

DREAM PERSON:

F. O. L. B.—The Boss White

F. O. L. B.—(to G.)—Gentlemen, you

White—Nectar!

Gentlemen—I move that to assist us in White—I beg to offer as an amendment

F. O. L. B.—Gentlemen, it requires

White—Gentlemen, I would suggest that,

F. O. L. B.—(with fine contempt)—Arrived

White—Many sites have been offered,

F. O. L. B.—Better, White, better.

White—That's not an old man yet,

Gentlemen! You don't require to be as old

White—That may be; but Brother Jones

F. O. L. B.—(with gratified pride)—Ah, White—How well you do it, Boughton.

White—Gentlemen—Guess there's no help

F. O. L. B.—Brother Jones, located at

White—Gentlemen—Guess there's no help

Gentlemen—I think White has stated

F. O. L. B.—Gad! I'd rather lose two

F. O. L. B.—Your remarks are not

F. O. L. B.—Your health and anti-ment, Governor. Never forget that "pub-is a public trust," and that right and honor must away, nay, rule, your de-your reasons, though they are worthy of you, will not, I fear, convince the people; but your sentiment is very fine. Fine sentiments can only spring from a good heart. A man with a good heart cannot go wrong; or if he does, as the best of men may, he rises superior to the wrong he does.

Jones (aside)—Good Lord!

F. O. L. B.—Jones, we have not yet been heard from you. The majority of the committee have stated their views. May we consider that yours agree with them?

Jones—I guess not; and though it won't make any difference in the decision, I'll give you the benefit of them. I think

White and Governor have put the claims of Haulman frankly, and have drawn their deductions to suit themselves. But let me tell you, that sort of thing won't go down with the public. Hakima is the place, and everyone (themselves included) knows it. It is central, easily and cheaply reached from any part of the state, and such good would result to the state at large from the location of this institution there. In variety of products it is much more prolific than Haulman. It is true, as Gentlemen, that irrigation is necessary there, and to ordinary minds this is Hakima's strongest claim to state help.

A great part of the state labors under the same disadvantage, and can never be populated till the disadvantage is overcome; but when it is overcome, those parts will be the most populous and wealthy country districts in the state. It seems to me that we can hasten and assist that development, and that common demands that we should do so.

What good in the world will it do to put this institution at Haulman? Besides, as a sound man, I hold that the additional population which this institution would directly bring, and the much larger population which it would indirectly bring, if located at Hakima, should be brought where they would deal with the Sound and not with Portland and San Francisco. Washington should help her self first and not Oregon and California.

Increased agricultural and mercantile connections between the eastern and western portions of the state mean increased prosperity to the state, and I hold—

F. O. L. B.—Will the gentleman continue to hold for a moment and pardon my interrupting him to ask what in the name of all that is absurd is he talking about? Is he not aware that we are met to locate the Asylum for Impenitent

Politicians? Are you sure?

Jones—Will the gentleman pardon my interrupting him to suggest that, while he is in power, no such asylum is required, as he himself is an all-sufficient reason for that purpose?

F. O. L. B.—You ———!

White—Gentlemen! Gentlemen! How can we ever agree at this rate? I willingly concede that, in the history of the world, minorities have been more frequently right than majorities. But, unfortunately, majorities have certain inalienable rights, among which is the decision of all questions. Brother Jones is in a hopeless minority, and should graciously recognize the fact.

Jones—That may be; but Brother Jones can make a minority report that will wake the echoes all the same. This is a question of fines.

F. O. L. B.—(calmly and authoritatively)

—Let us do this. The honorable gentleman will, I trust, accept my word when I assure him that this is no question of Governor (uncomfortably)—It were well, if what has to be done, were done quickly.

Let us push matters, so that before the people awaken to the benefits of our location it will be too late to change it. I move that this commission do locate the asylum at Haulman. Carried. I move further that White proceed at once to Haulman to complete the acceptance of the site. Carried.

ACCORDING TO Lieutenant Totten, U. S.

A., Chris will make his second visible appearance on earth in 1899, and will at the same time "awaken the foolish virgins."

