A Grand Old Poem.
Who shall judge a man from manners?
Who shall judge him by the dress?
Papers may be fit for princes,
Princes fit for something less.
Crumpled shirts and dirty jackets
May belittle the golden one
Of the deepest thoughts and feelings—
Satin vests could do no more.

There are springs of crystal nectar
Ever welling out of stones;
There are purple buds and golden Hills, brushed and overgrown,
God who counts by souls, not dresses,
Loves and prospers you and me,
While we value through the highest
As the pebbles in the sea.

Man, uplifted above his fellows,
O'er forgets his fellows then—
Majors, rulers and great ones,
For your meanness hides are men!
Men by labor, men by feeling,
Men by thought, men by fame,
Claiming equal rights to sustain,
In a man's ennobling name.

There are fane-embroidered capings,
There are silks and satins,
There are fusts, such high capings,
Which extend beyond the period as
There are colors on the hills,
God who counts by souls, not dresses,
Loves and prospers you and me,
While we value through the highest
As the pebbles in the sea.

Telling lands alone are builders
Of a nation's wealth or fame;
Titled laundries are peacocks,
And the ostentatious are the same;
By the sweat of other's foreheads,
Whiling only to rejoice,
In the way men's outraged freedom
Vainly lifts up its voice.

Truth and justice are eternal,
Born with loveless and light;
Sons of men shall never prosper,
While there is a sunny right;
God, whose word-ward voice is singing
Sings oppression with its titles
As the pebbles in the sea.

Boise Correspondence.
IDAHO CITY, April 28, 1865.
EDS. STATESMAN.—The continuance of the rain of winter, so long beyond the period as season, has produced a corresponding paucity of items to communicate. We are beginning at least to have harbingers of "a better time," and the advent of Spring was heralded last season, advent of Spring was heralded last season, has produced a corresponding paucity of items to communicate.

The general sanitary condition of the people is good, though many are complaining more or less of coughs, colds, etc. Balls, sores, and other ailments, are common. The "chills and fevers" are not so prevalent as in former years, and the "cholera morbus" is not so common.
The "cholera morbus" is not so common.

For more than two weeks past numbers have been daily arriving from Boise, most of whom are as provided as the military and multitudinous army of the first, under Gen. Lee, the Penitentiary. U. S. Marshal, and the Penitentiary.

There has been considerable scarcity of flour and other commodities in this district, which occurred a Res. dealer in groceries, formerly of "the City of Portland," and one or two others to raise the price of a considerable quantity to $1.00 per bushel, and to sell it at $1.25 per bushel, and to sell it at $1.25 per bushel.

That cradle of greatness, Yamhill County, Oregon, seems to be the center of the "loyalty," whence the President is determined to draw most of his trusty blades of "loyalty," to the benefit of Idaho. We have had one W. B. Daniels, as Acting Governor for some time, Judge A. L. Smith, Councilman Cummins, and lastly, Hon. John B. McElrath, ex M. C., as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory.

On motion of Mr. Hicks, the resolutions were read seriatim, and unanimously adopted.

Mr. Lawrence moved that the two-third rule be adopted to regulate the choice of the Convention; upon which the yeas and nays were called.
Motion carried.

On motion of Mr. Babcock, convention proceeded to nomination of candidates.

Mr. A. J. Lawrence nominated O. B. McPadden;
Mr. Cain nominated James H. Leaster;
Mr. Johnson nominated Frank Clark; Mr. Yantis nominated James Titton; Mr. Babcock nominated A. L. Brown; Mr. O'Brien nominated George E. Cole.

Mr. Babcock moved to proceed to election of nominees for Delegate.

After several ballots were had without result,
Mr. Babcock withdrew the name of A. L. Brown, and substituted that of W. G. Langford.

Johnston was out at the time and did not see the note till yesterday.

