ALFRED TENNYSON.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, April 30, 1879.

EDITOR STATESMAN.—Mr. Hayes yesterday vetoed the army appropriation bill.

His message is one that will be read with alarm by thoughtful men everywhere, and with astonishment by all when the political events of this time have become history.

It enters into an elaborate argument on the subject of the powers of different branches of the government, and arrives at conclusions which, if ever embodied in law or sanctioned by public sentiment will make servants of the people, instead of sovereigns, and give to the executive vaster and more dangerous powers than any ruler can safely have.

It has been the wish of many democrats that congress should, after the expected vote, vote supplies for the government sufficient to pay expenses until the regular session, but I doubt if votes enough can now be had to secure that action.

The publication of the veto message in newspapers before its reception by the house was also a gross discourtesy.

The half-official hints of its contents, given out for the last two weeks, were to say the least in a taste not heretofore found at the white house.

On the whole, the fraudulent president has both by the matter of his message and the surrounding circumstances, given the country cause for alarm and shame.

He has put himself so securely in the hands of the worst leaders of his party, that those democrats who, inspired by a foolish faith in his patriotic utterances, have counseled and advised with him, will of necessity keep away from him hereafter.

To-day, probably debate will commence on the legislative bill in the senate. It will, beyond doubt, be prolonged.

As much of the army bill debate referred to matters contained in the legislative bill, so, in discussing the latter, senators will have an opportunity, which they will improve, to express their views on the actions, arguments and charges contained in the veto of the army bill.

I look for a long, able and most important debate. There has been hints in the papers that Secretary Sherman was ambitious of presidential honors in 1880, and was doing what he could to magnify his chances.

There are gentlemen here from the south who represent that the secretary is very actively working in that direction, and with considerable effect.

It is not likely, however, that even so shrewd and unscrupulous a politician as Sherman though backed by our most important department, can overcome the strong feeling of radicals in the south in favor of Grant and Wilson.

It looks as if one of these gentlemen were sure of a "solid south" in the nominating convention. But whatever trickery can accomplish will be done by Sherman.

Senator Logan, though in earlier life was willing to fight duels if the occasion offered, says that he will not meet Representative Lowe, who has challenged him, without entering into the merits of the dispute between Senator Logan and Representative Lowe. I think most people will sustain the former in his present course.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Lord Chelmsford does not appear to have made much advance towards regaining the laurels lost by him at Isandahla.

The reports from his headquarters are indeed anything but satisfactory. Despite the reinforcements sent to him he appears incapable of taking the offensive, and it is asserted that he has not troops enough to protect the frontier.

Of course this embarrassment will not fail to be commented on by the enemies alike of England and the government. They will ask what hope the country could have had of coping with the enormous armies of Russia, when a petty South African Chief can so effectually cripple its military strength.

And it must be admitted that the criticism is not without point. For at the present moment it is apparent that King Cetewayo is so absorbing the attention and the military capacity of England that she could not venture upon a war with a continental power, no matter under what provocation.

Lord Chelmsford appears to be one of those incapable commanders who possesses a peculiar faculty of using up and wasting whatever forces are entrusted to them, and who contrive to do nothing with a whole army corps, at the same time they are wearing out the troops.

Had Lord Napier of Magdala been sent to South Africa there can be little doubt that the affair would have been settled before this, and that Cetewayo would have been forced to make his submission.

Beaconsfield, however, appears resolved to keep Lord Chelmsford in the command rather than acknowledge that he made a mistake in selecting him, and the British people are in a fair way to pay very dearly for this piece of ministerial obstinacy.

THE WOOL CLIP.

Messrs. DuBois & King, commission merchants of Portland, have issued a wool circular of date May 1st, which contains some facts of interest to wool growers, from which we glean the following:

The market is usually dull this season, which is owing to the large increase of wool in the United States and foreign parts. The production seems to have been greater than the demand since the season of 1873, which has ruined many dealers and embarrassed others.

This year's clip in California is six million pounds more than last season and the clip in all the wool growing districts has been correspondingly large. Heretofore, dealers bought everything and anything, paying good prices, but now there is no eagerness to buy even the best fleece.

