Found.

Found in the street. A baby's tiny shoe; Red strings and all complete; And one, too, nearly through; Ah, toddling child and weel! What has become of thee?

I wonder what thou'lt be; Perhaps our President; When new-born Liberty And Peace reign with Content; When kindlier South winds blow To melt the Northern snow.

Or if thou art a girl, I pray the gentle breeze May find its crowning pearl—The holy name of wife; Thy home a garden sweet Wandered by baby-feet.

This dainty thing doth show How kindly thou wert nurtured; Ah! what if daisies grow From sin God keep the Tree; Then, were for her who weeps When her lost treasure sleeps.

Wherever thou mayst be, Peace be thy constant guest! From sin God keep the Tree; And give thee of His rest. For the bitterest of heart now art. Was once as pure as thou now art. EULIE LAWSON.

Boise Correspondence. IDAHO CITY, May 18th, 1865.

EDS. STATESMAN.—Latterly so great an interval is required for communications to pass between here and Walla Walla that it almost behooves one to write a month "ahead of time" to be anywhere near up to the date of publication with news from Boise. Warm weather has set in to such an extent as to "bar out" spring altogether within the last three weeks, changing in a few days from the frigidly of winter to the heat of summer at the very first climatic transition. With the exception of the whitened; distant and loftier hill tops, the snow has disappeared, and water in abundance fills every gulch, ravine, creek and rivulet bed, filling as well to the utmost capacity every water-ditch ready to receive it. The sound of the pick and shovel of the miner resounds throughout each mining district and the numerous brilliant beacon fires blazing in every direction nightly, gives evidence of the active, earnest and industrious commencement of the mining season throughout the basin. The hundreds of idle men who thronged the streets and listlessly obstructed the sidewalks a short time since have all found employment, and the speedy circulation of plenty of "cash money," forms the staple of the sanguine expectations and calculations of all. It is only on Sundays, for months to come, that the towns will present anything like a lively appearance in being filled with multitudes of non-resident miners and others, excepting, of course, political gatherings of "the bone and sinew of the country," during the coming canvass for members of the Territorial Legislature, to be elected in August next.

Judging from the appearance of the majority of Idaho immigrants from below this season, if Hibernia is not awarded a pretty fair representation among the candidates, the Emerald Isle will fail to receive the attention, the number of voters furnished by the "land of the Harp and Shamrock" fairly entitles it to. It decidedly looks as if "Ephraim Union, Erin go braugh," will necessarily have to constitute at least one plank of the platform of the Democracy of Idaho for the year of grace 1865. The issues of negro-equality, miscegenation, and taxation of the mines will form the questions of paramount importance between the fragmentary and antagonistic factions of the defunct Republican-Union party and the Democracy, but the contest will be little more than a mere matter of form, so overwhelmingly is the Democratic element in the ascendancy in Boise and Ada counties.

The Potter Dramatic Troupe have commenced their season's engagement, with fair but not overflowing houses. Mrs. Hayne was serenaded at the Poudre house on the evening of her arrival in the place, by the Idaho City band, and has fully sustained her high reputation as a histrionic artist—as a "bright particular star" of the first magnitude in all the plays brought forward since the return of the Troupe. The veteran Potter has succeeded in effecting arrangements for the joint occupancy of the Jenny Lind and Forrest Theatre buildings for the season, it is said, which presents any competition, and will no doubt secure him a successful business summer.

The Red Bluff, or Chico wagon road route, has been traveled by saddle trains of the veteran pioneer E. D. Pierce, alias "Silver Fox," and Francis, and many teams laden with merchandise, quarts mill machinery, and various other kinds of freight are reported to be en route for Idaho, on that thoroughfare, so that the next two or three months may be confidently expected to decide pretty fully as to its practicability. Much importance is, with good reason, attached to the successful result of this project.

Swollen streams and obstructed roads have rendered every avenue leading into the country nearly impassable for weeks, but the high water has in this region probably reached its maximum, and is now beginning to gradually subside. What and where our "Applan ways" will be still a matter of future uncertainty. Many complaints are made of late of the management of affairs on this end of the Walla Walla stage route, and not a little growing about the accommodations along the road on this eastern half, for the passengers and traveling public generally. Certain it is, whatever the cause, that while the Umattilla line here made fair time and connections, arrivals, and departures, the other, though the U. S. Mail line, has been very irregular and out of all time in anything approximating to the first named.

