

Democratic Opportunity and Duty.

Before the meeting of the Democratic primaries, this is the last opportunity the STATESMAN will have of urging upon Democrats the fact that an opportunity now presents for the success of their county and territorial ticket, and the duty of making the best of it.

With the record of the past year, if there were nothing else but that, the Republican party is so vulnerable, that a systematic, aggressive and well-directed opposition the Democratic party must succeed.

Wanted A New Sort of Government.

Doubtless if some sort of servicable trap could be constructed and set, a large number and variety of heretofore unknown statesmen would be caught in this country, as scarcely any passes off into the last of earth, that we do not have indications of the presence of these gentlemen.

The Sunday Law Question.

Just as the party fastened to certain so-called special issues—with no better or higher motive than the making of political clap-net, the Republicans laid hold of the Sunday Law question.

There should be no Sunday law of any special character. The right to sell liquor, or to be shared, should be so free, unobscured and complete on Sunday as on Monday.

so far as his local affairs are concerned, to say, that without an exception, every man who, within the last few days, here in Walla Walla, has been arrested for a violation of the Sunday law, tried, convicted and fined, is a Republican.

By Proxy.

An article on the proxy business had partially been prepared when the following came to hand, and it sets forth our views so wholly, that we pitch our own manuscript into the lunch basket, and substitute what the San Francisco Bulletin says:

Several political conventions of late have decided that no proxies shall be substituted for elected delegates. The reasoning is sound. The proxy business is in the nature of a fraud.

The Independent Editor's Dilemma.

It is unanimously uneasy. It is "Almost possible." It is not quite. He is, with Crockett's own, almost ready to cry out: "I'll come down—don't shoot."

The Election of Senator Mitchell.

The Oregonian keeps up its vindictive fight against Hon. John H. Mitchell, and is so rapidly manufacturing public sentiment in his favor, that among the general public, the opinion is almost universal, that he will be elected.

In support of the present incumbents it is being stated on our streets that the Auditor and County Commissioners have just made a great saving, and performed an economical feat of four millions.

Without a word of apology, our pupil and matinal correspondent, suddenly discourses the publication, "24 hours earlier than any other paper printed," (except the Oregonian, from which the so-called Associated Press dispatches were clipped) of its column of telegraph.

The Pioneer Press does not appear to have any objection for the mayor of Minneapolis. It says of him: "The city of Minneapolis is entitled to sympathy in any struggle it may have to sustain."

The agent of Clara Morris has had another agent arrested for swindling him out of $100. How does it happen that amid all this carnival of vice in the show business, nobody has got away with Clara's trunk.

Under the prohibition act in Kansas, breweries are all "chemical works," and beer is stomach-incorporating fluid.

The news comes from Washington, that the receipts of the Government now average a million and a half a day.

Who is the coming man? The Walla Walla Watchman.

Among Our Exchanges.

The Republican primaries were held at Port Townsend Saturday evening and were unanimously for T. T. Minor.

A telegram from Seattle says: The Republican primaries were held in this city Saturday evening. The whole vote cast numbered 300, or about one half the vote it is expected the Republicans will poll at the ensuing election.

The editor of the Medical Lake Press says: For four years Thomas H. Drents has been knocking at the doors of Congress, pouring in the ears of the wily politicians of the regular election. He is elected because the people have confidence in him.

The STATESMAN said long ago that Drents was not the man to perform the work of Washington's admission, and it still insists that it will be a great mistake to allow him to return as a Delegate.

Says the Press of Medical Lake: The Walla Walla news is just and true. Considerable commotion on Monday last over the fact that the construction of the railroad to connect this city with Pendleton was commenced on Monday.

And Walla Wallans hope that within another year Medical Lake people will have a similar reason for a jubilee.

One hundred arrivals at Medical Lake last week.

Says the Post-Intelligencer: Word comes from Olympia that the Territorial Fair at that place is very quiet affair. This is not surprising, as the society has done the "penny wise and pound foolish" policy, and to save a few dollars have not advertised their exhibition.

