Will He Come?

Sitting in my humble doorway,
Gazing out into the night,
Listening to the stormy tumult
With a kind of sad delight,
Wait I for the loved who comes not—
One whose step I long to hear;
One who, though he lingers from me,
Still is dearest of the dear.
Soft he comes—now heart be quick,
Leaping in triumphant pride!
Oh! it is a stranger footstep,
Gone by on the other side.

All the night seems filled with weeping—
Winds are wailing mournfully,
And the rain-tears together
Journey to the restless sea.
I can fancy, sea, your murmur,
As they with your waters flow,
Like the grief of single beings,
Making up a nation's woe!

Branches, bid your guests be silent—
Hush a moment, fretful rain;
Breath stop sighing; let me breathe;
God grant not again vain!
In my check the blood is rosy,
Like the blushes of a bride,
Joy I alas! a stranger footstep
Goes by on the other side.

Al! how many wait forever
For the steps that do not come!
Wait until the plying anemone,
Shower, stop sighing; let me breathe;
Many in the still of midnight
In the streets have lain and died,
While the sound of human footsteps
Went by on the other side.

My Home is my All.
Like a thing in the desert, alone in its gloom,
I made a small home seem an Empire to me;
Like a bird in the forest, whose world's in its nest,
My home is my all, and the center of rest.

Let ambition stretch o'er the world at a stride,
Let the restless go rolling away with the tide,
Shower, stop sighing; let me breathe;
And, like sunset, feel calm when I'm going to rest.

I sit by my fire in the dark winter's night,
While the cat cleans her face with her foot in delight,
And the wind, all a cold, with loud clatter and din,
Shakes the windows like robbers who want to get in;

Or else from the cold to be hid, and away
By the bright burning fire see my children at play,
Making houses of cards, or a coach of a chair
While I sit enjoying their happiness there.
I walk round the orchard on sweet summer eves
And rub the perfume from the black currant leaves.

Which, when touched, like geranium, leave a smell
That lady's-love or briar can hardly excel,
I watch the plants grow all bejumbled by the dew,
That glisters like pearls in sunshiny hour,
And bear a pert bonnet just whistle a tune,
To cheer the lone lodger when labor is done.

Joys come like the grass just springing there,
Without the toll of attention or care;
The some of themselves like a star of the sky,
And all brighter they shine when the storm passes by.

Oh, the out-door blessings of leisure to me!
Health, peace and a great, god bestowed on me;
I have other home comforts where cars never grow,
Like manna the heavens rain down with the dew.

The Great Clown, Joe Grimaldi.

In Grimaldi's hands the clown became the great mirth-maker of the scene, and the extraordinary talent of the actor gave it a patent of pre-eminence for the future. Grimaldi's dress was different from that now in vogue. He made up "to represent a lubberly, loutish boy—a clown," as the character ought to be. His trousers, large and baggy, and well defined in the posterior quarter by the aid of stuffing, were buttoned on to his jacket, and around his neck he wore a school-boy's collar—a part of the dress borrowed directly from the Spanish Captain and the French Pierrot. He did not chalk and paint his face in the elaborate manner now adopted, and which makes all our modern clowns look exactly alike, but put on some patches of red, to give the notion of a greasy boy who had smeared himself with jam in robbing a cupboard. Grimaldi produced all his effects by the genuine humor of his acting, by the grotesqueness of his pantomic action, by the satire of his blunders, and by the humor of his practical jokes. He did not, like the clowns of the present day, call in the aid of acrobaticism, and dance upon stilts, walk upon barrels, or play the organ behind his back; nor did he seek to gain the applause of his audience by astonishing leaps and feats of strength. He trusted all to the force of his natural humor; and his power was his power that he made the success of pieces of the most ordinary nature, and which were the common accessories of a spectacle. We have all heard of the famous pantomime of Mother Goose; but this pantomime was only famous on account of Grimaldi's acting. It was a very poor piece, and nothing was done for it other than to make it successful. Grimaldi was possessed of infinite resource; he could transform himself with anything that came to hand, with a bunch of carrots or turnips, a saucy, a pillow, a lady's muff, or tabicloth. Many of these wonderful transformations he effected on the spur of the moment, with stage properties which fell in his way by accident. He refers to one of his favorite drolleries in his rhyming adieu to the stage:

N'er shall I build the wondrous verdant man,
Tall, turup-headed, carroll-fingered, lean,
N'er shall I, on the very newest plan,
Cabbage-body—old Joe Frankenstein,
N'er make a firer nor eke compose a coach
Of saucy, trumpets, cheese, and such sweet fare.