Reports are made of new and rich placer diggings being discovered recently about thirty miles distant, and quite a number of prospectors have left for the locality in question in consequence. News from the Yuba District is encouraging, and the claims being worked in "the Boise Basin," are, so far, yielding better, if anything, than last year. Quite a number of hydraulics have been put in successful operation in this vicinity. Everything at present indicates a fair prospect of a larger yield of gold from placer claims than that of any previous year, and this gives Idaho so great and merited superiority over the vaunted advantages of Nevada, a country which never possessed any placer deposits of richness or extent. Those of Idaho will scintillate one of the main arteries of business, and superseded by the development of quartz operations more permanent and productive.

There is but little building in this city this season, but all the tenements erected are occupied, save perhaps half a dozen whose owners askehorribant rents or purchase-prices for them. The following contributed by a "local," of the Idaho World, will give a fair idea of the business department of the town:

"There are in Idaho City, not including Buena Vista Bar, thirty-six grocery stores, twenty dry goods and clothing stores, nine bakeries, three tin and stove shops, five cigar stands, three jewelry establishments, five drug stores, one saddler shop, twenty-three law offices, fifteen restaurants, five billiard saloons, four hotels, twelve blacksmith shops, four breweries, ten butcher shops, one book store, one hardware store, forty-one retail liquor saloons, two gun and variety shops, two tobacco stores, two toy shops, six livery and feed stables, twenty-four carpenter shops, one bowling alley, two theaters, one hook and ladder house, three tailor shops, one banking and brokers' office, one photograph office, two paint shops, three dentists' shops, two churches, two music shops, one furniture store, seven shoe shops, ten china wash houses, six barber shops, and nine dress-making and machine-sewing establishments."

The total amount of property valuation of Boise County in 1864 was $3,040,920,88-100. Over one million of this was assessed within the limits of this City, and this year, notwithstanding the separation of Ada county, comprising Boise and Payette river valleys, with the rich and valuable tracts of improved agricultural land now within that county, which a year since composed part of Boise county, the assessed valuation of property will not fall short of $5,000,000, for this county, and of $1,500,000 for Idaho City. This shows a constant, rapid, and gratifying increase of wealth, very creditable to the industry and enterprise of the people, and shows indisputably, largely in favor of the resources of the country. This does not include any valuation whatever of either placer or quartz mining claims, none of which were assessed, and which at present estimated actual cash value would make the actual known wealth of Boise county, in property, not less than ten times the amount before given and over $50,000,000. Three years ago the present spring, there was not a single white inhabitant and not known to be a single dollar's worth of property in what constitutes Boise County. And yet gentlemen of intelligence and veracity from California, state the prevailing opinion in many portions of that State, judiciously cultivated by public journals there, is that Idaho is a barren, unproductive region, peopled by ruffians, cut-throats and the canaille of society generally, congregated here together from every portion of the country, and that none but outlaws from civilization and rascals, self, or otherwise exiled from more honest communities, compose the majority of the population of Idaho! If true, according to Gray, that

"Where ignorance is bliss 'Tis folly to be wise," perhaps the innocent ignoramus who credulously swallow down such stuff in allopathic doses are well enough off in such belief, and until the medicine begins to produce nausea in the patients themselves, there is little use in administering a different formula.

The distressing healthfulness of the country is possibly unprofitable to disciples of Galien and Aesculapius, but very agreeable to the people generally, and is extremely likely to continue. Comparatively few mining accidents of a serious nature have ever happened, and for the number of people, nowhere in the world is to be found less to record in the annals of criminality. Well filled churches, and well conducted and patronized schools attest the prevalence of a sound, healthy, moral tone in the community. Not a town in California of the age and size of Idaho City, has escaped, in its earlier history, more or less destruction from the torch of the incendiary. No vigilance committee or mob-law has ever had an existence in this portion, at least, of the Territory. But one offender has ever escaped from the confinement in prison awarded by a court of justice as a punishment for crime. Indeed it is impossible to find a more intelligent, industrious, persevering, enterprising, quiet, peaceable, law-abiding and genuinely patriotic people than the present permanent population of Idaho. It is confidently believed that the more prominent and successful if every industrial and business pursuit in Boise, will not suffer in comparison with the same class of men anywhere. But few in other places can be fully aware of the privations, hardships, obstacles and difficulties which at the outset beset the path of every settler here. It is not to be denied that much still remains to be overcome, but the time is not distant when the claims and merits of the people and the due importance of the country shall be fully appreciated and recognized from the Bay of Fundy to the Gulf of California.

Information from Washoe of late date gives us to expect a considerable addition to the spring's immigration, coming in from that country via Star City, and several quartz mills from the Reese River, Humboldt and Washoe regions.—Let them come where there is room, labor, and profitable remuneration for quartz investments. ASSOCI.

The Conflagration.

