

THE YAKIMA HERALD.

VOL. 3. NORTH YAKIMA, WASHINGTON, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1891. NO. 39.

THE YAKIMA HERALD.
REED & COE, Proprietors.
ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY.
$2.00 PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE.
Advertising Rates Upon Application.
E. M. REED, Editor and Business Manager.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.
H. J. SNIVELY,
Attorney at Law.

Office over Yakima National Bank, North Yakima. Will practice in all the courts of the State and U. S. land office.
I. B. BEAVIS, R. B. MILROY, REAVIS & MILROY,
Attorneys at Law.

Will practice in all Courts of the Territory. Special attention given to all U. S. land office business. Office at North Yakima and Ellensburg, W. T.
EDWARD WHITSON, FRED PARKER, WHITSON & PARKER,
Attorneys at Law.

Office in First National Bank Building.
S. O. MORFORD,
Attorney at Law,
Practices in all Courts in the Territory. Es- pecial attention to Collections. Office up stairs over Fechter & Rose, North Yakima.

JOHN G. BOYLE,
Attorney at Law.
Office next door to the United States Land Office.

T. M. VANCE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Office over First National Bank. Special at- tention given to Land Office business.

S. C. HENTON,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
NOTARY PUBLIC, U. S. COMMISSIONER.
Special attention given collections and Notary work. Office over Yakima National Bank.

W. S. GUNN, W. G. COE, Physicians and Surgeons.
Office on 2d street, in building formerly occu- pied by Dr. W. A. Monroe. ap16-17

O. M. GRAVES, DENTIST.
All work in my line first-class. Local anesthet- ics used to extract teeth without pain. No charge for examination. Office over First National Bank.

Yakima Artesian Well Boring Co.
CONTRACTS MADE FOR SINKING Artesian Wells.
H. B. SCUDDER, Manager.
Office, First National Bank, North Yakima.

ESCHBACH & HAMEL,
North Yakima Transfer Line.
WOOD, COAL AND LUMBER DELIVERED.
Fine Spring Trucks for moving Pianos, Organs and Furniture. Office at Hotel Bartholet.

The Celebrated French Cure,
"APHRODITINE"
Warranted to cure
"APHRODISIA"
In Sold on a POSITIVE GUARANTEE TO CURE ANY form of nervous debility, or any disorder of the genitals of either sex, arising from excessive use of Stimulants, Tobacco or Opium, or through youthful indiscretion, over-indulgence, etc., such as Loss of Brain Power, Wakefulness, Headache, Nervous Prostration, Neuritis, Weakness, Hysteria, Nervous Friction, Seminal Emission, Leucorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Weak Eyes, Loss of Power and Impotency, which if neglected often lead to premature old age and insur-vability. Price $1.00 a box, 3 boxes for $5.00 Sent by mail on receipt of price.

A WRITTEN GUARANTEE for every $5.00 order, to refund the money if a Permanent cure is not effected. Thousands of testimonials from old and young, of both sexes, permanently cured by APHRODITINE. Circular free.

SOLD BY W. H. CHAPMAN, Sole Agent, North Yakima, Wash.

Castoria
For Infants and Children.
Castoria promotes Digestion, and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, and Feverishness.
Thus the child is rendered healthy and its sleep natural. Castoria contains no Morphia or other narcotic property.

The Hugs Monitor.
A very formidable war vessel is about ready to fly Uncle Sam's colors. She is the monitor Miantonomah, much changed from her original design as built just after the war. She is 250 1/2 feet long, and carries in two double turrets four ten-inch rifled guns, the most effective ship guns we have yet turned out. She is belted with twelve and one-half inches of steel and iron, and sits low in the water. She is intended for harbor defense, and will justify confidence in her ability to make a good fight against the strongest iron-clad that can be sent against her. She has two amiable sisters, the Puritan and the Terror, who will also in due time go no commission.

Hannah Fearing's Fortune.
By AUGUSTA LARNED.

Copyright, 1891, by American Press Association.
Then, as misfortunes like rocks always fly in the path of the only daughter of a beautiful girl, died just in the bloom of young womanhood, and his son was drowned on a yachting excursion in the Mediterranean. The old man, thus wrecked in his affections and fortunes, fell into an illness, from which he arose after many weeks a broken and a disabled man, one side partially paralyzed and his left arm and hand quite useless.
When he came to consciousness the auctioners were in the lower rooms of his house knocking down the furniture to the lowest bidder, and Hannah Fearing was at his bedside, where she had faithfully held her post for six long weeks. The doctor had bid in a few of the precious old volumes from Hannah's valuable library, and in less than a week after the sale the sick man and this little remnant of his fortunes, once great for a country town, were moved over to Hannah's best room, the parlor of the brown cottage where he had lived ever since on her care and bounty.

Hannah said she was paying a debt, and if she spent the remainder of her life in nursing Hiram Rand it would not make up to him what he had done for her. He was old, alone in the world, without near relatives, poor and practically helpless, for he was nailed to his chair by paralysis and could only just manage to wheel himself from his bed
to his reading table by the window.
She had nursed him uncomplacently these
three years past; had not everybody made up to him what he had done for her? He was old, alone in the world,
without near relatives, poor and practically helpless, for he was nailed to his chair by paralysis and could only just
manage to wheel himself from his bed
to his reading table by the window.
She had nursed him uncomplacently these
three years past; had not everybody
made up to him what he had done for
her? He was old, alone in the world,
without near relatives, poor and practically helpless, for he was nailed to his chair by paralysis and could only just
manage to wheel himself from his bed
to his reading table by the window.

It was with immense pride and affection that Hannah looked at the old man, whom she revered as a being of supernatural endowments. She was not a woman to do things by halves nor to stint her love and devotion. It was her belief that the old man had brought her good luck and a blessing, for had she not flourished uncommonly these
three years past? Had not everybody made up to her in many unexpected ways, and human love and appreciation
been shown to her as they seldom were to her rich neighbors? But some of her thoughts were not so complimentary.
She had often said it was a rare virtue to receive with grace than to give from your abundance. A peculiar burden had grown up between them as she cooked and washed for him, or nursed his ailments
and kept the sunny little parlor where he lived as neat as wax, replying to all narrow minded criticism of her behavior
with biting, sarcastic speech.

