Opening of District Court. Court opened at 11 o'clock. Hon. S. C. Winger, judge.

The judge opened court by calling attention of bailiffs to the duties required of them.

The names of the grand jury were called, being, H. M. Parker, F. M. Louellen, Wm. Fudge, Jack Kershaw, W. R. Reeser, M. A. Carr, Donald Ross, R. G. Parks, Marcell Gagnon, Pat O'Rourke, F. R. Webber, James McFarland, G. H. Randall, Alfred Thomas, G. W. Roberts, M. Fisk.

All the prisoners were then allowed an opportunity to challenge the grand jury.

The jury were then sworn in by Clerk Ayres both as county and United States grand jurors.

The judge in address to the jury, after citing to them their duties as defined by the laws of the Territory and the United States.

May we not confidently trust that the uses and purposes of justice, long as its firm foundation shall endure, shall hold the shrine when Sovereign law the states collected still.

When the rights of man without fear and without reproach—without money and without price.

After which court adjourned, to meet at 1:30 o'clock.

Annexation. Introduced by Mr. Sharpsteen, of Walla Walla.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

Your memorialists, the legislative assembly of the Territory of Washington would respectfully represent that all that portion of Idaho Territory known as "Northern Idaho," and bounded as follows:

Commencing at a point in the middle channel of Snake river on the eastern boundary of Washington Territory; thence running southerly along the middle channel of said river to where the 45th parallel crosses said river, thence east along said parallel to where it intersects the meridian 37 degrees and 30 minutes west from Washington; thence northerly along said meridian to the line of the British possessions; thence west along said line to the place of the south along said line to the place of the same is separated from Washington Territory only by an imaginary line, through an open agricultural country; and whereas the people thereof for years past have been and must continue to be connected by close commercial and business relations with the people of Washington Territory, and they have always been and must continue to be cut off and isolated from the balance of Idaho Territory, and at a remote and inconvenient distance from their capital, and the natural barriers being such that this condition must forever remain; and whereas the people of said Northern Idaho having, by ballot and otherwise, signified an unanimous desire to be united with Washington Territory for governmental purposes, the House of Representatives of said Idaho Territory, 1881, passed a memorial praying your honorable body that said Northern Idaho be attached to and made a part of the State of Washington when the Territory of Washington should be admitted into the Union, and whereas in your opinion the time has arrived when Washington Territory should be admitted into the Union as a State, and believing that by such admission the happiness and best interests of this people and the welfare of the United States will be promoted, and therefore your memorialists humbly and earnestly pray your honorable bodies to pass an enabling act authorizing and empowering the people of Washington Territory and said Northern Idaho to form a state constitution preparatory to their admission into the Union as a state, and your memorialists will ever pray.

Subscribed for the STATESMAN.

LETTER FROM THE CAPITOL. OLYMPIA, Nov. 12, 1881. THE EPIDEMIC.

EDITOR STATESMAN: The prevailing disease, as it was first pronounced, at Tacoma, has at last got a name, and that name is small pox.

The fact may also be noted that they, or the majority of them, are more or less remote from the great markets of their state or section.

The legislatures are again resting from their labors. Both houses adjourned from Friday until Tuesday so that special committees might visit the asylum and penitentiary to investigate crookedness alleged to exist in both these institutions.

It is not probable that the committees will find all the changes preferred verified by facts, for Puget Sound human nature is like that thing is everywhere else where there are offices and spoils.

The imaginations of the out's point may mountains that they could paint they were ins. Nevertheless, there are possible evils to be remedied, and it is possible the legislature is quite as profitably occupied in efforts to correct these evils as it would be in "lying to those it knows not of" by staying at home and enacting laws the people might not comprehend.

THE LEADER OF THE COUNCIL. Hon. B. L. Sharpsteen took advantage of the recess and, with his family, left for home to-day to look after business that will demand his attention during the first week of the court at Walla Walla.

Mr. S. is the acknowledged leader of the council and has been the author of most of the bills introduced in that body that have the merit of being in the direct interests of the people.

In the absence of Messrs. Preston and Cornwall, the remaining member from Walla Walla is ably seconded and thanked by Messrs. Cunnings and Smith, of Whitman, and Freeman, of Columbia, in tabling the appropriation bills introduced by the members from King.