From Seattle we have this: Five young men representing themselves as peddlars have just left Seattle for other fields. They registered at the Hotel Astor as W. E. White, W. F. Sommers, A. D. Lynch, Chas. J. Sheridan, John Quinn.

During the trip to Missoula the associate editor of the STATESMAN heard considerable of John Tod, of Victoria, especially from Angus McDonald. He was a prominent man in that country. A dispatch from Victoria, September 1st, says: Yesterday Hon. John Tod, one of the most remarkable of the hardy pioneers of the great northwest, expired in his 91st year.

Death of John Tod.

John Tod was born at Lock Levin, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, in 1791, and was intended by his parents for a mercantile career. About 1807 Lord Selkirk was establishing his northwestern immigration scheme on the Red River of the North, and Tod embarked for York factory, Hudson's Bay, in a company with a number of other daring spirits, many of whom occupied positions of trust in after years in the extensive possessions of the Hudson Bay Co.

The height of the inundation was of the greatest importance to the people of Egypt at all times, because an extra high rise was equally disastrous, resulting as it did in the loss of the crops. The founder of the family was a Bedouin. Who so apt to collect assessments effectively as he? At an early date the family emigrated to Norway, when and where emigrated assessments were continually in order.

In an evil hour Mr. Hubbell published a book, himself is reputed author. Its substance, aim and object of the glorification of the Hubbell family, of which he is a most distinguished member. According to this precious piece of genealogy, the founder of the family was a Bedouin. Who so apt to collect assessments effectively as he? At this time old Nicola, from whom Nicola river and valley were named, and his large tribe were much affected and the position of the deceased gentleman was one of extreme peril. He was a man who never knew what fear was. On one occasion Nicola and a large band of Indians managed to get in the fort enclosure for the purpose of killing the master and plundering the premises.

It should have been stated in the beginning of this short notice of a very remarkable man, that he was first at Astoria in 1814, having crossed the mountains and reached the Columbia river from the east, very shortly after the late John Jacob Astor founded that trading post, at Astoria, which was then called Washington Irving.

In 1856 he was appointed a member of the first executive council of Vancouver Island, by the late Sir James Douglas, and held that position for several years. He leaves a large family of four sons and several daughters, and it is understood to have been wealthy. Besides considerable landed property around Colorado Bay, and valuable city lots and improvements, he purchased a number of years ago a number of Bank of Montreal shares, that have since become very valuable. The deceased, for many years of his life kept an accurate journal. Some of these records he lost east of the mountains, and before leaving Kamloops a large heap of them were consigned to the flames, as he then considered them not worth the trouble of packing to this city, which was then Fort Victoria. Had these manuscripts been preserved, a most interesting volume of exciting reminiscences of a long and eventful life, could have been compiled and given to the public.

The Annual Nile Flood.

Perhaps the most striking idea of the effect of the Nile water is obtained from standing on the summit of the Great Pyramid of Gizeh. The pyramid stands on the desert, but close to the cultivated soil; the cultivated soil in this case means the land which has been covered by the inundation of the great river.

The young, devoted wife of the late Mr. Hubbell, who died in the prime of her life, she sinks into the grave. Julia Booth.

A pillar of mud now represents the bridge: it is made at the opening of one of the canals at Old Cairo, and it is swept away by the waters of the Nile. The Moslem tradition is that one of their rulers substituted the mud pillar for a virgin which the Christians sacrificed every year. Sir Gardner Wilkinson doubts and believes that in A. D. 668 the Arabs continued the custom from the Christians, who received it from the Egyptians. He does not think it likely that the Christians would sacrifice a human being, and that it is quite possible that the Bride of the Nile was only a mud figure even in the older Egyptian period.

The ceremony is now gone through about the 19th of August, when the inundation is supposed to be approaching its height. The first indication of the rise appears in lower Egypt about the middle of June and continues till September, when the full overflow is reached. In November or December again the waters have disappeared and the Nile is generally reduced to its ordinary level.

