant. They say if an out and out suffrage, equal rights man is not nominated, they then will run a man of their own choice. This state of affairs indicates that there will be a split in the radicals. Such being the case, the election of the democratic candidate is placed beyond peradventure.

THE RAILROAD.

Several months since, the question of building a railroad, connecting Walla Walla with the landing on the Columbia river, was thoroughly discussed through the columns of the STATESMAN, and the feasibility of the enterprise clearly established. The articles, as published, attracted very general attention, and practical men did not hesitate to declare that the railroad ought to be built, and that there was sufficient wealth in the Valley to defray the cost of construction, without one dollar of assistance from abroad. This possibly is an over sanguine view, but we are of those who believe that it is possible for our citizens to build and equip the road. It so happens, however, that we are not altogether dependent on our own resources. The O. S. N. Company, looking to the interest of their line, offer to subscribe $100,000 toward building the road. An experienced engineer, at our request, has made a calculation as to the cost of construction, and reports that a railroad between Walla Walla and Wallula can be constructed at a cost not to exceed $500,000. The iron and rolling stock for the road will cost from $7,000 to $8,000 per mile—or say $240,000, leaving the balance to be expended in the purchase of ties, grading &c. There is now in San Francisco some twenty miles of iron and rolling stock, the whole of which can be bought for $125,000. The road will require 2,200 "ties" to the mile, or about 75,000 in all, which with the timber for the bridges, it is estimated will cost $50,000. With the subscription of the O. S. N. Company, there will still remain to be raised the sum of $109,000. To raise this sum we propose that the county guarantee the payment of the interest on railroad bonds to the amount of $300,000. This is the plan that has been practiced in very many of the Eastern States, and in this way towns and counties have been enabled to obtain railroad connection that otherwise must have remained isolated. The enhanced value of real estate, and the increased amount of taxable property that would come into the Valley with the laying of the first rail of the proposed road, would vastly more than pay the interest on the bonds. Instead of an increased rate of taxation, the wealth that would flow into the Valley would enable us very materially to reduce the present rate of taxation. Thus much by way of quieting the fears of those who are likely to be frightened by the bugaboo of high taxes. The history of the North Missouri Railroad is a case in point. The construction of this railroad increased the value of land along its line five times—that is, farms that were worth $1,000 previous to building the road, were valued at $5,000 after its construction. A county in Missouri that previous to the building of a railroad, showed an assessment roll of $600,000, in less than two years had a tax list of $3,000,000. The city of Evansville, Indiana, subscribed $200,000 toward building a railroad, and it was not necessary to increase the rate of taxation to pay the interest on that amount, such was the increase in taxable values. Other instances might be cited, but sufficient has been shown to convince the most skeptical that a subscription or guarantee on the part of the county would be a good investment, and one that would tend to lessen rather than increase the burdens that now rest upon tax-payers. It is possible that the County Commissioners are without authority to create a loan of the character here indicated. Should they, however, determine to act in the premises, there will be no difficulty in obtaining from the Legislature an endorsement of their action. Presuming then that $300,000 can be raised by a county loan, there would only remain $100,000 to be subscribed by private citizens. This amount, with proper effort, can be raised inside of 48 hours, and thus secure the building of the road. We know of several thrifty farmers who stand prepared to subscribe $1,000 each toward the capital stock, and we hear of a single merchant who proposes to invest $10,000. The public mind is ready for the enterprise, and with a view to getting the work under way, we suggest that a meeting be held at the Court House, and citizens from all parts of the county invited to turn out and express their views as to the feasibility of building a railroad. We have every confidence that the response will be favorable, and that the people by a unanimous voice will declare that the railroad must be built!

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—From recent advices from Washington, we understand that a considerable amount of influence, representing a large capital, will urge upon Congress the early passage of the bill introduced by Senator Howard of Michigan. Mr. Flanders is also working hard for this measure. It is expected that the bill will be called up soon after the impeachment affair has been settled. The importance of this great enterprise is becoming daily more apparent, and we have every reason to hope that Congress will no longer hesitate about granting such assistance as is asked by this company. The people of the North-west are moving in the matter, and to-day more interest is being taken in this project than ever.

