VOL. IV.

NORTH YAKIMA, WASHINGTON, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1892.

NO. 3.

YAKIMA COUNTY BOOMS!

Not as a Speculative Proposition, but as a Solid and Legitimate Agricultural growth. And why? Because Yakima County has

◆ The Soil & Climate, Abundance of Water for Irrigation, Geographical Position, Cash Markets for Produce in All Directions. ◆

The Public is Beginning to Find Out

That Yakima County has some other Resources than Coyotes and Real Estate Agents.

That it is the Home of the Peach, Prune, Plum, Pear, Grape and Apple.

That we grow Six Tons of Alfalfa to the Acre during the Season.

That the choicest Vegetables grown in Washington are raised here.

That it is the Hop-growing section of the State, producing 2000 Pounds to the Acre.

That every Citizen of Yakima County who Rustles and Saves, is Prosperous.

That a Crop is never lost here by Pests.

That Cyclones, Tornados and violent Storms are unknown.

That great Irrigation Companies are spending millions of dollars reclaiming our Arid Lands.

That 40 Acres of our Volcanic Ash Soil, well handled, will net more money each year than 160 Acres in the Middle West.

That YAKIMA COUNTY IS TO-DAY THE BANNER AGRICULTURAL COUNTY OF THE STATE!

Potatoes are selling in Yakima at $10 per ton delivered on the cars. H. A. Griffin shipped a carload and a half at these figures Saturday.

At a depth of about 200 feet the drill in the Miller well became caught and was lost. The casing will have to be removed before the missing tool can be fished out.

As it has been discovered that a good quality of paper can be manufactured out of sage-brush, it would appear that Yakima would be an excellent location for some one to engage in this industry.

Some scallawag stole three bee hives from residents of the northwestern part of the city last week and dumped them on the railroad track in order to secure the honey. Sheriff Simmons and Wm. Cornett each lost a hive in this way.

J. D. Riley, the gentleman who has purchased the Yakima sewer bonds, returned to Seattle Friday night. He is greatly taken with this section, and found it much further advanced than he had expected, one thing especially impressing him, and that was the character of the farm residences and barns, which he said were of a better class than those of any sage-brush country he had ever visited. In speaking about the city, its beauty of location, and the excellent way in which it was laid out, Mr. Riley said that there was one thing he would suggest which would be a great improvement, and that was to replace the balm trees with elm. The latter is not only a grand and handsome tree, but it is the perfection of shade trees, and is of rapid and thrifty growth when irrigated.

"With its usual accuracy," the Republic printed as its only piece of news last week a scare rumor to the effect that there is a case of leprosy in the Chinese quarter. Marshal Cook says there is no truth whatever in the report; that he made a thorough search through Chinatown, and that two of the leading Chinamen told him that there was not, nor had there been, any leprosy there, and that they were as afraid of the disease as were the whites, and would be the first to make complaint and endeavor to get rid of the leper.

John A. Stone is establishing his camp, building a house, and as soon as it is certain that the weather is settled he will put on a big force of men to complete the Selah Valley ditch. Mr. Stone has also started a camp at Easton for the purpose of getting out peels for his 100 acre hop field on the Selah, for which he has the land broken and will at once put under a thorough state of cultivation. In a year from now the Selah will be so transformed by improvement that old settlers will have difficulty in recognizing it.

A call has been issued for a meeting of all those interested in irrigation to meet at North Yakima on Thursday, the 10th day of March, for the purpose of organizing a permanent state irrigation association. The county commissioners of each county have been called upon to appoint five delegates to the convention and each irrigation district two delegates.

J. M. Baxter returned from his big ranch at the mouth of the river Saturday. He says that the rival irrigation companies at the lower end of the county are quarreling and both trying to build a ditch on the same line, but that out of it some good has come, for he managed to sell them $2,000 worth of hay and a lot of beef.

Mr. Larson arrived here on Tuesday to take charge of the lumber yard which the Buckley Lumber company recently bought from C. W. Henry & Co.

Edward Sexton, bookkeeper of Reed & Co., of Tacoma, is in the city endeavoring to recuperate his health, which has been very poor for some time past.

The county commissioners of Douglas county have raised the liquor license from $300 to $500. Steps in the same direction have been taken by the city council of Waterville.

S. J. Lowe, M. G. Wills and Sam Vinson were out on another hunting trip this week. They were most successful, at one time bringing down six "spots" within half an hour.

This is the fourth year of THE HERALD'S existence, and its subscription list is increasing faster now than at any time since it was started. The people recognize that if the news is wanted and in a crisp form it can be found in THE HERALD.

Harry Moran has severed his connection with M. G. Wills and has engaged to go out to White Bluffs to look after Geordy Williams' cattle. Mr. Williams was at one time in partnership with Mr. Moran's father in the stock business.