It was with immense pride and affection that Hannah looked at the old man,
whom she revered as a being of supernatural endowments. She was not a woman to do things by halves nor to
stint her love and devotion. It was her belief that the old man had brought
her good luck and a blessing, for had
she not flourished uncommonly these
three years past? Had not everybody
made up to her in many unexpected
ways, and human love and appreciation
been shown to her as they seldom were
to her rich neighbors? But some of her thoughts were not so complimentary.
She had often said it was a rare virtue to receive with grace than to give from your
abundance. A peculiar burden had grown up between them as she cooked and
washed for him, or nursed his ailments
and kept the sunny little parlor where
he lived as neat as wax, replying to all
narrow minded criticism of her behavior
with biting, sarcastic speech.

It was with immense pride and affection that Hannah looked at the old man,
whom she revered as a being of supernatural endowments. She was not a woman to do things by halves nor to
stint her love and devotion. It was her belief that the old man had brought
her good luck and a blessing, for had
she not flourished uncommonly these
three years past? Had not everybody
made up to her in many unexpected
ways, and human love and appreciation
been shown to her as they seldom were
to her rich neighbors? But some of her thoughts were not so complimentary.
She had often said it was a rare virtue to receive with grace than to give from your
abundance. A peculiar burden had grown up between them as she cooked and
washed for him, or nursed his ailments
and kept the sunny little parlor where
he lived as neat as wax, replying to all
narrow minded criticism of her behavior
with biting, sarcastic speech.

It was with immense pride and affection that Hannah looked at the old man,
whom she revered as a being of supernatural endowments. She was not a woman to do things by halves nor to
stint her love and devotion. It was her
belief that the old man had brought
her good luck and a blessing, for had
she not flourished uncommonly these
three years past? Had not everybody
made up to her in many unexpected
ways, and human love and appreciation
been shown to her as they seldom were
to her rich neighbors? But some of her thoughts were not so complimentary.
She had often said it was a rare virtue to receive with grace than to give from your
abundance. A peculiar burden had grown up between them as she cooked and
washed for him, or nursed his ailments
and kept the sunny little parlor where
he lived as neat as wax, replying to all
narrow minded criticism of her behavior
with biting, sarcastic speech.

was obliged to turn edgewise. His tremendous nose, of no particular shape, was matched by a great double chin and heavy, hanging cheeks. But above nose one of the best and soundest of heads, a noble forehead with an eye like an eagle's, piercing, dark, terrible or benig-nant. It saw straight through all shams and could shine in tears or laughter, or chastise with a whip of scorpions.
The doctor's head was immense above his great, generous ears, and his capsious, shabby hat was set far back upon it. His clothes were rusty and spotted with chemicals, and he carried about with him the odor of the drug shop, as doctors often do. His hands, strange to say, were small and fine, and seemed absolutely involuntary, fingering a weak pulse. A sixth sense seemed to reside in those super-sensitive hands. He came up to Hannah's ironing table, and a little furtive smile began to curl round her thin lips and light up her dark face, for she knew what was coming. The doctor had slipped a dollar greenback under the ironing stand.

"You know, Hannah," said he, in the whispering, coaxing tone he used with nervous, fidgety, unreasonable patients,
"I couldn't think of taking the old man's money. You must use the fee to buy him some little comforts. Why, Hannah, it's such a privilege to come in and talk a bit with the old man. I don't think it half as often as I would like to, it seems a disputation, like the optim habit or gin drinking. You should have heard him today; he was immense—way up in the stary spheres, and you would have thought that those old chaps who wrote his favorite books were right there in the room with him."

The doctor was talking against time, and Hannah, as she passed in her work, gave him a penetrating look. "I guess," said she slowly, "there are angels up there that smile, if they don't laugh right out, at some of the lies that's told down here. As if the old man had money to pay in fees. As if he had had a cent in his pocket since he came to me three years ago. We thought that maybe some of his distant rich kin might think to send him a Christmas present, but they never do. There's two things folks always keep clear of, doctor—poverty and pestilence."

"But it's to be remembered, Hannah," responded the doctor, "that the poor are always good to the rich. It's the kindness to each other the world would not go on. I've seen a good deal of human nature in my time, and I know it's awfully mean in spots, and in other spots it's lit up with heaven's own light—unexpected spots, too, mostly."
"Yes," said Hannah, softly setting down her iron, "when I think of you going round in the country in your old mud splattered shay, tending the tired farmers' wives, and the rheumatic old folks, and the sick babies, somehow I think of them lines in the Bible, 'The desert and the solitary shall rejoice, and the wilderness shall blossom like the rose.'"

"She, Hannah," said the doctor, pushing back his hat still further on his great head, and looking warm and embarrased, "Who'd ever thought you would drop into poetry? What am I or any of us compared with that old philosopher in there nailed to his chair, helpless and half dead, and with the light of happiness all around him. I tell you, Hannah, he's a daily lesson to me. By the way, have you heard that Joel has had an offer for his farm? A big offer too.
A city man is coming here to set up a racing stable and to raise fine stock.
He's taken a fancy to the old place, and it is thought Joel will get almost any price he may ask. You know that detached piece of fifty acres on the Dewerry road in the old part of the town?
Well, it's coming right into the market.
The town is growing rapidly out in that direction, and Joel talks of cutting it up into building lots and selling it off as so much the foot. They do say that best part of the town is going out that way, and Joel will know how to make his profit."

"That wood lot would have been mine and the children's," cried Hannah suddenly, throwing up her hand with a passionate gesture. "If I hadn't signed away our rights, and now the wicked foulrich like a green bay tree."
"Tut, tut," said the doctor, in a mild tone of rebuke. "Think of the old man in there who never utters a word of complaint against those who have wronged him."
"I know," said Hannah, suddenly humbled; "he's a saint, and he's brought a blessing to this house, but I am not a patient nature and sometimes when I get to thinking about the past I'm most silent."
The doctor looked for a moment silently into the woman's thin, dark face and eager eyes. "I am sorry you signed away your rights to Joel," said he at last, "but if the old man's property turns out valuable beyond all that was expected, I shouldn't wonder if the court could rip up that agreement, for the children are still minors and in a way under its care."
Hannah's shrewd hand trembled with agerness as she grasped the handle of the iron. "I was half crazy when I signed that paper. What with Joel nagging me about Anson's debt to him, and the mortgage on my house coming to foreclosure, and my heart in the grave with him I had lost for he was a good man—and the children clinging to me and crying, I signed away their right and title. It was after that Mr. Rand came and brought me the paid up morgage, and then I came to my senses for the first time and the tears mistimed my dry and stony eyes."