Sorrow hath ta'en my number—'I encroach
No more upon the chariot, but the chair,
—London-Society.

MARRIED LIFE OF JOHN WESLEY.—When Wesley settled he said, "it would be more useful to marry." He married a widow, who, through jealousy, led him a life of wretchedness and misery. At last his spirit was up, and he wrote to her—"Know me and know yourself. Suspect me no more, provoke me no more; do not any longer contend for mastery for power, for money or praise; he content to be a private, insignificant person, known and loved by God and me." It was not likely that a woman would be pleased at being recommended to be an insignificant person. After twenty years of dispute, she one day left him. He bore it philosophically. He even went beyond it—he took his diary and sent the best fifty entry into it ever met with in a diary: "I did not send her away; I shan't send for her to come back." So ended the married life of John Wesley.

GOING AT THE OLD PRICE.—The Knickerbocker

Monthly is responsible for the following good story:
Somewhere in Connecticut there is a family by the name of Barstow, who were never noted for cleanliness. On the contrary, the name was proverbial for filthiness. They were farmers; and Mrs. Barstow was engaged in the dairy business. Each week she posted her way to a village, and disposed of her butter to "Squire Walker," who dealt in country produce and groceries. Ere long she learned that she did not get but half as much for her butter as her neighbors were receiving, and this aroused her unusual quiet temper, and she determined to demand an explanation of "Squire Walker" the next time she went to market. So the following week, with her regular amount of butter, she presented herself at the grocer's counter and said: "Squire Walker, what are you paying for butter to-day? He opened her boxes, and after a careful survey of the contents, replied: "Twelve and a half cents." "Twelve and a half cents!" she cried, "and a half cent!" she replied. "How is it that you pay Mrs. Perkins twenty cents a pound, and only allow me a nine-cent price, and this you have done all along?" "Well," said the "Squire, coloring and hesitating on each word, "The fact is, Mrs. Barstow, your butter is not so clean as hers, and I find it hard to get good price for it. Now, I mean to show you how I can make as clean butter as she." "Do tell!" I think I should, try mother," replied Betsy Ann, sympathetically. Mrs. Barstow commenced skimming her milk, and pouring the cream into her old-fashioned butter tub, and, seizing the milk strainer and wiping the preparation from her face, exclaimed to her daughter: "Betsy Ann, 'Squire Walker had the impudence to tell me my butter was not so clean as hers, and now I mean to show you how I can make as clean butter as she." "Do tell!" I think I should, try mother," replied Betsy Ann, sympathetically. "Do tell!" I think I should, try mother," replied Betsy Ann, sympathetically.

Mrs. Barstow commenced skimming her milk, and pouring the cream into her old-fashioned butter tub, and, seizing the milk strainer and wiping the preparation from her face, exclaimed to her daughter: "Betsy Ann, 'Squire Walker had the impudence to tell me my butter was not so clean as hers, and now I mean to show you how I can make as clean butter as she." ## LIFE IN NEBRASKA.—A citizen of Nebraska thus puts up an Eastern correspondent who questioned him as to the territory and life there:

"What kind of country do you live in?"
Mixed and extensive. It is made up principally of land and water.
"What kind of weather?"
Long spells of weather are frequent. Our sunshine comes off principally during the day time.
"Have you plenty of water, and how good?"
A good deal of water scattered about, and generally got in pails and whisky.
"Is it hard?"
Rather so, when you have to go half a mile, and wade in mud knee-deep to get it.
"What kind of buildings?"
Allegoric, Ionic, Anti-Babylon, Long and Slabs. The buildings are of wood, and so low between the joints that the chimneys all stick out through the roof.
"What kind of society?"
Good, bad, hateful, indifferent, and mixed.
"Any aristocracy?"
None.
"What do people do for a living, mostly?"
Some work, some laze around; one's a shrewd business manager, and several drink whisky.
"Only five cents a glass and the water thrown in?"
"Any taste for music?"
Strong. Buzz and back-saws in the daytime, and wolf-howling and cat-fighting at night.

Eastern News.