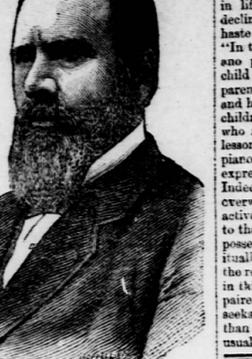

The height of the inundation was of the greatest importance to the people of Egypt at all times, because an extra high rise was equally disastrous, resulting as it did in the loss of the crops. The founder of the family was a Bedouin. Who so apt to collect assessments effectively as he? Men of the Hour.

JAY A. HUBBELL.

The bearer of the above now most conspicuous name is a native of the State of Michigan, born at Avon, September 15, 1829. He was graduated at the State University in Ann Arbor, in 1853, and two years afterwards was admitted to the bar. After this he removed to Ontonagon, Mich., in the month of November, 1855, and was elected a district-attorney in the Upper Peninsula of the State in 1857 and 1859. In February, 1860, he removed to Houghton, Mich., and was elected district-attorney of Houghton County in 1861, 1863 and 1865. He spent the next five years of his life as a practicing lawyer, and as such assisted considerably in the development of the mining interests of the Upper Peninsula. Mainly as the result of the influence he acquired in this way, he was elected a member of the Forty-third Congress, and has represented the same district ever since.

Mr. Hubbell is Chairman and Acting Treasurer of the Republican Congressional Committee, and it is as such that his name is particularly prominent just now. It stands at the head of a lithographed circular dated May 15, 1882, which, it is alleged, has been sent to the numerous persons employed in the service of the United States, and solicits "voluntary contributions" from them for the Republican Congressional Committee. "In order that it may prepare, print and circulate suitable documents illustrating the issues which distinguish the Republican party from any other, and may meet all proper expenses incident to the campaign."

Naturally enough the issue of this document has excited a great hubbub in political circles. The Civil Service Reform Committee in New York sent to all the clerks in the Government offices an opposition circular, which, of course, tended to check the flow of a stream of money which, it is calculated, if unrestrained would amount to about four hundred thousand dollars.

Democratic inquiry in both the Senate and the House of Representatives, and a good deal of talk by members of these bodies whose interest lies in the subversion of the party in power, have not resulted in positive action against the doings of the Republican Congressional Committee in the premises; and it may be questioned whether the combined efforts of Democratic Congressmen and the Civil Service Reform Committee have so effectually set public opinion against political assessments as the press. Mr. Hubbell has been, as a matter of course, the chief object of attack. Writers grave, satirical and merry, and caricaturists of various grades of ability have pointed pen and pencil at the devoted head of Hubbell, who is the best abused man in the nation. Undoubtedly he has himself provided the material for that most effective of all offensive weapons against a public man—ridicule.

In an evil hour Mr. Hubbell published a book, himself is reputed author. Its substance, aim and object of the glorification of the Hubbell family, of which he is a most distinguished member. According to this precious piece of genealogy, the founder of the family was a Bedouin. Who so apt to collect assessments effectively as he? the ages of twelve and fifteen. Nature then seeks especially to round out and develop the woman from the child, and overwork of any kind tends to thwart her plans. Many a poor girl who started well in life, physically speaking, goes into a decline at this age, because of the foolish haste of the parents about her schooling. "In this slaughter of the innocents," it is no practice counts heavily. But the child is not "crowded" with study, the parents and teachers say. It learns easily, and has plenty of time to play. Just such children I have seen break down—those who never needed to be urged to their lessons, who conscientiously performed all piano practice without a murmur, or an expressed wish to play outdoors instead. Indeed, one of the signs that the pupil is overworked, is its reluctance to join in active physical sports. There is a limit to the amount of vital energy which one possesses at any time, and if this is habitually expended, mostly by the brain, the rest of the body can have little, and in this way all the body functions are impaired. The overworked pupil probably seeks recreation in light reading rather than in active outdoor sports, and this usually makes a bad matter worse.

