EXTRA LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Some Estimates for Reapportioning the State.

How the East Side Will Stand off the West Side Under the New Apportionment.

As the time for the extra session of the legislature approaches, the question of reapportionment assumes more and more prominence, not only in the talk of the politicians, but of the people generally.

The constitution fixes the number of representatives between 63 and 99, and declares that the number of senators shall not be more than one-half nor less than one-third of the number of members of the house. Last year's legislature was composed of seventy representatives and thirty-five senators, divided among the counties as follows:

SENATORS.

Stevens and Spokane 1, Spokane 3, Lincoln 1, Okanogan, Lincoln, Franklin and Adams 1, Whitman 3, Garfield and Yakima 1, Columbia 1, Walla Walla 2, Asotin and Douglas 1, Kittitas 1, Klickitat and Skamania 1, Clarke 1, Cowlitz 1, Lewis 1, Pacific and Wahkiakum 1, Thurston 1, Chehalis 1, Pierce 3, King 5, Mason and Kitsap 1, Jefferson, Clallam and San Juan 1, Snohomish 1, Skagit and Island 1, and Whatcom 1.

REPRESENTATIVES.

Adams 1, Asotin 1, Chehalis 2, Clarke 3, Callam 1, Columbia 2, Cowlitz 1, Douglas 1, Franklin 1, Garfield 1, Island 1, Jefferson 2, King 8, Klickitat 2, Kittitas 2, Kitsap 1, Lewis 2, Lincoln 2, Mason 1, Okanogan 1, Pacific 1, Pierce 6, San Juan 1, Skamania 1, Snohomish 2, Skagit 2, Spokane 6, Stevens 1, Thurston 2, Walla Walla 3, Wahkiakum 1, Whatcom 2, Whitman 5, and Yakima 1.

That apportionment, which was a comparatively rough affair, was based on the following census returns and estimates for 1890:

Adams	1,842	Mason	1,548
Asotin	1,477	Okanogan	1,060
Chehalis	5,234	Pacific	3,024
Callam	1,064	Pierce	27,555
Clarke	9,010	San Juan	1,410
Columbia	6,035	Skagit	6,111
Cowlitz	3,947	Skamania	610
Douglas	2,852	Snohomish	6,084
Franklin	433	Spokane	25,230
Garfield	3,792	Stevens	2,734
Island	1,356	Thurston	7,238
Jefferson	5,740	Wahkiakum	1,489
King	40,788	Walla Walla	11,307
Kitsap	3,988	Whatcom	6,219
Klickitat	7,530	Whitman	15,281
Kittitas	5,390	Yakima	4,408
Lewis	8,207
Lincoln	8,115	Total	239,544

According to these figures the representation in the last legislature was one representative for every 3422 inhabitants and one senator for every 6844. This proportion was fairly well preserved as far as senatorial representation was concerned, though a small county was usually given the benefit of a doubt in its favor. But no county, no matter how small, was without at least one representative, so that Adams, Asotin, Clallam, Franklin, Island, Mason, Okanogan, San Juan, Skamania and Wahkiakum, with a combined population of 12,891, had ten representatives. This left for the rest of the state one representative for every 3778 inhabitants.

It will be noticed, also, that the senatorial and representative districts were divided only by county lines, and that several representatives or senators would be elected on one ticket from a county; but it is the duty of the legislature to divide the state into definite districts, one for each senator, and though there is no district statement in the constitution, it is generally understood that there are to be separate representative districts. No representative district can lie partly in one and partly in another senatorial district.

The census tables upon which this reapportionment is to be made are approximately as follows:

Adams	2,148	Mason	1,835
Asotin	1,617	Okanogan	1,550
Chehalis	7,123	Pacific	3,290
Callam	2,601	Pierce	9,665
Clarke	9,693	San Juan	2,039
Columbia	6,509	Skagit	6,053
Cowlitz	5,438	Skamania	863
Douglas	2,627	Snohomish	8,482
Franklin	688	Spokane	38,804
Garfield	4,079	Stevens	4,422
Island	1,700	Thurston	10,014
Jefferson	8,595	Wahkiakum	2,488
King	61,264	Walla Walla	11,772
Kitsap	4,304	Whatcom	15,782
Klickitat	5,948	Whitman	17,082
Kittitas	4,923	Yakima	4,514
Lewis	10,588
Lincoln	8,300	Total	339,282

