POETICAL SELECTIONS. A Greeting. Our Washington Letter. The Famous Porcelain Tower. The Palouse Country. Here and There. GEN. CAIS feels over his defeat. The old hero has our sympathy, and we trust that in the whittling of time he will yet come out right.

Our Washington Letter. WASHINGTON, April 11, 1878. EDITOR STATESMAN.—Even in so simple and small a matter as the employment of temporary clerks in one of the departments, the difference between what ought to be the policy of the government and what its policy is, was shown in the house yesterday. A house committee recommended a sum of money sometime since for the purpose, and the house voted the money and sent the bill to the senate. The senate doubled the amount and sent the bill back to the house. Conference committees were appointed. They have been unable to agree. If the house does its duty the senate will yield. If the house fails to do its duty in this case it will probably fail in larger matters.

The Famous Porcelain Tower. The famous porcelain tower, near Nanking, China, in described by a traveler, who says: In the quiet evening we made our way out of the city by the south gate, through a well constructed tunnel, and shortly stood upon the eminence over whose surface was a mass of debris consisting of broken bricks, tiles and plaster several feet thick. This was all—that was left of that which, for its historic and its great cost, took rank with the wonders of the world—the famous porcelain tower. It must have been very beautiful in its perfection, if we accept the statements of its various historians, who differ so little in their accounts that one does for all. From them we learn that its form was octagonal, nine stories high, tapering as it rose to the height of 261 feet from the ground, the circumference of the lower story being 120 feet. The body of the pagoda was brick, but its face was composed of porcelain tiles of many colors. Each story formed a kind of saloon, through which ran the spiral staircase leading to the summit, and whose walls were covered with small gilded idols resting in niches, the entire apartment being richly painted and gilded. Each story was defined by a projecting cornice of green tiles, from whose points gilded bells were hung. The roof was overlaid with copper, and above it rose a mast thirty feet high, capped by a golden ball and coiled about by an immense band of iron, appearing like rings from below. The base of this shaft was an iron ball formed by two halves, the outer surface of which was magnificently embossed. I say, for on half rests where it fell, the only tangible thing in the mass of ruin. The other half, weighing twelve tons, being broken by the fall, was recast into a temple bell.

The Palouse Country. Jas. Wheelan, formerly of Walla Walla, has opened a harness store in Colfax. A dry goods man, representing $50,000, contemplates locating at Colfax. The Gazette says that reports of Indian difficulties in that vicinity are without foundation. Moses is represented as being of a peaceful turn of mind. The population of Colfax has been increased by the presence of some twenty Chinamen. The Gazette says the town can get along without them. A saw mill is soon to be located in Paradise valley, five miles northeast of Moscow. The machinery is on the ground, and when in running order will turn out 15,000 feet per day. About two weeks ago, Scott Clark, of Paradise valley, while handling a loaded pistol in careless manner, accidentally discharged the weapon, the ball entering the fore finger of his left hand below the second joint, and coming out of the second finger, inflicting severe flesh wounds, but breaking no bones. According to the Palouse Gazette, the extreme cold weather has killed the fruit in that vicinity, and even along Snake river, it is thought that peaches have been injured to quite an extent. The prospects for an abundance of fruit were never better two weeks ago, but the warm weather of March advanced the young buds too far to endure the late freezing nights. Sam Dillman, a fellow charged with having committed a crime against nature, upon being remonstrated with by his father-in-law, drew a knife and commenced making mince-meat of the old-gent. Dillman, after the cutting, left for parts unknown, and the authorities have offered a reward of $100 for his arrest. His father-in-law will recover; but the calf is ruined for life. L. F. Vaughn, of Pleasant Flat, has been his pleasant place but six months, and now boasts of being the possessor of a comfortable dwelling, consisting of two acres of grain sown, fifty-five of which is well fenced, and, in addition, has two thousand different kinds of fruit and forest trees, and grape vines. Mr. Vaughn has had some successful experience with the ditch fence, having made one hundred rods, his other fencing is of rail and posts. He is following the injunction of Holy Writ, "Multiply and replenish the earth," as he is the father of eleven enterprising children, nine of whom are of school age. Miss Francis, daughter of Mr. Vaughn, has a fine claim adjoining her father's place, for which she lately refused a thousand dollars.

