IGNORANCE is the mother of impudence.

LOVE TALKING.

Slide on, sweet purling stream,
 And mingle with the sea; Adown each glen by water gleam, In merry dance and froe.

Sing on, sweet bird; the blue expanse Of Heaven's vault is thine; Oh! lap thy soul into its trance; Pour forth thy song divine;

But I must not give forth my strain;
 I love a maid, but love in vain.
 The blithesome bird that haunts the vale Will hear but half her grief;
 She floats her sorrow on the gale,
 And gives her soul relief;

The meadow flower on the field Basks in the noon-day sun,
 And every creature hath a rest,
 When I myself make needless moan, And bear my burden all alone.
 A grief that links two hearts in bliss Is but a hidden treasure;

What's lost to a stern when simply borne, When shared becomes a pleasure;
 The finer feelings of the soul Are known by mutual union; Each spirit hath its counterpart With whom to hold communion.
 But she is gone, and leaves with me
 The rest of the unending sea.

BEAUTY'S PRICE.

At the seaside I first saw her,
 'Mid the tides of the waves, Undulating as the ebb
 For the crestled billow gleamed—Bronze tresses and rosy sweetness, Perfect throat and pure complexion, Features chiselled to completeness, Tones attuned to soft infection.

And a soul looked from a chamber Violet tinted, draped with lashes Corolla hiding half the danger That beneath the white-lid flashes; While the gliding of her footsteps,
 And the drooping of her shoulders,
 Are a poetry in motion Soul-entrancing to beholders.

"Pray who is the lady, Colonel, With address in her hair?"
 "That the lovely Mrs. Barnell, And her husband's sitting there."
 "Bald and bent and thin and yellow; Surely he must be three score?"
 "Quite that; but the same old fellow Is worth a million, too, or more."

POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE.

—There are two kinds of political independence. One kind is where men who fall to be nominated by their party, and, relying upon their personal strength and popularity, put their names forward for office in opposition to the regular nominees. Success seldom attends such an enterprise—never, indeed, except where the party is weak and ill-organized, or where the independent candidate secures the support of his former opponents, or where his individual hold upon the sympathies of the people is usually strong. To be such an independent, with an even chance of success, requires political talent of unusual force and extraordinary personal influence. Another kind is that which does not originate with independent aspirants for office, but which comes from the people.
 It has often happened that a political party supported by a majority of the people has at length fallen under the control of unworthy men, or has become perverted to unworthy ends. The result has been a refusal on the part of its hitherto staunch adherents to lend further support to it. A revolt follows, and the indignant seceders put up new candidates, or select candidates from the opposition, or refuse to vote altogether. Sometimes it happens that the whole work of the selection of candidates is monopolized by a small portion of a party, and a portion not conspicuous for character or capacity. Then when nominations are made, the masses of the party and the more respectable elements of it find themselves called upon to vote for candidates whom they had no voice in selecting, who do not reflect their wishes and who fall far short of being representative men. Dissatisfied and disgusted, they are apt to give their votes to independent candidates for office of their own choice. Such revolts against the abuses of party tactics are not uncommon, and they are sometimes the only means by which the abuses can be cured.

FIGURES WIDELY SEEN UNFAVORABLE.

—Elaborate tables of the commerce of the world recently published put down the annual exports from all ports by all nations at $7,251,000,000. At the same time the imports from all ports of all nations are stated at $5,148,000,000, or a deficit of $2,103,000,000 less going out of all ports than is coming in at all ports.
 In these tables England and Germany are put down as importing nearly $1,000,000,000 annually more than they export. Asia exports $1,979,000,000 more than she imports, and the United States exports $200,000,000 annually more than they import. Now the question is, Where is this deficit? Is it to be accounted for in the bills of exchange sent out to pay for imports? In this way England would send out bills of exchange of nearly $1,000,000,000 more than her exports, each year to meet her imports, but really the balance is the other way, England receiving still more than her difference of imports and exports in interest on money by other nations. But if so much is shown by customs records to come into port, why not show where it comes from?
 If America sends England a certain amount of goods, should not our record of exports to England and England's record of imports from America tally? If there is a less export record kept of imports because they pay no duty than of exports paying duty, what is the value of statistics? Is America exporting two or three hundred millions more than she has credit for? Will Mr. Young please overhaul these statistical facts and tell us how it is?—Scientific American.

DR. J. M. BOYD was in town yesterday and gave me a call. The Dr. is now located in Walla Walla and has a good practice as he deserves, and he is master of his profession, and a successful practitioner.

 He was called to see Mr. Jewell when he was brought to town, and when asked as to the result of his wounds, pronounced him incurable, and advised him to arrange his affairs, as he must necessarily die from the nature of his wounds. Acting on this advice Mr. Jewell had his business affairs all arranged, thus saving much trouble and expense in settling up the estate—

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, July 18th, 1878.