GINGERLY ADVERTISING.—Forney's Press, one of the shrewdest newspapers, says: "We have for many years studied the art of advertising, and still it remains to us a marvel that there is not one hundred times more of it. We never yet knew a man to advertise his way liberally and steadily, that it did not pay."

IMPEACHMENT.

On the 13th inst., the first proceedings were had in this matter by the appearance of the President by his counsel, Mr. Stanbery, with Messrs. Curtis, Nelson, Black and Evans as associates. Forty days time was asked for preparation for trial, proceeding upon a plea of not guilty, which was denied, and after considerable discussion, of which the telegraph gives but a meagre and unsatisfactory account, the Chief Justice ordered that the President be required to file an answer on Monday, March 23d, which action on his part and the negating of the order offered by Mr. Bingham, that on filing replication by managers, the trial proceed forthwith, by a vote of 25 to 26, indicates a more conservative feeling on the part of the Court than was expected, and that the summary disposition of this matter, although prejudged to a certain extent, would not be allowed.

Mr. Nelson argued the necessity of cautious deliberation, and said that the last two charges (articles of impeachment) opened Pandora's box, which would necessitate a full investigation of all points of difference between the President and Congress, which clearly indicates that this middle will assume proportions of more magnitude than first contemplated, and we may anticipate some rich developments in regard to the inside workings and purposes of the Radical Ramp.

It was evidently the expectation of the managers that Mr. Johnson would rely upon his answer as his defence, to be supported by testimony, which they had previously declared a disregard for, and to have regarded the case as closed upon the filing of their replication, and upon impeaching him, and being unable to forcibly eject him from the White House, (which has always been regarded by them as the most difficult part of the programme,) to have used the proceedings as an efficient campaign document to prove him a usurper, and that the democratic party sympathized with him.

Unfortunately for these well devised plans, the Court has shown a different disposition, and it is now, only to be apprehended, that it will suddenly manifest such regard for the authority and responsibilities of two of the co-ordinate branches of the government, as to, by dilatory action, allow the whole affair to be absorbed by the important political questions of the day.

That the Supreme Court has before it, questions that would determine the whole controversy. That Mr. Johnson's duty as Chief Executive, in accordance with his oath of office, to "support and defend the constitution," is to veto any act of Congress, the constitutionality of which he entertains any doubt, and upon any attempt to disregard such veto, by a vote not two-thirds of Congress, as provided by the plainly written terms of the constitution, to suspend the enforcement of such act until the Supreme Court should determine its validity. That Congress is not the sole judge of the constitutionality of its own acts; but that it is now attempting to be so. That the Supreme Court cannot, and certainly would not ignore its own existence by conceding to such an assumption; are propositions which every candid mind must admit, unless we concede the authority of the "higher law doctrine" over the written law, regarding the constitution as being made for temporary purposes and guaranteeing no rights to a minority that a majority are obliged to respect.

Conviction in case of impeachment requires the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present, at the same time the constitution requires that "No State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate," necessarily upon the grounds upon which the President has recognized the action of Congress, the votes of 50 Senators will be required to give validity to any act requiring a two-third vote of that body.

It is now universally understood that the American government has been establishing precedents for itself instead of following those established by governments whose purposes were, and are, antagonistic to ours. Under the anomalous positions of two of the co-ordinate branches of the government, never contemplated by the wise men who framed our organic law, the Executive can certainly exercise as much latitude in his defense as the House of Representatives can exercise arbitrary power in the prosecution. The entire controversy could have been, can now, and will have to be determined by the third co-ordinate branch of the government, the Supreme Court, and we have no hesitancy in expressing the opinion that Mr. Johnson will never vacate the Presidential chair until the exact status of the government now controlling the country shall be determined, and that the people, the last tribunal to which an appeal can be carried, may determine upon the character of government they desire for the future.

A MAULDIN DOG.—In the California Legislature, a few days ago, Chas. Westmoreland, Radical member from Humboldt, said: "I do not want to appear as giving sanction to any act of the drunken despot who fills the office of President of the United States."