The clip in Oregon last year was over six million pounds and will be fully as large this season. It will therefore be necessary for growers to ship their wool in the very best of order, as sales will depend upon the appearance of the fleece, and sales will be made subject to rejection of inferior parcels.

Those interested should refer to the circular of DuBois & King's circular.

It is easy to undertake, but more difficult to finish the thing.

Indian Affairs.

In the present state of Indian affairs the following is well worthy of the greatest consideration, as it is the views of one well posted on Indian affairs, and well knows what he is talking about.

EDITOR STATESMAN.—In reference to Indian matters, I will advance some views as briefly as possible in connection with the present situation.

The conferences with the Indians in Eastern Oregon, Washington, and North Idaho, for some time past, and prior to hostilities, have been one series of misunderstandings, resulting from a want of knowledge of Indian character, of the history of the relations of the Indians to the government at an early day, and in many instances from improper or imperfect interpreting.

The Indians are diplomats, and to make them a proposition upon any matter of importance, even if it coincided with their views, they will take time to discuss and consider it with their friends, before making any positive response.

This characteristic is a part of their nature, long recognized by those who have had only and important dealings with them.

The treaties with the reservation Indians expire this year, and with the Indians in Eastern Washington and North Idaho realize the necessity of their relations with the government being placed upon a permanent basis.

They also realize that the country is rapidly filling up with the whites who will have land, even if compelled to disregard all rights of the Indians, and unless speedy and definite action be had by the government, a conflict of the races is inevitable, which would result in the extermination of the Indians.

The sending of the deputation of Indians to Washington is having a salutary effect upon the Indians as well as the whites, but this good effect may be short lived, unless followed up with movements that will keep the minds of all occupied with the consideration of the adjustment of their claims upon the government by negotiation.

Mos's has been much abused and at the same time, his importance and influence much overrated. He has some ambitious views in regard to himself which will never be realized.

Every head man is anxious to have a reservation for his band of followers by which means he would be recognized as a chief.

These different demands are the results of suggestions of white men prompted by interested motives of their own.

If the alternative be presented to the Indians, the majority of them would prefer to take up land in severalty and remain upon their present locations in preference to being removed to any reservation.

It is somewhat fortunate that these differences exist in present exigencies, at the same time the full demands of one interest cannot be granted without yielding to all, which would be impossible.

In endeavoring to adjust these differences, the time and attention of the Indians can be occupied through the present season, hostilities arrested and time secured to perfect some arrangement by which all who did not wish to move, would take up land in severalty as a matter of compromise, and those who would not desire to do so, could be sent to one reservation set apart for them, in the district of country alluded to.

To further these ends in my opinion, two things must be done.—Upon the return of the delegation from Washington, a council for conference should be held, on the Unalakleet reservation to which all the leading Indians in the country should be invited, after which a similar council should be held in the upper country in the vicinity of Spokane Falls.

This latter council being for the benefit of the Indians not treated with and who have been quiet for two years and if they remain so, can prevent any general combination for war. I suppose the Spokane Falls is the point for holding the council, on account of its being a central location in the vicinity of the fisheries which are resorted to by representative Indians from all parts of the country in June and July.

Last year the Indians at these fisheries in consultation with the upper country in consultation, they concluded to go to war, but would wait and see what the government would do for them in regard to their lands.

To make this latter council a success, at least a month should be consumed in notifying the Indians, at the same time exercising great care that they be made to understand its peaceful objects.

Flour and beef should be provided for them, estimating four or five days for the continuation of the council. Of this the Indians should be notified. A few thousand dollars expended in this way discreetly, would prevent hostilities and prevent the expenditure of blood and large sums of money in military operations.

In making these recommendations, I speak from actual experience in the management of the Nez Perces and other tribes upon the first discovery of gold in the country when the situation was as critical, if not more so, than at present.

The large majority of the non-treaty Indians have behaved so well for the past two years that they apprehend they have forfeited all consideration at the hands of the government.