EDITOR STATESMAN.—Late events have made General Ben Butler a significant figure in our general politics. This able and unscrupulous lawyer now practices before the United States court of this district, and by virtue of his position on the house judiciary committee, bull-dozes the judges into absurd demands he makes in behalf of his clients.
 The same judges were on the bench through the corrupt times from 1871 to 1875, when they were removed by the Washington what is properly known as the ring 'burished, and there is not one of them, though they may all be pure as Marshall, who cares to have an investigation into the part borne by the district judiciary in strengthening the hands of the board of public works. Butler knows this, and his practice here now, considering the position he holds, is little different from black-mailing. Said a man to me last evening who of seeing such a man as he thought, closed him governor of Massachusetts, so as to get him out of the judiciary committee of the house, and we will have a show for justice in the district courts." Perhaps this kind of practice illustrates as well of anything can, the character of Butler, yet, as I said, he is becoming an important factor in our politics. Whatever dissensions exist in the democratic or republican parties had better be healed, so that whatever other calamity may befall us, we may be spared the shame of seeing such a man as this scoundrel into the white house.

If secretary Schurz means to re-organize the force in his department without regard to politics he cannot understand his recent acts. Commissioner of patents, Spear, of Maine, has been asked to resign. He is a friend of Blaine. Commissioner of pensions, Bentley, of Wisconsin, is away on leave and is not expected to return. He is a friend of Howe. "Other changes, by which friends of prominent 'statesman' republicans are to be removed to private life, are spoken of. From the latest indications the places will all be filled by administration republicans, if enough of them can be found. If the secretary ever intended to make his re-organization non-partisan, he has evidently reconsidered that intention. What he or his chief expects to gain in the face of the fall elections, by further dividing their party, is a mystery.

It is said that government employees here will be paid for the month of July in solid gold and silver money. This will be the first time since 1861, and it is safe to say that many a veteran clerk will celebrate on August 1st the return of the "good old times." But the purchasing power of the greenback is the same as of gold, and the change will be interesting rather than important.

Republican papers, no doubt from the best and most disinterested motives, have tried to create an impression that Vorhees, an Indian, would not be elected his own successor to the United States senate. There has been no doubt of his election among well informed men, and the indications now are that no other democrat will be mentioned in the legislature.

ALEX. REED, the man appointed receiver of public money at Walla Walla, seems to be in bad order with the leading republican newspapers. Here is what the Cincinnati Times, the paper that first named Hayes for president, says of Reed's appointment:

For the fourth time, and in defiance of the protests of the United States president Hayes insists upon appointing Alex. Reed, of Toledo, to public office. It seems an absolute necessity that Stanley Matthews' bargain should be carried out. None have misread save that of Hayes, who the opposition was un-generously strong. And as the Reed bargain bought four votes, and the Hodge bargain only one, it is natural that Stanley should stand by Reed four times as well as Hodge.

The same paper grows indignant and again returns to the charge in the following style:

It may not have escaped the memory of man that eight out of the eleven articles of impeachment against Andrew Johnson were based on his unconstitutional removal of officers against the advice and without the consent of the senate. Yet president Hayes, in defiance of the expressed will of the senate, has taken advantage of his despotic power to remove a naval officer of the post of New York; and further, in defiance of its repeated refusal to consent, has again insisted, in the absence of the senate, upon appointing Alex. Reed to a place of public trust. We cannot look upon it as anything but an assertion of the one-man power, not contemplated by the constitution and the laws.

A FAILURE.—The present Indian war in the eastern portion of the state is, so far as the forces of the government are concerned, a failure. The Indians, in about one-half the number of the soldiers engaged, march into our state overawing more than double their number of our citizens, and have had but a holiday excursion. While the troops have sampled behind and when near enough nothing nor getting hurt. The cry is raised for more troops, but if those in the field are a sample of government fighters, the fewer there are the better. Have the citizens of the eastern counties not been hampered nor dependent on the military, no hostile bands would now be inside our border. The citizens depending upon their own resources for defense would have long since wiped these bloody assaults from the state and sent many of them to their "happy hunting grounds," perhaps with curses instead of prayers.
 Howard may be a good Indian fighter, but he, like all other regular officers, in charge of the regular troops, will seldom or never accomplish much fighting Indians. To be successful the troops must be hardy, energetic and anxious for the fray; ready to sustain as the Indian does, watchful of ambushes, and making his work short, decisive and complete.— Plaindealer.

TELEGRAPHER.—In the English language there are about 16,000 words suitable for telegraphic purposes; French, German, Latin, Hindustani and Italian have together at least 80,000 of a safe telegraphic character. There are, therefore, about 66,000 words which merchants and others can use without artificial or fictitious combination. Sir James Anderson advocates the adoption of an authorized code of 50,000 words from the six languages mentioned, for which the single charge would be made, believing that these would be sufficient for the requirements of commerce, and if more were needed they might fairly be charged extra.

FIGHT WITH THE UMATILLAS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—An official dispatch states that the Umatilla Indians fought 400 hostile Snakes all day July 2, killing 30 and losing two.