KING COUNTY VOUCHERS. The capacity of these King county vaults must be immense, or else they are endowed with imaginations that are much larger than their stomachs.

They have already introduced appropriation bills for the benefit of their county that would absorb more than two-thirds of the money in the territorial treasury.

Yesterday they actually stood up in their seats and voted for an increase of the territorial tax to one-third more than the revenue bill proposes to make it, so they could continue the introduction of these bills.

I referred in a former letter to the energy of the people of Seattle and the above is one of the ways they display it.

One of the schemes set forth by the people of Seattle to make it the great entrepot of the northwest is the connection of lakes Union and Washington by canal and locks with the bay, so that ships may have fresh water anchorage.

The fall from the highest of these lakes to the bay is about 16 feet and the distance from the lake to Lake Union is only three-fourths of a mile and from Union to Washington is a shorter distance.

Washington is a shorter distance. The investment of half a million of money will demonstrate the feasibility of the enterprise and if it should be successful the future of Seattle will be ensured as the point on the waters of Puget Sound, for fresh water anchorage is considered a thing invaluable to shipmasters and ship owners.

The barges and small tonnage that fasten themselves upon the hulls of vessels in salt water, to the damage of the vessel and the impeding of its progress, will drop of within twenty-four hours after anchoring in fresh water.

With the completion of one or more ship canals Seattle might have a possible rival on the shores of the beautiful fresh water lake Washington, with the terminus of the railroad at the lake.

This lake is 28 miles long, and there are town cities along its shores. The greater durability of wharves built in fresh water is urged in favor of the ship canal scheme.

The torpedoes cast down the piles on which wharves are constructed on this part of the sound every three or four years. At Tacoma it is said the wharf has been built three times in ten years.

At Seattle they are trying to avoid damage by these torpedoes by covering their piles with copper, but this is a very expensive mode of building.

The Governor has re-appointed Francis Barbell territorial treasurer, and T. M. Reed auditor.

It is the article written by Mr. Church to the morning affair he makes the unequalled assertion that Capt. Gilbey's figures of estimates for expenses at $100 per day are too much by one half.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The sunlight of Heaven falls not upon a people more favored than we, in the possession of all the elements of prosperity, happiness and greatness.

Plains, mountains, forest and sea show forth the handiwork of the Almighty Power, and give to us habitations, food, fuel and treasures.

Self-government, equality before the law, the unrestricted possession and enjoyment of these prerogatives of American citizenship...

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES has proclaimed that Thursday, the 24th day of November, 1881, be observed as a day of THANKSGIVING AND PRAISE.

GOVERNOR OF WASHINGTON, do advise the people that on that day, forsaking their usual avocations, they assemble in their places of public worship, and after the manner of their religious faith, give Thanks and Praises to the Father of Mercies...

QUARANTINE PROCLAMATION. The O. R. & N. Co. having stopped communication between this point and Dayton during the rage of small-pox, and it having been brought to my notice that parties are coming from Dayton by other routes...

No Punishment. The least captious person cannot repress a feeling of astonishment at the turn which the star route prosecution has taken.

Col. Corkhill asked the court to try to keep the prisoner quiet, whereupon Guitau sat down, saying he would do whatever the court wished him to, and was comparatively quiet.

GUITAU'S EXCITEMENTS. Guitau's performance in court to-day seems to have convinced a few persons that he really is crazy, but the general opinion is, he is over his acting and that the same shrewdness with which he planned the assassination and his escape from the mob, prompted him to his line of conduct this morning.

Col. Corkhill asked the court to try to keep the prisoner quiet, whereupon Guitau sat down, saying he would do whatever the court wished him to, and was comparatively quiet.

GUITAU'S SPEECH. In the speech which Guitau had prepared for delivery in court to-day, he says he is charged with murdering one James A. Garfield. Nothing can be more absurd, because General Garfield died of malpractice.

Something Wrong. It will naturally be asked how it was possible for so enormous a robbery as that which crushed the Mechanics' National Bank at Newark, and which appears to have extended over several years, could have been successfully perpetrated, with even ordinary examination by the proper officers of the Treasury and of the state.