The shamefacedness of Westmoreland's remark will be appreciated by all who know him. There is not on the coast a more confirmed, low, sottish, drunken bummer, nor a more pitiful dog.—Idaho World.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, February 25, 1868.

EDITOR STATESMAN.—Washington is again a sea of excitement. The scenes of the last few days remind one of the early days of the late war. All kinds of rumors are afloat. One that the Maryland militia are marching on the city, and are prepared to stand by the President at all hazards. A large number of prominent men from all sections of the country called upon the President, and expressed their concurrence in the removal of Stanton, and hoped he would take no backward steps but stand firm under all circumstances. A report is in circulation, that a recent Cabinet meeting an altercation took place between Grant and a prominent Cabinet officer. The air is thick with foul rumors, none of which are worthy of belief.

WAR DEPARTMENT. Stanton still remains in possession of the War Department, and has not left his office since he received the President's notification of his removal. The guards around the building have been doubled, and orders have been given to allow no one to enter, except they are employed in the department, or are known to be friends of Mr. Stanton. The President has no idea of resorting to force at the present time to carry out his orders, but regards the question a civil one, to be settled by the courts. If after a decision has been made, and Mr. S. then continues to attempt to hold his office, Mr. Johnson will eject him by force if necessary. How it will end none can foresee.

IMPEACHMENT.

Great efforts are being made to have the House find articles of impeachment against the President. From present indications I think that without doubt the articles will be rushed through the House. The radicals, since the Fall elections, have been very low-spirited, and regard the next Presidential contest as sure to result in favor of the democracy. They think by impeaching and removing Mr. Johnson, they may prevent this. In the person of Ben. Wade they see a man who will carry out all their measures designed to defeat the will of the people. If they succeed in getting Mr. Johnson out of the way, every state that is likely to go democratic, will be revolutionized, a standing army will be placed in its midst; every prominent man who opposes them will be arrested as impediment to the reconstruction of the Union. Such is the radical programme for '68. Will the people stand by and see every vestige of free government overturned, without raising their hands against the destroyers?

MAIL SERVICE. Mr. Flanders on the 22d ult., introduced a joint memorial from the Legislature of Washington Territory, praying for a mail service by sea, from San Francisco to Olympia. The memorial was referred to the committee on Post Offices and Post Roads.

SENATOR CORBETT'S RECEPTION. Senator and Mrs. Corbett, entertained a large and fashionable assemblage at their residence on Thirteenth street, a few evenings since. The company consisted of the beauty and fashion of the capital, and in point of elegance surpassed all other receptions of the season. Among the guests, I noticed Senator Williams and wife, Mr. Flanders and lady, and quite a number of the prominent men of the nation. After spending sometime in social conversation, the company partook of a sumptuous repast.

POLITICAL RIGHTS.

Mr. Williams introduced in the Senate a short time since a bill providing that no amendment of any State constitution, abridging or curtailing the political rights or privileges of citizens of the United States, shall be valid until the same is submitted to and approved by Congress.

FASHIONABLE LIFE.

The receptions for the season are about to end. This year has noticed a marked improvement in the social standing of the representative of Washington Territory. In times gone by, your delegate was scarcely heard of; none knew that you were represented, except upon the examination of the pay rolls. Mr. Flanders is surrounded by his family, and at several receptions I have noticed him, always accompanied by his lady. With no disrespect to others, I must say he is a great improvement upon those who have gone before him.

CAPITOL.

OPPOSITION NEEDED.—The present facilities for ocean communication between San Francisco and Portland are very meagre. The present line of steamships plying between those two ports, is owned and controlled, principally by a man who has shown himself to be devoid of that spirit of liberality which should actuate a man occupying his position. Thousands of dollars are lost to the communities in our immediate vicinity through the selfishness of this man. The charge for transporting freight has been placed at such a high figure that it will not pay farmers to ship their produce to San Francisco. If ever an opposition was needed it is between San Francisco and Portland.

LOYALTY.—It is rather amusing to hear men, who at the breaking out of the rebellion were the most bitter rebels, prating about their loyalty. They are the same individuals who are now hurrying rebel, copperhead, and terms of like description at those who may differ with them upon political questions. Loyalty with these men is nothing more nor less than self gain.