Who could have sent the above dispatch we are unable to conceive. It being official makes it look a little suspicious as there is not a word of truth in it and nothing to base even a plausible lie on. All the fighting the Umatilla Indians have done has been against the whites and for the hostile Snakes, at least until after the fight at Cayuse on the 12th. That fight on the 2d of July was a very harmless affair of which no one was at all hurt. The Umatilla agency Indians have been in the main our worst enemies. It was those that killed the hostiles in on us, and no one doubts that the Snakes were counselled continually. It is generally believed and almost positively known that nearly every man killed or wounded in this county was shot by the Columbia river Indians or Umatillas, and we believe that Mr. Jewell and killed Nelson and Skelley on Butler creek. They have been pretending to be friendly but whenever an opportunity afforded they have given aid and comfort to the hostiles. They have been found in possession of stock stolen from the whites. They have been found in camps of the hostiles. Yet they claim to be all right. They leave the agency, go out on a foraging and stealing expedition, and when pursued run back to the agency and claim protection, which we are sorry to say is readily granted, and the citizens are threatened by the agent and military.

On Friday, the 19th inst., Mr. A. W.
 Nye and others went out on the hills between Pendleton and the Columbia river looking for their horses; while there they found two Indians and brought them into town. They then returned to get the horses which were Snake ponies and American horses principally, with some few reservation Indian horses. They found some other Indians with the horses, who ran on the approach of the whites.
 One of them was pursued who ran on the reservation, was followed by the whites and killed. The horses were then brought into town. Among them were quite a number of horses belonging to citizens, some of whom were present to claim and get them. They were put in a corral and guarded during the night.

The next morning Corneyer and Throckmorton came down and took possession of the horses and turned them over to the Indians, those belonging to the citizens and all, except those that had already been claimed and taken out. Those who had the horses in possession, we understand, remonstrated with these men, but having the army at their command they took forcible possession and drove the horses off. The next day, we are informed, not a horse of the number could be found.

There was more fuss made over the CITY PHYSICIAN.—At the first meeting of the new council Dr. J. M. Boyd was elected city physician.

THE WHEAT MARKET is looking up, from 15 to 20 cents being paid for a good article of wheat.

MONITOR.—In the case of Tierney vs. Tierney, appealed to the supreme court, the judgment of the court below has been modified, reducing the alimony from $1000 to $400.

FOUND ASTRAY.—A pocket testament, gilt-edged and bound in morocco, has found its way to the editor's table. The owner can have it by applying at this office.

THE WHEAT MARKET opens dull with quotations at 50 cents. At this figure but few sales will be made except where the parties are compelled to realize.

THE LOWER DISTRICT SCHOOL will resume classes Monday, September 23, and will remain open during the fall and winter. The directors have secured the services of a corps of competent teachers, and no effort will be spared to improve the character and standing of the school.

CHANCE OF OFFICERS.—At a meeting of the city council, held Friday night last, Judge J. D. Mix was elected city attorney, vice Col. George, who failed of an election by just one vote. At the same time J. D. Laman was elected city justice, vice O. P. Lacy, who has held the office for a number of years.

THE ECLIPSE OF THE SUN, last Monday, as viewed from this locality was a decided success. Old Sol was under a cloud for fully an hour, and at one time it looked as though he was going into a total eclipse. Everybody was provided with burnt glass, and the face of the great orb was closely observed. In the dark ages an eclipse of the sun was regarded as foreboding calamity, but in our more enlightened days these things are understood and no longer serve the purpose of frightening children.

SUMMER TRIP.—Messrs. O. Broedel, and William O'Donnell, two of our leading business men, took passage by Thursday's train, bound for San Francisco. We believe this is the first time either of these gentlemen have visited the Bay City, although for years they have had extensive business relations with the merchants of that place. Mr. O'Donnell takes with him his wife and daughter, and Mr. Broedel is accompanied by two of his children. Mr. Broedel has been in bad health and visits San Francisco for the purpose of securing medical treatment. We wish our friends a pleasant trip and speedy return.

FAST DRIVING OVER THE BRIDGE.—For several days this week a special policeman has been stationed at Main street bridge, charged with the duty of arresting all persons found driving over the bridge at a rapid rate. A sign is placed across the bridge notifying all persons of the penalty for fast driving, but this notice was totally disregarded, and made necessary the stationing a special policeman to keep a lookout for all offenders. The swaying motion caused by fast driving soon wears a bridge out, and hence the necessity for arresting all persons found driving at a rate of speed faster than a walk.

BRINGING THE INTEREST.—Mayor McAuliff informs us that the city is now paying interest at the rate of one and a-half per cent. on over $5000 outstanding indebtedness. This is a relief of the old times, when the affairs of the city were managed in an extravagant manner, and "equal" was the rule. The mayor informs us that this money can be replaced by a loan at one per cent., and thus save several hundred dollars annually to the city treasury. As a rule, city and county loans are regarded as good investments, and taken at much lower rates than ordinary loans. Why Walla Walla should pay more than any other city in the universe, is a conundrum we have never heard answered.