It appears by the Herald's account that Major Rathbun was not aware of the presence of the assassin till he heard the report of a pistol, when he immediately turned and seized the man, who made a thrust with a knife at the Major's breast, who received the blow upon the left arm, near the shoulder. The Major only secured a partial hold on the assassin's clothing, which was partly torn away, as he sprung from the box. Thinking it impossible that the man should escape from the capture, the Major returned to the front.

The whole was consumed by the assassin, from entering the box till the completion of the bloody deed was not over thirty seconds.

Philadelphia, April 18.—J. Perry, Jr., left Washington this morning. The Secretary is improving.

The Herald's Army of the Potomac correspondent gives the result of the work of paroling the rebel prisoners. It appears that they numbered about 26,000 including officers, privates and teamsters. The artillery numbers 170 pieces, and the wagon train 100.

A Richmond correspondent says that Lee has gone to Danville to endeavor to prevail on Jeff. Davis to desist from further prolonging the hopeless struggle.

Washington, April 19.—Gov. Seward, at the meeting of the citizens of Iowa last night, stated that he had had a long conversation with President Johnson in regard to his policy as Chief Magistrate, in which the latter said that while he would deal kindly and leniently with the masses of the people South, and with the rank and file of their armies, nevertheless he would be careful not to pursue any policy which would prevent the Government from visiting punishment on the guilty cause of rebellion; and the President regarded it as due to the loyal people, and many thousands of brave men who had fallen in its defence, during the struggle, that reason should still be regarded as the highest crime under the constitution and flag, and that treason should be rendered infamous for all time to come. While he entertained these views, he would at the same time endeavor to gain the confidence of the deserting and betrayed masses of the Southern people, regarding them as proper material for reconstructing insurgent States, and to restore them to their relation to the Government. He would neither recognize nor hold official communication with those who had occupied official station, or in any way acknowledge the sovereignty of the rebel Govern-ment.

Washington, April 19.—A deep interest is felt in the news of the capture of Johnston. His residence is thronged with visitors, among them Cabinet and foreign Ministers. The Council have offered $20,000 as a reward for the capture of Johnston.

Washington, April 19.—The following is a full report of President Johnson's remarks on taking the oath of office yesterday:

Gentlemen: I must be permitted to say that I have been almost overwhelmed by the announcements of the news of the capture of Johnston. I feel incompetent to perform the duties so important and responsible as those which have been so unexpectedly thrust upon me. As the indication of the only policy which may be pursued by me in the administration of the Government, I have to say it must be left for development as the administration progresses, and a message or declaration must be made by me as they transpire. The only assurance that I can now give of the future is a reference to the past course which I have taken in connection with the rebellion. The past must be a guarantee of the future. My past life, which has been long and laborious, has been founded, as I, in good conscience believe, upon the great principle of right which lies at the basis of all things. I have endeavored to establish and perpetuate the principles of free government. I believe that the Government, in passing through its present peril, will settle down upon the principles, consonant with popular rights, more permanent and enduring than heretofore. I must be permitted to say, if I understand the feelings of my countrymen, that I have labored to ameliorate the condition of the great mass of the American people, and in the honest advocacy of the great principles of free government, I have been my lot, and the duties have been mine; the consequences are God's. This has been the foundation of my political faith, and I feel that in the end the Government will triumph, and that the great principles will be permanently established.

In conclusion, let me say that for my encouragement and countenance, I shall rely upon you and others in carrying the Government through its present peril. I trust that in making this request, it will be heartily responded to by you and all other patriotic and lovers of the rights and interests of free people.

Foreign News.
New York, April 17.—Madrid papers state that the Portuguese Government accedes to the demand of the American Minister for the removal of the commander of Fort Belm for firing into the U. S. frigate Niagara after the federal commander had signalled him. He understood his summons.

MEXICAN NEWS.
New York, April 16.—The Herald's City of Mexico correspondent of the 17th ult., says—Maximilian's subjects are agitated over the news that the empire is shortly to be invaded by a large number of soldiers who have heretofore been fighting for the Confederacy. Gen. Price is said to be one of the leaders in the movement which is expected during the summer. An immense rebel force crossed the Rio Grande, provided with arms, to march to the assistance of Juarez, for the purpose of expelling the Europeans.

is ballots were had without result, when on motion the Convention adjourned until 2 o'clock, p. m.