IDAHO CITY IN ASHES! Idaho City was visited by one of those great disasters which occasionally fall upon communities with crushing, deadening weight. A great fire on Thursday night [July 1st.] laid nearly the entire town in ashes, sweeping away the fortunes of very many of its business men, and leaving innumerable families homeless and destitute. The entire business portion of the town was completely destroyed. A narrow escape of the town's shops remain to mark the boundaries of Idaho City.

The fire was discovered about 10 o'clock in the evening, breaking out in massive sheets of flame from the roof of a dance house on Montgomery street. Persons who saw the fire when it first appeared on the roof, assert that "but a moment elapsed before the whole upper portion of the building was enveloped in flames. The wind at this time was blowing strongly up the creek, and in a few minutes the adjoining buildings, including the Sheriff's and Probate Judge's office, Wells, Fargo & Co's Express Office, the Idaho Saloon, kept by Cunningham and Lawrence, and various other saloons were also on fire. By this time the alarm of fire brought together nearly every one in town, and a strong effort was made to check the further progress of the fire, but without any avail. It swept furiously on the west side of the Washoe saloon, and the upper portion of buildings on Main and Montgomery streets, carrying every building before it. Taylor's Exchange, the City Hotel, Magnolia Hall, Harris' drug store, the Umattilla market, followed in rapid succession. At this time the wind was blowing strongly up the creek, and it was the general opinion that the lower portion of the town would escape, but as the flames swept through some of the two-story buildings, they seemed to gather strength and an unquenchable ferocity. The east side of Main street was next on fire. Mix's drug store, Robertson & Co's Jewelry store, Charlton & Langworthy's brokers' office, Fred Bell's saloon, Taylor's saloon, and other's on the east side, and on the west side the Washoe saloon, Peck's saloon, Peck's bakery, Gans & Bro's bowling saloon, and others were on fire together. Every building on Main street was destroyed up to and including the old American hotel. The wind, meanwhile, continued to increase, blowing in gusts from every point of the compass. Lurid gleams of lightning shown out from the black, lowering bank of clouds in the south, while over the doomed town the flames crackled and roared with deafening exultation. The Forrest Theatre, opened for the second night only, and which at the beginning of the fire was crowded with a careless and happy audience of ladies and gentlemen to witness the Potter troupe in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet"—was soon floating in flaming brands through the sky.

The wind at this time changed its course and commenced blowing from the north and north-west. The conflagration having destroyed nearly the upper end of town, now seemed to part and turn in two fiery circles, to the right and left. Turning to the right from Ross & Robie's office and the American Hotel, it came furiously down High street. Here a group of almost naked children were seen to be running for their lives. These soon disappeared—but few of the owners saving anything of much value. The left wing of the fire turned down the west side of Montgomery and extended westerly across the lower end of Wall street to Commercial. At this stage, the whole town presented a fearful sight. The forked tongues of fire seemed to lick the very clouds; dense volumes of black smoke rolled down the street, and the whole city from bank to bank was a sea of boiling flames, sweeping with the gale in a fiery wave to the southward. As it rolled down toward the lower end of town, it broadened out on each side, climbing up on Commercial street, as far as the residence of Mr. Charlton and Col. Hall, destroying the old Sheriff's office, office of the District Clerk, Higby & Co's store, International hotel, Pickwick Hall, Clarence's saloon, Smith & Stern's store, and every building between the upper end and High streets as far south as the south side of Walla. The Catholic Church was saved by an extraordinary effort—one hundred men, we are told, were on the roof at one time. Every building on Commercial street, as far as the Church, was burned. On the western side of the town, nothing was left but McGroarty's building, near the foot of Wall Street, and Ben. F. Wood's store. On Montgomery street, everything is gone down to the corner of Commercial. The block including Mr. Galy's house and Dryde's stable was saved. The Methodist Church was badly injured, windows destroyed and sides broken in, but was intact. The private residences south of Commercial street, as far as the Church, were burned. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is generally supposed to be the work of incendiarism. Several attempts were made during the week to fire various portions of the town, which failed. When first discovered, the flames were breaking through the roof with such violence as to excite the suspicion that some inflammable material was used to insure the certainty of a conflagration. Many suspicious parties have recently come into the country from districts in which they were too well known—from Walla Walla, Moscow and Nevada. The charges for plunder was incentive enough for any deed, however infamous. If discovered, the punishment due them cannot be made too great.

SOURCES OF HOPE.—Wm. Lockens, Franklin Co. Pa., says that he has had much experience in bee-culture, and thinks that locust blossoms and white clover afford more bee-food than all other sources combined. He says: "I took out a cap June 20th, with twenty-two pounds of honey. I put on an empty one which I took off July 4th, with twenty-two and a half pounds. This gives eleven pounds per week for a single swarm of bees, when they can get out of food. They could not make it from honey-dew, because it only occurs three or four days in a season.