Here and There. The San Francisco Workingmen have commenced making plans with reference to the coming constitutional convention campaign. A New York paper has given a new and correct reading of an old saying, as follows: An honest man is the most lonesome work of God. John Nugent, at one time editor of San Francisco Herald, and in his day a power in the land, is employed in writing "pen and ink" sketches for the Argonaut. Thurman and Conkling are poor men, Spencer, of Alabama, is rich. The former have brains, and the latter check. Financially, the last is by far the best paying investment. Kearney, the San Francisco agitator, has made at least one convert. Secretary Thompson has given orders to our war ships in the South Pacific to seize all American vessels engaged in the coal trade. A correspondent of the Oregonian urges his readers to "watch and be sober." Around here it takes all the time of the average whiskey imbiber to watch for a chance to get a drink. There is no difficulty about watching to be sober. Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, when referring to Judge Brady, invariably terms Oregon's great judge, "Judge Daddy." In a matter like this we should think a senator would endeavor to be correct. Safe robberies are becoming very common in some portions of Oregon. As the bankrupt law will soon be repealed, it is necessary for this condition of affairs. A man then can carry on business with or without a safe, just as he deems proper. Ex-congressman Vance, of Ohio, who disappeared from his home several weeks ago in company with a fair haired damsel, has turned up in San Francisco, means. His traveling companion is well both in body and mind, and while she has money to loan, Vance is financially ruined. One of the recent county conventions in Oregon, resolved that "self-preservation was the first law of nature." To carry out this idea the delegates nominated themselves for all the offices to be filled. They knew what they wanted and were not afraid to say so. The man who stole Tilden's overcoat has been arrested. The man who stole the presidency still continues to occupy the white house. The overcoat chap goes to the penitentiary. They are, therefore, both supported at the expense of the people. The Black Hill country has reached that state of civilization that usually marks a country on the high road to prosperity. The jurors claim that they are oft times unable to resist the bribes offered them. We have known countries where they did not resist at all, but like Oliver Twist clamored for more. Thomas Henry Clay Smith, from Ohio, as a matter of course, recently appointed clerk of the treasury department, has been confirmed a paymaster in the army. Mr. Smith is sixty-five years of age, and his presence in the army is highly gratifying, as the military organization of this country is sadly in need of youthful vigor. Mark Hopkins, the treasurer and brains of the Central Pacific railroad, who died childless, leaving fifteen millions, wore shabby clothes, dug his own garden, picked up bits of old iron when he saw them, worked until two o'clock in the morning, wrote more on a page than most business men put on sheets, and paid $50 a month rent. His adopted son Tim is at college. Bishop Andrews, of the New York Methodist Conference, probably for the reason that they are not eligible as candidates for congress, has decided that the licensing of women as preachers is against the doctrines of Wesley. The disappointed advocates of the new departure have taken an appeal to the general conference of the Methodists of the whole country in 1880. The Chicago Times, one of the very best, and at the same time very worst papers published in this country, advises all to obtain as much land as possible, (just what they are doing near Dayton.) It says that three generations hence the transfers of improved lands will be as rare as honest congressmen are to-day. Real estate, real estate will, at least, be found to be in the United States, as it is in Great Britain, the most satisfactory, safe, and government controlling thing which a citizen may possess. General James Shields, who has been the subject of so much turmoil in congress, was born in Tyrone, Ireland, 1810; came to this country in 1826; settled in Illinois; studied law; was a legislator and judge; was made by Polk commissioner of the general land office; was made Brigadier general for the Mexican war; was shot through the lungs, but recovered; fought at Chepultepec bareheaded and in his shirt sleeves, without a horse; was again wounded; rescued from outrage a lady and her daughter in the night-time by a secret and disobedient ally; became senator from Illinois; was afterward beaten by Lyman Trumbull; went to Minnesota; was, as a farmer, elected to the term to the senate of the United States as a democrat; became a Brigadier general in the Union army; succeeded Lander; drove out Stone-wall Jackson while Fremont was pursuing Jackson through the Shenandoah, both federal generals being victims of a war department; was nominated for Major general, but was not confirmed, and removed to a farm in Missouri, where he has since lived on a pension raised from $31 to $50 a month. He is five feet eight inches tall; has a swarthy face and dark hair; speaks fluently, and is a little visionary, enthusiastic and adventurous. NOT TO BE INTIMIDATED.—A wild Texas boarded the train at Fort Worth for Dallas. It was his first ride on the cars, and as the conductor reached in his hip-pocket for his punch, the sharp eye of the Texas caught a glimpse of the pistol handle, and as quick as thought he leveled a navy six on the conductor saying: "Put her up, or I'll blow daylight through you. No man can get the drop on me."

SCALPS.—Not Indian scalps, but those of the mischievous squirrels. Up to date the Auditor has issued orders upon the treasurer to enter bills in payment for 11,970 scalps, pricing youths in payment for 11,970 scalps, amounting to $239 40; and the boys are still at work, with an abundant supply of material in sight.