"I know it all, Hannah," said the doctor, "if I could but find that paper acknowledging the payment of the mortgage! It all comes back to me now just how it happened. You see, Anson meets Joel in town and paid him and took a receipt, and Joel promised to bring the note next time he drove in from the farm it was on a Saturday, and before the next Monday Anson lay dead,

I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the children come into their rights. I'm afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed himself, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his type-
writer and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-
brotherly in the way he's showed him-
self, to make me sign a release before
my husband was hardly cold in his cof-
fin. I guess I will speak to Lawyer
Dinsmore. You know Sybil is his typewriter and he might take an interest. I
hain't no other opinion of lawyers or lawin';
Anson never had, either," she added,
with the narrow view of a woman who
holds her dead husband's opinions as
binding in all things, "but sometimes I
wonder they're necessary evils."

fore the next Monday Anson lay dead,
I remember seeing that paper in Anson's
possession, and he must have kept it
along with the others, in a little tin box.
Oh, if I only could remember about that
box, where it was put," and Hannah
drew in her breath sharply.
"I'm afraid it never will come to
light," said the doctor, as if humoring
Joel's fixed delusion, "but if
the wood lot proves to be worth double
or treble the amount of the bill the
agreement might be ripped up and the
children come into their rights. I'm
afraid you'll never prove fraud. Joel is
too cunning an old fox."
"Yes, he's cunning," that's a fact," said Hannah. "But he knew Anson was an
awful careless man with papers, and my
husband, though he knew Joel was mean
and tight, never thought he'd be un-brother

THE YAKIMA HERALD.

REED & COE, Proprietors.

ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY.

$2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Advertising Rates Upon Application.

E. M. REED, Editor and Business Manager.

Official Paper of North Yakima.

TROTTING RECORDS SMASHED.

The racing world has had a number of surprises this week, and records have been broken like pipe-stems. On the Stockton, Cal., track Tuesday Sunol trotted a mile in 2:08 1/2, beating the time of Maud S., the fastest previous record, by 1/2 second.

Ten years ago it was estimated that 33,000,000 acres would cover all the public lands of the United States which could be reclaimed by irrigation.

The council has declared A. B. Weed duly elected mayor and Michael Schorn councilman. There was some question regarding the legality of Mr. Weed holding office, not from any loss of residence through his trip to Mexico and California, but because he was not an elector, having failed to register as prescribed by law.

The state board of equalization has concluded its adjustment of valuations and has made a total reduction on all classes of property of $27,772,288, which leaves the total valuation of the state at $329,024,080.

The Wyoming legislature has passed a bill taxing bachelors $2 per annum. It is supposed this measure was brought about through the efforts of spinners who had not attractive qualities sufficient to induce the unmarried men into becoming bachelors.

The recent Papal decision, that a marriage ceremony by a Protestant clergyman is to be recognized as valid by the Catholic church, is in accord with justice and common sense.

CLEVELAND'S little girl seems to have inherited a very large share of the popular admiration so long bestowed upon her mother. Broome's lines might have been written of her:

O lovely babe! what lustre shall adorn Thy soon of beauty, when so bright thy morn!

Pungent Political Paragraphs.

The Farmers' Alliance state convention will be held at Dayton on the 18th of November. It is figured that there will be about 800 delegates present.

It is now asserted that the federal judgeship will be given to John B. Allen, and that Governor Ferry will appoint Thomas H. Brents, of Walla Walla, to succeed Allen in the senate pending the meeting of the state legislature.

Judge Frank Allyn, of Tacoma, is mentioned as a probable candidate for the gubernatorial nomination at the hands of the democrats. Judge Allyn is so well thought of at home that he carried Pierce county in 1889 when most of the democrats were snowed under.

Walla Walla Union-Journal: Judge J. R. Lewis, of Seattle, has been invited to address the Farmers' Alliance at Walla Walla. What the judge don't know about farming would make a library, but he is a man of ideas, a forcible speaker, worth hearing on any topic he wishes to discuss.

H. W. Fairweather has been interviewed by the Sound papers, and he aired his reasons for holding that John B. Allen cannot be re-elected to the senate. It may be that the reasons of the banker and Farmers' Alliance candidate for congress are father to his desire, but he at least puts them in pretty good shape and makes rather a strong showing.

Chairman Eugene T. Wilson and Secretary R. K. Nichols, of the republican state central committee, held a close confab in this city on Sunday last with Dr. W. H. Harris, receiver of the U. S. land office. It is to be hoped they got some satisfaction out of the situation, but this is to be doubted. Any republican that can draw consolation from the present state of affairs can see a silver lining to a dark cloud where none exists.

Seattle Telegraph: "The farmer feedeth all." The fine crops in this country, with the crop failures abroad, are believed by many to have averted very serious trouble in the business world. During the first nine months of this year, compared with the same period last year, there has been an increase of 17 per cent. in the number of failures and of 50 per cent. in the amount of liabilities.

Thomas Henderson Boyd's name is "pans." He was the only citizen of Tacoma who worked for the election of Squire, and now when the opportunity is ripe for Squire to pay him for his services by having him appointed deputy collector for Tacoma, the citizens of that place have arisen en masse and vigorously protested against the choice falling on him.

The breach in the republican party of the state continues to widen. The removal of Bradshaw and the appointment of Wasson is so palpably the result of the latter's work for Squire in the legislature that the republican papers openly make charges of venality, and now that another of the triumvirate, who was pledged to support Calkins and voted for Squire, has been appointed to a deputy collectorship, the howl increases.

Our Future Home.