The Seattle Chronicle says: The Oregonian speaking of the loading of the ship Dakota with grain from up the Columbia at Tacoma, and the banquet tendered her captain, sneeringly says that in four or five years another vessel may load at Tacoma, and that the people may celebrate the event by a clam bake.

The Oregonian lays claim to being the great paper, present and to come, of the northwest coast. But the Oregonian, unlike a great paper, rarely loses an opportunity to misrepresent and belittle the advantages of Puget Sound.

There must be something wrong in the system, or in the management of it, by which these recurring bank explosions can occur. And the facts almost justify the belief that in some cases collusion between examiners and the banks has been practiced.

A Court Room Scene.

The following description of the scene in the Washington court room to-day is received by special dispatch: As Robinson sat down Guitau arose and said: "If your honor please, I desire to address the court." His manner was calm and business-like.

"It is not the time to enter upon the defence," said Judge Cox, quietly. "It is only in question whether more time is necessary in preparing your defence."

"It is not needed," said Guitau. "We are ready to go on with the case now." Robinson smiled at this and asked Guitau to sit down.

Col. Corkhill said he saw no reason why the time should be extended. Mr. Robinson made affidavit that one ground on which he asked delay was in order to get the necessary witnesses and counsel.

Robinson's application was made without his knowledge, which was a strange proceeding, since he had not even seen the affidavit nor heard what counsel hoped to get.

Robinson renewed his application. Guitau claimed the near relatives of the should at least know he was expected to come for the defence.

Guitau again interposed, "We don't want him anyway. This is preposterous and he must go."

Scoville went on: "If we have time enough we could get good counsel and plenty without money, but if court is going to give us time and assign counsel for us, I don't agree with it."

With this Guitau again jumped up, rapping on the table with his knuckles, and said, "Mr. Scoville is next to me in this case. I intend to do this business myself. Robinson is not wanted."

The officers tried to keep him quiet, but he told them to mind their own business. He was in the presence of the court and he would talk when he felt like it.

Col. Corkhill asked the court to try to keep the prisoner quiet, whereupon Guitau sat down, saying he would do whatever the court wished him to, and was comparatively quiet.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Boerox. — The Secretary of the Navy, Hunt was this evening entertained by the Merchants' Club, and referring to the administration of President Arthur he said: "Those who had judged unkindly of the president did injustice to his merits."

He brought to the discharge of his functions no ordinary experience. He is in every respect a worthy follower of the lamented Garfield. Let no man do him cruel injustice in supposing he is a mere politician. He will not be president of one party or of a state, but president of a nation."

When the secretary had ended the company arose and gave three enthusiastic cheers for president Arthur and three more for Secretary Hunt.

Hon. Lyon Playfair, deputy speaker of the house of commons, was also present and on rising to respond was greeted with three cheers for Queen Victoria. He expressed the regret of the English people that parliament was not in session when the death of Garfield occurred, so as to give formal expressions of sympathy.

Washington. — Hon. Lionel Sackville West, new British minister has called upon President Arthur and formally presented his credentials. He was introduced to the President by Blaine and the customary congratulatory addresses were made.

Window's Parting. Judge Folger to-day assumed the duties of Secretary of the Treasury. Ex-Secretary Window turned over to his successor certain keys which are always kept by the Secretary, and bade him good-bye.

New York, Nov. 13. — Macy Francis McVicker, wife of Edwin Booth, died at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of her parents, No. 13 West Fifty-third street. Remains will be taken to Chicago for interment. Arrangements for funeral will be completed Monday.

Kansas City, Nov. 12. — Santa Fe trains were delayed by a snow storm for nearly thirty-six hours. It has been snowing hard in Western Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico. From Lakin west to Pueblo there is from six to eight inches of snow while from La Junta west there are from eighteen to twenty inches.

Cuts are full and a strong wind is drifting it badly. This is the heaviest snowstorm in New Mexico and Colorado that the Santa Fe road ever encountered.

London, Nov. 14. — O'Leary, member of the Fenian brigade, has written a letter from Paris declaring that while he maintains his principles an is resolved to combat England he deprecates the maligning of Englishmen. Gladstone, he says, has given Ireland a lance act such as nobody a few years ago could have hoped for, and Foster is very much better than most of the Irish secretaries.