The telegraph is again in operation. The following is a condensation of the news, taken from the Oregonian:

Mrs. Suratt, Atzerot, Harold and Payne, tried, by military commission, and found guilty, of conspiracy in the assassination of President Lincoln were hung in Washington, on the 7th. The only thing in the form of a confession of guilt published, is that Atzerot, while being prepared for the execution, exclaimed, "Gentlemen, farewell, be warned by the fate of the man now before you." It is said that the night before the execution Payne made a statement in behalf of Mrs Suratt exonerating her from complicity, and said that all the other prisoners subscribed to an affidavit impeaching the testimony of important witnesses against her. Dr. Mudd, Samuel Arnold and O'Laughlin are to be imprisoned for life, for rendering aid to the assassins after the deed. They have been taken to the Penitentiary at Albany.

An iron clad steamer is to be sent to the Pacific coast.

A large number of pardons are being granted daily. Robert Ould has been unconditionally released, and ex-Governor Vance has been released from the Old Capital prison.

The Postmaster General has notified the Provisional Governors that postal service will be resumed on all lines of railroad in the South as soon as they respectively certify that the routes are in proper condition for that service.

Guerrilla parties continue their depredations in various parts of the South. The town of Franklin, Ala. was recently sacked by a band of them.

It is said that a special Military Commission will be constituted in a short time for the trial of Jeff Davis on a charge of complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln. The discovery of additional evidence involving Davis is said to be the cause of the transfer of his case from the civil to the military authorities. Davis is confined at Washington.

An effort has been made by a committee from Richmond to induce President Johnson to rescind the $20,000 clause in his amnesty proclamation, but without avail. The Commissioners have much trouble with the freed negroes. By freedom, they understand that they are to be permitted to live in idleness, and will not fulfill their contracts to work for their employers. The planters also are disposed to cling to the old idea of punishing the negroes for disobedience.

The work of confiscating the property of leading rebels in Richmond has been commenced, much to the consternation of the people of that city.

The planters of Alabama are giving almost as much attention to cotton raising as before the war, though in some parts of the State the crops will be lost for want of negroes to work them.

Ex-Judge Marion has been appointed Provisional Governor of Alabama.

Caradine, editor and publisher of the Richmond Dispatch, has been pardoned by the President.

Measures have been decided upon in the Interior Department for the purpose of setting in operation the necessary machinery for the disposal of the public lands in the late insurgent States.

The expenditures of the Government during the past year are stated to have been $1,200,000,000.

General Rosecrans was to sail for California on the 1st of July; for what purpose is not stated.

The Richmond Whig says that in six counties through which it informant passed there were but nine negroes at work; but the county court houses and villages were full of them. The negro men are said to be deserting their wives, who, with their children, are left a burden on the farmers.

The Tribune's Washington special says Mrs. Douglas, widow of the late Senator, made two personal attempts to obtain the President's reprieve for Mrs. Suratt, and in each case she was denied. A very bitter feeling in relation to her execution exists among quondam rebels, particularly among the Catholics of the City, who, it is rumored, intend to call a meeting for the purpose of denouncing the action of the military commanders.

A special to the World says that the confessor of Mrs. Suratt, Rev. Walters, says that he cannot reveal the confessional, but as God lives Mrs. Suratt was innocent of the murder of President Lincoln or of any interest or conspiracy to murder him.

The rebel private Shenandoah destroyed four whale ships at Ascension Island, on the 1st of April, and set the captains and crews on the Island. The pirate afterwards sailed to the Ochotska Sea and captured and burned four more vessels, American whalers; then set sail for where there was a fleet of sixty whale vessels' mostly ice-bound, all of which are supposed to have fallen a prey to the pirate. This news is brought by a ship that was bonded by the pirate, the Milo, which arrived at San Francisco on the 20th.

The Oregonian says the South could have secured the most liberal terms from the Government, if it hadn't been for Jeff. Davis alone, who wouldn't accept anything but the independence of the Confederacy. Ergo, the Government is now punishing the whole South because of the sins of the one man Jeff. Splendid logic, or policy—don't know which.

Chaos.—Mr. C. Aubrey Angelo, alias "Chaos," has just had published a work, in pamphlet form, which describes a tour of the author's through Idaho, with a brief review of the mines the routes thereto, &c. The pamphlet is kept for sale at the City Book Store. Price, only fifty cents. "Chaos" looks like "the wreck of matter," but he is rather a forcible writer.

There is said to be an organized secret society in San Francisco, which has for its object the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine.