An editor died and slowly wended his way where he supposed a warm reception awaited him. The devil saw him and said: "For many years thou has borne the blame of many errors the printers have made in the paper. The paper has gone, alas, for $2, and the $2 has failed to come in. The printer has deviled thee on Saturday night when thou hast not a cent to thy name. Men have taken the paper without paying for it and have cursed you for not getting out better. Thou hast been called a deadbeat by passenger conductors when thou hast shown thy annual pass to envious gaze. All these thou hast borne in silence. Thou canst not come in here." And he fired him. "Heaven is his home, and besides if we let him come in here he would continually dun delinquent subscribers, for hell is full of them, and thus create disorder in my kingdom"

Adulterations in Food.

Many states have stringent laws against food adulteration, but they fail to check the evil. It is on the increase. The last report of the dairy commissioner of New Jersey shows that 43.96 per cent., or nearly half, of all the food preparations submitted to him for examination were adulterated. Sometimes the adulterations were harmless and in these cases the purchaser would be only swindled, but in many instances rank poisons were found in articles of every day consumption.

CARDINAL RICHELIEU.—Keene has come and Keene has gone, and while we are poorer in purse we are much richer in experience. There is little question but what he is the greatest American tragedian since the death of Barrett and the abdication of Booth, and Yakima has cause to be thankful when such artists favor it with their presence. That the entertainment was appreciated was evinced by the frequent applause and the commendations since heard on the lips of all who were present. The support in the main was excellent, but the king and one or two of his courtiers were little more than perambulating sticks.

BAKING POWDER FACTS

Brought Out by the Official Government Test.

Purity of Food Demanded by the People—Which Baking Powder Will Give It?

Chicago Tribune: The public is always responsive to suggestions about the food it eats. Great interest has been taken in the investigations made by the United States and Canadian governments and by the different boards of health to show the purity or impurity of milk, baking powders, spices, and other articles of daily use in the culinary departments of our households.

Just now the subject of baking powder is claiming public attention. We all desire pure and wholesome bread and this can not be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer any question that all the cheaper, low grades of baking powders contain either alum, lime, or phosphoric acid.

The official analyses by the United States and Canada governments have therefore been studied with interest and have pretty clearly established the facts upon this subject. The United States government report gives the names of eighteen well-known powders, some of them advertised as pure cream of tartar baking powders, that contain alum.

The report shows that the Royal baking powder was found the highest in leavening strength, evolving 100.6 cubic inches of gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream of tartar powders tested and their average strength was 111.5 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

The Canadian government investigations were of a still larger number of powders. The Royal baking powder was here also shown the purest and highest in strength, containing 129.32 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder. Nine out of eighteen powders were tested, their average strength being reported to be 80 cubic inches of gas per ounce.

These figures are very instructive to the practical housekeeper. They indicate that the Royal baking powder goes more than 33 per cent farther in use than the others, or is one-third more economical. Still more important than this, however, they prove the popular article has been brought to the highest degree of purity.

The powders of lower strength are found to leave large amounts of inert matters in the food. This fact is emphasized by the report of the Ohio State Food Commissioner, who, while finding the Royal practically pure, found no other powder to contain less than 10 per cent. of inert or foreign matters.

The public interest in this question has likewise caused to be made investigations by our local authorities. Prof. W. S. Haines, of Rush Medical College, consulting chemist of the Chicago Board of Health, has analyzed the material to those reported by the national and Canadian authorities. Dr. Haines says: "I recently obtained samples of the chief baking powders in the market, and have subjected them to careful examination to determine their purity, wholesomeness, and leavening power. As the result of my tests I find the Royal baking powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder tested, therefore, not only the purest, but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted."

WALTER S. HAINES, M. D., Consulting Chemist, Chicago Board of Health.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of the Royal baking powder more than half of all the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful sale thus indicated for the Royal baking powder—greater than that of all other baking powder combined—is perhaps even a higher evidence than the already quoted of the superiority of this article, and of its indispensableness to modern cookery.

CHEAP FARM LANDS

—Come and inspect the largest stock of shoes in the city, at the new shoe store. 4t

—Go to the new shoe store for your shoes. Every pair warranted by Schott, the shoeman. 37-4t —Persons desiring to invest in hop lands should call on A. L. Fix and look over his list. 38-4t

—Fresh oysters served in any style at the Elite oyster parlors. 35-4t

—A. L. Fix, the leading real estate and insurance man of North Yakima. 1-m —Dr. Savage will be found at his office on Yakima avenue from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Residence in Wide Hollow, at the old Shaw place. 15-4t

—The choicest celery by express twice a week at H. A. Griffin's. 37-4t

—Custom work and repairing neatly done by Schott, the shoeman. 37-4t

—Henry Ditter is agent for the celebrated Mather kid gloves. Call and see them. 37

—New dried fruits at H. A. Griffin's. 35-7t

—Mr. Mikkelson sells and delivers wood at $4.50 per cord. Hereafter the cash must accompany all orders. 35-7t

—Buckingham & Hecht's boots for sale at Ditter's. 37

—New dried fruits at H. A. Griffin's. 37

—If you desire a loan on your farm or city property, Crippen, Lawrence & Co. can accommodate you. No delays. 25-4t

—C. M. Henderson and Pingree & Smith's shoes a specialty at Ditter's. 37

—Cape Cod cranberries and sweet cider at H. A. Griffin's. 37-4t

—The Elite oysters are now open to the public. 35-4t

—The cheapest and dress flannels in plaids and plain at Ditter's. 37

—Cape Cod cranberries and sweet cider at H. A. Griffin's. 37-4t

—Choice oats and chop barley for sale at North Yakima Roller Mills. 14-4t —Half gallon fruit jars, $1.75 at the 12 1/2 Cent Store. *

—The best line of ladies', gents', and children's woolen underwear at Ditter's. *

—The choicest celery by express twice a week at H. A. Griffin's. 37-4t

Grand Removal Sale!

As I propose Changing my Place of Business, I offer from now until October 30th next my Entire Stock of

AT COST Gents' Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, Notions, Etc., FOR CASH

MATT :- BARTHOLET.

COME EARLY AND SECURE BARGAINS.

Special Notice.

Parties indebted to me will please settle by November 1st, otherwise credit will be refused them. H. A. GRIFFIN.