The general talk is that there will not be a material increase in the number of representatives. Possibly the number of senators may be increased to forty and representatives to eighty, but the opinion of the members of the Pierce county delegation is that the reapportionment will be on a basis of thirty-six senators and seventy-two representatives. This arrangement will make it easier to comply with the constitutional provision for having half of the senators retire at each term of two years. For the next election the senators from the odd-numbered districts must retire, and there are eighteen such senators, out of a total of thirty-five, so more than half must retire. Most senatorial districts will thus contain two representative districts, though in certain instances there may be one representative from a senatorial district, and in other cases three.

With a population of 339,282, thirty-six senators would give one to every 9425 and one representative to every 4712. The process of long division shows that King and Pierce counties would naturally be entitled to six senators each, and a fraction over. Though the corrected returns from King county will probably reduce the estimate, still it may have enough larger fraction to get one more representative than there can be no reasonable ground for giving it one senator more than Pierce. There are, however, several counties such as Chehalis, Columbia, Cowlitz and Kittitas whose population is not quite large enough for a senator, but which may get one. This may reduce the number for the other counties so that Pierce and King will be entitled to five each and ten or eleven representatives.

Of course a number of counties will be consolidated into senatorial districts, but the smaller counties which now have a representative apiece, will vigorously resist the cutting down of their representation by consolidation. While Okanogan and Douglas, for example, would make one good representative district, and Franklin and Adams, Asotin and part of Columbia, San Juan and Island, and Klickitat and Yakima could be similarly lumped into four districts instead of eight. They will strain every nerve to hold their power and to carry their point. There is common talk of a combination between the smaller ones all over the state to make terms with the Sound counties, especially Pierce and King, for a representative not based strictly on population, which would give the Sound a preponderating influence in legislation. There will be an attempt to play King and Pierce against each other in this fight.—Tacoma Ledger.

MAV A CLERGYMAN MARRY HIMSELF?

It Has Been Done in Ireland and May Be Done Here.

"There are some curious things in the law books," said a gray bearded lawyer to a Commercial reporter as he came down the court house steps. "It is settled law that a clergyman may perform the ceremony at his own marriage when none is present but himself and bride, and upon the most solemn judgment fixing the legitimacy of the offspring and the descent of the estate."

"The Rev. Samuel Swayne Beamish was clergyman of the united churches of England and Ireland, and the 27th day of November, 1832, he went to the house of Anne Lyons, in the city of Cork, and there performed the ceremony of marriage between himself and Isabella Frazer, using the form of the book of common prayer, but adapting the words to the unique condition of the affair, and using also the wedding ring. They supposed that they were having the wedding all to themselves, but Catherine Coffee and saw the performance of the ceremony from an adjoining yard, but did not hear the words. The marriage was pronounced valid as one performed by a minister in holy orders in the presence of witnesses, although it was irregular and clandestine."

"Would such a marriage be valid in Tennessee?"

"Don't know," said the lawyer, cautiously, "but why should it not be, if he first procures a license? The statute says no formula need be observed except a declaration in the presence of the minister or officer that they accept each other as man and wife, and all ministers of the gospel may solemnize the right of matrimony."

"Could a justice of the peace marry himself also?"

"Certainly, and all the judges and chancellors; they all have this advantage over us common folks, and it would be a mere matter of economy to do it."

"Have you any case in court, or are you about to bring a case on this point?"

"Ah, my friend, don't ask too much. Wait and see."

"Will you notify me and give me a scoop?"

"Yes—if I bring the suit."—Memphis Commercial.

He Was a Gentleman Farmer.

Old Colonel Maynard, of Ann Arundel county, Maryland, was a large slave owner, says the Baltimore Herald.

The colonel spent a good deal of his time away from home. One time upon his return he took a drive over his property, and on his return met a small colored boy.

"Whom do you belong to, boy?" the colonel asked.

"Why, sir, I—I—'longs to Colonel Maynard, sah."

"Who's he?" inquired the colonel, to see what the chap would say.

"H—'s—a farmer, sah."

"What sort of a farmer?"

"Gentleman farmer," repeated the colonel. "What kind of a farmer's a gentleman farmer?"