CANAL AND LOCKS.—A jury was lately empaneled in the United States district court, Portland, to determine the value of the "land used in constructing locks and canal at the Cascade. The suit was brought in the name of the United States vs. Oregon Steam Navigation company. The jury returned a verdict giving to the company damages aggregating $300,000 for the right of way, and $5000 consequential damages. Unless an appeal is taken, work will probably soon be commenced on the canal and locks. At the next term of congress, it will be for the members from Oregon and Washington to secure an appropriation sufficient to complete the improvement.

THE REPUBLICANS have called their convention to meet less than four weeks from the date fixed by law for holding the election. The object is to compel the democrats to hold their convention first, and lead off in the campaign. For years the democrats in this territory have pursued the policy of waiting for the republicans to take the initiative; and, if any good benefit has resulted, the fact has escaped our observation. At the proper time the democratic committee should issue a call for a convention; place a candidate in the field; make a declaration of principles, and then go boldly before the people and ask a verdict in their favor. The hide-and-go-seek policy never carries weight, and itly becomes a great party. A long canvass is not necessary. All that is required is sufficient time to enable the candidate to visit the different sections of the territory, and make the acquaintances of the people. If the nomination be made the first week in October, the candidate will have ample time to make the canvass, and he will avoid the heavy expenditure of money incidental to a long campaign. This is the way the question presents itself to our mind, and as such we present it to the consideration of those whose province it is to guide the party councils.

THE WAR OVER.—We have to assure our friends at a distance that practically the Indian war is over. Not a single hostile savage remains within hundreds of miles of us, and gradually confidence is being restored. The settlers who in the first moment of the panic fled from their homes are returning, and the country is resuming its wonted aspect. Immigrant teams now line the roads, and the great tide of immigration again sets this way. An assuring aspect is, that with the war of the summer we have seen the last of Indian outbreaks. The Umatillas without doubt invited the Hanocks and sympathized with them, but the overwhelming defeats they suffered has taken all the fight out of them, and in future they are quite sure to be good Indians. Those of the Umatillas that took part in the outbreak must be arrested and punished for their crimes. This done, and a score or so of the worst characters put to death, the war-path will never again be induced to go on that prevails, the reservation should be abandoned and the Indians removed to a less civilized locality. Right on the main line of travel is a thickly settled country, it is totally unfit for the use of the Indians, and should be forthwith abandoned. Just now the Umatillas are subdued and under cow, and it is just as such a time that measures should be taken for their removal to a locality where they will be brought less in contact with the whites.

TERRITORIAL PRINTING.—It has long been a matter of wonder with us, how so much money was expended on territorial printing? And another query has been, how to account for the inferior character of the printing and the limited amount? The official report of Hon. S. C. Wingard, as it appears in another column, explains the whole matter. The secretary, when Struve held the office and Ferry was governor, drew twenty-five per cent. of the whole amount as his share of the plunder; and, as a consequence, the printer was compelled to cut down the number of documents published, and at the same time use inferior material in the printing. It is worthy of remark, too, that after Judge Wingard's report was on file at Washington, Struve was permitted to remain in office, and given the opportunity to still further speculate upon the public funds. All this time, too, he was the especial chum and associate of Gov. Ferry, who, with a full knowledge of the facts, vouched to the writer that "Struve was an honest man." Struve's honesty is of a character with that of a sneak thief and burglar; and, most likely, this accounts for the firm friendship that links Ferry and Struve together in a common cause. "A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind." We know not whether Struve's custom of appropriating one-fourth of the printing-fund, is kept up by his successor; but, judging from the manner the printing is done, and the limited amount, we think that the printing-fund is still subjected to the "sweating" process. We have here the direct proof of grand larceny; and yet the guilty party is allowed to run at large; is recognized as a political leader, and is even now spoken of as the probable republican candidate for prosecuting attorney in the second judicial district. A man who deserted the service of the country, and then supplemented his crime by plundering the printing fund, is a nice man to manage criminal prosecutions, and call for the punishment of petty larceny thieves. The unblinking cord that joins Struve and Ferry together is easily understood. They see in public positions an opportunity to reap illegal gains, and they are always ready to help each other. Ferry wanted Struve retained in the office of secretary, and Struve wanted Ferry elected to congress. A pair of rogues—they go up or down together; but at all times their highest ambition is to reach places that will afford them opportunity to plunder the public.