Work has again commenced on the Wood well. It was down 280 feet and there was 110 feet of water in it when the drilling was stopped. It is thought by clearing the well of quick-sand, casing, and going down a short distance further, flowing water will be secured. The Gano drill will be used for this purpose.

The county assessors, in convention at Olympia last week, fixed the assessable valuation of live stock in eastern Washington at the following figures: Horses—one year old, $15; two years old, $25; three years old, $35; work horses, $55; Cows—one year old, $5; two years old, $10; three years old and up, $15; cows, $20. Sheep—$2. Hogs—per cwt., $4.

The stage lines between Ellensburg and Waterville, and Cootee City and Condonally, are tied up, owing to attachments due to the transfer of the Northwestern Mail & Transportation company's property, of which C. C. McCoy is manager, to J. M. Hill, of Walla Walla. The transfer is alleged to have been made for the purpose of defrauding creditors.

George M. Van Doren, of Seattle, who has recently become largely interested in the Yakima country, shows he means business and intends improving his holdings, for he advertises in this week's HERALD for bids for clearing, grubbing and plowing 100 acres in section 17, township 10, range 22. More live men of the same character as Mr. Van Doren is what this country needs above anything else to make it take the position to which it is entitled and to which it will surely rise.

There is danger in sending abroad for fruit trees of the introduction of the woolly aphis. Fruit Inspector James has recently found this pest in several lots of trees shipped to Walla Walla. By patronizing such reliable dealers as Simpson Bros. the money is not only kept at home, but the purchaser can depend upon getting what he orders without the addition of the aphis or the scale. Simpson Bros. have a standing advertisement in THE HERALD which can be consulted at any time.

Puyallup Commerce: Mayor Knox and Cashier Dushinberre are to-day feasting on two jack rabbits sent from over the range by John Stone. They are fine specimens of their race, and their combined girth from tip to tip is nine feet. These two jax were accidentally shot by the Gatling guns of the Yakima militia while out on the range practicing to go to Chilli. The jack makes a savory stew when you another him with onions and freeze all the rabbit out of his feathers.

On Saturday last Editor Schnebley, of the Ellensburg Localer, entered his seventy-fifth year of existence and forty-seventh year of journalism. He began his newspaper career in Pennsylvania, and in 1850 took charge of the Oregon Spectator, the only paper then published in the northwest. At that time the Spectator's exchanges came from the horn in sailing vessels, arriving twice a year, and the editor was never accused of plagiarism.

The marriage of Albert J. Lots, of Yelm, Thurston county, to Miss Alice Longmire, was performed on Friday, Feb. 5th, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. J. T. Eschelman. Mr. and Mrs. Lots left that evening for Yelm, followed by the congratulations and good wishes of many friends.

The Republic keeps track of Fort Simcoe news by grape-vine telegraph, via THE HERALD. It is good news, the only trouble with it being that it is a week or more old when it reaches the Republic's columns. Perhaps that paper believes that, like cheese and wine, it improves with age.

The Other Senator.
Senator Allen is demonstrating to the people of Washington that his motto is "work" and that he is not devoting his time to "club receptions" and fashionable dinners, which weakness seems to be characteristic of the other Washington senator.—Exchange.

A Large Salary.
James W. Scott, publisher of the Chicago Herald and the Chicago Evening Post, recently refused the largest salary ever offered any man in any profession or line of business in this country. Joseph Pulitzer, of the New York World, offered Mr. Scott a salary of $100,000 a year for a term of five years and other inducements. If he would give his entire time and attention to the management of the World. In declining it Mr. Scott, deemed a yearly salary double that paid the president of the United States.

Chill's Contempt for Us.
To show the contempt Chill entertained for the United States before it backed out it is only necessary to reproduce the following taken from El Combate, the most important of the Chill newspapers:

LAST FALL the countenances of the hay farmers had a very curious tinge. The county was heavily stocked, the demand light and the prices low.

MAYOR JOHN SHOUDY'S WATERLOO.

The Cur of Ellensburg Dues Up After Several Pot Roasts--The End of Our Sister City's Municipal Middle.

The Ellensburg council deadlock is broken at last, and one-half of the people of that town are mourning in sackcloth and ashes, while the other half are making no attempt at keeping down their feelings of exuberant satisfaction.

The fight started some time ago, when Dr. I. N. Power and Professor Morgan were placed in nomination for mayor, and two council tickets were presented for the suffrage of the people.

Several official meetings were held and a deadlock resulted, and several meetings were held that were decidedly unofficial, at which desperate schemes were broached in order to give one side a voting majority.

Saturday night the council met. Mayor Shoudy marched in and, removing the habiliments of outer door, carefully placed a silk skull cap on his head so as to keep any chance breath of air from a pronounced bald spot that he is cultivating.

The council was started for a few minutes when the full realization burst upon its members that the founder of the city, the richest man of them all, and one of the framers of the state's constitution, was snuffed.