COLFAX PARTY.—Speaker Colfax and party extended their visit as far up the Columbia as Dalles City, and were received by the citizens of that place in grand style. Speeches were made by Mr. Colfax and Gov. Bross on the evening of their arrival there, which the Mountain-eulogists in the highest terms. It was the intention of the party to have extended their visit to Wallula and Walla Walla, but they were prevented from doing so, it seems, for lack of time, and so they wheeled about at Dalles and departed for San Francisco. Here we may add, parenthetically, is where Mr. Speaker missed it. There is no doubt about it. He should have passed by all the one-horse towns like San Francisco, and made his way direct for this great inland metropolis. He might, perhaps, not have been feted, toasted and "orated" in quite so gorgeous a style here as in the villages, but then all that would have been more than counterbalanced by a glance at the magnificent air of our scenery and the general outlook of this grandiloquent city and picturesque valley. By coming here he would have seen something worth while and perhaps learned something about the new nation, the march of civilization, the progress of the age, the dawn of a new era and the great march and spasmodic stride of events generally. But he missed it all, wonder, too, with such a reputation as he has for sight-seeing, and acquiring knowledge about Uncle Sam's extensive dominions. Now, in consequence of having, inadvertently, it must have been, in a manner overlooked us, he will go back to Washington without having seen anything of importance after all his long journey. Well, the next prominent visitor we still will have the good taste to come this way. Mr. Colfax is no doubt a very clever gentleman. The editor of the P. C. Advocate speaks of him in the following manner:

Mr. Colfax is a practical printer, and, for about twenty years, was proprietor and editor of a newspaper, which Horace Greeley pronounced second to none published in the Mississippi valley. For twelve years, in succession, he has represented the ninth district of Indiana in the Congress of the United States. He has served as Speaker of the last Congress, regarding entire satisfaction to all parties. Two traits of character have given Mr. Colfax his present exalted position and enviable reputation—honesty and industry. In all things from childhood he has dared to speak out candidly and to follow his convictions of duty. In the town and county in which his youth and manhood have been spent he has always commanded the respect and confidence of the people. And his industry and perseverance have been unsurpassed and rarely equaled. Having known him well, we speak with the more confidence. In his office we always saw him with pen in hand, or if necessary, with composition stick, setting type as briskly as the best. And in Congress he has been an indefatigable worker, as the records and Journals of the house will show. Being a printer and editor he is sure to call and exchange greetings with his fellow craftsmen.

MILITARY NEWS.—General Wright made a speech before the "Pioneer Association" in Sacramento on the 4th of July.

It is stated on good authority that General Halleck will assume command of the "Division of the Pacific"—McDowell to remain in command of Dept. of California.

Colonel Maury retired from the command of the military district of Oregon on the 14th of this month. Colonel Curry assumed command of said District the next day.

The Paymaster at Fort Vancouver has paid off discharged soldiers of the 1st W. T. Regiment. All the men belonging to the few remaining companies of this Regiment, which were consolidated a short time since, are to be mustered out of service.

A detachment of forty men lately left Fort Boise to establish a military camp on Camas Prairie, about one hundred miles beyond Boise City. Forty-five men, under Lieutenant Curry, have gone to Rock Creek, above Salmon Falls, to remain until late in the autumn.

An order has been issued from headquarters for the immediate discharge of all soldiers on this Coast, (Cavalry excepted) whose terms of service will expire on the 1st of October next. Lieutenant Hobert, of the Oregon Cavalry, has made an official report to Lieutenant Colonel Drake, commanding the sub-District of Oregon, of his late fight with the Snake Indians on the Malheur river some two weeks ago. Four Indians were killed, and it was supposed several were wounded; none of the soldiers were killed, but two were wounded. Lieut. H. speaks in high terms of the bravery evinced by his men. Quartermaster Robinson, at Fort Boise, immediately dispatched an ambulance from the Post, with Dr. Cochrane to bring in the wounded men.

The Marysville Appeal insinuates that Gov. Low, the "short hair" candidate for U. S. Senator, is as much of a miscegenationist as the blackest of the tribe of "long hairs," and says the bolters and friends of Low, who are blowing about the streets against the "abolition long hairs," should include Gen. Evans in the list they are abusing? "Quote John Cochrane, too, who is in favor of negro suffrage. Quote Gov. Stanford, whose amiable lady cheered the negroes in the 4th July procession, and who is for Gov. Low." The long hairs invite the short hairs to make all the capital they can on this point. The shorts, in this case at least, are evidently trying to make a distinction where there is not the slightest shade of difference. The senatorial aspirants are pretty much all of a color.