"W—well, sah," spoke up the colored boy, "he's a farmer dat don't raise no 'bacco, sah, a—'nd has to buy his co'n, sah."

The colonel enjoyed the joke, it is said, and afterward told it upon himself with much amusement.

A RACE OF WEIRD SPOOKS.

The Ride to Death of Lovers Making a Break for Liberty.

A One-Act Tragedy Enacted in North Carolina by Three Phantom Riders—Story of Morrison Place.

In Harnett county, North Carolina, twenty-five miles north of Fayetteville, reposes the St. Louis Globe Democrat, stands the ruins of a once fine residence in the midst of a plantation overgrown by briars and old field pines. The fences have all rotted away, and the old house has for years been the abode for bats and owls. It is known as the "Haunted Morrison Place," and there is not a negro in all that section, and but few white people, who could be induced to go near the old house after sundown.

A long, shaded lane divides the old plantation, passing near the house. For a mile the lane runs in a straight line, with mulberry, mock orange and magnolia trees growing thick on each side. Then it reaches the forest, and bearing away to the right, the road soon leaves the old plantation out of sight.

Every night the measured hoof-beats of horses are heard coming down the gravel driveway which led up to the door of the old mansion from the lane. Coming out from under the shadows of the cedar and magnolia trees in the lawn a milk-white steed, bearing two ghostly riders, a man and a woman, turns to the left in the long dark lane. For a little distance the hoof-beats are slow and regular, then another ghostly steed, a black one, with single rider, comes down the same gravel walk and turns into the lane in the same direction. Then a faint weird scream of terror is heard, a shout from the rider of the black steed, and then the phantom horses and riders begin a race to death.

Faster and faster fall the hoof-beats down the long, dark lane, the black steed with its single rider all the time gaining on the white one with its double burden. Never was there steeple-chase over brook and hurdles as exciting as the race of the phantom horses with ghostly riders down the dark lane through the "Haunted Morrison Place." Where the lane narrows into the wagon road at the edge of the forest stands a giant oak tree. There the white steed falls to the ground. There is a moan of agony, the black steed and rider reach the same spot in a moment, then they, too, disappear, and all is still. The race is ended. There is no applause for the winner, no shouts of victory—it was a race to death.

Ask a native of that locality to tell you the story of the "Haunted Morrison Place" and with a shudder he may answer, "It is too horrible." The story is, indeed, a dreadful one. Years ago, it appears, Carroll Morrison, the richest man in all that section, lived in the mansion, and his hundreds of slaves cultivated the rich plantations, which yielded him a princely income. Morrison was a cold, cruel man, hated by all who knew him. He tortured his slaves for amusement when under the influence of liquor, and many are the tales told of his fiendish cruelty. He kept a stable of fast race horses and a pack of hounds, and often amused himself hunting down the poor slaves who sometimes sought to escape his cruelty by running away.

When near 50 years old Morrison married Rebecca Thomas, the pretty daughter of a well-to-do planter. It was not a love match. True, Morrison was pleased by the girl's beauty, but she hated him.

Her parents forced her to marry him because of his great wealth. Their married life was torture to the beautiful young girl. Morrison soon became madly jealous of her, and his cruelty culminated in his chaining her in a vacant room in the house. Before her marriage Mrs. Morrison loved a young man in the neighborhood, and had promised to marry him. One day, while in chains, she managed, at great risk to herself and the messenger, to send him a note telling him her condition and begging him to rescue her. The note was delivered by a faithful slave, who brought back an answer from the faithful lover that he would attempt her rescue that night. He came, entered the house by stealth, broke the chains and carried his loved one out of the house in his arms. His horse was concealed on the lawn, and, placing Mrs. Morrison in front of him, he mounted and rode toward the long lane as quietly as possible.

The jealous husband, however, had been aroused and his flight was discovered. Quickly mounting his favorite race horse, Morrison started in pursuit. He caught sight of the lovers as they turned into the long lane, and then began a mad race for life and liberty. Where the road made a bend at the end of the lane stood a large oak. As the horse the lovers rode attempted to make the turn there his foot gave way and the two riders were thrown with terrible force against the oak and instantly killed. The horse fell, and before he could rise the horse ridden by Morrison was upon him. Horse and rider went down. Morrison was thrown twenty feet by the fall of his horse, and his neck was broken. Only the horses escaped instant death, and they were crippled.