ECONOMICAL MEN!

Save $5 on your next suit by sending for 12 cloth samples, fashion plate and measurement blank free. Postage 6 cents. E. L. HUNTLEY & Co., Wholesale Tailors, 184 Madison St., Chicago.

A Sure Cure For Itches.

Itching Piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form as well as Blind, Bleeding or Protruding, yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts on parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c. Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Dr. Bosanko, 329 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Janack's Pharmacy.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve,

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles; or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cts per box. For sale at Janack's Pharmacy.

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he Hereditary often coughs enough to make him sick at his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

Faber's Golden Female Pills

Relieves Suppressed Menstruation. Used successfully by thousands of prominent ladies. Worth twenty times their price. Never known to fail. Sent by mail sealed in glass. Address: The Aphro Medicine Company, Western Branch, Portland, Oregon. Sold by W. H. CHAPMAN, Druggist, North Yakima, Washington.

CHEAP FARM LANDS

Improved and Unimproved.

CITY AND SUBURBAN LOTS.

Choice Tracts, 1 to 10 Acres

Especially Adapted to Fruit Growing and Gardening

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS. H. Spinning & Co. OFFICE OVER FIRST NATL. BANK.

The Old Reliable Stand,

CARPENTER

Large New Stock of

BOOTS and SHOES,

CLOTHING,

OVERCOATS, :- UNDERWEAR,

HATS AND CAPS,

Just Arrived from the East

Fresh GROCERIES

Both Staple and Fancy,

That will Make Your Mouth Water.

Everything Cheaper than Ever!

CARPENTER

The Old Reliable Stand.

THE BARTHOLET HOTEL,

JOHN BARTHOLET, Proprietor.

FIRST STREET, NORTH YAKIMA, WASH

The new Bartholet House is centrally located and conducted on first-class principles. Every attention given to the comfort of guests.

Rates: $1.00 and $1.50 Per Day.

THE CRESCENT BAKERY,

C. M. HOUSER, Proprietor,

YAKIMA AVENUE, IN THE BUILDING FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY VANCE & MULFORD.

Fresh Bread, Pies and Cakes,

—AND A SPLENDID STOCK OF—

Candies, Fruits, Nuts.

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED FOR

SNELLING & MAHER,

Hardware Dealers,

SUCCESSORS TO LIVESLEY & SON.

A.H.Reynolds

KEEPS IN STOCK FOR SALE All Kinds Family Groceries, All Kinds Fresh Vegetables, All Kinds Fresh Fish.

OYSTERS AND GAME NEXT WEEK.

Cash Paid for Chickens, Eggs & Butter.

Call and Examine Goods and get Prices. All Goods Sold Delivered Free.

A. H. REYNOLDS.

Hello! Hello!

WHAT DO YOU WANT?

W. H. CHAPMAN'S Drug Store

No. 12.

Simpson Bros.

Are now prepared to furnish to the Public Superior Varieties of Fruit, Shade and Ornamental Trees.

NURSERY A MILE AND A HALF SOUTH EAST OF CITY

P. O. Box 300

All Orders by Mail or delivered in Person receive prompt and careful attention.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK of North Yakima.

DIRECTORS: J. H. Lewis, Theo. B. Wilcox, Chas. Carpenter, A. W. Engle, H. B. Scudder.

Capital, $100,000

J. H. Lewis, President. A. W. Engle, Vice President.

W. L. STRIMWOLD, Cashier.

DOES A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS.

Buys and Sells Exchange at Reasonable Rates.

PAYS INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS.

Roslyn Coal, Dry Wood and Fence Posts

Always on Hand.

Consumers will have to Pay Cash when Ordering. No 30 Days on Fuel.

JOHN REED, Agent.

Business COLLEGE

Portland, Oregon. A. F. Armstrong, Pres. Branch School: CAPITAL CITY COLLEGE, Salem, Oregon. Nine courses of study, some rates of tuition.

Kay & Lucy

Have Purchased the Steiner Restaurant, And it will be Conducted by LYMAN TAGGART, Mgr.

They propose keeping up the reputation of the house in first-class accommodations and solicit a share of patronage.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

POINTS ABOUT HOPE.—THE HERALD representative recently had a long conversation with R. J. Mackison regarding hope, and from him elicited much information. Mr. Mackison has given the subject much study, and, although not as long in the business of grower as some, he is probably as well informed as any. In the course of the conversation he said: "Commercially speaking, there are five grades of hope, known as fancy, strictly choice, choice, medium and low grade. The defects are of color, bad picking, broken in handling, high temperature in drying, picking before maturity, blight, mould and rust. The last three defects we are not troubled with as yet, nor do I think we ever will be, but I am sorry to say that one or another of the other defects mentioned will be found in most of the Yakima hops; but it lays in our power to remedy all of them. This can be done by giving more attention to the picking; discarding tramping balers; not picking until the hops are ripe; rebuilding our kilns and making them higher, tighter and with more pitch to the roof, so that the hops can be dried at a lower temperature; and the use of more sulphur in our drying. First-class hops require first-class appliances in curing and baling, and they can not be expected, with the poor kilns at present in use, nor can we expect a fancy price without having a product of fancy grade. The time is not far distant when growers will be paid for their hops according to the grade put on the market, although it would be better for the producer and the country if we would market none but a fancy hop, for then we would acquire a reputation which would induce more competition among buyers and admit of Yakima hops selling first in a full year. Make buyers seek instead of our having to seek the buyers, for a home market and a cash market are two points that this section sadly needs, and we can have both if we produce the right grade of hops."