CONSTITUTIONAL EXCURSION.—The members of the constitutional convention, accompanied by a number of friends, left Saturday, at 1.30 P. M., for Lewiston, arriving at Wallula, at 4 P. M. They were compelled to wait for the arrival of the Tenino with provisions, till Sunday morning, at 3 A. M., when they boarded the Almota and steamed up the river. The trip was enjoyed by many little incidents, and all day Sunday they passed numerous Indian villages, while the hundreds of herds of horses and cattle rushing down the steep bank to water, added interest to the already wild and picturesque scenes. Sunday night stopped at New York Bar (not a gin-shop, as its name might imply, but a silvery beach, through which flowed a stream of pure crystal water). Monday morning, at daybreak, again on the way, we passed the gayest Grainger city, where town lots were selling rapidly, and found that freight was received about a quarter of a mile below the city, which consists of a warehouse on College avenue, and a dwelling house on a cow path, leading down to Broadway wharf. In about three hours we reached Almota, where we were greeted by the smiling faces of Hon. L. M. Ringer and daughter, of Almota. The Rose Manning opera troupe here joined the party, and we proceeded on our way, arriving at Lewiston at 5 P. M., where we were met by a delegation of citizens, who escorted the party to the Hotel de France, where a pleasant evening was spent in exchanging compliments till both parties deemed themselves the chosen people of God. At 12 P. M. we returned to the boat, and next morning started homeward. All parties say they had a gala time, and were owing in a great measure to the gentlemanly officers of the Almota, Messrs. Troupe, Pierce, Tubbs and Hofman. The party returned to Walla Walla, Wednesday night.

A WORTHY MAN.—Elsewhere we give place to the petition asking the reinstatement of W. C. Painter as receiver of public money for the Walla Walla district. It is not often that we take part in the strife for office, but in this instance we feel it a duty to bear testimony to the integrity and excellent character of an old pioneer and worthy man. Mr. Painter came to Oregon territory when a mere boy, and his whole life has been identified with Oregon and Washington territory. For a long period of years he was Wells, Fargo & Co's agent at Wallula, and in that capacity many thousands of treasure passed through his hands, every dollar honestly accounted for, and he left the place without a stain upon his name. Later he was collector of U. S. internal revenue, and here again he handled large sums of public money, not a dollar of which stuck to his hands. As receiver of public money, he was necessarily brought into contact with very many settlers, and we have yet to hear of a single complaint of a lack of courtesy or integrity on the duties of his office. With this record in his favor, it seems a great hardship that Mr. Painter should be pre-emptorily dismissed from office without a solitary charge against him. In view of all the circumstances that weigh in his favor, we trust that the department will revise its decision and reinstate a worthy and acceptable officer.

THE GOLDEN HARVEST.—Teams begin to stream down Main street, all headed for the railroad depot, where they discharge their cargoes. As noticed elsewhere, the market opens at a very low figure, but we are not without hope that better prices will yet prevail. In the course of many years connection with the public press, we have noticed that the speculators always run down the price at the opening of the harvest, and then when they manage in a measure to get control of the crop, they put the price up. We are not positive that speculators have a hand in the present depressed price of breadstuffs; but the experience of former years leads us to believe that they are pursuing their old policy. As a rule, it is best for farmers to avoid speculation; but then it is not necessary to sell the whole crop for the first figure offered; and in this matter we doubt whether the old maxim that "delays are dangerous" will hold good.

WOOL CLEANING.—Messrs. Evers & Able, at their furniture manufactory, have put in machinery to clean wool, and are now operating largely in that line. Their main object was to clean wool for their own use in the making of beds, but they will at the same time clean wool for outside parties. Good clean wool always commands a ready sale and at much better figures than wool sent to market full of dirt and requiring to be cleaned before being sent to the mill.

A BUSH, Esq., is named as a possible candidate for United States senator from Oregon. We trust not! A cold, bloodless man—he would use the position simply for the purpose of forwarding his private ends; and just as like as not, to the disadvantage of the public. If we must have a money-broker, give us a man with a soul—like W. S. Ladd—but a Shylock like Bush, never!

ADVANCE.—Within a day or two wheat has advanced in price, and is now quoted at 50 cents. This price is being paid by our merchants, and it is not likely that it will lower this season.