TOWNS AND COUNTRY.

Col. Powell and company arrived at the post this morning, after a very pleasant journey from Boise.

A head fire of $12,000 was made yesterday for the dammed property on Main near Third street.

John Dixon has been awarded the contract to build a bridge across the Tum-lum at Tupper's crossing.

A telegram just from Colfax informs that as yet there are no hotel accommodations in there.

There has been considerable speculation here as to the cause of the heavy and smoky condition of the atmosphere of late.

The new fire alarm, carrying the post office, is the handsomest one issued.

We have a postal card from Rev. A. J. Jones, which announces that he will preach at the M. E. Church in this city on the 17th of the month.

The flag-staff in front of the city building on Third street, is like the independent editor's political position; endeavoring to lean these ways the same time.

It is current on the streets today, that this coming a delegation of democrats waited on the independent editor and implored his vote at the primaries.

Mr. Irving Chambers of Oregon City, has information of the whereabouts of her son, Victor Chambers, a young man 24 years of age, who was last heard from in Eastern Washington some two years since.

John W. Robinson, recently a type in the Statesman office, and who got the "blowing-bellows" fever so that he started abruptly for the mountains, writes from Tepper in a glowing eulogy of the mountain.

There is some disappointment felt at the delay in opening the lower district school. In explanation it may be stated, that although the teachers there are regularly paid certain fees for their work, they had no provision for having the school rooms put in order, and the trustees were obliged to delay the opening until they could do so for that purpose.

The following is the crop report from Spokane Falls. Crops of small grain in this section about a fourth less than last year.

Wheat 60 cents to 70 cents. Sept. 12 the new land office at Colfax will be opened.

J. M. Burns, of Alnsworth, is in the city signing himself.

Mr. N. T. Cohn has returned from her visit to Walla Walla.

G. W. Flunkey, editor of the Baker City Tribune, is in the city today, en route to Portland.

John A. Alamy, who has been running the N. P. land office at Cheney for some time, has just returned to Portland.

News of Spokane Falls, Naha and Warrenton of Spokane Falls, has become a company to supply that little city with water for all purposes.

Mr. Allen Gardner, engineer of the O. R. & N. P. Co., is in the city and will take the post office mail, accompanied by Mr. Griffith who has come further south with Mr. Hunt.

Press on a Train.

An affray occurred on the west-bound passenger train of the Northern Pacific road, near Big Lake, below Sprague, yesterday, which, if intended as a cow-boy robbery, was a very bungling affair, and if meant as a means of gratifying revenge, did not pan out very well for those who sought it.

A Course of Study.

By a law, our last Legislature created a course of new graded schools in our Territory. What these schools shall be, depends upon industry of teachers, the enthusiasm of school boards and the concurrence of parents.

Make use of the opportunity. Come and secure a bargain. Sam Lesser, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., Walla Walla.

Rees, Winans & Co. Successors to Johnson, Rees & Winans.

Are now receiving their Spring and Summer Goods.

As heretofore, they will continue to make a specialty of FARMERS' SUPPLIES.

Job Printing! And any articles in the line of farmers' goods not usually kept in a stock will be ordered from the cheapest market and forwarded to customers at cost.

To Merchants and Business Men: The Statesman Job Room is the best equipped printing office in the country tributary to Walla Walla, in number of fonts of type, presses and machinery, and stock of printing stationery and paper.

If you are doing business in an adjacent town, instead of sending your orders for office stationery to Portland or San Francisco (or having it "botched" at home), send them to us at Walla Walla, where the work can be done as well as cheap, and in much less time than at either of the above places.

We carry a large stock of first class printers' stationery, thus giving patrons a line to choose from in ordering letter and note papers, bill and statement heads, circulars, cards, envelopes, hand bills, and posters.

We also can print all kinds of blanks (ruled or unruled) as well as they can be done here.