TACOMA paid $750 and Seattle $300 per hour for the presence of the grandson of William Henry Harrison. It comes high and the Lord knows it isn't worth a tith of the money.

NOTWITHSTANDING the alleged unequal division of the Pullman swag, Dr. Conover doubtless understands that $6,000 will buy a good deal of what the Reverend Talmage has described as the "sweat of patrid corn."

GOVERNOR LAUGHTON'S pretty stenographer, in the act of "urging" his excellency not to appoint that "horrid man Conover" as a member of the agricultural college commission, must have been a very affecting sight.

THE entire state is now wondering where

Agricultural College Commissioners Conover was on that Saturday night when he missed the boat from Tacoma. Governor Laughton's pretty stenographer says she knows, but doesn't care to tell.

SEATTLE Telegraph: Miles Moore hones his knife on his boot, squints at Allen and remarks that it is not unlikely he may be heard from in the next coast, especially in Walla Walla county. Some fighters insist in out-classing themselves.

THE Garfield Enterprise, published in Whitman county, says that Pullman raised $20,000 to secure the agricultural college. If the statement attributed to Dr. Conover that he received but $6,000 is correct he has a right to protest, for the division was most unequal.

FARMER ISHALLS is quoted as saying that "the burning question of the day in potatoes," and the country is antonated that a gentleman of the ex-senator's literary ability should make such a grievous error. Potatoes are not a burning issue.

The tops may be in time, but in Yakima at least potatoes are a growing issue and we expect to raise enough here to feed the entire state.

THE indictment and suits against J. M.

Snover over the Douglas county treasury muddle have been withdrawn. The deficit has been made good and the only loser over the unfortunate affair is Mr.

Snover, whose trust in humanity has had reason to be badly shaken. While Mr.

Snover's many friends in Yakima regret his loss, they have reason to feel pleased that no taint of dishonesty has attached to him.

THE Republic seems to object to THE HERALD printing the news. The terms of the sale of that paper had been arranged and the only reason the transfer was not made was that Mr. Willis was shy about six hundred dollars which he thought he could secure in Spokane Falls, but he wrote Mr. Holton last week that his friends advised him against the purchase and that, in consequence, he had abandoned his intention of buying the paper.

President Harrison is still swinging around the circle, and being royally entertained by the people which entertainment seems to peep on him. At Berkeley, California, a had digestion

THE COLLEGE DEAL.

The Governor's Pretty Stenographer on His

Side History—She Condemned the Governor

Against "That Horrid Man Conover."

(Special dispatch to the Seattle Press-Times.)

Olympia, May 4.—Friends of the late acting governor have been much disturbed over the charges unpleasantly connecting him with the agricultural college commission. The most worried person is perhaps Miss Bertha Denton, his private secretary. This much-talked-of young lady says that all the talk about money being used to influence the commission in its selection of a site is due to "that horrid man Conover," of Port Townsend.

She urged Governor Laughton not to appoint him on the commission, and both she and Mrs. Laughton had discussed and cussed, figuratively speaking, the selection.

LOCATION OF THE COLLEGE.

Miss Denton was asked whether she was aware of the location of the college three days before the commission made its decision, as has been stated.

"Not at all," she answered. "I had frequently heard the members of the commission discuss the merits of the different places, and there was nothing in their conversation to make me think that they had decided on either Pullman or Yakima, although they gave the impression that it would be one of these places. Colfax from the first was not in it. I acted as stenographer at their last meeting; and their report was dictated to me, each in turn making some suggestion as to the wording. There seemed to be most perfect unanimity and good feeling, and I supposed that they were unanimous in their vote for Pullman, as I did not at that meeting or afterward hear Mr. Smith express himself as in favor of Yakima or as dissatisfied with the result."

THE BREWERY CHARGES.

"Do you think that the report Mr. Conover is circulating as to there being money used is correct?"

"I am very sorry to hear that Dr. Conover is circulating any such report. I believe the members of this commission, or at least two of them, are honorable and above bribery. I certainly have no reason to think that Pullman offered any bribe."

"Do you think that Governor Laughton was connected in any way with the land syndicate at Pullman?"

"No. I had not heard of any land syndicate at Pullman until a few days ago.