London. — A remarkable discovery in connection with the operations of the Fenian organizations has been made in Bradford. An accident led to the seizure of a box containing fifty revolvers with documents and other clues, including, it is said, a list of local members and Fenian organizers throughout the country. The box containing arms was found in the cellar of an Irishman named John Tobin in Manningham, a suburb of Bradford.

A mysterious box sent from America to Ralph Creyke, member of parliament, was opened without precautions at Woolwich arsenal to-day under the idea that it was an infernal machine, but it was found to contain samples of guano.

Washington. — There was no ill-will manifested toward Guitau by the audience in court this morning except applause, which was promptly checked, when those being examined expressed a decided conviction that Guitau ought to either hang or burn. Some disturbance was caused by over-crowding the platform and the efforts of the audience to get in comfortable places.

Twelve jurors have been sworn in to try Guitau, and during the examination of witnesses the following statement was prepared by Guitau, copied by his brother and given to the press: To the legal profession of America: I am on trial for my life. I formerly practiced law in New York and Chicago and I propose to take an active part in my defence, as I know more about my inspirations and views in the case than any other one.

My brother-in-law, George Scoville, is my only counsel, and I hereby appeal to the legal profession of America for aid. I expect to have money shortly, so I can pay them. I shall get it partly from the settlement of an old matter in New York and partly from the sale of my book, and partly from public contributions to my defence. My defence was published in the New York Herald on October 6th, and in my speech published November 16th. Any well known lawyer of criminal capacity desiring to assist in my defence will please telegraph without delay to George Scoville, Washington. If for any reason an application is returned, the name will be withheld from the public. (Signed) CHARLES GUITAU. In court, Washington, D. C., Nov. 16, 1881.

There is but one step between a mortgage and a sheriff's execution: P. B. J. has son of the Union has the former; but he asserts an unmitigated lie when he states that a sheriff's execution has ever been issued on the STATESMAN office. After trying in vain for years to injure the reputation of the STATESMAN, he is now endeavoring to injure its credit. It is one consolation to the public that the scrub is one of those notorious liars who cannot be believed even when they speak the truth.

The Lynchburg Virginian describes an ingenious trap devised by a Virginia farmer to capture sheep-stealing dogs. Having suffered severely from the depredation of dogs upon his sheep-fold, he built around a number of sheep that had killed an inclosure of rails twelve feet high and ten feet square at the ground, the sides of the trap sloping inward until an opening was left about five feet square. Any dog could easily climb such a sloping fence and enter the pen, but not even a greyhound could jump out of it. In three nights the farmer captured forty-six dogs, including fifteen or twenty that had never been seen before in that neighborhood. This after there had been a public slaughter of all dogs suspected of sheep-killing, save one, whose master could not be convinced of his guilt. The trap was built for his special benefit, and it caught him the first night.

Newark cashier: "I am guilty, and willing to go to the penitentiary. The depositors can go to the poor house."

Astronomical Predictions and Phenomena.

The great astronomical events of 1881 have all gone by without any of those direful calamities which some false prophets predicted. Although the year is not yet out, Mother Shipton's prophecy, This world to an end shall come.

In the year eighteen hundred and eighty-one, Promises to go by the board with the rest. Professor Piazzi Smyth, astronomer royal for Scotland, and Dr. Weiss, of New York, have both published volumes in relation to the Great Pyramid as an astronomical observatory and a prophetic monument, the culmination of all of which was to happen this year.

But no sign has come from the land of Egypt to show that the great astronomical cyclone outlined by Great Pyramidists has been completed, or that anything particular has happened the universe through the arrival of the star Draconis in a line with the Great Gallery of the Great Pyramid. Perhaps that great astronomical event has not yet occurred. Possibly the computations of all Great Pyramidists, in this respect are erroneous.

The only event of interest which has occurred in Egypt during the year has been the discovery of the tomb of the Pharaohs, who lived and reigned during the time of Joseph and Moses, and of the mummy of that daughter of Pharaoh who discovered Moses among the reeds on the banks of the Nile.