No one is a fool always; every one sometimes.

Josh Billings, Real Estate Agent.

I have sold for eighteen hundred and thirty-nine dollars, a palace, a street and private residence, located on the virgin banks of the Hudson, containing 85 acres. The land is luxuriously divided by the hand of nature and art, into pasture and tillage, into plain and declivity, into stony abruptness, and the dalliance of moss-covered meadow; streams of sparkling gladness, (thick with trout,) dance through this wilderness of buty, few low the music of the cricket and grasshopper. The evergreen sighs at the evening zephyr flirts through its shady bazaar, and the sunbeams tremble like the love-smitten harte of a damsel. Fruits of the tropics, in golden buty, melt on the haws, and the bees go heavy and sweet from the fields to the garnering hives.

The mansion is of Parian marble, the porch is a single diamond, set with rubiz and the mother of pearl; the floors are of rosewood, and the ceiling are more beautiful than the stars vault up heavin. Hot and cold water bubbles and squirts in every apartment, like the love-smitten harte of a damsel. Fruits of the tropics, in golden buty, melt on the haws, and the bees go heavy and sweet from the fields to the garnering hives.

Important Gold Discoveries.

From the Lewiston Radiator of date May 27th, we copy the following article relative to the discovery of new and rich gold mines in the Coeur d'Alene mountains...

"In our last, we gave an inkling of rumors concerning the discovery of gold in the Coeur d'Alene mountains, but as the reports were not as definite as we could wish...

Our investigations, which were prosecuted in the most reliable quarters, result in this: That three distinct gold-yielding basins have been discovered...

The Moose Creek mines are on the head of Moose Creek, between the North Forks of Clearwater, on the eastern slope of the mountains...

All kinds of exaggerated stories are rife, which will give to the public as false an idea of the richness of the gold fields...

From want of space, we must forego more, until our next. In the meantime, readers may rest assured that these reports are more than usually well authenticated...

In addition to the information here given by the Radiator in regard to the new El Dorado, there is other evidence, from various sources...

Among the most important items in the Eastern telegraph news of this week, is the statement that President Johnson will not permit the "loyal negroes to vote..."

SCARCITY OF WORKING MEN.—From nearly all the mining camps, we have reliable information that there is great scarcity of working men...

The San Francisco Spectator says that "those who have imagined that it was impossible to restore the Union by war, may now begin to see how egregiously they were mistaken..."

The Los Angeles News, of a late date mentions a rumor that a lengthy petition has been forwarded to President Johnson, requesting the removal of Gen. McDowell from the command of the Pacific Military Department...

THE SPEAKING.—A large crowd turned out to hear the political speaking which came off at the Mason's theater hall in this city on Tuesday.

The "Union" candidate for Delegate to Congress, Mr. A. A. Denny, opened in a speech of over an hour's duration. Mr. Denny's "flame as no speaker" had preceded him here and in this particular few persons were disappointed...

Mr. Dugan took the floor next, and spoke nearly an hour and a half. He has also frequently applauded, and although no one pretends that he is possessed of the high order of oratorical talent and culture which is conceded to Garfield...

News of May 21st.

JEFF'S APPEARANCE IN FORT MONROE. New York, May 21.—The Herald's account of the capture of Jeff. Davis says: When the guard went to his tent, they were met by Mrs. Davis...

Fortress Monroe, May 20.—Among the prisoners on the steamer Clyde, which arrived today, are Jeff. Davis, wife, four children, her brother and sister, and A. H. Stephens, who surrendered to our cavalry while at his house near Atlanta...

New York, May 21.—A special dispatch says that Davis, Stephens, Regan and others seem to have no appreciation of the position in which they stand. Davis has an idea that anything but a military escort will be sent to him...

Regan thought that the Confederacy might start the civil government again, which would institute measures for the repeal of the Ordinance of Secession, and by that means restore the original relations.

New York, N. C., May 18.—A number of citizens who fled to the interior of the State when our troops entered Newbern, are now returning to pay their taxes to the U. S. Commissioner and obtain possession of their property under President Lincoln's Amnesty Proclamation.

Washington, May 21.—Detention of Jeff. Davis at Fortress Monroe is in expectation that some time will elapse before all the evidence of his complicity in the assassination conspiracy is collected.

Washington, May 21.—The Tribune's Washington special has the following: There will be 21 miles of soldiers, 60 great in review on Saturday: It has transpired that the Presidential proclamation will not permit loyal negroes to vote.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN!

By Authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned has announced the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three tenths per cent. interest, per annum, known as the SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible, at the option of the holder, into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent. GOLD BEARING BONDS. These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent. including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan at current rates, including interest, a boot ten per cent. per annum, besides the exemption from STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, WHICH ADDS FROM ONE TO THREE PER CENT. MORE, according to the rate levied on the property. The interest is payable in currency, semi-annually, by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET now offered by the Government, and it is decidedly preferred to all other loans, as it is the only one that will be made in coin or legal tender at San Francisco rates.

Less than $500,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress, are now on the market. This amount will be subscribed for in less than four months when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, and will be the only loan in which the subscribers to other loans.

Under the terms of every town and section of the country may be authorized for taking the loan, the National Bank, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own list to whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

JAY COOKE, Subscription Agent, Philadelphia, May 25, 1865. ADDENDA: PER OVERLAND TELEGRAPH: PHILADELPHIA, May 17th, 1865. 2d Series all sold. Commenced on 2d Series. Two Hundred and Thirty Millions ($230,000,000) precisely (less of the two series) except dated 15th of July, and Government reserves the right to pay six per cent. in gold instead of 7-30 currency.

JAY COOKE, Subscription Agent, Philadelphia. LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING IN THE POST OFFICE, in Walla Walla, on the 1st day of June, 1865:

Union Ticket. For Delegate to Congress, ARTHUR A. DENNY. For Joint Councilman, ANDERSON COX. For Representatives, W. K. STARK, R. N. SEXTON, S. H. ERWIN, J. P. WOOD, R. P. STANLEY.

THE UNDERSIGNED would inform the public that his Mill, situated on the Touchet, 20 Miles from Walla Walla on the Lewiston Road, is now in successful operation, and prepared to do perfect work. Constantly on hand and for sale, the best of Flour, Bran, Shorts and Screenings. I INTEND MY BRAND OF FLOUR TO SPEAK FOR ITSELF. S. M. WATT, Proprietor. June 2, '65.

United States Assessor's Advertisement. [SECTION 19.] United States Excise Tax. The Collection District of the Territory of Washington, DIVISION NO. 3, comprising the counties of WALLA WALLA, STEVENSON and SPOKANE. NOTICE is hereby given, that the lists of valuations, assessments and enumerations of property subject to tax under the Act to provide internal revenue to support the Government, to pay interest on the public debt, and for other purposes, approved, June 30, 1864, made and taken within the counties of Walla Walla, Stevens and Spokane, will be open for examination by all persons interested, at the places and times following: Walla Walla Co., at Walla Walla, June 15, 1865. Spokane Co., at Pinksay City, June 20, 1865. Stevens Co., at Fort Simons, June 30th, 1865.

Watches, Clocks and Jewellery. S. SIMMONS, Watchmaker and Jeweller. HAS recently returned from San Francisco with the REPAIRING of Watches, Clocks, Jewellery, Engraving, Seal and Stencil Cutting, &c. He has also on hand a well selected stock of Gold and Silver Watches, Chains, Jewellery, Clocks, Musical Boxes, &c., which he offers to the public of Walla Walla and vicinity AT SAN FRANCISCO PRICES. All work entrusted to his care will be done in a workmanlike manner and Guaranteed. S. SIMMONS, Main St., next door to Green & Ryan's Saloon. May 25, 1865.

INDIAN RAIDERS.—A band of Indians, supposed to be Snakes, made a raid last week upon the Agency of the Walla Walla Indians, within eighteen miles of the Agency, and ran off a lot of horses belonging to the latter tribe. A detachment of troops has been sent out from the Fort to go in pursuit of the raiders.

OUR OWN.—Washington City is rapidly filling up with the old office-holders under the Pierce and Buchanan Administrations.

The Latest Decalogue.

Thou shalt have one God only: Who would be at the expense of two!

STEWART THE MERCHANT MIDDLEMAN.—He has many partners, but they are all partners in profits.

BRIMSTONE LAWYERS.—One day, a simple farmer, who had just buried a rich relative, an attorney, was complaining of the great expense of a funeral cavalcade in the country.

A LITTLE girl had seen her brother playing with his sun glass, and heard him talk about the focus.

FAMILY TROUBLES.—The Siamese Twins have been heard from. They have lived through the rebellion, but are afflicted with family troubles.

THE Springfield [Mass.] Republican says a young married woman seventeen years of age was left to suffer and finally die a shocking death for want of medical attendance.

FIFTY.—My son, you have been to the seminary and are no doubt in the possession of saving grace, will you please to ask a blessing?