What I know of it has been gleaned from the Press-Times."

"Do you think Senator Farris had anything to do with the location of the college at Pullman?"

"Senator Farris was naturally very much interested in the decision and anxious that Pullman should get it. I have no doubt that he used every honest and honorable argument with the commissioners for the benefit of his town. In his conversations with Governor Laughton he had always been assured that the location would locate the college on its merits; that Pullman stood an equal show with the rest, and no better."

WHY COLFAX WENT "IN IT."

"You say Colfax went 'in it.' Why?"

"For several reasons. Several I cannot state for private reasons. One, however,

Settlers' Attention!

Until further notice, the rates for publication of Final Proof Advertisements and all other U. S. Land Advertisements printed in THE YAKIMA HERALD will be $2.50 instead of $3.00, as formerly.

NEED & COE.

YAKIMA THE BANNER HOP DISTRICT.—E. G. Hansen, the veteran hop merchant and maker, of Milwaukee, who spent several days in Yakima last week, pronounced this section the best hop country he knew of. He said that the orchards on the west of the Cascade were full of vermin that threatened the hops and that the low valleys and excessive moisture were conducive to lice, but here, with the dry atmosphere, the frequent breezes and the contour of the country, which does not prevent a draft through the hop vines, the danger is at a minimum, and, in his opinion, the Yakima bins would never be troubled with lice. While here he made a thorough examination of various hop fields and could find no indications of vermin. He had handled the Yakima hops and they had not only proved satisfactory to the consumer, but in quality they were at least the equal of any grown on the coast. He said that with the exception of the dust of the country roads Yakima suited him perfectly and that the present wonderful progress was bound to be but the commencement of an era that would mark this as a marvelously productive and thrifty country. When told that six years ago a barren sage brush plain marked the spot where North Yakima now stands he was filled with surprise and exclaimed, "Oh, you westerners are an extraordinary people."

THE HEYWOOD CONCERT TROUPE SECURED.—Mr. Albe Heywood, the greatest of character impersonators, who will appear at the opera house May 13, has been before the public for six years, and everywhere he is greeted by crowded houses. His humorous impersonations, mimicry and songs, which for novelty, originality, variety, and refinement have never been surpassed, stamp him as the leading monologue artist of the day. Many of his impersonations have been written by himself, and others expressly for him, and are presented by no other artist. He also renders some of the leading topical songs from the most popular operas in splendid style. Along with Mr. Heywood is Miss Olga Wigren, the Swedish prima donna, Signor Antonio Jovine, the celebrated tenor, Miss Annie Miller, a lady of beauty and talent, whose handling of the violin is applauded wherever she appears, and a number of other artists of acknowledged merit.

HE WANTED TO BE A DUDE.—A disreputable looking specimen of humanity entered Rosenfeld's store about 11 o'clock Monday night and asked the proprietor, who sat at his desk, for fifteen cents with which to get a night's lodging. With a knowledge of the ailments of the ambrosial cocktail for the genus homo, Mr. Rosenfeld gave his visitor an order on the McGlothlin house for a bed. As the grateful fellow went out he deftly threw a suit of clothes over his arm and made for the back alley. Mr. Rosenfeld raised the alarm, and Policeman Fred Rowe, who was near by, took after the thief. The command to halt had no effect on the fugitive, and a couple of balls from Mr. Rowe's revolver only resulted in accelerating his speed, but in doing this he was compelled to drop his plunder, which was recovered by its owner.

FOUND DROWNED IN THE RIVER.—Coroner Clark was summoned to Klona Sunday to hold an inquest over the body of a man found floating in the Yakima river at that point. The indications were that the body had been in the water for several days. There were bruises on the face of the deceased, but whether they were the result of contact with rocks or of personal violence the jury was unable to decide, and brought in a simple verdict of "found drowned." The deceased was a good-looking man, about six feet tall, hair nicely trimmed, and with well-made clothes of good material. There were no papers of any kind to indicate who the unfortunate man was, the only articles in his pockets being two dimes and a pair of lady's kid gloves.