The year has what some astronomers have been pleased to call two planetary crises. One occurred during the month of June. At that time the majority of the planets in the solar system swung in line on their orbit on one side of the sun, with the earth and its satellite, alone on the other. The other crisis occurred on the 7th of the current month, when another planetary conjunction happened, in which the earth was situated in the middle of a line of planets. On that day Mercury crossed the solar disc. But the transit of the planet produced no unusual terrestrial or solar phenomenon.

Now that the solar system has passed through these planetary crises without breaking up, it will, perhaps, be permitted to pursue its destiny in peace.

The most interesting astronomical phenomena of the year has been the appearance of comets. Two great comets in close proximity to us, have appeared in the northern heavens. Not for many years have their equal in brilliancy illuminated the celestial arc. Since their disappearance, other comets, visible only in the tel scope, have been reported. A group of eleven comets, supposed to be the fragments of a thirty-year visitor, is reported within telescopic range at present. The cluster forms a system of itself, the outside bodies revolving around the two central ones, while they, in turn, revolve around each other.

Star disturbances are reported as usual. It is nothing strange for great convulsions to occur on the solar surface. It seems to be a part of the very existence of that orb to be in constant combustion. The year has been prolific in sun spots, and there has been a good opportunity for the study of these peculiar phenomena. Sun spots are supposed to have some influence on the atmosphere of the earth, producing hurricanes, tornadoes and earthquakes. But such a hypothesis is open to question. Three terrestrial atmospheric phenomena occur when there is an almost total absence of sun spots, as well as when the sun's disc is covered with them. It is true that an unusual number of spots have been seen of late in the face of the sun, and that great storms, floods and hurricanes have prevailed in some parts of the United States and on the shores of England and France. But a period of extraordinary tranquility has at the same time prevailed on the Pacific Ocean and these western shores of the continent.

Possibly the most sensational of all the astronomical predictions of the year is yet to be unfolded. This is the appearance of the star which the Wise Men saw in the East at the time of the birth of Christ, known as the Star of Bethlehem. A short time ago the STATESMAN published a diagram of that part of the constellation Cassiopea, in which the star is expected to appear. Its cycle covers a period of over three hundred years. It is reported to be due this year.

We offer inducements in Dress Goods, Silks and Frenching Goods which the public has never been equalled in this Territory. Being the only exclusive dry goods house in this Territory, it stands to reason that our prices should be lower than any other house, and THEY ARE LOWER.

Heavy All Wool Black Cashmere, (40 inches wide) 50 cents per yard. Extra Heavy All Wool Serge (48 inches wide) 75 cents per yard. Heavy Black Gros Grain Silk, 90 cents per yard. Silk Finish Velvet, 50 cents per yard. Full Line Frenching Silks, all shades, 60 cents per yard. Low Priced Dress Goods, same price as in San Francisco.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES

In our Hosiery and Underwear Departments we offer goods at prices which have never before been entirely unknown in this upper country. Buying and selling freely for Cash, our system enables us to sell goods as low as any house in San Francisco. Our theory of business is this: It does us as much actual benefit to sell goods cheap as it does the purchaser to buy cheap, because we consider that an advantage more potent than any language can express.

Ladies Heavy Merino Under Shirts, 50 cents each. Ladies Heavy Ribbed Hosiery, Finished Remus, 25 cents per pair. A vast Assortment Ladies and Childrens Wool Hosiery. Cloaks and Ulsters at San Francisco prices.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES!

In our Goods Furnishing Goods Department we are prepared to offer inducements which cannot possibly be surpassed by any house in San Francisco. There is no store by a man that has ever examined these goods that has not openly acknowledged that our prices are at least 40 per cent less than other stores in Walla Walla.

The best assortment of Men's Goods in Walla Walla. Overalls, Jumpers and Duck Clothing, at San Francisco prices. Men's Wool Underwear in every possible style. Men's and Boy's Hats, 40 per cent less than Walla Walla prices.

ONE PRICE -- CASH ONLY.

WHAT WE MEAN BY THESE METHODS.