LATEST EASTERN NEWS.

Dates to March 12.

[COMPILED FROM THE OREGONIAN.]

IMPEACHMENT.

In the Senate to-day, by 11 o'clock, the ladies' gallery was packed with a brilliant audience as upon a full dress opera night. The Senator's seats were arranged as before, in open space. In front of the President's chair are long tables, each furnished, intended for the managers and counsel. Back of the Senators seats, filling the entire lobby, are about two hundred chairs, intended for the accommodation of members of the House, judiciary and others entitled to be present on the floor. By 11 o'clock the Senators had ranged themselves in little knots, discussing the momentous business of the day. It was noticeable that not a single negro was in the galleries. Everything was conducted in perfect order. The Chaplain invoked a blessing upon those now entering upon this important duty.

The bill to amend the judiciary act came from the House, signed; it received the signature of the President pro tem.

The Senate insisted on its amendments to the consular appropriation bill, and appointed a Committee of conference.

At 1 o'clock, the morning hour having expired, the Chief Justice in the Chair, the Sergeant-at-Arms made proclamation in the usual form. The Secretary read the Journal of the last meeting of the Court. A large number of Representatives, headed by the managers of impeachment, men well standing in file outside the door. Howard ordered the Sergeant-at-Arms to notify the House that the Senate was organized as a court of impeachment, and ready to proceed to the trial of Andrew Johnson. Immediately thereafter, the managers and members of the House took the seats provided for them.

In the House to-day, while engaged in the transaction of unimportant business, the Secretary of the Senate appeared and announced the Senate amendments to the diplomatic appropriation bill, and that all the Senators were now ready to proceed with the trial of impeachment, and seats had been provided for the accommodation of the House.

On motion of Washburne, of Illinois, the House resolved itself into a Committee of the whole, and the Speaker appointed Washburne President. The members then proceeded to the Senate chamber.

In the Senate this afternoon, the return of the Sergeant-at-Arms of service of summons upon the President was read, when the counsel for the President were notified of the commencement of proceedings, and Stanbery, Curtis and Nelson took seats at the table, on the right of the Chief Justice, opposite the managers, who were seated to the left.

Stanbery rose, addressing the Chief Justice, and read the answer of the President, entering his appearance and naming as his counsel, Stanbery, Curtis, Nelson, Black and Evans, and asking a reasonable time for preparation and defense—the period of forty days, and citing various cases in which a period as long in proportion to the magnitude of the case, had been granted. He then cited the eighth rule, which provides for an appearance of the President. He was required to file his answer in the case. The answer was not filed. The trial should proceed as on a plea of not guilty. He claimed, therefore that the trial should proceed forthwith. He then cited the case of Judge Humphreys and others, and argued that the rule was not susceptible of the construction placed upon it by Stanbery. Nelson also spoke. Stanbery expressed surprise that this claim was put forth by the managers. He said there seemed to be a disposition to hurry through this momentous trial like a case in some police Court. Bingham asserted that the only motive of the managers was to enforce the Senate rules and not prosecute a dilatory line of defense.

Edmunds offered an order that April 1st be the day appointed for filing the President's answer, and that within three days thereafter the managers shall file a replication and the trial proceed on April 6th.

Bingham of Missouri, on 2 o'clock the Senate retired for consultation, and returned to Chamber. At 4 o'clock and ten minutes the Court reassembled. The Chief Justice announced that the motion had been overruled, and ordered that the President be required to file answer on Monday, March 23d.

Bingham offered an order on filing replication by managers, that the trial proceed forthwith.

The Chief Justice submitted the order, which the Senate rejected by ayes 25, noes 20.

Nelson, of counsel, argued the necessity of cautious deliberations. He said the last two charges opened Pandora's box which would invite a full investigation of all points of difference between the President and Congress.

Cooking offered an amendment that unless cause for delay be shown, the trial shall proceed forthwith after filing replication.

Bingham expressed the satisfaction of the managers with the agreement which was adopted by the Court adjourned till the 23d March.

The House members returned, and Washburne, chairman of the Committee, reported the action taken in the Senate.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION.