GRATIFYING REPORTS OF THE FRUIT CROP.—Dr. W. F. Morrison, who has been inspecting that banner fruit district of Yakima county, Kennewick, reports that he thoroughly examined the orchards and found no blight of any kind. "It is one of the most glorious sights I ever feasted my eyes upon," the doctor glowingly exclaimed. "Trees of two years old are crowded with bloom and bud, while the old trees will not be able to hold half of the fruit. The peach trees never gave such promise of heavy yield, and the apricots are as large as walnuts." The doctor scoffs at the prophets of ill omen, and claims that there will be fruit enough in Yakima county to tickle the palates of half the state.

WOODEN WEDDING.—A merry party assembled at the residence of Dr. W. G. Coe Monday evening to fittingly celebrate the fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bachrodt. The presents in wood were many and unique and included a child's chair, for which there is no emergency, the gift of Will White. The guests present were Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Gunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Maston, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fugler, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Coe, Miss Matsons, Miss Baxter, Mrs. and Miss Allen, Miss Nichols, Miss Stone, Elgin Baxter, Will R. White, Ed. F. White, Charles Lombard, Henry Lombard and B. N. Coe.

IN HYMN'S BONDS.—Mr. John H. Sinsel, the popular electric light man, was married Tuesday evening, May 5th, to Miss Lizzie Jewell, of this city. The Herald wishes the happy couple all of the wealth, health and happiness to which their many good traits entitle them.

—Work on the big irrigation canal is progressing rapidly. About two hundred men are employed and one hundred and forty teams. The work extends over six miles of the line of surveys and the way the dust flies is a caution. The forces are constantly increased and additional grading plant is arriving almost daily.

Did you observe that record of how Rufus Getheridge of Worcester, Mass., "broke the small bone of his left leg in stepping out of bed? Did you reflect upon the solemn fact that Col. Advice to Poker Players. "I used to be fond of poker," he said, and the expression on his face became retrospective, "but since I got four cards downed out in Missouri I have sorter gin up playin' the game." "Your opponent had a straight flush, did he?" "No; he had five jacks." "That's impossible." "Stranger, have you ever played poker in Missouri?" "No, sir." "Well, if you ever set down in a game out there and a red-eyed man, whose clothes smell of cattle, quietly whistles a corner off the table with a boy-knife and allows that he has five jacks, just brush your hands in the pack and say: 'That's good!'"

MR. HARRISON'S ROYAL TOUR

The Finest Railroad Train Ever Driven by a Locomotive.

European Monarchs Have Never Traveled in Such Magnificent Style as President Harrison.

If the autocrat of all the Russias, the young kaiser of Germany and his venerable grandmothers, Victoria, Empress of India and Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, could catch a glimpse of Harrison's presidential train as it sweeps along through four and twenty states and territories, their souls would be fired with envy.

When a comparison is made between Harrison and the crowned heads of Europe in this respect the crowned heads are not in it. Who in England ever saw an imperial train of five of the most splendid coaches that were ever put on wheels?

When a comparison is made between Harrison and the crowned heads of Europe in this respect the crowned heads are not in it. Who in England ever saw an imperial train of five of the most splendid coaches that were ever put on wheels?

Railroad cars like Benjamin are now bearing our beloved Benjamin on his great junketing tour never rolled on the great of the effete despots of the old world.

They are five in number and in their construction the genius and the skill of the most expert American artisans have been put forth.

For the benefit of the uninitiated I may explain that the "Shaker" variety of socks is one peculiar to the Columbia salmon fishermen, to whom they are recommended by their cheapness.

When the honest fisherman returned to his boat that evening he hastened to try his experiment. He put the ground coffee in one of the socks and threw it into the pot.

Just then another boat drew alongside. The new-comer saw the nice clean socks and looked at them longingly. He had been up the river for a month and his own pair would last but a short time longer.

Under the heavy shade of pines and in the fading light of the afternoon Dan didn't notice the changed appearance of the socks. They were damp, too, but that was probably occasioned by the water of the river splashing against them.

Everybody wondered that evening what was the matter with Dan's usually good coffee. "Kinder tastes ez if ther' was some Injy rubber in it," was the comment of one individual.

Thus far the stranger, who had joined the group, had kept quiet. Now he stood up and began to snicker. The snicker increased to a laugh, the laugh to a roar.