The Boise Statesman of July 22d, says J. M. Ashley, one of the committee appointed by Congress to visit the Territories this summer, is expected to arrive at Boise City in a few days.—Mr. Ashley is chairman of the Committee on Territories, and will have much influence in Congress toward shaping the legislation in reference to them. Politically, he trains with the Sumner school of radicals.

The Potter theatrical troupe are playing a short engagement at Boise City. It is the intention of the troupe to start shortly for Portland and San Francisco. The Irwins are still playing at Idaho City, where we learn, they are meeting with fair success.

A letter to the Salt Lake Vedette states that Colonel Moonlight was surprised by Indians when in camp, 150 miles from Fort Laramie, and seventy head of his horses run off. To which the Marysville Appeal adds: Better give the command to Colonel Daylight.

The evidence taken in the assassination trial is said to cover four thousand pages of cap paper.

AFTER THEM.—The Unatilla Advertiser, comes down upon the Vigilantes in Unatilla County, in its issue of the 27th inst., with a vengeance. The particular offense complained of was the hanging of Green, the Negro, last week. The Advertiser says the provocation between Wells and Green was without witnesses, and therefore cannot be stated. It speaks of the hanging affair in the following terms:

"The hanging took place in this county, and is a cold-blooded, unnecessary, and incurable murder, and the act will bring no other construction or qualification. The law is ample and the officers energetic, and to them is left the duty of punishing criminals. We are not surrounded by a lawless community aided by officers who neglect or will not perform their duty, and if vigilance committees have in some instances been deemed a necessity, they are unequalled for in this county, and the act should, if possible, be brought to punishment, and vigilance committees broken up."

"Would the Advertiser's sympathies and respect for law, have reached this extent if the hanged individual had been a white man instead of a Negro? If so, we have no fault to find with his remarks; but we protest against Negroes having the benefits of law to the exclusion of the whites. Vigilance committees have certainly as much right to hang a bad Negro as they have to hang a bad white man. We have great respect for law, and the right of offenders or supposed offenders, to impartial jury trials, and hope that the laws will hereafter be promptly enforced. But in order to sustain the majesty of the law, we must have competent judges, men who will not favor, as is too frequently the case now-a-days, communities 'taking the law into their own hands.' Before the laws can be properly and fairly administered, those high in official positions, throughout the country, must be made to observe and respect them."

"The military commissions, 'organized to convict,' and who have been assuming to try civilians for alleged offenses, all over the country, are just as illegal as the proceedings of vigilance committees, and infinitely more powerful for creating a state of lawlessness and anarchy. Once check the evil at the fountain head, and then it will be an easy matter to have the laws respected and enforced in detail in every section of the country. The people must compel their servants at 'headquarters' to set them better examples than they have of late been in the habit of doing."

STARS ROBBERS.—From the Salt Lake Vedette we learn that one of the overland stages was attacked recently by robbers, near Fort Hall. At the time of the attack the stage was passing up North Nez Perce canyon, (noted by being the rendezvous of "road agents," and one of their favorite spots for committing robberies and murder,) when the six or seven robbers dashed out of the brush along the roadside and ordered the driver to "halt." The passengers in the coach at once comprehending the situation, commenced discharging pistol shots at the robbers, but without effect; and at the same instant the robbers fired volley of buck-shot into the coach, killing almost instantly a Mr. McCausland inside, and Messrs. Parker, Kerns and Duncan, while they were jumping out; also wounding Charles Parks, the driver. Two of the passengers escaped from the stage uninjured and ran into the brush, and a man named Carpenter, who was in the stage, underneath the dying McCausland, and covered with blood, also received no injuries. While the robbers were rifling the carpet sacks of their victims, they were about to kill Carpenter and the driver, but desisted in consequence of the former representing himself to be in a dying condition, and soliciting that Parks be allowed to attend him in his dying moments. The robbers having obtained a large amount of gold dust, rode off on fine American horses, and Carpenter and Parks immediately mounted two of the stage mules and rode back two miles to a station. Every effort is being made to capture this band of murderers and robbers.

Frank Pixley, one of the Republican aspirants for the Senatorship in California, has been ceremoniously laid on the shelf, because he had the audacity to espouse the cause of civil liberty and oppose military courts for the trial of civilians—courts which Henry Winter Davis says have been organized to "convict," and not to "try." It looks as if the man now who can advocate principles the farthest outside the pale of law, provided he can do it under the plea of a higher-law, a sort of heaven-born patriotism, stands the best chance to get an exalted official position. Pixley won't do, he is in favor of preserving a portion of the old Constitution.