Concord, March 13.—The lower branch of the Legislature stands 191 Republicans to 161 Democrats. Governor Harriman's majority is about 2,700.

RESIGNATION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Washington, March 12.—Attorney General Stanbery has sent in his resignation, which was accepted. He does this in order to act as the President's counsel in the impeachment trial.

New Orleans, March 12.—Hancock has appointed the 17th and 18th of April for the election for the ratification of the Constitution. The order prescribes regulations for the government of the election. It forbids any candidate for office acting as officer of election. It provides that should Congress hereafter enact, that the vote shall be cast at the same election for State and other officers, the same registers and commissioners will act under this order for such election.

New York, March 12.—The World's Atlanta special says the Constitution adopted in Georgia provides for the removal of the capital to Atlanta as to deprive any person of political or civil rights by it conferred. It repudiates all private debts incurred prior to June, 1865, and allows a homestead exemption of $3,000. The organization of the military shall be subject to the authority of Congress, and all persons may vote except those disfranchised.

Richmond, March 12.—The trial of Jeff. Davis has been postponed by Judge Underwood to the 14th of April.

Washington, March 11.—The Senate has confirmed the nomination of J. Ross Browne as Minister to China, and C. J. Tuckerman, as Minister to Greece.

Still Later.

WASHINGTON NEWS. New York, March 16.—The Herald's special says it is understood that the expectation of an attack from the Virginia shore has within the past few days taken a more substantial form than was first anticipated. It is known that an order has been issued from the War Department, directing fifty army wagons, with teams and teamsters to be kept in readiness to move at a moment's notice, for the transportation of supplies. Private orders have also been issued to commanders of garrisons about the city to keep their commanding officers and men in quarters.

SHASTA MINES.

ESCONDIDO CITY, March 15, 1868.

DEAR SIR:— Coming down to stern reality, and looking facts in the face the country is "spotted" and good claims are few and far between. There are some rich, very rich claims here, and will probably pay thousands of dollars the coming season; but there are a thousand poor claims here, claims that will not pay one thousand cents clear of expenses, to one to the contrary. I have seen no one here yet willing to venture an opinion for or against. They are all doubtful, even including those who are called the "lucky fellows." In my opinion, this place is but a repetition of Big Bend and Lembi; and will cause as much disappointment and broken men as either of those two places. The country has not been as much prospected as it might be, but everybody don't feel like spending any more time in pursuit of that which is considered imaginary. I was talking with a man this evening, who came here last fall, and purchased claims on what is called Rich Gulch. These claims he paid two hundred dollars each in coin for, and now he is willing to take seventy-five dollars for each and all of them. One thing here that makes me curious, is that those who are, or have been fortunate in procuring claims, so-called, are the most anxious to sell. It will do very well for a single man to run around these mountains, and take chances of coming home broke in the fall; but with a married man, the chances are slim. These are the facts of the case as near as I can learn, besides they are the general ideas of the majority of those in the surrounding mining camps. For myself, if I could get at anything else, I would give up to any one my chances in Shasta.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION.—By the telegraphic reports it will seem that the radicals have carried New Hampshire this year by a majority of 2700. The radical vote has fallen off greatly since the election last year. The democrats gain largely in the legislature. In another year at the same ratio of reduction, the democrats will be able to carry that state.

GOOD PAY.—Anson Burlingame, late American Minister to China, who resigned to accept of a Chinese embassy, is to receive for his services $50,000 per annum, a large retinue and all expenses paid. Who would not accept position under the Chinese government at these figures?

OR IT AGAIN.—The Blackfeet Indians have inaugurated their yearly raid and are now infesting the Benton road between Kennedy's ranch and San River. They have already killed one man and robbed nearly one hundred head of horses, besides scattering the settlers generally in that neighborhood. At Kennedy's they made an unsuccessful attempt to break open the stable belonging to Wells, Fargo & Co. Two of the Company's drivers have been compelled to exchange snots with the red skins during the past week, but with what effect is not known. On Thursday's dawn trip to Benton they fired at the driver on the second route, J. Caldwell, wounding one of the mules, but doing no other damage.—Montana Post.