On motion of Mr. Lawrence, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas, Telegraphic information has just been received that the President of the United States has been murdered, therefore Resolved, by the Convention, that although we have uniformly opposed the policy of this administration, we condemn the act as one of the most unparalleled deeds of crime in the annals of the world, and if done, it is a political homicide, as most dastardly a crime, deserving the universal execration of the American people, and that he who has the hand of an assassin upon the servant of the people, who clothed with authority, through political motives, strikes a blow at the perpetuity of our political institutions.

Upon adoption of this resolution Judge McFadden arose and responded to its sentiment in an able and appropriate manner. He was followed by Mr. A. J. Lawrence, who also responded, by a forcible and deep feeling of regret and sorrow over this appalling calamity.

On motion Convention adjourned until 7 o'clock, p. m.

EVENING SESSION.
The names of all other candidates before the Convention having been withdrawn, Gen. Jas. Titton was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention, by acclamation.

On motion the Chair appointed Messrs. McFadden, O'Brien and Cain to wait on Gen. Titton and inform him of his nomination.

Gen. Titton accepted appropriately thanked the Convention for the honor conferred and accepted the nomination.

Judge McFadden being called upon, entered the audience in a noble and appropriate manner, and in support of the platform adopted by this Convention, and pledged his hearty support of its nomination.

Mr. McFadden, moved that a committee of five be appointed as a Democratic Central Committee of the Territory, to serve during the ensuing two years.

Eastern News.
New York, April 17.—The Herald's special from Washington says: After the tragic occurrence, an officer commanding one of the forts around the city was returning to his command, and when between Lincoln Hospital and Camp Kelly, he came suddenly upon two men running rapidly away from the city. The party who were running were undoubtedly waiting for the opportunity to assassinate the President.

Mr. Herald's Winchester correspondent says: The soldiers are greatly incensed at the assassination, but are counselled to calmness.

EXTENSIVE PLOTS DEVELOPED.
Washington, April 16.—The extra of the Star contains the following: Developments have been made in the case of the late President, which show a deep laid plan by a pair of conspirators, including members of the Order of the Golden Circle, to murder the President and Cabinet. There is reason to believe that the conspirators were aided by a large number of European agents, and that the plot was of a most extensive nature.

Washington, April 16.—From the moment the President was shot up to the time of his death he was in the hands of the conspirators. The Vice President visited him during the night, but remained only an hour, and in fact many of those who remained in the city, were ordered to leave the city by the President, and were fired on at several points by concealed parties.

The National says:—It has been ascertained that a regular conspiracy exists to assassinate every member of the Cabinet, and that the conspirators are well organized, and are understood and known, and when present investigations are concluded and published, the public will be astonished. From motives of public interest, we refrain from giving the news that has reached us.

A member of the Cabinet remarked one day after the murder of President Lincoln, that the rebels had lost their best friend.

CRIMINALS OF THE LATE PRESIDENT.
Washington, April 16.—From the moment the President was shot up to the time of his death he was in the hands of the conspirators. The Vice President visited him during the night, but remained only an hour, and in fact many of those who remained in the city, were ordered to leave the city by the President, and were fired on at several points by concealed parties.

Hunter, Acting Secretary of State, announces that the funeral will take place at 12 o'clock, m., on Wednesday, the 19th of April. All of the various religious denominations throughout the country are invited to meet in their respective places of worship at that hour, to solemnize the occasion by appropriate ceremonies.

JOHNSTON SURRENDERS HIS ARMY.
New York, April 17.—Information has just been received that Sherman and Johnston are negotiating for the latter's surrender.

Washington, April 17.—Joseph E. Johnston has surrendered his entire army to Sherman. This virtually closes the war. The rebel general expresses a willingness to submit to the United States authorities. Lee's army of 30,000 men over. Our losses will not exceed 10,000 or 11,000.