Morrison had no near relatives, and his heirs were soon fighting in the courts for possession of the rich estate. This freed the slaves, and as quietly as possible they moved away from the old plantation, displaying it haunted. No one would live in the old house, and as the litigation continued from year to year the place soon went to ruin. A number of persons residing in that locality have seen the phantom race to death down the long, dark lane, and the place is shunned as though a curse was upon it.

THE YAKIMA HERALD.

EDITORIAL DRIFTWOOD.

The Spokane Review, in its editorial leader of Tuesday, makes the assertion that THE HERALD "supports Mr. Turner's candidacy ostensibly for the reason that 400 republicans of Spokane Falls have signed a petition asking that gentleman to become a candidate before the state convention."

It is said that First Assistant Postmaster General J. S. Clarkson is coming to Washington primarily to take editorial charge of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, but ultimately to represent this state in the senate.

The Seattle Press says there is now no question but what Judge Calkins is working vigorously, although quietly, to succeed Squire in the senate.

A passenger train on the Missouri Pacific was held up by roadmen on Sunday last and the Pacific Express company robbed of $90,000.

In the matter of the report of viewers for a county road petitioned for by A. Greenwalt: Commencing at a point where the Ahtanum county road crosses the east line of the sw qr of the ne qr of sec 8, twp 12, n r 17 east; thence south on said line nineteen rods more or less to the se corner of said sw qr and on half section line; thence west on said half section line ninety rods more or less to and terminating at a point where said Ahtanum road angles upon and crosses said half section line and that that portion of the present Ahtanum county road extending from the point of commencement to the point of termination of said newly proposed road be declared vacated, the viewers having delivered their report as follows: The existing county road running diagonally through the property owned by A. Greenwalt in the sw qr of the ne qr and the se qr of the ne qr of sec 8, twp 12, n r 17 east, subdivides the same into small and inconveniently shaped fractions, whereas the proposed road, while it increases the traveling distance almost imperceptibly, does not encroach on the land referred to, we therefore recommend the change as a desirable one. With regard, however, to that portion of the road to be located on the east line of the sw qr of the ne qr of sec 8, twp 12, n r 17 east, we would respectfully recommend that the center line of said road be located thirty feet west of said east line so that the full width of sixty feet may be included in the sw qr of the ne qr of said sec 8 in accordance with the present desire of the petitioners and as mutually agreed upon by Greenwalt and Imbric, the owners of the sw qr and the se qr (respectively) of the ne qr of said sec 8, twp 12, n r 17 east, it is therefore ordered that said report, plat and survey be and they are hereby accepted by the board, and the auditor is hereby directed to record the same in the road book of the county, and from henceforth said road shall be considered a public highway, and it is further ordered by the board that the supervisor of roads for the road district in which said road is located is hereby directed to open said road according to law. And the auditor is hereby directed to furnish said supervisor with a certified copy of this order and action of the board.

A Letter From Mr. Ker.

MOXEE, Wash., Aug. 14, 1890. EDITOR HERALD:—You will see from the government agricultural report that Washington is very poorly represented. Her alfalfa and tobacco are not shown at all. I don't know what the increased percentage of alfalfa acreage is, but it must be very great. I know that the acreage in tobacco has increased over 400 per cent. Are there no correspondents of the department of agriculture in this state who would be glad to get particulars of agricultural progress? If so, I think it would not be a bad scheme to invite the farmers of Yakima county to give you condensed statistics of increased acreage and comparative condition of crops. If such returns were made general throughout the state, properly aggregated and forwarded to the department, I think Washington would show up with an agricultural increase as phenomenal as that of her population. These government reports find their way into every part of the union and form a splendid advertisement. Yours, Wm. Ker.