HOW TO GET DOUBLE-EARED SKED CORN.—If you will select off from a cornstalk having two good ears on it, plant the by itself, carefully cut off the spindles from all the stalks that have not set two or more ears, you will soon get a pure double eared seed that will bring two ears on nearly every stock throughout the field. A stalk must not only have two ears, but must be fertilized with what is called two ears, to produce true double-eared seed. The separate planting, and the care to cut out the tassling spindles of all single-eared stalks, are necessary to the production of prolific seed. This is decidedly worth the corn-growers' attention.

Gail Hamilton more than hints that pretty girls are not really neat and cleanly; while the chances are that homely ones possess that virtue to a refreshing extent. She cites as proof the miscellaneous if not worse condition of their sleeping apartments. Of course Gail knows what she is talking about, and is in little danger of having her apartments found fault with. We warrant her to be both neat and cleanly, by her own rule.

THANKS.—We are indebted to Hon. Alvan Flanders for several copies of interesting public documents.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 20, 1868.

In Town.—Our friend and colleague, Hon. J. M. Vanoyckle, is in town.

THANKS.—To Thos. H. Camp, of Wells, Fargo & Co., for very many express favors. Also, to A. W. Buchanan, for polite attentions.

Mr. Johnson will please accept our thanks for copies of Putnam's magazine and other late publications.

THANKS.—We are indebted to Stratman, the newsmen of the Pacific coast, for a liberal supply of eastern papers.

THE WEATHER.—Yesterday was the inaugurating day of Spring. From this time forth we may expect pleasant weather.

We are in receipt of Mr. Pelton's late report on the schools and school system of California. The report is highly interesting and reflects great credit on the author.

JOHN HOFFMAN, of the opposition stage line, got in at an early hour this afternoon, bringing with him the Oregonian of the 18th, for which he will accept our thanks.

To INSOLVENTS.—H. M. Chase, Esq., has been appointed Commissioner in Insolvency for this county, and is now prepared to transact all business relating to insolvent debtors.

MISTRELS.—The manager of the Variety Troupe requests us to announce that there will be no performance tonight. To-morrow (Saturday) evening an extra entertainment, when it is expected the house will be crowded.

AN ACCIDENT.—A small son of Mr. Redman fell from a wagon one day last week, and broke his leg above the knee in two places. Dr. J. W. Hunter was called in and set the fractured limb. The little fellow is doing as well as could be expected.

STOCK.—Messrs. Fruit & Stewart of this place, shipped from Portland on Monday last over one hundred brood mares, intended for their ranch in this valley. The animals were purchased in the Willamette valley.

The hall given by the St. Patrick society on Tuesday evening last was a grand success. The hall was crowded and all enjoyed themselves hugely. The supper, got up under the direction of Mr. Hartman and lady, of the "Oriental," embraced the choicest viands, and to our taste was even better than the ball.

AN INQUIRY.—That veteran "bilk," Shel. Fargo, writes to his friend Johnson, at Walla Walla, that he will return to the Pacific coast, having runaway from Corvallis and absconded from Walla Walla, it was thought the old Didier had taken himself off for good. Like a bad penny he will turn up.

CHURCHING EXTRAORDINARY.—At the residence of Judge Brewster, a few days since, we witnessed a trial of the Mendenhall Patent Churn. The entire process of churning was completed and the butter ready for dressing inside of two minutes. Mrs. Brewster subsequently sent us a roll of the butter, which we found to be of excellent quality and eminently creditable to her skill as a dairy woman.

ARRIVALS.—Among those who arrived on Sunday's stage from below we noticed Judge Wyche, Hon. P. B. Johnson, A. J. Cain and lady. Judge Wyche left again on Tuesday for the purpose of holding court at Olympia on Monday next.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—The democrats of Umatilla county had a grand rally at Ford's School House, on Saturday last. Able and eloquent speeches were made by Messrs. Lasater and Caton, and throughout the meeting was characterized by very great enthusiasm. Our Oregon friends are going into the canvass with a spirit that gives assurance of success.