In the United States (including Walla Walla, as a matter of course) there is one doctor for every hundred inhabitants; one to every sixteen hundred in England; one to every eighteen hundred in France, while Germany gets along with one doctor for each three thousand inhabitants.

The P. I. man of the New York Herald, speaking of the bar-room journalist, a description of whom will be found on the fourth page of the present issue of the STATESMAN, says: "The way to cure one of those chaps is to get him to agree to write a sensible article every day for a week. Before the week is out he is sure to be pumped dry, and will gap worse for an idea than a chicken does with the pipe."

Our old friend W. W. Wallace, who, for nine years, was connected with one of the largest drug houses of Portland, arrived here last week, having purchased an interest in the business formerly conducted by Dr. Day. The firm name will hereafter be J. H. Day & Co. Mr. Wallace is accompanied by his family, and their presence will be an important acquisition to our city. Gentlemenly, enterprising, energetic, and with a thorough knowledge of his business, Mr. Wallace will no doubt be accorded that prosperity that always attends the efforts of a true business man.

Judge Lewis has been severely worked for the past year, and comes here at this season for the purpose of recreation, and look after property interests. On the Sound, as at Walla Walla, his official action has been occasionally criticised, but we are glad to know that there as here he has the good opinion of all men whose favor is worth having, and that his enemies are the enemies of good order and good society. Judge Lewis is everywhere recognized as the ablest man that ever held a seat on the bench in Washington territory, and his reputation is of the kind that will stand the test of time. In common with a host of friends, we warmly welcome Judge Lewis and lady to their old home.

He has also a 5 year old mare, 3 bred, and weight 1740 pounds. He has with this mare four yearling colts, a filly, weighing 1000 pounds. One of his fillies, weighing 1700 pounds, named "Belgium," weighing 1700 pounds, he left at Boise city for the season. All these animals are very fine, but of course are much reduced after their overland trip.

A Rich Trip.

Two weeks ago there died in Cincinnati, of starvation, a man worth five millions. In a spavilion where foul odors and rags kept company with hunger and cold, Jerry Tullis, the miser, expired from want of a morsel to eat which he thought would cost too much, and from want of a doctor who was not charitable enough to be dead-headed by a millionaire. Like all misers he complained of his poverty, and it was only after his death that the people knew how rich he was. He had studied law to avoid paying fees, and drew up his own deeds, cooked his own meals, brought his water, the little he drank—for he never washed—brought his clothes, and froze in winter because he would not do to the expense of a fire. He was a bachelor, because he had been crossed in love, owing to the fact that he would not do to the expense of a wedding. He asked his fiancée to dispense with the expensive luxury of a wedding, and like a decent girl, she was insulted and broke off from him.

He would go on the tramp for a pair of shoes when he had just gotten a million and a half for a piece of property. He would beg a coat and sell it on speculation and freeze sooner than buy another. Strange to say he was perfectly honest, and was never known to cheat a soul out of a penny, though he would lie in order to obtain cast of clothes, which he wanted to sell. He gave minute directions about not being buried because it would cost so much; and was particularly careful about having the rags he wore sold for the best possible price. The strangest thing, however, about old Jerry was that he manifested no concern about who got his millions or what became of them, only he wanted somebody to enjoy, he said, what had cost him so much labor and care to accumulate.

He was afraid of all banks and swore they were swindling shops, and so every cent he could scrape went into real estate. He kept no accounts, but his memory kept any double-entry system every heard of.

He had long wandered abroad, but for a year had settled down in Cincinnati. The reason was that he felt that he was getting old, and if he had been overcome with sickness on the road, somebody might put him in a vehicle and change him with it.

To STOP BLEEDING AT THE NOSE.—It is worth while to know how to stop bleeding at the nose when it becomes excessive. If the finger is pressed firmly upon the little artery which supplies blood to the side of the face affected the result is accomplished. The two small arteries branching up from the main arteries on each side of the neck, and passing over each side of the jaw-bone, supply the face with blood. If the nose bleeds from the right side, for example, pass the finger along the edge of the right jaw until the beating of the right artery is felt. Press hard upon it and the bleeding will cease. Continue the pressure five minutes, until the ruptured vessel in the nose has time to contract.

HEARD FROM.—Our old friend, O. N. Denny, recently appointed U. S. consul to one of the Chinese ports, has been heard from. As the readers of the STATESMAN are aware, there is a terrible famine in China. Some charitable persons in the East have petitioned congress to appropriate a large sum for the relief of the starving heathens; and Denny, seeing a chance to handle the appropriation, if made, is very anxious about the matter, as seen by the following telegram, recently read in the U. S. senate: "Famine spreading; cannibalism exists; no rain; worse next year; (now for the nub) will indemnity bill pass?"