HIT HIM AGAIN.—Newell, of the Mountaineers, complains dolefully about the "Puritanical persecutions" inflicted on the people of Oregon through the enforcement of that rigidly righteous "Sunday Law." The Jacksonville Reporter hits Newell a rap over the knuckles for helping elect the puritanical set to the legislature, by whom this law was enacted. Guess Newell will have to stand the persecutions of his psalm-singing legislature, "from whom all blessings flow" in the shape of stringent laws; and he ought to be one of the last ones to whimper under the grinding infliction.

The Canyon City folks are in much trouble about the famous Oregon Sunday Law. They, too, are "going to test its validity." Of course the law is valid; but it seems to be terribly "persecuting" in mining towns, where Sunday is the "business" day of the week. The Mountaineer thinks that the law "is in advance of public sentiment," but a good many people seem to think it's altogether behind it, for they class it with the old "Blue Laws" of Connecticut—a code of stringent laws which have long been spoken of with reproach.

The pests known as the "army worm," says the Oregon Sentinel, have made their appearance about Jacksonville. They are eating all before them on Rogue river, in the vegetable line, and are even attacking the fruit trees.

Very rich quartz mines have been discovered at Meadow Lake, Placer Co., Cal. The mines are reported to be fabulously rich, prospecting from eight to fifty thousand dollars per ton.

It is reported that the thieves who robbed the Overland stage near Fort Hall lately, obtained about $75,000 from the passengers.

The people of Canada have managed to get up considerable excitement about some reputed gold mines near Quebec.

FRANK.—Rev. Thos. H. Pearce, who the newspapers informed us a short time since, had been appointed to assume ministerial duties in Tennessee, has again turned up on the Pacific Coast, and writes to the P. C. Advocate, from San Francisco, under date of July 10th, that during his absence from Portland, he has traveled "nineteen thousand miles by land and sea, with uninterrupted good health and success." He does not state in his letter whether he returns to the coast as a minister of the Gospel or only as a politician. Perhaps he intends to mix those occupations as formerly. We shall see.

STREMBOSING.—A persevering miner, who is at present infatuated after "steambath lay-outs," and who informs us that he was among the number of unfortunates who were badly "Coenr d'Alene-d" a short time since, says he is not yet satisfied, and is going to push out next week on the new line, where, he thinks, there is "an average prospect of getting thoroughly steambath-encampment-ed." Hope he'll have a pleasant trip and get richly "Eldorado-ed."

The Circus Troupe of Lee & Ryland, gave two exhibitions in Walla Walla, last week.—Their trained horses were what is generally termed "dead poor," being living exhibitions—skeletons, nearly—of the fact that the route from Nevada to Idaho is a hard road to travel. The exhibitions, to say nothing of the condition of the animals, were pretty fair for this region, and were largely attended. The troupe started below on Monday.

The Marysville Appeal has found out why the people of the Pacific coast have been voting Mr. Colfax. It says they want to encourage emigration, and when the news gets back to the East of his popular reception, about sixty Congressmen will immediately start the plains across. Ashley is coming along space, after some of the "orate" perhaps, but we have not learned that he has got much of that interesting soft-soap article yet.

It is announced by telegraph, unofficially, that Jeff. Davis is to be tried by a military commission. The civil courts are getting, it would seem, to be useless appendages. But a "commission" has just as much authority to try Jeff. as any other man. Trials by commission are all the rage just now. With a fair state of progress, Stanton and the rest of 'em will soon be enabled to try men by proxy, and that other swift institution, the "continental telegraph."

A fastidious Democratic paper in Oregon finds fault with Speaker Colfax, because he "did homage" to the Negroes in San Francisco on the 4th of July. It ought to reflect that the darkeys constituted the "grand feature" of the procession there on that day, and besides if he hadn't "sig'd" a little the African-shinned whites couldn't have appreciated him.

The horses, carriage and harness, recently bought by the merchants of New York as a present to Andrew Johnson, (which he refused to accept) cost $8,275, and brought at auction, $3,735.

The "freedmen" of the South it is stated are not convinced of having obtained their freedom; they can't 'see it' yet, and are shifting about. The rebels are blamed for not making the negroes 'know' that they are free.

The people of California are becoming very patriotic as their election draws nigh, and the sewer they can come to transform themselves into Africans the more loyal they become.

It is now stated that Secretary Stanton has no intention of resigning, and that he and the President are on the best of terms. This looks rather as if Johnson has relaxed into one of his "incoherent" moods again.