Do you ever consider when entering an establishment to purchase goods whether it is wiser to trust to your own judgment or the integrity of the store. Can you trust your own judgment always? Remember, the prices and value of goods are frequently changing. What is worth $100 to-day may be only worth 75 cents a week. Can you always keep track of these changes? Does it not occur to you that you must place more or less confidence in the house you purchase your goods from? The consideration for you is this: What store can you have confidence in? It is not in the store at all it is IN THE SYSTEM that the store does business by, that is the safeguard for the purchaser. Do you wish to purchase in a house where you pay cash in advance, and another person comes along and pays a less price? Do you wish to pay cash in a store doing a large credit business? Does it not occur to you that the storekeepers expect you to reimburse him for his losses in bad book debts. Our system is direct and positive duty to invest your money to the best advantage. One price. You pay one price, every other person does the same, no more or no less. Therefore a man's consideration could induce us to alter it. We sell goods exclusively for cash, and we mark all goods in plain figures. Do you think these are safeguards for you or not. If our prices were not lower than any other store could we dare mark them in plain figures. Armed with those principles we are enabled to offer advantages with any cash house in San Francisco. But we must have the money or the goods. Book debts will not pay manufacturers in New York and from our views of business the very smallest marginal profit is better to-day than the uncertainty of a large profit in a year hence.

The Montana papers are trying to out Herod each other on the weight of their dressed steers. A Butte paper chronicled one weighing 1200 pounds, and the Healdsburg one weighed with one tipping the scales at 1300; the Missoulian followed with one at 1306 pounds and the Missoulian asked in the pot with two at 1475 and 1396 respectively. Walls Walla is not going to challenge these figures on steers but we have calves that very often reach the highest figures they give.

Word was received in this city recently that Geo. W. Fogg, had fell a victim in Gloucester, Mass., to that dread disease consumption. George was a resident of Walls Walla for some time, and made many friends. He left last February for his "old home back East" to recruit his health, but consumption attacked him, and he gave up. Like all other young men, George had his faults; but he had a big heart, that never failed to respond to the unfortunate. He died Feb. 17th, 1881.

TIME UP!

The Watch Theft Beginning to Show Up.

The Time Piece Found and the Thief in a Close Corner.

Our readers will remember that in June last the house of Mrs. P. R. Johnson of this city was burglarized, and among other things a valuable watch was stolen.

The burglar was committed so slick that no clue to the perpetrators could be found, and it was concluded that the watch or thief would never be seen.

Marshal Justice, however, began looking the thing up and has kept constantly on the trail of the man he supposed to be the thief.

His efforts were partially rewarded Wednesday by discovering the thief in a second hand store in this city.

The proprietor at once gave the marshal all the information he could in regard to the matter, which was to the effect that the watch was left in pawn with him about three weeks ago by Miss Georgia Coy, a resident of Alder street; but from whom she got it he could not give any information.

Marshal Justice was found by a STEAMER reporter to-day, but he did not seem to be willing to talk much about the matter. However, enough was elicited to ascertain that suspicion points strongly to a fellow by the name of Wilkins who is now in the city jail, charged with numerous offenses.

It will be remembered, is the fellow who has been arrested for robbing Mrs. Chas. Rose, and also Eva Burton. He is a hard citizen and has a bad record. Miss Georgia will doubtless be interviewed by the authorities at once, and will be compelled to tell where she got the time piece.

GRAIN LOOKS WELL THERE. Grain looks well and there is a prospect of a good crop next year. Phillip Ritz has 120 acres of wheat in that is growing finely.

Mr. J. S. Bennett has wheat and rye that is doing well. Experiments last year proved beyond a doubt that the soil here would produce good crops of cereals and vegetables if the squirrels are not allowed to take them.

A great many acres of timber seeds have been planted in this vicinity this fall. Locust, box elder and ash are the principal kinds planted.

Mr. Edwards is going to build a house here this fall. Mr. Ritz will also build an addition to his house on his ranch. He also contemplates fencing about 4000 acres next spring. Mr. Sinclair has bought a house and moved it to Ritzville. Workmen are busy at work on the depot building finishing it off up stairs for bedrooms.

Trains stop at Ritzville for dinner. There are from twenty to eighty passengers who take dinner here every day. The restaurant is run by Mr. J. B. Whittlesey, the agent at this place. He employs none but white cooks and gives as good meals as any one can get at any place.