PLEASANT HOMES.—We notice in our California exchanges frequent complaints of what is termed the "shiftlessness of their ranchers." It is said that "many of them send to the towns for their fruit, vegetables and flour." These statements being true, the California farmers are terribly at fault. They do not vary and diversify their crops. A grain grower or a fruit grower does nothing but grow grain or cultivate fruit trees. He sells his grain or his fruit and buys vegetables. In most cases, if he has occasion for a bouquet of flowers he would have to send to a florist for it. With bushels of grain in his fields or fruit in his orchard, he buys eggs instead of providing himself with hens. It is too much trouble to take care of a cow, and so he goes without fresh milk and buys butter and cheese. Not a rose bush can be found on his ranch of a thousand acres, nor a bit of turf kept green by irrigation. He may be a rich man and making money, but his home and grounds look bare and desolate. A man with a family who tries to live this plain, rough life, commits a great mistake. His children weary of a home which has no attractiveness, and pine for what they deem more favored localities. Women are rarely content with the bare necessities of life. The ribbon with which a school girl adorns her dress tells of a natural desire for ornamentation. Less acquisitive usually than men, they are not satisfied with simply making money. They may suffer in silence, and perform their duty, but every man knows there is a vast difference between a happy wife and an uncomplaining one. A wise man who has no love for flowers himself, should remember that tenderer natures than his own hunger and thirst for that which he deems nonsense and trash. Now, nothing is nonsense and trash which helps to make life pleasant and enjoyable. The green turf and simple rose bushes, which afford children a pleasant and fragrant playground, may have a vast influence over the future of a family. It may so attach children to their homes, that aspirations for the future shall be connected with it. It is a sad day for father and mother when they discover that the thoughts of their offspring wander to other localities and pursuits than those which their parents have known and followed. Yet, if home is a mere pen, where one eats and sleeps, what else is to be expected? Children may submit to such a life, only to try to escape from it as soon as they find there is a different one. The above is a picture of a farm life in California, but it will not answer when applied to Walla Walla valley. Here our farmers have consideration for home comforts, and in many instances their cottages are embowered in roses and shrubbery and made to resemble what they are—earthly paradises. An illustration of what taste and ambition can accomplish came under our notice one day this week, when we visited Mr. Charles Russell's ranch. Here we found on all sides the evidences of taste. His house is large and arranged with a view to convenience; the rooms are hard finished; the parlor and sitting room furnished in handsome style; the bed rooms with walnut sets, including marble tops, and the window curtains and all other parts of the house furnished in a style to correspond. The kitchen is from the main building, and so arranged that all necessary stools are washed away. The bath room, without which no house can be said to be complete, is conveniently arranged, and provision made for hot and cold baths. The luxury of a bath should be within the reach of every family; and yet we regret to say that but few of our country friends have provided themselves with this convenience. Leaving the house we visited the barn, and here we found every provision made for the comfort of the animals. The basement divided up into stalls, all well aired, and at the same time arranged so as to be cool. Horses stabled here very forcibly realize the idea of "horse heaven." In the second floor of the barn we have the graineries, and hay-mow, all arranged so as to accomplish the most work with the least expenditure of time and labor. The orchard surrounds the house and barn, but unfortunately this year the fruit crop is a failure. Altogether our friend Russell and his most estimable wife and family have a model home, and in striking contrast with the description we have of the home-life of California farmers. With this home and all its pleasant surroundings, he has a farm of 800 acres, the most productive land in the world, and good soil, with water under for fifty bushels to the acre. We find our pen running away with us, and so we must come to a close. Our visit was made in company with Mr. Tom Tierney, who with a pair of his finest horses all decked out in gold-mounted harness, and an easy running carriage, we passed over the road with lightning speed. To add to the pleasure of the occasion we had with us Mr. Samuel Robinson, agent for the sale of Scotch type, who with his quiet, pleasant ways, greatly contributed to our enjoyment. Sam is said to be a Frenchman of Irish descent, but whatever country he hails from, he is a jolly good fellow, and whenever we take to the road, we hope to have him bear us company.

JUDGES ELIGIBLE.—The constitution of the United States declares who are eligible to seats in the United States senate; and any provision, in a state constitution, disqualifying a certain class of officials, goes for naught. This whole question came up in a case from Illinois many years ago; and at that time, when such men as Clay, Calhoun and Webster were in the senate, it was authoritatively settled that no state could disqualify a man otherwise eligible. An attempt is being made to crowd Judge McArthur off the track, for the reason that the constitution of Oregon prohibits judges holding other offices during the time for which they were elected. This provision can only apply to state offices, and should never be cited as a bar to a person, otherwise qualified, holding a seat in the senate. If this be the only objection that can be brought against Judge McArthur, his opponents must be hard pressed. The eastern counties have clearly the right to name the senator; and all this talk about judges being disqualified, will not deter them from naming Judge McArthur as their first choice, and a man eminently adapted to adorn the position.

W. C. PAINTER, late receiver, has a petition in circulation for his reinstatement. The people, irrespective of party, are almost to a man in favor of his continuance in office. No charges have been made against him; and no reason assigned for his removal. All the members of the constitutional convention excepting four, who were absent, signed the petition. The mayor and city council, the county officials, and the Walla Walla bar, and the federal officers here all signed it. The petition in circulation reads as follows:

To the President of the United States:—The undersigned, citizens of Washington Territory, respecting trust and confidence in the faithfulness and efficiency of W. C. Painter as receiver of public moneys in the U. S. district land office, at Walla Walla, W. T., have learned, with regret, of his removal from said office, and believing him in every respect worthy of said trust, and knowing his unimpeachable character and ability in all his business relations, respectfully ask that you reinstate him in the position as such receiver. By so doing we believe you will do justice to a faithful officer, and, at the same time, advance the public interest.

DR. J. M. BOYD, physician and surgeon, office in the old library rooms, opposite STATESMAN office. The doctor has had twelve years experience in the treatment of diseases prevalent in the valleys east of the Cascade mountains. Makes no specialties, but requests that inquiry be made as to his success in all branches of the profession, especially in the treatment of diseases of women and children, including obstetrics and surgery. Relies upon merit for patronage and upon patrons for references.

BILL HEAD PAPER.—An immense stock of BILL HEAD PAPER, just received at the STATESMAN office.

HOUSE AND FARM.