Mr. Chas. Hutchins, Agent for the Flathead Indians in its town. He will leave for the Agency to-morrow or next day.

Mr. John Moar, an old and esteemed resident of this valley, left this week, with his family, for Lafayette, Oregon, where he proposes to make his home in future.

Pipe peaches are now plentiful in the San Francisco market.

A California paper says "an ingenious Oregonian has invented a machine for separating gold from dirt without the use of water."

Wendell Phillips, the notorious Abolitionist, is said to be worth the sum of $702,000.

George B. McClellan, at latest dates, was at Serrano, Italy. During his sojourn in Rome, the General had a long interview with the Pope.

It is stated that more than half the voting population of the State of Minnesota voted to the war.

The President has ordered a suspension throughout the South of the sales of rebel real estate for non payment of direct taxes.

It is stated upon good authority that the Government is now feeding 200,000 of the inhabitants of Virginia, of all classes, white and black.

TO FARMERS AND STOCK RAISERS. I offer for sale my entire band of stock-horses, consisting of 30 fine California Maras, 1 fine American Stallion, 16 3 years old, 27 yearlings and 44 sucking colts, all of which are a cross of the American and Spanish bloods. They will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, and can be seen on my ranch, on Mill Creek, six miles above Walla Walla. Also for sale a first rate, six mule team, wagon and harness complete. JAS. GALBREATH, Walla Walla, July 28, 1865. 33w7.

A Card. I wish to inform the public that the woman, who calls herself my wife, and parades the streets of Idaho City under the name of Mrs. L. Brewster, is not my lawful wife, and never was. I shall bring proof before our next Grand Jury. She was married to me 2 years ago under the assumed name of Marshall and under pretence of being a widow, which is false, as her lawful husband's name will not be used in her behalf whatsoever. I am in possession of a copy of her marriage certificate under seal of the Probate Court of Wisconsin; therefore all persons are warned against trusting her on my account as I will not be responsible for any debts or contracts she may contract. CHARLES BERRY, Walla Walla, July 28, 1865. 33w1.

Wait! of all the cursed kinematics,
Of this isn't about the wait!
Not the rockin' and rollin'
An' 'stitchin' from the very fast—
The injun a groanin' and the biter
Lyable any munit to bust.

Put on one side, dum it, and then tuther!
Till I'm dogged if I no what to do—
Rock away, you darned old kradle!
I was a baby when I got inter you!

None on em seems to keer 60 cents
How had a feller may feel,
Nor to talk to him—not even the eler,
Footin away his time on a wheel.

Thar's the captin'! ain't it provokin'
To see that critter all threw the trip,
Constantly drinkin' it smokin'
When he orter be a midlin' on his ship?

It's snaf to aggravate a body,
And it aint manners, I think,
To set thar taking down his toddy,
And never askin' nary paringer to drink.

And see the puser—all he keers fur
Is fur to have a time with his pals.
I say, darn such a puser! I jest heer him
Flurin' and carryin' on among the gals!

And when he's tired of 'em, what follers?
Is he little cabin that he sets
Like a spyler among larrin' of dollars—
Snaf to put a feller's det's.

That's all they keers for paringers,
Is to get the two hunder
An' fifty dollars out of his pocket into theirs,
And then he may go thunder.

Et a feller's driv to distraction
In a blo, and axes wot to do,
He can't git no sort of satisfaction,
Out o' none on 'em—werry mit murruc.

Wan day I climber into the blamed riggin',
Just to see wot was thar, and in hopes
To keep ahead of 'em sun swell, but dog on it!
I see 2 on em comin' up the ropes.

Wan on 'em ketcher me and hilt holt on me,
White thur misable kuz
Tide me up to a nasty sticky kloze-lie,
Smellin' ur tar ur smuttin' wuss.

Thar they kee me—darn the piers!
And nobody dun nuttin' but larf,
Till I fork out fur a bottle of waddy—
It kum to 52!

That's the last 52!
They'll ever git out of me,
Fer I'll travil in a durned top-wraggin,
Afore I'll be ketcht agin to see.

A NEW FEATURE IN THE P. O. DEPARTMENT.—The Postmaster General has given notice that hereafter all stamped envelopes sold by the Department will have a blank form printed across the left end, as follows: "If not called for within — days, please return to —" leaving the number of days and writer's address to be filled in before mailing. The object of this is to decrease the number of "dead letters" forwarded every month, and to obviate the injurious effects of mistakes which are liable at all times to occur in any business house, to the great detriment of trade, as well as in matters of a purely private nature.