Give us a call, or write for estimates. Address: F. J. Parker, Walla Walla, W. T.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

From the Daily of Idaho.

The railroad is at present and the situation on the coast had better be careful how they try to pass the iron horse.

Mr. Dech, of this city, left by last night's train for Newport, Montana, called there to see a sick child in the family of Mr. Small.

The Northern Pacific people are placing another line between Alnsworth and the opposite shore of Snake river, to facilitate transfers at low water.

A man that will swindle a people in a time of adversity by appropriating government axes and four to his own use is a fit creature to charge honest men with black-and-white.

Cal. Armstrong, the United States Commissioner to assist another English portion of the Northern Pacific, Gen. Sprague and party will leave Alnsworth day after tomorrow on a tour of inspection.

We ask no better authority for the influence and circulation of the STATESMAN than the article in the Daily this morning. Advertisers will do well to place their money where it will do the most good.

From the Daily of Saturday.

Messrs. McKeezie and Cavanaugh who have had charge of Knapp, Barrell & Co's business in this city, have transferred it to Eugene Buchanan, who will now be the agent of the Portland firm.

George Guttridge has some of the finest land that we ever saw in this city. It is some several acres, he has purchased from Sam Johnston and have never been off the ranch since they were valued. We should think from the appearance and good quality of this land that it would pay our farmers to keep a few steers on hand.

From the Daily of Monday.

In the case of James Garvin, on trial for violation of the Sunday law, they returned a verdict of guilty, and imposed a fine of $25 and costs.

If the members of the City Council do not think Street Commissioner Brooks already overworked, would it not be wisest to have him examine and report on the condition of our sewer system, and that sort of supply generally.

As the old saying goes, "It is dangerous to be seen, in these days. Another secret nurse of the Unfortunates. We take no stock in the supposition that Indians are to blame. There are some of the most vicious white men in this section who would kill a man for a dollar. The name of the vigilantes is, apparently, the only remedy.

Mr. Wm. O'Donnell leaves on this evening's train for San Francisco.

From the Daily of Monday.

Our friend L. E. R. - We understand from parties that are in interest that the affairs of this company are in good shape, and that negotiations are pending for future developments. The parties are confident of their ability to build the road, and of the necessity of its being built. Indeed there can be no doubt but that the road, though short in length, will be of considerable importance. The timber and farm lands around Lake Clear Lake, and along the St. Joe and Clear Lake rivers is said to be excellent. Quite a portion of the upper Hangman creek and Rockford lands would be within easy reach of the lake and the steamer would be kept pretty busy. The farm lands of two rivers valleys mentioned in very fine, principally timber land, which will undoubtedly cost a considerable figure in affording daily supplies to this country, these localities being especially adapted to that purpose. As Spokane Falls is the ultimate point for business from that part of the country, and as we are all interested in the development of Idaho as well as Washington, we wish much access to this enterprise. Lumber interests being so valuable in Eastern Washington, its success is hardly to be doubted, as that body of timber is known as the finest within our reach. Spokane Chronicle.

TAKE HEED - Much of the beauty of our city is owing to irrigation and it is to be regretted that the "City of Trees." This is due solely to irrigation, and without it there would not be a sign of the luxuriant vegetation we are so justly proud of. But of irrigation, like everything else, it may be said we can have too much of a good thing, and too much is decidedly injurious, and it is for that reason we call the attention of our readers to this important point. After the 1st of September irrigation should cease; the tree has reached its full summer growth, and the sap begins to descend. It has happened that on early frost seriously injures our trees and shrubbery and kills them outright. This is caused by late irrigation, which prevents the sap from going down into the roots, where Nature intended it to go. Besides, autumn is the time for insects, and the few dampness we have left for the health of the public.