BURKE IS UNSATISFIED.—Peter Sanford Burke and Silas Aristotle Gilson had some trouble on Friday last week, and Mr. Gilson belabored Mr. Burke with a shovel. The latter claims that he went to Gilson's race track to see Pete Leonard, who was driving a water cart, and incidentally mentioned to Mr. Gilson that he owed him a trifle of money on an old account. Burke, after making the claim, seemed to be a bit suspicious that it would not be well received and so armed himself with a couple of big rocks. Gilson felt the same way, and going to his house, took up a long handled shovel, with which he tapped Burke over the shoulders upon again reaching the track. Burke resented this familiarity, and would have laid his antagonist out, but he did not have time. Having some leisure later on he concluded to have Gilson arrested, but Judge Henton, after sifting the evidence, concluded that the assault was justifiable and discharged the defendant. Burke, however, doesn't appear to know when he has had enough, and to fight Gilson to a finish for 120 acres of land and a thousand dollars on the side. The HERALD was unable to see Mr. Gilson, but suggests, if the match is made, that it take place on the last day of the gathering of the Missourians, and, that further injury may not be done Mr. Burke, it nominates that feather pillows be used instead of hard gloves.

ORGANIZATION OF A REPUBLICAN CLUB.—In response to a call a number of republicans met at the city hall, Tuesday evening, to organize a republican club. The report that there were only thirteen present, was probably circulated for campaign purposes. It's true they gathered very slowly, and some enthusiastic republican proposed that by clapping their hands and shouting a crowd might be attracted, but this was not resorted to, and finally a round dozen and a half had assembled and the meeting was called to order by the election of G. S. Courter as temporary chairman, and R. Strobach as temporary secretary. Several speeches were made and all was apparently harmonious, although Captain Holton waved the red rag, modestly veiled with a tissue of words, just to let those present understand that he was in the ring. On the recommendation of a committee appointed for the purpose, the following officers were chosen: president, B. F. Young; vice-presidents, W. L. Jones, J. K. Ward, J. J. Chambers, C. W. Henry and Wallace Wiley; secretary, M. H. Ellis; treasurer, F. B. Lippencott; executive committee, F. M. Spain, R. B. Milroy and John Reed. The meeting then adjourned until Thursday evening, August 28th, when R. B. Milroy, F. B. Lippencott and C. M. Holton will submit a draft of the declaration of principles and by-laws.

NOMINATING CITY COUNCILMEN.—A mass meeting was called for Wednesday evening to make nominations for the successors of S. J. Lowe and G. W. Jones in the city council. There was a big turnout and some sharp political figuring. A. H. Reynolds, P. H. Stanton and Dr. J. Jay Chambers were placed in nomination and, on a close ballot, the two latter were made the nominees of the meeting. The nomination of Dr. Chambers apparently had not been considered previously, for when it was reported that he was contemplating moving from the city, and that his election would give three councilmen to the west side, it was decided to place another ticket in the field, and by petitions numerously signed Messrs. A. M. Reynolds and Frank B. Shardlow were placed in nomination. The popularity of Dr. Chambers was shown by his nomination, but if his election will engender the cost of a special election, or if, as reported, he is against the funding of the city indebtedness and the construction of a system of sewers, it would be wise to give one of the other candidates the preference.

A CREDITABLE WORK.—W. D. C. Spike & Co., of this city, are delivering the three parts of their splendid "Illustrated Description of North Yakima." Both the artistic and literary portions show great advance in the execution of this kind of work. The engravings are superior to anything of the kind yet shown in this section, and the descriptive part, though put in the concise compass of a few hundred lines, contains the gist of all the real information found in many more voluminous publications, given, too, in the good, glowing, golden English prose—not without the silvery tinge of poetic enthusiasm, which alone can do justice to the solid facts concerning the grand region and superb climate in which our city is situated.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.—There will be a convention of the democrats held at the court house on Monday next for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the state convention at Seattle and also the state association of democratic clubs at Tacoma. Primaries for the election of delegates from the various precincts to attend the county convention are called for Saturday. The representation of the various precincts will be as follows: Horn 1, Red Rock 1, Lone Tree 2, Parker 1, Alder Creek 1, White 1, Yakima 3, Abatanum 2, Moxee 1, Mt. Pleasant 1, Wenas 3, Tampico 2, Kennewick 1, Sincocoe 1, Wide Hollow 1, North Yakima 13 and Natchez 3.

WILL DEM FOR THE DEMOCRATS.—The Yakima drum corps is going to Tacoma to be present at the state association of democratic clubs. Secretary Hazzard remembered with pleasure the little fellows when they were over at the encampment, and he had set his heart on having them at the coming blow-out, so he wrote to Judge Reavis to have the boys present without fail, and as a result they will leave here on Sunday afternoon to return the following Thursday.