THE BARBER-JOURNALIST.—Hstands in the saloons with his back to the stove and tells h w he could run a newspaper; how he would be as independent as a hog on ice and call things by their right names; how he would expose corruption in high places; how he would write good, sound common sense, and none of your frivolous try-to-be-funny stuff. Then he criticizes other people's methods of conducting newspapers and just wishes somebody would give him a chance to show his journalistic ability. And yet, nine times out of ten, this same smarty cannot converse in reasonably good English, and don't know a period from a fly-speak.

All women play cards alike. Watch a woman at a game of whist: "La, me, Henry, is it my play? Let me see—second hand low—that's the first time around of that suit, ain't it? Well, I'll play—no, I hardly think I will—now you stop looking at my hand—do you see anything—of course I am going to play, but I must have time to think—what! trump's—spades! I thought it was clubs—well, I'll—no—yes—well, there?" Then she will clap an ace on her partner's king and insist upon keeping the trick for fear she will be cheated out of it in the final count.

STYLE.—Oregon has its style; Washington territory has its style; and from the following paragraph from the Owyhee Advertiser, we should judge that Idaho had its style. Speaking of a contemporary, the Advertiser uses this language: "You miserable, degraded wretch! there isn't a man in your county who would not thrash a house, and it cannot be expected that members of the profession you so basely and ignominiously represent will descend to that level of filth and putrescence so congenial to one whose canine instincts are thus revealed so clearly."

EXPLAINED.—The following from the Belingham Mail explains itself: "The Walla Walla Statesman has the temerity to remark about the Puget Sound press that as a medium for the dissemination of intelligence they are no better than last year's almanac. The STATESMAN certainly did not include the Mail in this category, as we do not exchange with that delectable organ; which fact accounts for that unfortunate allusion to our local contemporaries. We have this day instructed our mail clerk to put the STATESMAN on our exchange list."

TOO MUCH POISON.—A correspondent, writing from this county to one of the Soundpapers, says: "One of our wealthiest men put out some poisoned wheat for squirrels. The next day a number of cattle were found dead near the place where the wheat was dropped. Expensive squirrels, those."

LUMBER TRADE.—The Journal of Commerce reports 72 cargoes of lumber shipped from Puget Sound to foreign ports last year. The amount was 37,454,465 feet of lumber, 370,861 pickets, 2,285,500 shingles, 1,210,640 lathes, and 147 spars.

THE BEST PUMP MANUFACTURED on the Pacific Coast by A. Prescott in that Oregon. I am in this vicinity putting in that celebrated Pump which has driven its competitors from the coast in the Willamette valley, and is acknowledged to be the best in use. It is made of hard wood of two sizes; it is simple and neat in its construction, and it draws water faster, easier and less long than any other Pump in use. These Pumps are put in on trial and satisfaction guaranteed or no sale. The Willamette Farmer says:

The Best Farmer's Pump. Having made a thorough trial of two different pumps, that have been prominently before the public of Oregon, for some time past, I give my experience as follows: Mr. A. Prescott put in one of his wood pumps, in a well 40 feet deep, and the handle near Salem, which has now been in operation one year and a half, and has operated perfectly all that time, never getting out of order in Summer or Winter, and working with ease at all times, not requiring more than two strokes to bring water after being started for weeks at a time. Also, Mr. Prescott put in one of his rubber bucket or less chain pumps, called the "Magic Pump," into my well 40 feet deep, at my residence in Salem, which failed to do work, required thirteen turns to draw water when low, and proved so entirely unsatisfactory that I have had it taken out and replaced with Mr. Prescott's Magic Pump, which I believe to be the best pump in use for all work, in both deep or shallow wells. He has made these pumps for three years past, and sold fifteen hundred in this valley. S. A. CLARKE, El. Willamette Farmer.

We are constantly receiving verbal orders and cards like the following, which we can produce if necessary. Read it with care: SILVERTON, April 13th, 1878. Mr. A. Prescott—I would like one of your pumps, as I have two of them now and they fill the bill. I have one of the Magic Pumps that I want out of my well and another of yours in its place, for the Magic Pump is no account. B. T. LEBBEY.

WOODBURN, Oregon, April 21, 1878. Dear Sir—I have one of Middleland's Magic Pumps in my well for house use, and I don't like it. I write you to know what you would charge me cash in hand to put one of your pumps in for me. The well is 23 feet and 3 inches from the under side of spout. J. S. STEINBER.

Don't forget the Salem Pump, it is not magic but a real pump. Will fill all orders promptly. Address, H. B. THRASHER, Agent, 29 1/2 Walla Walla, W. T.