The fisherman wondered if he was crazy, and the laughter was asked if the supposition wasn't correct. He only pressed his hands on his sides and laughed harder still.

Gen. Grant made several excursions to different parts of the Union during his two terms, but he considered himself fortunate in obtaining a private car of the presidents of the Baltimore & Ohio or of the Pennsylvania Central.

A great historic presidential journey was that one of Washington, when Charles Thompson, the secretary of the old Continental congress, was sent down from Philadelphia city to Mount Vernon to notify the father of his country of his election and bring him up to be inaugurated.

Nearly all the old inns and taverns where Washington rested over night—at Alexandria and Ballston and all the way up through Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Jersey—are still standing, and in each of them the Washington room is still shown.

HUNGERS FOR MAN'S LOVE.

Unquenchable Desire in Heart of Woman. Reciprocity of Feeling Needed.

Man a Tractable and Easily Managed Animal if Handled in the Right Way.

Younger old, rich or poor, beautiful or ugly, the desire to be loved is burning in every woman's heart. Many will deny it, many will scoff at it, many will run away from it, but desire is there, an unquenchable flame.

It is nothing she need blush for, this wish to be loved. Men are just as susceptible to the soft impeachment, only they don't exhibit it so plainly.

Some women go upon the principle that too much loving spoils a man. Get that nonsense out of your heads: There isn't one man in ten thousand that loving won't win the day with.

He traveled in his own coach and he paid his bills as he went along. Invitations poured in on him from scores of rich planters along the route to partake of his hospitality, but being on official and not on private business he declined the courtesies that were offered him.

He felt that to do so might compromise his great office—at all events, that it would be indelicate, if not indecorous. A great deal of attention was paid him, but they were all of an official character and accepted in that spirit.

THE ACME OF GREAT NERVE.

Lieut. Governor Loughton Aspires to be President of the United States.

He Will Make His Campaign for the $50,000,000 the State Appropriated for Geological Surveys.

Well, for the good Lord's sake, mark this, will you! The following special telegram from Tacoma has appeared in the Spokane Spokesman:

A good many surmises have been indulged in by the press of the state as to the use to which the $50,000 appropriation for a geological survey of the state was to be put.

The correspondent of the Spokesman is able to contradict this absurd rumor. In conversation with State Geologist Bethune he has learned what the "nigger" is, and is now able to announce that it is nothing less than a new presidential candidate.

This theory might be discredited were it not that it comes directly from Mr. Bethune, the state geologist, and known friend of Governor Loughton. In fact he is the man whom the governor has selected for lieutenant governor and in whose interest he is so anxious to nail up Tom Smith, of Whitman, in a political coffin.

Mr. Bethune said that Governor Loughton had every requisite for the presidency. "Why," said he, "he belongs to all the secret societies. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Knights of Pythias, an Odd Fellow, etc. He is a whole-souled, jolly fellow. He can sing a comic song, play the piano like Rubenstein, and fiddle like Ole Bull. What more can any one want in a president?"

Mr. Bethune is deeply in earnest in this matter, and is seriously at work creating a Loughton presidential boom. He has already spoken to a number of well known gentlemen on the subject. It is understood that the governor and Bethune will travel extensively throughout the state this summer trying to set up pins to secure the delegation. Loughton's family will spend the summer in the Okanogan district so as to leave him perfectly free to travel.

One of the arguments used by Bethune is that Pennoyer will very probably have the Oregon delegation to the democratic national convention, and Washington should do as well by her governor.

Senator Parkinson has been enlisted in the scheme and will try to be sent as a delegate to Chicago also.

Ex-Senator Farris, of Pullman, has promised to carry Whitman county for the plan and will be another Loughton delegate. Ex-Senator Conover will be the fourth delegate.

Bethune also says the Olympia Tribune will at the proper time support the lieutenant governor and that if he cannot get first place on the national ticket he is certain to get second.

Before beginning his tour of the state, Loughton will go east with a view of meeting the leading politicians of the party in order to secure, if possible, their aid for his plans.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Ford of Groom, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at Janek's Pharmacy. Regular size, 50c. and $1.00.