THE CHAPPELL & COX FIRE.—Early in the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 20th, the large warehouse of Chappell & Cox, situated on the west side of the track, caught fire, and, while the building is still standing, it is an almost complete ruin. The fire broke out systematically and like Troyans, and it was through their untiring efforts that the fire was extinguished and much of the contents of the building saved. It is unknown how the fire started, but the supposition is that it was through the careless throwing down of a lighted cigar or cigarette among the straw and other combustibles that surrounded the building, for when discovered the entire understructure of the building was in flames. Messrs. Chappell & Cox estimate their loss at from two to three thousand dollars over the insurance of $1000 on the warehouse, which was placed with the North British. There was stored in the building much household furniture belonging to various parties, considerable agricultural machinery, the property of Frank Bros., a carload of railroad and ditch tools belonging to Albert Weisner; two lillard tables belonging to J. M. Ashton, one belonging to J. A. Taggart and one to the Churchill estate. Besides these goods carried as storage, Messrs. Chappell & Cox had 15 or 20 farm and spring wagons, a carload of flour, a carload of salt, 800 pounds of oats, 200 bushels of wheat, several tons of chop, a number of cases of tea and canned goods, wool sacks and binding twine. The contents of the building will not be a total loss, as the greater part of it was saved, although mainly in a damaged condition.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.—The need of strict means of quarantine against California fruit pests has a vivid illustration in this county. L. D. Morris, of the Altatum, had a fine orchard, which he valued at over $5,000. One day a box which had contained California fruit was taken to his place and left under one of the trees. It was not long before the San Jose scale attacked that tree and the pest soon spread and covered the entire orchard. The State Board of Horticulture at its recent session decided that the most effective work in dealing with fruit pests could be done in the winter when the trees are in a manner dormant. To penetrate the woolly material with which the eggs of many noxious insects are surrounded and the scales of the San Jose pest, a strong wash is needed, and one can be used in the winter that is five times stronger than one which would injure the foliage at another time. Lyes and sulphur can be used in the off season without injury, to say nothing of soap and kerosene emulsions.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE.—The pastors of the churches of the city met in the rooms of Rev. W. H. Cornett in the Syndicate block on Tuesday afternoon of this week and arranged for a union Thanksgiving service to be held in the Presbyterian church. Rev. R. S. Chase, rector of the Episcopal church, was asked to preach the sermon. The music for the occasion was put in charge of Rev. W. H. Cornett. This matter being disposed of, the pleasant meeting together of the pastors suggested the idea of a ministerial alliance, with monthly meetings, for discussion of the work to be done and for planning aggressive Christian and temperance work. An organization was effected, with Rev. S. H. Cheadle as president and Rev. Robert Warner secretary. Meetings will be held monthly and papers prepared and read by the members in turn upon practical topics.

ROAD NEEDED TO THE MINES.—Mrs. Emily Knight is not waiting for assistance in building the road to the Gold Hill mines, but if she is compelled to bear all of the burden she proposes to make a toll road of it. Ex-County Commissioner Liptrop is of the opinion that Yakima should contribute towards the improvement, but that Kittitas should do equally as well, as the road that needs building is part in Kittitas and part in Yakima county, and that both counties have good roads leading thereto, and that the road from Ellensburg is as near, if not nearer, than that from North Yakima, although this point has some advantage on account of less grade. Mrs. Knight has also in view the building of a telephone line to the mines.

PERSONAL.

J. R. Coe, of THE HERALD, is on the sick list.

F. R. Reed left for Tacoma to-day on a brief business trip.

Miss Edie Woolsey left last week for Vancouver to attend school.

Mrs. Joseph Stephenson returned home Sunday after a visit of several weeks at Portland.

Mrs. Emily Chambers, of Yakima City, returned from an extended visit in California last Saturday.

Walter A. Bull and wife, of Ellensburg, spent a couple of days in Yakima during the past week.

C. W. Liggett has gone to Ellensburg to take charge of the mechanical department of the Localizer.

Robert Couperthwaite is a recent arrival from Portland, who has entered the employ of Unger, Mulligan & Co.

John Lynch, of the Aurora and other rich mines in the Cle-Elum country, has returned to Yakima for the winter.

B. T. Carr was recalled to Seattle last Saturday to take the place of manager of the Gurney Cab and Baggage company.

State Senator Eugene Wilson, of Ellensburg, spent Sunday in the city, the guest of Dr. W. H. Hare and R. K. Nichols.

Tom Martin, after a lengthy siege with malarial fever, is able to be up and around, although greatly reduced in flesh and strength.

Mrs. Jenny C. Draper, of Spokane, department inspector for Washington, will be in our city Saturday to give instructions to the Woman's Relief Corps of Meade Post No. 9.

Col. L. S. Howlett returned from a brief visit to Seattle Monday. He says there seems to be more interest manifested regarding Yakima just at present than any other section of the state.

Hon. D. M. Jenesse, chairman of the board of horticulture, is in the city. Mr. Jenesse is making a most efficient officer, and is winning much praise on account of his vigorous fight against fruit, hop and other pests.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Reed returned from the east on Tuesday, where they have been for the past three months. Mr. Reed is firmer than ever in his convictions that Yakima has a splendid future, and he proposes to settle down and open an office as soon as he can find satisfactory quarters.

Bible Society Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Yakima County Bible Society, will be held in the M. E. church on Thursday evening, Oct. 29. It is desired that all the churches in the city be fully represented at this meeting and that all the pastors be present.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to the firemen and citizens who labored so faithfully and well in their efforts to save our property from fire on the morning of Oct. 20. We fully recognize the service performed, and wish to compliment the fire boys on their skill in fighting against such odds. Respectfully, CHAPPELL & COX.

For Sale or Trade for City Property.

A very excellent piece of fruit land, situated near Prosser, containing 92 acres, all fine bottom land; 65 acres prepared for planting to fruit; first-class water right. A rare bargain. For further information, inquire at HERALD office, 37-21.

Saved From Death by Onions.

There has no doubt been more lives of children saved from death in croup or whooping cough by the use of onions than any other known remedy. Our mothers used to make poultices of them or a syrup, which was always effectual in breaking up a cough or cold. Dr. Gunn's Onion Syrup is made by combining a few remedies with it which makes it more effective as a medicine and destroys the taste and odor of the onion. Sold by Janek's Pharmacy.

A. L. Fix has removed his real estate office to the frame building on First street in the rear of Sawyer & Pennington's, where he will be pleased to see all of his patrons.

Persons requesting the services of Dr. E. E. Heg during the night can secure the same by calling at his office, over H. H. Allen's drug store, where there is an attendant and telephonic connection with the doctor's residence.

Night Calls for Dr. Heg.