THE GOVERNOR'S PARDON POORLY PLACED.

A Young Man Who Once Ebbled a Northern Pacific Train Arrested Under Suspicious Circumstances.

John W. Milburn is in jail. This fact in itself isn't of much import, but it is interesting on account of circumstances connected with it, and illustrates how the pardoning power invested in the governor is sometimes applied in the case of an undeserving subject.

In July, 1890, Wm. E. Montgomery and John W. Milburn "held up" Conductor Needles and his brakeman on a freight train a few miles below the city and robbed them of their combined capital of $120. Montgomery was sentenced to five years and Milburn to one year imprisonment in the penitentiary. The sentence in Milburn's case had run but half its course when he was pardoned out on a petition signed by the trainmen, Sheriff Simmons and others.

Milburn, who is a strong, stocky young man, not yet in his majority, returned to Yakima and soon entered into the service of Ex-Marshall McMurry as a spotter to detect those engaged in selling liquor to Indians. In this he was successful and a number of arrests were due to his watchfulness. At the end of his picking time his occupation was gone, and since then his means of living have been very questionable. On Monday he was arrested by Marshal Cook as a suspicious character, and on search of his person being made a huge revolver, a skeleton key and a couple of railway alarm torpedoes used for stopping trains were found. He was tried before Justice Gardner and fined $20 and costs for carrying concealed weapons and in default of payment committed to jail. It may have no bearing on this case and it may have much that several parties were arrested in Ellensburg during the past week who also carried railway torpedoes.

YAKIMA WILL WELCOME THEM.

The World's Fair Commissioners and the Stock Breeders of the State Will be Well Entertained.

The announcement of the meeting of the World's Fair commission and the convention of the stock breeders of Washington, to be held in this city on Tuesday of next week, has been well circulated throughout the state, and there is every reason to believe that the attendance will be large. The plans for their entertainment are being fully considered, and while some of them will necessarily have to remain open until the eve of the gathering, so that the committee can be more fully advised as to the hours of meetings and the number of visitors, assurance is given that nothing will be overlooked which will contribute to make the time of our guests pass pleasantly and profitably.

The committee having the arrangements in hand consists of Mayor Weed, Councilmen Cox, Needham and Reed, L. S. Howlett, H. B. Scudder, P. J. Flint and J. M. Baxter. A part of the committee is to look after hotel accommodations, another part to arrange for a hall, and all to attend to the reception of guests. Other names were canvassed for this committee, but it was decided to make, it small and call upon the citizens in general to assist in the entertainment. Col. L. S. Howlett has been requested to deliver a short address from a local standpoint, and the visitors will be shown the country in carriages. A banquet has been discussed and will probably be provided, but the details have been left to a later date until Dr. Blacklock, president of the Fair commission, can be communicated with.

YAKIMA AGENCY, Feb. 10, 1892. Rev. Dr. Booth, presiding elder of the M. E. church for this district, held communion service at the Indian church Sunday and, in conjunction with the Rev. Mr. Helm, held evening service at the agency school, remaining until Monday, the guest of Wm. Embree.

The statement in last week's Republic concerning remarks purported to be made by Inspector Miller concerning Agent Lynch was utterly unfounded. Evidently in copying from THE HERALD's interview with Agent Lynch of the previous week the latter's words were put into the inspector's mouth. Col. Miller did inspect the dam of the N. P., Yakima & K. Irrigation Co., and was sent here for that purpose, and upon his report the government will take action; but he did not at any time presume to criticize Agent Lynch, who, as he stated to your representative, is merely carrying out the government's demands and looks only to the interests of all concerned. Agent Lynch is too broad-minded a man to be carried away by minor matters or race prejudices.

Judge Graves has no mercy on evil-doers when he can see no extenuating circumstances and when Caulfield came up for sentence on Monday he promptly gave him five years at hard labor in the penitentiary.

Judge Graves fined F. X. Nagler $5 and costs for allowing minors to play cards in his cigar store. The light fine was due to Mr. Nagler being a man of family, who bore a good reputation in the community; to his having placards in his place forbidding minors playing cards; that the card playing was not for money; that Haines had told him that he was of age, and that Leach had said that his parents did not object to that species of amusement.

The value of irrigation bonds as a safe and lucrative investment is beginning to be understood and inquiries are coming to be made about them. The Herald was in receipt of a letter this week from a capitalist of Portland, Maine, inquiring after irrigation district bonds, and Mr. R. Strobach has a letter from Walter A. Calhoun, a civil engineer of Green Bay, Wis., asking about the Cowychee & Wide Hollow Irrigation project, with a view to bidding on the construction work and taking the bonds of the district in payment. Mr. Calhoun says he wants assurance of the legality of the bonds, which the district proposes to give by a test trial, and continues: "I have the connections to handle the entire matter, and when the time arrives am prepared to show that we are in every way liable for all our obligations, having built and constructed over $1,000,000 worth of hydroelectric and sanitary work during the past fifteen months."