Some years since we recollect a man to relate how he in twenty years made a comfortable fortune. He had a wife of taste, enterprise and industry. He would buy a farm which had been run down by neglect and slovenliness—house unpainted, fences broken down and the front yard a hog range. He could always buy cheap, as such owners were always in debt and had to sell. He would then repair it by painting and other small but important items. But he said his main dependence was on his wife. She would soon have the old garden brilliant with flowers, while she would improvise cheap rustic porches or piazzas, and have them just laughing with the sweet vines. Then the place would be sold for nearly double the price of purchase six months previous. Then he would buy again, thus buying and selling continually. We do not, however, introduce these things to be followed in all respects, but to illustrate the increased value attached to a farm adorned by a little taste and industry. But that is not all. There is real enjoyment in having the home in which one is to live and die adorned in a manner which no gorgeous upholstery nor gilded moldings sustaining costly lace can compete with. The dark-green ivy-leaves and vines, which can be taught to twine about walls, pictures and windows, add refinement and comfort and contentment to any home. And yet how cheap these priceless companion ornaments, to which Solomon in all his glory could not compare! Plant flowers and train the vines if you would have the world envy you in your home, and seek to obtain it by that which you can command, but which will ever perpetuate its beauty. How few there are who really appreciate the materialized smiles of God unless they can buy them with money.

Baked Ham.
Cover your ham with cold water and simmer gently, just long enough to loosen the skin so that it can be pulled off; this will probably be in two or three hours, according to the size of your ham; when skinned put in a dripping pan in the oven; pour over it a teaspoonful of vinegar and one of hot water, in which dissolve a teaspoonful of English mustard; take slowly, basting with the liquid every few minutes for two hours; then cover the ham all over to the depth of one inch with coarse brown sugar, press it down with your hand firmly, and do not baste again until the sugar has formed a thick crust, which it will soon do in a very slow oven; let it remain a full hour in after covering with sugar, until it becomes a rich golden brown. When done, drain from the liquor in a pan and put on a dish to cool; when it is cool, but not cold, press, by turning another flat dish on top, with a weight over it. You will never want to eat ham cooked any other way when you have once tasted this, and the pressing makes it cut firmly for sandwiches or slicing.

Rhubarb Jelly.
To be made in September. Cut nice stalks of red rhubarb and put them into a large jar. To six pounds of rhubarb add the peel of three lemons, and let it get soft in a moderate oven. When cooked pour off the juice in an enameled saucepan, and add the juice of three lemons. Let it simmer gently for half an hour and strain through a jelly bag. Then add one and a half pounds of lump sugar to every pint of juice. When it is dissolved boil in a preserving pan for forty minutes, keeping it well stirred and skimmed. Pour into pots, and when cold tie down with brandy paper. This has been tried and approved. To use up the pulp well boil it in the preserving pan, adding three-quarters of a pound of lump sugar to every one pound of pulp, and either halved or pounded bitter almonds or candied peel.

Working Butter.
Do not work too much or too fast. Work slowly until all the salt is thoroughly and evenly absorbed. Otherwise the butter will not be of uniform color. Working it too fast will destroy the grain, and the butter becomes salty and hard like its texture. Let it stand or put it away in the tray for twenty-four hours. Then work it enough to remove all the buttermilk or surplus brine, so that the butter may become dry or like a piece of cheese. Mold into rolls, and set these away for twenty-four hours or until they become hard and firm. The cloth should now be put on, so as to cover one end, while the other is left open for the stamp. The cloth should be cut in pieces of exact size and dipped in brine, and the butter rolled when the cloth is dripping wet. Butter should never come in contact with the bare hand. When in bulk it can be easily handled with a ladle and a flat paddle.

Oats and Peas.
Oats and peas sown together produce a very nutritious fodder. The two crops together, upon one acre of good soil, will yield nearly, if not quite, as much fodder as would an acre of each sown separately. We have sown two bushels of oats and six pecks of peas to the acre. If sown early fodder may be cut for feeding cows or horses in May or June, and a succession for continuous use may be sown every two weeks until early in May. Roll the ground after sowing so that the crop may be cut with a mower, which may easily be done, as the oats support the peas and prevent lodging.

Remedy for Lock-jaw.
The Stockton Independent says: "Every little while we read of some one who has stuck a rusty nail in his foot or some other part of his person, and lock-jaw has resulted therefrom. All such wounds can be healed without any fatal consequences. The remedy is simple: It is only to smoke such wound, or any wound or bruise that is inflamed with burning wood or wooden cloth. Twenty minutes in the smoke of wood will take the pain out of the worst case of inflammation arising from any wound we ever saw."

To Stop Bleeding at the Nose.
The best remedy for bleeding at the nose, as given by Dr. Gleason in one of his lectures, is the vigorous motion of the jaws, as if in act of mastication. In the case of a child, a wad of paper should be placed in its mouth, and the child instructed to chew it hard. It is the motion of the jaws that stops the flow of blood. This remedy is so very simple that many will feel inclined to laugh at it, but it has never been known to fail in a single instance, or even in very severe cases.

WANTED TO STAY.—A pretty school-mistress in Malden, Massachusetts, kept a boy fifteen minutes after school as a punishment, and when the time was up he asked her if she couldn't make it half an hour.