To still further carry out the objects of the Department, notice is given that any party ordering from the Postmaster of the city one thousand stamped envelopes can have the name, business and full address of the writer, as a merchant, banker, hotel keeper, attorney, or other occupation, printed in full on the envelopes, leaving no blank to be filled up, without extra charge for printing; or in other words, the envelopes thus furnished for individual use, will be furnished at the regular cost of stamped envelopes.

The address or card so printed, must not exceed four lines across the face of the letter, and all the work will be done in uniform style.

LITTLE SAMBO'S PRAYER.—A friend relates an amusing incident which occurred at Augusta. Capt. Wyman, of the United States army, whose father resides at Augusta, recently returned from the South, bringing with him a young colored boy, who was much attached to him. Soon after his arrival, Capt. W. was taken sick with the typhoid fever. At the crisis of the disease he fell into a profound slumber, and the physician declared that there must be a speedy change, although the chances were that he would die. Sambo, who had imbibed the idea from the frequent appointment of days of fasting and prayer that the Lord had become entirely engrossed in carrying on the war, was in the room and heard the decision; but he retired nevertheless to intercede in his master's behalf. One of the family who happened to go out to the stable just after the little darkey had left, heard the young ebony bawling out at the top of his voice. "Oh, Ginerl God, please come and save Massa Wyman, and if you can't leave de war, send somebody quick!" Wyman recovered.

WASHOR PUFFERY.—The Gold Hill News man has been out to steamboat springs to breakfast. Hear him blow about their grub: "Gods! what a lay out! Squabs as tender as an Insurance Agent's sympathies, eggs as fresh as an editorial in the Lyon county Sentinel, trout as spotted as the Mary Ann Company's honesty; cream as rich as the pay streak of the Yellow Jacket ledge, milk as devoid of alkali as the 'Old Frute' is of financial ability; butter harder than Hale & Norcross' bed rock, and sweeter than the concentrated kisses of ten thousand virgins."

BILLY MULLIGAN ENDED.—This notorious man recently came to his death in San Francisco in a tragic manner. He was taken with the delirium tremens and imagined that the old Vigilance Committee, which expelled him from San Francisco in 1856, was after him again. In this condition he barricaded his room and commenced firing his pistol into the street. He killed one man in the street and also a friend by the name of Jack McNabb, who approached him to pacify him. He was shot dead through the head, by a musket fired from a house on the opposite side of the street, by a policeman, just as he raised his pistol to fire at the officer.

HANGINGS, robberies and burnings continue to render Kansas as cheerful a territory as ever.

GLoucester, March 26, 1864.

MESSES. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gradually and imperceptibly the health of Mr
Lillie, I was induced to purchase one of his
So Called "Fire-Proof Safes."
On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with it. We trusted our boxes, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.
We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the courtesy to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed Messrs. McKenrie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make), and its contents were found to be
In Perfect Condition.
This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar,
the courtesy to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed Messrs. McKenrie & Hardy just
opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S
make), and its contents were found to be
In Perfect Condition.

TILTON & McFARLAND'S

THE ONLY PROTECTION
Against Fire and Burglars.

For the last Fifteen Years
This Safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific Coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the records of their safety.

No man ever lost a dollar out of one of our safes by means of burglars. Their fire and burglar proof qualities are so well known that they need no further recommendation.

A good assortment of Tilton & McFarland's Fire and Burglar Proof Safes to be had at 318 Battery street, San Francisco.
Feb. 17, 1865. 10m6.] F. TILLMAN.

Drugs and Medicines.

We invite the particular attention of the trade to our present large and well-assorted stock in this line, and to our extra facilities for supplying them at very low rates,—importing as we do, Direct from Eastern Markets.
Extra pains will be taken to secure reliable medicines, and in no case will a worthless article be allowed to leave the store.

NEW HOSPITAL.

To the Sick and Afflicted.
THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING LEASED A large and commodious building of Mr. A. J.
Meyer, on First Street, near the Bridge, Walla Walla, has fitted the same in a superior manner for the accommodation of
The Sick and Afflicted,
And is now prepared to receive patients from all portions of Washington Territory and the Upper Country generally. Having had a great deal of experience in the HOSPITAL PRACTICE, and being familiar with all the diseases incident to the climate of the Pacific coast, we are fully prepared to treat all persons who are so unfortunate as to require the services of experienced Physicians and Surgeons.