EXTENSIVE MINERAL DISCOVERIES - J. A. Donnell, of Eastern Oregon, is now in this city with numerous samples of the finest gold, silver and copper ore ever examined. The specimens are so rich in mineral that they must be seen by experienced men to be believed. The copper lodes measured are 20 feet in width and the ore is 60 per cent pure copper and besides contains by assay nearly $100 to the ton in gold and silver. The silver comes from a contact vein 124 feet wide and assays very high in gold and silver. The new discoveries are situated in the Eagle Creek range of mountains which have always been known to be rich in mineral, but so far from railroad centers previous to the present era that no inducement has been given to prospectors. We can safely say from years of experience that the discoverer and owners, of whom E. S. McClellan is one, have a splendid fortune in prospect.

THE LIME NORTH - The Spokane Chronicle says that immigration is beginning to drift into Colville valley this year. It seems to be generally supposed that the Northern Pacific branch to Kettle Falls will be among the first roads to be built, as the Canadian Pacific would undoubtedly use it in the construction of its line east and west of the crossing of the Columbia. This is the more probable since the selection of a pass through the Selkirk range, only 140 miles north of the boundary line. The Columbia is navigable about 250 miles north of Kettle Falls, and the road from Spokane Falls to the latter point would be only about 100 miles long. Rumor has it that Hallett's force has but two more months work ahead and where that force next goes is a question of vital importance to this part of Washington Territory.

Pious Poker Chips.

There was a chance for a terrible church scandal in a Milwaukee church, but investigation set it right. It seems that when the collector was passing the contribution box, a prominent and wealthy donor put his hand in his trousers' pocket and brought out a lot of keys, a knife, some play tobacco and some other things, trying to find a penny with a hole in it to put in the box. The man who was taking up the collection saw what he thought was a corker in the deacon's hand, and he reported the matter to the pastor of the church; and they called the deacon up before the directors to explain. When the charge was read to him he smiled contemptuously and said he never had a corker.

The other man was positive he saw one, and the deacon turned his pockets wrong side out, and it was found that the supposed corker was one of those new fangled button hooks that shut up like a corker. This did not end the matter, however, for when the contents of the deacon's pockets were being examined, one of the pillars of the church discovered a piece of tin ivory, about as big as a quarter. The pillar of the church, who used to be a little bit of a snob, he asked and got religion, knew it was a poker chip, and he asked the deacon where he had been playing poker.

He blushed, and said he didn't know what the blue chip was used for. He said his son-in-law gave it to him for a pocket piece, and he had carried it for months, and if it was a gambling article he was as much as a child unborn. They let him off, and as he was on the way home with a worldly friend, who drops in to play whist with him occasionally on an evening, he said:

"There is no use trying to enjoy religion in a church where returned whisky-sellers are watching your pockets for corkers, and refused to allow you to search you for poker chips. Lord bless 'em, they had found that new deck of round cornered cards in my side pocket. It would have been all day with me."

Then the two neighbors went to the circus to see the menagerie.

An Eighty Pound Hailstone.

From Salina (Kansas) Journal.

Considerable excitement was caused in our city last Tuesday evening by the announcement that a hailstone weighing eighty pounds had fallen six miles west of Salina, near the railroad track. An inquiry into the matter led to the following facts: A party of railroad section men were at work Tuesday afternoon, several miles west of town, when the hailstone came upon them. Mr. Martin Ellwood, the foreman of the party, relates that near where they were at work, hailstones of the weight of four or five pounds were falling, and that scattered toward Salina the stones increased in size, until his party discovered a huge mass of ice weighing, as near as he could judge, in the neighborhood of eighty pounds. At this place the party found the ground covered with hail as if a wintry storm had passed over the land. Some of the men, who were both excited and surprised, secured a hailstone something over a foot long, three or four inches in diameter, and shaped like a cigar. These "specimens" were placed upon a hand car and brought to Salina. Mr. W. J. Huger, the North Santa Fe merchant, became the possessor of the large piece, and saved it from dissolving by placing it in an iced chest at his store. Crowds of people went down to see it Tuesday afternoon, and many were the theories concerning the mysterious visitor. At evening its dimensions were 29 x 18 x 2 inches.