—Amelia Barr's latest heroine really began her education by an earnest study of the encyclopedia, and what that gifted woman accomplished for herself can be attained by all, provided the right encyclopedia—the Britannica—can be brought within their reach. The happy plan of the R. S. Peale Co. for placing it on the shelves of the most modest library commands itself forcibly, as it is admirable, persuasive, convincing, and sure to be triumphant.

—Crippen, Lawrence & Co.'s offices have been re-opened in the Syndicate block, and Mr. McKinney, their manager, announces that he is now ready to negotiate loans, in small or large amounts, for long or short time, on farm or city property.

—Mrs. W. M. Ross has taken possession of the lodging house across from the court house on Second street, which has been refitted and newly furnished throughout to accommodate those who are seeking comfortable and quiet quarters.

—The Chicago Interior: A public library without the Encyclopedia Britannica would scarcely be worth the name, and a private library with it would be first-class, if not another book besides the Bible occupied its shelves.

—Honest workmanship is the best advertisement C. E. McEwen can have for his harness, bridles and saddles. They are cheaper than inferior articles because they have the lasting qualities and always look well.

—Schott, the shoeman, has the finest hand-turned ladies' shoe in the city for $3.

—Ditter carries North Star woolen blankets in white and colors.

—Go to C. E. McEwen for ladies' side saddles. He has a splendid stock.

—If you want to invest in real estate, A. L. Fix has the choicest of bargains.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL.
Election Returns Declared and Messrs. Weed and Schorn Nominated.—The Sewer Project Discussed.

A regular meeting of the council was held Monday evening, with Acting Mayor Reed in the chair and Councilmen Bartholet, Cox, Needham and Miller present.

Communications were read from R. Schmidt and from Seymour, Barto & Co. enclosing legal opinion which was adverse to the legality of the sewer bond issue. It was moved and carried that the city clerk notify Schmidt of the failure to sell the bonds, and that in consequence the council could not order work to be started.

Petitions for cross-walks on corner Second and C streets, and for an ear light at the same point, were referred to the committee on streets and ditches.

Favorable reports were made on the following bills and warrants for same ordered drawn: Pay roll for September, $583.06; C. M. Holton, printing, $25; Powell & Winchell, plastering, $23; Wm. Badger, assisting City Engineer Arnold, $7.50; G. W. Gardner, due on August report, $16.40.

Mr. Reed, on the committee on fire and fire limits, presented a report urging the raising of the bell tower of the engine house; also asking for twelve new spanners and an expander. The report was referred.

An ordinance to prevent animals from running at large and to provide for the impounding and forfeiture of same was read first and second times and laid over until the next meeting.

The clerk was instructed to notify Seymour, Barto & Co. that the council, understanding that they do not wish to take the sewer bonds, refuses to take further action in the matter.

Official canvass of returns of special election was made. A. B. Weed was declared duly elected mayor and Michael Schorn councilman, and the clerk was instructed to issue certificates of election to said Weed and Schorn.

A special meeting was held the following evening, when Contractor Schmidt was present. The situation of the sewer project was explained to him, and he was asked if he would prosecute the work and accept the bonds in payment at the same figure originally bid for them. Mr. Schmidt said he was not prepared to give answer at that time, but would within a few days.

Notice of Sale of School Lands at Public Auction.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT, IN pursuance of an order of the Board of County Commissioners of Yakima county, Washington, made on the 29th day of September, 1921, upon the petition of George W. Reed, made in accordance with Section 25 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the sale and lease of school lands for the state of Washington for the years 1900 and 1901," there will be sold at public auction the following described school lands, upon the terms as hereinafter set out, subject to confirmation by the State School Land Commission after thirty days from the receipt by the President of said Commission of the report of the County Commissioners on the sale of said land, on Monday, the 15th day of November, 1921, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in Yakima county and state of Washington, all of the right, title and interest of the state of Washington in and to the following described lots, being in and to the following described lots, and being in the said county of Yakima and state of Washington, to-wit:

Table with 3 columns: PART OF SECTION, Acreage, and Purchase Price. Lists lots 1 through 41 with their respective acreages and prices.

SPECIAL COLUMN.

Wanted-to Sell.

A GOOD BUSINESS CORNER, FIRST AND A streets, at a bargain. Apply to J. A. Beck or Fechter & Ross.

HORSES—BEST TEAM IN THE COUNTY. Will trade for saddle mare. Will trade for land. J. B. Pugsley.

REGISTERED HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN BULLS and Poland China hogs. H. B. Seudder, Moscow.

NATCHEEZ & COWYCHIE (HUBBARD) Ditch Block. J. B. Pugsley.

TEN, TWENTY AND FORTY ACRE LOTS. Low prices; easy terms. J. B. Pugsley.

Wanted.

TO LET A CONTRACT FOR GRUBBING 500 cords of sage brush. Apply to H. B. Seudder, Moscow.

Wanted-to Loan.

MONEY TO LOAN ON FARMS. NO DELAY. J. B. Pugsley.

CHEAP MONEY TO LOAN ON FARM LANDS. When you want a loan call and see us at Wilson & Parker.

L. BROOKER & SON, Contractors and Builders, NORTH YAKIMA, WASH.

Lock-Box 277. Residence, Nob Hill. Reference, Yakima National Bank. 37-3m

CONDEMNED.

Ammonia Baking Powder Must Go.

Bills have been introduced in the New York, Illinois and Minnesota Legislatures compelling the manufacturer of such baking powders to brand on the label in bold type, this powder "Contains ammonia." Physicians and chemists condemn the use of ammonia in baking powders as a crime. Its constant use no matter how small the quantity deranges the stomach, neutralizing the gastric juice and destroying the complexion. It is the small quantities taken every meal that do the mischief.

It is gratifying to know there are pure baking powders to be had on the market and at no greater cost to the consumer than some of these so-called "absolutely pure" ammonia powders.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, the standard pure cream of tartar powder for forty years. Free from the taint of either ammonia or alum. None so pure—None so wholesome.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL.
Election Returns Declared and Messrs. Weed and Schorn Nominated.—The Sewer Project Discussed.

A regular meeting of the council was held Monday evening, with Acting Mayor Reed in the chair and Councilmen Bartholet, Cox, Needham and Miller present.