"Kamichen," the old war chief, was recognized as head chief of all the Yakima bands, in the treaty made in 1855, and confirmed in 1859. He made his last fight in 1858, after which he gave up, declaring it was useless to fight any more, that he would neither go upon the reservation, or accept anything from the government, and that he intended to live in peace with the whites.

He kept his word. He retired to a little farm near Rock Lake in the Palouse country, where he died some four or five years since. His eldest son has pursued the same line of conduct followed by the father since 1858, although a very tempting proposition was made him about a year ago which was to raise his standard for war and he a leader. How far he was tempted will not be known until the present difficulties are adjusted.

He is not disposed for war and desires to live as an independent man raising stock and farming. He feels and knows that he is a chief, but has never directly exercised any authority in that way beyond the adjustment of minor difficulties amongst the Indians. This man if properly influenced would prove a valuable aid in carrying out the policy of locating the Indians upon lands in severalty and living independent of tribal relations. This policy is in accordance with his feelings and views to a very great extent. I am confident if the suggestions made here, be carried out, the most satisfactory results will be attained.

MILK IN MEDICINE.

Milk and lime water are now frequently prescribed by physicians in cases of dyspepsia and weakness of the stomach, and in some cases are said to prove beneficial.

Many persons who think good bread and milk a great luxury frequently hesitate to eat it, for the reason that milk will not digest readily; sourness of the stomach will often follow. But experience proves that lime water and milk are not only food and medicine at an early period of life, but also at a later, when, as in the case of infants, the functions of digestion and assimilation have been seriously impaired.

A stomach taxed by glutony, irritated by improper food, inflamed by alcohol, enfeebled by disease, or otherwise unfitted for its duties, will resume its work, and do it energetically, on an exclusive diet of bread and milk and lime water.

A goblet of cow's milk one may add four table-spoonfuls of lime water with good effect. The way to make lime water is simply to procure a few lumps of unslaked lime, put the lime in a stone jar, add water until the lime is slaked and of about the consistency of thin cream; the lime settles, leaving the pure and clear water at the top. Great care should be taken not to get the lime water too strong. Keep to the directions as to the consistency, and when the water rises pour it off without obtaining any of the lime.

DAYTON.

"It has been a good sheep country but it's about eaten out." This was the reply we received some five years since at Dayton when we arrived there on a sheep buying expedition. At that time it was thought that the grass covered hills were unfit for anything but grazing purposes. Since then the tide of emigration reached the fair valleys, and if by the

PLAINS OF PARADISE.

This grand result has been obtained through the enterprise of the citizens, the press, and their correspondents in making our grand country rolling to the outside world. The gentle rolling hills are in cultivation from the base to the summit, even in places so steep that at a distance it would appear an impossibility to see a plough, are gardens and fields with snug looking farm houses all betokening happy homes and a contented population. The hills have proved to be much better adapted for grain than even the fine bottom lands on the margin of the numerous streams that water the country. Water can be procured almost anywhere by digging, and as if

To make the lands pleasant for the people, many new springs bubble forth from the hillsides that were previously unknown to exist, besides this from observations taken by the oldest settlers, practical men in every sense of the word, it is found that the rain fall has vastly increased, and the wind blows less violently; the vast amount of land ploughed simultaneously when it was discovered what undeveloped

These hills had much to do with effecting these climatic changes which are now acknowledged facts. It would appear to a casual observer that the land is all occupied and there is room for no more settlers. The reverse is the actual case, for many broad acres of the best land in the world is yet for sale at ridiculously low prices when the price of lands in older communities is taken into consideration; many settlers arrived there poor and took up all the land they could obtain, they find they have far more than they can attend to and are ready to sell, besides many hold claims for no other purpose than selling. PROBATE COURT. The regular May term of the Probate Court will commence on Monday...

LECTURE. Mrs. P. Annetta Peckham, the celebrated temperance orator, lectured last night at the M. E. Church.

CUSTOMERS & KEAR are removing their stock of goods and groceries to the C. O. D. store opposite their old place.