—From two to five hundred boxes of peaches, plums, apples and tomatoes are shipped from Yakima daily.

—Company E, N. G. W., are making preparations for a grand ball to be given at the opera house September 5th.

—Messrs. Frank Horsley and J. G. Lawrence are now associated for the purpose of handling the products of Yakima.

—The Moxee company will have 60,000 pounds of hops this year and will get the top price, as Mr. Ker hasn't contracted for a pound.

—Eleven carloads of stock were shipped to the Sound the first four days of this week and three carloads more were ready for shipment.

—Yakima ships two and three carloads of melons daily. Next year it will be train loads. Yakima can supply the entire northwest with this fruit.

—The turbine wheels and the big driving wheels on the pump were received by the Water company Wednesday. They weighed twenty-eight thousand pounds.

—The day sessions of the teachers' institute, beginning with Monday next, will be held at the Yakima school house and the evening sessions at the Christian church.

—The freight receipts at the local office of the Northern Pacific amount to about five hundred dollars per day. Yakima is doing some shipping, if you will allow THE HERALD to remark.

—J. C. MacCrimmon estimates that Yakima will ship products to the value of a million dollars, aside from her hops, this year. There is no reason why we shouldn't have a golden fall.

—The marriage of W. H. Chapman and Miss Antoinette Schanno occurred at the residence of the bride's mother in Yakima City Tuesday, August 19th. The Rev. J. T. Eshelman officiated.

—At the teachers' examination, held last week, E. P. Green received a second grade certificate. Third grade certificates were granted to Harriet E. Sawyer, Lucy E. Sawyer and Theodore Milner.

—Sixty thousand dollars, at a low estimate, will be the income of the Moxee company this year. Roughly estimated it is as follows: Hops, $30,000; manufactured tobacco, $20,000; hay, $10,000; cattle, $10,000.

—J. P. Stokes, a resident of Walla Walla, died on the cars, near this city, on Sunday last. Mr. Stokes was en route home, when he was suddenly taken sick, and expired before medical assistance could be secured.

—The Yakima County Teachers' Institute will commence Monday next and continue five days. State Superintendent Bryan and ex-Superintendent Morgan will be in attendance. The public is cordially invited to attend the meetings.

—Does anyone fully appreciate that Yakima is getting rich from the products of her soil. The daily shipments from this point run from five to nine carloads, and as the shipments are of fruit, hay, cattle, melons and flour, the returns will be enormous.

—As was to be supposed, there are a whole lot of citizens who are now bewailing their hard luck in being disfranchised from voting in the elections which will occur this year. There are but 251 persons registered and only those can vote. Many citizens who take great interest in politics, including Judge J. B. Reavis, have lost their votes by their neglect.

—At the mass meeting of citizens Wednesday evening Col. A. H. Reynolds made an excellent address showing the interest he took in the city's advancement and the desire for needed public improvements, and afterwards a vote was taken on the question of sewerage and it was carried almost unanimously. Councilman John Reed dissented from the voice of the people.

HOPS ARE JUMPING.—Mr. Kelley, of Seattle, is in the city endeavoring to buy hops. He was offering 26 1/2 and 27 cents Thursday morning, but as THE HERALD is about to go to press John A. Stone is making contracts at 27 1/2 cents. The growers have their hopes considerably puffed up and don't seem inclined to be in any rush about selling. While some of them have sold sufficient to clear themselves, they are disposed to be a trifle speculative on the balance of their holdings and maintain that hops will be high this year and that the buyers will have to pay for them roundly if they are going to buy.

—Call at A. H. Reynolds' and see the new stock of 16th century goods, centre tables, chairs, etc. A complete stock at very lowest prices. My goods are for sale.

BROKEN OUT!

How often do we see this on the faces of children and, alas, of people who otherwise are healthy? What causes it? Bad Blood. The thought is terrible; the trouble is worse. No ordinary help can remove it. It requires something unusual. Do not take cheap sanaparillins or blood purifiers. You must have something that has proved its power in both Europe and America. General Wheatcroft Nelson, of London, says: "My experience in the English army, as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifies the blood, or adds to the health, vigor and life, as Dr. Acher's English Blood Purifier."

This grand Elixir is sold by druggists in all parts of America. It is a good, pure, honest medicine. Try it to-day.