Communications were read from R. Schmidt and from Seymour, Barto & Co. enclosing legal opinion which was adverse to the legality of the sewer bond issue. It was moved and carried that the city clerk notify Schmidt of the failure to sell the bonds, and that in consequence the council could not order work to be started.

Petitions for cross-walks on corner Second and C streets, and for an ear light at the same point, were referred to the committee on streets and ditches.

Favorable reports were made on the following bills and warrants for same ordered drawn: Pay roll for September, $583.06; C. M. Holton, printing, $25; Powell & Winchell, plastering, $23; Wm. Badger, assisting City Engineer Arnold, $7.50; G. W. Gardner, due on August report, $16.40.

Mr. Reed, on the committee on fire and fire limits, presented a report urging the raising of the bell tower of the engine house; also asking for twelve new spanners and an expander. The report was referred.

An ordinance to prevent animals from running at large and to provide for the impounding and forfeiture of same was read first and second times and laid over until the next meeting.

The clerk was instructed to notify Seymour, Barto & Co. that the council, understanding that they do not wish to take the sewer bonds, refuses to take further action in the matter.

Official canvass of returns of special election was made. A. B. Weed was declared duly elected mayor and Michael Schorn councilman, and the clerk was instructed to issue certificates of election to said Weed and Schorn.

A special meeting was held the following evening, when Contractor Schmidt was present. The situation of the sewer project was explained to him, and he was asked if he would prosecute the work and accept the bonds in payment at the same figure originally bid for them. Mr. Schmidt said he was not prepared to give answer at that time, but would within a few days.

CONDEMNED.

Ammonia Baking Powder Must Go.

Bills have been introduced in the New York, Illinois and Minnesota Legislatures compelling the manufacturer of such baking powders to brand on the label in bold type, this powder "Contains ammonia." Physicians and chemists condemn the use of ammonia in baking powders as a crime. Its constant use no matter how small the quantity deranges the stomach, neutralizing the gastric juice and destroying the complexion. It is the small quantities taken every meal that do the mischief.

It is gratifying to know there are pure baking powders to be had on the market and at no greater cost to the consumer than some of these so-called "absolutely pure" ammonia powders.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, the standard pure cream of tartar powder for forty years. Free from the taint of either ammonia or alum. None so pure—None so wholesome.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

BARGAIN LIST

Fechter & Ross, Only Advertising Real Estate Firm in the City.

BARGAIN NO. 1. A NUMBER OF THE PROPERTIES ADVERTISED in this list have been sold; a number not advertised in this list have also been sold; our sales are continually increasing; bargain No. 1 is one that will be sold to some one else if you do not buy it. A four-room plastered home, near the Columbia school, corner lot, for $1,000, on your own terms.

BARGAIN NO. 2. A FEW GOOD HOMES FOR SALE ON THE monthly payment plan. Stop paying rent; be a free-holder; own your own home; you can do it now.

BARGAIN NO. 3. Residence lot on second street near $375. school house, 4875, in installments.

BARGAIN NO. 5. Two residence lots on Third street, one of the best building sites in the city, $750.

BARGAIN NO. 6. Two fine residence lots on Sixth St., fine building site, $450.

BARGAIN NO. 7. One lot in Home addition, $50.

BARGAIN NO. 8. Two lots, corner, fine residence site, on Fourth St., $650, one-half cash.

BARGAIN NO. 9. Ten acres adjoining town, $850.

BARGAIN NO. 10. Lots 3 and 4, Block 108, $375.

BARGAIN NO. 12. 10 acre tracts near Nob Hill; $90, $100 per acre, easy terms, interest 5 per cent, deferred payments.

BARGAIN NO. 15. The best Corner West of the Track, with good house, garden, fruit trees, etc.; terms easy.

BARGAIN NO. 16. House and two lots on North Second street; fine improvements; $2100, easy terms.

We trade as well as sell. We have a tract of farming land that we will trade for good unimproved city property.

We also have some city property, unimproved, that we will trade for unimproved farm property.

We have land for sale under all the ditches now under construction at low figures and easy terms.

We have for sale a fine piece of land near the city for a dairy, hop or fruit ranch, cheap.

Keep Your Eye on this Great Bargain List

And do not hesitate to call on

Fechter & Ross,

Next door to the Yakima National Bank for further information. 30 16.

BED-ROCK SNAPS

Special Offers to Cash Buyers

$3600 WILL BUY 100 ACRES OF GOOD LAND ADJOINING TOWN LIMITS, with plenty of water, and only 1/2 mile from Hotel Yakima. This land is suitable for Hops, Orchard or Dairy purposes. This is a great bargain, as the land is actually worth three times the price asked.

$6350 WILL BUY FOUR A. N. 1 BUSINESS LOTS, LYING BETWEEN BRICK buildings and easily worth $10,000. Here is a chance to get in below the ground floor.

$3300 WILL BUY FOUR GOOD BUSINESS LOTS THAT ARE WELL WORTH $5000. Don't miss this chance, as these lots can never again be bought for this low figure.

$850 WILL BUY THREE DESIRABLE RESIDENCE LOTS, EACH 50X100 FEET, including corner. They are well worth $1500, even at present low prices. This buy can not be duplicated.

$2400 WILL BUY A BEAUTIFUL 15-ACRE TRACT ADJOINING NORTH YAKIMA. The land is rich and level, with plenty of water, and would be a bargain at $500 an acre.

The above described property is all first-class, with perfect title, and once sold will never again appear on the market at such low figures.

Terms Absolutely Cash or Bankable Paper.

FECHTER & ROSS, Agents.

This is the Cock

That Crowed with Delight

Over the Success of the Farmers'

Traders'

CO-OP. STORE.

Observe How Fat and Sleek He is.

Our Trade is Increasing Every Day.

No Use Talking, Low Prices Always Rule.

WE ARE NOW RECEIVING THE LARGEST SHIPMENT OF

BOOTS and SHOES

EVER MADE THIS MARKET.

It will be a source of delight and profit to drop in and look through our large stock.

Remember, please, that we have made many a heart glad by low prices in the past year, and we will continue to trade liberally with you this year and we hope for years to come.

Don't Forget Our Telephone. Ring Up 40.

Unger, Mulligan & Co.