THE WALLULA STEAM FERRY. One-half interest in the steam ferry at Wallula has been sold to Moore Bros. of this city.

REMOVED. Wheaton, the celebrated saddle-maker, has removed his old exchange building. His business has outgrown his old stand.

OUR DICK. As an example of journalistic exaggeration we hope to be excused from mentioning the fact that the poem by Alfred Tenney appearing in our outside columns, cost the poet a sum of $17.00.

THE YAKIMA. Our latest advices from these mountain settlements say that owing to numerous frosty showers the crops are looking splendidly. There are 400 soldiers in the Yakima Valley.

FINE JEWELRY. The jewelry store of Z. K. Straight has the finest and most complete stock of jewelry, watches, clocks, silver and plated ware east of Portland.

DAYTON. During our visit to Dayton we were surprised to find that notwithstanding the enterprise and industry of its citizens they have as yet no means for extinguishing a conflagration.

WORK OF ART. Wallburg is proud of a fine painting that is on exhibition over Doe Montgomery's butcher shop.

RUNAWAY. On Monday evening two big horses started wildly off and came tearing into the red store on 2nd street corner.

INCORPORATED. The Seattle and Yakima wagon road has been incorporated. The capital stock is placed at $50,000 divided into 1000 shares of $50 each.

SOMETHING WRONG. As we take occasional tours through the cellars of our business men we are always grieved to discover that so much of their produce is imported that there is no earthly reason should not be bought at our own doors.

INVITATION. We acknowledge the compliment of the following invitation: The first annual meeting of the California Press Association will be held in the parlors of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, on Wednesday, July 16, 1879, at 12 o'clock M.

FILE AT THE DALLIES. A special dispatch to the STATESMAN contains the following in regard to the fire at the Dalles: "Fire started at 4:30 p. m., May 21st, in the rear of the Pioneer hotel by a boy throwing a match down. The fire spread in every direction. No wind blowing. From the bridge east and for two blocks and a half everything is gone up. Wallburg's drug store is uninjured. The block where the Umattila house stands and the block opposite and the next two blocks east there is not a building standing except Baldwin's saloon and Moody & Co's store, which are of stone. The block south of the Pioneer hotel is totally destroyed. All the business houses are burned, including Mrs. Humaton's new brick. The blocks on which Wells, Fargo & Co., Tawani and Wingate are doing business, are unharmed. Postoffice not burned. Four whole blocks and two half blocks burned. A spark flew over and caught fire to the O. S. X Company's engine house and offices and burnt them up. With great difficulty the machine shops, cars and locomotives were saved. The steamboats were all steamed across the river and saved. The all steamed across the river and saved. The all steamed across the river and saved.

PERSONAL. Mr. R. M. Washburne of the Dayton Chronicle, gave our office a call. We received a very pleasant financial visit from Mr. William Stevens.

JUDGE LEWIS, of Tacoma, one of the North Pacific "magnets," is in the city. Mr. Frank Morrison, who has a high reputation as a tyro, paid us a pleasant call yesterday.

COURT PROCEEDINGS. May Term, 1879. BUSINESS LOCALS.

Territory vs. Augustine Bernadino, grand larceny; verdict guilty; sentenced seven years penitentiary. Territory vs. John McNair, perjury; case continued till next term of court, bond fixed at $500; failing to give the same, went to jail.

U. S. vs. H. Harris, charged with intimidating a witness; continued; bond $500; bonds men, C. W. Lewis, Wm. Linnville and Wm. O'Donnell. U. S. vs. M. Harris, same.

U. S. vs. Frank Richman, accused of branding cattle not his own; acquitted. U. S. vs. H. Harris, perjury; continued. Ter. vs. Daniel Hays, malicious trespass; acquitted.

Ter. vs. T. G. Lee and Wm. Morgan, grand larceny; acquitted. Adolph Farron vs. Susan Farron, divorce; granted. This was an easy case, as the man was away twenty years.

Steinberger vs. Steinberger, divorce; case dismissed. Mary E. King vs. G. W. King, divorce; granted. John Montague vs. Susan Montague, divorce; granted.