AN INDIAN ADULTERER KILLED.

Franklin P. Olney Shoots and Kills Frank Abraham, on the Yakima Reservation, While Endeavoring to Arrest Him.

THE HERALD's special correspondent at Fort Simcoe sends the following account of a tragedy which occurred there on Monday afternoon. Frank Abraham, a young Indian, had been found guilty of adultery by the Indian court and the sentence was that he pay a fine of $20. This aroused the hot blood of the young buck and drawing a huge knife in court he cursed both judge and sheriff, and swore that he would neither pay the fine nor be arrested. Brandishing his knife in air, he made his way from the court room, mounted his cayuse and in company of another Indian, charged with like crime, took flight toward the hills.

The court ordered the reservation Sheriff, Franklin P. Olney, to follow and arrest Abraham. Olney came up with the fugitive about half a mile from the court house, as he was in the act of dismounting at a neighbor's house, and ordered him to surrender. At this Abraham picked up a club and grasping the reins of the sheriff's horse was about to brain that officer when the latter drew his revolver and fired. The ball took effect in Abraham's left breast just above the nipple, and passed diagonally through his body, lodging near the eighth rib on the right side.

The sheriff then returned to Fort Simcoe and gave himself up to Agent Lynch who sent the agency physician to the wounded man, but he was not in time to be of any service, the Indian living only three-quarters of an hour after being shot.

The friends of Abraham are in a state of riot, and threaten to annihilate both court and sheriff. The latter is in hiding fearing to show himself. Agent Lynch has closed the court, its sessions being generally only a series of unseemly wranglings. Hereafter when the court meets it will be at the agency and under the supervision of the agent, who will thus be able to see that just decisions are rendered and be saved the work of reviewing and reversing nine out of every ten findings.

IRRIGATING DESERT LANDS BY PUMPS.

A Novel and Successful Way of Reclaiming Sections of the Arid Belt Where Bitching Would be Expensive.

Some years ago, J. M. Baxter filed on a section of very valuable land at the mouth of the Yakima river, under the desert land act. He made strenuous efforts to water the land by means of irrigating ditches, but in every instance failed. Finally he consulted with G. M. McKinney, who represents the Nye irrigating pump, and was prevailed upon to put in a No. 6 Nye pump which had proved a success in other localities. The scheme worked to a charm, and Mr. Baxter, at a minimum cost, was enabled to secure all the water he required. On the 30th of January he went before the officers of the Walla Walla land district and made proof, and Register Ross stated it was the most complete and best desert land proof ever offered in that office.

A YOUTHFUL HORSE THIEF.

He Walks Into Yakima and Concludes to Ride Out, but Gets Into Trouble.

Between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock Monday morning some one entered the stable of P. J. Flint and took his horse, saddle and bridle. Mr. Flint did not enjoy the coolness of the proceeding and notified Deputy Sheriff Lincoln Dille of his loss. That official immediately started in on the case and soon learned that the horse had passed through the old town about noon with a boy or young man in the saddle. Taking the next train Mr. Flint and Mr. Dille started down the road and early the next morning the latter caught the culprit at Toppenish and brought him to this city.

He proved to be Julius Loeber, and claimed that he would not be fifteen years of age until next month. He not only admitted stealing the horse, but said that he had taken a robe from a buggy standing in front of the Hotel Yakima Sunday night and a blanket from John Bartholet's barn, both of which articles were in his possession when he was arrested. Loeber said that his parents lived in Helena and that he had left that place a couple of months ago with his nineteen-year-old brother to seek work in Seattle. Not liking the Queen City he had started to walk back. Reaching Yakima he made up his mind that riding would be much more pleasant, and as a consequence he rode into the shadow of the penitentiary on Mr. Flint's saddle horse.

If any of THE HERALD readers are desirous of getting a saddle that is both handsome and substantial they should call at C. E. McEwen's, on Yakima avenue. He has some beauties.

Buckwheat Cakes.

The old way of setting to raise over night by the use of yeast, while the cakes were light yet there was always a well founded suspicion that buckwheat cakes made in that manner were indigestible and unwholesome, because of the chemical action that takes place, so alters the flour from its original character, that the souring or decomposing process continues in the stomach, followed by dyspepsia and kindred troubles.

The new way does away with all fermentation, souring etc., and places upon the table smoking hot buckwheat cakes in 15 minutes or less. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the element that superseded the old methods. Buckwheat and all griddle cakes made with Dr. Price's Powder are not only exceedingly light and delicious, but can be enjoyed by dyspeptics and invalids with impunity. Dr. Price's Cream is the only baking powder containing the whites of eggs.