THE STATESMAN continues to be the favorite paper with ex-residents of Walls Walla who have located here. We have no postmaster here so we have to depend on the conductors to bring our mail from Ainsworth; a thing that they do very obligingly. No more at present. RESIDENT.

CELESTIAL VISITOR.

There is a star which is sometimes called the Star of Bethlehem, and which, according to some astronomical calculations, is now due, and may at any time blaze forth in all its brilliancy and celestial glory.

This star was last seen in 1572. It shone out suddenly where no star was visible before, and was so bright that it could be seen at noon. It gradually faded, assuming various hues as it did so, until it disappeared. This wonderful star is believed to have been seen in the years 1264 and 942. Its apparent period of extended backward, indicates an appearance of this star about the time of the birth of Christ; hence its name, Star of Bethlehem. If you wish to know where to watch for it, look some forty degrees to the southwest of Jupiter, and you will see a group of stars arranged thus:

These are in the constellation Cassiopeia, and the letter "O" shows where the great star is expected to appear.

NEWSPAPER MORALITY.

Very serious charges are brought by the Evening Star, of Boston, against the financial writer of the Daily Advertiser of that town. It is alleged that he has taken money, stocks and stock privileges in return for notices and puffs embodied in his department of the paper.

Whether these charges be true or false we have no means of knowing. If they are false, the accused person has the best ground for an action for libel; if they are true, the accused person is a scoundrel, betraying his employer and deceiving the public.

There is only one rule in such matters. Nothing that is paid for should appear in a newspaper except with marks clearly showing that it is an advertisement. No journals whose opinions are worth regard will allow anything to be printed in its leading columns or in its news columns on any other terms. The advertising space is for sale, and can always be bought by those who wish to buy it, at a fixed price regulated beforehand. The editorial space and the news space are not for sale, and are not to be bought at any price whatever. - N. F. Sun.

PART II. Alaska views with the Spectator "Silh-netter's Good Night."

SKOW.—The rain of Wednesday toward night turned into snow which continued to fall until an early hour when about four inches covered the ground. This is very unusual for this period of the year, but then it is an unusual year anyhow.

MARRIED.—In this city, Nov. 17th, by the Rev. L. H. Wells, Miss Mary Reed to Lieut. Frank A. [?].

[The happy couple have our best wishes. May peace and love and joy be theirs.]

DOOLEY BRACKEN.—In Portland on the evening of November 13th, Mr. John Dooley, of Dooley & Kikman, and Miss Frankie Bracken, of Walla Walla, were united in matrimony.

John kept very quiet on this new departure, but all the same we wish him and his young bride all the blessings earth can give.

A TABLE.

Showing the Amount of Rainfall in Walls Walla from January 1st, 1873, to November 14th, 1881.

Table with columns for Year (1873-1881) and Inches of Rainfall. Total: 13.64, 11.84, 15.91, 17.32, 20.55, 13.42, 18.03, 17.71, 19.42.

UP COUNTRY ITEMS.

(From the Spokane Chronicle.) Since the inauguration of the university movement, a large number of building lots have been purchased on the north side of the river.

There are 1,758 children of school age in this county—1,698 enumerated; and not enumerated 63; children in the county 2,338. Last year the number of children of school age was about one-half of the number given above.

It can be fairly shown that more actual money, profit and family comfort can be had, and has been made this year out of a forty acre farm in Eastern Washington than out of an ordinary 200 acre rented farm in the state of Indiana, Kansas, Illinois or Ohio.

Certainly labor is very scarce here and in the adjoining country. Those who have wood to this place tell us that it is almost impossible to find choppers or laborers of any kind. To find a man to do common labor about a store or house here in town is simply not possible.

John Squier brings us a good report of the business in the Pend d'Oreille country. He says there are evidences on all sides of the most rapid pushing of work by the railway company, and it is likely to continue throughout the winter. John brought in a wagon load of money and orders out of that country.

Father Caldo returned from Colville on Thursday last, where he met strong encouragement in behalf of his educational institution. In this locality there is an unusual enthusiasm regarding this enterprise, and that it will be carried out and being to Spokane Falls greater and better results than almost anything yet inaugurated, there can be no doubt.

After some canvass among newspaper men, it has been decided to attempt the organization of a Press Association, which shall act distinctly of Eastern Washington. All newspaper editors and writers who have the movement, and will join it, are requested to notify the editor of this paper by letter.