MINING.—The reports from this new mining district continue favorable. Some two hundred men wintered in the mines, and rumor has it took out a large quantity of treasure. An old miner assures us that the district will afford profitable employment for ten thousand men. A large number of Walla Wallains have already left for the new diggings, and we hear of still larger numbers who are preparing to follow.

FALSE STATEMENTS.—We are informed that parties below are making representations that horses are held in this market at very high figures. This is not the case, as no place on the coast, can animals be secured as low as here. Last week good animals were sold from $15 to $18. Provisions of all kinds are selling at extremely low figures. The fact that flour, bacon, and other articles of produce are shipped to towns below is sufficient proof that they are much cheaper at this point. Miners and others will find it to their advantage to purchase their outfits in this market.

TIMES OF HOLDING DISTRICT COURTS.

The following act, just passed by the legislature, specifies the change of times of holding the district courts:

- Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington. That the times for holding the several Courts of this Territory shall be as follows, to-wit: Sec. 2. At Seattle, to commence on the third Monday of February and August, to hold two weeks unless sooner adjourned. Sec. 3. At Vancouver, to commence on the third Monday of April and first Monday in November, to hold three weeks unless sooner adjourned. Sec. 4. At Walla Walla city, to commence on the first Monday of October and second Monday of May, to hold three weeks unless sooner adjourned. Sec. 5. At Olympia, to commence on the fourth Monday of March, and to hold three weeks unless sooner adjourned. Sec. 6. That the Port Townsend term of Court shall hold only three weeks, instead of four. Sec. 7. That all other times of Court shall be held in this Territory at the several times and places as are now prescribed by law.

MASONRY IN THE LATE WAR.—It is pleasant to record anything of the late war which relieved its horrors, and which showed that all the obligations of human brotherhood were not violated in the conflict. A Masonic paper tells us that the Federal army, in the destruction of property at Hampton Court-house, saved the property of the Lodge, and returned it safely to its custodian under a flag of truce; so, too, when Wainwright fell on the deck of the Harriet Lane in her defence, his remains were interred by his brethren of Harmony Lodge, No. 6, at Galveston, with Masonic honors; and a singular spectacle was presented of the prisoners of war who were captured by one force, and belonging to the Order, marching in procession with their brethren, as though for a time a truce had been proclaimed and the clang of arms was to be heard no more. Many incidents have taken place in the high hills and low valleys of New Mexico and Arizona which will be collected ere long for the press.—One only need be referred to at present which was a fraternal meeting in a Lodge at night of members of both armies who met on the level, and next day were in deadly conflict on the battle field. Much suffering has been alleviated, charity has been extended to the wounded and sick, death has often been prevented, and a surrender made under the mystic sign.

GREASING WAGONS.—But few people are aware that they do wagons and carriages more injury by greasing too plentifully than in any other way. A well-made wheel endures common wear from ten to twenty-five years, if care is taken to use the right kind and proper amount of grease; but if this matter is not attended to, they will be used up in five or six years. Lard should never be used on a wagon, for it will penetrate the hub and work its way out and under the spokes and spoil the wheel. Tallow is the best lubricator for wood axletrees, and castor oil for iron.

Just enough grease should be applied to the spindle of a wagon to give it a light coating; this is better than more, for the surplus put on will work out at the ends and be forced by the shoulder hands and nut-washers into the hub around the outside of the boxes.

To oil an iron axletree, first wipe the spindle clean with a cloth wet with spirits of turpentine, and then apply a few drops of castor oil near the shoulder and end. One teaspoonful is sufficient for the whole.

THE ADVANTAGES OF POVERTY AND ADVERSITY.—You wear out your old clothes. You are not troubled with many visitors. You are exonerated from making calls.—Boredom does not bore you. It is a nuisance to present your window. You avoid the nuisance of serving on juries. No one thinks of presenting you with a testimonial. No tradesman irritates you by asking, "Is there any other little article to do, Sir?" Begging letter writers leave you alone. Impostors know it is useless to bleed you. You practice temperance. You swallow infinitely less poison than others. You are saved many a deception—many a headache. And lastly, if you have a true friend in the world you are sure, in a very short space of time, to discover the agreeable fact.