Patrick Ayde, a native of Ireland, admitted to citizenship. B. F. Stone vs. W. A. George, decree of foreclosure. Sarah Stout vs. Albert A. Stout, divorce; granted.

Court adjourned, and the various officers returned to their respective homes. DAYTON DIABYAS. Police docket slim and too late in the season for marriage license.

Mr. Bowman, the Patata City mill man, is sojourning in our town. Three thousand miners wanted, to dig gold out of Snake river and deposit it for blankets to the Dayton Woolen Mills.

Miss Elsie Hendrich, youngest daughter of Dr. Hendrich, fell from a pony last Saturday afternoon and broke her arm near the elbow. Timothy Johnson sat down on a bundle of hay and he got up knocked that bundle into an oak leaf.

Louis Schwabacher, of the firm of Schuabacher Bros., paid our town a visit on Monday last. We trust that he was favorably impressed with the condition of things. F. M. McCully, ex-editor of the Columbia Chronicle, has sold his interest in that paper to O. C. White, and retired from the journalistic arena.

We think Frank has got his eye on something good. J. Day went away from home to get married. We thought at the time that he was making a mistake, but since we have seen his estimable lady, we take it all back.

May the many days to come be happy and radiant with the sunshine of prosperity. The wood crop in this vicinity is in better condition than it has been for several years past, being more free from dirt and oil.

Several gentlemen from Dayton have been up to the mouth of the Alpova prospecting for gold. We learned that one of the party had purchased a ditch for use for mining, which he intends to repair and use it for the purpose of determining whether gold exists there in paying quantities.

S. M. Wall is building an addition to his mill, running a flume through Jesse Day's field to the Trench, and building a fence around it for a tall race, and building a fence around and otherwise improving his ranch below town. The old man's integrity is still unbroken, and many public improvements will get spring into existence through his untiring energy.

We would like to see one of those great eastern bull-frogs, that used to scare us in our infancy, jump down some of those fellows that are constitutionally opposed to being satisfied and eternally grumbling about the condition of the world, and every farmer troubled to take into himself a better half. We made an attempt but failed. Next.

FARM WAGONS.

The Bain Wagon is so well known to the farmers and freighters of this coast that it seems needless for us to say anything in its praise. We have sold them for the past thirteen years, and warranted every one sold, and the total claims for defective material or workmanship during that time have not amounted to one cent on each wagon sold. This fact speaks louder than anything we can say in its praise. The

PATENT "SKEIN TIGHTENER"

On the Bain Wagon is a very valuable improvement, and is on no other wagon. For the coming season all farm wagons will have the new PATENT OIL TUBES with brass screw caps, which avoid the necessity of taking off the wheels to take the axle-arrangement which teamsters will fully appreciate. We feel safe in asserting that there is no other wagon in the market that will compare with the Bain as now made, in QUALITY OF MATERIAL USED and in completeness and excellence of workmanship. Our wagons are made to order, especially for our trade, and we pay extra to have all the timber "EXTRA SELECTED" out of thoroughly seasoned stock. All the wheels are put through—soaked in—boiling linseed oil before setting of tires, making shrinkage impossible. Mr. Bain does this in a more thorough manner than some others, who simply make a pretense of doing it, and make the application, if at all, only in "homoeopathic doses." The wood work, tires and ironing are extra heavy, but at the same time everything is well proportioned.

Bayliss' Patent Wheel Harrow.

THE ONLY HARROW FIT FOR SOD GROUND.

And the best in use for preparing land for seeding. Good as a plow to prepare summer fallow ground for wheat. Covers seed nearly equal to a Drill. A small boy can operate it and do twice the work of a Drag harrow, with less labor. The Gangs are flexible to conform to a rough surface, and will fill a dead furrow so that it cannot be found. The twelve Discs act as so many little plows, turning the dirt over and making the soil mellow to the depth of six inches. It will pulverize shallow or deep by changing a bolt. Suitable for all kinds of soil, saving Time, Labor, Money, and Shoe-Leather. It is simple, durable and warranted.