Out of the Oregonian—Palmer (dispute) comes the knowledge that the "big" money journal is publishing patent outside. It may be pleasant for others of country papers, patronizing patent outside, to know they are dubbed "scraps," by the man to whom they are paying money from week to week.

Having now a memorial, asking Congress to unite the Pan Handle of Idaho with Eastern Washington, we hope Delegate Bonds will not only urge this, but the matter of our statehood. Naturally, geographically, and according to the wish of the majority of the people in Kootenai county, it belongs to Eastern Washington. The people of Kootenai county Idaho, whenever a local matter, are earnestly in favor of the annexation.

The soldiers at Fort Colville not only raised about 2000 bushels of the largest and finest eating potatoes so far found in this section of country, but an immense amount of cabbage. Some of the Colville cabbage shown by R. W. Forrest last week was as large as a half bushel message, and as fine in quality as any one could wish. With a soil that produces potatoes, cabbage, turnips, melons, wheat, oats and barley, which would take the premium at any state fair in the east, the farmer in that section has all that can be desired in that direction, and can fairly commend his locality to the immigrant.

"Hare Splitting."

BOISE CITY, I. T., Nov. 8, 1881. DEAR TEX.—If you shoot two old rabbits for fun do you "bring down" those grey hares with sorrow to the grave? Yours truly, T. B. MERRY.

WALLA WALLA, NOV. 12. DEAR TOM.—I think not; but sometimes I fancied that if one should cut two rabbits down the back line to the grave—rabbits are very good when nicely broiled—one might be said to be splitting hares. Yours sincerely, Old Tex.

HERE AND THERE.—A letter from the state of Pennsylvania gives the following list of wages there: "Railroad hands are amazing wealth at $1.10 per day. Eastern school teachers try to be superlative wise and happy on from $20 to $50 per month. Butcher ranks at 30 cents per pound. Plastering sticks at 12 to 15 cents per bushel. Apples hang at 40 cents per bushel. Country hotels rejoice in $2.50 per week for boarding."

Out here railroad hands receive $25 per die; school teachers are very unhappy at only receiving $60 per month; butter is 40 cents per pound; apples are sold by the ton at 1/2 of a cent per pound, and everything else generally is cheaper in this Territory except wages, which at present are higher here than anywhere else in the United States.

W. S. Kinney, a Salem native of repute, has gone to Dayton, W. T., where he will reside permanently. In connection with Messrs. Sargeant and Morris, of that place he will engage in the manufacture of flour, and it is the intention to have one of the best mills in that section fitted up with all the latest improvements.

The assortment of woolen knit goods for ladies and children's wear now being shown by Dotsey & Marlow is the most extensive ever witnessed in Walls Walla. For several weeks like the present these goods are peculiarly appropriate.

An effort should be made to keep the young hoodlums off the streets at a late hour at night. We notice a great many of these youngsters running around as late as midnight.

By Mutual Accord. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use, by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effective purgative. They are especially adapted to the needs of the delicate, the aged, and the infirm. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild but cathartic effect is required.

Two of our learned (7) doctors who undertook to injure the STATESMAN, are mentioned in the Huletman of this morning as not having been very successful in a little operation on a child who merely crushed its finger. In short the child died. They are also the two who imitated the Danish family had snail-pot when they had not. Have they diplomas?

The Graphic of Tuesday week last contains a full page series of illustrations of the human junkies who "didn't know it was loaded." The anglic grin on the face of the idiot who points the gun at his lady love on his second visit is perfectly killing. The picture in an exhibition at this office, and we will guarantee that after seeing it once no one will ever point a gun again unless indeed he intends to use it.

"Will you please insert this obituary notice" asked an old gentleman of a Birmingham editor, "I make bold to ask it because the deceased had a great many friends about here who'd be glad to hear of his death."

NEWS FROM DAYTON.—In order to relieve the anxiety of the numerous citizens of this city who have friends and are interested in Dayton, the STATESMAN has made arrangements to receive daily telegraphic dispatches from that place of everything of an interesting or important nature whether pertaining to the infection or otherwise. Expense in no object when news is concerned.