Converting the Heathen by Weight.
The old man was oiling the hinges of the stove door and carelessly singing one of Beethoven's best, when a middle-aged woman entered the station and began: "Mr. Joy, are you a good man?" "Wall, tolerable—tolerable," he replied. "I never dropped a bad nickel into the street car box, and I don't go fishing on Sunday." "Mr. Joy, I am canvassing for money to buy bibles and so forth for the African heathen," she continued, as she showed a pass-book. "Are, eh? Does he seem to want a bible?" "He does. He sits on the saunds of his native shore and looks longingly this way." "Does, eh? Sitting right there this morning, I spose?" "He is. How much will you subscribe, Mr. Joy?" "Madam, I've got to lift a mortgage before noon to-day, and—"

"You will certainly give me something," she interrupted. "And I've got to meet fire and life insurance, pew rent, taxes, gas, and—"

"Put down what your noble heart dictates," she said as she handed him the book. He reflected for a moment and then asked: "Will five dollars convert a heathen—a great big two-fisted heathen, with a stiff knee?" "I—I think so." He figured with pencil on the bottom of a chair and said: "Five dollars into 200 pounds of heathen is forty pounds for a dollar. This is, less—um—ten pounds for 25 cents and none to carry. Divide the dividend by the divisor, cut off the cube root, carry nothing, and madam, you take this quarter and convert ten pounds of heathen for me. That's all I can spare—no use talking—ten pounds—here comes his honor."

She went away puzzled and amazed at his figures, and Bijah looked after her and mused: "I ought to have taken a mortgage on my share of that heathen, but I'm just that careless in business affairs."—Free Press.

KEY-HOLES.—Please take notice that you never read of a breach of promise suit in which the mother doesn't seem to know much more about the case than the girl. Key-holes were not made in vain.

SUICIDES.—Isn't it strange that we never hear of any individual successfully committing suicide more than once? No true woman will ever marry a man so tall that she cannot reach his hair.

HARVEST OF 1878.
FARMERS OF WALLA WALLA VALLEY Are unanimous in their expression that the
THE HARVESTER KING!
ARE THE PERFECTION OF MECHANICAL SKILL, AND ARE, IN ALL respects, the only articles of farm machinery adapted to the wants of this locality. For the harvest of 1878, MESSRS. PAINE BROS. invite the attention of farmers to

PAINE BROS.,
THE HARVESTER KING!
This Binder is recognized by all experienced persons as the only one yet invented free from serious defects. The Automatic Crane Binder Attachment, having been thoroughly tested, is admitted to be superior to all others in the market. A comparison will satisfy any one that the HARVESTER KING is the only one now in existence that has stood the test, and we caution farmers against purchasing any other.

THE HARVESTER KING!
Is the simplest, yet, at the same time, most durable and effective ever invented. Its merits are too well known to require any word of commendation from us. Every farmer who has used it is its friend; and to the hundreds to whom we have sold this implement, we refer, confidently believing that in every instance it will receive unqualified praise.

Buffalo Pitts "Challenger" Thresher!
This machine, combining many improvements, and manufactured expressly to meet the wants of this country, stands at the head of all other machines, and by long experience, in which its reliability has been thoroughly tested, has deservedly earned the title of KING OF THRESHING MACHINES.

An intelligent farmer, one who has any knowledge of his calling, would not think of purchasing any other. Go anywhere in the Walla Walla Valley, and ask which machine has proved the most durable, the best adapted to the climate and the work to be done, and the universal answer will be the BUFFALO PITTS CHALLENGER. This machine can be relied upon. Can as much be said of others?
The new and valuable improvement added to the Haines' Single Gear Header, Makes it superior to any now in the market, and purchasers should see that no inferior article is forced upon them, as there are many machines offered, which, when tested, prove to be utterly worthless. An examination of this Header is earnestly requested.

THE DOMESTIC!
C. SCHUMACHER, AGENT FOR THE
Domestic Sewing Machine Call attention to this Machine as embracing all the latest improvements, and superior to any other Machine ever before introduced. Its merits are—
1. It is the lightest running Machine in existence.
2. It is a Noiseless Machine.
3. The room under the arms is greater by one-half inch than any other Machine.
4. The Shuttle holds more thread than any other Machine, and it is made on a different principle from any other Shuttle.
5. The Machine is constructed so that the last-tion or wear can be taken up.
6. The Shaft which drives the Needle is straight, which gives it more power.
7. The Machine has got no cog-wheels or pulleys.
8. The Table is made of seven layers of wood, just crossed, making it proof against splitting or warping.
9. SCHUMACHER, after a long experience with the mechanism of different Sewing Machines, has accepted the Agency of the above, which he pronounces the Best Sewing Machine!
now in use. The different varieties of Sewing Machines are sold by the manufacturers on hand and for sale at his (Schumacher's) Store, Main street, Walla Walla, at San Francisco prices, with freight added.
I will guarantee to keep these Machines in good order, free of charge to the purchaser. 18-4f
